HALBERT Ineligible Buffaloes Out Of Race

Floyd Halbert, captain and quarterback of the Cross Plains high school Buffaloes, was declared ineligible Thursday afternoon by Nat Williams, Superintendent of Cross Plains schools, and all games in which he has participated this year will be charges as defeats against the local team.

The action came as a complete surprise to Cross Plains as well as the entire district. Halbert's eligibility had previously been questioned and Mr. Williams secured a statement from Lubbock, where he formerly attended school. The statement was presented Roy B. Henderson, University Interscholastic League chairman, who said "in his opinion Halbert was eligible." It was learned later, however, that the high school Principal at Lubbock had made an error in filling out the statement of Halbert's high school work. Mr. Williams was first to learn of the eligibility and immediately declared that all Cross Plains games this year would be charged as losses and that Halbert would not be permitted to play in future conference competition.

The infraction of the rules upon which Halbert was ruled ineligible was that he has been in high school eight semesters.

While the action was deeply regretted in Cross Plains yesterday, fans told the Review that they appreciated Mr. Williams discovering the irregularity and taking the action that he did.

"We like to win but not at the expense of fairness. Had Nat Williams known of the ineligibility before, Halbert would not have been permitted to play. He has always been a staunch observer of the rules and we appreciate his prompt action in declaring all Cross Plains games as defeats, even though it means the Buffaloes are out of the conference race this year", a long time, loyal Buffalo football fan said to the Review yesterday.

Charging Cross Plains' victories as defeats will throw Pioneer back into the running and if Rising Star or Cross Plains is able to defeat the Albany Lions Pioneer will have a good chance to cop the district championship.

"We're still going to do our utmost to beat Albany," said "Bevo" a main stay in the Buffalo team to the Review last night.

LOCAL GROCERY TO SERVE FREE COFFEE

Free coffee will be served at McDonald's Grocery here Saturday from ten o'clock in the morning until five in the afternoon, the Review was told yesterday. A coffee demonstration will also be given to those interested.

LOCAL BALLOTING TO TAKE PLACE AT ANDERSON BUILDING

Texas voters will go to the polls Tuesday to ballot in the general election. In Cross Plains the voting will take place at the Anderson Chevrolet building. Taylor Bond will be presiding judge. Other judges are to be J. W. Westerman, W. A. Williams and P. P. Smith. There will also be five election clerks, Mr. Bond told the Review yesterday.

A heavy vote is not anticipated, according to election dispatches from different sections of the state. Cross Plains voting strength of approximately 500 is not expected to be more than half accounted for, it is opined by those familiar with the political situation here.

Most interest in the general election is centering upon eight constitutional amendments, which are to be balloted upon at that time.

The polls will be open in Cross Plains—as well as all over the state—from seven in the morning until seven that evening.

STUDENTS REPORT WEIGHT GAINS IN STOCK BEING FED

An average daily gain of 3 pounds during a 154-day feeding period was made by a Hereford calf (No. 1) and an average daily gain of 2 1/2 pounds during the same period was made by a Hereford calf (No. 2) fed by Hadden Payne, Cross Plains High School pupil, as part of his supervised practice work under the directions of V. A. Underwood, teacher of vocational agriculture.

A total gain of 450 pounds was made by calf (No. 1) from an initial weight of 150 pounds to a final weight of 600 pounds and a total gain of 390 pounds was made by calf (No. 2) from an initial weight of 130 pounds to a final weight of 520 pounds.

Young Payne put these calves on feed May 25 and they were weighed October 26. Ground oats, ground barley, pea size cottonseed cake, and bundle hegar were fed. In addition the calves had access to a small amount of milk.

An average daily gain of more than 2 1/2 pounds during a 63-day feeding period was made by a Shorthorn calf and an average daily gain of more than 2 1/2 pounds was made by a Hereford calf during the same period fed by Jimmie Lee Payne, Cross Plains High School pupil, under the direction of V. A. Underwood, instructor.

Lamb and pig feeders are making plans to start feeding soon for the Cross Plains annual F.F.A. Fat Stock Show.

ONLY RAIN NEEDED TO RESTORE BR'WD LAKE

Repair work on Brownwood's $2,500,000 dam, has been completed and people are "ready for it to rain."

Repair of the dam was a race with time. If rain had come before the job was finished it would have not only delayed the work but possibly would have caused damage.

Last July one of the steel tracks on which a 16-ton flood gate operates bent and caused the gate to jam, resulting in release of all water from the lake.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry McGowen and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Scott were visitors in Cisco Sunday.

NEW SCHEDULE TO BE EFFECTIVE ON LAST MONTH BILLS

A reduction in electric rates, effective on payment of October bills, was announced yesterday by Arthur Mitchell, local manager of the West Texas Utilities Company. The new schedule was presented to the City Council in regular meeting October second and approved by a unanimous vote.

When asked by a representative of the Review how much the reduction would effect, the average Cross Plains consumer, Mr. Mitchell stated that he was unable to say exactly, however, he picked at random from the files a half dozen bills and figured the accounts from both the new and old schedule. The general saving from the number figured was between 10 and 20 percent.

A full page advertisement announcing the new rate and schedule appears in today's issue of the Review.

Minutes of the meeting of the city council October second were checked yesterday and have the following to say of the recent reduction:

"After considering the request and pleasure of the said West Texas Utilities Company for the approval and as a manner of cooperation in establishing the change in charge, to be... meters, and... representative of change... a general electric consumer... tomers of said company... of Councilman T. D. L... seconded by Councilman J... ret, the proposed change... stood was approved and adopted... unanimous vote of the Council."

BUFFALOES MEET CLYDE ON LOCAL GRIDIRON TODAY

Cross Plains high school Buffaloes will meet the Clyde Bulldogs here Friday afternoon in a conference football game which promises to claim a good portion of the interest spotlight this week-end in district 14-B.

Clyde possesses a team averaging virtually 10 pounds to the man heavier than Cross Plains and is said to have been pointing for the Buffalo contest ever since losing to the herd in a last minute rally at Clyde last November.

Greatly handicapped because of a state last night his probable injuries coach Buck Osburn was unstarting line-up. Virtually every backfield man on the Buffalo squad is nursing an injury in one form or another.

Should the herd be able to get through the Clyde game with a win, a week's rest is expected to improve their chances of upsetting the highly touted Albany Lions here November 16. The game this afternoon will be the last before Albany's invasion of the local campus.

Officials for the Cross Plains-Clyde game are to be Goodson Sellers, Jim McKenzie and Guy Creighton.

PETERSON NABS 2 TURKEY THIEVES TUESDAY MORNING

Two men, both of near Lawn were arrested here Tuesday morning by Deputy W. A. Peterson when they attempted to sell to a local produce dealer 10 turkeys, which had been stolen from a farmer named Mayes, of the Lawn community in Taylor county.

Charges of theft were filed at Abilene and the allegations are to be considered by the Taylor county grand jury now in session, the Review learned authentically yesterday at noon.

Officer Peterson was warned Tuesday morning by a local produce man that two men, who appeared suspicious, were offering 10 turkeys for sale here. He immediately interviewed the men and upon questioning found that they gave different versions of their names. They were taken into custody and later connected with the turkey theft at Lawn. Their correct names were found to be Herman Haynes and Oscar Haynes, both of near Lawn.

A Ford coach in which the men were travelling was seized and is being held for identification. It is believed that the vehicle is "stolen property."

BANK QUALIFIED TO MAKE HOUSING LOANS

The Citizens State Bank here will make Federal Housing Loans to any person who can meet the government specifications, the Review was instructed by C. C. Neeb, Cashier, yesterday afternoon.

Requirements for the loans, which are to repair, rebuild or improve homes, are said to be rather rigid. 20 percent of each loan is guaranteed the bank from which it is obtained by the federal government.

Texas Doctor Wins National Contest

Editor's Note: Dr. McBride, mentioned in this article, is well known in Cross Plains, having visited here on several occasions.

Signal honor came to the Rio Grande Valley and Harlingen this week with the receipt of notice by George A. McBride, United States public health and quarantine officer at Hidalgo, who resides in Harlingen, that he had been selected from among 33 contestants to receive the $500 gold Wellcome award and gold medal offered by the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States for the best paper "The Civilian Doctor's Part in National Military Emergency."

F. D. Pins Medal

The money award and gold medal will be made to Dr. McBride from the hands of the president at the annual convention of the association at Carlisle, Pa., October 10.

The prize is awarded each year to the military surgeons association and is made possible by an Engelman, Henry Wellcome, who furnishes the $500 in gold and the gold medal bearing his name.

Compete With World

Dr. McBride's paper including a total of 7,500 words, was prepared over a period of between three and six months, and was selected as the winning thesis over not only identical physicians of the United States but of the entire world. It is interesting to note that most of the paper contestants were men of acknowledged rank in the service of the U. S. government.

The contest is limited to physicians and surgeons in the army, navy, veteran's administration, marine service and the public health service. A total of 4,473 were eligible to participate in these branches of service.

hide in the brush at the threat of a raid from bandits out of Mexico. He has been in the government public health, Indian and veterans administration service for a period of eight years and is now in charge of the health and quarantine office at Hidalgo, American entry post into Mexico, with a crew of 11 men. He served in the army during the World War and returned as major.

The author's most interesting recollection of earlier days is, perhaps, his experience while in the Indian Service several years ago at Fort Defiance, Arizona. Here he was snowed in on the very peak of the Rocky Mountains and the government spent thousands of dollars in bringing aid to the beleaguered men. He was born in Missouri but spent his early life in the mountains of Arkansas, later moving to the Indian territory before section was admitted as a state.

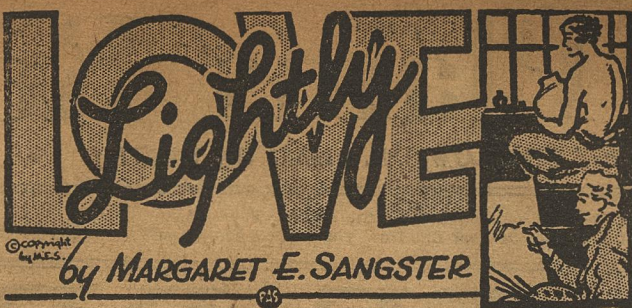

Aids Will Rogers

During his travels as a young man he was in the habit of visiting his uncle who managed the ranch of Will Rogers' father in Oklahoma. It was on one of these trips that the now famous columnist and humorist told Dr. McBride that "This farming business doesn't suit me." On the doctor's advice he joined the Hundred and One ranch and started on the road to fame and fortune.

Congratulated

Dr. McBride has received hundreds of congratulations from friends over the Valley since receipt of the notice of his good fortune and is looking forward to receiving the award in October from the hands of the president.

In June of this year, at the request of the government he attended the American Medical Association Convention at Cleveland, Ohio. The other three men asked to attend the meet came from Washington, and were assistant surgeon generals in public health service.

SYNOPSIS— "Prelude"—"Love lightly." Mrs. Church worried gently Ellen wondered why? Posing for her talented mother, first as a new baby, then a bubbling child, then a charming young girl, Ellen had lived always in a make-believe land of beauty. Of the outside world her knowledge was meager. At 17 years of age, posing in the garden, Ellen at last is learning the story of her mother's broken life, the stolen kiss, marriage—then years of loneliness, waiting for the husband to return Mrs. Church is now telling Ellen of the father—

GO ON WITH THE STORY

"How," he asked, a trifle gruffly, "about love? Doesn't that enter into your scheme of things? Doesn't it, at all?"

Ellen met his eyes with a chill little expression of withdrawal.

"No, Dick," she said, "it doesn't. Not at all!"

The man's hands dropped quite suddenly to his sides. He turned sharply away.

"It's the party of the year, The Six Arts Ball," Sandy had told Ellen a few days later. "The one made reveal of twelve whole months. I don't know exactly, why I'm asking you, either, Ellen. Gay is much madder to reveal with!"

Ellen had spread out two slender, careless hands.

"Take me or leave me, Sandy," she told the young man, indifferently. "And if you don't take me, get it out of your head that I'll spend the evening home alone, bending over the washtubs."

Sandy groaned. It was a stage groan. "That's the desperate point of the whole thing," he told her. "If I don't take you, some hated rival will. And I'll have to watch you as you have a good time instead of being the guy who's giving it to you—the good time, I mean! Really, I don't know why I want to give you good times, Ellen or why anybody else does, for that matter, Except Dick, who is, of course, an idealist. You never give anything in return. Not even friendship. How do you get that way, child?"

Ellen was posing for an illustration. She was, in the illustration, a young mother. Sitting before a fireplace, rocking a baby. The fireplace was a real one—Sandy's studio's was de luxe. But the baby was a round-headed, flat-faced doll. Holding it, Ellen looked like a small girl playing house. But she didn't sound that way, when she spoke.

"I play a system, Sandy," she said. "A system that I'm beginning to think is fool-proof. I take everything that comes my way, and give the least possible of anything back. If I find that anyone is too interesting to give me, I cut that person off the list. The fact that I'm willing to go to the Six Arts with you, Sandy, shows how you stand in my—shall we say, affections?"

Sandy sketched deftly for a moment.

"I'd like to smack you. Other times I have a wild desire to take you up in my arms and kiss a little warmth into you. It might as well be me, you know it will be somebody, some day."

Ellen thought back to her talk with Dick. Thought back to other talks, with other men. Thought back to a lost hour, in a garden. And then answered.

"It won't be somebody, some day!" she answered, and her mouth was clamped into a firm, straight line.

"Anyway," he said, after quite a long while, "you'll go to the Six Arts Ball with me. Won't you, darlin'?"

Ellen sat down again in front of the fireplace, and laid her soft cheek against the round top of its hard porcelain head. Over that head her eyes surveyed Sandy almost somberly.

But she nodded her assent. For, after all, it was a good party—the Six Arts Ball, A good party!

vividness of the crowded room. The steady, savage thud of the jazz bands—two of them!—at either end of the long dancing space. And slender girl bodies in costumes of flame and rose and green and yellow. Hours and Spache, Columbine and Civil War belle, Spanish dancer and Russian peasant. All jumbled together in a noisy, rhythmic, barbaric composition.

Here an author—known for his gift of laughter—sat in a box. There a great painter. Making the world, and himself, forget that he had once won the Prix de Rome. Here a woman whose voice raised in song brought tears to the eyes of thousands. There a financier who check for a million dollars without giving it more than a passing thought. Being bohemian, and having his own rough bit of going for a few hours out of a crowded life. Streamers of colored silk and popping balloons and perfume and jazz. And the throb of feet, the buzz of voices.

And, in the middle of it all, Ellen Church. Dancing with Sandy and smiling her chill, provocative little smile, across his shoulder, at any man who passed. Ellen advertising her slim, lovely legs in the brief costume of a page boy. Ellen with one of her much-in-demand hands spread out, on Sandy's broad back, so that other artists might see how pretty her fingers were, and remember them if ever they had a nail polish account to do.

Sandy—he was a pirate. Nothing startling about that. But cool, with a tattered shirt, and picturesque with gilt ear hoops and a scarlet silk handkerchief, and the eternal Vandyk.

"Somebody'll cut the whiskers off, before the evening's over, Ellen had warned. "And then what a Samson you'll turn out to be!"

"I'm a Samson, anyway, as far as you're concerned! Sandy had

"Something, baby," he said at last, "I'd like to smack you."

assured her. "Sandy S. Samson, that's I'm. Without either strength of will, or of character!"

Ellen laughed and danced with Sandy, and was glad that he danced well.

The cartoonist tapped Ellen on the shoulder.

"Yessir, you'er my baby!" he told her, and Ellen danced with him. He relinquished her ruefully when the financier, following him, demanded an introduction.

Ellen danced with the financier and tried not to hate his hot, fat fingers on her bare arm. After all, those same fingers could write a check for a million dollars.

The author who built laughter spied her in the crowd, and forgot that he had lost his own girl.

The evening went on. Ellen had removed the cap that was a part of her brief page costume.

"You're not a page—you're less than a paragraph!" Sandy had thrown at her once, from over the heads of the dancers who passed to and fro between them.

ly more weary, more tired. Certain remarks that she had made to Gay came back to her. Also certain things that her mother, three years ago, had said.

"I'm different from the rest of you!" she had told Gay.

And her mother had said— "I'd rather have you sit on the window-sill, separated from the world by bars—than be jostled by the crowd."

Ellen, with hot steaming bodies and sharp elbows and sliding ankles all about her, was realizing that if one is different, one can be a part of the crowd—and, at the same time, be sitting on the window-sill!

The most popular illustrator of the year claimed Ellen for a dance, tried to keep her for more. A radio star, prancing by, crooned something about "I kiss your hand, mam-sell—" only she didn't give him a chance to do it.

And in the middle of all the gaiety, was Ellen Church.

An actor—world weary, with 4 wives in his background, started toward her, across the floor. Started as one who seeks, who thirsts after youth. Ellen, seeing him come, felt a swift nausea.

"I'll find Sandy," she said. "He's got to take me home. I'm tired of being pawed, and patted, and treated like something that's cheap. What—"

But she never finished the thought, or the sentence. For suddenly he had loomed up, out of the crowd in front of her. A tall young man, with wide shoulders and the brown of the sun on his face. And looking out of that brown, the bluest eyes that Ellen had ever seen. He smiled down at her—very far down at her—very far down—for a moment, before he took her, unresisting, and without even so much as a by-your-leave, from the arms of her partner. Ellen, with something odd and disturbing in her heart with something hot pounding against temple and wrist, smiled back at him.

Ellen's partner, scarcely able to stand, but extremely voluble with all, protested.

"Say, how'd you get that way?" questioned the partner. "I had this waltz with the lady—"

But the young man, still smiling down at the tousled, curly top of Ellen's head, danced away. Ellen feeling his arm grow tight about her body, knew that she should have her body, knew that she should have resisted that embrace. Even during the free and easy atmosphere of the Six Arts Ball, there were certain conventions—especially when the conventions concerned the tawdry business of picking up! She should have made some sort of a protest, whether it rang true or not. But oddly, it wasn't possible for Ellen to draw away from this young man's clasp. Not that he was holding her in a rudely tight manner,—but because she seemed to lack the strength, both physical and mental, to draw away! Why, she had scarcely the strength to speak, to answer coherently his opening sentence. As she made an effort, a real effort, to find words, her mind was saying jumbled things.

"Miracles don't happen," her mind was saying. "They can't happen! One didn't allow them to happen."

The young man was speaking again. Repeating himself, as if he couldn't think of anything else to say.

"Where," he questioned again, "have you been? All of this time! Ellen had caught hold of her speeding emotions. She found it possible, at last, to answer in kind.

"Why," she answered, "I've just been sort of waiting around. Knowing that if I waited long enough, you'd find me. Knowing that—"

The thrill that shot down all through her spine, to the very soles of her feet! It was because the young man had kissed her. Kissed her ever so gently upon the very top of her head. Ellen pulled back in his arms to survey him. She'd put him in his place! She'd be cool and scornful and—

But her eyes didn't reflect scorn! They dwelt instead upon that brown face. Upon the crumpled Pierrot ruff, under the brown square chin. They rested a moment upon the broad shoulders. And then they traveled up, to be lost in the blue, blue graze that was bent down upon them. To be lost for so long that the young man's voice, sounding unskilfully, brought with it the crash that comes at the end of a falling-through space dream.

"Let's cut away from this place, said the voice. "See? We—we've got to get acquainted, you and I. And we can't, in this mad house."

Ellen danced in silence half way round the crowded floor. She needed that breathing space of silent motion, in which to think.

A New Panacea

Practically every sort of economic plan the human brain can devise for correcting conditions in the U. S. has been brought forward in the past four years. Those sent to Washington through the mail and offered from political stamps and soap boxes would stall a train. But the one recently proposed by Dr. F. E. Townsend, of Long Beach, Calif., promises to create the greatest comment, and Cross Plains citizens are due to hear a lot about it in the next few months.

Townsend's plan is for the U. S. to issue bonds in the amount of two billion dollars — like the Liberty loan bonds. Then he would have Uncle Sam start immediately paying a pension of $200 a month to every citizen of sixty years of age or over — on certain conditions. One would be that the citizen have no criminal record; that he must retire from all work and give up any income he may have, and that he must spend the $200 within the month in which he receive it, thus putting every dollar of it into circulation within 30 days after he received it.

There are said to be thousands of clubs and organizations endorsing the plan. It will go to Congress when that body meets in January, with a recommendation that a national sales tax be levied to raise the money. Form your own opinion as to whether or not it is a good proposition, and a workable one. But make up your mind right now that you're going to hear a lot of discussion concerning it as soon as Congress meets.

LOTIEF WRITES LETTER TO PEOPLE OF DISTRICT

To the people of 107 Floterial District:

A great deal of interest is being taken by the people of Texas in regard to the Texas Centennial to be held in Dallas during the year 1936, and I am writing this letter in order to get the views of the citizenship of my district as to whether they favor this Centennial. The Centennial committee is asking for the sum of $5,000,000.00 and, while I am heartily in favor of celebrating the centennial, I do not feel justified in voting for such a large sum of money. However, if the people of my district will instruct me to vote for it, I shall be glad to carry out your wishes, as I have endeavored to do in the past. I feel that I am your servant, and not your master.

I realize that a good many people will be attracted to Texas for this exposition in 1936, and I believe the State will derive a great many benefits from it. As I see the problem, thought, Dallas will receive most of the benefits, since the Centennial is to be held in that city. I do not believe that the taxpayers in general would receive benefits in proportion to the taxes they would be forced to pay in putting on this big State Fair in Dallas.

Furthermore, the deficit of the General Revenue Fund is now about $7,000,000.00, and a total deficit of all the State funds is about $14,000,000.00. In addition, the state must pay off the $20,000,000.00 in relief bonds within the next few years.

The subject of the Centennial, no doubt, will be one of the most important submitted to the Legislature during this Special Session. I am not opposed to the Centennial, but I do not want to burden the taxpayers for something from which they will never receive benefits in return. It seems to me that the Legislature should be more interested in relief for the hungry than in helping Dallas to promote a Centennial.

Cecil Lotief, State Representative, 10th District

THIS SHOULD PROMPT A "LAFF" EVEN AT CAPITOL

Editor's Note: Copy of a letter mailed to the United States Treasury Department, at Washington, concerning income tax returns, has recently come to the Review editor's desk. The originality and individuality of the letter merits its publication herein:

U. S. Treasury Department, Washington, D. C. Gents:

The enclosed form, on which I am asked to make a record of my income for the last fiscal year, is returned to you with my respects and my deepest appreciation of this subtle form of flattery. I am particularly impressed by its resurrections of old forms and figures of English speech such as "compensation from outside sources," "net profit received," "income from rents," "interest on bank deposits," etc.

One question I got a great laugh out of was "Were you during the taxable year supporting in your household one or more persons closely related to you?" Bo, that's a honey.

Say, Mister Secretary, you would be surprised. There are so many persons closely related to me staying at my house that I am what you would call surrounded. Only the other day three more distant cousins of my wife's blew in, making a new high for the movement. And one of them brought a friend.

For the last four years my house has been full of strangers, all claiming to be my cousin or aunts or something. I can't identify half of them, and what burned me up was when my wife's Uncle Jerry, who has been living with us a year, slapped me on the back the other day and asked, "Haven't I seen you some place before?"

The blank says it will allow me $400.00 for each dependent relative and I would say the government is overpricing them, as I would trade the entire lot for $11 and throw in a pair of bicycle pants and a magic lantern. (Two of my wife's aunts you can have for the asking.)
out b.s. 6.1s-80a .rt ae azR si
Heigh-ho and lackaday. The blank also asks me to "describe your business as provided in Item 2" and I am glad to answer, Lousy, Mister Secretary, Lousy. And it asks me to "enter on line 1 of schedule A my total receipts for 1933". I wish you would stop joking, Mister Secretary. Fun is fun, but enough is enough, and you can carry anything too far. Then you say something about allowance for "Obsolescens, depreciation and depletion." That's where I come in. As an American business man I am a study in obsolescence. I am depleted, deflated, depressed, denatured, denounced, deranged and dejected. And so is my old man. Your in a barrell.

Electric Service Is Cheap

WEST TEXAS UTILITIES COMPANY has made large investments to provide modern facilities for electric service in Cross Plains, even ahead of present day requirements. It is supplying over double the amount of service per customer as was supplied some few years ago. It has made five domestic rate reductions since 1927 and is now collecting less per customer than it did in the days when it was supplying near one-third the present amount of service. In addition thereto, it is shouldering for you much more of the tax burden than in previous years.

Your part is to further increase your use of facilities provided. Electric service is one of the most valuable commodities of the household, yet it is sold at the lowest prices, takes only about 1 per cent of the workman's total household expenditures.

6c per kilowatt-hour straight
1c per kilowatt-hour discount

THE BILL FOR 25 KILOWATT-HOURS WAS 50% HIGHER IN 1927 THAN IT IS TODAY

1934
(Full electric service with range)
9c per kilowatt-hour for first 25
6c per kilowatt-hour for next 25
3c per kilowatt-hour for excess

The present domestic rate schedule in Cross Plains will provide 515 kilowatt-hours per month for what only 78 kilowatt-hours would have cost you in 1927. A simple way to figure your electric service bill in Cross Plains on a completely electrified home is as follows:

*First 50 Kilowatt- Hours At 7½¢
All Over At 3¢*

When water heater service is controlled so as to use investment in capacity already provided for the range, such added service costs only 1c per kilowatt-hour which makes such total service cost for the completely electrified home in Cross Plains even lower than any of the four largest cities in the State of Texas.

DRESSY

C. D. Baird and Vernon went to Dallas last Friday with their cotton report for the Government, here hoping it is correct and they accept it in good faith. The bank head bill is still causing lots of work for the gin, but we have heard say if a cause is just it will eventually prevail in spite of all the propaganda put forth, support it if not just we hope it will go down.

Jim Miller and daughter, Miss Adon were visiting in the Pete Neeb home Saturday night.

Mrs. Sam Swafford, Mr. and Mrs. Al Pethrel went to Breckenridge Friday night to attend a gathering of the old timers of that place.

Frank Ferrell and Norrell Long are about the luckiest fellows around here they dug a well about eighteen feet and got lots of water, they had it pumped Wednesday and at the rate of 300 gallons in two and one quarter minutes that is one blessing for us all to think about. It stands about 8 feet in water.

Miss Kaola Cavanaugh gave a Halloween party Monday night which was complete success, we were met in the yard by two goasts after walking over springs and wire we entered the house where owls, black cats, pumkins faces shaded lights, made us feel creepy then we were invited into the room of horrors afterwards we fished for fortunes bobbed for apples with numerous other games after which refreshments were served consisting of the very best punch and cake.

Mr. and Mrs. John Reed and Mrs. Brice West of Coleman visited in the C. D. Baird home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Edington were business visitors in Cross Plains Wednesday.

Mrs. Ferrell has not been well of late went to Santa Anna Monday for examination at the Sealy Hospital.

There are men who would license an evil if it brought revenue to a hard-hit town, but not even the law can make a wrong right.

Notes From COUNTY AGENTS OFFICE

Feeding The Dairy Cow

Many inquiries have been made of the county agent during the past few days relative to the ration advised for feeding the farm milk cow. This has been forceably drawn to the attention to many since the cost of feed has been soaring. The cost of groceries have also caused the farmer to stop and wonder if the old cow couldn't be called upon to stop the excessive mounting in grocery cost.

Before any one can successfully hope to gain a maximum of good from any feed there are a few rules that must be carried out. First, the cow must be milked at regular intervals. She should be fed and milked at the same hour at both morning and evening. It does not matter at what hour either forenoon or afternoon but the same hour should be used each day. Plenty of clean water should always be provided to get the most from any cow. The cow should never be excited before milking.

One of the poorest practices in cow management is to send the dog after the herd or send one of the children on a horse and let it run the cows in to the cow pin. Some people go to the milking pen in a bad humor and should the cow lift her foot because of a sore test or other cause, she gets a good administration of the board before the milk is done. The direct result is that not very much milk is obtained and the cow is often thrown off her feed for a day or two while the kiddies lack for the needed nourishment. No feed is complete without at least 2% of bone meal or lime flour.

A dairy cow needs more salt than is usually provided. Don't make her lick a salt block for hours to get her requirements for she needs that time to get grass and hay. Feed her 1% salt in her ration. Provide her all the roughness that she will eat during the day.

The following is a good farm ration: 300 pounds of ground grain sorghum heads, 100 pounds ground oats, 100 pounds wheat bran, and 300 pounds of cottonseed meal. Add to this mixture 16 pounds of lime flour and 8 pounds of salt. Mix well together and feed about 4 pounds of the above concentrate mixture to a cow weighing around 1000 pounds and giving 3 gallons milk. Add to this for the cow larger or for a like cow giving more than 3 gallons and give less for smaller cows or less production. These well fed cows require about 15 to 25 pounds of sorghum roughage per day and the above ration. The old saying that the eye of the feeder judges the amount of ration to give still holds true. Feed the cow good feeds and increase the amounts until she fails to respond to a gain then slacken off and feed regularly the same amounts. Any good feed is bulky, palatable, clean, nutritious, balanced, and cheap.

1933 & 1934 Cotton Certificates Here
Those who have had cotton only in 1933 or in 1933 and '34 or who have cotton for the first time in 1934 please call and get your certificates as they are now ready for distribution. If it is the wish of any person to get the certificates for another it will be necessary to have a Power of Attorney to get them as Mr. A. L. Cook is under bond and responsible for their safe delivery and orders not deliver any certificate unless the legal form is signed giving authority to some other person to sign for the certificates. Much time and disappointment will be saved if the above precautions are taken.

Mrs. Fred Burgin is visiting in Fort Worth this week.

John Kendrick attended the Tom Mix circus in Coleman this week.

Go forth ye white horse army
Go forth with sword and buckler;
Go out and Satans legions fight,
Go conquering and to conquer,

Go preach the gospel far and wide,
Baptising each believer
And tell them all that Jesus died
From death them to deliver.

And bring them back God's face to see,
And water at the river,
And have full access to the tree.
Of life again forever.

Baird, Texas, Feb. 22, 1902.

Mrs. Lewis Norman, Bosa Van Lane, and Mrs. Harry Ward visited in Baird Wednesday.

Earl Haley of Baird visited here Saturday.

Mrs. H. T. Schooley of Ranger was a visitor here Tuesday.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

The following poem "The Tree of Life" is submitted to the Review with request for publication by a long time resident of this county who was acquainted with the author T. J. Austin, an early settler near Belle Plaine. Mr Austin still has hundreds of friends and a host of relatives in this county. The poem first appeared in tehBaird Star February 22, 1902.

In Eden's bright and sunny clime
In love to man was given,
The Tree of Life with fruit sublime.

The earth was then a heaven.
The tree possessed the healing power
Vouchsafed to all the nation.

While sweet communion every hour
And holy conversation.
With God who binds the ocean tide
And gave the planets motion.

And fixed his law all things to guide
And claimed the world devotion.
He said to man thou mayest eat
And have control forever.

Of all the trees and vines so sweet
And have control forever.
Of all the trees and vines so sweet
And water at the river.

But in the midst there stands one tree
Whose fruit is now forbidden,
The day that thou shalt eat of it,
Of life thou shalt be ridden.

Then came along that wicked one,
And with one strong delusion
Of truth and falsehood covered man
With darkness and confusion.

And when the Lord returned he
Because that thou hast eaten,
The fruit I told thee not to eat,
With stripes thou shalt be beaten.

And from the tree of life away,
And from God's garden driven
The man that had been made of clay
And made him bitter heaven.

Driven through ages long and hard
Without a hope to cheer him,
Except a dim prophetic spark
That God did place before him.

A book was written full within,
And on the back a portion,
Which said that God would give to man
An object of devotion.

This book was sealed with seven seals,
And in the court of glory,
No one was found that could reveal
It inward, hidden story.

Then earth and sea and under earth,
Was searched in vain to find one
That had the power to open the book,
Or even in the power to look.

Then angels wept, and saints on earth
In anxious expectation
Waiting some one to come forth
To make the revelation.

But hark, I hear an elder say,
Weep not, behold the lion,
Of Judah's offspring has prevailed
Go tell the news in Zion.

And now he comes the Prince of Peace
To wear the crown of glory,
Imprisoned mortals to release,
And tell the joyful story.

Go forth ye white horse army
Go forth with sword and buckler;
Go out and Satans legions fight,
Go conquering and to conquer,

Go preach the gospel far and wide,
Baptising each believer
And tell them all that Jesus died
From death them to deliver.

And bring them back God's face to see,
And water at the river,
And have full access to the tree.
Of life again forever.

"BABY, TAKE A BOW"
FEATURING SHIRLEY
TEMPLE, SCHEDULED

"Honor of the Range", "Baby Take a Bow" and "I'll Tell The World" are pictures billed at the Liberty theater here for the next seven days, according to an announcement from W. A. Beavers, manager, yesterday.

Honor of the Range
 "Honor of the Range" is a Western picture, featuring Ken Maynard. Others of the cast are: Cecilia Parker, and Frank Kohler. This picture is carded Friday and Saturday, at which time chapter nine of the "Wolf Dog" serial will also be shown.

Baby, Take A Bow
 "Baby, Take A Bow", featuring Shirley Temple, comes to the local screen Sunday afternoon. Others of the cast are James Dunn, Claire Trevor and Alan Dinehart. A sound technician on the "Baby, Take A Bow" set at Fox Film is still wondering whether to be insulted. Director Harry Lachman, arranging a scene wherein several detectives are escorting prisoners to Sing Sing, spotted the technician busily twirling dials.

"Say," the director remarked to his assistant, Bert Sebell, "get that fellow in this scene—he looks just like a crook!"

Unfortunately, the sound man's features couldn't be photographed. "I'll Tell The World"

Merry and mad, talking faster than ever, Lee Tracy is returning to the screen.

The blond and resilient Tracy will be seen in Universal "I'll Tell the World" at the Liberty theater starting Wednesday.

In the screenplay, one of the fastest-moving yet selected for Tracy, he plays the part of a star correspondent of a world-wide news-gathering agency who scoops the world on a big news story and wins for his bride a royal princess.

Supporting Tracy are Gloria Stuart, starred with John Boles in "Beloved," Roger Pryor, of "Moonlight and Pretzels" fame, Onslow Stevens, Alec B. Francis, Lawrence Grant, Herman Bing, Willard Robertson, Hugh Enfield, Dorothy Granger, Leon Waycott, William Von Brinken and many other well known screen players.

The screenplay, which takes the audience from the wilds of northern Canada to the borders of a European republic, was written in part by Lincoln Quarberg and Dale Van Every, both at one time, United Press correspondents.

THE BISON

HERD SHATTERS FIVE YEAR JINX

The Cross Plains Buffaloes defeated the Putnam Panthers 6-0 Friday afternoon in a hard fought battle. This is the first Buffalo victory over the Panthers in five years. The Buffaloes were "doped" to win over the Panthers by a much larger score than 6-0.

The Buffaloes were in scoring territory twice in the first half but failed to score due to the strong resistance of the Panther line. The deciding touchdown came in the last of the fourth quarter when Bevo Webb, Buffalo halfback, broke through a hole in the Panther line for the score. Blitch failed to convert. John Lackey and Jimmie Lusk were outstanding defensive players and Halbert and Webb were outstanding for their "leather totting."

The Public Speaking Class

By Dora Belle Harris This, being the first year we have ever been able to have Public Speaking in our school, we, the students, find it one of the most beneficial subjects taught. Miss Novalyne Price, who is teaching Public Speaking, is a graduate of Daniel Baker College, and has a diploma in Oratory from there. Miss Price has also studied in Howard Payne, and in the Authory School of Rytham and Dramatics in Kansas City, Mo.

During the first semester of school, Fundamentals of Speech, Speech Compositions, Parliamentary Law, and Debate will be studied by the students taking this subject.

Chappel Programs

By Dora Belle Harris During the first week of school, a series of programs were arranged by the faculty. Miss Price is chairman of the committee. The programs are given each Wednesday morning at 9:00 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

The first program was given September 19, 1934. This program was a pep program presented by the Cross Plains Buffaloes. The main event of the program was a modern football game refereed by John Lackey impersonating Miss Enid Gwathmey. Chocolate and cookies were served to both teams during the half of the game. The players were dressed in knee-trousers and wore a large bow of ribbon on their hair. The bow was the school-color of each team. The outcome of the game was unknown as, Miss Gwathmey fell in love with the captains of each team and could not decide which was the lucky one.

The second program was given October 17, by the freshmen class. The title of the program was: "What'll You Take." The purpose of the play was to show the students the value of each high school subject.

The third program was given October 24, by pupils of Miss Johnson and Miss Lewis Norman. Both the music and expressional programs were very beneficial and entertaining to the students of this school, and to those who attended.

There was no program Wednesday morning due to the fact, that the stage was set for the play, "It Can't Be Done", which was given that night.

The next program will be given November 7, by students in Grammar school.

The public is cordially invited to attend these programs each Wednesday morning at 9:00 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

The Senior class of 34-35 has been organized for some time. Jimmie Lusk was elected class president, Jay Mayes vice-president, Roma Young secretary and treasurer, Beryl Lusk class-reporter. Blue and silver were selected as class colors. The class motto was "Non-Stop flight to Perfection," and the class aim was to tour the "Carlsbad Cavern before the term is completed."

Senior rings, bracelets, lockets and other novelties have been ordered, and are due here anytime.

The senior class has been very outstanding in football this year. Thus far, five seniors are making first string and two others are furnishing excellent competition for positions.

The Alleys and Vacant Lots of Our Town

By Billie Ruth Loving

In Cross Plains the vacant lots and alleys are either overgrown with weeds or covered with dirty papers. Look at the vacant lots. Some have rock piles on them and weeds grow between the rocks. In the Autumn the dry leaves fall down among the weeds. This makes the best harboring place a snake or insect would want. Even if there was no danger, a citizen should think more of his town than to let the vacant lots look like a trash pile. These lots could be made beautiful and useful for little or no cost at all. One vacant lot that I know of could easily be made into a tennis court. Others could be fixed for entertainment and the boys and girls would have a place to have good, clean fun.

Every citizen of Cross Plains should be ashamed of some of the alleys. A person passing through would think that people here have no care at all to let such filth be so near their back yards that flies and mosquitoes can find. Serious diseases may arise from nothing except absolute carelessness. There are people who burn their trash in alleys. Even that may prove dangerous when dry weeds and papers are lying in the alleys, for serious fires may be started.

The Clean Up Campaign

By Ida Nell Williams

There are many places in our town which need to be cleaned up. Around many of the homes the trash needs to be removed and weeds need to be cut. There are many vacant lots which have been neglected by owners and now need cleaning up very much. They have many weeds on them, and many of them are used to dump trash on. These could be cleaned and improve very much the looks of our town. The alleys also contain rubbish and tin cans. Many weeds are found in these alleys. These should be cleaned up.

The town needs a clean up campaign, and there is going to be one in the near future sponsored by the Wednesday Study Club. This clean up campaign will improve the looks of our town more than anything if every one will cooperate. A visitor to our town will think more of it if it is clean. A clean town leaves a good impression with strangers, and we want our town to be thought a lot of. A clean town will also improve the health of the people who live here.

If every one will cooperate as they should, we will find that our town will be improved much, so be making plans for your part in the clean up campaign, and do every thing to cooperate with the other people.

Library News

In observing some of the benefits of the library to the student body of the high school, we find that they acquire a greater intellectual knowledge by using the books that the library furnishes.

One special benefit of the library is the monthly magazines which are very useful to the students. They furnish them material for history and English reports, current-events and other useful outside reading material. In our library, we find ever type of book suited to the tastes of every individual. Our books consist of text-books, references, books of fiction, drama, poetry, and miscellaneous prose.

The high school library wishes to acknowledge their gratitude and thanks to the Wednesday Study Club for donating such useful and interesting books to the library as: The Good Earth by Buch. Dusty answers by Lehman. Invitation to the Waltz by Lehman.

LUCKY GIRL Her mother felt that family physicians and specialists, and the hospitals must be right. A simple test that proves they are. If anyone in your family is occasionally sluggish or constipated; especially any child, you should know this medical truth: You cannot get safe relief with any medicine if you cannot regulate the dose. And to regulate dosage, you should have a liquid laxative. With a liquid laxative, you can gradually reduce the dose. And that is the secret of safe relief from a sluggish, constipated condition. Why Doctors Use Liquid Laxatives A liquid laxative can be measured. Its action can be thus controlled. If properly made, of natural laxative elements like senna and cascara, it forms no habit—even in the youngest child. And such a laxative will help the bowels to help them- selves, not make matters worse. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative containing herbs, active senna, and cascara, and is the one widely used. You can always obtain it at any drug-store. Why not make the "liquid test" which has attracted so much attention of late? It helps nearly everyone who tries it. It may make you feel better than you have in a long time. If you will risk sixty cents to discover the natural, comfortable action of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, we believe bowel worries will be over for your household. MRS. STRONG AND DAUGHTER, NANCY "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin brought relief at once," says Mrs. A. G. Strong of 34-47 80th St., Jackson Heights, N.Y.

News from other papers received at the Editor's desk

November 1st will be Spur's Silver Anniversary the town having held it's formal opening on that date 25 years ago in the year 1909.

While no attempt will be made to hold a celebration on the occasion with any definite or elaborate program, a general invitation is extended to old timers to make it a point if possible to pay the city a visit during the week of the anniversary for a general get-together and confab. The Texas Spur.

D. W. Gray, city marshall, came in the office with two cards from S. W. Bohls, M. D., director of laboratories that the water supply for Anson was good and free from contamination. The residence test card was dated October 16 and the test card for the pump at the lake was dated October 15.

The water has little or no odor at the present time and taste better than it has in several months. The Western Enterprise.

Pigeon racing is a hobby of Cleburne boys. Recently they sent a box of pigeons to Clifton to be released there by the railroad station agent. One of the pigeons flew back to Cleburne, a distance of 48 miles in an hour and 10 minutes, an average of 1207 yards per minute. The racing birds are from three to six months old.

Houston Kyzar is exhibiting an unusual relic—a 50 year old tax receipt, which he found among legal papers in his possession. The receipt was issued March 5, 1884, to Houston's father, J. J. Kyzar, for property taxes paid to the 8th Saba County tax collector, the taxes being assessed for the year 1883, and covering 160 acres, abstract 696, certificate 16-226, survey 1, Indianola R. R. Especially noteworthy is that the total county and state tax on this 160-acre tract was but $4.08, divided as follows: State Advalorem, 74c; County Advalorem, $1.59; Revenue and School Poll, $1.50; County Poll 25. Perhaps that's the reason old-timers are wont to sigh about "the good old days."

This $200 a month pension idea for people over 60 has one drawback. Most of us would be dead long before that worrying over how to pay the required taxes.

The honeymoon is over when he decides that she is getting to be less and less an elf and more and more of an earful.

A modern "man hunt" usually consists of two or three hundred armed deputies and police looking for one bandit and hoping they won't find him.

The worst trouble about the so-called "closed mind" is that it usually is accompanied by an open mouth.

Pessimists should remember that there still are about 40,000,000 persons at work in this country, and that very, very few of them would give up their jobs to join in any kind of a fuss.
