TRACK MEET TODAY, TOMORROW

HOME TOWN GOSSIP

"Doc" Sellers the golf playing publisher of the Rising Star Record, who is prominently known for his humorous "jabs" at contemporary columnists, opened his "HASH" column last week with the following concerning our recent action in placing our picture in the heading of the Gossip.

"Jack Scott, editor of the Cross Plains Review, is a brave man. This statement is made without any kind of qualification on account of the fact that our friend and neighbor is the first columnist among the weekly typewriter pounders to place his phiz in the heading of his column. Of course Jack is young and handsome and his face, with a catfish smile, is really an adornment to the heading but suppose Hash and Rufus Higgs were to try it. Our noble but bald dome would look like the rising full moon and Rufus' locks are rapidly thinning and he also has a few furrows in his brow. This thing may spread among the younger generation of the press, such as: Joe Cowan and young Billie Smith of San Saba, young Bill Collins of Llano, but it is going to be a long time before us birds of the old school are inveigled into it."

Now that "catfish smile" Doc speaks of, is just exactly that. We always "register" it when a delinquent subscriber evens his account. The above, as we told you some time ago, was snapped just after we had been handed a five spot. P. S. We also have a "fit" of appreciation" which accompanies each page advertisement. But very few Cross Plains merchants have had occasion to witness it.

Miss Agnes White, chief stamp hicker at the local post office, demands that this column inform her public that the reference made last week to the fact that Dave Lee had been seen courting a certain girl recently, did in no way concern her. She even went further to deny, in Dave's presence, that it was she who was seen in his company.

This, of course, will be more interesting to Miss Vivian Jennings, Howard Payne College Librarian, than most any one else.

Few salesmen have the technique that is to be found in Nuel Ike Childs, youthful magazine distributor. He just walks up to a prospective purchaser with a bundle of magazines under his arm and a smile that seems to tell you what he has to say.

In fact, he hardly says anything. The magazine is usually sold before he has a chance.

Well, the idea of old fashioned spelling matches is spreading. A contest of that nature will be held here Monday night, in the L.O.O.F. hall, under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Jackson, local adult school teacher.

This department will honor the man, woman or child, who turns down Benton Jones, Nat Williams or Charles F. Hemphill, with a dove tail banquet.

And incidentally, we know a word that none of the three can spell.

Thoughts while sauntering: Frank Medford wabbles like a duck when he walks. Jim McGowen isn't seen around town as much, as in days of yore. Ike Kend-

T. D. Little To Be Candidate For Reelection

TO PLACE ON CITY COUNCIL; TRUSTEE VOTE ALSO NEARS

Saturday is the last day to file nominations for the place of Alderman, which is to be filled at the annual city election, Tuesday, April second. The law requires that nominations be signed by 10 qualified voters and filed with the city clerk 10 days prior to the election.

Only one place on the city council is to be filled this year, all other members being carry overs. T. D. Little is the Alderman, whose term will expire. He has been nominated for reelection. To date he is unopposed. The Review had not learned of any other candidates for the post yesterday at noon.

A city poll tax is not a requisite for voting in the city election. The only qualification is that a person must have a state poll tax, as in state elections.

The city election will be held in the Anderson Chevrolet building, Tuesday, March second.

The election of two school trustees, which is called for the first Saturday in April—April sixth—will also be held in the Anderson Chevrolet building, the Review is informed. Two trustees are to be chosen at that balloting. Elmer Vestal, chairman of the board, and W. J. Carpenter's terms will expire. It was not known yesterday whether they would be candidates for reelection.

H. H. McDermott, of Cross Plains, will be a candidate for reelection as county school trustee, his name having been placed on the ballot by a group of local citizens last week.

A. G. Foster was recently appointed to fill the unexpired term of B. I. Marshall on the Cross Plains board of school trustees. Mr. Marshall moved from this district to Pioneer and therefore tendered his resignation.

Petition for nomination for the place of school trustee are governed by the same requirements as those for city council posts. They must bear the signature of 10 qualified voters and be in the hands of either the chairman or secretary of the board several days before the election, in time to get names on the printed ballot.

Interest in both the city and school election is lighter than usual this year, and a heavy ballot is not anticipated.

MRS. H. JOHNSON TO HEAD PIONEER P. T. A.

Pioneer Parent-Teacher Association met March 14 in a business session, which was opened by the President Mrs. W. B. Gunn. Minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. L. C. Cash.

Officers were elected for the 1935-36 school term as follows: President, Mrs. Howard Johnson; Program Chairman, Mrs. C. J. Brooks; Finance Chairman, Mrs. A. F. Harris; Membership Chairman, Mrs. Don Johnson; Publicity Chairman, Mrs. R. W. Lawrence; Publications, Mrs. Nettie Huntington; Secretary, Miss Carline Gray Treasurer, Mrs. F. B. Joyce.

After the business meeting the group heard an interesting discussion on curriculum revision by professor B. Williams

SEED IS TREATED BY ADULT NIGHT SCHOOL

35 pounds of ajax seed and 135 pounds of maize seed were treated to prevent covered smut Tuesday night at Sabanno, by members of adult night class under the directions of V. A. Underwood.

BLUE BACK SPELLING MATCH WILL BE HELD HERE MONDAY NIGHT

A blue-back spelling match, to which the entire public is invited, will be held in the IOOF hall here Monday night, under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Jackson, teacher in Cross Plains Adult School.

There will be no admission charge and a large group of visitors and participants are desired. Miss Jackson told the Review.

A blue-back speller will be used.

"Be sure to remember the date and come enjoy the evening. Fun for all and no cost of any kind," Miss Jackson concluded.

WOMAN IS GIVEN 20 YEARS FOR ROBBERY IN TREET SLAYING

Mary Lou Howell, of near Rising Star, was given 20 years in the state penitentiary by a Callahan county jury in forty second district court at Baird, Thursday, for robbery with fire-arms. The charge was in connection with the fatal shooting and robbery of L. F. Treet, rancher, near Putnam, last August.

Two others were charged in the shooting. One is now under a death sentence.

The jury deliberated three hours and 40 minutes after receiving Judge M. S. Long's charge at noon.

During the course of the trial the state introduced 19 witnesses to show that Mr. Howell conspired with Clifford Doggett and Elmer Van Cleave to lure the ranchman to a lonely spot on his ranch, where they planned to rob him. The defense had only two witnesses.

Doggett received a 99-year sentence last November at his trial on the robbery charge and later at Eastland a death sentence for murder. Van Cleave testified at both trials against Doggett and also as a witness against Mrs. Howell.

He said that he and Doggett had agreed before the robbery to "split 50-50" and that Doggett would divide his share of the money with Mrs. Howell.

He admitted that he helped in the robbery, but insisted that Doggett shot Treet because the ranchman refused to hold up his hands.

ONE ACT PLAY TO BE PRESENTED WEDNESDAY

The one act play, which Cross Plains high school will use in the district interscholastic League meet at Breckenridge, will be presented to local citizens in the high school auditorium Wednesday night, March 27. An admission charge of five and 10 cents will be.

Pupils in Miss Helen Grace Gray's Little Theater class will also appear on the program in novelty and between—the act numbers.

CEMETERY CLEANING AT DRESSY SET WEDNESDAY

Dressy will observe Wednesday, March 27—as cemetery clean-up day. The entire community is being asked to "turn out" for the work. Basket dinner will be spread at noon.

"Bring your working tools, a well filled basket and come enjoy the day with us in a profitable work," said Mrs. C. D. Baird, to the Review yesterday.

Newspaper Poll Finds Mayor City's Most Valuable Citizen

Mayor and Presbyterian pastor, Rev. S. P. Collins is Cross Plains' most valuable citizen, according to a newspaper poll conducted by the Home Town Gossip department of Review. The voting, which continued over a period of three weeks closed Wednesday afternoon.

Nat Williams, Superintendent of Cross Plains schools, was second. Others who were nominated for the distinction were: Tom Bryant Dr. Eli Powell, Dr. I. M. Howard, V. C. Walker, Mrs. J. E. Henkel, Joe Weiler, Dr. J. H. McGowen, F. R. Anderson, C. F. Hemphill and Frank Peavy.

A brief note, which accompanied

Mr. Peavy's nomination for the honor—and which the editor believes meritorious of reproduction here—said: "To the one who, the blind sets an example of cheerfulness, patience and an abiding faith in God and his fellowman, I cast my vote for Mr. Frank Peavy as Cross Plains' most valuable citizen."

One ballot was cast for John Lackey, versatile Cross Plains high school athlete, by a person who was of the opinion that the poll was to determine Cross Plains most valuable football player.

Miss Agnes White also received one vote, however, she informs that she cast it for herself.

Skeleton Discovered By Highway Workers Near Blake Monday

In an unmarked grave on the side of a caliche hill about two miles North of Blake on the Roy Hickman ranch, road workers uncovered the skeleton of a man Monday afternoon. The skeleton was found when workers were plowing for dirt to place on the road. The bones were found just slightly inside of Brown county, and for that reason were carried to Brownwood.

Dr. John Snyder, of Brownwood, made a cursory examination and estimated the bones had lain in their resting place from 50 to 75 years. From the teeth and the shape of the skull, Dr. Snyder said he believed the skeleton to be that of a white man.

There was in the grave a large silver disc which apparently came from some clothing, a bit of coarse woven cloth, two brass fasteners and four common small buckles. There was no money, no watch nor arms, and no buttons.

Recalls Death of Ranger

T. R. Havins, Brown county historian, has been making an intensive study of Company E of the old Texas Rangers which was organized in Brownwood many years ago and operated in this section. According to his findings, in a skirmish with Bigfoot, an Indian chief, and some warriors between Camp Colorado and Brownwood one ranger was wounded and died before the company returned to camp.

NEW FLOWER SHOP WILL BE OPENED HERE SOON

A new flower shop is nearing construction here. It is to be owned and operated by Mrs. George Scott, at her place in the South part of town.

The building is nearing completion and a portion of the floral and nursery stock has already arrived.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe White, Agnes White and Orba Booth were visitors in Cisco Sunday afternoon.

Sweet Potato Men Meet Here Saturday

A meeting of potato men of this locality was called last night by County Agent Ross B. Jenkins to be held in Cross Plains high school auditorium, Saturday afternoon at two thirty. J. L. Sullivan, of the state department of agriculture, will accompany Mr. Jenkins here.

Mr. Sullivan will discuss potato production, seed bed preparation, and handling from the most scientific methods.

Mr. Sullivan has been with the

The dead man could be that man, it could be some man killed by Indians and buried by friends, it could be an outlaw, it could be the man was not a soldier as uniform buttons and other personal belongings would have been found.

Was Large Man

He was a large man, apparently over six feet tall, large head with big, wide square face. He had a perfect set of teeth and these indicate him to have been a man of about twenty five years of age. He had cut his third molars, but the condition of the teeth showed him to be young because rough food eaten in early days ground down teeth very rapidly, Dr. Snyder said.

The tarnished buckles are being polished and the skull of the man is being pieced together. Later, perhaps the entire body will be gotten together and pieced out.

There was also what appeared to be a string of beads found with the body which showed that the man had evidently taken them from an Indian or had, traded for them. They were in one little pile, which showed that he evidently had them in a bag or in a pocket. The beads are petrified sea life which is found yet in parts of this section.

The cloth, a small square, when placed under a glass showed to be very coarse weave and apparently home spun cloth. Other clothing found when the body was found crumbled into dust when hit by air.

LOCAL GIRLS ARE ON COLLEGE HONOR ROLL

Misses Emmarie Hemphill and Sara Collins, who are attending Daniel Baker College, Brownwood, are listed on the honor roll for the term ending March seventh. Miss Hemphill, who is taking six subjects, made all A's. Miss Collins made three A's and two B's.

Miss Hemphill is the daughter of C. F. Hemphill of Cross Plains, and Miss Collins is the daughter of the Rev. S. P. Collins of Cross Plains.

BEAUTY SHOP TAX ARGUED BY HOUSE; A. C. DODSON SAYS

(Special To Review) By Aubra Dodson

Austin, Texas. Folks there is just not much news this week. The Rangers have closed our biggest business and gloom hangs over the city. The Legislature seems to kinda lost interest. They have dropped the race repeal bill and also the bill to vote on prohibition.

I was up there yesterday and the House was wrangling about a beauty parlor bill. You see they are figuring on selling them a license to operate. It's much better to call anything in the way of tax, a license. It sounds different you know. They were arguing whether to charge $50.00 or $250.00 per beauty shop. They seemed to not have much information on the subject of beauty shops financial standing. They missed the little lady Sarah Hughes. She could have probably helped them on this subject.

These boys who paid "Uncle Sam" the $1,000.00 liquor tax are plenty sore.

ED. HENDERSON MAKES STATEMENT TO COTTON PRODUCERS OF SECTION

Ed. Henderson, local cotton committee man, handed the Review the following announcement of importance to farmers, yesterday.

"All parties wanting to sign 1935 cotton contracts, please get the acreage and number of bales produced from 1928 to 1932. I only have three days to take these contracts—March 25, 26, 27. If you will get up your number of acres for each year and the number of bales, you will help me. The quicker we get our contracts to Washington, the sooner we will get our checks."

LOCAL FIREMEN ATTEND EXHIBITION AT COLEMAN

A delegation of Cross Plains firemen attended a fire fighting exhibition at Coleman, Wednesday night. Improved modern methods of extinguishing fire were discussed and illustrated. The delegation from here was headed by fire chief Ralph Chandler.

Clyde Walker of Brownwood visited here Sunday.

I WONDER IF I SHOULD TAKE AN UMBRELLA?

CROSS PLAINS WILL HAVE BAD SLEDDING TO MAINTAIN TITLE

Cross Plains schools, champions in the county interscholastic league meet for the past four consecutive years, will face stiff competition for their title when the 1935 event swings into action at Baird, today and tomorrow. Indications are now that Putnam and Baird will be strong contenders for the championship awards.

A number of the preliminary events have been run off, however, a tabulation, of points for the early contests was not available last night.

Cross Plains suffered a back set in debates, when both the local girls and boys entries were eliminated. The Baird boys took first and Putnam second. In the girls' division, Baird is to debate Putnam Friday night for first; the loser will automatically take second.

Choral singing, ward school division, went to Cross Plains, with Union taking second and Putnam third. In the high school division of choral singing, Putnam has first place, Clyde second and Cross Plains third. Rural school choral singing will be held Saturday night.

In high school girls playground ball, Cross Plains is to play Baird, Friday afternoon at one o'clock for first place. In the high school boys division, Putnam and Clyde are pitted.

In tennis, Miss Bobbie Neel, of Cross Plains, is to meet a girl from Oplin, Friday afternoon for the girls singles championship. Other developments in tennis were not learned by the Review yesterday at press time.

The complete schedule for Friday and Saturday follows.

Friday morning: essay writing, story telling, picture memory, music memory, arithmetic.

Friday afternoon: volley ball tournament and finals in tennis and playground ball.

Friday night: declamation, extemporaneous speaking and finals in girls debate.

Saturday morning: All spelling and track and field contests.

Saturday night: rural school declamation and rural school choral singing.

NEW TEST BEGINS ON MARTIN TRACT

The Gunn Production Company and the Mook Texas Oil Corporation were rigging up yesterday, preparatory to spudding on another test to be made on the Martin tract, four miles South of Cross Plains. The test will be 350 feet Southeast of the test recently drilled by the same parties on the tract.

Plans are to reach a depth of near 900 feet, where a nice showing was encountered in the other well. The formation at that depth is said to be limestone. It will be treated with acid in the event that oil fails to flow naturally.

BROTHER OF FORMER LOCAL WOMAN KILLED IN TRUCK ACCIDENT

Lorenzo Hodnett, 28, of Rising Star, was killed shortly after eight o'clock Sunday night, when the truck which he was driving overturned on the highway, four miles East of Pioneer. Two other passengers were uninjured. Hodnett was a brother of Mrs. H. T. Schooley, formerly of this place and now of Ranger.

"PLATINUM BLONDE" IS ATTRACTION SUNDAY AT LIBERTY THEATRE HERE

Hailed as a high society satire of hearts in bondage and love in the blonde age, the Columbia picture, "Platinum Blonde," is the attraction Sunday at the Liberty Theatre, with Loretta Young, Robert Williams, Jean Harlow, Walter Catlett, Donald Dillaway, Louise Closser Hale, Edmund Breese and other artists. It's a Frank Capra production, written by Harry E. Chandler and Douglas W. Churchill, adaptation by Jo Swerling, continuity by Dorothy Howell and dialogue by Robert Riskin.

The story relates, in humorous vein, how a nervy young reporter, despite the value he places upon his independence, woos daringly, loves madly and marries foolishly a society beauty who locks him up in her gilded cage—and tries to make a gentleman of him. And it also tells of how he broke out of his cage and woke up to the feminine graces of the girl who had always loved him but whom he had only considered a pal.

The picture is said to be lavish with beautiful and artistic sets and effects and the women in the picture wear some ravishing frocks and furbelows.

Mrs. Walter Westerman had as her guest Monday her sister of Albany.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse McAdams and family and Bobbie Lee Westerman were visitors in Baird Sunday.

New Constitution For Texas

A NEW CONSTITUTION for Texas will be submitted to the people at the general election of 1936 if a proposed amendment now before the Legislature is passed by the electorate. An auspicious start was accorded it last week when the House Committee on Constitutional Amendments returned it to the floor with a vote unanimous in favor of passage. The proposed amendment provides that the question of calling a constitutional convention be submitted to the people on August 24th of this year, and if the electorate so committed itself the convention would be held on October 7th, and would be composed of 150 delegates chosen on the present basis of representation in the House. The new Constitution drafted by the convention would then be put before the people, to be ratified or rejected at the general election approximately a year later. Foregoing for a moment discussion as to whether the convention should be called, let us assume that it should be and examine this suggested method of calling it. The proposal has much to recommend it. In the first place, the question of a new Constitution for Texas would in effect be submitted to the people twice, first as to whether the convention should be called and second as to whether the Constitution it promulgated should be adopted; and certainly no fairer method of ascertaining the public will could be devised. Moreover, the fact that the question of calling the convention would not be voted on until August 24th, coupled with the fact that the new Constitution would not be submitted until approximately a year after the convention drafted it, offers ample time for the people to deliberate both proposals. Balanced against these desirable features of the proposed amendment is one we think distinctly undesirable. One hundred and fifty delegates to a constitutional convention seem entirely too many. A much smaller body would be just as representative of the people and could dispatch its work with a minimum of confusion and tedious oratory. This defect should be remedied, but it is not sufficiently serious to militate against what may otherwise be a desirable proposal to seek out the will of the people.

"Canker Sores"

SELDOM a week goes by that I am not appealed to by people with the well-known "Canker-sores"—small ulcers of stomatitis. They occur anywhere within the buccal cavity—usually may be seen inside the mouth on the walls that touch the outer surfaces of the teeth. No description necessary—but they occur from size of a pin-head up to large as a penny; never exactly circular, unless when very small. They are whitish, covered with mucous—nature doing all she can to repair. We are asked to "touch 'em up with caustic," which is the usual procedure. This doesn't cure the condition causing them—it just gives us a stall for time, until the digestive tract rights itself, I think.

The other day a young druggist came into my office, he had a distressing case; couldn't eat anything very salty, very tart, very cold or very hot. Maybe you have been that way. I "touched 'em up" with 20% nitrate of silver solution. I told him as I have just told you—it was treating the symptom instead of the simple ailment. "You've got plenty of 'citro-carbonate' in the store, haven't you?" I asked. "Sure," he answered. "Then take three or four doses a dya, between meals and at bedtime," was my direction. The patches disappeared within three days. The effervescing, alkaline mixture was easy to take and, brief directions as too much greasy food; the cure was neither difficult nor unpleasant.

Now had my patient been a farm boy—several miles away from the drug store—it would have been different. I might have told him to buy a quarter's worth of Cream Tartar—and take a heaped teaspoonful in a glass of water, two or three times a day..

sonality who failed because they could not associate strong men with them. Moses was not one of these. He realized clearly the necessity for first-class helpers. He needed the wise counsel of Jethro, who urged Moses to set up a group of associate judges.

He need the sword of Joshua. He needed the eloquence and priestly help of Aaron.

And Moses said unto the Lord, Omy Lord, I'am not eloquent—but I am slow of speech, and of a slow tongue.

And the anger of the Lord was kindled against Moses, and he said, Is not Aaron the Levite thy brother? I know that he can speak well.

And thou shalt speak unto him, and put words in his mouth.

And he shall be to thee instead of a mouth, and thou shalt be to him instead of God.

The special talent of each of these associates supplemented his own abilities, and he was big enough to know that they required supplementing. But the great essentials—courage, idealism, vision, faith—he borrowed from no man. He had them in abundance.

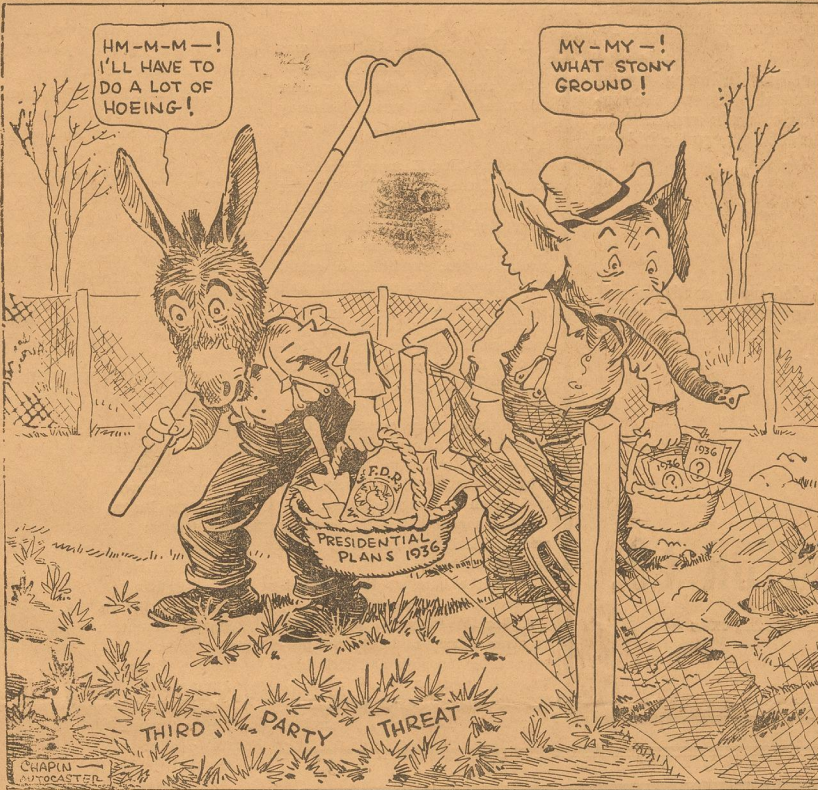

And the Lord said unto him, What is in thine hand? And he said, a rod.

And he said, Cast it on the ground. And he cast it on the ground, and it became a serpent and Moses fled from before it.

And the Lord said unto Moses, Put forth thine hand, and take it by the tail. And he put forth his hand, and caught it, and it became a rod in his hand.

That rod was to play a mighty part in the history of the next forty years. By it the plagues were brought upon the Egyptians in tragic succession until even the stubborn will of Pharaoh was broken; the Red Sea divided at its touch to let the children of Israel pass through; and in the wilderness, when water failed, the rock which it smote gave forth a crystal stream. Moses had need of its help and of all the encouragement and support that Aaron, his colleague, and the strong men of the twelve tribes could give. As law-giver, military commander and executive, Moses transformed his exslave followers into a self-governing people.

Items of Interest From COUNTY AGENT'S OFFICE

By Ross B. Jenkins

Attend Fat Stock Show

Probably the first attempt ever made from Callahan to get boys to enter the business of growing of better livestock was started last spring in getting two boys, Bobby Williams of Putnam and Ralph Barton of Clyde to feed Baby Beeves. County agent Ross B. Jenkins helped these boys to select and feed these calves. They took them to the Fat Stock Show but due to the fact that the T.B. Testing was not completed in the time they were not able to be shown on the floor but were sold at a good price.

Bobby Williams calf weighed 895 pounds at Fort Worth and sold at $11½ which brought him $102.93 The total cost in raising this calf was last reported at $50 so Bobby made a nice profit and more than that learned many things about the feeding of Baby Beeves. The men in charge at the show stated the two calves sent from Callahan were the best 1st year calves they ever handled. It was meant by that statement that boys feeding for the first year don't usually get their calf in very good condition. Both calves weighed at about the same which showed what can be done. The county agent thinks that these two boys have now broken the ice and have shown other boys that a profit can be made feeding so next year should see 20 or more on feed and a 4-H Club show should be staged at Baird.

Four other boys went with their agent to the 4-H Club day at the Fat Stock Show Monday which was 4-H Club day for the entire state. Those attending were: Durward Varner from Cottonwood, Doyle P. Gunn Jr. from Union, Forrest Franke and Elred Bell of Baird. The boys reported one of the finest times they ever had and saw the sights of Fort Worth and Dallas in addition to the events at the stock show which included the Rodeo.

4-H Club activities will soon be started and enrollment will need to be completed before the schools end. Any boy between the ages of 10 to 20 is eligible to enter. It usually takes a boy 3 years to learn how to feed well enough to carry off any of the prizes but show work is but the smallest gain from club work. It prepares a boy to do for himself when he gets out of school and provides him some spending money in addition. Club members also go to Texas A&M College each summer to the Short Course for a weeks pleasure and profitable study.

Boys and girls clubs are now National in scope and are carried on by the Extension Service in every state of the union. They are coached and trained by the county and home demonstration agents.

Hegari and Fetereta on Rented Acres

Since West Texas never has enough bundle feed to supply her normal needs, I wrote to the cotton section relative to growing Hegari on the rented acres. The two letters are hereby released.

Floridas' Choice

Miama—On the bruce—curl wreathed brow of beautiful Miss Wreath Smith, of Miama, will rest the crown of Miss Florida for 1935. She is 18 years old. She won over 250 contestants.

Dear Mr. Adams:

We have had many inquiries relative to planting Hegari on the rented acres. Please advise if our interpretation is correct when we stated that if it were cut for forage this crop would be permitted on rented acres if not for sale directly nor indirectly and needed in addition to the regular acres planted to feed.

Yours very truly,
Ross B. Jenkins
County Agent

The reply:

Dear Mr. Jenkins:

We have your letter of March 11 relative to planting Hegari on the rented acres. Your interpretation is correct.

Yours very truly,

G. E. Adams
Assistant State Agent

Fetereta is the same type of crop and I am informed it is to be planted if desired where there is a need beyond the acres set aside for feed.

I am trying to get maize so designated also.

More Checks Arrive

During the week there have been some $2,000 in checks received that were divided rather equally between cotton, wheat, and hogs. This brings the total amount to about $15,000 that has been distributed so far this year.

Feed Loans

A letter on my desk tonight states that Emergency feed loans will be advanced through the Relief Administration until the funds so appropriated by congress become available. No loan of over $50 can be made through this source. There is a little delay here just now because of the mortgage forms not yet being available. It is thought these will be in Baird soon, however.

Why Southwestern Life Registers Every Policy It Issues

INSURANCE laws of the State of Texas provide how a life insurance company of Texas may register its policies. A registering company must deposit approved securities in an amount adequate for the protection of policyholders.

The Registration Law requires the segregation of policyholders' funds, thus preventing substitution of assets without the knowledge and consent of the State Insurance Department. Experience of the last five years has demonstrated the effect and value of registration laws.

The Registration Law makes mandatory the valuation of the required securities at the current market. A company which elects to operate under a market valuation law evidences the intention to invest policyholders' funds with added caution.

Many good companies do not elect to register their policies, and we urge policyholders of such companies to maintain their insurance in force.

Well we are now near one of the big things that we have been working for the whole year—The County track meet. And believe me, there is going to be more competition this year than ever before.

**

For the first time in several years, the baseball teams were defeated. The boys were defeated by Putnam and the girls have not played their match yet.

**

The tennis teams made a trip to Putnam last week and returned with three victories. The girls singles was won by Bobbie Neil. Boys singles by Jimmie Settle, and the boys doubles by Scott and Jimmie.

**

The track team journeyed to the nearby town of Rising Star last Sunday and like 1/2 of a point winning second place at the meet. May won 1st, Rising Star second, and Cross Plains third.

**

Now we are getting in shape for the big meet at Baird Saturday and are going to give them a good fight. The entries of track events are: hurdles: Jackson and Pierce. The 100 yd. dash: Cross, Webb, Mayes; 220 yd. dash: Cross, Webb, Smith; 440 yd. dash: Mayes, Boone, Pierce; 880 yd. dash: Jackson and Pierce; low hurdles: Jackson and Pierce; low following are in field events: Discus throw: F. Cross, Pierce, Blitch and Gray; shot put: Fat Cross, Pierce and Blitch; Javelin: J. T. Cross, Lackey and Blitch; High jump: Billy Gray, Jackson and Blitch; broad jump: J. T. Cross, Mayes, Gray; Vaulting: Mayes and Blitch.

CROSS PLAINS ENTRIES TO COMPETE IN MEET

The debate teams were defeated last Thursday afternoon in the interscholastic league county debate tournament at Baird. The ward school choral club won 1st place and the high school club won 3rd place in the choral singing contests held at Baird last Sunday afternoon.

The grammar school declamers are Emma Jean Settle and Robert Anderson. The Junior High School declamers are Leota Long and Phil Anderson and the Senior High School declamers are Mary Billingsly and W. J. Mayes. Extemporaneous speakers are, Billie Ruth Loving and W. N. Long. Cleo Minton and Billie Ruth Loving compose the spelling team. Lettie Harlow is the high school essay writing entry.

One act play contests have never been held in this county but we are working on a play that we will take to the district meet to be held in Breckenridge the week following the county meet.

SPEAKERS ATTENDED A. C. C. CONTEST SAT.

W. J. Mayes, W. N. Long, Mary Billingsly, and Billie Ruth Loving went to Abilene Saturday to compete in contests sponsored by Abilene Christian College. W. N. Long placed second in boys extemporaneous speech. W. J. Mayes placed third in boys declamation contests and Mary Billingsly also placed third in girls declamation contests. Cross Plains had the greatest number of contestants in the final eliminations than any other school besides Abilene which also had three contestants in the finals.

It was the second speech tournament at the Abilene Christian College and was even larger than the first. There were 21 schools represented and a 121 contestants and 167 speeches Saturday afternoon.

There will be a similar tournament next year.

Who's Who

Roma Lee Young, secretary of the honorable senior class of Cross Plains High School is a very beautiful girl, and is very smart in her studies. Roma is always neat and greets everyone with a fascinating smile that would win any peer boys' heart.

Roma has been a member of the Cross Plains High School pep squad for four years and is very loyal to the Buffaloes. She has been a member of the girls basketball team for three years and this year she was a member of the sennis team. We are proud to have such a girl as Roma in our high school for we know she will be something in the future.

Here's to you, Roma, with lots of love and happiness in the future.

Lucille Reid, girl from Oklahoma, has only been in Cross Plains High School a short while but the student's have learned to like Lucille very much and have enjoyed having her in our school. Lucille is also an athlete, she plays play-ground ball, volley ball and other high school sports. We are proud to have her in the senior class for this reason if for no other.

We wish Lucille all the success a student in Cross Plains High School may have.

HINTS TO THE BOOKLOVER

There are some few books which are written by modern authors that are considered the highest type of literature. Some of these books have been so popular that they have been made into moving pictures. One of the outstanding successes is David Copperfield by Charles Dickens. Mostly every Count of Monte Christo is also student has read this book. This another outstanding book. There are other books such as Of Human Bondage by Maughan. This is the book we have planned on reporting on. The story is of Phillip Carey, a boy who has a deformed foot. He seems to be a disappointment to everyone. He fails in practically everything he undertakes. He is very lonely and falls in love with a girl in a tea-shop. She cares nothing for him and this breaks his heart. In the end he decides to become a country doctor. The story is rather deep and gloomy, but is considered very good reading material.

Pokes and Jokes

Author Unknown

We thought that Beryl Lusk was the only pick-pocket making trips to Cottonwood but we changed our minds when Lloyd Bryan comes up on Monday morning with a miniature gold basketball in his possession.

Helen Gray slightly resented the write-up we gave her and her boy friend, Junior Gould, last week. That's all right, Helen. Don't pay any attention to what we say in this column, but don't worry for "Love will find a way." Helen, you've made a changed man out of Junior. If you don't believe it, just notice his perfectly combed hair every morning when he comes to school.

SYNOPSIS: Strange friends they were—young Ed Maitland, whose fathers had followed the sea from New England, but who had started north to make his fortune when the first news of the Yukon gold find in '97 found him stranded on the Pacific coast; and Speed Malone, who told little enough of his past but admitted to a knowledge of all the gold camps. With ten dollars—half of Maitland's total wealth—Speed gets into a game of Solo, and seems to be winning.

"A bunch of us," said Brent, with a smoulder in his tired eyes, "aim to call a camp meetin' at one o'clock—when the crowd's in and before the backtrailin' starts, so we can get a full vote. That's why I spoke to ye. Can we figure on you boys to stand in?"

Speed looked at his partner. It was their one remaining chance of keeping Garnet on the trail. "You can count on us to vote," he said, "but that's all."

Brent signified that he asked for nothing more, and leaving them, went up the trail to collect more voters.

When they returned to Liarsville the camp was crowded. Here and there the dispirited faces of mud-dragged men showed that Fallon's decision meant the end of the trail for some of them, but they accepted it as the harsh law of the stampe. Brent's chance, even of a hearing, was more than doubtful. The trail of the partners had reached a critical impasse.

Before they reached the cache, they met Garnet coming toward them, looking refreshed and clean as he stepped carefully along the river path. He listened in silence to Speed's tactful account of the trial, and agreed to attend the mass meeting.

But he was visibly more interested in some sounds that came to them from the vicinity of the bridge. A metallic "come-on" chant rang stridently through the hollow, above a babel of voices and the river's brawl.

"Not a game of chance, friends. A simple test of skill. The quickness of the hand deceives the eye."

"Suppose we give the game a spin while waiting for one o'clock," Garnet suggested. "You need some relaxation."

"You can spit it," Speed declined. "If I had the jack it wouldn't relax me none to give it to a shell rigger."

The sunlight that pierced the canyon mist fell on a noisy crowd around the dealer's pitch table, many of them not following the game, but simply herding there to wait for the backtrail to clear. A player had just placed a bet. From the higher ground at the bridge head they saw it to be the man with the sheepskin coat—Pete's partner Bill. Noticeably drunk, Bill was swaying on his heels. Fallon and one of his outfit stood near watching him play.

"I guess we'll pass this," said Garnet prudently.

Speed did not answer. His attention had been arrested by the pallid, narrow-eyed face of the dealer, on which the sunlight fell squarely. "Seems like I've seen that bird somewheres," he muttered.

While Bill stood shifting his wealth between his hands, the yellow head of his young partner appeared besides him. Pete was trying to pull him out of the game. Ignored by Bill, the boy said something to Fallon—not audible from the bridge. Fallon brushed him out of the way with an impatient, backward fling of his hand. The blow might have been unintentional, but the hand was heavy and ringed. It cut the boy's cheek and sent him stumbling.

"Damned shame," said Garnet. Speed swore to himself. Pete broke away and went up the canyon while away and went up the canyon while Bill was oblivious to every thing but the stakes he was vaguely counting.

The dealer hastened to cover the incident. "Not a game of chance, miners. The quickness of the hand—" voice hung trailing, his cold eyes, roving over the crowd, suddenly encountered and locked with Speed's. A look of incredulous wonder pierced his mask.

"A thousand," mandered Bill. "Shoot it, Bill," said Fallon. "I'll coper, you some in case you lose." He laid a small stack of gold pieces on the table, as Bill lurched forward and placed his double handful of money.

The dealer's eyes, which had returned to the game, quivered upward as a clear draw suddenly spoke over the heads of the crowd. "I'll bet a thousand on Bill to win!"

The discovery that it was Speed who had spoken astonished no one quite as much as Maitland, who knew the limits of his resources. The offer had been made to the dealer, but Fallon wheeled around with a scowl that darkened when he recognized the speaker. Cocking his cigar, he drew a large roll from his pocket and slapped down a counted sum on the table. "There's a thousand says you're a cheap four-flusher," he said.

"Look out!" The words fell from the dealer's lips in an involuntary murmur.

"Oh, he won't shoot," said Fallon easily. "He's one of them would-be-guns. Chews a lot but ain't got no fangs. Ain't got no money neither."

Speed, in fact, had not moved except to reach into his pocket for money that was not there. He had not looked for this exact result, and was still framing his next move. None the less, his composure remained perfect—even when, to his surprise, his fingers closed over a wad of bills. Fortune sometimes favors the absolute gambler. This time the means of her miracle was Garnet, who had quietly slipped the roll into his pocket.

"I mean money," growled Fallon, at the first hint of delay. "You can't run a whispurin' bluff in this game."

Doubt struggled with fear in the dealer's face when the insult was ignored. Speed walked up to the table stripping a sheaf of clean one hundred dollar bills from Garnet's roll, and laid it alongside Fallon's. Then his eyes pinned the dealer. "You can deal this any way you figure healthy," he said. "On'y remember I'm backin' Bill to win."

The dealer's pale visage turned paler; he lowered his head to conceal a twitching of his mouth.

There was a craning moment of silence. A hum ran through the crowd as the dealer lifted the shells, Fallon ripped out an oath of chagrin and unbelief. Bill had won. Speed picked up his own and the other's stake, and was turning away when Fallon called him back.

"What I took ye for," snarled the camp boss. "A brag-and-run gambler. Pull up there, fellow. The play ain't through yet."

A slight twist in the corner of Speed's mouth showed that this was not unexpected. "No," he said, "the play ain't through yet, on'y it's a new game. They's a stretch of trail between here and the bridge up the line that needs fixin' almighty bad. Horses and outfits has been lost on it. You're the boss of this camp, and you've blocked the move to fixit because you've a big string of mules and can take a chance of lightin' through in one haul. You don't give a damn for the small miner who has to relay his pack over that slew with one horse or none. Well, some of us figure different. Four day's work with the camp drafted will put the trail in shape. It's the on'y chance for a lot of the boys who've sunk their last red to get here. You can't run a white miner's camp without takin count of the common prospector. That's rock bottom—stampe or none. If you doubt it, Fallon, and want to gamble, I'll bet you this yer thousand the camp ain't back of ye."

"Hold on," barked Fallon, above the tumult, "and swivel your muzzle-loadin' brains on what this crook's playing for. Who is he? Where's he from? Blowed into camp two days ago a busted drifter; now he's flashin' money. Ever meet a 'fixer' on the gold trails? Well, the inside crowd in the Yukon is workin' hard to plaster ever' good location before the stampe arrives, and here's a slick frame to freeze you out."

The argument was far-drawn, but cunningly gauged to an audience of credulous, impatient, gold-fevered men.

Speed parried it promptly. "That

"No," said Speed, a slight twist on his lips, "the play ain't through on'y it's a new game."

camp will gain time on a good gesture of which instances are not unknown in the annals of the West. "What you ain't primed to an-where gunmen have sometimes swer," returned Fallon, "is who you been challenged and held without are and what you're doin' here with the touching of a weapon. That bunch of money and no out-fit."

The outlaw creased a cigarette hurt that margin, and most of the paper. "You're switchin' your bet," The hush was suddenly broken he said evenly. "The question is whether the boys want to make a trail. But if you want to talk personal—how does it come that a man who's so all-fired anxious to see ever's one get to Dawson, spends his time makin' this miner drunk and persuadin' him to bust his-self at a skin game. Another is that coward's lick you took at the kid a while back." The cool temerity of the challenge held the crowd in a spell. "You ask where I come from," Speed continued. "I come from a state where a man low enough to do a thing like that would be booted out of camp of horse thieves."

Fallon's hands flashed to his guns and stopped there, a puzzled seam deepening between his eyes. He could not imagine anyone taking such a chance unless he were sure of an advantage. On Speed's part it was sheer gambling—one of those reckless yet clear-headed by Brent, who had arrived with his backers, and judged it time to cut this fuse. "Who's fer fixin' the trail? Make it a showdown, boys!" The uproar forced Fallon to suspend dealings with Speed while he met a different threat. Heads were counted in a confused din. A majority showed for Brent's proposition, but many had not declared themselves either way.

"That's no showdown!" yelled Fallon. "To fix the trail you've got to bar it. Try that and you'll damn soon find how much of the camp's behind me. You can't bar it."

"We'll go to bedrock on that point right now," Brent shot back. "We've got the man who'll see the job done, and the miners' committee sure needs a new chairman. Get behind this, men!"

There was a tangled burst of enraged and jubilant shouts. In the confusion it was a moment before Speed could make himself heard. This was more than he had counted on. "I ain't the man for the job," he said. "I'm a stranger and I ain't patient enough to argue with suspicions. Put up one of your own men."

WHEN YOU TAKE A LAXATIVE

... use a spoon

It isn't what brand of laxative you take that's so important—it's the form. A liquid laxative can be taken in any required amount. If only a little is needed, you need never take a bit too much.

Doctors favor the easily measured liquid laxatives. Instead of any form that does not encourage variation from the fixed dose. A fixed dose may be an overdose for you—or your child.

Always remember this one thing about constipation: the secret of any real relief is reduced dosage.

Give the bowels only as much help as may be needed, and less help as the need grows less. You will find Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin an excellent aid in regulating the bowels. It contains senna and cascara (natural laxatives) and it will clear-up any bilious, sluggish condition without upset. Delightful taste, and pleasant action. Your druggist has it.
