To completely command his nonchalance in the beauty shop, Eddie puffed a large nickel cigar; which incidentally, almost stifled the several lady patrons, who were waiting their turns after the 'beauty minded insurance man!

He told little Miss Dorothy Jean Elliott that if she would sleep with stones under her pillow at night that the freckles on her nose would vanish and in hardly | be. no time she would look just like Clara

To make the situation worse he told his enthusiastic little listener that the idea was a beauty secret and that she should tell no one.

That night Dorothy Jean's parent's saw her bringing in two large bricks and placing them beneath her pillow. After a prolonged questioning the father-Cye Elliott-learned what it was all about. He burst out in a big laugh and almost became delirous before his wife could curb his outburst. Finally, Cye exclaimed, "I guess Dave never tried the remedy upon himself. If he did, it certainly never worked" and then burst out laughing again.

The most unusual newspaper headline ever seen in print by the scribbler of this department, appeared in the Clyde Enterprise last week. The headline a four column banner in 60 point type-read," This Is Just A Space Filler".

Editor Butler in commenting upon his brain child said: "There are tricks to all trades. When the editor is short of type and long on space, he tells his make-up man to set up a few big headlines. They fill the space rapidly. That's the reason for the above headline—a lot of space to fill and no type to fill it—all because we closed-up shop Tuesday and celebrated the 157th anniversary of Uncle Sam, giving us two days less to get out this popular purveyor of local news".

"Inasmuch as we are stickers to getting the Enterprise in the mails on time, we filled the space with headlines. There are tricks to all

We have trouble getting all of our type in: Apparently, there is too much set up for eight pages and hardly enough for ten. Possibly the best thing to do is to stop this confounded typewriter before it rattles off another ream. Hence the abrupt. ending.

VOL. XXII 8 PAGES THIS WEEK CROSS PLAINS, TEXAS,

The Review was told in a telephone conversation from the county seat Thursday at noon that 11,000 acres of this year's cotton crop would be plowed up, in connection with Secretary Wallace's plan for agricultural stabilization. 769 farmers signed to reduce their vields. 469 of the applications have already been approved and the remaining 300 are enroute to general headquarters to be okeyed.

13,000 acres was the original quota for Callahan County but it was understood at the county seat that the 11,000 would be acceptable if the nationwide plan was successful and those familiar with the project had every reason to believe that it would

The contest was conducted in connection with a sales campaign which closed in Cross Plains May 13.

To win the award Jimmie interviewed more than 300 local ice consumers pointing out the saving by using coupon books. He has been employed by the Texas-Louisiana Power company here four years and had three years experience with the company before coming to Cross

STATE HIGHWAY IS DESIGNATED ON TO ABILENE FROM HERE

Designation on highway 36 from Cross Plains northwestward to Abilene was granted by the state highway commission, in session at Austin Monday. The action extends the road about 40 miles and will effect its junction at Abilene with U. S. highway 80.

Delegations from Taylor and Callahan counties were in Austin in interest of the road.

The delegation told the commission the two counties have jointly employed Carl Hensley to make surveys between Abilene and Cross Plains and that the work is now under way.

Highway 36 starts at Freeport on the Gulf Coast and extends through Cameron, Temple, Comanche and Rising Star to Cross Plains, to which point it has been designated for more than a year.

TO CROSS PLAINS

Word has been received from Brownwood that city has launched a campaign to secure state assistance on the Brownwood--Cross Plains road and that they will not abandon the project until the route has been designated as a state highway and construction begun.

A committee of local citizens from that place, together with Paul V. Harrell and E. D. Priest, of Cross Plains, was in Austin first of the week and conferred with the state highway department.

Brownwood has also made application to the Public Works Branch of President Roosevelt's new deal program, for funds to build a scenic drive about their new city lake, which would intersect the Brownwood-Cross Plains road at Byrds Store.

MORE ATTRACTIONS THAN EVER BEFORE

Plans have been completed for Cross Plains annual picnic and golden jubilee celebration, to be staged Wednesday, June 26, according to an announcement from the committee in charge last night. "The greatest number of free attractions, with something happening every minute", was the description of this years picnic as told to a Review reporter.

Among the 'gratis' features of this year's picnic will be two big rodeos with some of West Texas' wildest outlaw horses and bucking steers to be mounted by celebrated cowboys and cowgirls from various parts of the Southwest; a baseball game in the afternoon between two fact teams to be chosen within the very near future: a knife thrower, who will pin his wife, little daughter and dog to a board by throwing sharp knives from a distance of 20 feet; two speakers of statewide prominence explaining the two sides of the beer question, to be voted upon in this state August 26; and the regular picnic program of other years.

The carnival being brought here for this year's celebration has seven rides—ferris-wheel. merry-go-round, mix-up, whip, pony ride, baby auto ride and little minature train. The troup has the reputation of being one of the cleanest ever to play this section. The troup completed last week a booking at Terrell, where they are said to have met with unusual approval: The manager of the carnival will be in Cross Plains Tuesday to make the goodwill trip with Cross Plains people and explain the special feature which he will bring here for the picnic.

The plan is, for all attending the picnic to bring their lunch and spread it together beneath the giant shades on Turkey Creek, as was done by the pioneers of this section in that first Cross Plains picnic 50 years ago this month Local businessmen have pledged themselves to set the example and be represented at the picnic luncheon with full basket 100 percent.

CROSS PLAINS MAY BE ADVERTISED AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

Cross Plains has an opportunity through the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to have direct representation at A Century of Progress with literature, a miniature exhibit, and its name on a large relief map of West Texas—all at a very nominal

Jesse McAdams, local WTCC director, has received from Spencer A. Wells, vice-president of the regional chamber, the details of the offer to the affiliated towns, and has been urged to get Cross Plains' subscription to the plan at once.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has secured space in the Texas exhibit for a West Texas display provided a sufficient number of cities cooperate in the plan which calls for the regional chamber putting up half the cost of the exhibit and literature, affiliated towns putting up the other one-half. An immediate answer is necessary if the regional chamber is to proceed with its plan.

Wells points out that towns affiliated with the regional chamber are the only towns in Texas that will be given direct representation in the Texas exhibit, and that it is available at a ridiculously low price He is urging directors to secure immediately the necessary funds either from the local chambers of commerce.

It has been rumored that the depression is almost over-that we have at last turned the corner behind which prosperity has been waiting for so long a time. And we are glad to leave the gloomy street of depression in our records of hazy rememberances-glad to forget the trying days through which we have passed. Let us all look forward to another day of booms and good times they are here: the goal is won-we have defeated Old Man Dpression at every turn, and we are welcoming Young Prosperity with an eager hand. Hurrah for good time,s and down with depression!

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Chambers of Burkett were visiting Mr. Louis Newton and family Sunday.

Several Cross Cut Romeos attended the picnic at Burkett Friday and Saturday of last week.

It seems as if no one really knows anything about this cotton business. Every dispatch that we read in the papers tells a different story; in fact, we doubt seriously if anyone knows anything about it. The great senators, legislators, congressmen, etc. seem to appreciate arguing and Tussing about something that they really don't understand. We might Turn loose and dedicate a few lines of metry to the excellent caste thouth it is probably out of place here:

Those great Pacificators, the national

But windy orations about farmers and rations

It is understood that S. P. Arledge and Howard Newton had a break up with their girls. This is not absolitely proved, but from the songs have been singing in town, we come to the conclusion that the 'best loved has turned them down and proved false. We understand that they have been singing:

Curse your gold and silver too, God pity a girl that won't prove true, I'm going out where the bullets fly And I'll stick to the trail till the day I die.

The little song they've been singmay be true with some few, but it seems as if the majority of the Cross Plains girls are 'true." At least they are all proving true enough to get married. We notice that this latest fad of getting married has even affected Home Town Gossip.

Mr. R. W. Pentecost was in Cross Plains Saturday.

Did you ever can any corn? You You have? Well, you know what it's like! You haven't? Well, you'd better not try it if you don't like to work! Yes, that is the latest sideline occupation in this community.

Mr. Andrew Biehl went fishing with Lonnie Lambreth last Tuesday night-or was it Wednesday-and they reported that the turtles were biting better than the fish. It just takes us to show people how to fish. We never fail. And speaking of fishing. Mr. John Clark went the other night and brought back some pretty good beads. We have come to the conclusion that he must have been taking lessons from some member of our gang. But still, he might have picked up the large heads that we threw away the night before. The heads mean practically nothing, for we caught four heads without fishwe had caught the fish, and the turtless had eaten all but the heads. We maket have taken these to town to exhibit as a catch worth while, but wouldn't tell a fish lie. (We told one then; see if you are intelligent enough to find it.)

Nicaragauguans take their baseball seriously. Recently the Supreme Court was called upon to pass judgment on an umpire's decision whetha ball was fair or foul.

Looking Back Down Memory's Lane From The Review Files of 5 Years Ago Today

Additional trafic regulations are now in force in Cross Plains. Stop signals have been placed at the most frequently traveled streets at their intersection with Main street. Each car entering Main street where the signals are located is required to come to a full stop. This is a good requirement and will add greater safety to street traffic. Those violating this rule, after a reasonable time for the public to be informed, will be arrested and made to pay

The rattlesnake has been dethroned as king of the reptile family in West Texas by a coach whip snake, according to G. L. Hasty and John Sherrard of Burnet, who Friday reported witnessing a royal battle between two snakes at the Sherrard ranch.

The coach whip swallowed the rattlesnake head first. The two men were attracted to the scene of the battle by the noise of the rattle. The big snake cracked his rattles until the last one disappeared in the mouth.

ETERAN TRAPPER IS VISITOR HERE MONDAY

E. Brumbelow, who trapped Wolves throughout this section several years ago for the Texas Cattlemans' Association, was in Cross Plains Tuesday visiting friends.

Since leaving here Mr. Brumbelow has been trapping wolves in Ector County, Potter County and Collinsworth County. He has been on a brief vacation recently but will return to Wellington soon to resume work.

Mr Brumbelow' estimates that he has caught approximately 300 wolves in the vicinity of Cross Plains; he trapped here two years. While trapping in this vicinity Mr Brumbelow was married to a Pioneer girl and he and his wife are visiting friends there at present.

It is getting quite common here to see women smoking while strolling along Fifth or Park avenues.

Deborah

Lesson for July 16th. Judges 4 and 5 Golden Text: Psalm 46:1.

We know little of the personal history of Deborah, the militant prophetess, who so skilfully delivered her people from the claws of a powerful enemy that she has been called the Joan of Arc of her age. And yet we have a clear idea of her personality, thanks to that rugged war ballad, chapter 5 of the book of Judges the longest, most elaborate of all the odes in the Bible.

This great song of triumph, with its fierce passions, its barbaric code, begins with a word of praise to the terrible God of battles. We are then informed of the despair that gripped the land, indicated by such signs as unoccupied highways and deserted villages. Then came a great change. Deborah was summoned. "Up, O Deborah," was the call of the hour. "Up, up, with your war-cry!" and she responded magnificently, as the rest of the ballad demonstrates, winning a splendid victory tI is very likely that Deborah herself wrote this marvelous epic. At any rate it reveals her as a woman of powerful emotion and resourceful leadership.

Four lessons emerge from Deborah's thrilling song, First patriotism and religion walk hand in hand.

The folk of Israel, in this decisive conflict, felt that they were fighting for God

Second, the nation rightfully expects loyal devotion from her sons.

Note verse 18: "But Zebulun—the clan risked life and death with Naphtan out in the open field! And note the bitter scorn, in verse 23, directed against Meroz for her negligence.

Third, women have an important task to perform in the life of the nation. The heroes of this tremendous battle are women, Deborah and Jael.

Finally, the constitution of the universe is on the side of the right. The laws of nature and of nature's God favor the righteous and oppose the wicked. This truth is expressed in that famous phrase, "The stars in their courses fought against Sisera." These same stars fight for you and for me in all of our striving for goodness and truth, "If God be for us, who can be against us?"

The annual Wightman Cup Matches—England vs. the United States—will be played at the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, New York, August 4 and 5. The American team will be headed by Mrs. Helen Wills Moody. The annual women's singles and doubles championships will follow at the same place two weeks later.

or from direct solicitation and send them in so that the West Texas exhibit may be ready to go when the Texas exhibit opens on July 25. He must hear from all towns before July 20.

For forty dollars, an affiliated town will get a fourth page writeup in the one hundred fifty thousand West Texas booklets to be distributed at the fair, and will have its name prominently shown on the thirteen foot square relief map of West Texas which will form the main part of the West Texas display. For an additional sum, the towns may have individual folders distributed at the exhibit. For a hundred dollars additional, the towns may have individual miniature exhibits on display. Towns may purchase more than quarter page spaces in the West Texas folder at proportionately higher rates. All subscribing towns will receive a supply of West Texas poster stamps for their local use.

The big relief map has been constructed by students in engineering department of Texas Technological College, and it is the first of its kind ever made. It shows the exact topography of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico, the production of the various sections, and the location of affiliated towns. Over twelve hundred working hours were consumed in its construction. Following its display at Chicago, it will become a permanent exhibit of the organization and be on display at the annual conventions and other places.

DELEON

It wasn't a very brilliant example of financing which the people of De-Leon set when they "got back at the government" and cut down on their postage purchases. It requires $8,000 in postage sales, box rent, etc., to keep a postoffice in the Second Class. The DeLeon public gave $7,200-or just $800 short of the requirement. and the local postoffice slumped from the Second to the Third Class.

Result, whereas the government was paying for clerk hire in the community, $4,000 and the clerks were spending or investing that amount in the community, they now receive and will spend only $1,250that's all they get.

A little concerted effort would have prevented this. Business firms might have paid accounts in postage stamps Half a dozen of the larger firms could have pooled their efforts perfectly lawful manner. It was a poor piece of economy—saving $800 and losing $4,000.

STEPHENVILLE

CHEVROLET Why is it that every 12cylinder and 16-cylinder car in America has bodies of steel reinforced by hardwood? Why is it that every make of car selling for over $4000 uses bodies of exactly the same type? Why? For the same reason that Chevrolet uses it exclusively. Because every test and every experiment have definitely proved: STEEL ALONE IS NOT ENOUGH!

The trouble with steel alone is that it stands just so much shock and punishment. Steel alone is also inclined to rumble and rattle. BUT-when you put the two together—a heavy, staunch steel body over tough, solid hardwood -then the hardwood reinforces the steel-and vice versa! And the result: the strongest, safest type of body, such as Fisher builds for Chevrolet. CHEVROLET MOTOR CO., DETROIT, MICH.

Editors Toe The Mark

Two weekly newspaper editors in nearby cities toed the mark the past week, as a result of criticism shot at them through the columns of the Review.

R. A. Autry, editor of the Coleman County Chronicle, came through with a nice editorial in his paper acknowledging the Review's ability as a prophet and bowed apologetically to his subscribers for ever having intimated otherwise. The argument came about as a result of the Review editor predicting sometime ago dollar wheat and ten cent cotton by Fall. Of the incident, Mr. Autry said:

"We have no alibi to offer—and are just as much pleased over ten cent cotton and dollar wheat as the Review editor; we stated at the same time that we hoped Editor Scott was correct in his prediction, and we now bow to him as a prophet, so far as wheat and cotton are concerned, but we still hope he has more luck in the prediction of football scores next season-and we are going to keep tab on him".

The Review's second moral victory came Friday when Miss Eliza Gilliland, editor of the Baird Star made the following comment concerning a recent query we ran concerning rattle snake fangs:

"In the 'Home Town Goswoman, but that he differs utes, 9.8 seconds.

with us in a statement we made about a rattlesnake having four fangs."

"Now Jack there will be no argument as to how many fangs his snakeship has for while it is true that we have lived in this section all our life and have seen lots of rattlesnakes, we have never felt inclined to look at ones fangs closelyin fact we have always given them all the room they wanted when we met one."

For the sake of avoiding misunderstanding it should be said perhaps, that the verbal battels between the Review editor and scribes of adjacent cities are in the friendliest of tones. Its simply a hobby that depressed newspaper men and women, who can't afford golf, indulge

Congratulations Lions Club

A survey of the year's actvities of the Cross Plains Lions Club, as given out in a statement by Dr. J. H. Few citizens probably realize the real benefit of an organization, such as the Lions Club, and how utterly helpless our community advancement would be without an institution of this nature.

A TONSORIAL TALK

I have been a patron of the barber shop for over fifty years. I am one of the best friends the barber has. That's why I am so much interested in the very best for both operator and customer in this important field.

I may have mentioned in this column before—that I knew a clergyman with the finest 'suit' of hair I ever saw; he would not permit a barber's brush or comb to touch his scalp-for fear of some sort of carried infection. The more I think of it, the more I feel that the preacher was right.

Now'I am uncomfortably bald. My more than three-score and ten years may account for it-but I wish I could have kept that hair! Many a barber's brush has showered down on my scalp whatever was in the instrument. Let me repeat; The barber's hair brush should be kept immersed in a good bowl of antiseptic solution.

Not only that: but, barbers should be zealously guarded in their own personal health and condition of blood. In these days of rapid transit and mixed customers, too much care cannot be exercised by men who have such varied contacts as barbers have. I don't like to have a workman shave me who has a crop of ugly lesions on his face—and certainly not on his hands!

It would make me leap for joy to see a sign hanging in my barbershop, "ALL OPERATIVES HERE HAVE NEGATIVE BLOOD-TESTS." It ought to be the finest of drawing cards for a public barber shop or hair-dressing

I ran across a man professionally this week who was "Wasserman plus four," who absolutely did not know how he acquired the ugly condition. Such experience as this sets a man to thinking. We should close every door against dangerous invasion.

Springs, Va., course. One by one they stepped out and proved that a hole-in-one is no miracle. The first player sank his from the tee on a 155-yard hole. The second aced his shot on No. 8, of 145 yards. The third waggled an iron and faid his ball right on top of the second player's.

There was increased interest in college baseball this year. An unusual number of college players, upon graduation, went into professional baseball.

FUNERAL NOTICES

Funeral notices are something of which none of us wish to think, and as a result they are often forgotten with the funeral arrangements. It is an item that should not be overlooked.

The Review Publishing Company is thoroughly stocked along this line.

THE FOUNDER OF MODERN BUSINESS

WHEN Jesus was twelve years old his father and mother took him to the Feast at Jerusalem.

It was the big national vacation; even peasant families saved their pennies and looked forward to it through the year. Towns like Nazareth were emptied of their inhabitants except for the few old folks who were left behind to look after the very young ones. Crowds of cheerful pilgrims filled the highways, laughing their way across the hills and under the stars at night.

In such a mass of folks it was not surprising that a boy of twelve should be lost. When Mary and Joseph missed him on the homeward trip, they took it calmly and began a search among the relatives.

The inquiry produced no result. Some remembered having seen him in the Temple, but no one had seen him since. Mary grew frightened; where could he be? Back there in the city, alone? Wandering hungry and tired through the friendless street? Carried away by other travelers into a distant country? She pictured a hundred calamities. Nervously she and Joseph hurried back over the hot roads, through the suburbs, up through the narrow city streets, up to the courts of the Temple itself.

And there he was.

Not lost; not a bit worried Apparently unconscious that the Feast was over, he sat in the midst of group of old men, who were tossing questions at him and applauding the shrewed common sense of his replies. Involuntarily his parents halted—they were simple folk, uneasy among strangers and disheveld by their haste. But after all they were his parents, and a very human feeling of irritation quickly overcame their diffidence. Mary stepped forward and grasped his arm.

"Son, why hast thou thus dealt with us?" she demanded. "Behold thy father and I have sought thee sorrowing."

I wonder what answer she expected to receive. Did she ever know exactly what he was going to say: did any one in Nazareth quite understand this keen, eager lad, who had such curious moments of abstraction and waa forever breaking out with remarks that seemed so far beyond his years?

He spoke to her with deference, as always, but in words that did not dispel but rather added to her uncertainty.

"How is it that ye sought me?" he asked. "Wist ye not that I must be about my father's business?"

Sometimes we think the ways of the Lord are queer ways, when He takes a dear one from us, and causes us so much sorrow. But the Lord knows when to call one home. Maybe it is to show us how sudden one can be called. When he called this one home. He took a dear kind and loving husband, father, and a favorite uncle. He was a loyal friend to his neighborsand friends. He was a member of the Christian Church and did his duty for God. Though it causes us grief we have the reasurance that his sorrows and troubles in this world are ended and that he is in peace. I'm sure he wants us to cheer up and not grieve and prepare to meet him. We must be brave and just remember that he is not dead but just gone on before. By a niece.
