HOME TOWN GOSSIP

All over the state small cities and towns are lamenting the fact their communities are lacking in progressive leadership, which was so characteristic of a few years ago.

It is with ample proof that we say, this condition does not exist in Cross Plains. Local business and professional men, we admit, have not seen the fruits of their toils harvested in abundance during the past three years. Yet they have kept striving to the common objective of making Cross Plains the most desirable town and trading center of this locality.

This week they made another move to stimulate trade in Cross Plains. They purchased 385 subscriptions to the home town newspaper—without any solicitation or suggestion upon our part—and are having the papers mailed to customers and prospective customers throughout the Cross Plains trade territory for a period of six months. Each of these papers will go every week into the home of a family that has not been receiving the Review regularly during the past five years.

The additional subscriptions now give the Review the largest bona fide circulation of any newspaper published in Callahan County. We wish to acknowledge publicly, here and now, that this growth, as well as newspaper existence in Cross Plains for more than 23 years is due entirely to the cooperation of people, who have had the interest of this little town at heart, and not to the different personalities that have occupied the editorial chair from time to time.

And speaking of cooperation, we invite your attention to an advertisement of Electrolux ice boxes on another page of today's Review. The ad. is signed and equally paid for by the Cross Plains Hardware and the Southwest Gas Company.

Those two firms—both dealers for the product—care no more for seeing the other sell an Electrolux than this scribbler would for ten rounds with Jack Dempsey. That dear readers, is cooperation, yet incidentally good business.

The chief case involving gossip this week is that of Harlie Neel and Rosalie Cutbirth.

Harlie has strayed off to Hamlin—a city now stigmatized by the recent vilification of Roy Carmichael—and is keeping the Cross Plains mail sack crowded with notes of devotion.

Would that we were postmaster and all sweethearts wrote postcards

Word reaches this department that "Goober" Keyes has been offered the place of head coach at Albany high school. Nothing has been learned as yet, however, in regard to whether he will accept.

Should "Goober" go to Albany a new angle of interest on the Lion-Buff games will hereafter take shape. Regardless of how much athletes admire a coach, there is no one they had rather beat, when he goes to an opposing town.

Incidentally the Albany game will be played in Cross Plains this fall.

This column having successfully "made matches" for more than 100 local boys and girls is now seriously contemplating launching a concentrated campaign in behalf of Eddie Duest, who is now back into our midst.

Cross Plains high school seniors are working each night on a play, which they are to present Friday evening May fourth. The production is entitled "Sweeping Victory."

From the "kick" that the "grads" appear to be getting out of the practices the play appears to be very appropriately named. Professor Wheeler is directing the presentation, if that means anything.

'Clean-Up' Gives City New Aspect

STORES AND HOMES JOIN IN PROGRAM OF BEAUTIFICATION

Cross Plains is taking spring cleaning seriously this year. Carpenters' tools and painters' brushes have the past week almost revised the aspect of this city. Business houses and residences are both participating generally in the movement.

The changing of location by two local cafes this week and remodeling on the part of both in their new stands has contributed greatly to 'clean-up' idea.

R. E. Wilson's cafe was virtually moved yesterday at noon into the building adjoining the Citizens State Bank on the South, which is also one door North of the former location of the cafe. Extensive remodeling, painting and improvement has been done to the building both inside and out.

M. F. Ray's cafe will move into the former Wilson stand, and several revisions were being made there yesterday.

Kemper hotel is taking a complete new appearance as a result of painting, roofing and a remodeling process, which has been going on there for several weeks. The building is being refinished both inside and out.

T. D. Little's High-Tower service station, on South Main Street, is also taking a new design of paint. McAdams Motor Company and Higginbotham Brothers and Company were having the exteriors of their buildings worked over yesterday and are expected to present a different appearance within the next few days. Caton's Variety building is also being re-worked outside.

Scores of houses and company owned buildings within the city limits were also being improved and repainted this week.

A proclamation will probably be issued from the city office within the next few days, urging the entire citizenship to get behind the clean-up movement and make it a city wide proposition.

SAFETY MEETING WILL BE HELD MAY SEVENTH

Announcement was made from the Sinclair-Prairie office here yesterday afternoon that the next regular monthly "safety meeting" of the company would be held in the Cross Plains high school auditorium Monday night, May seventh and that the entire public is invited to attend.

The topic of discussion will be "Gasoline and its Hazards". Informed speakers and round table discussion will be the program.

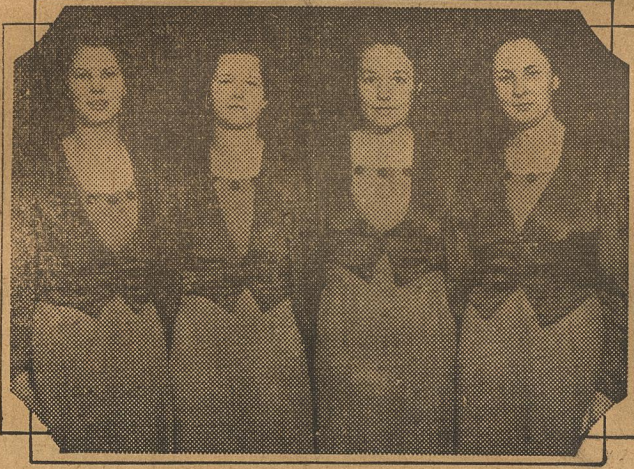

Closing Schedule Is Announced For School

Closing exercises for Cross Plains high school seniors have been announced by Superintendent Nat Williams as follows. May 20, baccalaureate sermon in the high school auditorium at eleven o'clock, with Dr. C. A. Voyles, Baptist pastor, delivering the address; Wednesday night—May 23—senior night; Thursday night—May 24—grammar school graduation; Friday night—May 25—high school commencement.

WELTON ANDERSON IS NEW MANAGER OF CONOCO PLACE

Welton Anderson, son of Mrs. T. W. Anderson of this place, assumed management of the Main Street Conoco Service Station here this week. Mr. Anderson has for sometime been connected with the gasoline business, being with one of the largest stations in San Antonio before coming here.

To Be Here For Service Sunday

At lower right is Dr. N. A. Moore, head of the Bible department of Simmons University, who will preach at the Baptist church here at the morning service Sunday.

PHIL PE CO TEAM WINS OVER DUBLIN SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Phil Pe Co country club golfers defeated Dublin-DeLeon Sunday afternoon nine to five on the local course, for the second consecutive victory, in as many weeks, in the Heart o' Texas golf association organized play. The triumph over Dublin-DeLeon gives the local team a tie for the leadership of this circuit with a percentage of 1,000.

Results of the 14 individual matches were as follows: (Phil Pe Co squadmen mentioned first) Bill Tunnel lost to W. H. Smith one up. Bob Wheeler defeated Joe Stone three and one, J. T. Hammett trimmed P. Barker eight to seven for the most decisive victory of the afternoon. Wayne Middleton beat Cecil Phillips, Jack Embry won over Pat Murphy three and two, Porter J. Davis lost to J. D. Tate two up, M. S. Sellers defeated Bon Whaley three and two. Fred Tunnell won over Ben Denney one up, W. Wright eliminated R. N. Hill two and one, Wat Thornton beat Jim Joiner two up, W. W. Milner lost to F. F. Christie three with one to go. H. T. Schooley lost to W. L. Steakley one up, Rox Middleton lost to Joe Ashley one up at the nineteenth hole. W. F. Burris beat Will Weaver four and three.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Aury, of Coleman, visited Mr. and Mrs. Bob Boon here Sunday afternoon.

LIONS CLUB MAKES 30 PERCENT HIKE IN MEMBERS THIS MONTH

S. Freeman, local groceryman, and Stanley Clark, service station manager were made members of the Cross Plains Lions Club at the regular weekly meeting of the group in the dining hall of the Methodist church Tuesday afternoon.

F. R. Anderson, secretary of the organization, announced for publication that the club has had a membership increase of 30 percent, within the past month. 30 members and two visitors were in attendance at the meeting Tuesday.

CITY CLERK'S NAMESAKE MADE LOUISIANA MAYOR

S. Matt Buatt, a prominent young attorney, nephew and name-sake of City Clerk S. M. Buatt, was elected mayor of Crawley, Louisiana, in a recent municipal election. Crawley is a city of about 10,000 population, and a newspaper mention states he was elected by an "overwhelming majority." He is probably the youngest mayor of a city of this size in the South.

Mr. and Mrs. Imogene Williams, of Brady, visited in Cross Plains Sunday. Mr. Williams formerly taught in the public school system here. At present he is connected with a lumber firm at Brady.

Home Owners Asking Loans Must Submit Pictures Of Property With Application

All future applications for loans from the federal government Home Owners' Loan Corporation, must be accompanied by a picture of the property, upon which loan is desired, said B. F. Russell, local attorney for the organization to the Review this week.

In commenting upon the pictures, Mr. Russell said, "these may be kodak pictures but they must reflect an intelligible view of the building—front exposure—so that it will be possible to judge the character of the building offered as security. If such photographs are not plain or do not give proper views of the building, it will be necessary to call for new pictures before the application can be considered.

"In the event the application covers more than one major structure, it will be necessary for two pictures of each building to accompany the application. It will not be necessary for these pictures to show small out-buildings, ordinary garages, etc.

"These pictures must be of a size not less than 2 1/4"x4 1/4" and preferably not materially larger than that size."

385 SUBSCRIPTIONS TO REVIEW BOUGHT BY MERCHANT HERE

Copies of the Review will go today into the homes of 385 families, who have heretofore not been receiving the paper. That quantity of subscriptions was purchased Wednesday afternoon by local business and professional men, who are launching a drive to stimulate business in Cross Plains.

Most of the papers will go 10 miles or more from town. The new subscriptions will give the Review the largest subscription list in the history of the paper.

In the event that any person or family receives two copies of the Review this week, the Review will greatly appreciate their calling attention to the matter.

Those participating in the plan were: Dr. J. H. McGowen, Tom Bryant Insurance Agency, West Texas Utilities, Piggly Wiggly Store, Dr. Eli Powell, Citizens State Bank, Barr's Bakery, Anderson Chevrolet Company, Higginbotham Brothers and Company, Jim Settle, Neeb Produce Company, W. T. Wilson, Hi-Way Service Station, J. E. Henkel, Smith's Drug Store, Cross Plains Hardware, City Drug Store, Cross Plains Lumber Company, H. E. Coburn, W. W. Westerman, E. M. Curry, T. D. Little, Porter J. Davis, C. A. Lotief, McAdams Motor Company, Sims Drug Company, J. G. Perry, Carmichael's Cafe, Caton's Variety Store, S. C. Sipes and W. B. Baldwin Lumber Company.

M'ADAMS MOTOR CO. STAGES FREE SHOW

McAdams Motor Company will sponsor a free show in their building on Main Street, Friday night, the Review was told yesterday by Jesse McAdams. The show will include three sets of slides, depicting the process of construction from beginning to end. As an added attraction an array of local talent has been secured for numbers, before, between and after the showing.

Parts on the program will be taken by the Junior Choral Club of Cross Plains schools, Miss Emma Jean Settle, Johnny Frances Baldwin, Patsie Ruth Mitchell, Martha Scoggins and perhaps others.

The building was being cleared yesterday at noon to accommodate the crowd that is expected.

Local Woman Called To Parents Bedside

Mrs. Henry Wittmer was called to Houston Saturday night, to be at the bedside of her mother and father, who were seriously injured in an automobile accident, between Houston and Crockett late Saturday.

Word was received here this week that both of her parents were badly lacerated but that their condition was not considered grave.

BILL TYLER NOW HEAD OF RISING STAR BANK

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Continental State Bank, of Rising Star, the past week, W. E. (Bill) Tyler was named president. Other officers of the institution, which is now owned 100 percent by home people are, R. A. Horton, chairman of board; W. E. Tyler, president; F. V. Tunnell, vice-president; F. W. Roberts, cashier.

Directors: R. A. Horton, W. E. Tyler, T. S. Parker, F. V. Tunnell, and E. W. Roberts.

Miss Geraldine Morgan visited her father G. E. Morgan here the past week end.

BEER GOES ON SALE TOMORROW FOR FIRST TIME HERE IN YEARS

Sale and manufacture of 3.2 percent beer and wines will become legal in Callahan county Saturday, as a result of a county wide election held Saturday.

 Late News Dispects ***
 The Review learned from county democratic chairman J. Rupert Jackson, of Baird, shortly before going to press Thursday afternoon that the final majority—after all boxes were counted—in the election held Saturday, was 112 votes. * The four boxes, to be voted late came in as follows. ***

Boxes	Wet	Dry
* Gardener	2	13
* Hart	6	6
* Caddo Peak	5	8
* Admiral	18	18

 The total vote cast in the county was 1,890. ***

In Cross Plains one retailer and one wholesaler told the Review that they would open for business Saturday morning. M. F. Ray, local cafe man, will be the retailer and H. E. Coburn will be the wholesaler.

In the election Saturday, Callahan went 'wet' by a majority of 124 votes, with the exception of four small boxes which had not been opened Thursday at noon as the Review went to press. The returns from the four boxes could not alter the matter, however, as their entire vote is less than 100, the Review was told.

The balloting, by boxes, for and against: Baird, 363-174; Tecumseh, 16-0; Cross Plains, 153-65; Belle Plains, 17-12; Erath, 3-0; Putnam, 109-94; Clyde, 74-212; Cottonwood, 39-47; Eula, 7-59; Dudley, 14-14; Atwell, 21-14; Lanham, 2-20; Dressy, 23-21; Oplin, 84-43; Rowden, 10-21; Denton, 13-29.

Boxes unreported are Hart, Gardener, Admiral and Caddo Peak.

SCHOOL FACULTY IS COMPLETED FOR 1935

Faculty for Cross Plains schools has been named in full by members of the board of trustees. All teachers elected for the 1934-35 term have not yet filed their acceptance, however, the Review was told the past week.

Those elected are: Nat Williams, Superintendent; Lewis Norman, Principal; V. A. Underwood, W. V. Wheeler, Price McQueen, Miss Ethel Gwathmey, Miss Louise Nelson, Miss Anna Mae McConathy, Mrs. J. E. Pittman, W. E. Lusk, Mrs. Mack Underwood, Miss Doris Durham, Miss Jimmie Lou Gwathmey and Miss Ethel Manning.

BAIRD DRUG STORE IS LOOTED FRIDAY NIGHT

Burglary of the Holmes Drug Store at Baird, Friday night, with the loss of several hundred dollars worth of watches and jewelry, was reported this week by Sheriff Robert L. Edwards, who is working on the case.

The store was entered through a rear window. Several watches, about 60 rings, three kodaks and other items were missed. The loss was discovered by Boone Holmes, store owner, when he opened for business Saturday. Cash amounting to $3 had been taken from the register.

Mrs. George B. Scott, Mrs. C. R. Cook, Mrs. R. B. McGowen and son visited relatives and friends in Baird and Putnam Sunday afternoon.

Miss Mary Massa, of San Antonio, visited friends in Cross Plains over the week end.

Miss Graham of Corsicana, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Bob Boone and family this week.

On the next play Spencer circled right end for forty three yards, placing the ball on the Eagle's nineteen yard stripe.

Byron Wright, Jr. in his column, wrote: "Cross Plains has definitely shaken the jinx held over them so long by the Lions.

At the close of business on Friday, October 30, 1938, of the seven teams in the district only Baird was undefeated.

Working together, reminding one a sensitive, synchronized machine, the Buffaloes had seemingly found their stride.

Professor Wheeler's chemistry class was about to commence laboratory work Monday, when the door opened and a dainty, blonde bit of femininity was ushered into the room by the principle, Mr. Norman.

"Here is a student for you, Mr. Wheeler," he remarked. "Her name is Betty Barr."

"Glad to have you," welcomed the chemistry instructor. "Let's see, there is only one vacant place. You may work with Tommie Halbert."

A few days later, Mr. Wheeler was inspecting note books of the class.

"Betty," he called, "Will you come to my desk?"

When the girl stood before him he continued:

"Some of your calculations are incorrect. I suggest that you ask someone to coach you."

"Okey-doke," replied the blonde.

"Tommie," she requested when the class had ended, "Will you come to the house tonight and help me with those old equations? I won't keep you long."

Halbert hesitated, Nell Baldwin was a sweet, understanding kid, but she brooked no deviation of attention.

The young lady, with chin in the air, disdained to notice him.

Tommie looked at her and grimaced. "Listen," he said, "Surely you don't think—"

"I prefer not to discuss the matter," she interrupted.

Halbert shrugged and turned to join a group of boys as Nell continued on her way, alone.

Moran should have been a push-over, but the Buffaloes were not clicking and were confined to 14 points, although the Bulldogs could not score.

The Stampede

"Here are some jokes And a few wise pokes But be they so few They are guaranteed To be true"

Seniors really had a stampede Tuesday morning. Enough money was brought to get the graduation invitations out of the depot and when they were brought into Mr. Norman's office every Senior in high school tried to see how quickly he or she could get there.

And speaking of invitations, a certain article came out in the "Gossip" column last week to the effect that there was a line on the invitations that stated "No Presents Accepted"

Miss Gwatkinsey—"Bill, what is a metaphor?" Bill—"I'm not sure, but I think that it's a place where cattle graze."

And what's this about Helen Grace's

new flame. He's tall, dark, and handsome. (also rich)

In English class Harry Carmichael was asked to define a pun. He said, "A pun is a woman that works in a monastery."

Spring training is drawing to a close and it is beginning to look as though CPHS will put another good team on the field again next year.

James Patterson and W. N. Long, went to the Regional meet at Abilene last Saturday and made a creditable showing.

The Baptist Ladies invited the Seniors to go on an all day excursion to Abilene next Saturday.

Tom Blanton Runs True To Form

Employs Same Old Tactics He Has Used for Eighteen Years Brands His Opponent a Racketeer.

JUDGE HAMLIN ANSWERS ATTACK

TO THE VOTERS OF THE 17th CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT:

Mr. Blanton has flooded the district with a political circular purporting to be a speech delivered by him in the House of Representatives, Friday, March 2, 1934, in which he brands me as a "racketeer" for drawing compensation as an ex-service man for a physical disability.

This vicious and unwarranted attack on me was first published in the Congressional Record so that Mr. Blanton could then send it out over the district, through the U. S. mails without paying postage on it, by using his Congressional "frank," which is supposed to be limited under the law, strictly to official business.

If Mr. Blanton wants to make the matter of my service in the Army and any physical disability a political issue on the Congressional race, he should do to AT HIS OWN EXPENSE, and not require you as a taxpayer to pay the postage on his political literature.

The fact that Mr. Blanton brands me is a "racketeer" does not, by any means, make it true.

"If I am a 'racketeer' for having received compensation, which Mr. Blanton well knows that I was entitled to receive, under the law and the facts, then every disabled veteran in the United States, who is now, or has been, drawing compensation under, and by virtue of, laws passed by Congress, of which Mr. Blanton has been a member for sixteen long years, is also a "racketeer."

I knew when I dared to announce for Congress against Mr. Blanton from his viewpoint, and that if he was committing the unpardonable sin, ran true to his old form, he would classify me (as he has all his former opponents) as a rascal a scoundrel, and a knave; so naturally I am not concerned as to what he calls me.

By his clever use of trickery and deception in printing only parts of my compensation record, and by deliberately and willfully omitting parts of sentences and entire paragraphs of letters, Mr. Blanton has, in his "purported" speech, made so many false statements and unfair allusions to me that space will not permit a detailed answer at this time.

"In connection with his application for retired pay, based on being disabled, Judge Carl O. Hamlin filed with the Bureau an affidavit made by Lila Keith, sworn to on November 17, 1928, stating that Judge Hamlin was nervous, that his lungs gave him trouble and that he had boils on his head."

I say to you that such is absolutely false, and Mr. Blanton well knew it to be at the time he made the statement. I had never even heard of a person by the name of Lila Keith, and until I read Mr. Blanton's "purported" speech always thought my nerves were fairly steady, that my lungs were sound, and was not aware that I ever had a boil on my head during my entire life.

Since Mr. Blanton in his "purported" speech asserts that I have made repeated efforts to be restored to the rolls (which he knows is untrue) and has neglected to tell you that when I am elected to Congress I can not under the law draw compensation, no matter how justly I may be entitled to the same, and has overlooked to tell you that I AM HIS OPPONENT or giving you any information as to the true character and extent of my disability, I here and now challenge him to print in the Congressional Record for the inspection of the public at large my complete compensation file (and not just such parts as suit his fancy) so that the public may have the full facts and form their own opinion.

If Mr Blanton is not willing to leave the question as to my right to compensation up to the public, after they have been given the full facts, then common decency should compel him to admit that he has tried to deceive and mislead his constituents who have for sixteen long years honored him with high office and political power, both of which he has never hesitated to use unfairly against foe or friend to advance his own political fortune.

Apparently not satisfied with ridiculing my service in the Army and my physical disability he has also attempted to inject religion into the campaign by criticizing the religious denomination of the law school I attend. If it would be any satisfaction to Mr. Blanton I might explain to him that I attended Georgetown Law School in Washington, D. C. to study LAW and not RELIGION, and while I am, and have been, a lifelong Baptist, nevertheless I am proud of the fact that among my many friends whom I value very highly, I can number those of all denominations.

Not having the free use of the U. S. Mails as Mr. Blanton has, I shall during the campaign earnestly endeavor to reach the voters of this district, either in person, from the stump, or through the public press, for the purpose of discussing proper issues, which will, of course, include Mr. Blanton's record.

In conclusion I would like to remind you that one personal letter to each of the sixty thousand voters of this district would cost me over $2,000; hence, I trust that if you receive no personal letter from me you will not charge it to any lack of interest, or failure of appreciation on my part, or your support and influence.

"THE NEW DISTRICT AND THE NEW DEAL CALLS FOR A NEW DEALER."

Mrs. Will Key is critically ill at this writing.

Helen Helberg accompanied Mrs. A. M. Younglove to Dallas this week end.

Mrs. Joe Blevins returned home Friday after a weeks stay at the Sealy hospital.

The Pioneer Epworth League attended the services at the Methodist Church Sunday night.

Those on the honor roll this six weeks are:

First grade: Dorothy Mae Metcalf, William Lloyd Audas, and Freddie King.

Second grade: Robbie Evans, Robert Brown, Leon McFerrin, and Jimmie Dale Newton.

Third grade: Olene Chambers, Wayne Harris, Carl Dennis Boyle, and Oteka Bell.

Fourth grade: None.

Fifth grade: Wanda Jean Buras, and Leila Jo Ojiver.

Sixth grade: Aleta Chambers, Wilda Porter, Maurine Evans, and Willard Holmans.

Seventh grade: Theda Evans. Freshmen: Johnnie Wooten. Sophomores: R. E. Harris. Juniors: Zella Strickland. Seniors: Vera Holmans, Dorothy Wesley, and Ila Wesley.

The juniors presented the play, "Nora, Wake Up" Friday night, at the Methodist Church. For advertisement, business houses gave articles which were auctioned off to the highest bidder. Several candidates for office gave donations for advertisement. The proceeds which was about forty-seven dollars will be used for junior pins, the junior-senior banquet, and other expenses. They plan to take the play to Cross Cut Saturday night.

Doris and Bill Underwood and children of Clairmont and Mrs. J. A. Pope of Abilene visited with the G. A. Browns Sunday.

Why Hospitals Use a Liquid Laxative

Hospitals and doctors have always used liquid laxatives. And the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. Do you know the reasons?

The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can thus be regulated to suit individual need. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a mild liquid laxative irritate the kidneys.

The right dose of a liquid laxative brings a perfect movement, and there is no discomfort at the time, or after.

The wrong cathartic may often do more harm than good.

A properly prepared liquid laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin brings safe relief from constipation. It gently helps the average person's bowels back to regularity. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved laxative which all druggists should have on hand for use. It makes an effective laxative; effective for all cases of constipation. N. R. A.

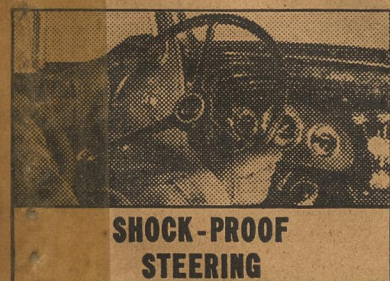

Drive it only 5 miles and you'll never be satisfied with any other low-priced car

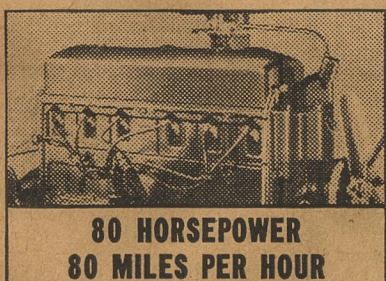

When you pay the price of a Knee-Action car, you naturally want genuine Knee-Action and all that goes with it. You want the new gliding ride at its smoothest, safest, and best. You want simple, foolproof, and trouble-proof construction—the huskiest, sturdiest front-end you can buy. And, of course, you want shock-proof steering—it is the natural companion of the gliding ride. You pay for these things, and you want them all—but you can get them, in the low price field, only from Chevrolet. The reason is simple. Fully-enclosed Knee-Action wheels are

Only Chevrolet has the resources and the assured volume of sales that permit this extra production cost. Chevrolet does it because Chevrolet believes that, to KEEP ON SELLING THE MOST CARS, YOU MUST KEEP ON BUILDING THE BEST. THE STORY SO FAR

Nancy Gordon trades herself in marriage with Dr. Richard Morgan for fifteen thousand dollars—to save her family from the disgrace of her brother Roddy's theft of that amount for a woman. Nancy loves penniless young Page Roemer, and Richard is loved by Helena Haddon, a sophisticated young married woman. Kingdon Haddon, Helena's husband, sees the elopers, but holds his counsel. After the ceremony, Nancy returns to her parents' home, and continues to see Page, who urges her to divorce her husband Mr. Gordon, to release his daughter from what he considers her shameful marriage, sells his house to his friend Major Lomax, who rents it to the original owner. Helena is jealous of Richard's interest in Nancy, although she knows nothing of the marriage, and tries to make trouble. Once Page comes to Nancy's home and makes but refuses to go back on her bargain with Richard by divorcing him.

Nancy understood. With a gasp she wrenched her hand out of his and stood up, staring at him. She saw no one but him. She did not even see that Helena Haddon had risen from her table and was coming toward them. She looked only at Roemer.

"Oh!" she gasped, "what have I done—that you should think me like this?"

He rose, too, staggered by her look. "Nancy, I swear I adore you—I—" "Hush!" she cried fiercely, "hush, never say such things to me again! I—" she clung to the back of her chair. Then she turned, put out her hand gropingly and went toward the long window where the rain was beating in.

Page sprang after her, but she waved him back. "Let me alone—don't speak to me," she gasped. Go and talk to that woman, Mrs. Haddon, I mean. She's coming. Keep her away. I must be alone a minute. I—I don't want even to look at you yet!" she panted.

Aghast, Page stood still. He was aware, too, that Helena was coming idly toward him. He turned to face her—he had to cover Nancy's retreat. What on earth would this woman think Nancy stood only a moment on the piazza, then she slipped the bolt on an unused window-door in the half enclosed porch, opened it, and dropped softly to the ground below.

The rush of the rain was welcome. She felt it as if it might wash away the contamination of Page's thought of her. She did not care where she went. She turned, and was swept along the new road, beyond the inn, farther and farther from town. It did not matter! Her clothing was so drenched that it weighed her down, and the rain continued in torrents.

At last her mental anguish began to give away to her physical weakness; she could go no farther and she did not know where she was. She climbed down a muddy bank and looked out through the mist and rain. There was a house—not twenty yards off! She drew a long sigh of relief, gathered herself together, and breast the storm.

It was a mere shanty, a tumbled-down house. But it was shelter from the storm. Dripping and breathless, Nancy knocked at the door. A woman opened it; there was a glimpse of bare interior, a spark of the dying in the old stove, a close smell of cooking and medicine, and the fretful cry of a sick child.

Not a word was spoken. The wind and the rain swept the storm-beaten girl in. The woman slapped the door to, struggling, her shoulder against it, shot the bolt, and ran back into the room where her child was moaning.

Nancy moved over to the stove and began mechanically wringing the water out of her dripping clothing. After the rush of the wind and the cold driving rain, it was suffocatingly hot in the wretched little room, but gradually her mind cleared.

She heard the wail of the woman's sob of a prayer.

"Please th' Lord..."

Don't take him, Lord, I ain't done nothin' ter make ye!" she choked, sobbing aloud, and evidently turned back to the child. "Thar, thar, honey, yo' drink et, yo' ain't goin' ter die—the Lord ain't goin' ter take yo'—I'se been a-talkin' ter him."

Nancy's mind came back sharply. She moved swiftly across the room to the open door and looked in.

The storm had darkened the place, and the woman had set a candle in a bottle on a table beside the low cot in the corner. The flare of it fell full on the flushed face of a very sick child. The woman, on her knees by the bed, did not even look up.

Nancy went in. "Let me help," she said softly, "you're tired out. You must rest!"

The mother's head sagged forward. "Tired? Me? I ain't step' fo' days—Tony's thet sick. Honey, git well, sit up, honey, yo' ain't real sick now—yo ma's prayin'—prayin' helps him a sight," she added.

The girl took the cup out of her limp fingers and sat down on the edge of the bed.

"Tony—is that his name? Tony

At last her mental anguish began to give away to her physical weakness.

dear, drink this for us," she coaxed.

The child opened his glassy eyes and stared at her. His face was hot with fever and there were white rings around his mouth and eyes. Nancy lifted him, pressing the cup to his lips. It was only water and the child tried to drink, but he could not. He struggled, gasping, falling limp on her arm, his little hot fingers holding hers, clinging tight.

Nancy gasped. "He can't swallow! she cried, "where's the doctor?"

The woman was crying softly, drawing her sleeve across her eyes. "Th' doctor ain't come—I sen' for him—but he ain't been here. Yo'-all—yo'-all gits doctors easy, but I ain't got no money, I—"

"Money?" Nancy straightened up sharply. "Whom did you call?" "Dr. Simmon—th' ole un—he useter come, he took care of my man when he was a-dyin'."

"Simmon? Why, he's ill, he doesn't go out any more. You must have a doctor—" Dying? Yes. Death was at the threshold. "You've got to have a doctor," she said sharply, "Dr. Richard Morgan!"

The woman stood, numbed with misery, her hollow eyes on the gasping boy. "I ain't able ter leave him no way. I reckon th' Lord'll help me—I ain't got no un—Tony honey, sit up, tell yo' ma yo' ain't sick, honey, honey!" her voice rose in a crescendo of terror, she fell on her knees, moaning, burying her head on the child's pillow.

"Tony, I'm going to get you a doctor," she said, lifted his little hot hand to her cheek, put it down again, and ran out, tears in her eyes.

A doctor? She must have a doctor. She tore open the front door and faced the drive of the rain. It was like a caress, it cooled her own face again. But it was fearful still! Richard's she must get Richard. At an-... he loomed up at the every... life. Suddenly, without ally her mind cleared. ... self, she knew that he ... must reach ... Death had ... could fight

Death. She must reach Richard. She knew where she was now, almost five miles out of town. Through the gleaming sheet of the rain she could see the fields opposite, the shoulder of a hill, and some low buildings—barns, she remembered with a start, it was part of Kingdon Haddon's farm.

It was a long way to the barns, but there must be some one there. She could get help! She struggled, breast- ing the wind, with her head down. She was almost half way there when the big door shut and turned to meet her.

Through the storm she heard a rich young negro voice.

It was Henry, old Johnny Floyd's boy, sixteen years old and as black as coal. Nancy knew him well. He did chores for Major Lomax, ran errands, carried horses.

"Henry!" she called, "Henry!"

At first he did not hear her, between his own music and the storm. Then he looked up, saw her, drenched, cling- ing to a fence.

"Gee, Miss Nancy!"

Nancy caught his arm in both her shaking hands and poured out her story.

"We've got to have Dr. Morgan Henry, and you've got to get him!"

The boy stared at her helplessly.

"Dat's Kinney's kid, I knows him—but, gee, Miss Nancy, it's two miles an' more'n dat, an' de tel'phone's broke dar down—I can't walk no ways—it's awful muddy—an' look at de rain—ugh!"

Nancy shook him. "Henry, you've got to go. You'll save a life, won't you? You've got to!"

Henry's eyes rolled. "Fo' de Lawd, Miss Nancy, dere ain't no horse but Polestar!"

"Get him!" Nancy cried, on fire with zeal, "we need a racer. Polestar can do it in half the time! Can you ride him?"

Henry's grin widened ecstatically. "I'se trainin' fo'er jockey—sho, I can ride him!"

"Then get him quick!"

"Lordy, Miss Nancy, I'se afeard—I reckon de boss 'd skin me alive, yessir!"

"Never mind the boss! It's a life, Henry. You know Dr. Richard Morgan? He must come if you can get to him!"

"Sho de doctah's come—he ain't skeered ob noffin, he'll come—but I'se skeered. Deed, I can't go, Miss Nancy!"

Nancy held out her hand impera- tively. "Give me that key!" she snatched it from his hand, "now—you come with me!"

"Deed, Miss Nancy!," Henry gasped. "Deed, miss, I can't ride no horse outen dis yere stables, de boss, he'll kill me, he sho will!"

"He won't, I'll make it right with him. There's a child dying for a doctor, you hear me? That's all that matters, you've got to go on Polestar!" As she spoke she unlocked the big barn door.

The wind swung it open but she held it. In the dim corner she discerned the box-stall of the racer.

"Henry! Get Polestar out this minute!"

Her sharp tone of command, the flash of power and authority in her eyes awed the boy. He sidled away from her, but he sidled toward the stall.

"De boss get my hide!" he said,

"You'-all—yo'-all gets doctors easy, but I ain't got no money."

half whimpering, "geed, Miss Nancy, I can't—I ain't got no orders, I—"

"I give you the order!"

She stood outlined against the fury of the storm, her eyes glowing, a flush on her face now. The negro boy stared at her, fascinated. He undid the bar. In a moment the great racer came out, quivering, eager, tossing his splendid head; he strained at the halter in Henry's hand.

"Get on him!" Nancy held the door open. "You've got to. I'll make you, it's a child's life—get on that horse!"

Henry obeyed. He had to obey. He made a wild snatch at Polestar's mane struck his heel in the racer's flank. In an instant the horse shot out past Nancy, plunging and furious. Nancy trembled with anxiety. Could the black boy keep his seat? Then—like an arrow from the bow—Polestar shot away into space.

Nancy pressed her hands over her eyes. Dripping again, she turned back to the house and heard the woman wailing aloud.

Nancy opened the door quickly. The stove fire made the room stifling and she seemed to feel the child's gasps for breath. The mother was walking up and down, rocking herself and cry- ing.

"He ain't able ter breathe—he ain't able ter breathe muc' longer—I reckon God's clean forgotten me!" she wailed "an I ain't got no dotah fer him!"

"Yes, you have, one's coming—the best in town," Nancy said softly, taking hold of her and trying to still her. "Don't act so, you'll frighten Tony—the doctor's coming, I've sent for him. We must have towels and hot water ready. Where are your things?"

The girl was roused; every nerve in her body tingled. Here was work she could do! Get ready for the doctor; Richard would find it as ready as she could make it.

"I ain't got no towels, I ain't ironed 'em I ain't done nothing' but take care o' him. I—I reckons I do have er clean sheet, I kep' it," she lowered her voice, "I kep' it in—case he deid."

"Give it to me, please!" she held out her hand, the same power and

LOCAL LEAGUERS COP STARTER

As Grosvenor's Nine Is Over-run by 12 Scores

The local baseball league met that afternoon in the first match game of the season. A large crowd was assembled to watch the play.

In the first inning of play nothing fantastic happened, but when it closed Grosvenor was one, and Cross Cut was nothing.

In the second inning Earl Byrd and John Hall made a score for the locals, and Grosvenor's three up went down in order.

Two more scores were run up in the third, Claude Clark making second on a fly to left field, and Coffey, with a slight forward motion and a quick uppercut, knocking the ball into the brush patch, bringing in Claude, and coming in himself for a homer. The score was now four and two in our favor.

Dub Stone socked another home run in the fourth inning as he knocked Tye Clark in. The opposition was shut out in a three-up-three down play. The score was now six and two.

Grosvenor showed signs of coming out of the slump in the fifth when Williams, their star player, miraculously slipped from third to home on a wild throw from catcher to pitcher. In this inning they also held our men powerless to score.

The sixth inning was uneventful, neither side circling the diamond.

But in the seventh Cross Cut loaded the bases and depended on John Hall to bring the runners around. He hit, and hit hard, making his way to third, and allowing three men to score. Grosvenor was held to a scoreless half. Scores were now ten and three.

In the eighth Cross Cut men were shut out, and Grosvenor scored twice, making the total score ten and five.

The last inning marked a rally for the home players. With Herland Pittman, Luke Clark, Dub Stone, and Claude Clark on bases, Earl Byrd smacked the pill over the fence—or the equivalent—for a home run, bringing in five scores at once. The final score was Cross Cut 16, Grosvenor 5.

Ovley Pittman pitched until the fifth inning with Cross Cut, and Herland Pittman pitched the remainder of the game. Arlis Sikes pitched for this game was the first in the series of fourteen league games to be played by the last of August. Although this is the first match game the league here has won, it defeated a Brownwood team Sunday.

We are expecting much of our team this year, and it appears that we are not to be disappointed.

An important message to every man and woman who is thinking about buying an automatic refrigerator

Take the time to find the RIGHT one

THERE'S a lot of real pleasure in owning a good automatic refrigerator...

We believe that the finest of all automatic refrigerators is the New Air-Cooled Electrolux.

Simplest freezing method Electrolux employs a different principle of operation than any other refrigerator.

Simple, isn't it? And this very simplicity is the thing that gives Electrolux its definite superiority.

It costs less to run... a saving that goes on day after day—year after year!

EDITORIAL Our Nation of Crime

By Norris Chambers "Crime thrives upon public unconcern." In other words, it is the people of the nation—the common citizens—who allow this country to be overrun by gangsters and racketeers.

Our nation of crime is a disgrace to this country. We have the government of crime in the same manner we have the government of the people.

honor. Gangsters enforce their laws and rulings by the simple method of knives and bullets, and the United States government does not enforce its rulings and laws.

Racketeers are making sport of the law. Not long ago a noted crook and desperado looted a police station. A town in the Northern states was completely raided by a small band of machine gun bandits.

It is the public—that same group of individuals which is suffering the consequences. These citizens have gradually formed the impression that if the officers get the outlaws, it is all right, and that if he does not he is not capable of holding the office.

When a bandit is shooting up and down the highway, and across the short-roads, continually with the hand of justice pursuing, it is hard to believe that some one of the many citizens in the path could not aid the law by at least piling the road full of logs.

But our citizens have come to look upon an outlaw as an honorable fighter. They keep up with the adventures of an outlaw as they read the daily papers just as they would keep up with a continued story in a weekly magazine.

issue—wondering how the hero will outwit the pursuing officers in the next incident.

But the fault is not altogether with the public. There are officers who know nothing about the technique of fighting gangsters—there are even members of our jail board who do not know a pistol when they see it.

How can we ever have any order when men who commit foul murder are sent to the penitentiary for life, and are then given full pardon within a year? A few years ago two men called out a garage man, telling him that their car needed fixing, and deliberately shot him down in cold blood.

Although the people are to blame, the officials have brought it on them. They have, by their continual dishonesty, convinced the people that every officer of the law is a cheat and a crook.

The only way crime can be abolished is by correct voting, and sufficient enthusiasm.

A Word Of Caution About Beer

Beer will be legalized in Callahan County Saturday. The coming of the foamy beverage after a long era of prohibition is being watched by leaders in every walk of life. Whether beer is to remain legal, is entirely up to the 'wets', who so strongly advocated it. If the brew is sold orderly and supporters of the idea cooperate with officials to keep the streets clear of intoxicants, it may become as common and unopposed as any other enterprise.

On the other hand, if the 'wets' fail to keep the thing orderly as was so frequently promised before the election, they may justly expect a soon expiration of their recent victory.

Many people voted for the legalization of beer because they believed that placing the thing in the open would greatly decrease the contamination that frequently centers about beer 'joints'. Should these people be deceived in their conviction they will hurriedly change again to the old prohibition plan and beer in Cross Plains—if not Callahan County—will be abolished after six months.

Now in straight, frank words of caution, 'wets' you have been given the rope. Don't take enough to hang yourself.

Attention Please

In an article in last week's issue of the Review, it was stated by Mr. Beavers that he had discussed the matter of Sunday pictures with the city councilmen, the ministers and interested individuals and no serious opposition was encountered as pastor of the Methodist church of this city, I wish to state that at no time has Mr. Beavers talked with me on this subject.

We know there are a great number of our people feel that it is not right to commercialize the Sabbath and that only necessary business should operate on the Sabbath.

I feel that this correction should be made, not only for my self but for the general public.

J. A. Scoggins, Pastor

There are twenty-eight Shetland ponies at the Bronx Zoo, the only domestic animals in the whole park. And they're the only ones that earn a penny—ten cents a ride for children—Taffy is the smartest of the lot and the only pony that can stand on his hind legs. Taffy loves to pose for cameras, and to top it all off, he'll pick a handkerchief neatly off the ground—Soon they'll all be carrying delighted youngsters around the same track that's been used for the purpose for thirty years.

On April 22, 1934, at his home in Cottonwood, Texas, the redeemed spirit of G. N. Borden left its earthly tenement for its heavenly home. G. N. Borden (better known as "Uncle Doc") was born in Alabama Sept. 12, 1851. He moved with his parents to Robertson county at the age of 13 years. He was converted and joined the Methodist Church at the age of 22. He was licensed to preach in 1891. We feel in our hearts a deep sorrow in the passing of "Uncle Doc" for we have lost a most unusual friend, for he was always willing to help any one who needed it, as far as he was able. He was a good neighbor and lived a fine christian life. Just Saturday evening he walked to town and voted against 3-2 beer. He was married to Nellie Cochran, November 23, 1883. Moved to Callahan County in Dec. 1884. To this union were born 4 children, 2 having died in infancy. He with his family moved to San Marcos in 1891 and other points in Texas, finally back to Callahan. He leaves a wife, 1 daughter, 1 son, 32 grandchildren, 12 great-grandchildren and lost of friends. The funeral was conducted from the Methodist Church Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock by his pastor, Rev. Van Pelt and Rev. S. R. Respass pastor of the Baptist Church.

The fifth Sunday rally will be held at the Methodist Church. Rev. Culpepper will preach at the 11 o'clock hour.

FAT AND LEAN CATTLE

JACOB lost no time in becoming the father of twelve sons, of whom the next to the youngest, Joseph, is the second important figure after the flood.

The oldest of the twelve brothers was Reuben, to whom Jacob on his death-bed said significantly, "unstable as water, thou shalt not excell." He would have liked to protect Joseph from the envious hatred of the others, who saw all too clearly Jacob's favoritism for him, but Reuben was too weak to accomplish anything. The hatred of the others cast Joseph into a deep pit. It was their first intention to kill him, but at the suggestion of Judah, who wanted to save Joseph's life, and could plan no other way, he was lifted out and sold to a passing caravan and taken to Egypt.

A fine parade of human attributes now marches before us—Potiphar, captain in the service of Pharaoh, who took a liking to Joseph and made him an overseer; Mrs. Potiphar, who fell in love with the bright youngster and, when out of his loyalty to her husband, Joseph refused her advances, caused him to be cast into prison; the royal butler, whose release Joseph secured by interpreting a dream, and who promised in turn to get Joseph out of jail, but success quickly banishes the memory of old-time friends.

Yet did not the chief butler remember Joseph, but forgot him.

Presently, however, Joseph secured his own release, having been able to interpret a dream for Pharaoh himself. Pharaoh had seen in his dream seven fat cattle and seven lean cattle, and behold the seven lean cattle ate up the seven fat ones. What could it mean? "It means", said Joseph, "that we are going to have seven good business years and then seven very bad ones; and we better get ready for the bad ones right away." Thus Joseph made the first Babson chart, showing that the area of financial inflation precedes that of depression and is of equal size and density. Through Joseph's foresight and organizing ability the Egyptians stored up food in the seven fat years and come through the lean years and came through the lean years with flying colors.

Joseph was big in nature as well as in ability. He sent for his father and brethren, forgave them, got them good jobs in the public service and settled them in luxury in his adopted country. Thus things went swimmingly for the children of Israel until Joseph died, after which calamity descended. The Pharaoh who had been so friendly also died and "there arose a new king in Egypt which knew not Joseph." Envy and jealousy of these smart fellows were rampant; there was a universal demand that they should be evicted from the rich jobs and fat con-down to the very bottom of the social ladder.

visiting their mother Mrs. Lawrence Stewart who has had pneumonia but is reported better.

The Octet of McMurry rendered a program at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon, which was enjoyed by all.

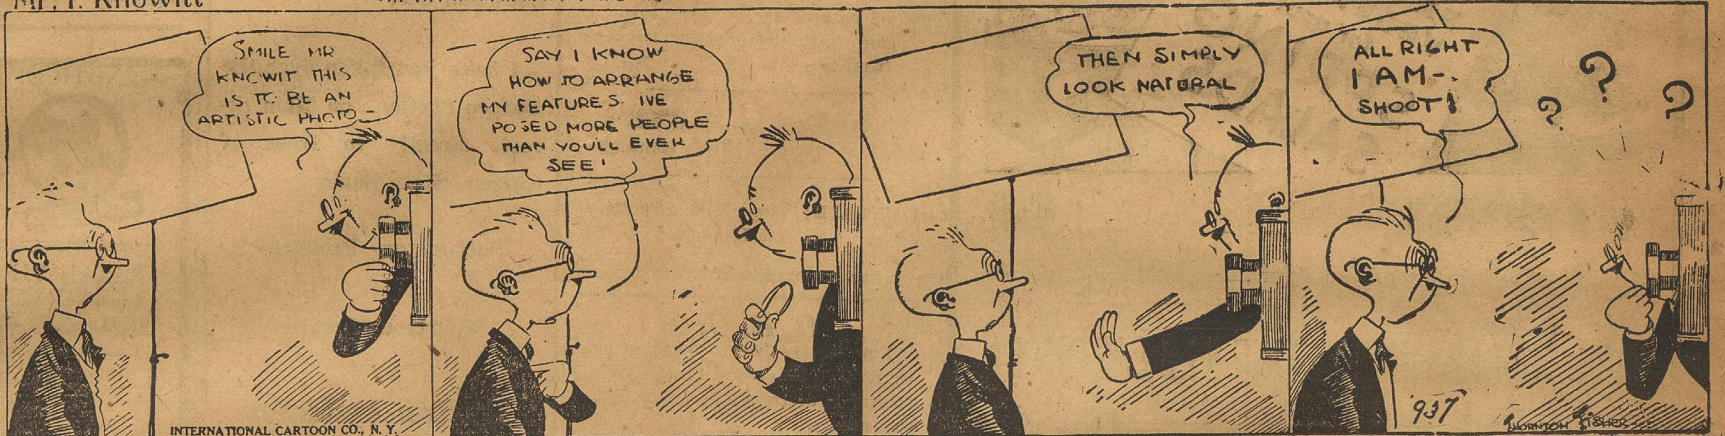

Mrs. Charlie McDonald and children and Herbert Love of Roaring Springs are visiting Mrs. Francis Garrison.
