

VOTERS NEED NO CITY POLL TAX

HOME TOWN GOSSIP

With college days now relegated to the far distant past, the scribbler of this department has had only an indirect interest in the many institutions of higher learning for the past three or four years...

John Tarleton is a state maintained institution playing a prominent part in the education of the youth of the heart of Texas. Its curriculum includes those subjects most adaptable to the professions that its students will pursue in after years.

Never, has it been our privilege to visit with a more proficient student body, congenial alumni and loyal group of supporters. Keep your eye on J.T.A.C. she's moving rapidly to the front.

We used no little space in stirring up enough interest in the city election to get out a sizeable ticket. And now when voters go to the polls they will have a variety of good men to choose from.

Indications are now that we should use some more of this 25 cents an inch space reminding that a school trustee election is to be held Saturday, April seventh. And to date no one has been nominated for any of the three places.

A good school reflects credit upon a community that lasts for years to come. Cross Plains has one of the best school systems for a town of this size in Texas. Let's keep the good work going.

"Slim" Crutchmier, who drifts in and out with the seasons, is back in town. And incidentally his repertoire includes some of the very best jokes gathered from far and near. Hearing "Slim" over coffee cups is practically equivalent to talking with the Marx Brothers (the whole quartet) at once.

The papers stated several months ago that Babe Ruth, the sultan of baseball, was the most publicized man in America. The Babe has been crowded out of print so consistently for the past year, that we now contend Franklin D. Roosevelt, shuffler of the new deal, is the most publicized man of all modern times.

Has anyone noticed that neat little patch on Jim Settle's distinguished nose? Ahhh, and yet Mrs. Settle appears to be such a kind woman.

Do you agree: Martin Neeb is not half as hardboiled as he appears—Daye Lee argues for the sake of it and not with any hope of conviction—Nat Williams resembles Buddy Rogers—Mary Massa's good naturedness is missed in the of home town—W. A. Beavers should wear a hat—Edwin Baum smiles like a mischievous school boy—"Dad" Child's voice has an authoritative sound.

Mrs. Coley Morris and son, Coley Grant, returned home Sunday from Walnut Springs where they visited friends and relatives.

Miss Emmarie Hemphill, who attends school in Brownwood visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hemphill, last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brooks and daughters, and Mrs. Leslie Loyl of Moran, visited relatives here last week end.

County Track Meet Will Be Concluded Today

CROSS PLAINS TAKES ALL-AROUND VICTORY 4TH STRAIGHT TIME

Despite unfavorable weather conditions which prohibited the running off of a number of track and field events in the County Meet held here last week end, unusual interest was manifested and keen competition was present in virtually every contest.

Class A Senior Boys Track and Field events, Rural School Declamations and Choral Singing, which were postponed last week end will be run-off Friday if weather conditions permit, Nat Williams, Director General of the Meet, told the Review yesterday.

A tabulation of points to date assures Cross Plains the all around championship and the distinction of having won the event for the past four consecutive years.

Awards to winners of the four divisions will be made in the high school auditorium Friday night at the close of the Choral Singing contests.

Complete results of every event held to date follows in this article including all individual winners and their times, distances and grades in the various literary and athletic events.

A tabulation of points to date covering the 18 schools represented at the meet is listed hereunder.

THREE TRUSTEES FOR LOCAL SCHOOL TO BE ELECTED APRIL 7TH

No petitions of nomination have been filed with E. I. Vestal, President of the Cross Plains school board, for the three places that are to be voted upon in the annual election to be held here April seventh.

The deadline for nominations in the school trustee election is the day before election, however, and several names are expected to be placed on the ticket next week.

PHIL PE CO CLUB TO GIVE MEMBERS PARTY

Phil Pe Co Country Club will be host to members and former members at a bridge party to be held in Pioneer high school gymnasium Friday evening April sixth, according to an announcement from Marion Harvey, Secretary.

"Arrangements are being made to show everyone a real nice time and to revive some social life into the club", Mr. Harvey stated.

3 Inch Rain Falls Over This Territory

Rain, netting almost three inches of moisture, fell over the entire Cross Plains trade territory the past week end. The precipitation began late Friday night and continued intermittently until Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Juergensen will move this week to Breckenridge where Mr. Juergensen is employed with the Phillips company.

Mrs. C. A. Lotief has as her guest this week her sister, Mrs. Mike John, and daughter, of Abilene.

Miss Lucille Burkett, Mrs. Edwin Baum Jr., and Norman Caton visited in Dallas Tuesday and Wednesday.

C. A. Lotief made a business trip to Austin Wednesday.

Miss Syble Rutherford of Union visited here last week end.

George R. Neel And Dr. J. H. McGowen Drafted Into Politics By Lions Club

Members of the Lions Club nominating committee told the Review yesterday that they had completed a ticket for the approaching annual election of the organization.

Candidates for president of the club will be George R. Neel and Dr. J. H. McGowen. For first vice-president, J. G. Perry and Arlie Brown are pitted. W. R. Lowe and Don McCall will be candidates for the place of second vice-president. T. D. Little and J. L. Settle are to vie for third vice-president. For secretary, Charles

DOUBLE FUNERAL IS HELD AT BURKETT TUESDAY AFTERNOON

A double funeral, for Athor C. Merryman, 17, and A. M. Younglove, 38, nephew and uncle—was held from the Burkett Baptist church Tuesday afternoon. Both were interred in the cemetery there. Friends of the family crowded the church beyond capacity.

A. M. Younglove

A. M. Younglove, 38, succumbed after a long illness at Burkett Monday night. He was an ex-serviceman, having served in the World War. Mr. Younglove was well known throughout this immediate locality. Surviving are his wife, three daughters and one son.

Rev. A. L. Shaw, pastor of the Burkett Baptist church, of which Mr. Younglove had been a member for 20 years, read his funeral rites. He was assisted by Harry Miller, long time friend of the deceased.

Pall bearers were: Johnnie Henderson, Willie Henderson, Pete McArath, W. E. Koenig, Willie Key, L. L. Morgan, Seth Burkett, and Oliver Smith.

Athor C. Merryman

Athor C. Merryman, 17, died Monday after an illness of several weeks. Funeral services were held from the Burkett Baptist church Tuesday afternoon, in a joint ceremony for him and his uncle A. M. Younglove.

Athor C. Merryman was born August first, 1916, in Coleman county and resided in this locality virtually all of his life. His obituary was read at the funeral service by Dr. C. A. Voyles, pastor of the Cross Plains Baptist church.

He is survived by his mother Mrs. E. Mayes, and two brothers and one sister. Pall bearers at the funeral service were six of his boyhood friends.

MRS. R. B. ELLIOTT DIES IN OKLAHOMA

Funeral service for Mrs. R. B. Elliott, step-mother of Mrs. Tom Bryant, was held at Georgetown, Sunday. Interment was made in the cemetery there. Mrs. Elliott expired at Barnsdall, Oklahoma, Friday, after an illness of several months.

Surviving are her husband, two sisters—Mrs. C. B. Nuckolls, of Hillsville, Virginia; Mrs. C. W. Semones, of Galax, Virginia—and two step-daughters; Mrs. Tom Bryant, of this place, and Mrs. P. M. Kuykendall, of Ranger.

BENEFIT PLAY CARDED AT COTTONWOOD TONIGHT

'Spooky Tower', a three act comedy drama, will be presented in Cottonwood high school auditorium Friday night by a cast composed of local people. Proceeds from the play will go toward buying letter sweaters for the Cottonwood high school basket ball team, which recently won the district championship. Admission charge for the play will be 10 cents.

"36 to 600 Years"

ONE MAN'S JOURNEY COMING TO LIBERTY MONDAY & TUESDAY

What is said to be one of the strongest and most unusual casts ever assembled in Hollywood brings the human interest drama 'One Man's Journey' to the Liberty theater here Monday and Tuesday nights. Lionel Barrymore is starred in the film and featured in his support is an array of talent including May Robson, Dorothy Jordan, Joel McCrea and Frances Dee. The Review was told by W. A. Beavers, manager of the Liberty.

Barrymore, greatest star of a famous theatrical family, carries main burden of the story as a country doctor who devotes his life to the unselfish service of others and achieves true greatness through what he considers failure. The role is said to be the finest ever played by the master star.

LOCAL BOY GOES TO KENTUCKY FOR DEBATE

Clinton E. Voyles, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Voyles of Cross Plains, has been selected as one of four students to represent Howard-Payne College in the National Phi Theta Nu debate held this week in Lexington, Kentucky.

This is a distinctive honor as the young man is only 19 years of age and in his Junior year at college.

APRIL 1 DEADLINE TO PAY AUTO FEES

County Tax Collector W. J. Evans in a telephone conversation with the Review Wednesday morning urged that automobile owners be reminded that under the new law time for paying license fees is extended until April first, but after that date any car driven without 'tags' will be subject to a 20 percent penalty as well as the entire registration fee for the whole year.

In Cross Plains automobile license can be paid to Deputy Collector J. D. Conlee, at the Citizens State Bank.

Mrs. V. H. Heyroth and Mrs. L. D. Mullins visited friends in Coleman Tuesday.

J. W. Carrell and Ed Davis of Brownwood visited friends in Cross Plains last week end.

Melvin Crabb, of San Angelo, was a business visitor in Cross Plains first of the week.

Tommie Webb of Brownwood visited his parents at Webb Ranch last week end.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S RULING WILL SWELL VOTES HERE BY 100

City poll tax receipt will not be a prerequisite to vote in the city election to be held here Tuesday, at which time a Mayor and four Aldermen are to be chosen for the ensuing term of two years. A ruling to that effect was handed down to city officials the past week by the Attorney General's department at Austin.

The Attorney General's ruling which covers the situation is as follows:

"Failure to pay city poll tax does not deprive one of the right to vote in city elections. This does not release men from the payment of city poll tax, if liable therefor. The tax remains due but one cannot be denied vote for failure to pay".

"In addition to other qualifications, one must have paid his State and County poll tax in order to be a qualified voter at a city election, unless especially exempted therefrom by reason of age, disability or other exemption provided in Article 2960 of the Revised Civil Statutes".

Heretofore, men have been required to pay city poll tax in order to vote in city elections, whereas, women have been permitted to vote without a city poll tax receipt.

The Attorney General's ruling will be obeyed in the election Tuesday, said S. M. Buatt, City Clerk and Tax Assessor and Collector.

The ticket Tuesday will bear the names of S. P. Collins, incumbent, and Jesse McAdams, local automobile dealer, for the place of Mayor; for Councilmen, the following will be candidates: Willis Brown, A. H. McCord, A. Ogilvy, J. C. Garrett, R. E. Wilson and Ben Pierce. The last three are members of the Council at present.

The recent ruling by the Attorney General's department is expected to increase the number of ballots here Tuesday by at least 100.

FORMER RESIDENT PNEUMONIA VICTIM

News has been received here of the death of Mrs. Henry Jones, 58, a former resident of this locality.

The following article concerning Mrs. Jones' passing was mailed the Review last week from Clyde:

"On the morning of March 19 shortly after nine o'clock Mrs. Henry Jones passed away after an illness of six days. Death resulted from pneumonia. She was 58 years of age. Her maiden name was Esther Gertrude Turner. She was married to Henry W. Jones in 1892, near Deer Plains.

"To this union were born seven children, four boys and three girls, all of whom survive save one son who died at the age of 19.

"Mrs. Jones was a member of the Church of Christ. Surviving are her husband Henry W. Jones; six children, Mrs. Mary King, Rowden; A. C. Jones, Denton; W. C. Allen, Brownsfield; J. W. Jones, Denton; Lloyd Jones, Dudley; Mrs. Garland Ford, Denton. Also, 14 grand children and one great grandson, a brother, a sister and one half sister.

INSPECTOR RECOMMENDS STATE AID FOR RURAL SCHOOLS IN CALLAHAN

Miss Sue B. Mann, deputy state superintendent of schools, has just completed a visit to all rural schools in Callahan county and has recommended state aid for all of the schools for eight months, the Review was told in a telephone conversation with County Superintendent A. L. Johnson Wednesday night.

Mrs. Arthur Mitchell had as her guest last week end her sister, Miss Jake Dickey, of Baird.

Judge Carl Hamlin Answers Letter Of Sweetwater Man On Compensation

Judge Carl Hamlin of Breckenridge, candidate for Congress to succeed Thomas Blanton in the 17th District, Saturday made public a letter he has written to R. M. Simmons of Sweetwater, who last week wrote Judge Hamlin and asked that jurist to explain to him the full details of the compensation matter referred to. Mr. Simmons wrote the following letter to Judge Hamlin:

March 15th, 1934.

Judge Carl Hamlin, Breckenridge, Texas. Dear Sir:

It is being circulated in this portion of the 17th Congressional District, that you, as an ex-service man of the World War, are drawing compensation from the Government on the basis of being totally disabled. Being interested in finding out the exact status of this matter, I would appreciate your writing me the true facts in reference to your physical disability; the amount of compensation that you are now drawing, the nature of your disability and the rating given you under the law by the Veterans Bureau and such other facts in connection therewith as you might deem necessary.

I would very much appreciate this information from you so that I, as a voter, may be able to use by ballot intelligently.

Assuring you that I will appreciate a prompt response, I am,

Yours very truly,

R. M. SIMMONS.

Following is Judge Hamlin's reply as mailed to Mr. Simmons at Sweetwater:

March 16, 1934

Mr. R. M. Simmons, Vice-Pres. and Gen. Mgr., Sweetwater Cotton Oil Co., Sweetwater, Texas.

I am just in receipt of your letter of March 15th thank you for your interest in seeking to ascertain the true facts in reference to my physical disability as an exservice man of the World War, and the amount of compensation I may be drawing, or have drawn, therefore, and I am glad you the information requested.

So that you may understand the nature and extent of my physical disability, may I say that when I entered the military service at the beginning of the World War I was in splendid health. The medical records in my case, however, show that within sixty days after my honorable discharge (Jan. 30, 1919) from nearly two years active service, I suffered with kidney stones, which, according to medical science, could not have formed in so short a time from date of my discharge. During the period of nine years that I continued to suffer with this affliction, I was compelled to undergo extensive medical treatment and two major operations—the last one being on Nov. 20, 1928 for the removal of my right kidney, which was necessary in order to save my life.

Up until Nov. 1, 1928, when I was informed that an operation for the removal of my kidney would be necessary, I had never made application for compensation, although for a period of nine years I had been entitled thereto under the law. As an ex-service man I was also entitled to the necessary medical, surgical, and hospital expenses, I was compelled to incur, but I personally paid for all such, although I could ill-afford these expenses for at the time I was discharged from the army I had lost what law practice I had when entering the service, and my sole claim to wealth consisted of $200, which I had saved while in the military service by purchasing Liberty Bonds. During the next nine years in which I spent so much money seeking to cure my disability, I was also rearing a family, with the result that at the time I entered the hospital for my last major operation I was in debt $3,600.00, and I had no assurance that I would ever leave the hospital alive, or if I did, that I would ever draw one penny of compensation.

Of course, no amount of money can ever restore my kidney, and, as a matter of fact, the compensation that I drew has hardly been sufficient to repay me in dollars and cents for what I had already paid, or obligated myself to pay, for medical and surgical services out of my own limited funds.

I am happy to say, however, that since my kidney was removed in Nov. 1928, my health has been the best of anytime since my discharge from the army, but my loss will continue to be financial as well physical, by reason of the greatly increased premium which I am now compelled to pay upon some insurance which I had previous to my last operation, and further fact that I am now unable to secure any new life insurance for the protection and education of my small children.

Now as to the compensation I have drawn. On Nov. 1, 1928, I first made application for compensation, but it was not until Jan. 25, 1929 (more than two months after my last operation) that I was notified my claim had been allowed. I was then informed that under the law I was entitled to compensation for a back period of twelve months, prior to date of my application, due to the fact that my disability had existed for many years before that time. I make this explanation so there will be no misunderstanding as to how I happened to be awarded compensation apparently a year before I made application for same.

From Nov. 1 1927, to Nov. 19, 1928, I was rated under the law as 25 per cent disabled and awarded $25 compensation per month. From Nov. 20, 1928 to Dec. 4, 1928 I was rated as totally disabled for the two weeks I was actually in the hospital during my operation, and awarded $47 compensation. After my operation and loss of my kidney my disability then became definite and permanent, and was rated under the law as 40 per cent, and I was awarded $40 per month compensation. From this date on my disability has always been rated under the law as 40 per cent. On March 9, 1929, pursuant to the provisions of the Emergency Officers' Retirement Act, of the 70th Congress, passed May 4, 1928, I, being eligible thereunder with a permanent disability of 40 per cent, was placed upon the Emergency Officers' Retirement roll and awarded retirement pay of $150 per month, which was on June 30, 1933, on which date under the provisions of the Economy Act, I was dropped from the Emergency Officers' Retirement roll, as were all other veterans coming under the "Presumptive Service Connected" classification. I then reverted under the law to my former status of 40 per cent total, permanent disabled, and was temporarily awarded compensation from July 1, 1933 to Nov. 30, 1933 of $30 per month. Since Nov. 30, 1933

I have not drawn one penny of compensation in any shape or form.

The compensation above shown was awarded me solely upon my entitlement thereto under the law, based exclusively upon the facts contained in my military and medical records. Trusting that this gives you the information you desire, I beg to remain.

Respectfully yours,

CARL HAMLIN.

P. S. You have my permission to make such public use of this letter as you may see fit.

SEED LOANS CAN BE MADE HERE AT THE BOND BROS. OFFICES

The Review has received word that an emergency crop loan office has been opened at office of Bond Bros, in Cross Plains, and farmers desiring loans should apply between the hours of 8 A. M. and 5 P. M.

According to the regulations under which the crop loans are to be made this year, any farmer who secures a loan must obtain a statement from the county production council, where one exists, that he does not intend to increase his acreage or production in violation of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration program.

In counties where a county production council has not been set up, before any application for a loan will be considered the farmer who is applying will have to give satisfactory evidence that he is co-operating with the production control program of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The maximum amount of an emergency crop loan that may be obtained by any one individual is $250, the minimum is $25.

Applications for loans in any amount from $25 to $150 may be accepted by the emergency crop loan office provided the farmer does not have sufficient security to obtain a loan elsewhere.

A farmer applying for $150 or more must first make application to Production Credit Association for loan from it. Rejection of this application by the Production Credit Association will be considered sufficient evidence that other credit is available and the applicant may then make application to the emergency crop loan office.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat McNeel and their visited friends in San Angelo last week.

Mrs. Sidney Ratcliffe returned Saturday from Arp where she visited her sister last week.

James Collins of Brownwood visited his father, Rev. S. P. Collins last week end.

TO LOSE FAT

Miss M. Kainer of Brooklyn, N. Y. writes: "Have used Kruschen for the past 4 months and have not only lost 25 pounds but feel so much better in every way. Even for people who don't care to reduce, Kruschen is wonderful to keep the system healthy. I being a nurse should know for I've tried so many things but only Kruschen answered all purposes." (May 13, 1932).

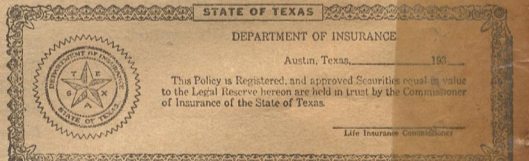

TO LOSE FAT SAFELY AND HARMLESSLY, take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—don't miss a morning—a bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle—get Kruschen Salts at any drugstore in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

Card of Thanks

I have lived in Cross Plains a number of years and always believed our little city to be inhabited by as fine a people as are to be found anywhere.

Words fail utterly to express the appreciation that is on my heart for the assistance that the people of this place lent me in replacing a horse that I lost recently.

Students Enter League Track Meet

Cross Cut school students entered in the competition at Brownwood Friday and Saturday in spelling and declamation. The league meet was in progress.

Katherine Brum was the candidate in declamation. She was awarded third place. In chapel Monday morning she gave the reading just as she said it at Brownwood.

Carl Chambers, Dorothy Jean Gaines, Billie Frances Melton, and Charlene Bailey entered the spelling and plain-writing contest Friday.

Cross Cut did not send any entrants in track and field events.

eyes of the cruel, un-just politicians of the Indian Bureau, And what are the Indians when they are turned out of the school? The white-man thinks he is makin ga civilized human being out of the Indian, but he is literally spoiling the native.

The Indian is rendered unfit to reside in the simple teepees of his parents—after going to the school he is given just enough civilization to make him complain continually to his honest parents about the hard conditions which surround him.

There is an insane asylum for Indians in Canton, South Dakota, and it has always been a disgrace to the Indian Service. Here the Indians are abjectly chained to water pipes, fed hardly enough to keep them alive, and given the crudest forms of hard spots to use as sleeping equipment.

Thousands of dollars are used to run this asylum, and where does it go? It certainly is not used for the improvement of the institution. It goes to the deck hands on the golden gravy boat, beyond a doubt.

Is there any way to treat our American Indians? Is this giving a fighting man his due respect? Did the Indians not fight fairly at first—did they not make peace and try to eliminate war?

Is it needless to say that practically every Indian was announced unfit to tend to his own business, and some crooked politician was appointed to look after his affairs.

Next, we must mention the harshness with which Indian lads are taken unmercifully from their parents and sent to high class—or rather low class—boarding universities.

Such Is Fate
By Norris Chambers
The sun rose slowly in the East And shed its lightning ray Over the crest of a rocky canyon Where a wounded coyote lay.

He was wounded out in the wasteland Shot down by the Ranger's gun, And now he was lying in the canyon To die in the rising sun.

His eyes were clouded and weary, They long had beamed at the moon, Were dark and piteous now As they read the impending doom.

His memory was dull and listless, It fled from his worn-out frame, Flew slowly back to his old pack And likewise the days of his fame—

Fled back through the ages of yore, Flew back to the pack days of old, When he was a ruler and monarch Of a band that was savage and bold.

And thus die the hopes of us mortals In some rocky canyon at dawn, In some rocky canyon of fate On some faithless pinnacle alone.

Gossiper's Oracle

Where is the familiar string of personals? Are some of the reporters lying down on the job?

All we hear these days is "Have you had the German measles?"

All we wonder these days is "Has the one across the isle got the itch?"

Is this affair between Clifton and a certain freshman, or should we say freshlady, getting to be serious? A certain sophomore boy is not in the receptive mood over the affair.

We might add that we have two new female students, which should interest Foister Pittman. Their names are Lois and Marjorie Stranberry, (Or is it Cranberry?)

It what manner did the bashful Estelle Looney refer to the CWA project on the school ground?

Thoughts while strolling: People who treasure the Bible have one advantage. They know where to find a treasured recipe or pattern. Hall, W. N. Disappointments, when I am old enough to lick the teacher I realize that he was right.

Is it true that Lavonia Clark intends to get married as soon as school is out? Can it be possible that we are to have a nine month school—it's the gossip? Wonder how the factional and verbal battle of gossip in this community will terminate? It's funny how all those boys are going cuckoo, or is it cuckoo, over those new peaches?—Seems like Foister got results, though: it is told that he received a billet deaux the first day of Marjorie's arrival. Seah! Is this bad weather ever going to cease.

Dressed as Indians, members of the fourth and fifth grades put on a stirring program Monday morning. Mrs. Hughes has been drilling them in the ways of Indians for sometime, having them to make tom-toms, bows and arrows, Indian clothes, tomahawks, skinning knives, etc.

Due to the inclement weather some of the students were absent, and it was not possible to carry out the Indian war dance. But we can bet that it would have been good—we have heard them rehearsing before.

To An Anti-Pro

By W. N. Long

I heard what the natural human said
And wondered if he thought of the dead

Yes, those who died in that moral.
They were not praised by an anti-Pro royal.

They didn't want a land of drinks and grief

But a land of hope and glorious peace.
He vouched that he would be

In favor of the repealist whiskey.
He said that revenue had been lost

And pronounced it impossible to figure the cost.

I heard him boast that it was so
And shout with pride—"I'm an Anti-Pro."

He told how sorry the bootlegger is and how many died from a bootley whiz.

On November 7th, we all know
That the votes went to the anti-pro.

How this all did come to pass,
We will discover at last.

Money with its critical rule of power
Stocked for the pro, votes like a tower

To you, voter friend, who thought to vote repeal

Would settle for all times the liquor seal.

You must remember that in the fight
God is always with the right.

Just capture and line all the crooks
in a row

They'll each shout—"I'm an anti-pro."
Go get the drunkards, the gamblers, and sneaks

Those who at night pace the street;
When the gatherings there—call the roll.

They'll answer by—"I'm an anti-pro."
Now, fellow wets, go yonder to that liveoak grove,

The bootlegger, your friend—he's an anti-pro.

It will not be until the celestial call shall come,

And our work on earth is done.
When the fires of hell begin to glow,
We'll hear the confession of the anti-pro.
Then my good friend shall see.
The figure on yonder's tree.
For a fact, he will find it so.
And in agony shall ask—"Lord, why was I an anti pro?"

Beautifying The Public School Grounds

By Martha Scoggins

The curb that has recently been constructed around the school ground has caused much talk of other beautification. If the school ground beautification could be carried farther, the school ground would be a place of pride for all of the citizens of the town. If trees and flowers were planted around the buildings and near the curb and the grounds sodded, we would have a spot of beauty and enjoyment for all of the people of the town. The tourists who come through the town would consider a beautiful school ground a sign of civic interest, and anyone likes to live in a town that has good civic interest.

If the children of the town had a pretty place to play, they would not play in the streets. They would like to play together in a pretty place. Other students who live in the surrounding country would like to come to a pretty school. This would help to obtain more students for our school, or even a consolidation of near-by schools. I think that the students, as well as the teachers could do better work if they had a pretty place to play after their work was done.

The Lions Club and the Wednesday Study Club could cooperate with the trustees of the school and other organizations of the town to sponsor the sodding in the beautification plan.

The classes could have one plot each for flowers and buy two or three trees, and plant them with a ceremony to create interest. Each class could be responsible for its plot of flowers and keep them watered and weeded. The high school agriculture students could be responsible for the pruning and watering of the trees. The football boys would appreciate a sodded field on which to work-out. If the school ground were sodded, the dirt would not wash away. This would help to hold the dirt and keep the grounds level. This beautification is a much needed improvement and could be had at a very small cost.

An Appreciation (Of 1933 '34 Literary Club)

By Fanora Neeb

The 1933 '34 Literary club was organized at the beginning of the 1933 school term. Officers were elected and they started at once to make the club a success. Each member of the club cooperated with their enthusiasm and support our club has gained much promise.

The club has been of much value to me, and I shall never forget the training I have received from it. It has taught me how to carry on a business meeting and also how to carry on the activities of a club. It has taught me the value of good English, and through its organization I have been able to deliver oral talks to the best of my knowledge. It has given me training that I would not have received otherwise. I can truthfully say that my high school career would not have been complete had it lacked the culture and training I have received from this club. I hope that the club may continue to develop and that other students may derive the benefits from it that I have.

Give Us A Chance

Ever since the beginning of man, we have had the undesirable so-called culling of human beings. We have in haste for wealth undertrowed some unfortunate being. We are big babies that are suckering from the very foundation of our nation. It is preached and drilled everyday that it is a major mistake to look back, but we still continue our history in school (which we should); yet, we are not wise enough to practice what we preach.

The first item of dominating importance is that our forefathers laid down the famous theory that we must work or not eat; yet, our fine conceited gentlemen of today are sucking, only to satisfy their filled necessities, upon the very substantial human being of today, the farmer.

Second, our industrial projects are continually telling us how dependent the farmer is upon them. I will give the industrial bosses one and only one question, not a dilemma but a sensible question. How did the primitive man do without modern inventions? Foolish, you may say, No, elaborate. The modern farm inventions of today is what has brought about the excessive acreage.

I could continue the major reasons and preach their predominance the rest of my beloved days; yet, the ruling minority would not heed. A democracy, you say. No, an aristocratic fooling democracy. I may be untrowed to the low depths of recognition, but, ladies and gentlemen, all that the farmer asks is—given us a chance. Yes, give us a chance to exist. We have been trampled, Help us, so that we may get to our feet. Just give us a chance. Do you deny?

STAMPEDE

Three cheers for CPHS. We literally walked off with the county meet. Cross Plains schools out of 30 events took 17 first places, 6 second places, and 1 third place. In class A high schools Cross Plains leads with 255 points, Baird is second with 169 points Putnam third with 140 points and Clyde fourth with 102 points. In ward school competition Cross Plains is first with 185 points, Baird third with 99½ points and Putnam is second with 120 points. So, again three cheers for Cross Plains High. May she hold the county championship for many years to come.

At a dinner held at the Clarkson home in Cisco our high school principal was enjoying himself tremendously. Until Mr. Williams asked him what he had in his coat pocket. We presume that he is in the act of venturing upon a new career—that of becoming head of a nursery for orphans because he produced a baby bottle equipped with every thing except the milk. Teh, Teh, Mr. Norman.

The state inspector of schools, Miss Mann, is expected here the latter part of the week.

A number of students have been absent the last two weeks due to an epidemic of german measles and scarlet fever.

PLATINUM BLONDE IDEA MORE THAN CENTURY OLD

Platinum blonds of the twentieth century are indebted for their silver tresses to a discovery made by a chemist more than a hundred years ago, according to a display of famous pharmaceutical discoveries arranged by the University of Texas College of Pharmacy, under the supervision of L. W. Schleuse, instructor in pharmacy. It was in 1818 that hydrogen peroxide was discovered by Thenard. Devotees of the coffee cup would be attracted by an exhibit on the process of percolation, introduced by Boullay. A sample of nicotine, discovered in tobacco by Vanqueline, and one of iodine, first found in seaweeds by Courtois, are among the other items in the display.

Miss Avie Harris of Gladewater is visiting her mother, Mrs. Brad Harris here this week.

Missionary Group Elects Officials

Members of the Womens Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church met Monday afternoon and elected officers for the ensuing year. Mrs. Don McCall was named president of the organization.

The list of officers are as follow: President, Mrs. Don McCall; Vice-President, Mrs. C. G. Morris; Secretary and Treasurer, Mrs. Joe Weller; Program Committee, Mrs. S. P. Collins, Mrs. C. G. Morris and Mrs. T. C. Kelly; Spiritual Leader, Mrs. John Booth; Menu Committee, Mrs. Joe Weller, Mrs. Don McCall and Mrs. C. G. Morris; Music, Mrs. J. L. Settle.

"We are desirous of having every lady of the church affiliate with us for the coming year and make it the most successful in the history of the church", a member of the Missionary Society said to the Review.

Mrs. Fred Cutbirth
Ace Clubs Hostess

Mrs. Fred Cutbirth entertained members of the Ace of Clubs bridge group last Thursday night. An Easter theme was carried out in decorations and bridge accessories. To emphasize the Easter spirit tables were arranged in the manner of a flower garden with each member representing a different kind of flower. Peach and pear blossoms were used to decorate the rooms. Plate favors were tiny yellow chicks. Miss Lucille Burkett won high score. Refreshments consisting of cake squares, apricot mousse, and lemonade were served to club members.

Margaret Wagner Is Study Club Hostess

Members of the Junior Study Club met with Miss Margaret Wagner last Friday afternoon. Mrs. Stanley Clark acted as leader during the afternoon. Roll call was answered with a favorite modern composer. The following program was given: "Life of George Gershwin"—Miss Margaret Wagner. "The Works of George Gershwin"—Miss Sara Chapman. "Rhapsody in Blue", a famous composition by Gershwin, was played by Miss Wagner. "Life of Victor Herbert"—Miss Edwina Anderson. "The Works of Herbert"—Mrs. Stanley Clark. "Kiss Me Again", a composition by Herbert, was played by Miss Chapman. The next meeting of the club will be held with Mrs. Fred Burgin.

Sunday School Class Entertained At Party

Members of the Alatheans Sunday School class of the Baptist church were entertained at the home of Mrs. C. R. Cook recently. A business meeting was held after which a social hour was spent in playing games. Green candied rabbits were used as plate favors. Refreshments were served to members and the following guests: Mesdames Bill Davidson, Lee Robinson, and Luke Westerman.

Party Tribute To 2
On Their Birthdays

Miss Marjorie Louise Helms and Charles Juergensen were honorees at a joint birthday party Monday afternoon when their mothers entertained on the occasion of their seventh and eighth birthday anniversaries. Contests and games were the main features of entertainment. Marjorie Helms and W. A. Beavers won prizes in contests. Easter eggs were used as plate favors. Refreshments consisting of cake and hot chocolate were served to the honorees and the following guests: Estelle Lotief, Patsy Ruth Mitchell, Gracie Lou Helms, Natlynn Williams, Dortha Beavers, Lina Lee Smith, Betty Jane Smith, Billie Ruth Bryant, Frances Westerman, Nyla Perry Margaret Ann Clark, Shirley Ann Juergensen, and Evon John of Abilene; Billie Hoyt, Donald Williams, Donald Clark, W. A. Beavers, and Clyde Perry.

Mrs. T. S. Holden Is Tuesday Club Hostess

Mrs. Tommie Holden was hostess to members of the Tuesday Bridge club when she entertained at her home in the northeast part of town Tuesday afternoon. A yellow and white color scheme was used to carry out the Easter motif. Yellow flowers were used about the rooms to emphasize the Easter spirit. Mrs. Wilbur Wright won high score. A refreshment plate consisting of chicken salad, cheese straws, angel food cake topped with whipped cream, and coffee was passed to club members and Mesdames Jim Settle and Arthur Mitchell.

Mrs. V. A. Underwood Bridge Club Hostess

Members of the Thursday Bridge Club met with Mrs. V. A. Underwood last Thursday afternoon when she entertained with a party. A green and white color scheme was carried out in attractive decorations to stress the Easter theme. High score went to Mrs. Bill Lowe. A delightful refreshment course consisting of pineapple salad, pecan pies topped with whipped cream and green cherries, and lemonade was served to members and the following guests; Mesdames Bill Lowe, J. H. McGowan, S. R. Jackson, Fred Burgin, and H. T. Schooley.

Glenn Levisays Are Party Hosts Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Levisay entertained friends with a bridge party Saturday night. A Spring motif was carried out in bridge accessories. Mrs. Mrs. Fred Burgin won high score. Refreshments consisting of cream pinento cheese sandwiches, potato chips, olives, cookies, and coffee were served buffet style to the following guests: Messers and Mesdames Fred Burgin, Edward Schaffner, Edwin Baum Jr., Jack Scott, Miss Lucille Burkett and Arthur Carmichael.

High School Seniors Honored With Party

Mrs. W. B. Baldwin entertained members of the Senior class of the Cross Plains high school with a party in the gymnasium Wednesday afternoon. Green, the class color, was the predominating note in decorations with other pastel shades to make an attractive setting for the occasion. Yellow bunnies, symbolic of the Easter season, adorned the walls. Table games were the main features of entertainment during the evening. Refreshments consisting of sandwiches, salad, and hot chocolate were served to class members, Miss Elma Clarkson Lewis Norman, and William Wheeler, class sponsor.

Miss Mary Massa is expected to arrive Saturday from San Antonio to visit friends over the week end.

The Dollar Bride

ELEVENTH INSTALLMENT

THE STORY SO FAR

Nancy Gordon trades herself in marriage for fifteen thousand dollars—the price of her family honor—and the freedom of her brother, Roddy who stole, for a woman, that amount from the bank in which he works. Desperately in love with young Page Roemer, nevertheless agrees to a secret elopement with Dr. Richard Morgan, and with the money he loans her prevents Roddy's arrest. Dr. Morgan is loved by Helena Haddon, a sophisticated young married woman, but he adores Nancy and hopes to win her after marriage. In Washington they are married. Nancy is Richard's bride—and afraid of him.

Haddon nodded grimly, considering her pretty flush and her round, soft eyes critically.

"She was there all right. A decided beauty, too. I hadn't noticed it so much before. How's the boy turning out, Lomax?"

"Roddy?" The major twisted his old mouth into a queer expression.

"There's some trouble. I'm sorry for Will Gordon. He's a good man, and she's a good woman."

"Sowing wild oats, Haddon, I reckon. He's in New York, Greenough Trust Company, gets twenty-five dollars a week—or did six months ago, I haven't heard that he's increased in value," he added sarcastically.

Haddon, who was observing Angie saw the girl's wince of pain and the red going up to her forehead. "In love with the boy—too bad!" he thought.

"Family troubles drain a man's pocket sometimes," he remarked sentimentally.

Angie fired up, her brown eyes glowing with almost the wine tint of Roddy's. She was one of those gentle obstinate creatures who fight to the last ditch for love.

"They haven't got any family troubles, Mr. Haddon," she said hotly. "They're very fond of Nancy and very proud of her; she's lovely, I've known her all my life—and Roddy is doing well. Mrs. Gordon told me so herself."

Haddon listened with his lazy, good-humored smile. "I wish I had a friend like you," he said.

Angie blushed crimson. "I'd feel very mean not to stand up for my friends. Anyone would—I should think!"

Major Lomax looked around at her with a grim smile. "My dear, there are a mighty lot of Judases in the world," he remarked dryly.

Haddon assented, buttoning up his loose spring overcoat, coughing a little as he did it.

Major Lomax glanced up at Haddon without rising. "Going right over to see Gordon?" he asked shortly.

Haddon, half way to the door, turned. "Oh, I shall send for him to come to my office—when he gets to the bank today."

"You needn't—I've bought it myself."

"By Jove! You're quick at a bargain," Haddon exclaimed after a moment. "It was only just put in the market."

Lomax nodded. "Took it over the telephone before you came in," he said grimly.

Haddon reddened and then laughed. "I concede the honors of war!" he said ironically, making for the door.

Mrs. Gordon opened the old worn gate timidly and approached the house with a hesitating reluctant step. She was trying to realize that the place, which she had called home ever since Roddy was a baby, was no longer hers.

She had just been down to the bank to sign the papers, making over the house to Major Lomax, and her hand had trembled so that she had to apologize for her signature. She went into the house, feeling a little faint and giddy.

She did not know there was anyone in the library; she went straight in and sank weakly into a chair, staring blankly at the sunshine in the old south window.

"In my Father's house are many mansions," she whispered tremulously, unaware that she spoke aloud.

Nancy rose suddenly from the corner opposite. Her mother had not even seen her and the girl had been silenced by her first glimpse of Mrs. Gordon's face.

"Mama, what is it?" she cried, "tell me—even if I have done something—something dreadful, I'm not an outsider. I—you and papa don't tell me anything! What is it? Mama, you're wretched! Is it about Roddy?"

Mrs. Gordon looked at her blankly, absorbed in her own troubles. "Your father's just sold the house," she said weakly.

"Oh!" Nancy gave a sharp little cry of pain, rising to her feet, "I tried so hard to save you both from this, Mama. I did it all to prevent this,—and it's been useless—useless!" she groaned.

Mrs. Gordon nodded her head sadly. "It wasn't any use, Nancy. You know how your father feels. He's paid back seven thousand already?"

"To Richard?"

Mrs. Gordon raised her eyes reluctantly to her daughter's haggard face. "Yes, dear. He—your father would have it so. That leaves eight more to pay, and he—"

Nancy rose and stood quite still and straight, her white face set.

"Who bought the house?"

"Major Lomax."

Nancy's blue eyes widened. "He gave four thousand cash," her mother went on mechanically, "and there's three still on the mortgage. He—"

she hesitated and then added more cheerfully: "He's been kind, dear, he urged Papa not to sell the furniture. He said it wouldn't bring enough to make it worth while, and—he wants us to keep the house—to rent it from him."

"On father's salary? Why Mama, there'll be one pinch after another! He—he hasn't sold anything else, has he?" she added fearfully.

Her mother sighed. "He's selling all his securities except his life insurance. He hopes to net about two thousand more. That will be nine paid. But, oh, Nancy, I don't know where in the world he's going to get the other six thousand from!"

Nancy sank down on the lounge. "Mama, I never thought of it in that way," she faltered, "I had only the one thought to save Roddy from prison."

"Oh, Nancy, I don't see how you could do it! When I was your age—"

Mrs. Gordon stopped with her mouth open, for they both heard Amanda admitting a visitor.

Nancy listened, straining her ears.

"It's Mrs. Haddon!" Nancy cried, springing up. "You see her Mother, I—I will not!"

Mrs. Gordon looked aghast. She had never known Mrs. Kingdon Haddon well and she did not like her.

"She's come to see you, Nancy. I—"

Nancy pushed her shaking hands. "Go out there and talk to her—in the

"I tried so hard to save you both from this—I did it all to prevent this."

other room. Don't let her come in here!"

Mrs. Gordon, reluctant and embarrassed, allowed herself to be pushed. Nancy thrust her through the portieres, drew them behind her, and went back to her lounge. She meant to go upstairs but she actually felt faint and ill.

Bit by bit she became aware of voices. Now the words took shape and became sentences. It was Helena's voice, her full, soft, drawing voice.

"He's taking care of King; you know my husband clings to a doctor!" she laughed softly. "He and Richard Morgan are great friends now; I'm glad of it for I was afraid he wouldn't like Richard. Men are such queer creatures. As a boy, Richard was so much in love with me he offered to fight King for trying to marry me!"

She paused and Mrs. Gordon mumbled something, and instinct sentence or two, evidently bewildered. Nancy sat up straight now and listened, although she knew that Helena wanted her to listen.

"I cared for him, too, of course—who wouldn't? But my father—you remember him, Mrs. Gordon?"

"I—I think so, yes, I do." Mrs. Gordon's tone showed confusion.

"He really insisted that I should marry Kingdon. I—well, I broke my engagement and—" she laughed softly again, regretfully, "dear Mrs. Gordon, Richard felt it so much that I'm afraid sometimes—he'll never marry now. I really wish he would, it's so lonely over there for him since his mother's death!"

Mrs. Gordon evidently did not rise to the occasion for Nancy only heard a murmur. There were a few words more and then Helena's voice rose again, keyed to carry far, as her listener knew.

"I was so sorry that Kingdon didn't buy your house when Mr. Gordon offered it. It's quite a lovely old place. You must hate to give it up so suddenly, Mrs. Gordon?"

"Major Lomax wants us to stay on—to rent it from him," explained Mrs. Gordon, her voice breaking. "I do hate to leave it!"

"I should think you would! And your son, Mrs. Gordon. What do you hear from him?" she let her voice rest a moment and then, slowly drawing, "is he doing well?"

Nancy knew, without seeing it, the crimson flush that went up over her mother's face.

"Roddy's always done well. He's doing splendidly now."

"I'm so glad to hear it! Kingdon was asking about him yesterday. He knows someone in the trust company I think, a Mr. Beaver, a cousin of Major Lomax."

Nancy started, trembling with apprehension. She remembered Roddy's description of old Beaver with his nose to the ground. Did this woman know?

To The People OF Callahan County

In making my announcement for the office of Tax Assessor and Collector, I wish to express my thanks to you for the many favors and the cooperation you have given me in the past. It has been my desire to serve you in a courteous and efficient way and look after your tax matters in the best way possible.

The forty third legislature at the regular session, under House Bill Number 867, enacted a law consolidating the Tax Assessors and Tax Collectors office into one office, increasing the responsibilities and making the duties more complicated.

You have honored me with both offices before they were consolidated, and I trust that I have rendered the service you expected of me, and have no reason to regret electing me to these responsible places. I have made a close study of the work and duties of the Tax Assessor and Tax Collector's office and with the experience I have had in this line of work, I feel that I can handle the office in a manner that will be satisfactory to the people of our county.

Assuring you that I will appreciate your vote and influence and if elected I will look after the office to the best of my ability.

Yours very respectfully,
W. J. EVANS

COLD WEATHER NOTES

Look out for frozen drinking water. About two-thirds of every egg consists of water, so hens must drink relatively large amounts in order to keep up egg production.

It is especially desirable to have water with the chill removed available first thing in the morning, as most hens like to drink as soon as they are aroused.

Green foods, such as lettuce, kale onions, and spinach, should be fed all winter long, if possible.

Provide sufficient ventilation at all times to prevent moisture from gathering on the litter and walls, but avoid drafts in cold weather.

In cold climates, the back and side walls of the poultry house should be covered on the outside with two-ply roofing paper.

It has been shown that increased egg production can be secured by keeping the temperature inside the laying house above freezing at all times by artificial heating systems.

Do not allow eggs to freeze. A frozen egg is a low quality egg because its white breaks down and the shell may be cracked.

To The Voters Of Cross Plains

When you go to the polls next Tuesday to select your city officers you will find my name on the ballot as a candidate for re-election as mayor of your city. Most of you know why I am in the race for this second term. I wish to thank you for the confidence you placed in me by placing me in this important office two years ago. Throughout these two years I have endeavored to look after the interests of our city with the same vigilance that I will have my own business.

At the beginning of the work two years ago, there was an indebtedness against the city about four times as large as the resources were able to take care of. In addition to this, the city had voted bonds to install a municipal gas system. These bonds had never been issued, no steps taken to carry out the wishes of the people. Another aggravating problem was the fact that the city water system was mortgaged and in addition to this, the shop at the seeling basin was filled up with motors that had been burned out and a pile of junk water meters that very few citizens knew anything about. When your council began to solve these problems and carry out the wishes of the people, the city was thrown into court by some of the people of the city at a tremendous cost. In spite of all these problems your council practically won for the city the elimination of a $107,000 debt, has arranged to refinance the remaining debts, has almost completed municipal gas system (It would have been completed had it not been for the opposition of some of the people themselves) and we feel that if given an opportunity, the city will be on a cash basis in the near future. From these brief statements, you as citizens, can see clearly that as you cast your vote next Tuesday, that large and vital interests of the city are at stake.

If you feel that I am capable of helping your Aldermen to deal with these vital issues, I promise you the best I have to give, as a servant to conserve the interests of our little city.

To The Voters Of Cross Plains

Rumors have reached my attention that it is being told that I am opposed to certain improvements that are now being made in Cross Plains by our present city administration. I wish to state that I am in favor of any improvement of any nature, that is for the good of Cross Plains citizens and tax payers. The present administration has instituted no project that did not meet with my complete approval. In many of their undertakings, I have the satisfaction of knowing that it was I, who first recommended and suggested such improvement.

If anyone cares to know how I stand on any question pertaining to the interests of our city I shall be glad to state my views to anyone in person, who may call desiring such information. I will state further that I have supported every move that has been for the betterment and upbuilding of our city, schools and institutions, since I have resided here.

I patronize the merchants of this city as well as our school, lodges and churches, and believe them all to be among the finest in the land.

Regardless of whether you elect me Mayor of our city I shall continue to support these local institutions in the future as I have in the past.

I feel that I have made myself completely clear regarding all of the above matters, and realizing your interests and mine are exactly the same I shall appreciate your vote Tuesday for the place of Mayor.

Anything that is better for Cross Plains, I am for it.

Sincerely yours,

The temporary relief children get from unwise dosing with harsh cathartics may cause bowel strain, and even set up irritation in the kidneys. A properly prepared liquid laxative brings a perfect movement. There is no discomfort at the time and no weakness after. You don't have to give the child "a double dose" a day or two later.

Can constipation be safely relieved in children? "Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" say many mothers who have followed this sensible medical advice: 1. Select a good liquid laxative. 2. Give the dose you find suited to the system. 3. Gradually reduce the dose until the bowels are moving regularly without aid.

An approved liquid laxative (one that is widely used for children) is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. The mild laxative action of this excellent preparation is the best form of help for children—and grown-ups, too. The dose can be regulated for any age or need.
