Cottonwood Agricultural Association Discusses Milk Route

At a third meeting of the Cottonwood Agricultural Association held Friday night, January 14th, more than 50 farmers discussed a proposed milk route that would take advantage of the surplus dairy products of that section. The Western Milk Company is anxious to establish a line in Cottonwood and the farmers produce a new source of income.

President H. S. Barner led round a discussion on the advisability of buying a carload or more of potatoes.

L. Cook and Miss Vida Moore discussed the value of record keeping in relation to agriculture and about 30 record books to producers. They stressed the importance of knowing what you are doing before any real conclusions can be drawn.

Anton Agr'l Ass'n. Announces Committees

President Roy Kendrick of the Anton Agricultural Association announced the following committees: Their association and also that meetings will be held each second Friday night of the month. The program committee is composed of Bo Baum, Bertha Barton, Sikes. The entertainment committee is composed of Alice Smith, J. E. Ogle, and Mrs. P. Ford. #### Beef Kept Soft and Without Rust

M. George of the Jackson county, near Baird, reports that a new method for keeping cured beef soft and without rust is explained to him by the county agent last year proved to be highly successful. He said his beef and ham stayed soft and that rust or any foreign matter could not get it because he sliced his meat, cut it securely in an earthen dish and fruit jars and then covered with refined oil. This oil is and can be used year after year.

It retards mold growth 100 percent. It reduces shrinkage, prevents unpalatable hard pieces, prevents contamination by insects, makes slicing a very easy job and the meat is kept soft at all times.

Best kind of oil to use is re-cottonseed oil. If refined oil is to be bought it can easily be had.

George says that one may get a piece of ham, put it back in the oil and wait any length of time afterward and when the first slice is again taken it will be just as soft as the next, in fact it is better. In words, the oil prevents any rancid whatsoever. He further stated that he had tried peanut oil believing cottonseed oil would leave a rancid taste in the meat. It was said, however, that neither oils grow rancid and do not leave a rancid taste in the meat.

It may be refined by dissolving in benzine by weight of common lye (soda) in eight ounces of oil and allowing to cool. Into a gallon of crude cottonseed oil slowly these eight ounces of lye concentrate which should be brought to 80 to 90 degrees F. and stirred constantly all the time. Continue stirring 5 to 10 minutes until it looks like a dark thin cream. Then add the mixture to 125 to 130 degrees F., continuing stirring. Stir the impurities begin to settle in large masses. Allow to settle 24 hours and until cool. The operation may be repeated the next year using the same oil, etc. Refined oil may be used for frying or for any purpose that refined oil is used.

"The Missing Witness" is as vivid and striking as a headline from tomorrow's newspaper; it will appeal to any audience that likes to be excited, amused and entertained. It contains all the elements of a sparkling melodrama. It has mystery, suspense, love, and hatred. Before the eyes of the audience a drama of human life in the courtroom will be portrayed.

The nation's biggest social event, the celebration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's fifty-fifth birthday anniversary, is set for January 30, with more than 5,000 communities throughout the country planning parties to raise funds for the philanthropy closest to the Chief Executive's heart, and for infantile paralysis sufferers. Colonel Henry L. Doherty, for the fourth year chairman of the national celebration, is being assisted by many of the country's foremost leaders in plans for the events. Among those on his committee are: Vincent Astor, Postmaster General James A. Farley, Ambassador Joseph E. Davies, Will H. Hays, Carl Byoir, general director, Colonel Edward M. House, Edsel B. Ford, Walter P. Chrysler, Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, Patrick Cardinal Hayes, Bishop

Q. What troops constituted Fannin's forces at La Bahia? T.R.E.
A. The New Orleans Gray's, the Tennesseans, Capt. Shackelford's Alabamians (Red Rovers), Major Mitchell's Georgians, Major Wallace's LaFayette Battalion and the Kentucky Mustangs.
Q. Why were the Kentuckians, who had just reached Texas, called the "Mustangs"? T. K.E.
A. They were so named by Mexicans at La Bahia because they were hard to restrain and to become submissive to drill tactics, reminding the natives of the wild horses of Texas.

Q. What induced Lamothe Cadillac, French governor of Louisiana, to send St. Denis to the Nuevas Filipinas (Texas) country? Y. K.
A. Father Hidalgo, disappointed at Spanish procrastination in establishing missions and reoccupying Texas, wrote letters in 1711 to the French governor calling attention to the opportunities for profitable trading in that country. In 1714, Crozat, the Mobile merchant who held the Louisiana trading privileges, sent St. Denis with five boat loads of goods to the head of navigation on Red River to establish a trading point and to find Father Hidalgo.

Q. How many Texans were killed and wounded before the surrender at Coleto, and why did the Texans surrender? S. F. C.

A. Reports vary, but approximately 10 were killed and 60 wounded. At the close of the first day's fight, the Mexicans had sustained heavy losses, but the Texans were without water even for the wounded, food supplies were short, ammunition was running low, and Urrea received reinforcements during the night, and it was thought best to surrender to avoid further losses.

Q. By what name was La Bahia known to Fannin's men? T.R.E.

A. They called it "Fort Defiance."

Q. Why did the St. Denis expedition stop at the Natchitoches site and why did he go to Bautista? Y.

E. A. The Crozat Boats could proceed no farther up river. St. Denis located the town of Natchitoches, made an excursion toward the present site of Texarkana to get a better understanding of the trade possibilities and then proceeded, under guidance of friendly Indians, to San Juan Bautista on the Rio Grande to find Father Hidalgo and induce him to return with them and reestablish the Tejas missions and garrison the Spanish frontier.

Q. Where did J. R. Alexander live following his return to Texas from the Mier expedition? K. L.

A. Soon after his return he married and lived in Fayette county, serving for a time as sheriff after the Civil War. In 1878 he moved to Blanco county. He died May 29, 1908, having been totally blind for 27 years. After becoming blind he dictated an account of his experiences with the Mier expedition to his son, Rufus McCormick Alexander, an accepted eye-witness report of that tragic event up to the time of Alexander's escape at Salado.

Q. Will you give the names of those who drew the black beans at Salado? H. L.

A. John L. Cash, James D. Cooke, Robert H. Dunham, Capt. Wm. M. Eastland, Edward E. Este, Robert Harris, Thomas L. Jones, Patrick Mahan, James M. Ogden, Christopher Roberts, Williams H. Rowan, J. L. Shepherd, J. N. McD. Thompson, James N. Torrey, James Turnbull, Henry Whaling and Martin C. Wing.

Q. Why was Capt. Ewing Cameron, who drew a white bean at Salado, shot? H. L.

A. He antagonized Col. Canalls, during the campaign of the Republic of the Rio Grande, and led in the break at Hacienda Salado. A few days later, supposedly at the insistence of Canalls, an order was received to shoot him and the order was promptly executed. Cameron was a Scot and a British subject, who had come to Texas in early days of the Republic. Cameron county was named for him.

Q. What induced St. Denis to make the hazardous trip to San Juan Bautista in 1714-15? S. H.

A. Before leaving East Texas Father Hidalgo, wearied by Spanish indifference toward the East Texas missions, wrote to the French governor of Louisiana asking his co-operation. An expedition was fitted out at Mobile and placed in charge of St. Denis to go in search of Father Hidalgo with a view to establishing religious and trade relations. When the party reached East Texas, St. Denis learned that Father Hidalgo had gone to the Rio Grande, where he went in search of him, reaching Bautista early in 1715.

Q. How long has Texas had laws regulating fishing? B. J.

A. The first law was passed in 1874; the second law was enacted in 1879, at which time the first game commission was created, but it was abolished in 1886, to be reinstated in 1895.

Q. How many game preserves are now under supervision of the Game Fish and Oyster Commission? B. J.

A. Approximately 80, stocked with 13,000 deer, 14,000 turkeys, 400 Rocky Mountain sheep, and 4,000 antelope.

Q. What gave rise to the "Battle Creek" Indian fight? B.O.P.

A. What became known as the Battle Creek or Surveyors' Fight was near the present town of Dawson, in 1838, when a surveying party of about 25 went into the section to locate and survey lands for settlers. They were attacked by a band of 100 Kickapoo Indians. Seventeen of the surveyors were killed in one of the fiercest fights in Texas history. A small monument stands over the burying place of the Texans.

Q. Was Jean Lafitte the first pirate to use Galveston Island as a base of operations? G.N.C.

A. Luis de Antry, a Mexican revolutionist, led a bandit gang that occupied the island in 1816 to prey on Spanish vessels, but that soon extended operations to include any weaker force. The band was augmented by Capt. Henry Perry of the Magee expedition with about 100 men. About that time Javier Mina, a Spaniard, with some 200 men, proposed an alliance for a revolutionary expedition into Mexico, which Antry accepted. The revolution failed and Antry returned to find Galveston Island in possession of Lafitte with a stronger force.

Q. When were the last of the Mier expedition prisoners released at Perote? O.P.

A. Sept. 16, 1844, one year, 8 months and 21 days after the expedition crossed the Rio Grande into Mexico.

MONTGOMERY, EVANS, IN LIBERTY COMEDY

One of the most uproarious laugh riots of the year comes to the Liberty screen at the Sunday Matinee, Monday and Tuesday with the release of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, "Piccadilly Jim," starring Robert Montgomery.

Of all the hilarious comedies written by the brilliant British humorist, P. G. Wodehouse, "Piccadilly Jim" has been proclaimed his funniest.

The picture brings together for the first time in three years the romantic team of Montgomery and Madge Evans. They were last seen together in "Lovers Courageous."

Directed by Robert Z. Leonard who made "The Great Ziegfeld," the new picture gives Montgomery and Miss Evans a stellar supporting cast that includes a new comedy team, Frank Morgan and Billie Burke, in addition to Eric Blare, Robert Benchley, Ralph Forbes, Cora Witherspoon, Grant Mitchell, Aileen Pringle and Billy Bevan.

As Montgomery's step-mother, Billie Burke makes her first screen appearance under the terms of her new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer contract.

Too, the new picture brings Montgomery and Morgan together for the second time. Their last appearance together was in "Trouble for Two." In "Piccadilly Jim," Morgan plays Montgomery's father, a has-been Shakespearean actor.

"Piccadilly Jim" is the story of a young American caricaturist in London who plunges into romantic difficulties by unknowingly burlesquing in a comic strip the family of the girl with whom he is in love. The settings of London and New York and the transatlantic steamer backgrounds are described as among the most beautiful ever designed by Cedric Gibbons. Harry Rapf was the producer.

Representative Garrett Regretful Over Suit Recently Filed By Blanton

Congressman Clyde Garrett said recently he had not had time since coming to Washington to any more than read the 48-page petition in the $100,000 libel suit which has been filed against him by his predecessor from the 17th Texas district, Thomas L. Blanton, but that the casual reading he had given the long suit had left him confused as to the purpose as well as the damages charged.

"I can't tell whether it is a suit for alienation of affections or non-support," the new congressman said as he looked out across the Capitol grounds toward the inauguration stands through a slow drizzle which always makes a West Texan feel like things are going to be better. Garrett said:

"I am apparently charged with a conspiracy in depriving Judge Blanton of the affections of his former constituents and then I am alleged to have deprived the former congressman of the continued remuneration of the office. As near as I can make out that is alienation and non-support. I am being asked to pay $100,000 alimony.

"Of course the suit is unpleasant. Following the second primary, Judge Blanton announced that he expected to take it on the chin. I did not know just what taking it on the chin meant until I got to dodging deputy sheriffs the last few days I was in my district. Ordinarily, I can't see much to be gained in dodging service and certainly I would not consider such a practice, except that had I been served I would have been forced to appear in Abilene during the opening days of congress and would thereby deprive the people of the 17th district of representation at the beginning of this season. I cannot understand why Judge Blanton did not bring this suit in the District of Columbia. I understand he is to engage in the practice of law in the District. I believe I will be here for some time. Judge Blanton has always exercised great concern over what he considered the welfare of the people of the District and would have secured as impartial a hearing here as in Texas. Certainly it would have been more convenient for both of us.

"THEY MET IN A TAXI" WILL BE AT LIBERTY

"They Met In A Taxi," Columbia's comedy-drama of a pseudo-heiress who turns to a New York taxi driver for help when police accuse her of the theft of a pearl necklace is the attraction that will grace the screen of the Liberty Theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

Chester Morris and Fay Wray enact the featured roles in "They Met In A Taxi," with such outstanding players as Lionel Stander, Raymond Walburn, Henry Mollison and Ward Bond in support.

Based on a Saturday Evening Post story by Octavus Roy Cohen, "They Met In A Taxi" was directed by Alfred Green from the screen play by Howard J. Green.

The story revolves about the plight of charming Mary Trenton (Fay Wray), a dress model who is accused of stealing a pearl necklace from an heiress bride while modeling the wedding dress in the wealthy girl's apartment. Fearful of police, Fay escapes from the apartment and seeks refuge in a taxi driven by Jimmy Donlin, played by Chester Morris.

He believes her when she tells him she is an heiress seeking to escape marriage, and takes her to his apartment. When Morris discovers the hoax he wants to throw Miss Wray out of his apartment but he can't for two reasons. First, he's in love with the girl, and secondly, the stolen necklace is discovered hidden in the folds of the wedding gown.

Morris enlists the aid of his pals, Lionel Stander and Raymond Walburn. Stander appears as "Fingers," an exconvict going straight under Morris' direction, while Walburn is a stuffy old newspaper man who earns his living writing society news for a newspaper.

They plan to return the stolen jewels and protect Miss Wray but the appearance of Henry Mollison, a penniless member of society who really stole the necklace, complicates matters. Mollison knows that Fay has the gems and he informs her that she'll have to accept his advances or have the police arrest her.

Confronted with this situation, Morris moves swiftly and cleverly, bringing "They Met In A Taxi," to a thrill-packed, action-full climax that is both logical and highly amusing.

"BE IT RESOLVED: That I will make use of the Electric Servant in 1937."

One of the best New Year's Resolutions - a really MODERN Kitchen!

The West Texas Utilities Company long ago resolved that it would bring the West Texas housewife the maximum in service at a minimum cost. This vow has been kept to the letter. As proof, it reminds you that the average housewife today enjoys thrice the comforts of electric service known less than a score of years ago.

Yes, this policy of giving the housewife her money's worth, which has reduced the net average rate per kilowatt hour from as much as 20 cents to 5 cents, today makes electric service the cheapest commodity in the average home.

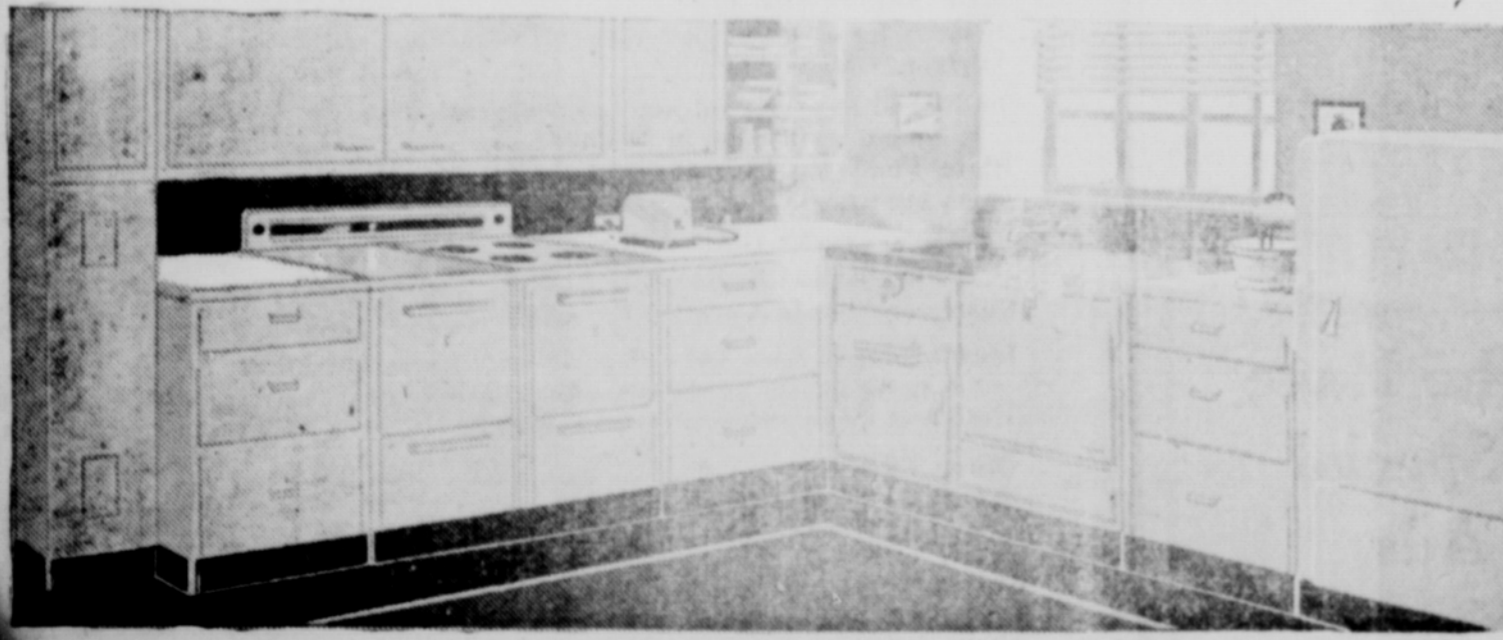

The modern home is equipped with many appliances that use but relatively few watts of electric energy per hour. Electric refrigerators, electric ranges and electric water heaters operate on an incentive rate (discount) schedule that amounts to much less than 5 cents a kilowatt hour. There are 1,000 watts in a kilowatt—1,000 watts of energy for one house for 5 cents.

The new electrified home should be the model West Texas American home under these conditions. There is nothing prohibitive about the cost of operating any electric appliance. They have become staple products, recognized as standard for comfortable, modern homes—as much a fixture as the rug on your floor.

Modern housewives will pass a resolution today to modernize their homes in 1937, using the Electric Servant to eliminate drudgery and to stimulate the happiness that electricity served up to you has made possible in this great area.

You can secure your modern Electric Kitchen step by step. As you add each major electric appliance—refrigerator, range and water heater—you automatically receive the benefits of low incentive (discount) rates.

FOR TEXAS HIGHWAYS?

Texas' highways, to date, have cost Texas taxpayers approximately seven hundred and fifty millions of dollars. License fees from motor vehicles have contributed $202,000,000. Gasoline taxes have accounted for $176,000,000. Federal aid has donated $91,000,000. YOUR PROPERTY TAXES HAVE CONTRIBUTED $281,000,000—MORE THAN ONE-THIRD OF THE TOTAL. Large trucks—those weighing more than 8000 pounds loaded—have paid a total of $27,000,000 in license fees and gasoline taxes, or 3 3/4 per cent of the total cost. Yet these trucks have been responsible for an additional cost of construction and maintenance amounting to approximately 50 per cent of the total—an amount far in excess of their contribution. These wider trucks result in 25 per cent increase in pavement costs.

Their bigger loads have required thicker pavements, costing from 35 to 60 per cent more; their size has made wider and heavier bridges necessary; maintenance costs have increased through their use and abuse of the highways. Such extra expenditures are almost solely for the benefit of the big trucks, and are not necessary for the small trucks and passenger cars. YET THEIR COST IS BORNE BY THE OWNERS OF PASSENGER CARS AND SMALL TRUCKS AND BY THE GENERAL TAXPAYER, WHO MAY NOT EVEN OWN A CAR, WHILE THE BIG TRUCKS THEMSELVES HAVE PAID ONLY 3 3/4 PER CENT. Any increase in present truck loads, size or speed limits will further increase the highway costs which all of us, the people of Texas, must pay.

Texas railroads provide and maintain their own rights-of-way; afford employment to 60,000 men and women (who are also taxpayers); pay large taxes in support of city, county, state and federal governments; and, in addition, pay annually more than $900,000 toward state highway costs. The cost of the railroads in highway regulation is precisely weighed to that of the public.

FARM LOAN MEETING HELD AT CLYDE

The annual meeting of the Citizens National Farm Loan Association, which was held at Clyde, Texas, Tuesday, January 12, was one of the best meetings in the history of the association, according to M. H. Perkins, who was re-elected Secretary-Treasurer of the association for 1937.

H. C. Cotton of Clyde; G. J. Fleming of Clyde; A. E. Bourland of Clyde; T. J. Hollingshead, Clyde; Joal Griffin, Baird, Rt. 1; were elected directors of the association for the ensuing year.

A feature of the meeting was a radio address by A. C. Williams, President of the Federal Land Bank of Houston, who spoke to the members of the 365 national farm loan associations in Texas who were attending similar meetings in cities and towns all over Texas at the same hour. This was made possible through the cooperation of the major radio broadcasting stations which make up the Texas Quality Network.

Mr. Williams discussed some of the factors that make up good and bad loans and urged that farmers take care of their property. He said that a well-kept farm whose soil is protected from erosion is seldom, if ever, foreclosed. He also commented upon the important part which the cooperative farmer-owned national farm loan associations play in the successful operation of the Federal Farm Loan System, and emphasized the fact that the Farm Credit Administration units offered the many types of credit needed by agriculture.

"Farmers generally should familiarize themselves with the types of loans available through these institutions, with the view of developing cooperative credit centers where deserving borrowers may secure both long and short term credit adjustment." Watch for date of missing witness.

CORDING TO THEIR NEEDS, SAID MR. WILLIAMS

The Citizens National Farm Loan Association has helped more than 400 farmers and stockmen of Calahan County, and counties surrounding their indebtedness on a sound basis. Since the creation of the Farm Credit Administration in May 1933, this association has made land bank and Commissioner loans in its territory amounting to more than a million dollars.

THE CAR THAT WILL BALANCE MANY A BUDGET IN 1937--

HERE'S something new—a car that is lavish with body room, luggage space, and style—yet is a MISER on gas and oil!

Its 60 h.p. V-8 engine has the same design, same quality of materials and precision manufacture which have made the 85 horsepower Ford V-8 engine famous the world around.

Furthermore, this "Thrifty 60" Ford V-8 has exactly the same roomy body as the more expensive Ford, on the same 112" chassis!

And when you drive it—notice how smoothly and quietly it accelerates! Not the equal of the brilliant "85" in performance and top speed, of course, but a real performer!

And when it comes to delivering more miles per gallon of gas and quart of oil, this "Thrifty 60" stands alone in Ford history.

See this car today. It sets an entirely new standard of economy in modern motor car operation.

age sale restrictions; repeal of the law permitting race track parimutuels; effective control of race "bookie shops"; return to state workers of a 25 per cent salary cut in depression days; creation of a state utility commission; taking on added federal security activities, and reenactment of expiring oil proration laws and the interstate oil compact.

How to do it all without again starting the state general fund on a deficit slide, only recently checked after totaling $16,000,000, was worrying the members.

Frank Rawlings, Fort Worth, proposes a new motor transport supervising board.

Missing Witness

cessive days in the trial of Helen Montgomery, a young musical comedy star, (played by Jane Rae Lowe) for the murder of Henry Kellog, late District Attorney of Hamilton County. Helen had been discovered beside Kellog's body in his office, unconscious and with a smoking revolver in her hand. Questioned by the police.

She had readily admitted her guilt and signed a confession to that effect. But her fiancé, Robert Crandall, a brilliant young lawyer, (played by Billy Welch) was convinced of her innocence and had prevailed upon her to plead not guilty of the charge. As the trial progresses, it becomes apparent that Helen is trying to shield a certain society girl whose mysterious connection with the case is as baffling to Crandall as it is to the audience.

Both the State and the Defense are frantically seeking this girl to clear up the case. Meanwhile, despite Crandall's persistent efforts to get her to tell the truth, Helen maintains on the witness stand that it was she who killed Kellog. The call for Alice Raymond is made, and the play speedily approaches one of the most sensational climaxes ever pictured on any stage.

The play, while gripping, tense, and replete with picturesque action, is entirely free from anything bordering on the morbid or suggestive. There is a generous vein of comedy running throughout the length of the play, and the duel between young Crandall and Barkley, the prosecuting attorney, (played by Eugene Cross) provides a brilliant counterpoint for the central theme. We feel confident in predicting that this play will take its place as a ranking favorite with the audience. Watch for the near future.

W. A. Bush and Howard Gary were in Fort Worth Wednesday.

Arthur Mitchell of this city made a business trip to Cisco Wednesday.

B. W. Webb was in Cross Plains

Agent Column

Some ten National Youth Administration boys who are working under the supervision of the county agent are busy during the cold or wet or dark days building garden tile rather than doing terracing.

These tile are being constructed and sold to the public at the most of materials. The Commissioners Court is furnishing the cement and sand for this work and anyone desiring to lay tile ay purchase them through the county agent. In this way the boys are taught a new farm engineering project and at the same time will be able to render to the farmers and gardeners of this section a valuable service. Since only the cost of the materials is being charged this will make the tile come even cheaper than the farmer can make it himself. Some 2500 feet have already been spoken for. The cost per foot is 2 cents and anyone desiring any number of feet should send their order to the office or hand it to any member of the Court.

Garden tile has been in this county for the past 3 years and has demonstrated its value. It will cut the cost of water into about half since all the moisture is placed under the ground where the roots need it. Successful irrigation demands that water come from below rather than be forced from the top because when water is poured on the soil the plants naturally send out shallow roots that will burn as soon as the moisture dries a half to an inch deep. Tile is laid about 30 inches below the surface and one string will sufficiently wet 3 feet on either side of the line. This places the water then below the surface thus forcing the roots of the plants to go down rather than to lateral out shallow.

Mr. Rider, bank examiner, was in town this week.
