Baptist Revival Is Approaching Close

CLARENDON PASTOR WINNING PLAUDITS ON PULPIT ABILITY

Large crowds are attending both services daily in the annual Baptist revival here, which closes Sunday night. A number of additions have been made to the church.

Preaching is being done by Rev. J. Perry King, Clarendon pastor, and music is under the direction of Rev. H. Virgil Reynolds, of Abilene Services, are being held at 10 each morning and eight each evening.

The Rev. Mr. King is receiving wide praise by members of not only the local Baptist church but other denominations as well, for his ability in the pulpit. "He's one of the most gifted gospel speakers ever to pass our way," said the pastor of a nearby rural church, a representative of the Review Thursday morning.

Topics for the closing services of the meeting Sunday were announced yesterday morning as follows: Sunday morning, "How We May Have All of the Things We Need"; Sunday night, "The One Sin That God Will Not and Can Not Pardon." An invitation is being extended to all church people throughout the Cross Plains territory to come and have part in the closing days of this revival.

A high spot of the musical part of each service to date has been merriment selections by the Rev. Mr. Reynolds, regarded as one of the denomination's most talented musicians in West Texas.

After 55 Years of Railroading Train Whistle Naught to Smokey Graham

After 55 years of listening to the thunder of locomotive wheels and heaving fuel into belching boilers to propel the iron monsters down the rails, J. C. "Smokey" Graham retired last week to the peaceful life of a rural squire.

When he climbed down from the cabin at DeLeon recently after finishing a run from Rotan, "Smokey" told the crew he was checking in, haid the boys a fond, fraternal adios and headed for Cross Plains to spend the remainder of his days doing the things he likes best—raising chickens, hunting, fishing and enjoying the quietude of home.

"Smokey's" career as a railroader began 55 years ago but he cares only to recall the past 43, all of which were spent in service of the Texas Central and its successor the M.K.&T. Looking back upon those 43 historic years which have brought vast changes in the railroad

LOCAL LADY DIES OF HEART ATTACK IN THEATRE HERE

Funeral service for Mrs. Roxie Samantha Williams, 70, who died in a local theatre during a matinee performance Saturday, were conducted from the Cross Cut Baptist church Sunday afternoon with Rev. V. W. Tatum, local pastor, officiating. Interment was made in the Cross Plains cemetery.

Apparently in the best of health Mrs. Williams came to town Saturday afternoon and attended the theatre as was her custom. Physicians attributed her death to heart failure.

Mrs. Williams was the widow of an early day Baptist minister who died August eighth, 1907. She had made her home at Cross Cut for the past 38 years. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. W. B. Bauson and Mrs. A. Bauson; one son, Otis Williams, all of Cross Cut; one sister, Mrs. Anne Wood, of San Antonio; two step-children, Mrs. Bettie Lewis, of Holtville, California, and Mrs. Annie Atwood, of Wilcox, Arizona; a step-son's wife, Cora Williams, of Wellington; and 21 grand-children and four great grand-children.

NEW W.T.U. MANAGER

H. H. MONK NAMED DISTRICT MANAGER OF W.T.U. IN AREA

H. H. Monk, formerly of Childress, has been appointed district manager of the West Texas Utilities Company properties in District "B" with headquarters at Cisco, it was announced this week by Price Campbell, president of the company.

Mr. Monk succeeds the late P. P. Shepard, whose death occurred in Cisco, June 22.

Other changes in personnel over the territory include transfer of Dick Giles, chief clerk at Cisco, under Mr. Shepard, to the Abilene general offices where he will serve the various districts and the auditing and treasury departments. The announcement of Mr. Giles' promotion refers to him as having performed "an able job" at Cisco in helping conduct company affairs during Mr. Shepard's lengthy illness.

The changes are effective by August 1.

Mr. Monk had been district manager by J. A. Brewer, formerly district manager at Stamford, K. K. Francis, assistant district manager at Abilene, goes to Stamford as district manager.

The duties of E. L. Jackson, district line foreman at Cisco, will be increased to include oil fields and other district power sales and service. He also will assist Mr. Monk on special assignments.

Mr. Campbell's announcement reads: "All of these assignments are in the interest of providing an opportunity for the increased productive activity of these various members of the organization."

Mr. Monk had been district manager at Childress since 1934. He is one of the company's youngest district officials, both in age and years of service. He began work for the West Texas Utilities company in 1926 as a clerk in the Abilene general offices. After service as travelling storekeeper, he was appointed chief clerk to the Childress district manager in 1929 and later was moved to Quanah as chief clerk before returning to Childress as district manager.

LOCAL DELEGATION TO FETE TODAY TO BE HEADED BY BAND

Burkett's annual picnic opened Thursday, in beautiful Canon Park, under the spacious shades of the Burkett bridge spanning Pecan bayou. Big crowds attended the celebration opening day, with representatives from Coleman, the day's honor city, swelling the large throng of merry-makers.

Cross Plains business men will visit the picnic today, officially designated as Cross Plains day. The municipal band, headed by Alton Barr, will accompany the delegation.

Rain earlier in the week failed to cause any change in plans for the celebration. Program including radio entertainers, old-time fiddlers, humorous contests, addresses and band music was going forward steadily.

The Valley Shows, headed by general Ed Stritch, is on hand and will remain during the three days of the picnic.

The celebration will last through Saturday, designated as Grand Jubilee Day.

Mrs. Jake Dupree emerged victorious this week in the annual ladies golf tournament at Philpoco country club, a victory of her defeat of Mrs. Don Johnson, to emerge to the finals Mrs. Dupree got a default from Mrs. R. E. Bryant and a decision over Mrs. Edwin Baum.

MRS. JAKE DUPREE LADY GOLF CHAMP

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon for H. A. Morris, 80, long time resident of Sabanno, Burial was made in the Rising Star cemetery.

Mr. Morris, a prominent citizen of the Sabanno area since 1913, expired at his home Tuesday afternoon shortly after five o'clock following an extended illness.

He is survived by seven children, all of whom were present for the funeral and interment services, they are: Bert Lowe Morris, of Crocker; Miss Emma Morris, of Crocker; John Morris, Kilmore; Wilson Morris, Longview; and Columbus Morris, Miss Josie Morris and Miss Alma Morris, all of whom lived at the family home in Sabanno.

H. A. Morris was born in Georgia, July fifth, 1857. He married and came to Texas early in life, however, it was not until 1913 that the family moved to Sabanno. Mrs. Morris died four years ago.

SCOTCH FORESOME TOURNEY FOR MEN AND WOMEN SLATED

Sides will be chosen at Philpoco country club Tuesday night of next week and pairings made for a Scotch foresome tournament, for both ladies and men golfers. One side is to be sponsored by the Rising Star Review and the other by the Cross Plains Review. An entrance fee of 50 cents is to be charged, the proceeds from which will go toward the staging of an ice cream supper for all participants, on the clubhouse lawn sometime in August.

Each team will prepare a ladder, pitting a man and lady golfer against a mixed duo of the opponents. Play will be in Scotch foresome—each side playing a single ball, with the players alternating strokes.

An effort is being made to get as many as 80 players, 40 women and 40 men. Only requirements to enter are payment of the 50 cent fee and registering at either of the newspapers or at the clubhouse.

A gala party is being planned at the culmination of the tournament for participants and their families. Losers in the event are to serve the ice cream and otherwise act as hosts at the function.

Deadline for registrations is Tuesday noon of next week. Players are reminded to put their names in the pot as soon as possible in order that none caring to play will be left out.

NEW LAW DEMANDS DELIVERYMEN HAVE CHAUFFEUR LICENSE

The office of the Callahan County Tax Assessor-Collector has been advised by the State Department of Public Safety that the new law governing chauffeurs license provides that all persons driving delivery cars or trucks for hire will be required to pay the annual fee of $3.00 for a chauffeurs license. This applies to drivers of ice trucks, grocery delivery trucks, and delivery cars and trucks for tailor shops.

According to the new law, a Chauffeur is any person who operates a motor vehicle for any purpose, whole or part time, as an employee, servant, agent or independent contractor, whether paid in salary or commission, and every person who operates a motor vehicle while such vehicle is in use for hire or lease.

This new law is now in effect, and those who apply for chauffeurs license before August 22 may obtain same without having to stand examination by the Department of Public Safety. The Department emphasized that those persons who are supposed to have these chauffeurs license and do not, will be picked-up by the State Highway Patrol and fined.

These chauffeurs license can be issued to the individual only, and can not be used by any other person, also they are good for a year from date of issuance.

Those holding drivers or operators license now will not have to have their license issued until April 1938.

A copy of this new chauffeurs license law is on file at the office of the County Tax Assessor-Collector, and is open to inspection and study by the public, the Review was told by Olaf Hollingshead, County Tax Assessor and Collector.

CADDO PEAK SCHOOL TRANSFERS TO TOWN

By request of a committee representing patrons of the Caddo Peak school district, a contract was entered into at a meeting of the board of trustees of the Cross Plains district Monday night, whereby 35 scholars will be transferred here for the ensuing term. A bus will be operated to the Caddo Peak district to transport students.

TEACHERS HOME FROM TAKE McCAMEY PLACE

Miss Juanita Plumlee, teacher of public school music in grammar school here the past year, resigned her position at a meeting of the board of trustees Monday night to accept a position in the McCamey public school. The local board will probably elect her successor, as well as someone to fill the place of Miss Louise Nelson, high school Spanish teacher who is going to the Abilene schools, at a special meeting Monday night.

TEACHER HOME FROM SUMMER SCHOOL TERM

Seven local teachers have returned home from Austin where they attended the first session of Summer school in Texas University. They are: C. R. Steele, Lewis Norman, Nat Williams, Clinton Voyles, Darwin Anderson, Miss Clara Nell McDermitt and Linden Newton.

HOME TALENT PLAY IS CARDED TUESDAY

"The Pampers Darling," a three act comedy drama, will be presented in Cross Plains high school auditorium Tuesday night, July 25, by members of the Oogala Club. The curtain will rise at 8:15.

Proceeds from the production will be used to defray expenses of the girls to a Summer camp in Northwest Texas.

The play, as well as several other interesting novelty numbers, is under the direction of Miss Eloise Lane, talented young dramatist.

MR. MRS. ORBA BOOTH VACATIONING IN NEW MEXICO THIS WEEK

Mr. and Mrs. Orba Booth left Saturday for Big Spring to spend a night before leaving for a weeks vacation in the mountains of New Mexico and including a visit to Carlsbad Cavern.

MRS. ELLIOTT BRYANT HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Mrs. R. Elliott Bryant returned to her home here Wednesday afternoon from a Ranger hospital, where she was confined 15 days suffering an attack of peritonitis following a minor surgery. Physicians say she is virtually out of danger but that several days rest are yet necessary.

MORGAN HARLOW TO WORK FOR STEEL CO.

Morgan (Boots) Harlow who has been employed by the Community Public Service company in Neocoma visited his mother here a few days this week before leaving for Abilene where he will accept a position with the Central Texas Steel company.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Vestal and family, and Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Underwood returned home last week after a weeks visit in Galveston and other points South.

FROM CONGRESSMAN CLYDE L. GARRETT

BROADWAY MELODY OF 1936 TO BE PRESENTED

So packed with entertainment is "Broadway Melody of 1936," which is coming Sunday and Monday to the Liberty Theatre, that it at once registers its right to acclaim as the greatest extravaganza yet to be made by Hollywood. Stars, story, music, dancing, all are present in satisfying and often thrilling form, so splendidly elaborate is the picture and so skillfully is it fashioned.

Miss Mary Billingsly of City arrived here Sunday to her home with her parents.

Miss Emma Bauman of Cross Plains was a visitor Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Bauman and Mrs. A. Bauman, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Forbes and family, Mrs. Cora Williams and family Mr. and Mrs. Otto Williams and family.

More Visitors—Billy Dillin of Comanche county has been in to see several times the past week. Gerald Porter of Stamford was in the office also the past week. He is attending the Institute of Public Affairs. Dr. Sanfeller of Abilene also visited us recently, as did Tom Hudson and family of Asson.

Texas Advertising was well and capably done by the boy scouts while here. The boys from our section of the State had plenty of fun swapping horns, loads for souvenirs. They brought a fancy prize at the last of the jamboree. One of the boys took an alligator home with him which he got from a Florida boy.

Third Monday Traits just keep popping up in the Texas contingent. When the Scouts broke camp Cockrill and I went down to tell the boys good-bye. Cockrill got all the cactus he could carry in a cracker box, and he is now trying to swap with the other secretaries here on the hill for Agriculture Yearbooks. So far he has done some fair trading. However, the boys left too much of it on the grounds available for those who came after it for him to get a clear title to either the Lincoln Memorial or the Washington Monument for what he brought back to the office.

No Relief—The weather is getting extremely warm here in Washington, but there still seems to be no relief in view for Congress. It is very likely that we will not adjourn before August 15. Chances are more likely it will be around September 1st. There is still a great deal to be done and much legislation to be worked on.

Insurance for Crops—The Crop Insurance Bill has an even chance to be passed by the House. The bill has already been approved by the Senate. This resulted in insuring the 1938 wheat crop at a cost to the Government of about $10,000,000 as an experiment.

Helium—The House Committee on Military Affairs has approved a bill for the purpose of exporting helium for commercial purposes under the supervision of the National Munitions Board and three Cabinet officials. The bill came about because of the recent disaster of the dirigible "Hindenburg" and because of the flight put up by Dr. Hugo Eckener, Zeppelin expert. He said that it was necessary in order that lives and ship would be safeguarded, that the U.S. sell helium to other nations.

Prosperity Ahead—Although the labor unrests have caused a considerable drop in activity and production, a new recovery peak is now predicted. It is expected that once these disturbances are settled and activity is renewed, the country is bound to come back to prosperity. Normal farm crops are expected to aid in the recovery.

Silence—The President is maintaining a discreet silence in all phases of the labor situation. He refuses to comment on published reports that he had "split" with John L. Lewis, the CIO leader. He has commented on the wage and hour bill, however, by saying that he was hopeful of favorable action on it.

WOMAN SERVICE

"Mr. and Mrs. Cayne haven't returned to town yet, miss," he told her. "They're not expected before the middle of October."

Rachel thanked him and walked back to Lexington avenue, went down to the hotel where she and Anne had stopped, collected her bags and took them to Pink's apartment, all in a flat and disorganized. She had been a sappy fool, she knew it. And it shouldn't happen again. No more working herself up into a dither for—what? A vague longing which was only an accent on ego. Rachel scorned herself heartily. When Pink came in at quarter of six she had hung her dresses in the tiny closet and filled the narrow chest of drawers with her other clothing, put her toothbrush and creams in the bathroom and was trying to find a place to stow her empty bags. Pink had the answer to that.

"I forgot to tell you, we can use part of a closet in the hall and you'd better put them all there, you'll need under the bed for hat boxes," she added. "Keep out one half, we're going down the street to dinner with Tom and Rhoda Steele, he knows lots of people and he might find you a job."

Rachel sat down wearily in the nearest chair. "You make me feel like Katie's first day at kindergarten, Pink. And this bedroom is no bigger than a pocket."

"Don't be plaintive," admonished Pink. "Your bedroom is six inches longer than mine. Take a good hot bath and you'll feel better. I've got a new cosmetic line I want to try on you, we're planning a big campaign for the people who make it and I'd like to see how it glides on a real face. The manufacturer claims the mascara won't run."

The warmth and the clean sweet smell of her verveine salts and her own young resilience cleared up the most of Rachel's spot of bad temper. Pink brought out the new cosmetics and under a bald white light the two girls carefully and delicately made up Rachel's face, first with a cream which was almost fluid, then with powder, then rouge, high on the cheekbones, the least flush, eye-shadow slanted to lengthen and make mystery for the eyes, a little of the new mascara on Rachel's long lashes, vermilion lipstick—"Angel!" exclaimed Pink, at last. "You're a knockout! Now we'll see how long this stuff stays put!"

With hesitation, because she had so determinedly kept her hands off this most important matter, Anne asked, "Rachel, are you any nearer knowing what kind of a job you'll look for?"

"No, not a bit. Pink will probably think up something and force me into it. And I'll hate it."

"I thought—from what you said to Bob last night—that you had something definite in mind."

Rachel replied with ostentatious carelessness: "Oh, that—that was, on the side."

Anne decided to make a joke of it. "You and your secrets!" she said, smiling. "All right—keep out of jail, that's all I ask." And she would not notice that Rachel's smile was a little forced and anxious. "Would you like to ask Pink to dinner tonight if she hasn't a date?" she went on.

Yes, Rachel would like that. And for the rest of the trip if they talked of all it was something with special meaning.

Pink, it appeared, could come to dinner and at seven; before they were ready, she came bounding into Rachel's room at the hotel without a sign of her day's work about her. Pink was small and thin as a toothpick, her nose turned up, her skin was pleasantly freckled, her hair shoe-polish black. She hailed from Baltimore and was unlike the Southern belle of song and story in every possible way. She did not even have a Southern accent and she was 100 per cent urbane. Her brain was keen and violent, she spoke her opinions instantly and acted on them as soon as made, and she was quick to be kind and tolerant and also to be sharp and hard, but she couldn't cherish a grudge.

Anne heard her speaking to Rachel and in another moment Pink tapped at her door, popped inside, hugged and kissed her and said how grand it was to see her, all in one motion.

"You're coming to dinner with me," Rachel called in, "and we're going somewhere swank. I'll get enough cheap Italian dumps this winter and don't I know it?"

"I'm not dressed for a swell place and we haven't any man, or have we?"

"No, we haven't," said Anne, "but I don't think it matters, it's early and you have me for chaperon."

The talk went on after they had reached the roof garden which Rachel selected as their dining place. Anne listened, amused, as the two girls chattered.

"I tell you," said Pink, "this is the women's day and the men's depression. It's the women who've scrambled around and found some sort of jobs when the men couldn't find any. My part-time maid tells me that practically every woman she knows is supporting a husband or a brother or a father. And coming into the white-collar class it's the women who've kept the home fires burning, they've made new jobs when they couldn't find old ones. Two big women's clubs have built and furnished clubhouses, though building is practically dead, and they've financed them soundly, too. Ladies, someone said the other day, have found out they can work so here's the town, Rachel, you can take your pick."

"Are you calling me a lady?"

"Not offensively."

"It's just what Rachel needs," thought Anne, watching the two girls. "She sharpens and comes more alive with Pink. It's much better for me to leave her for awhile. It hurt her unbelievably to admit it, all the more because she was sure Rachel was glad of the coming separation. She felt a lapse or change in Rachel's affection, that talk yesterday (heavens, was that only yesterday!) had defined and marked it out. 'Somehow she resents being my child,' she thought. 'I feel as though I'd been walking along confidently and suddenly stepped off into space. It must be my fault, part of it.' She tried to remember, to analyze. . .

The next morning Anne had a talk with Hobart Grable while Rachel took her passport for the necessary visa. Hobart was gloomy and annoyed about her going away for the winter. He twisted his kindly features into frowning disapproval. "It's ridiculous to let that old hard-diplom work on your feelings," he said, "and it's worse than ridiculous to let Rachel live down in the Village and hunt for a job. She won't find one, the town's full of girls looking for work, trained girls, smart girls. Rachel's a rather trained girl, I don't understand your persistence in doing this, Anne, at all. You don't know what might happen to Rachel."

"I depend on you to look after her," said Anne, with mild malice. "Every month when you pay her allowance you must go and call on her and her friend Pink. I'll do you good, Hobart, to find out what the young moderns are thinking."

"I wouldn't go near 'em on a bet. Anne, it's unkind of you to go away this particular winter. I've taken season tickets for the opera, Lily Toms is coming back and there's a new dramatic soprano from Norway who's the greatest Isoldie living today. Lotte Lehmann is going to sing the Marschallin, too. I was counting on you to go with me, as well as to the Philharmonic. You never consider me. I wish I could stop hoping you might."

Beloved Cross Plains Couple Honored At Reunion On Wedding Anniversary July 18

Children of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Sanders, of Cross Plains, honored their parents Sunday on the occasion of the couple's fifty-fourth wedding anniversary with a reunion at the city park in Coleman. The event, which is an annual affair, was attended by all of Mr. and Mrs. Sanders' six children, 24 of their 28 grandchildren, and all eight great-grandchildren, as well as some 40 or 50 additional relatives and friends.

High spot of the day was a back-of-luncheon at noon. Edible delicacies were heaped high in what those present described as a beautiful picnic-banquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanders were married in Milan, County, July 18, 1888. They came to Coleman county in 1890 and have resided continuously in Coleman and Callahan counties. They moved to Cross Plains November 11, 1925. Mrs. Sanders' name before her marriage was Miss Mattie Ward.

Children of the couple, who planned the reunion and all of whom were present, are: Walter Sanders, Otton; Frank Sanders, Echo; Mrs. Nora Crosby, Talpa; Mrs. Ivy Merriman, Echo; Mrs. Maggie Oliver, Mount Pleasant; Mrs. Maggie Casey, Talpa.

Before adjourning Sunday, each of the group resolved to be present at the same place and time next year for the fifty-fifth wedding anniversary of the beloved couple.

years ago, when automobiles were not so common. His engine collided with a small sedan, occupied by five women. Bodies and debris were strewn for several hundred yards along the tracks; all of the women were killed. "It was terrible; I hope to never see anything like it again," he said.

The other two wrecks happened near Walnut Springs and between Fort Worth and Sherman. Two people were killed in the first accident and one in the last.

Asked who he considered the best engineer he ever fired for, "Smookey" said without hesitation he ranked Joe Linkus "top". He hesitated to name any conductor as outstanding saying: "We had some dandies; Cap Moragan, "Kid" Wright and all of the boys were swell fellows and knew their business."

Having made the Cross Plains run in the days when only a few stores defied a sand-belted Main Street, and having seen the phenomenal growth of this city since, "Smookey" was asked what he thought would be the effect upon Cross Plains if the railroad should decide to pull up their lines. "Boy, we just wouldn't have a town long. Cross Plains needs a railroad and we've gotta' keep it."

At 71 now, "Smookey's" railroad days are over. His pension check will arrive regularly and he has a dandy little home down by the tracks, but he wonders the thoughts that will rise through his mind as he pauses in his garden to listen to that familiar rattle of locomotive wheels upon steel rails. Each arrival of the afternoon train will tell a new story, one that only "Smookey" can really understand.

COLLECTING LIQUID RUBBER ON FIRESTONE PLANTATIONS IN LIBERIA

An ever-increasing supply of rubber comes from these plantations. Savings made by controlling raw materials and by more efficient manufacturing and distribution make extra values possible at no extra cost.

BECAUSE in Firestone Standard Tires — YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST BLOWOUTS — eight extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process. By this process every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber. This counteracts internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST PUNCTURES—because under the tread are two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST SKIDDING—because the tread is scientifically designed.

YOU GET LONGER NON-SKID MILEAGE because of the extra tough, long-wearing tread.

Before leaving on your vacation trip, join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign by equipping your car with a set of new Firestone Standard Tires—today's top tire value.

For Economy And Fair Dealing See Your Firestone Dealer

DON'T RISK YOUR LIFE ON SMOOTH WORN TIRES DO YOU KNOW THAT last year highway accidents cost the lives of more than 38,000 men, women and children? That a million more were injured? That more than 40,000 of these deaths and injuries were caused directly by punctures, blowouts and skidding due to unsafe tires?
