SATURDAY TO BE 'CIRCUS DAY' HERE

NO GOSSIP TODAY; WILL APPEAR AGAIN NEXT WEEK

Jack Scott's 'Home Town Gossip', conspicuous because of its absence, does not appear in the Review this week. The author of the gossip writes the column Thursday morning, but at present is at the bedside of his uncle, Fred Cutbirth, who is seriously ill at his home in the northeast part of town. 'Home Town Gossip' will be in its usual place in this column next week.

N. Y. A. TO HELP 23 CALLAHAN STUDENTS; $6 PER MONTH QUOTA

The National Youth Administration of Texas has allotted funds to provide part-time jobs for 23 high school students in Callahan county at a rate $6 per month for the school year, B. C. Chrisman, county school superintendent, disclosed last week, in announcing that application forms for the jobs are now available.

The N.Y.A. program, at the rate of $6 per student, will make available monthly in the county $138 for aid of needy scholastics.

Lyndon B. Johnson, N. Y. A. state director, last week issued a warning to county superintendents of schools to set machinery moving for allocation of the aid funds, in order to prevent possibility of the allotments being lost and transferred to other counties.

"It is unfortunate that there are more applications than jobs available under the federal allotment of funds for Texas," Johnson said. "But we are eager to see that the allotment is used 100 per cent. Inasmuch as it is incumbent upon the school officials to initiate the movement and to see that the plan is put through, the need for immediate action is urgent. It is doubtful that a county which fails to act this week and distribute its quota of funds to high school principals will have opportunity to do so after this week."

Mr. Chrisman says that the appointments will be made on a scholastic population basis and will be given to students whose families are now on relief rolls and have been since April of this year. Students in families under the rehabilitation program are not eligible.

Under the N.Y.A., program 23 high school students in Callahan county will receive aid to be distributed as follows: Cross Plains, four students; Baird, four; Cyde, three; Putnam, two and remainder of the county 10.

HIGGINBOTHAMS HAVE "JAP" ADAMS IN THE HARDWARE DEPT.

"Jap" Adams, formerly of San Angelo, is now employed with Higginbotham Brothers and Company here, in the hardware department. He began work Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams have moved into the W. T. Wilson residence in the Northeast part of town.

LOCAL BOY JOINS NAVY; NOW HEADED FOR HIWAI

Tom Maddux, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Maddux of this place, is now a sailor in the U. S. Navy aboard the S. S. Yale, the Review learned in a communication early this week.

In a recent letter to his parents, Tom stated he would be stationed at the Hiwaian islands two years and probably another on the Philippines. His enlistment is for three years.

Cross Plains Stores Will Close For Game

LOCAL MERCHANTS CLOSE FOR GAME FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Practically all local business establishments will close their doors today at 3:15, and remain shut until the conclusion of the Cross Plains-Baird football game. A petition was circulated Wednesday and store managers were almost unanimous in signifying their intention of closing.

Interest manifested in the Buffalo-Bear battle, Cross Plains first district game of the season, agitated circulation of the petition. Many store keepers and their employees would have been unable to be absent from duties, had merchants decided to remain open.

Stores will reopen about 5:15 and do business until their usual closing time.

Do you know the difference between a midget and a dwarf?

If you do, you are one of the few persons not connected with a circus or carnival who does. Captain Ed. Mundy, who acted as technical man on the Columbia picture, "Carnival," featuring Lee Tracy, Jimmy Durante, and Sally Eilers, which opens Sunday at the Liberty Theatre, offers the explanation.

"A midget is a perfectly formed little man or woman," says Mundy. "They marry and in most instances their children are midgets. A dwarf is a little fellow who is stunted only in the arms and legs. The rest of his body, including his head, is about the size of a normal person. When dwarfs marry, their children usually are quite normal in size. And incidentally, any time you want to see a wild eyed, fighting midget, just call him a dwarf."

FIREMEN ARE CALLED SATURDAY MORNING

A slight explosion at the Shufford filling station on North Main Street, Saturday morning, resulted in the local fire department being called to the scene. The blaze, caused by a gas leak, however, was immediately extinguished, the Review was told.

Rex Beech Novel, Complete In 4 Issues, To Start Next Week

Review readers will have a new deal in fiction beginning next week. Three prize stories from the pen of the illustrious Rex Beech have been secured for publication. The stories, of but four instalments each are reputed to be on par with Beech's books, which have placed him among the leaders of present day writers.

The first story—"Powder"—should be of unusual interest to readers of this newspaper in view of the fact that it deals with an oil field yarn and moves with rapid pace all the way. Rex Beech needs no recommendation to the reading public. His stories are without parallel.

The fact that the story will be completed in four weeks of publication should appeal to continued story readers. The Review editor especially insists that you begin "Powder" in next week's paper. It will grip your interest from start to finish and leave you pleasantly satisfied at the climax. Don't miss "Powder" by Rex Beech beginning in next week's Review.

WED. STUDY CLUB PRESENTS EXHIBIT AT LOCAL HI SCHOOL

The Wednesday Study Club will present a Fine Art Prints exhibition, Monday, October 14 through Friday, October 18, at the Cross Plains High School. There will be a small admission charge which will be used to purchase pictures for the local schools.

Among the 150 large reproductions of Old and Modern masters will be a print of Whistler's "Mother". The original at present hangs in the Luxembourg Gallery, Paris, France.

Mr. Whistler, with all his love and tenderness has shown us this picture of his mother, not as he remembered her in her younger days, but as she was when old. No painter has paid a higher tribute to motherhood than has our American artist in this study. This picture is done in black and gray relieved by the white of the cap and handkerchief and the dark green of the curtain. The framed print on the wall, the dark floor, the large curtain, and all the details throughout the picture are extremely well placed.

The gentle old lady is seen in profile, seated, hands in lap in an attitude of serenity and peace. It is impossible not to feel a certain symbolism—the nearness of old age to the infinite.

This is one of the greatest pictures ever painted in this or any other age. It personifies motherhood—universal motherhood—and is the most remarkable conception of a mother ever put on canvas. The face has been reproduced with great tenderness and delicacy. If we look at it a sense of stillness and peace and utter quiet possesses us. It is a marvelous study of character. It reveals the sweetness and self-sacrifice of motherhood.

Besides being a great painter Whistler was a great etcher, perhaps the greatest since Rembrandt. He was also a lithographer—painted many oil, pastel and water color pictures. His pictures are original and possess great individuality. His range of subjects was wide.

Whistler was a great admirer of Japanese art and many of his paintings show a direct influence of a study of Japanese prints. He was born at Lowell, Massachusetts, but went to Paris at the age of 22, in 1856 he settled in London where he spent the remainder of his life.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Beavers and Mrs. Olen Adams spent the week end in Dallas.

"Lobbyists Run Legislature" - - Dodson

By Aubra Dodson Well, they checked up here and found that there are more lobbyists than there are senators and representatives.

You see, folks, the big corporations don't take any chances of having the legislature put a tax on them. They do all they can at election time to see that those who favor taxing them are not elected. They employ the best talent they can find to go right down to Austin as regular as the legislature meets and prevent laws being passed that do not suit them.

Now, that's where Big Business has it on you folks. You people elect your representative or senator and send him to Austin to wrk for you and you have to go about your work while Big Business employs fellows look after their interests in the Capital City.

These lobbyists are good mixers. They have to be to stay on the job. I have heard that they will go to church, lodge, out to night clubs, play golf, buy big dinners, serve the best drinks, to members of the legislature in order to win their favor.

There must be some tax laws passed at this session, but every industry is here to see that a tax is not put on them.

While the legislature is arguing about liquor laws, the boys are doing a good selling job. I was in a large cafe yesterday and there were three good sandwiches lying on the counter, and on the back bar was a gorgeous display of wines, gins, etc. All had price tags. Seagrams distilled gin $1.00 a pint. Old Mr. Boston Gin, one half pint, 65, and many other brands and prices. I think the proprietor of this place had once worked for a 5&10 cent store and he was using their methods, putting his goods before the customer with a price tag on them.

Folks, remember that if your representative or senator should get hungry or lonely for entertainment, there is always a lobbyist watching him who will take care of him.

Yours, Aubra Dodson.

CROSS PLAINS IS BEST PLACE TO SHOP STATES ONE WHO SHOULD KNOW

A. H. McCord, who has always been a home town booster, strayed from his principles last week and went shopping at Brownwood. After making several purchases and returning home he made a check up as to how much he had saved. After an extended process of arithmetic he gave the Review the following statement.

"I saved 30 cents on several dollars worth of buying but a day's work, I find myself somewhat in the hole. From here out watch me trade at home allway," he stated.

Incidentally the two bit meal at Brownwood was not as good as Mrs. McCord has on wash day.

PIONEER CITIZEN EXPIRES AT BAIRD SATURDAY EVENING

Funeral rites for H. C. "Boy" McGowen, member of a pioneer Callahan family and a brother of the late Will McGowen, of Cross Plains, were held Sunday afternoon at three thirty from the Baird Baptist church. Rev. Joe R. Mayes, pastor, officiated. Interment was made in the Ross cemetery at Baird.

Mr. McGowen, who was 59 years old Friday, succumbed a few minutes before seven o'clock Saturday night following an illness of three weeks.

He was born at Blossom, in Lamar county, and came with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McGowen to Callahan county on March 13, 1883. The family first settled at Cottonwood, but later moved to Baisd.

Mr. McGowen had been associated with his brother, John H., since 1904, and the two operated one of the largest grocery stores in West Texas.

Survivors are his wife, the former Johnnie Norman, to whom he was married April 18, 1900 in Mineral Wells and one daughter, Mrs. C. D. Leon. Other survivors are three brothers and five sisters.

Pall bearers were: Bob Warren, W. B. Barrett, Olan Hollingshead, Vernon Johnson, W. V. Stevenson and Robert Estes. Fred Cutbirth, of Cross Plains, was appointed one of the pall bearers but he suffered an attack of pneumonia Saturday and consequently unable to attend the services.

A number of Cross Plains people attended the funeral and interment rites.

F.F.A. BOYS IN RACE TO NAME SWEETHEART

Fourth regular meeting of the Cross Plains Future Farmers of America chapter was held Thursday afternoon of last week, with 13 members in attendance. Malcom Steele, president, presided.

James Hall was named chapter historian upon the resignation of Bevo Webb.

A motion was passed to elect a chapter sweetheart from the following candidates: Mozelle Atwood, Ruth Fortune, Dorothy Johnson and Goldie Klutts. The race will be sponsored next week with votes going at a penny each. Proceeds will be used to purchase an F.F.A. banner, which is required in chapter equipment.

WORLD'S LARGEST SHOW AT POPULAR PRICES SCHEDULED

Harley Saddler presenting Bailey Brothers three ring circus, said to be the largest show of its kind in the world playing at popular prices, will be in Cross Plains Saturday. The show will have a matinee performance at two o'clock and an evening performance at eight o'clock. Doors will open one hour before each show.

Perhaps one of the most interesting features of the exhibition here will be a parade through the downtown district shortly after noon. The entire parade equipment is minimized and drawn by spirited Shetland ponies, the Review was told last week.

The Harley Saddler-Bailey Brothers circus comes to Cross Plains under the auspices of the fire department. It will be the show's first appearance in Cross Plains and the first appearance of Harley Saddler, probably the most favorably known showman ever to play this spot, here since he abandoned the policy of playing small towns a number of years ago.

Business firms anticipating a large crowd in Cross Plains Saturday are arranging special displays and offering attractive inducements to stimulate buying.

The circus ground will be at the old base ball park in the West part of town, just South of the railroad tracks, near the "Y".

COLEMAN COUNTY TAX VALUE CUT BY COURT ORDER

COLEMAN, Sept. 27.—Because the state tax board could not certify the intangible assets of several pipe line companies operating in Coleman county the total valuation of the county has dropped almost a half million dollars, County Tax Assessor-Collector Frank Lewis declared last week.

The intangibles of none of the pipe line companies, with the exception of Sinclair-Prairie were certified because a restraining order had been issued against the board taking that action.

This county's valuation this year likely will be about the same as it was last year if the tax board, on trial of the suit, is allowed to make the certification.

Total valuation of the county, as approved by members of the county commissioners' court is $11,679,765. The rolls were completed unusually early this year.

Collection of taxes begins October 1.

The WOMANS ANGLE

By Nancy Hart

The Woman's Angle

The complexion marred by constant blemishes is not one for the beauty shop alone. No creams will do the trick all by themselves. A healthy diet excluding excess of sweets, starches, fatty foods, rich desserts and highly spiced foods is of first importance. Faulty elimination should be corrected. A soft complexion brush, a bland soap and much rinsing daily are necessary. Drink water. Drink more water. And even more. But if the case is really serious, see your doctor immediately.

Hats in felts with self designs are something new this autumn. In herringbones and other patterns, they are especially effective.

One of the most successful methods of cooking vegetables with the usual kitchen utensils, is to use the heaviest pots you have with the heaviest lids you can get, use only a small amount of water, turn the flame as low as you can and still keep the water boiling and in the event steam escapes about the edge of the cover, turn the flame even lower. This keeps all the flavor of the vegetables possible, and keeps them tender.

Some of the new strap model shoes for women are being shown with lastex straps to fit as snugly and firmly as a girdle.

Mrs. Estelle Sternberger, executive director of World Peaceways, is working on a plebescite to give the people of the United States a chance to express their opinion on war. She is confident that a very small percentage will vote for war, and scoffs at the idea that the masses can be drawn into another war through the appeal to patriotism. "The masses have learned that patriotism may mean staying at home," she says.

Hard Running Baird Football Team To Invade City Friday

Perhaps Hardest Game of Season Confronts Thundering Herd, For Bears In Shape After Long Rest

After two weeks of complete rest a heavy, hard running Baird high school football team will invade Cross Plains Friday afternoon for the first conference game of the season with Coach Claude Daniel's Buffaloes. The kick-off is set for three thirty.

Having canceled a game with DeLeon last week in order to be in perfect condition for the Cross Plains game, every member of the Baird squad is reputed to be in the pink of shape. While on the other hand, Daniel's thundering herd will be just recuperating from a hectic struggle at Coleman last Friday night. Captain "Bevo" Webb sustained an ankle injury in that game which may cause him difficulty against Baird. J. T. Cross, other hot-shot, of the local backfield in also nursing minor bruises.

A Grudge Battle

Said to be pointing only to the Cross Plains game for the avowed purpose of defeating their former coach—Daniel came here from Baird—several hundred fans including the pep squad and band will accompany the Baird Bears here.

Baird's probable starting line-up will average slightly better than 156 pounds to the man, while the Bison's starters will aggregate 154.

Baird's offensive threat is centered about chiefly Bill Austin, 168 pound co-captain and quarterback, and Bernie Bryant, 148 pound elusive half-back. On the defense for Baird, Lynn Bryant, Randall Jackson and Horace Cook are the stalwarts, the Review was told by the Cross Plains high school mentor, who tutored the Baird club for four consecutive years.

Malcom Steele, proficient Buffalo end who handled the wing position most admirably in the Coleman game, has been out of practice this week and for that reason may not be available Friday afternoon.

See Booster Page

The probable starting line-up for both teams and weights of all players appears on a full page advertisement, sponsored by Cross Plains merchants, in today's Review. Turn to the booster page for the starting line-ups.

When asked what he thought his chances were to beat Baird coach Daniel told the Review Wednesday afternoon: "They're coming down here to play inspired football; they'd rather defeat Cross Plains than win a district championship but we're going to give them a scrap and if breaks are equal, well—"

Virtually all Cross Plains business firms will close for the game. A petition was circulated Wednesday and most every firm interviewed agreed to close.

COLEMAN BOY'S BACK BROKEN FRIDAY NIGHT

Injuries sustained in the game with Cross Plains Friday night will keep J. Bragg, center for the Coleman high school Bluecats, out of football the remainder of the current season and probably forever, the Review learned Monday morning.

Bragg received a broken back vertebra and leg in the third quarter and was carried from the field on a stretcher.

Results Of Other Teams In This District

ALBANY LIONS LOSE TO WINTERS IN NIGHT 'GO'

Albany high school Lions suffered their first loss on their new brilliantly illuminated field Friday night to the Winters Blizzards, 14 to 13.

The Lions scored in the second quarter but failed to convert when the center's pass was wild.

Winters scored in the third and fourth quarters and kicked both goals.

Albany uncorked a desperate aerial attack in the closing quarter to make their second touchdown of the evening and also kicked goal.

Score: Winter 14, Albany 13.

An unusually large crowd is reported to have witnessed the game.

PUTNAM WINS 27 TO 2 OVER CLYDE TEAM

Putnam high school Panthers announced that they would be a serious district contender in the current campaign by defeating Clyde 27 to two, in the first conference tilt at Clyde, Friday afternoon.

Sundermen led the Putnam offense and was responsible for one of the counters. Shackelford crossed the pay stripe twice after receiving passes and Cunningham tallied the other counter.

Clyde scored a safety in the second period.

RISING STAR WINS 13 TO 0 OVER CADDO TEAM

Coach Johnny Gregg's Rising Star Wildcats won their first game in two starts against Caddo at Rising Star Friday afternoon. The score was Rising Star 13, Caddo nothing.

Caddo, which was last year banned from this conference for a period of one year for playing an ineligible man, has been reinstated but will play in the weaker half of the loop. The game with Rising Star, a stronger half member, was therefore, not a conference conflict.

ROSCOE MAKES 25 BUT IS DECISIVELY BEATEN

A team that makes 25 points in a football game usually wins but not so with Roscoe last week.

In a game with Snyder Friday afternoon Roscoe scored 27 points, yet was decisively beaten. The scoreboard showed: Roscoe 27, Snyder 74.

99 points in 60 minutes of football apparently saw plenty of action.

Cross Plains Buffaloes Defy Lights And Soundly Outplay Coleman Friday Nite

Before a crowd of 1,800, Cross Plains high school Buffaloes fought coach Mickey Pool's highly touted Coleman to a scoreless tie on the Bluecat's own gridiron—Hufford field at Coleman—Friday night.

The game which was the first in history for the Bisons beneath the lights, proved no disadvantage. Cross Plains gained nearly twice as many yards from scrimmage and tallied nine first downs to Coleman's six.

Neither team seriously threatened to score. When Gray, Bison punter, got an attempted kick blocked in the first quarter on the 17 yard stripe, Coleman recovered for the nearest thing to a threat the contest offered. With the ball on the 17 yard marker, however, the Bluecats were unable to gain an inch. The first play lost seven yards when Bertrand, Buffalo left end, caught Kelley far behind the line of scrimmage. Another running play and two attempted passes were also to no avail.

Fumbles proved costly to coach Claude Daniel's Buffaloes on at least two occasions but such breaks apparently only served to stiffen their forward wall. The herd line

One of the most spectacular "between the halves" exhibitions ever seen by local fans, was offered at the Coleman-Cross Plains game Friday night.

Cross Plains high school girls attired in new purple and gold uniforms took the field first, exhibiting the letters C.P.H.S. and then C.H.S. in less than five minutes. The local peppers received a stupendous ovation at the close of their stunt.

Coleman's 50 piece band trooped the field, counter marched and played the high school anthem as 16 youthful acrobats tumbled in the meantime.

was impregnable in the pinches.

Eugene Cross, playing his first game at the pivot post, was outstanding for his defensive work. Cross Plains diminutive guards—Atwood and Usrey—also gave good accounts of themselves against opponents nearly 15 pounder heavier.

"Bevo" Webb was as usual a main stay in the Buffaloes defense, however, before sustaining a slight leg injury in the closing quarter he ripped through for several important gains. Cross also picked up needed yardage on several occasions but difficulty in holding the ball handicapped his get away.

For Coleman, Walker in the line and Kelley in the backfield were most outstanding. Walker ripped through to nab many plays before reaching the line of scrimmage. Kelley on the other hand was the Bluecats' principal yard gainer. He chalked up the longest sprint of the game in the third quarter, when he shirked, off-tackle into a broken field for 31 yards.

Cross Plains gained 93 yards from scrimmage and Coleman 48. The local's tossed six passes, two of which were complete—Gray to Blitch for 20 yards. Coleman heaved 12 times, completing three for 25 yards. Cross Plains was penalized 30 yards and the Bluecats' 40.

Punting for both teams was below normal. Kicking for each squad average less than 30 yards.

PIONEER PANTHERS BOWL OVER COLONY 31 TO SIX FRIDAY

Pioneer high school Panthers opened their conference schedule with a 31 to six victory over Colony Friday afternoon. Joe Wheeler and J. T. Hammett, hard running backs, gathered most of Pioneer's yardage. Howard Tyler, in the backfield, was credited with some very effective blocking. Oval Plumlee, powerful Pioneer guard, was a main stay of the defense.

Pioneer scored first in the opening quarter when a series of running plays had placed the pikskin on the eight yard stripe. Wheeler hit center for the needed yardage and a touchdown. He also added the extra point by a plunge through the line. Score, Pioneer seven, Colony nothing.

J. T. Hammett tallied Pioneer's second counter with a 30 yard sprint around end. Wheeler again added the extra point with a successful line plunge. Score, Pioneer 14, Colony nothing.

In the third quarter Wheeler intercepted a Colony pass and ran it to the two yard line. He plunged over the first attempt for Pioneer's third touchdown. Hammett's try through the line for the extra point was short. Score 20, Colony 0.

Pioneer scored twice in the closing quarter.

Colony's six points also came in the final frame when the Panthers were caught flat footed on a pass.

Pioneer's showing in the contest definitely assured they would be a serious contender for the championship of the weaker half of the district.

Plays given the club by coach W. Williams are said to have clicked with clock-work precision.

LOCAL FANS HAVE ALL PRAISE FOR COLEMAN'S FINE FOOTBALL FIELD

Approximately 200 Cross Plains football fans who followed the Buffaloes to Coleman Friday night for the home team's first nocturnal tilt, were all praise for two things Saturday morning.

1. Cross Plains' showing. 2. Coleman's splendid field. With a four inch cushion of grass, perfect lighting facilities and seating capacity for 2,000 spectators, Hufford field is without a superior in West Texas, local fans declared.

The fact that 1,800 people turned out for the game verified that night football is readily coming into favor in this section. More tickets were sold in Cross Plains for the game than the entire attendance at the May-Cross Plains game here the week before.

PIONEER TO MEET CADDO COUGARS IN HOME GAME FRIDAY

Pioneer high school Panthers will play their first game of the season before a home audience Friday afternoon, when they play host to an invasion of Coach Everett Beaver's Caddo Cougars. The kick off is set for three o'clock on Pioneer's beautifully sodded athletic field, the Review was told Wednesday morning by L. C. Cash, superintendent of Pioneer schools.

No comparative dope is available on the two teams. Pioneer has played two games this season. In the first the Panthers lost 33 to nothing to a strong DeLeon aggregation. They came back last week, however to trim Colony 31 to nothing.

Caddo took a 13 to nothing beating from Rising Star last Friday but is reported to have given the Wildcats a scrap for it.

Weights as given out by coaches of the two schools show Pioneer to have the advantage of four pounds per man in the probable starting line-ups. Pioneer will average 146 pounds per man and Caddo 142.

B. F. PEEVY GETS BASE BALL FROM DIZZY DEAN

B. F. Peevy received Tuesday morning an autographed base ball as a gift from "Dizzy" Dean, Saint Louis ace base ball pitcher.

Some time ago Mr. Peevy whittled a wooden ball from a solid slab of cedar to the exact dimensions—and approximate weight—of a base ball and sent it to "Dizzy" with his best regards.

Aside from the base ball with "Dizzy's" own autograph, the blind Cross Plains man received national publicity of his wooden base ball. The article which first appeared in the Cross Plains Review was "lifted" by the Associated Press and syndicated to hundreds of large daily papers.

SCRANTON High School News

The P.T.A. gave a social Tuesday evening September 24, in the high school auditorium. A large crowd attended; among those present were Lee Ray, Mrs. Will Anderson and Cecil Roberts who were visiting here from Fort Worth. Cake and punch was served, and the games, which were sponsored by Miss Jobe were enjoyed by the children and young folks.

This is Freshman week and the "poor little fish" are very pitiful looking with their clothes on wrong side out. They do not very well like the idea of having to use only the side door to go to and from the building.

This year Scranton high school will have something to remember in its basketball career. Just think! We have six old players entering and a whole group of others which will furnish plenty of good material.

Who do you suppose our captain is? Well, one is a little red head. You know, little but loud. As best I can remember, her name is Neola Baird. And listen, we have a brand new coach, (before he got the new worn off) Mr. Hughes. And does he know what he is doing?—Ask him.

Well, people, it's all true. If you need proof, come over and witness the game Friday, October fourth. Don't fail to come prepared with handkerchief and pain killer, because your heart might overflow with pity. When the whistle blows watch the girls in the new green and gold suits, and you will know what is up. I will tell you the scores of this game later (or will I?) but if you get in too big a hurry, just drop in and see the thrill of your life. But you must remember, we still have lots of room for improvement and that is what we are after.

Watch our brilliant team work. Just three short passes, and a goal made!

We are actually planning to win first place in the county this year. Who knows? We have all kinds of good prospects. Any way, we will give it a good trial. What can we do but try? Just wait and see!

The girls who are interested in basket-ball for the year of 1935-36 met and organized their team. Neola Baird was elected captain, Ruth Brown was elected reporter. We have a very promising team, who under the excellent coaching of Mr. Hughes, we are confident will prove very efficient in basket ball this year we are sure.

There are two boys named Jack in the entire Pioneer school system and both are officers in the sophomore class. They are: Jack Hognett, president, and Jack Richardson, vice-president.

Pep Squad Casualties

About the only casualties from the Pioneer-Colony football game last Friday are some very sore throats among pep squad members. Like the football team, the pep squad has made rapid progress and is now reputed to be one of the most proficient in the whole district. A very attractive stunt will be presented between the halves of the game with Caddo here Friday afternoon.

Girls To Basket Ball

Pointing toward the most successful season in history the girls basket ball team assembled for the first work-out Monday afternoon. A large group answered the opening practice call and indication that a winning sextet will be produced.

Training Speakers

Miss Aleta Walker will teach debating and public speech in the Pioneer school. She will meet juniors and seniors on Tuesday and the lower classes on Thursday. Several debaters are expected to do some good arguing for Pioneer this year.

"THE RAVEN" WILL BE AT LIBERTY THURSDAY

Irene Ware, featuring lead in "The Raven" coming to the Liberty theater Thursday, is seen in a most unusual dance sequence which was staged by Theodore Kosloff, noted ballet master and dance director.

Miss Ware enacts the role of an interpretive dancer in the picture, which was produced by Universal from Edgar Allan Poe's famous poem, "The Raven." She is desired by the sinister Dr. Vollin, Poe addict. The dance itself is characteristic of the famous scene in the poem where Poe, while seated at his desk, writing, observes the raven perched on his window sill. It is called the spirit of Poe.

The Great Game of Grab

Japan took Manchuria because it had resources Japan wanted. Mussolini is after Ethiopia because of its natural resources which Italy lacks. Nations have been playing this game of grab for thousands of years. No country possessing material wealth is safe unless it can protect its wealth.

We suggest for the consideration of pacifists that the United States, with only 6 percent of the world's population, has 40 percent of the world's gold, 49 percent of the copper, 67 percent of the oil, 36 percent of the coal, 52 percent of the standing timber, 33 percent of available waterpower and grows 56 percent of the world's cotton. The figures are from David Lawrence's United States News.

Added up, they make of this country a prize to make some piratical dictator's mouth water. What a temptation to predatory nations, unless we maintain such a defense, by sea and air, that no other nation or combination of nations, can conquer us. True, there is no present likelihood of anybody trying it. But time passes and national aspirations develop. No such moral code as exists between individuals controls nations in their relations with each other.

It may be a hundred years, maybe longer; but some day some powerful nation may raise the battle-cries of its effort to take over only one-sixteenth of the half of the world's wealth. This is now.

General Sam Houston

General Sam Houston was one among the most spectacular figures in the political and military history of America. First, he was an individualist of the strictest sort, a non-conformist in matters political and military, had a mind of his own, a man of action and a born revolutionist. He was a child of the wilderness, had a yen for the big open spaces, sensed the spirit of the desert, hence sought surcease away from the marts of trade. He just wouldn't work, his mother and brothers thought to make a prune seller of him, but nothing doing, away to the desert he hiked, said that he would rather measure deer tracks than to unravel tape. He fell to the wild life of the Red Man, became the adopted son of O-lootekt, Chief of the Cherokee Tribe, was inducted into the office of Raven, hence imbibed the spirit of tribal life. He was a cavalier of the old Colonial type, handsome, daring and brave, flirted with Indian maids, and as a finale, chose one for his wife. But the gods of human destiny didn't fashion his human pattern to sit around an Indian wigwam, nurse Indian papooses and chase deer for a livelihood, but rather, they planted political thrones and empires in his plastic mind—hence, Houston skiddooed the pruning hook and the plow for the implements of war—The sword, the gun and the horse—has worn crowns, sat on thrones and ruled the destiny Nations. General Houston was like a wander star, seeking its orbit. Yes, he was erratic in his movements, in many ways unstable, full of whims, today, sitting around the council tables of statesmen and diplomats, tomorrow a child of the desert. Did not posses that suave gentility of character of a Washington, and yet with all of his frailties, he had many of the elements of greatness in his make-up, had the dash and dare-devil movement of a Stonewall Jackson and the courage and military genius of a Napoleon. In a crisis, he was like a giant oak in the midst of human saplings, had the gift to discern and capitalize the weakness of his adversary—Yes, caught the enemy napping, and with a bunch of raw recruits from farm and ranch, ragged and hungry and worn out and discouraged from a long retreat, the hands on the dial plate of destiny pointed to the figure of action, and thus, all the hell and fury of an outraged citizen broke a loose, and in just twenty minutes a despot was uncrowned, some six or seven hundred Mexican soldiers were dead on the glorious battlefield of San Jacinto, the remainder of the army in captivity. Yes, this man of destiny, who had played football with the political thrones, flirted with Indian maids, chased, the deer and carried the favor of the Red Man, migrated West, and with the implements of war, away out here in a wilderness, carved out an empire, and thus the Lone Star swung into the galaxy of nations, the brightest star of all. —Selah.—Col. The Story of the Constitution by CALEB JOHNSON.

X. HOW THE CONSTITUTION GREW

The Constitution was not intended to be a rigid body of law, but a broad statement of democratic principles and a set of rules for the application of those principles. For as long as the Legislative, Executive and Judicial branches of the Federal Government adhered to those principles and were guided by those rules, they were given almost a free hand to do anything that changing circumstances and conditions might require to be done. If at any time it seemed desirable to change the rules, the Constitution itself provided a method of amendment.

The growth of the Constitution, to keep pace with the growth of the Nation and the changing times, has, however, been accomplished not as much by changing the rules as by successive interpretations of the rules by the Supreme Court. There have been only eleven amendments to the Constitution in the 144 years since the adoption of the first ten, which constituted the Bill of Rights. But through the decisions of the Supreme Court, the principles which were stated only in broad, general terms by the framers of the Constitution, have been clarified and applied, almost from the beginning, in new ways to meet new situations. The great body of constitutional law comprised in the decisions of the Supreme Court has become as much a part of the Constitution as the original document itself. It has been developed into something living, flexible, adaptable to every social and economic change in human affairs; yet not once, either by amendment or by interpretation have the fundamental principles laid down in the Constitution been abandoned.

The growth of the Constitution began with the advent of John Marshall as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, in 1801. In the 34 years throughout which Marshall presided over the Judicial branch of the Federal Government, hardly a phase of the Constitution did not come before the Court for interpretation. John Marshall's decisions pointed the way to keep the Constitution abreast of the time without sacrificing the principles of democracy.

Marshall first seized upon the possibilities inherent in the clause giving Congress power to regulate commerce between the states. His successors, following his lead, have made it possible by their decisions, to expand the powers of the Federal Government in pace with social and economic evolution. No provision of the Constitution has been more zealously scrutinized than this one, as both Congress and the Executive have constantly sought to broaden the powers of the Federal Government. Upon the rather slender thread of "commerce among the several states" hangs a weight of Federal powers that would have snapped any less elastic provision.

Through the bold exercise of its right to decide what the Constitution means, the Supreme Court has made the Constitution reflect the solid convictions of the people, throughout all the transformations brought about by forces of which the framers of the Constitution never dreamed. The inevitable result of steam and electricity, applied in railroads, telegraph and telephone, was to unify the Nation, and to give the Federal Government steadily increasing importance as compared with the individual states. The great function of the Supreme Court has been to determine how far the Federal Government might exercise its powers to meet conditions thrust upon it by such physical unification, without infringing unduly upon the rights reserved to the states.

Controlled debate in both houses would simply be a national disaster. Free debate has killed many a bad piece of legislation and saved millions of dollars to the taxpayers—Senator Borah.

The DIVORCE COURT MURDER

BY MILTON PROPPER

Final Installment

The man who came to the door was an easily recognizable, albeit older edition, of the marine's portrait in Washington. The passage of time had served only to improve his appearance: broad and tall, six years had filled out the gangling frame Ellen Trent once described, into an enviable perfect physique. His dark hair had been bleached and was now blond and curly, but his handsome, broad features remained the same.

For an instant he was so startled by Rankin's appearance that he dropped his guard. His mask off, an ugly light of fury flashed across his face; and his lips drew into a snarl. Both were swiftly gone, however, before the detective could be certain of them.

Rankin began facetiously. "Mr. Seymour King, I believe," he greeted him. "I'm lucky to find you in; and I must apologize for my intrusion at this late hour."

The other frowned, then forced a smile that developed into a hollow laugh.

"Mr. King?" he repeated. "Yes, of course, that's how I rented the apartment, so my wife wouldn't find out about it or trace me— But come in, Rankin. To what do I owe the honor of this visit?"

Rankin stepped inside the door, careful, however, not to close it.

"You use a good many names, don't you, Rowland?" His voice developed a steel edge. "Perhaps you'd prefer to be called Fred Dennis or Steve Harmon."

His quarry turned white, fear mingling with anger at this provocative onset. He retreated, his eyes glaring; it was all he could do to control the savageness that crept into his voice.

"What do you mean, Rankin?" he demanded furiously. "I never heard of them. I don't know what you're talking about and neither do you."

"Oh, you understand me all right, the detective returned evenly. "You've been many places and tried your hand at many jobs, besides being a life-guard at Miami and a movie extra in Hollywood A marine on the U.S.S. Wyoming, for instance, who deserted, and a burglar in Fort Wayne. And you knew Ellen Trent there. I should have connected the sort of roving life you led before your marriage with your activities in Indiana."

Allen Rowland clenched his fists. "You must be crazy, Rankin!" he cried; his alarm betrayed the truth of the accusations. "You had better be careful; if you've come here to insult me, I advise you to get out!"

Instinctively, the detective's muscles tensed as though preparing for an attack.

"I'd stay where I am if I were you," he warned him ominously. He dug his hands into his pockets. "I have a warrant for your arrest for the murder of Barbara Keith, Allen Rowland alias Fred Dennis alias Steve Harmon. And I caution you that anything you say—Stand back there, Rowland."

Simultaneously with his shouted admonition, he leaped back, ducking to the door; and from his coat came the staccato bark of a revolver. Physically no match for Rowland, he moved just in time to escape his half-anticipated forward lunge. His assailant had sprung with huge, muscular arms outstretched to pin Rankin to his side and bear him down by sheer weight. The bullet caught him in mid-leap; halted by the shock he dropped to his knees with a groan and clapped his left hand to his right shoulder. Blood spurted between his fingers and an expression of astonishment on his face gave swift place to one of agony.

"Damn you, Rankin," he ground out with an effort, through clenched teeth.

"You asked for it, Rowland," Rankin said heartlessly. "I warned you I had you covered; you won't escape this time as easily as you did from the American Express office and the Stager House in Fort Wayne. Now perhaps you'll behave yourself."

He turned to the two officers, who had rushed hastily from the corridor at the shot and pushed their way into the apartment anxious and alert.

"It's all over but the shouting, boys," he reassured them. "I don't believe there will be any more trouble—You can take him along as soon as I put these irons on him. And see that his wound is treated at Headquarters immediately."

He first permitted his prisoner enough time to tie a handkerchief about his shoulder. Then he produced the handcuffs; and disregarding Rowland's stream of oaths and abuse, the policemen held him, while Rankin clicked them on his wrists.

As Rankin followed his prisoner to City Hall, he was quite satisfied with the accuracy of his solution and his ability to establish his guilt.

Mortimer Keith shook his head slowly, with the bewildered air of one who cannot grasp a fact presented to him.

"It's utterly beyond me, Rankin he protested uncertainly, "to understand how Rowland could be Barbara's murderer. They were in love with each other; everything indicated that they were having an affair and that," a look of anguish came into his eyes and his voice dropped, "she was his mistress."

The detective waved his hand positively. "That's just the point, Mr. Keith," he contradicted, "they were nothing of the sort. I've already told you why they hated each other; from the very beginning they were enemies."

"But what of their friendship in Florida, and Barbara's many contacts with him since?" the manufacturer queried. She did go with him to that bedroom at Sunset Inn, and two weeks ago helped him obtain the evidence of Mrs. Rowland's infidelity. And she was willing to testify at the hearing."

"Yes, that is how it all looked and what Rowland doubtless intended. There were two possible reasons to account for Mrs. Keith's

"willingness": one, a genuine attachment; the other, a very real dread. Like you, I was misled by the obvious belief that there was some intimacy between them."

For a moment the other covered his face with his hands. "Poor Barbara," he murmured sadly, "she must have suffered much from him. If she had only chosen to confide in me, instead of keeping her story a secret, I'm afraid I have been most unjust to her."

It was two days after Allen Rowland's arrest that Rankin visited Mr. Keith to discuss with him the ultimate solution to his wife's death. The two men sat in the manufacturer's private office.

Rankin lit a cigarette. "The development of the crime is quite plain," he related, "if you follow it in proper sequence. From the time Rowland—or Dennis, as he was then—escaped from Fort Wayne, and Miss Webb was arrested, they never crossed each's paths until two years ago."

Allen Rowland was the man you were after?" Mr. Keith queried.

"Not until I recognized his photo in Dennis' service record in Washington—the picture of him in the marines as Steve Harmon," the detective answered. "The description I had of him didn't put me on his trail, despite its similarity to Rowland Dennis was thin and had dark hair. In the last six years, he had filled out, with a really fine physique and had bleached his hair. Still, even without the photo, I would have discovered his identity, when I got around to comparing his finger-prints, with those I had collected back here."

"I suppose there's no doubt you'll make a successful case against him?"

"Oh, no, a conviction is practically certain," Rankin said firmly. "You see," he proceeded, "the most elusive factor in the evidence against him was that of motive; incidentally, it was his second protection against being suspected. His apparent relations with Mrs. Keith let him out completely. As her lover and protector, he would have no reason to harm her; and all his actions seemed to clear him, as being sincere and really devoted. But now that Rowland is revealed as Dennis, it is easy to establish the true situation and his motive for the crime. And there'll be no difficulty about the question of opportunity, either. More than likely, we'll manage to trace to his possession some of the money she paid him and that will prove him a black-mailer. And to top it all, he left his fingerprints in Dr. Brantman's office, on the bottle from which he stole the chloroform for the murder."

The manufacturer nodded. "Yes, that clinches the case, I should say. But what about the others, Rankin? What do you expect to do with Campbell, for instance?"

In reply, Rankin frowned and shook his head in exasperation.

"That is a big disappointment to me, I'll admit, Mr. Keith; I had counted on a really big killing in convicting such a notoriously successful criminal. But he had no connection with your wife's death. And since Riley was silenced, I can't establish his conspiracy to kidnap her. He acknowledged that to me, but without witnesses, so I can't use it in court. And Mrs. Rowland's purchase of chloroform for that purpose isn't sufficient evidence either, since Mitch never had a chance to administer it. So I'm afraid I'll have to release him, unless Gurck confesses to being hired to kill Riley. And that's hardly likely, even when we lay hands on him; he'll have an alibi a mile long, and we'll never bring that crime home to anyone."

"And Mrs. Rowland and Mr. Willard?" Mr. Keith pursued. "Will you take action against them?"

"The D. A. will have to decide whether to disbar Willard for practice and his part in framing the divorce," Rankin shrugged. "It isn't the kind of offense about which I can do anything. For the same reason they and Campbell will go scot-free; actually, they weren't involved in the murder, and I can't prove their kidnaping plan. I could hold Miss Edmond for threatening to blackmail you, if you didn't mind the fresh publicity and the entangling of Mrs. Keith's name in that mess at Sunset Inn. But if you refuse to prosecute."

"Oh, no, Rankin." The other raised his hands in quick protest. "I prefer to let that business quite alone. Whatever her reason, she prevented Barbara from being correspondent in Mrs. Rowland's divorce suit. For those services I was willing to pay."

A sardonic smile played on the detective's lips, but he nodded understandingly.

"There you see why the police have such a hard time bringing culprits to justice," he commented. The smile changed to one of satisfaction. "Still come to think of it," he concluded, "Adele Rowland and Harvey Willard won't go altogether unpunished. She has no genuine grounds for her suit, which means it will be refused. She'll still be tied to Rowland, and unable to marry the man she happens to fancy at the present moment. And Campbell won't get his hands on her fortune. At least not yet; later, she may be divorced on the legal basis that Allen Rowland is a convicted criminal. But that won't happen in time to save Willard from financial ruin and his assets from his creditors." He sniffed contemptuously. "That's very little consolation for you, I realize Mr. Keith. But I'm human enough to derive a decided pleasure out of any misfortune they may have they played a despicable game and don't deserve anything better."

WHAT HAS THIS DINOSAUR TO DO WITH MOTOR OIL ?

The Sinclair dinosaurs symbolize the vast age of the crude oils refined into Sinclair Opaline and Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oils. Generally speaking, the longer a crude oil has mellowed and filtered in the earth, the tougher the lubricating film it will produce.

Sinclair Opaline and Sinclair Pennsylvania each give a lubricating film capable of withstanding a pressure of more than 3 tons per square inch—extra protection for every moving part of your car engine.

Look for the dinosaur on the Tamper-Proof cans in which Sinclair Opaline and Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oils are sold.
