Local Farmers Favor Wheat Marketing Quotas

OUT OF 105 VOTES POLLED IN COUNTY 99 OKEH PROPOSAL

Farmers Now Almost Assured Of Wheat Loan of 95 Cents Per Bushel, Says Pierson
Callahan County wheat growers Saturday approved wheat marketing quotas by 94.3 percent. The voting by communities was as follows: Baird 21 for and 3 against; Putnam 20 for and one against; Cross Plains 16 for and one against; Lanham 8 for and none against; Eula 11 for and none against; Denton 12 for and none against; Oplin 11 for and one against. The total vote for the county is 105 votes with 99 in favor of quotas and six against.

The growers of wheat over the nation joined producers of cotton and tobacco Saturday in granting the Agriculture Department authority to control the sales of their crops this year.
In a nationwide referendum wheat farmers voted decisively for a departmental proposal to invoke the rigid marketing quota provisions of the 1938 farm act to keep the surplus production of this year's bread grain crop off the market until it might be needed.

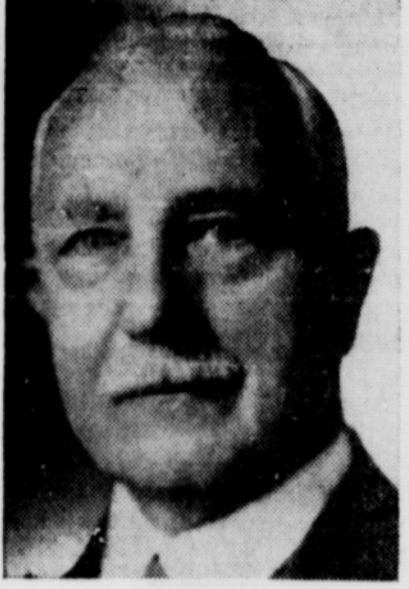

Quotas on cotton and tobacco were approved in referenda held last winter.
Virtually complete returns from the wheat referendum gave 397,559 votes for and 96,223 against quotas. This was slightly over 80 percent, or far in excess of the necessary two-thirds.

Texas voted 10,809 for and 858 against the quotas. The Oklahoma vote was 30,171 for and 7,413 against.
"By approving quotas, wheat farmers were virtually assured a government wheat loan of 85 percent of parity—or about 95 cents a bushel compared with last year's 56 percent of parity or 72 cents a bushel. The loans were contingent upon approval of quotas and the availability of funds. Legislation providing loan funds is now pending Congress, declares E. L. Pierson, Callahan AAA administrator.

Under quotas, farmers will be limited to the sale of wheat produced on their 1941 AAA planting allotment, plus any wheat from previous crops. Grain produced on excess acreages would be subject to a penalty tax of 40 percent of the loan rate. To date we have not been notified of the amount the loan rate will be per bushel.

Walker McClain, who lives three miles northwest of town, was bitten by a copperhead snake one night last week. The young man has never been very sick, however, and has not been confined to bed.

FIRST COTTON GROWN IN BROWN COUNTY IN 1868 OLDSTERS SAY

The first cotton was grown in Brown county in 1868. It was grown by W. F. Brown and was ginned at Comanche at a gin operated by horse power and the lint was caught in an old tent.

The first courthouse in the county was built on the North side of the Bayou, near the Swindlen farm, but because of water shortage it was moved to near where the Santa Fe bridge crosses the Bayou. In 1890 a man named Greenleaf Fisk gave one hundred acres of land for a civic center and later the courthouse moved to its present site.

The first school taught in the county was in the old log court house built above the Swindlen farm. Professor J. J. Gallop was the teacher.

CROSS PLAINS TO BECOME DRY NEXT THURSDAY MORNING

Action Is In Keeping With Election Held Here On May 3 Which Went Dry.

Legalized beer sales will end in Cross Plains Wednesday at midnight, July 11, in compliance with the mandate of an election held May 3, when this precinct went dry by more than two to one.

When brew becomes illegal in Cross Plains there will remain but two places in the county where the foamy beverage remains legal, Baird and Putnam yet have beer.

Local beer dealers report the greatest business in history last week end. Despite the fact that they replenished their stocks late Saturday all local establishments had sold out by five o'clock Sunday afternoon. Dealers are likewise anticipating an enlarged business from now through Wednesday night, however, not anything to compare with last week end.

In the election held May 3 this precinct rejected the continuance of beer sales by a vote of 317 to 153, the greatest margin ever polled on the oft-voted question in this precinct. A brief history of other beer elections in this precinct follows: July 20, 1934, the precinct voted in favor of brew by 50 votes; August 24, 1935, the beverage was voted out by a majority of 54; On April 6, 1938, the precinct legalized beer by 75 votes. Then on March 9, 1940 the precinct retained beer by 28 ballots. The majority polled last month was by far the greatest ever claimed by either side of the beer question in this precinct.

RENEWAL - Drivers of licenses in this state at the present are supposed to have more and more about this time goes on, for the new law has widespread and long provisions.

Renewal - Drivers of licenses in this state at the present are supposed to have more and more about this time goes on, for the new law has widespread and long provisions.

Renewal - Drivers of licenses in this state at the present are supposed to have more and more about this time goes on, for the new law has widespread and long provisions.

New 1941 Driver's License Law Has Teeth -- Effects All Drivers

1900,000 expire March 31, 1942, and are to be renewed January 1, 1942; those numbered 900,001 to 1,350,000 expire June 30, 1942, and are to be renewed April 4, 1942, and those numbered above 1,350,000 expire November 1, 1942, and are to be renewed July 1, 1942. Owners who neglect the renewal of their licenses on time will be required to stand examinations before they are issued new licenses.

For those present license holders who are qualified for renewal of their licenses, this table of dates merely means routine regulation with which they must comply; but for those who do not hold licenses and for those whom the law deems are not qualified to be issued renewals, the law begins to mean something else. It, figuratively, begins almost imperceptibly to bare its teeth, unless the person is exempted under the law include those driving official vehicles in the service of the United States; those driving farm or road machinery, or commercial vehicles on highways in time of emergency; those who are non-residents, at least aged 16, with operators' licenses from home states, and aged 18 for chauffeurs, except when employed in this state or when their vehicles are registered in their home states; and non-residents, aged 18 or over, for 90 days, if license is not required in their home states, and their vehicles are registered in their home states.

No Licenses Granted.—No license will be granted to any person under 14 years of age, and no commercial or chauffeur's license will be granted to any person under 16 years of age, but a youth between these two ages may be authorized by the county judge to apply for an individual operator's license. No license will be granted to any person whose license is suspended or revoked; and like-wise no license will be issued to any person who is a habitual drunkard or narcotic addict; who has not been judicially restored or released; who has an incapacitating physical or mental disability; who is unable to understand highway signs written in English; and any person whose driving is inimical to safety.

Qualified Holders — Drivers not coming under those bans—and that inimical to safety provision has a formidable elasticity about it—may of course, make sworn applications for licenses. An applicant who is under 18 years of age, however, must have his application signed by parents, employer, guardian, or county judge; and his license so obtained can be revoked upon the request of such signer. Applicant's examination, which must be held not more than 10 days from application in county of residence, will cover vision, understanding of signs in English, knowledge of traffic laws, and mental and physical fitness. The license issued must be numbered, must show age and residence, must give a brief description of the holder, and must be signed by the holder, or licensee. The license must be carried at all times and must be exhibited on demand, or in court. And the license must notify the Department of Public Safety of any change of address or name.

Under the new law, a driver may have his license suspended if he has committed an offense for which automatic suspension of license is required upon conviction; if he has been responsible as a driver for any accident resulting in the death or personal injury of another person, or serious property damage; and if he is a habitually reckless or negligent driver. His license may be suspended, too, if he is a habitual violator of traffic laws, if he is incapable of driving, if he has permitted unlawful or fraudulent use of his license, and if he has failed or refused to submit a report of any accident in which he was involved. And, significantly, he is also liable to suspension of his license if he commits in another state an offense that would be sufficient grounds in Texas for suspension, or revocation. And just in case any Texan may have thought of it as an escape mechanism, he cannot operate his automobile in his home state under a foreign license if his own license has been suspended. He is, as the old-timers say, caught 'go in and comin'.

Automatic suspension. — Under the new regulation, the license of any driver shall be automatically suspended upon final conviction of any of the following offenses: Negligent homicide resulting from the operation of a motor vehicle; driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or narcotic drugs; any offense punishable as a felony under the motor vehicle laws of this state; a conviction of a driver involved in an accident or collision, upon a charge of failure to stop, to render aid, and to disclose his identity at the scene of the collision or accident; and a conviction upon a charge of aggravated assault upon the person by means of a motor vehicle.

Penalties provided are a first suspension of six months and a second suspension extended for a like period, in addition to other penalties, if the driver is convicted of operating a motor vehicle while his license is suspended. The "other" penalties referred to, according to section 34 of the law, are a fine of $25 to $500 and six months in jail.
The law reveals more teeth when it is discovered that license violations consist of displaying or possessing fetious, cancelled, revoked, suspended, or altered license; permitting use of a license by one not entitled to use it, or using another's license; failing to surrender license on demand of authorities; applying for or having more than one license; and giving fictitious name, address, and false statement on license.
No car owner shall permit a child or ward under 18 years of age, or any other person without authority to drive his automobile; and no person shall employ an unlicensed chauffeur or any other unlicensed individual to drive for him. The owner should keep records of rental of his automobile to other drivers, for he is responsible for his own motor vehicles.
Report Required. — Anyone involved in an automobile accident that results in death, injury or damage of $50 or more must report the accident to the Department of Public Safety within 48 hours. Failure to do so incurs the liability of license suspension or revocation. Forms on which these reports may be made out are supplied by the department, and it is the department's responsibility to analyze and to tabulate this information and to publish it in statistical form. Penalty for violation of any part of the act where the penalty is not otherwise stipulated is declared to be a fine of not more than $200.

Barr's Bakery NEWS BRIEFS OF BYGONE DAYS Little Squibs Gleaned From Files Of Review April 18, 1919: A report from... June 13, 1919: Last Friday a special train bearing two inspectors of the Katy system and all the comforts that could be extracted from government ownership made a trip over the Cross Plains streak of rust from De Leon. We are informed that the object of their trip was to inspect the road with a view of equipping it with heavier steel. No doubt they are convinced about the need of that, and several other improvements, if they expect to properly handle the large grain and other crops that depend on this road for shipment. Besides it is very likely that the increasing of business throughout this section will soon demand greater shipping facilities. July 11, 1919: The Cross Plains country, and we believe this entire section, is harvesting the greatest grain crop in the memory of the oldest settlers. On account of the excessive rainfall, threshing is just now in full swing, but the yields so far reported indicate that a high average will be made. The average yield per acre on wheat is said to be approximately 5 bushels. Selling price of wheat is as high as $2.05 per bushel. August 25, 1919: Workmen are busy tearing down the top of Farmers National Bank building preparatory to rebuilding the same. It will be put back in about six months and will have practically same arrangement of offices, for seven men are employed on job. May 9, 1919: During the first week of 1919 a total of 230,970 vehicles have been reported to the Texas State Highway Department for registration by the City Tax Collector. The statement shows that the tax collector of Callahan County has reported 707 for registration. BUY PUBLIC ADDRESS SYSTEM TO USE HERE

Given a four weeks vacation, Lewis C. Norman, left Cross Plains Sunday morning for Sherman where he joins J. E. Barrington, also of Cross Plains, in the opening of a business college to be known as North Texas Business College.

Both Mr. Norman and Mr. Barrington were members of Cross Plains school faculty, serving as Superintendent and Principal respectively.

Their public address system used for community undertakings the past several years was jointly purchased by the Chamber of Commerce, fire department and city, and will be turned over to R. L. Little, who will act as custodian of the equipment.

EARLY LEGISLATORS WERE PLENTY TOUGH

AUSTIN. — In early Texas history, legislators weren't content to shout angry words at each other across the halls of state, but preferred to fight it out with pistols and fists.

Records in the University of Texas library—being studied by William Hoyan, a graduate student from University, La. — reveal at least five fights occurred between law-makers during the Texas Republic.

The University of Louisiana historian said one day a shooting between two congressmen took place on the very steps of the Texas capitol—all over a matter of legislative policy.

On several occasions, Hogan said, the House adjourned to watch fights between legislators taking place on the capitol lawn.

In this great city that has no end; Yet days go by and weeks rush on, And before I know it a year is gone. And I never see my dear friend's face. For life is a swift and terrible race.

He knows I love him just as well As in the days when I rang his bell And he rang mine. We were younger then. We were not busy, tired men— Tired of playing a busy game, Tired of trying to make a name.

"Tomorrow," I say, "I'll call on Jim. Just to show that I am thinking of him." But tomorrow comes and tomorrow goes, And the distance between us grows and grows.

Around the corner! Yet miles away! "Jim died today." And that's what we get and deserve in the end— Around the corner, a departed friend!

IN MEMORY OF LENA VESTAL

A loved one's been taken from us. Taken from Earth for all time. Taken home to be with Jesus. In that happy sunny clime.

She'll be missed by all who knew her Husband, children, all her kin. 'Til we're reunited up there. Where no death can enter in.

She was such a tender Mother A loving devoted Wife And to each Sister and Brother She was faithful in this life.

She'll be missed by all her neighbors For she truly stood the test. Of her possessions and labors She gave unto them her best.

She was patient in her illness And I'm sure we do not know How! off' in the midnight stillness She prayed as she suffered so.

So the kind Heavenly Father Who watched o'er her night and day Knew every pain and bother Came and took her soul away.

And he carried her to Heaven Where the street is made of gold. A mansion to her He's given With beauties as yet untold.

There to meet her sainted kindred Spend, with them Eternity Where their pleasures won't be hindered And no sorrow ever seen.

She'll be waiting at the Portals For the Ones she's left behind With the rest of the Immortals Let us be ready to go.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey and I took pictures of her garden and of the baskets of fresh vegetables that she gathered. Mrs. Bailey had a pretty yard, as she explained not so much shrubbery but things that she planted the seed of each year. The yard seemed to be her one hobby.

We went to the back and there were chickens running around every where. She plans to keep the pullets, as she realizes that eggs are likely to stay a good price for several years to come. She had no expensive equipment but she made the best of what she had and looked to the future with a vision of better things.

Mrs. Bailey thinks that a live at home program is a sure way to help a farmer to have plenty of good food, health and a surer way of living. Some of those live at home items are a good garden, and a will to do, milk cows to furnish dairy products for the family table and any left over to be sold, chickens for home consumption and the extra over for sale for extra cash, and a good deal of pride in doing a great job of these things.

One dish meal training school was held for representatives of home demonstration clubs, Thursday in the home demonstration agents of office. 16 women attended from Atwell, Clyde, Denton, Tecumseh, Cross Plains, Euila, Zion Hill and Denton committees.

The one dish meal is a streamlined meal, planned to perform its task of supplying the family's food needs with the least possible friction and effort. And "friction" applies to disturbance of the pocketbook as well as to effort in the kitchen.

The one dish meal pattern is simple. First there is a protein-rich food, usually meat or cheese, or perhaps fish or eggs. Then there is a starchy food, such as potatoes or a cereal in some form, corn or rice, macaroni or noodles. Frequently one or more succulent vegetables are added, as well as onion, celery, parsley, and green pepper for seasoning. Tomatoes fit nicely into the main dish pattern, supplying color, flavor and liquid as well as valuable vitamin C.

Idally, the one dish presents a balanced meal. But the children should always have their milk and frequently a crisp raw vegetable salad or a fruit dessert are also needed to round out the balance. The protein food, always found in a true one dish, is necessary for building and repairing body tissues; while starchy foods furnish calories at comparatively low cost. The succulent vegetable supply vitamins and minerals. The following recipes are the one used at the training school.

DEHYDRATED SWEET POTATO PULP EQUALS CORN IN BEEF CALF TEST

COLLEGE STATION, Texas.—Another successful feeding experiment can be chalked up for dehydrated sweet potato pulp, as announced by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. A month ago a dairy feeding test of dried sweet potato pulp also proved highly satisfactory.

Sweet potato dehydrated meal has about the same efficiency as corn for fattening beef calves, a 140-day feeding test at College Station shows. Three lots of 360-pound heifer beef calves were fed in three different ways—one ground shelled corn, another dehydrated sweet potato pulp and the third equal parts of ground shelled corn and dehydrated sweet potato pulp.

The lot fed ground shelled corn made a daily gain of 1.82 pounds per head and dressed 69.3 per cent. The lot fed dehydrated sweet potatoes made a daily gain of 1.81 pounds per head and dressed 59.6 per cent. The third lot made a daily gain of 1.86 pounds per head and dressed 69.4 per cent.

In terms of productive value the sweet potato dehydrated pulp was virtually equal to corn—the ground shelled corn value being $5.3 therms and the dehydrated yam as $4.7 therms. The difference actually is so little that it can scarcely be distinguished. However, the calves showed a slight preference for ground corn as against a ration of dehydrated sweet potato pulp. Where the two feeds, shelled corn and dehydrated yam pulp were fed together the calves eagerly ate the ration.

The dehydrated sweet potato pulp was supplied for the test by Gilbert C. Wilson, industrial chemist of North Texas State Teachers College being produced at the experimental laboratory of the school in cooperation with the Denton Chamber and the Texas Power and Light Company. The successful feeding test is certain to overcome any prejudices against yam pulp on the part of farmers and feeders who in the past did not realize its importance in areas where corn yields poorly and sweet potatoes yield three times as much actual dry feed per acre.

NEW KIND PLOY-UP, IT'S BOTTLED IN BOND

The law may have clamped down on sale of whiskey but who would want to buy it anyway when you can dig it up. Government Bonded, too.

Commissioner Charlie Hollis of Hawley, Texas, reports that his men were grading the south-north road which runs just west of the old city lake this week and during the process uncovered seventeen one-half pints of whiskey, scattered up and down the road, a half-pint buried to the place.

Some of the bottles had been buried so long that the metal caps were rusted—but the contents were intact.

What disposition was made of the uncovered whiskey has not been announced.
