VOLUME 74-NUMBER 27

Happy Fire Cracker! Merry Sky Rocket! 'n all other appropriate greeting on this Fourth of July. If the weatherman cooperates with a traditional sizzler, this should be a great day. And don't let those advertisements of the big celebrations elsewhere fool you -- the mostest and the bestest of Fourth fun is happening right in your own back yard. For the second year, the Junior Wednesday Club is sponsoring a "Safe and Sane" stay-at-home Fourth of July party, which begins with swimming and diving contests at the Municipal Pool and includes ball games and a bathing beauty revue. Last year's celebration initiated the plan for a "Fun at Home Fourth," and it met with such resounding success that the club enlarged plans for this years' flesta which they believe you'll enjoy. you'll enjoy.

About Your Health . .

If you are the parent of a youngster who will start school for the first time this fall, you can help yourself and the State Department of Health by requesting a copy of his birth record now. cord now.

Most school systems require a birth certificate to prove the child was six years old on Sep-tember 1. By making early re-quests for birth records, parents can save themselves needless anxiety, their children some missed classwork and the Demissed classwork, and the De-partment a great deal of time.

Several hundred parents have already requested and received records of their children's birth, but tens of thousands of additional records will have to be pro-cessed between now and the time essed between now and the time school doors swing open for the new term. If too many people delay until August -- as they usually do -- the resulting bot-tleneck could very well mean your youngster will be barred when that first school bell rings.

The reason is obvious: The limited staff of the Division of Vital Statistics -- despite long hours of night and week-end work without overtime pay -can search just so many files,
extract just so many records, and photostat just so many copies in time for school's open-

Birth record keepers shudder when they think of the 247,500 children -- an estimate supplied by the Texas Education Agency -- who will be eligible to enter school for the first time this Sentember September.

Many of them have copies of birth records and will create no problem. Others live in areas where school officials do not re-quire proof of age before ad-mitting the child to classes.

But the majority do not have certified proof of age, despite the fact that they live in areas where school authorities insist on such proof. This is the category that means sleepless nights for health department statison such proof. This is the category that means sleepless nights for health department is statisticians and clerks.

The Department is prepared to give immediate service to requests coming in between now and mid-July. All parents have to do is give the child's name and date and place of birth, the mother's maiden name and the name of the father. That information, plus the legal fee of one dollar will buy anyone a copy of their birth record, providing the original is on file.

It's a good bet the original will be filed, since the Department keeps track of some 10 million birth and death records, some dating back to 1903.

Mrs. George Beard went to Austin, check with your local Dallas this week where she visited relatives and attended the Newman family reunion held there July 4th.

The either case do it soon That.

In either case do it soon. That fall bind can get mighty tight.

How Accidental Are Traffic Accidents?

This question was asked by J O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association, today, in connection with TSA's current Slow Down and Live pro-gram for Texas.

'The term 'accident' hardly seems appropriate for mishaps on the highway that are invited through careless or unlawful acts," Musick said. "Of course many violations are not deliber-ate -- just inattention or an im-pulse to take a chance -- but they are still inexcusable because of the damage they cause."

Musick said some people through their carelessness be hind the wheel, commit hara-kari by using an automobile in-stead of a Japanese dagger. He changed the suicide term slightly by calling it Hurri-Kari.

"Improper speed doesn't shor-ten the road; it shortens life," Musick said. "And this is the central theme of the Slow Down and Live program. We hope the campaign will call motorist's at-tention to the dangers of exces-sive speed, which accounted for

Speaking of Herbert Mason, it was so like him when he drove by our house last Friday just before noon and saw my parents Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Barrett, sitt-ing on the porch, to stop and visit a few minutes. When I extended a dinner invitation to Herb, he said: "Put me on a plate." Herbert is a childhood acquaintance and our parents were the closest of friends.
