COLLEGE COMETS IN BIG GAME HERE FRIDAY NIGHT AT 8:00

The Comets of Clarendon Junior College will go against one of the strongest women's teams in the nation here Friday night when they play their second game against nationally known Nashville Business College team from Nashville, Tennessee. The two teams met in their first game on Wednesday night.

The Nashville team is currently rated the No. 2 team in the United States in Women's AAU Basketball. The Wayland College Flying Queens are ranked first. The visiting team from Tennessee will present three of the finest women basketball players in the world. They have Martha Washington who is playing her fourth year of AAU basketball and has been selected on the All-American team three times. They also have Nera White who is playing her third season with the Nashville team and was picked on the All-American team last year. Miss White is an even six feet tall and is very fast. She is very outstanding on both offense and defense. Doris Scoggins is the third player who is very outstanding in every way. The visitors will also have Miss Peggy Tate who played with the Clarendon team during the 1954-55 season. They also have many other fine players. The NBC team went to the finals of the National Tournament last year, losing to the Flying Queens by six points. They are returning this year with all their key players of the past two years.

Representative Will Ehrle, District 88, has released this week his committee assignments in the House of Representatives for the 55th Texas Legislature as made by Speaker Waggoner Carr. Ehrle has been appointed to the following standing committees in the House: Aeronautics, Highways and Roads, Hospitals and Special Schools, Livestock and Stock Raising, and Public Printing.

In his statement Ehrle said that he was pleased with his assignments, particularly those of the Livestock and Highways committees. "I believe," Ehrle said, "that my committee appointments will give me a great opportunity for service to this district and for the state of Texas."

Hedley Team Wins Quail Tournament

Thursday night the Hedley basketball teams started a week end of tournaments with the freshmen boys team going to Quail and both of the Jr. High teams going to Lakeview. Thursday night, the Freshmen boys ran over Quail in a very one-sided game with the final score being 60-14 in favor of Hedley. Friday night they met Childress and won by only 2 points. Billy Wiggins took high point honors in the game. This put the boys into the finals with Memphis which they won by 8 points. Both Friday and Saturday nights, Don Cox was high point man.

Irrigation On Boom In Donley County

Irrigation is really on the boom in Donley County says County Agent H. M. Breedlove. It is hard to give an accurate estimate of the number of wells in the county because they are going down every day and the best estimate now is in excess of one hundred and fifty.

Lacy Noble just brought in a good six inch well in the Windy Valley community and good wells are being reported all over the county. It is a good idea to put down a test hole first and be sure that the water bearing sand is there; this is no guarantee that you will get a good well but it takes a lot of the guess work out of it before you put down the big hole.

Farmers are reporting big increased yields with irrigation. Frank Hardin reported that his irrigated land made more than four times that not irrigated. W. H. Cooke III reports four times as much on irrigated land. These kind of reports are coming in from irrigation farmers from all over the county who have been lucky enough to find water.

Mr. Tom Prater, Farm management specialist for the Texas A&M College Extension Service will be on the program for the big Agriculture Clinic to be held in Clarendon at the Mulkey Theatre on February 14th, and will give a talk on the Economics of Irrigation. All persons interested in irrigation should hear this talk as Mr. Prater will talk cost of irrigation from all angles and give comparisons with dry land farming. Be sure to attend the agriculture clinic and hear other speakers listed in the Leader last week along with Mr. Prater. The program starts at ten A. M. and ends at four in the afternoon.

DONLEY LAMB AND PIG SHOW SET FOR FRIDAY, JAN. 18th

Fifteen Steers Will Be Shown By 4-H Club At Amarillo Show

Donley County 4-H Club steers will start leaving for the Amarillo Show on Thursday afternoon and some will arrive early Friday morning says County Agent H. M. Breedlove. Fifteen steers will be shown by the 4-H Club. Some of the steers are being kept at home to put on additional weight for the Houston Show in February.

The judging at the Amarillo Show will start at 9:00 A. M. on Monday the 21st says the county agent. The show will end on Friday the 25th with a big sale. Some of the Donley county steers will sell but a large number will be brought home to go on to the Houston show.

4-H Club members will eat and sleep in the big 4-H Club bus and more space will be needed, so Hershel Heath, owner of the AAA Motor Co. is letting the 4-H Clubbers use his bus in addition to the present bus to accommodate all of the members showing steers. This will eliminate all expense for sleeping quarters and meals will come cheap with their own meals being cooked on the bus. Breedlove says that Mr. Heath has been a big help to the 4-H Club members in helping fix up their bus and now he is loaning his bus to help take care of all making the trip. There will be a few members who will stay with relatives in Amarillo, but all who had to pay room rent will be housed in the buses. Everyone is urged to come by and see the buses and there might be a hot cup of coffee on hand.

Bulldogs Meet Sayre JC Here Saturday Night

The Bulldogs of Clarendon Junior College will be out to get above the 500 mark here Saturday night when they meet the Sayre, Oklahoma, Junior College team. The Bulldogs have won six games and lost the same number this season against perhaps the strongest schedule ever attempted by a CJC team. Their losses have come at the hands of the strong Cameron State Aggies of Lawton, Oklahoma, twice, and once each to West Texas Freshmen, Midwestern University Freshmen, Hutchinson, Kansas, Junior College and Lamar, Colorado Junior College. They hold wins over Wayland College Freshmen, West Texas Freshmen, Midwestern Freshmen, Lamar, Western City, Kansas and Prat, Kansas Junior Colleges.

The Bulldogs are currently playing an exceptionally good brand of basketball. They are making up for a lack of experience with a hustling, never-give-up, type of play that is very pleasing to the fans. Boyd White, Jay Wilson, Steve Jarnigan, Buzz Bailey, Norman Killough and Layne Cushingberry are carrying the load at present and are giving all their opponents plenty of trouble.

High School Basketball Teams To Play At Memphis Friday Night

The classy Clarendon Bronchos, led by Jerry Behrens, 6 foot center and Eddie Baten 6'1 forward, will travel to Memphis to play two basketball games Friday, January 18th. The girls game will begin at 7 p. m. and the boys game will follow immediately.

The Bronchos have played two district games so far and they have won both by convincing scores. Tuesday night they downed a good Lefors team 58-35; then Friday they defeated a taller McLean team 54-36. Against Lefors, Behrens scored 23 points for high point man. He was followed closely by Richard Vallance with 16. In the McLean game, Behrens hit 21 and Baten recorded 16. The boys have been hitting at a very consistent pace and all hope they can keep it up. The probable starting lineup for the boys will be Behrens at center, Baten and John Morrow at forwards and Donald Mills and Vallance at guards. Other players seeing considerable action are W. N. Elam and Doyle Graham. Graham has as good an eye for the basket as anyone on the team.

The girls have broken even in their two district games. They were stopped by a good McLean team 58-44, then they defeated Lefors 48-26. The girls, although small, are always hustling and exceptionally quick. They are led by Jo Ann Bennett and Virginia Taylor, forward and guard respectively. Glenda Borden led the scoring in the McLean game by pumping in 21 points. Jo Ann Bennett was the high point girl against Lefors as she dropped 26 points thru the hoop.

Probable starters for the Bronchos are Jo Ann Bennett, Glenda Borden and Barbara Darnell at forwards. The guards will be Virginia Taylor, Beth Lamberth and Maggie Morrow.

INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE UNITED STATES TREASURY DEPARTMENT

Businesses with large payrolls were urged today by James Z. Pearce of the Internal Revenue Service to release 1956 W-2 tax withholding statements to their employees now to speed up filing, payment and adjustment of many individual taxpayer returns.

With their W-2s available, taxpayers will be able to prepare their own income tax forms at once and send them to Internal Revenue Service 2101 Pacific, Dallas, Texas. Make checks or money orders payable to the Internal Revenue Service. Please don't send cash, IRS asks.

"To hundreds of our fellow citizens," Mr. Pearce said, "the withholding tax represents their entire tax indebtedness. In some instances, there may be a small overpayment or underpayment. Such cases can be easily detected when the individual reads the comprehensive instructions. We'd appreciate taxpayer cooperation in getting all such forms in to us at once. That will help us take care of the heavy work load during the deadline period.

"Our office will gladly help taxpayers with knotty problems. If you think a phone call will do the trick, call us at DR 2-6516. If you feel that a personal visit is the only way, come in and bring your papers, including everything concerning your income for 1956. Scheduled Taxpayer Information days are each Monday morning.

"We are urging taxpayers to file and pay early before the hectic rush of the second week in April."

Simplified Punch-Card Form Makes Possible Easier Tax Return

As a result of surveys and studies conducted by the Internal Revenue Service, several million taxpayers who last year filed their returns on Form 1040 are this year receiving in the mail the simplified punch-card Form 1040A, which makes possible easier preparation of a return that can be more readily processed by the Service.

The card form enables the taxpayer to provide all pertinent information on his income and exemption status, if his income was less than $5,000 during 1956, consisting of salary or wages from which tax was withheld, and he had no more than $100 total of other wages, dividends and interest, and if his deductible expenses were less than the standard 10 per cent calculated as part of the tax table for incomes up to that figure.

For those taxpayers with less than $5,000 income but with allowable deductions exceeding 10 per cent, the regular Form 1040 should be used to obtain a refund or reduce the balance of tax due.

You may not use Form 1040A if you:

- 1. Have income other than that described above;
2. Claim status as Head of Household;
3. Claim status as Surviving Spouse;
4. Claim credit for Retirement Income;
5. Claim credit for dividends;
6. Are delinquent in filing your return;
7. Claim exclusion for sick pay;
8. Do not use cash basis;
9. Use fiscal years;
10. File a separate return from your spouse in Texas, a community property state;

- 11. Paid estimated tax during the year;
12. Are subject to Self-Employment Tax;
13. Itemize deductions;
14. Claim credit for overpayment of Social Security Tax;
15. Claim travel, transportation or other expenses;
16. Are a nonresident alien;
17. Your income was more than $5,000.

A new feature of the card form this year is the addition of lines making it possible for the taxpayer to compute his own tax from the table provided on the instruction sheet. District Director Ellis Campbell, Jr., urged North Texas taxpayers to make this calculation, rather than have the service do it, so that they may know at once whether they owe additional tax, are due a refund, or have exactly fulfilled their tax obligation by withholding tax payments. Where additional tax is shown due, the taxpayer should send remittance with the card form.

Taxpayers required to file on Form 1040 and who did not receive a form in the mail may obtain a Form 1040 from their bank, post office or the nearest Internal Revenue Service office.

Silver and gold coins have a rough edge because if they were smooth it would be easy to file off some of the valuable metal without changing the coin's appearance.

GABIE BETTS BURTON LIBRARY NOTES

By May L. Prewitt

We have some gift copies of books that are miscellaneous. The "Boys Second Book of Great Detective Stories", edited by Howard Haycraft, "Beacon Lights of Literature" by Chamberlain and Richards; "How to Study Pictures" by Coffin; then two memorials: "The Silver Horn of Robin Hood" by Donald E. Cooke is written in an easy reading style; the "Trouble Hunter" by Montgomery M. Atwater is another memorial that is a forest ranger story. These are in memory of Tom Goodner. His two shelves have an excellent collection of books.

"The Warrior." by Frank G. Slaughter is a recent book that you each might find readable. His books are popular. The setting is the Seminole War period about 1835. A friend gave us a copy of "Little Britches" by Moody. I wish we had each of the three he has written about "Little Britches."

There are some excellent books for boys now if we can have an opportunity to order them. Our membership is increasing slightly for adults.

INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE UNITED STATES TREASURY DEPARTMENT

Farmers and ranchers who hire workers on their places are reminded by Mr. James Z. Pearce of Internal Revenue Service that social security taxes apply to cash wages paid to every farm-ranch worker to whom the employer pays $100 or more in cash wages for 1956.

"The taxes, two per cent employer and two per cent employee, apply only to cash wages paid covered farm-ranch hands," Mr. Pearce said.

Employers owing these taxes must file a tax return on Form 943, and pay the taxes, on or before January 31, 1957. Farm-ranch employers are advised to file returns promptly to avoid penalty for late filing.

Employers of covered workers who haven't already registered with the IRS district director's office must do so at once. The registration form, SS-4, can be obtained from any Revenue or Social Security office. All registered employers will receive their necessary return forms and simplified instructions by mail.

OUR "COLORLESS" MALES

Ten times as many men are color blind as women, according to statistics released by the Murrine Company of Chicago. One man in 25 suffers from this malady, while it affects only one woman in 250. Color blindness is an hereditary factor which shows up in a girl only when both parents are affected—while only one color blind parent is enough to pass this ailment along to a son.

Traffic All Snarled Up!

WATER TRAFFIC—How these Venetian boatmen steer their craft without plowing into one another is a navigation miracle. This mass of gondolas and assorted vessels glide along the Grand Canal in Venice, Italy, as part of the traditional festivities marking "The Wedding of Venice With The Sea," climaxing the tourist season.

TRAFFIC BOTTLENECK—This picture presents an unusual traffic "bottleneck"—two hamsters scuffling over the same bottle of milk. When this pair of two-year-olds were abandoned by their mother, an enterprising Irvington, N. J., man came up with this ingenious idea of feeding. (U. P. Photos)

AIR TRAFFIC—This sight of a mass of TV antennae protruding above a ramshackle weather-beaten house in Moscow verifies Russians have TV reception problems, too. Although Muscovite factory workers seemingly earn only enough for the bare essentials of life, here's proof they enjoy modern luxury items such as TV sets.

Local F.F.A. Chapter Plans Busy Schedule For Stock Shows

Friday will mark the beginning of a very busy two weeks for 75 members of the Clarendon F.F.A. Chapter. The entire membership will participate all day Friday in the Donley County Fat Stock Show; a majority of the members will exhibit animals in the swine and lamb divisions of the show.

Friday night the group will haul their lambs and pigs to Amarillo and get them bedded and penned. Claude DeBord, Bob Longan, James Mahaffey, and Don Hudgins will take their calves to Amarillo on Friday. All of the Clarendon entries except the lambs and approximately 15 pigs will be released from the Amarillo Show on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons so they may arrive at the Fort Worth Show in proper time.

All of the boys exhibiting pigs and lambs at Amarillo will be expected to work with their stock at Amarillo on Saturday and Sunday, and the entire group exhibiting lambs will remain through Monday to exhibit their lambs. The boys exhibiting calves will also exhibit their animals on Monday. Part of the boys exhibiting pigs will have to remain with their stock through Tuesday and the remainder through Wednesday. Pat Roberson, Keith Schollenberger, Jimmy Stout, Butch Emmons, and Jackie Phillips will care for the pigs and lambs at Amarillo on Thursday and Friday and assist in getting the Clarendon entries through the sale on Friday.

Wednesday afternoon Bob Longan, Carl Talley, Sam Wells, Jitter Graham, Steve Mills, and one other member will take the chapter's entries to Fort Worth and prepare them for exhibition there. They will have approximately 120 head of hogs and a number of registered heifers and baby beeves entered in the show there. The remainder of the group making the Fort Worth trip will leave by bus Friday afternoon, help exhibit their animals in Fort Worth Saturday, and return home Sunday the 27th. Lowell Hall, Dennis Bradshaw, Wayne Mann will spend the week of January 28th at Fort Worth to care for the animals. J. R. Gillham, local Vo-Ag instructor, will supervise the work of the youths at these shows.

Mrs. Joe Bowns plans to leave Friday to spend the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Killough in Mineral Wells.

Amarillo Stock Show And Indoor Rodeo January 19-25th

On a tour to publicize and invite persons in this area to the annual Amarillo Stock Show and All Professional Indoor Rodeo, beginning January 19 and continuing through January 25, a group of Amarillo businessmen were in Clarendon Monday, January 14th.

Heading the delegation, which also visited other cities in this area was Carl Dupriest. Others in the group were Carl Schell, Geo. Autry and S. B. Whittenburg.

All world champion rodeo performers and many other top money winners plan to participate in the seven performances at Amarillo, according to Mr. Dupriest. He said that numerous feature acts, including Swede Fuller and his Golden Retrievers, will appear at all rodeo performances to further entertain all age groups. Fuller's animals are hunting dogs as well as show dogs and do retrieving both on land and in water with live ducks. Spotlights in the fun department will be the world-renowned rodeo clowns Gene and Bobby Clark, whose daring and mirth provoking stunts keep the rodeo programs moving rapidly. Also on hand will be Jimmy Wakely, famous Western movie actor and song recording artist.

The stock show and rodeo boosters reported a record number of entries had been received for the 1957 exposition, which has become the area's greatest winter event. They said enthusiasm for this year's gala attraction is at an all-time peak, with many cities planning to sponsor organized delegations along with their 4-H, FFA and cattlemen groups.

This year's stock show and rodeo will hold added luster, for it will mark the 50th anniversary of the Panhandle Hereford Breeders Association, organized in Amarillo in 1907. Although none of the original members are alive, several persons date their membership back for more than 40 years. Among these are R. T. Alexander, Amarillo and Canadian; Pronger Brothers, Stratford; G. C. Hutchinson, Tulia; E. E. Adams, Amarillo; Tom A. Dowlen, Amarillo; Hugh Doak, Claude; Ralph Allred, Amarillo; C. C. Poff, Tulia; Horace Baker, Claude; C. M. Carpenter, McLean; W. L. Williams, Wheeler; W. M. Gouddy, Amarillo. Bill Dameron of Hereford is president of the Panhandle Hereford Breeders Association.

First of the seven rodeo performances will be given Saturday night, January 19. The second performance is slated for Sunday afternoon, January 20. There will be performances each night thereafter through Friday, January 25.

The world's top rodeo hands will come to Amarillo from Denver. After competing in Amarillo they will proceed to Fort Worth for the annual event in that city.

Annual conventions and style shows, dances, banquets are scheduled throughout stock show week for the men and women of the Golden Spread region's livestock industry.

Amarillo businessmen, according to D. G. Dolby, President, are employing a professional decorator to dress up the old cowtown as a form of welcome to the thousands of visitors expected at the stock show and rodeo.

Rodeo tickets are available by mail order. Prices range from $1.00 for children under 12 to $3.00 for box seats. Mail orders should be sent to RODEO, Box 7074 South Amarillo Post Office, Amarillo, Texas.

SERVICES AT MISSIONARY BAPTIST CHURCH

Church services will be held at the Missionary Baptist Church from Friday, the 18th thru Sunday night January 20th. Friday, Saturday and Sunday night services begin at 7:30. Saturday morning service will be at 10:30; Sunday morning, Sunday school will be held at 10 and regular services at 11 o'clock.

Eld. John W. Reynolds of Tyler, Texas, pastor, will conduct the services. The public is invited.

Bulldogs Take 82 to 81 Victory Over West Texas State Freshmen

The Clarendon Junior College Bulldogs gained a hard fought victory over the West Texas State Freshmen team at the local gymnasium Saturday night by a score of 82 to 81. With 17 seconds remaining on the clock the score was tied 79 to 79, Jay Wilson was fouled. He made the first shot but missed the second and Steve Jarnigan tipped the ball in the basket to make the score 82 to 79. The young Buffaloes made two more points just as the game ended.

The West Texas Freshmen fielded a starting team that averaged six feet four inches in height and pretty well controlled the ball throughout most of the game. They jumped into a quick lead and at one time in the first half held a 12 point advantage over the shorter Bulldogs. The half ended with the visitors holding a 48 to 42 lead. Boyd White, stellar Bulldog forward, went out on fouls early in the second half, but the determination of such young Bulldogs as Jarnigan, Buzz Bailey, Norman Killough, Layne Cushingberry and Jay Wilson kept the home team in the game. Jarnigan again was high point man for the Bulldogs with 24 points followed by Bailey with 20, White with 18 and Wilson with 11. Other Bulldogs entering the scoring column was Cushingberry who tallied five points and Killough with four. The all-around play of Jarnigan and the terrific defensive effort of Killough was perhaps the high points of the game. Killough, who stands only six feet three inches, picked off 19 rebounds from around the much taller Buffaloes.

Jr. High Teams Win Double Victories

The two Junior High teams enjoyed a double victory this past week end when they played Lelia Lake Jan. 10 and Lakeview Jan. 14.

The score for the girls game at Lelia Lake was 51-33. The high point players were Alice Johnson with 17 and Sharon Moore with 14. The starting lineup was Alice Johnson, Barbara McBrayer, Sharon Moore, Janie Smith, Martha Jo Risley and Jackie McClellan.

The boys won 33-22. The starting lineup and number of points are: Howard Talley 12, Philip Abel 8, Neel Carter 3, Ronnie Hall 4, and Gary Longan 4.

The girls won 41 to 24 at Lakeview. The same starting lineup was used with Alice Johnson making 14 points, Barbara McBrayer 17 and Sharon Moore 6.

The boys won 29-8 with Howard Talley being the high point man. The starting lineup was the same.

ATTENDS PIANO CLINIC AND LUNCHEON

Mrs. Velma Weaver, instructor in public school music and choral in the Clarendon schools, attended a piano clinic and luncheon at the Blackstone Hotel in Amarillo Saturday. The Clinic was conducted by David Carr Glover of Richmond, Virginia, and was sponsored by Tolzien Music Co.

Mr. Glover is one of the most noted of young composers and is an accomplished musician. He is thirty-one years of age and has been composing since the age of fourteen. At the present time he is working on two new manuscripts concerning the teaching of popular music. He stressed the fact that pupils must study classical music before taking up the study of popular music. Amarillo is one of twelve cities in Texas to hold this Clinic all of which is a part of an eighteen month tour of the U. S.

Attendance at the Clinic was by invitation only with teachers present from the Panhandle of Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico.

"Nobody gets hurt on the corners of a square deal."

Now ain't that just about the whole truth. Just as long as we keep our dealings on the level and on the square we never have any trouble, but the very moment that we start slicing off a corner here and making a slight dip from the level there we find that not only will our fellow man get scratched but we are sure to get nicked on the deal our very own self. Maybe sometimes we even get by with the thing at the time but if we take advantage of our neighbor or even just our fellow-man we can not help but live in regret.

Speaking of the large number of traffic deaths during the recent holidays we noticed the following little ditty that sort of brings out one point at least, that of being in too much of a hurry. It goes:
One life is all you'll ever have,
Slow down before you lose it.
It seems a crime
To make good time
And then not live to use it.

Most of our terrible deaths on the highway could be cured by two things: Slow down, and stay sober. Not just speed alone but the spirit of hurry makes us try to pass that car up front when we are not sure that we have the time and many of the other so-called chances that most motorists take. Drunkenness behind the wheel is by far the most vicious because to have a 3000 lb. hunk of steel aimed at you at high speed by someone who can not be reasoned with because he has no sense of reason left, is even more serious than have a pistol pointed at you by a maniac. The pistol could hit only you; the car can kill a carload.

can be so right until we are wrong." Literally that might be an impossible statement, but we can be so dogmatic and stubborn toward the other fellow's attitude toward our attitude about some issue that even though we may be right in our stand we can destroy all our influence by the attitude we take.

On the other hand we hear that: "If we don't stand for something we will fall for anything." This is also true. If we take our stand on something and with a right spirit insist on everyone else having his same privilege then our influence for right can go out into the world without being smothered by our stubbornness. For instance we can take our stand against the liquor evil; we can pray, and work, and vote our own convictions without taking our arguments out on those who are victims of the terrible habit. We can just remember that we have some bad habits too.

Water-Short Texas Towns Waking Up

TEMPLE—Water-short Texas towns are waking up to the opportunity of adding to their water supplies through the Department of Agriculture water-shed protection and flood prevention programs in the Trinity and Colorado water-sheds and in local projects assisted under Public Law 566.

State Conservationist H. N. Smith of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service reports growing interest on the part of municipalities eager to pay added costs to provide needed water storage behind floodwater retarding dams.

Smith explained that the dams are designed as detention structures primarily. Their purpose is to slow down floodwaters and release them automatically at a rate stream channels can hold. Each dam must first be justified on the basis of its usefulness in flood prevention. Water storage for any purpose other than flood prevention must be secondary and in keeping with state law.

Applications for SCS help under the comparatively new Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act (Public Law 566) now total 113, Smith reported. Modification of the Act has made it easier for municipalities and special purpose districts to make use of the program in meeting local water needs.

In the new watershed protection program, municipalities or other authorized organizations can build water storage into a floodwater retarding structure by paying the difference in cost, Smith explained. The city of Kaufman, in the Kaufman-Van Zandt Soil Conservation District, was the first Texas city to take advantage of the water-storing opportunity.

Added capacity of 1834 acre feet was built into a floodwater retarding structure on Big Cottonwood Creek, a small watershed in the big Upper Trinity flood prevention program.

The 1834 acre feet of storage—nearly 600 million gallons—was provided at a cost to Kaufman of $18,114.

Smith said construction has started on a similar project near Coolidge, Texas, to provide 355 acre feet of storage for that city in the Pin Oak Creek Watershed program.

In the new watershed protection program the government can lend up to $5 million for periods of as long as 50 years at a rate of 2½ percent. The loan is retired on an annual basis. There is no such loan provided in the older Upper Trinity and Middle Colorado flood prevention program.

SCS is authorized by the new law to cooperate with local subdivisions of government in building structures up to 5000 acre feet of floodwater detention capacity. Additional storage up to 25,000 acre feet in total capacity can be provided for municipal water supplies.

A city of water district must use its own engineer or employ one to determine water needs and suitability of the watershed and the proposed structure for a municipal supply. The local engineer may re-design the dam to include the additional storage, or the city or water district may use SCS engineering help and reimburse the agency.

Smith explained that the objective of the locally sponsored watershed program is to give protection to land, crops and property against flood damage. Soil conservation treatment of land in the watershed is fundamental. It insures a long period of usefulness for the floodwater retarding structures by reducing sediment carried by runoff into streams and reservoirs. It also benefits the farmer and rancher through more efficient use of land and available moisture.

District Director of Internal Revenue Ellis Campbell Jr. is asking for the cooperation of all employers in the early distribution of withholding tax statements, Form W-2, to their employees. The forms must be issued by January 31, 1957, and pending the agency.

ARMY RANGER OFFICERS—Students move through the Florida swamps in a reconnaissance action of The Infantry School. All Regular Army Lieutenants must qualify as Ranger or Paratroop officers.

alties are provided for employers who fail to distribute them on time.

Director Campbell explained that the Form W-2 is a necessary part in the filing of a Federal income tax return by an employee. Taxpayers who have these forms at an early date will be able to file their returns well before the deadline of April 15. Returns resulting in refunds will receive special handling to expedite the refunds.

Blank Forms W-2 are available at the Internal Revenue District office located at Amarillo, Texas. The form is to be made out in triplicate, showing the wages paid to the employee during 1956 and the amount of income tax withheld from his wages. Employers are reminded that they must issue a Form W-2 to each employee whose income was subject to withholding and also to any employee who would have been subject to withholding if he had only one exemption.

"DUVAL COUNTY, USA"

This is the first in a series of ten articles by New York newspaper reporters Frederick Hodgson and Franz Rosenwald, who recently spent several weeks in Duval Co. and South Texas, gathering facts for this series.

Ballots, Bullets, Beatings, Booty: That's The Story of Duval County

By-FREDERICK HODGSON

NUBUO LAREDO, MEX.—We, Franz Rosenwald and I, have just been looking over the parking lot where a dark, baby-faced pistolero, Alfredo Cervantes, abandoned his big green automobile, Texas license EL2240, a few hours after he'd killed young Jacob Floyd in Alice, Texas, 86 miles away.

Cervantes must have had a wild ride that night, almost four years ago, and his knuckles must have been white on the wheel as he drove onto the Rio Grande bridge from Laredo.

What if the Rangers were ahead of him?

What if they'd caught his fellow killer, Mario "The Turk" Esplet, and El Turco had talked?

Cervantes breathed easier perhaps as he recalled that El Turco wouldn't dare talk. The life of El Turco, the braggart, the hired assassin, wouldn't be worth a plugged centavo if he uttered a word that would lead to the men "higher up," or to Cervantes. It was a comforting thought.

The center of the span was nearer now. The two officers there, one American and one Mexican, were talking, paying little attention to the approaching automobile. In a second he was past them. He was in Mexico. He was safe.

Here in Nuevo Laredo Cervantes had a couple of quick tequilas at the International Gardens, Ricky Callione's place, to steady his nerves. Then he paid his three pesos—twenty five cents—and vanished.

And to this day El Turco, now serving 99 years in Huntsville Prison, hasn't talked. He wouldn't live long, even in Huntsville, if he did. And The Turk knows it.

What's all this got to do with Boss George Bertram Parr, the tottering Duke of Duval?

The answer, mister, is plenty, but plenty!

Dictatorships, whether they're red as in Russia, black as in Mussolini's Italy, brown as in Hitler's Germany, or red, white and blue as in Parr's Duval, follow the same pattern—ballots, beatings, bullets and booty. The ballots are phony but the others are real. All four figure in the story of Duval County, Texas.

To non-Texans looking in, to observers such as Franz Rosenwald and myself, the political situation in Duval County is utterly far from—and frightening.

That it can happen here, in America, the home of the free, brings one's thinking up with a jolt.

Dictatorship developed in Duval because the right set of political circumstances existed. And, with Attorney General John Ben Shepperd operating the battering ram, it's now being broken up—because the right set of circumstances exists.

Being outsiders, we are not presumed to point out that circumstances favorable to a clean-up of Duval County could have been brought about any time during the last 50 years, but weren't. Let's just say that the fact that Attorney General Shepperd dared to take on George Parr after 50 years made this series of articles possible.

What if the right set of political circumstances for dictatorship were to come about in other counties, in Texas or anywhere else? Or in whole states? Or even in the entire United States?

That idea isn't intended to be funny. Hitler rose to power because of "the right set of political circumstances." So did old Archie Parr, founder of the dynasty in the Duchy of Duval.

Franz Rosenwald was born and raised in Berlin, and he watched the ridiculous little man with the Charlie Chaplin moustache destroy the Weimar Republic and set up the Third Reich. His personal tragedy under the Hitler terror was great.

Like myself, Rosenwald didn't believe that such a place as Duval County could possibly exist in the Western world, until he came to Texas and saw for himself. Until he talked to little people who had been beaten and ruined, the little people whose names do not appear in the papers. Until he talked to the families of men who had been killed.

Until he talked face to face with one of the killers, a professional murderer, a hired pistolero.

Rosenwald, who has lived under the red shirts and under the brown shirts, and who doesn't like either of them, has written several pieces in this series. And he shows the startling similarity between the methods of Boss Parr and the methods of Hitler's bully boys.

Back in April of this year Rosenwald and I called John Ben Shepperd long distance from New York and talked about a book, and possibly a motion picture, about the Duval story. Then he sent us a long telegram, reading in part, "The Duval story is a story we that America should know, not because of what's happened there but to prevent a recurrence anywhere in the country. Our office will cooperate in every way."

Later we met Mr. Shepperd in Atlanta City, New Jersey, and heard him address a session of the National Association of Attorneys General, of which he is president. We were talking in his hotel room when he received word that Boss Parr had "given back" the 55,000-acre Dobie Ranch, a piece of real estate that Parr had bought for himself with Duval County funds.

The Duval story looked pretty grim even from that distance. Just how grim we didn't realize until we hopped an airplane to Austin. There we hired an automobile from Avis and covered more than 4,000 miles of South Texas and Mexico and had a good look at the Duval story for ourselves. We weren't prepared for what we saw and heard.

Texans have lived so close to the Duval story for the past half century that it's old hat by now. Sometimes in the papers there is a story about a killing, the story told out of focus, without relation to the background. Or a spot news story about an indictment, a trial, or a sentence—again told out of focus, because that's the way newspapers have to work. Sometimes Boss Parr hits the front pages with a political pronouncement when he endorses a candidate, or dunnies a candidate, for reasons of his own.

But, by and large, the full story of Duval hasn't been really and fully told, has never been pulled together all in one place and in complete focus so that the whole picture, clear and sharp, can be seen at one time.

That's what Franz Rosenwald and this writer propose to do.

And we'll tell the story in terms of real, live people, the people who, like the men of the Alamo, of San Jacinto, of Goliad, are fighting—and dying—for the right to be free.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

THE 85th CONGRESS CONVENES

Shortly after high noon on the 2nd day of January the Honorable Sam Rayburn, who had been duly elected Speaker, rapped his gavel and called to order the first session of the House of Representatives of the 85th Congress of the United States of America. Across the Capitol the same procedure obtained in the Senate where the Vice President was presiding. The oath of office was administered to all those present and the organizational activities commenced immediately.

There was ample indication from the beginning that this session of the Congress would not go wanting for explosive issues. In fact, Dulles had been conferring with Members of the Congress for several days prior to January 3rd in an effort to obtain some degree of unanimity in pushing over the resolution to grant unlimited powers to the President for use of American boys in foreign areas. At the same time it was announced that the President would appeal to a joint session of the Congress on January 5 in an effort to push over the resolution.

These activities clearly indicate that most of the big issues will stem from the international problems and our foreign policy. The Hungarian refugee program will prove much more explosive than anticipated by many. People are beginning to ask numerous questions concerning this particular situation. For instance, the Washington mail brings in such questions as these: What is the national extraction or the predominant blood line of the refugees? What is their average age? What kind of work can they do? What kind of work are they willing to do? Why isn't Russia making more of an effort to keep them from escaping? Is it possible that some of them have been Moscow trained? Will the relaxing of our immigration laws, in order to take care of these refugees on a temporary basis, result in efforts to completely change our immigration laws? Are many of these people more interested in obtaining U. S. citizenship than in what happens to Hungary?

There is no reason why these questions and many others should not be answered fully and to the satisfaction of the people of this country. At the present there are doubts in many minds. One woman called an agency which had been advertised as having something to do with this program. She explained to the agency that she could provide facilities and employment for one or two who would be interested in doing domestic work. She was advised by the agency that the refugees were not interested in doing domestic work—that most of them were skilled workers and professional people; that, in fact, a bulletin had just been issued by the main office of the agency to the effect that the refugees were definitely not interested in doing domestic work. This situation created two questions in my mind. In the first place, if they were interested in escaping, it would seem to me that they would not be so choosy about their employment. In the second place, it occurred to me that a troublesome situation could develop from the importation of skilled workers to replace our own citizens in many instances. There has been a growing fear on the part of many of our people who are getting up in years that their services are no longer needed or wanted in the skilled-worker field and in several of the commercial fields. Many of these people have written me concerning their dilemma. It would be tragic if people from foreign countries were imported into our own country and placed into jobs that should be occupied by our own citizens regardless of the particular work to be done. Many other incidents such as the above have given rise to the doubts and created the questions. Therefore, I think that an early answer to all of the questions would be in order.

U. S. TROOPS ON FOREIGN SOIL

Probably the most important issue that will face this Congress and this country for a long time to come is, the request of President Eisenhower that he be granted unlimited powers to use American boys in foreign lands to help stem communism. Everyone would join in most any effort to help stem communism, but it must be remembered that the use of American boys in foreign fields is a very, very serious matter. Under such powers the President could dispatch the troops to such place as he saw fit and say that it was being done for the purpose of stemming communism. No one would doubt his sincerity in his conclusion, but there are many, many people in this country who could very well conclude that the use of American troops in that particular area was not stemming communism. In other words, there is no need to beg the question. If it is the opinion and will of the American people that one man, to wit, the President of the United States, should have the authority to dispatch American boys in uniform to any part of this world, that power should be unlimited. Communism knows no particular area. It can be employed in several widely separated places simultaneously or can be handled in such manner as Moscow might decide. The real question is whether or not one man should have such powers or whether the matter should be left to the elected representatives of the people to act at such time as need for action arises.

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ:

Most of us have our income tax withheld from our salaries by our employers during the year and like it that way. Some of us, however, pay income tax through quarterly payments. Folks who pay their income tax through quarterly payments often make a very common error. In filing their tax return, they claim to have paid four quarterly payments on their tax when actually they have paid only three payments and are filing their tax returns and paying the tax instead of making the fourth payment. If you paid estimated tax during the year, be sure to claim only the tax you have paid.

AUSTIN — Austin is in its every-other-January whirl. Inaugural festivities on the 15th will climax two weeks of fanfare traditional to the premiere of a new state administration.

Stepped-up tempo in the Capitol began New Year's Day when scores of new officials took the oath of office. It redoubled this week as gavels banged in another Legislature.

Next week thousands more will arrive to "dance in the new governor." Their 1957 inaugural invitations are unusually elaborate—gold-embossed and purple-tassled. Forty thousand were printed.

Other arrangements are similarly lavish. An hour-long parade will precede the high noon swearing-in ceremony in front of the Capitol. In the afternoon there'll be a band concert, then a reception at the Capitol. That evening Gov. and Mrs. Price Daniel and Lt. Gov. and Mrs. Ben Ramsey will lead the grand march of state officials and their wives at the chief inaugural ball at Gregory Gymnasium. From there the official party will make a round of the four other balls over town.

Citizens of Austin pick up the check for this biannual spree. Estimated cost this year: $15,000.

Land Commr. Earl Rudder begins his first elective term with a re-organized board.

A new constitutional amendment dropped the governor and attorney general as ex-officio board members. Instead, the governor is required to appoint two "citizens at large," one versed in finance, the other in veterans affairs.

Board members immediately went to work on the new $100,000,000 bond issue for veterans land buying as authorized in the same amendment.

WILSON PROMISES STATE SUPPORT
New Attorney General Will Wilson promised to "consistently support state sovereignty" in cases where federal-state authority is at issue.

Wilson said his office would seek to protect school officials and students from violence and intimidation stemming from desegregation efforts.

He also promised to push completion of the Duval County and veterans land cases begun by his predecessor, John Ben Shepperd.

OFFICIAL CHANGE-ABOUT
Will Wilson's resignation as Supreme Court justice last summer touched off a chain reaction.

Results: James R. Norvell of San Antonio is the new Supreme Court justice. He was elected.

H. D. Barrow of Jourdan was appointed by Gov. Shivers to succeed Norvell as associate justice of the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals at San Antonio.

John F. May of Karnes City was appointed by Shivers to succeed Barrow as judge of the 81st district court.

Richard L. Dobie Jr. of Cotulla was appointed to succeed May as 81st district attorney.

Gov. Shivers also named L. D. Ratliff of Spur as judge of the 110th district court. And more than a score of others were appointed to state agencies, commissions and college boards.

Another appointee, John Osorio of Austin, was elected chairman of the Board of Insurance Commissioners immediately after taking office as a member.

Also in the swearing-in news, through a novel coincidence, were two old hands. Supreme Court Justice Robert Calvert administered the oath to State Comptroller Robert Calvert. No kin.

He will be general counsel for extensive West Texas and New Mexico oil and banking interests. And definitely no more politics, said Shepperd, who didn't run for re-election. He said he returned more than $11,000 sent him in one day only, for a U. S. Senate campaign.

WATER TAX OKAYED
Last minute efforts are under way to firm up recommendations to the Legislature for financing Texas water storage facilities.

A water use tax has been approved by the Texas Water Resources Committee. A proposal to levy taxes on fishermen has been shelved.

Sportsmen went gunning for the latter measure at a public hearing. They said the proposed levies on boats, motors and licenses would fall on a few, to benefit all; would discriminate against sporting equipment dealers; and would divert customers to other states.

Given approval was a water use tax which would require a constitutional amendment. Uses subject to the tax would include irrigation and hydro-electric power, as well as others. Expected revenue was figured at nearly $2,000,000 annually.

Only as a signal of distress may the American flag be flown upside down.

Duval's Background For Dictatorship Is One of Violence and Sudden Death

By-FREDERICK HODGSON

SAN DIEGO, TEX.—To know the history of Duval County is to understand the power of George B. Parr. To know the county's people is to know Parr himself.

Parr's power, and that of his father before him, is based on the Latin-American, by tradition an easily led "follower." Almost 90 per cent of the people in Duval are "Mexicans," so called even though their families may have lived on this land since the days of the Conquistadores. Most of them are desperately poor. Many are illiterate. Many speak no English at all.

Perhaps half the population of this little county town, 4,337 at the last official census, live in miserable "jacales," unpainted huts built with serap lumber.

The town, officially a city, is typically Mexican, with a mission-style church and a central plaza with a band stand. The line separating Duval from Jim Wells County runs through the town, and through the center of the San Diego Cafe, meeting place of the anti-Parr forces. Across the street, Highway 44, and catty-corner to the West is the Court-house and the Windmill Cafe, headquarters of the Parr brigade.

The "Mexican" in Duval is small, dark-skinned, Catholic by religion.

George Parr is an "Anglo" and by all rules of deep South Central Texas he and his followers should be as different as day is from night.

The average "Anglo" in Duval is a big man, taller by inches than the general run of Americans. By religion he is Protestant. He speaks little or no Spanish. He is apt to wear fancy, high-heeled Western boots and a Western hat.

Even though his skin may be burned by the sun to the shade of old copper he thinks of himself as "white"—in contrast to the Mexican-American who is patronized as a peon, as part Indian. The "Anglo" speaks of "good Mexicans" and "bad Mexicans," but always of "Mexicans." He doesn't think of the Latins as Americans at all.

More than a trace of the frontiersman still remains in the Duval "Anglo." There are men still living who can tell truthfully of pulling trigger on yelling Apaches.

It is more than a bit startling to the outsider to get the "feel" of the small towns in Duval, Jim Wells, Brooks, Webb and other counties of the area. A man from north of the Nueces River is a "Yankee" and an alien. The feeling, the psychology, the atmosphere, is that of the frontier, of violence and of sudden death.

It would give a man from Austin, from Dallas or from Chicago quite a jolt to sit in a man's office as I did and ask a casual question about another man and have your host slam a loaded .45 on the polished desk so hard that it left a dent.

"One of these days the blankety blank so and so is going to walk in here and I'm going to kill him."

Or to hear another officer say very seriously that if he were such and such a man—naming him—that he wouldn't fool around waiting for the law, he'd just up and kill the fellow who had gunned a relative.

Or to hear another man tell of visiting a friend in jail for murder, a friend who was acquitted quickly when the case went to a jury. I asked for the circumstances.

"Oh, he was throwing out of a window," said "Go ahead, why don't you kill me?" My friend said "Alright, if that's what you want." Bang!

It's not so many years ago that these same men were killing Mexican raiders from across the Rio Grande on sight—and asking questions afterward.

George B. Parr's father, old Senator Archie Parr, and the son after him, put the anti-Mexican, patronizing psychology of the "Anglo" into reverse. They played the gratitude and adoration of the Latins into one of the most cynical, most ruthless dictatorships in American political history.

Old Archie, then a red-necked, cocky little $25 a month cow puncher, arrived in San Diego at the turn of the century and took the side of the "Mexicans" against the "Anglos."

The "Anglos" in Duval were then split into two factions, led by the Robinsons and the Hoffmans. Archie shrewdly moved in between the two groups, voted his Mexicans as a solid unit and before a dozen years had passed he owned the county as a private barony. He knew every political trick in the book and added some of his own. The title "Duke of Duval" was no empty honor.

Old Archie was a small man, pat-bellied in his later years, who spoke Spanish like a native and thought like a Mexican. He apparently sincerely loved his followers, loved them as a man might love a faithful dog. He punished them when they were naughty, fed them when they were hungry, led them like a flock of sheep, robbed them blind, tended their hurts—and used them so adroitly that no man dared oppose him. He made alliances with political leaders in adjoining counties. His power was vast.

Old Archie sat in the State Senate for twenty years. ran a rip-roaring wide open county back home in Duval where not a dog barked without his permission. He controlled the courts, the police, the schools, the rackets, everything in the county. He manipulated elections with the dexterity of a gambler with a deck of cards.

There were sporadic revolts against his rule of course, but these were put down ruthlessly. On primary day in 1912, for example, three men were shot to death in the street in front of the Courthouse. Two years later a determined attempt was made by Parr's foe to clean up Duval by the simple expedient of abolishing the county altogether. It didn't work. In 1915 the Texas Supreme Court ordered an audit of the county's books and the Courthouse burned down after the auditors had worked only one day, destroying the records.

In building his power, and in consolidating it, Old Archie had one powerful force operating in his favor—the Constitution of the State of Texas.

Ironically, that much-amended Constitution of 1878 was framed deliberately to give counties the greatest possible measure of home rule. Behind the solid rampart of that document the Duke of Duval ruled with the absolute authority of a Medici.

Thus it was the Constitution, as much as Parr himself, that posed the serious obstacle to Attorney General John Ben Shepperd in his march on the Duchy of Duval. He had to stay carefully within its obsolete framework while fighting against forces that cared not one snap of the fingers for all the law in Texas.

Old Archie's son, the present Duke of Duval, grew up in this atmosphere of corrupt politics. He knew of the liquor-laden pack trains that came into the county during the lush days of prohibition. He knew of the other things that went on, and he learned well. His playmates were the Latin children of San Diego. Spanish, not English, was his mother tongue.

Among his playmates was Manuel "Meme" Marroquin, now Parr's most bitter enemy, editor of a militant little bi-lingual newspaper "New Duval." Other articles in this series will tell more of Marroquin, a man who has suffered much, including physical beatings, at the hands of the Boss and his henchmen.

18.17 miles per gallon on North America's toughest truck run!
That's the gas mileage reported by the Cameo Carrier after covering the entire length of the Alcan Highway in less than 45 hours! All six new Task-Force trucks that made the run turned in top scores for performance and economy!

New Task-Force 57 Chevrolet Trucks

Six heavily loaded Chevy trucks ran all the way up the rugged Alcan Highway in less than 45 hours! That's cutting more than a full day off the normal running time! They ran right around the clock, stopping only to refuel.

But the important fact about this run was that it proved new Chevy trucks through and through. The Alcan Highway is a supreme test of every truck component. Engines had to prove their power up high-climbing grades and through washouts. Frames and suspensions flexed their muscles over axle-deep ruts and miles of pounding gravel. "And not a single truck turned back or dropped out due to mechanical failure," states the official AAA report of the test. Every model proved its over-all economy by its ironclad ability to stay on the job! Stop by; we'll talk about it.

DONLEY COUNTY SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

For those in the Donley Soil Conservation District interested in establishing a windbreak around their farmstead, now is the time to make your plans and order the trees. Windbreaks around farmsteads can give an otherwise bleak appearing farm home a warm homelike appearance. Besides the esthetic value, farmstead windbreaks offer protection to wildlife—such as quail, and reduce wind velocities on the lee side.

Deciduous trees such as Chinese Elm, Honey Locust, and Cottonwood (usually requires additional moisture) are adaptable to our soils. Ever-green trees such as Red Cedar and Western Pine should do a good job. Planting stock can be obtained from the State Nursery through the County Agent, and should be ordered now. Private nurseries can also supply planting stock.

From two to five rows of trees should be used, with probably three or four rows giving the best results. The windward row should be a dense shrub row. The middle rows should be a taller growing tree like Chinese Elm, and the ever-green tree row. The leeward side should have shrubs or mid-height trees.

The space between rows should be from 10 to 16 feet. Best spacing between trees in the row is from 8 to 20 feet, depending upon the kind of tree, and spacing between shrubs in the row should be 3 to 4 feet.

Seed bed preparation is important. Large amounts of straw or plant residue should be on the land to prevent sand blasting of young tree stock. If conifers are used, it is a good idea to plant a strip of sudan on the windward side and leave it undisturbed.

Additional information and assistance in planning and applying the windbreaks can be obtained through your District Supervisor or any of the Soil Conservation Service technicians.

Two New Tax Booklets Available for Individuals And Small Businesses

This year two booklets have been developed by the Internal Revenue Service to assist taxpayers in preparing 1956 tax forms.

The 1956 edition of "YOUR FEDERAL INCOME TAX" booklet, a very popular publication in past years, contains a wealth of information. There is a sizeable increase in subject matter, and covers such subjects as: who must file a return, when and where, nontaxable income, personal expenditures, sick pay, retirement income, deductions, medical expenses, traveling expenses, collections and refunds, what type of return to file, and the substance of many of the regulations based on recent tax laws.

In ADDITION, this year is a new companion publication entitled

"TAX GUIDE FOR SMALL BUSINESS"

This informative booklet provides the answers to tax questions and problems common to most small businesses, deals with Federal income, employment, excise tax problems of corporations, partnerships, sole proprietorships, and covers the operation of a going business, the establishment of a new business, and the liquidation of a business.

Copies of either, or both of these booklets, may be had for 30 cents per copy, from the Dallas Field Office of the U. S. Department of Commerce, Room 3-104, Merchandise Mart Building, Dallas 1, Texas. Sorry, a remittance of postage stamps is not acceptable.

Sealed proposals for constructing 11.801 miles of Gr. This is a "Public Works" Project, as defined in House Bill No. 54 of the 43rd Legislature of the State of Texas and House Bill No. 115 of the 44th Legislature of the State of Texas, and as such is subject to the provisions of said House Bills. No provisions herein are intended to be in conflict with the provisions of said Acts.

In accordance with the provisions of said House Bills, the State Highway Commission has ascertained and set forth in the proposal the wage rates, for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the a bill now before the Legislature is passed. That bill is a flexible rating law for casualty (including automobile insurance).

Many economically-operated insurance companies are in a position to charge rates substantially lower than those of companies with more expensive types of operation.

Thus, it will mean that the insurance buyer can shop around and get the best buy for his insurance dollar—something he cannot now do.

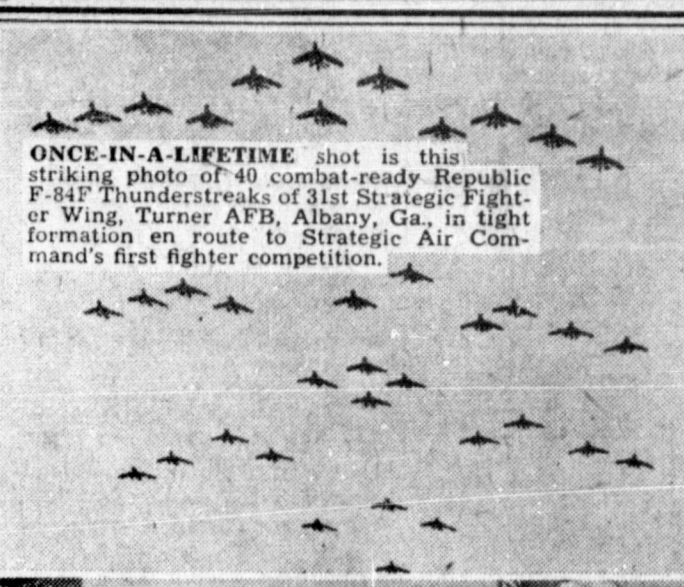

More importantly, it will mean that the careful drivers will no longer have to subsidize the careless driver.

Scribes Test Field Ritual

AUSTIN—Two big city journalists, alerted by field reports about snow goose overpopulation, sought to reduce the hazard and escaped practically unscratched although one's cap was tilted by a flushed bobwhite and the other's head was grazed by a bagged goose.

The men were Richard Morehead, Austin staffer for the Dallas Morning News, and Dan Klepper, outdoor editor for the San Antonio Express. They concentrated their research in the area west of Garwood in Colorado County where snowgeese overpopulations were described as jeopardizing the other geese.

Morehead, whose journalistic specialty is not wildlife reporting, was "crawling" one feeding cluster of snows. Sneaking down a muddy drainage ditch, he flushed two covvys of quail, which kept getting up in front of him and endangering his strategy. Finally, Morehead crawled to the edge of the ditch, slowly parted the last patch of weeds and got quail wings smack in his face. But the grounded flock held fast and he got one goose as the big birds became airborne.

Klepper earlier was so fascinated by the sight of a goose pinpointed off the end of his upraised gun barrel that he froze when Gus T. McMammal, layman wildlife observer, dropped a fat snow straight at his noggin. Dan stuck to his target and pulled just as the falling goose crashed in a thudding near miss. He justified the risk by bagging his bird, too.

Bow - Arrow Fans Gain

AUSTIN—Field reports to the Game and Fish Commission indicate, according to the Executive Secretary, that bow and arrow enthusiasts are sharing the fall game harvest in increasing numbers. He said information to date, however, did not indicate any substantial kill by the gunless group.

He explained that this powderless sport has lacked full impetus in Texas more or less for lack of formal recognition.

In some regions, said the Director, present regulations written before people decided to revert to the bow and arrow days, archery is regulated on the basis that it does not comprise a legal means of taking game.

A possible hint of things to come, however, prevails in the Panhandle regulatory responsibility area where bow and arrow enthusiasts may legally take game providing they have the permission of the land owner controlling the place they propose to hunt. This applies only to deer and turkey in the twenty-eight county area.

It is necessary as affects deer-turkey that any person hunting with a bow, and arrow must possess the regular $2.15 general hunting license.

In the Possum Kingdom bracket of another regulatory responsibility area, where the Commission sets hunting dates and bag limits and other regulations, six counties do not permit archery for hunting purposes. They are Jack, Young, Stephens, Palo Pinto, Erath, and Hood counties. Similar exceptions are made in the Edwards Plateau main deer range as affects the counties of Gillespie, Llano, Mason, Medina, Sutton, and Kerr Counties. In the North East Texas group, archery fans may hunt with land owner permission in Red River, Bowie, and Fannin counties but not in Titus County.

of another man, they shall destroy his eye." And, "if a physician open an abscess (in the eye) of a man with a bronze lancet and destroy the man's eye, they shall cut off his fingers."

Protection against the wrong choice of death benefits under the new Survivor Benefits Act will be extended to widows, guardians of children and dependent parents now receiving compensation for the service-connected death of veterans, Mr. Scott B. Harrington, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Dallas, Texas said today.

Every election of benefits submitted by beneficiaries under the new law will be studied to determine whether the person selected the lower instead of the higher monthly payment to which he or she may be eligible, Mr. Harrington said.

If the lower monthly payment has been selected, Mr. Harrington pointed out, no action will be taken on the election, but a letter explaining the difference between the two payments will be sent to the beneficiary.

Mr. Harrington emphasized that the election in every case will be the responsibility of the beneficiary. VA merely will provide the necessary information that beneficiaries need to arrive at a decision based on the facts in each beneficiary's file.

Mr. Harrington estimated that for about 100,000 widows throughout the nation, the new benefit is unquestionably higher than the present death compensation. These are widows who have no children or widows with no more than one child. These widows should file their election as soon as possible so they may begin receiving the new benefits at the earliest date.

Widows who have more than one child should put off their election until they receive information from the VA as to the exact amount of the new benefit and whether it exceeds the amount of monthly benefits now being paid, Mr. Harrington said.

Generally, he added, dependent parents will find it to their advantage to continue to receive death compensation rather than to elect the new benefit. The decision as to which benefit is better must be made by the parent considering his personal situation.
