Here Come The Judges

These poultry judges (right) were just some of the more than 1,800 students crowded on to the campus of Clarendon College this past Saturday for the 17th annual CC Judging Contest.

Juan Flores brought a team of four students from as far away as Hebbronville (160 miles south of San Antonio). He said one of his students will be attending CC in the fall.

"I've had one other student attend here," he said, "and all his classes transferred to the university. This is a very good school."

River Road's M.L. McGehee brought his team for the third consecutive year and praised the faculty of CC.

"The teachers here have all the students' interest at heart. Clarendon College is a good preparatory school for ag majors."

Local teacher attends education forum in Austin

Helen Estlack, English teacher from Clarendon Junior High, participated as a presenter in three panel discussions during the first ever Texas Teachers Forum on March 26-28.

The event, co-sponsored by the Texas A&M University System and the Texas Education Agency, was held at the Austin North Hilton Hotel and Towers in Austin. The 1996-97 and the 1997-98 Texas Elementary and Secondary Teachers of the Year and the 38 Regional Teachers of the Year for 1997-98 joined the Deans of the Colleges of Education from the Texas A&M University System as well as some officials from the Texas Education Agency.

The conference, which offered the teachers' perspectives on improving educator preparation programs, was organized on a series of focus questions related to national research on the issues of teacher education. Six one-hour discussions, were held during the conference, with each session featuring a panel of regional Teachers of the Year and moderated by an A&M University System education dean.

Issues discussed during the forum included:

insuring that teachers are well-prepared in their content area; what teachers must know about student diversity; what teachers must know about the characteristics of their communities and their schools; teacher recruitment and universities' involvement in teacher retention; how university professors can improve the quality of their education classes; and how universities might involve practicing teachers and administrators in the preparation of new teachers.

The teachers were also asked to submit essays on these issues, and they are to be published at a later date.

The forum also included remarks from Commissioner of Education Mike Moses; Bill Sanford, Assistant Commissioner for Universities at the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board; and Mark Littleton, Executive Director of the State Board for Educator Certification.

The event was led by William E. Reaves, Public Education Liaison for the Texas Education Agency and Texas A&M University System.

Texas Wouldn't Be Texas Without the Cattle Industry

By Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry

Cattle production is so intertwined with Texas history, values and economics, it's impossible to imagine the state without its ranches and feedlots. Raising beef cattle is a business and a way of life that helped mold the Lone Star State and bestow its identity. What's more, it is at the core of the Texas mystique, which gives our state its unique image in the minds of people around the globe.

Historian T.R. Fehrenbach in his book, Lone Star, says it better than I can:

"Here in Texas... something evolved that burned its image like a smoking cattle brand into the consciousness not only of North America but the whole world. A handful of border Texans, adapting to the realities of their time and place, began what was always essentially a small business, but they conducted it with a... magnificence equaled nowhere. They exploded not a business, but a new way of life, across the entire North American West... They stamped a memory into America, and the world, that refused to die.

"Say Texas anywhere, and people answer cowboy."

That's true from Paris to Hong Kong, from London to Beijing. The Texas mystique - with roots in 19th century cattle drives - has captured the world's imagination.

Without the Texas cattle industry, the legends of the Old West that are our heritage - Loving and Goodnight, the Chisholm Trail, the XIT - would not exist. Even the intense commitment to private property rights we Texans feel grew from the period when the cattle range was fenced.

Cattle production and marketing, of course, are more than mystique. The industry may be less colorful than it was 100 years ago, but it is even more important to the state's fiscal health. With some 14.3 million head of cattle and calves and more than 2.8 million feeder cattle, Texas leads the nation in cattle production and feeding. Without beef cattle, our economy would suffer a significant blow. Agricultural cash receipts would dwindle by nearly half, and Texas would lose its ranking as the country's second-leading agricultural state. Cattle actually add more to the state's economy than natural gas production. In 1995, when cash receipts for cattle and calves hit $6.3 billion, natural gas production was valued at $5.6 billion.

Texas A&M University estimates that cattle production and feeding generate $15 billion to $16 billion a year within the state's economy. These figures do not include the transportation, handling and retail sales of beef. Add those numbers in, and cattle's economic impact skyrockets. The National Cattlemen's Beef Association calculates that for every dollar generated by sales of cattle and calves $4 circulates within the economy. That means cattle sales worth $6 billion total $24 billion in economic impact to Texas.

Cattle also influence other types of ag production. If it weren't for cattle feeding, growers on the High Plains probably would not raise corn. Some 65 to 70 percent of Texas corn production takes place in the Panhandle, and 90 percent of it goes to feed cattle.

From the ranch to the slaughtering facility, beef cattle pump billions of dollars into our state and provide thousands of jobs. They also contribute another invaluable service - converting native grass into high-quality protein. Of 157 million agricultural acres in Texas, 111 million are used to graze cattle, other livestock and as habitat for game animals. Cattle harvest grass from rough, arid land unfit for plows and cropping. When well managed, these herds become a tool that helps the land capture rainwater and replenish the state's aquifers.

It's hard to imagine what Texas - and Texas agriculture - would do if we had no cattle industry. Texas depends on cattle for jobs, a healthy economy and for a legacy that helps define our past. Say Texas, think cattle - a partnership that will continue to flourish into the 21st century.

Springtime in the Panhandle is more than blooming flowers

With the recent warming temperatures, I can't help but think of spring.

On The Mark with Christi Ross

Here in the Panhandle, spring is a little different than in other parts of the country. Let me share a few findings with you.

It's springtime in the Panhandle when...
• Your skirt spends more time blowing over your head than around your legs.
• Candlelight evenings are those you spend down in the cellar.

• You see kids walking to school wearing shorts and a coat.
• It snows in the morning and hails in the evening.
• You let blowing sand clean your teeth rather than your dentist.
• Your skin takes on a nice red tone not from the sun but from the amount of dirt stuck to your body.
• You plant flowers three times before a Norther quits freezing the blooms off.
• Women with long hair take on a nice ratted look, but not by choice.

• Aqua Net sales hit an all time high.
• The wind blows your vehicle around so bad that the police pull you over for drunk driving.
• Blood-shot eyes became the fashion for those who wear contact lenses.
• A day without wind should be declared a local holiday.

I'll admit it. I've got Spring Fever! But I know that it is not officially spring in the Panhandle until the mesquite trees bloom. That gnarled leafy intruder is a better weather predictor than any Farmer's Almanac or area weatherman. Until then, we'll keep hoping for spring!

"The Bowie Blues"

Modern day Samaritan assists weary travelers

"But a Samaritan while traveling came near him, and when he saw him he was moved with pity. He went to him and bandaged his wounds, having poured oil and wine on them. Then he put him on his own animal, brought him to an inn, and took care of him."

Off Campus by Scott Elliott

—LUKE 10:33-34

Bowie, Texas. It's a sleepy little hamlet about 40 miles east of Wichita Falls. A nice place to visit, I have no doubt, but not among the leading venues one might select for car trouble.

Fate, however, chose Bowie for me and mine during Spring Break 1998. Claudia, Scotty, and I were en route to Clarendon, returning from an excursion to Florida, where we visited our parents and daughter. Claudia had repeatedly warned me not to attempt the 2,000-mile-plus round trip in our beat-up mini-van.

"The tires are shot, the air-conditioning doesn't work, the engine sputters; it burns oil; and the brakes squeal," Claudia scolded, rhythmically shaking her right index finger in my direction. "We just need a new car - period."

"So, besides that, what's wrong with it?" I countered.

Naturally, when the transmission died near Bowie, causing us to chug into a Hwy. 287 truck stop, my petite pixie provided me with an earful that would have sobered a shanghaied sailor.

It was a Saturday night, and tacking horseshoes on a mad bull would have been easier than finding someone to fix a transmission in Bowie. I was desperate, so much so that I started asking tattooed truckers for rides to Wichita Falls. Claudia really loved that idea.

I was plum out of two things - quarters for the pay phone and patience with my seething blond flower - when the manager of the truck stop, a fellow named George Smith, came to my rescue. He offered to give us a lift to Wichita Falls in his blue Ford Festiva - a... er... car equipped with a motorcycle engine and go-cart tires.

But, hey, at that point, as my mother used to say, beggars couldn't be choosers. Juggling grapefruit on a unicycle all the way to Wichita Falls would have been a viable option.

George was a heckuva nice guy. In the 40-or-so minutes required to trek to Wichita Falls, we spoke of his family, his travels, and the day-to-day challenges of running a truck stop in a remote location. While many refer to their jobs as "round-the-clock, George meant it literally.

When we arrived at the municipal airport, where we would rent a car for the remainder of the trip to Clarendon, I started to pull out my wallet. Before I extracted it from my trousers, George said, "You folks don't owe me a thing."

"We wouldn't think of not paying you," Claudia insisted.

"Shoot, I need to get to Wichita Falls every once in a while just to see what they charge for gas here," George said. "Just put your wallet up. I don't want any money."

Despite his arguments, I lifted a couple of Andrew Jacksons from my billfold and tried to hand them over to George. He still refused to take them, saying, "Hey, you folks just put that in your offering plate at church for me, huh?"

To which I responded, "Fine, George, you take this money and put it in your offering plate at your church." Finally, George acquiesced, accepting the small token for his generosity.

All was well that ended well. We made it home, got our van towed and ultimately repaired, and, most importantly, learned a lesson about humanity.

The lesson? Despite all our skepticism and negativity about the world in which we live, regardless of our distrust of our fellow man, irrespective of all our longing for the proverbial good old days, there are still some very nice people in this world.

And, you know, I never told George I was a college president - not that such is any big deal. I was driving a broken down old van, dressed in my worst, and looked pretty doggone ragged after traveling for over 12 hours, stuffing myself with Twinkies and Diet Cokes between rest stops.

To George, I was a total stranger. And in trying to run a bustling 24-hour truck stop, he had less time to render assistance than most folk. Yet, he befriended my family and me, helping us along our way without thought of reward.

Not any earthly one, anyway.

Dr. Scott Elliott is the president of Clarendon College.

Repeal the inheritance tax and ease the burden on family farms and businesses

A death in the family is always hard to deal with. But when that death involves the head of a family farm or small business, it can be twice as hard. In addition to having to deal with a great personal tragedy, families also are forced to deal with the IRS. That's because the federal government continues to place a tax on the inheritance which millions of Americans try to leave to their kids. This inheritance tax - or death tax, as it's also called - can be as high as 55 percent, and it can have a devastating effect on family-owned farms and small businesses. More than 70 percent of all family-owned businesses do not survive through the second generation, while 87 percent never make it to a third generation.

Congress helped ease this burden a bit in a bill passed last year. But this bill didn't go far enough as far as I'm concerned. We need to repeal the inheritance tax altogether, which is why I've sponsored legislation which would do just that.

While I don't expect this bill to be passed this year, I think it's important that we keep up the pressure to get rid of this tax for good. Studies show that eliminating the inheritance tax would pump more than $80 billion dollars into the economy, create 250,000 new jobs, and boost private savings by $640 billion over the next eight years.

In short, repealing the inheritance tax is an idea whose time has come, and something that would produce tremendous benefits for people in our part of Texas and elsewhere across the country - especially farmers and small business owners who want to pass along their businesses to their family.

Easter Sunday

The Easter season is a time of awakening and rebirth. Spring is in the air, and trees and plants are budding, making everything seem to come alive again for this special holiday. Young children, who may not fully understand the true meaning of Easter, look forward to jelly beans and Easter baskets.

Easter is a good time for reflection and nurturing of our faith, and we all should be aware of how good God is to us. Attending church services and enjoying the fellowship of family and friends is important during the Easter season.

Just as we may give Easter gifts to our children, God has given a special gift to us. God loves us so much that he gave his only begotten son to die on the cross and to rise again on Easter so that we may have eternal life.

Osburn receives Air Force achievement medal

Senior Airman Dorcas E. Osburn recently received the Air Force Achievement Medal from the Department of the Air Force for meritorious service from November 16, 1995 to September 18, 1997.

Senior Airman Osburn distinguished herself by meritorious service as Radiology Journeyman, 35th Medical Support Squadron, 35th Medical Group, 35th Fighter Wing, Misawa Air Base, Japan.

During this period, Airman Osburn's unwavering efforts and dedication to duty immensely improved operations in the Radiology Department, resulting in one hundred percent compliance for processing Radiology pregnancy statements.

One hundred percent compliance is a Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organization requirement. Her ability to single-handedly reorganize the radiology film file room reduced the number of lost films mailed outside the 35th Medical Group and increased workflow efficiency and space utilization by thirty percent. She improved customer service by faithfully managing the Composite Healthcare System to locate and track loaned films throughout Pacific Air Forces.

Airman Osburn's customer satisfaction was rated 4.8 out of a possible 5.0 rating which was evident by the Radiology Department's perfect customer satisfaction for over twenty weeks.

The distinctive accomplishments of Airman Osburn reflect credit upon herself and the United States Air Force.

Dorcas is the daughter of B.B. and Shirley Osburn of Clarendon.

Hankins' class collects 150,000 tabs

Mrs. Hankins fourth grade class has reached 150,000 tabs. They have been collecting tabs from cans all year. Our goal is to collect 1,000,000 before school is out.

The fourth grade classes in Memphis are also helping them as a joint effort. People from other towns besides Clarendon have sent them tabs. They appreciate all those who are helping them see what an amount over 1,000,000 of something looks and feels like. The concept of place value has also been enforced through this project.

Clover Kids hold meeting, make bread

Lady Broncos win 800M relay in Paducah

Clarendon's Lady Broncos relied on the strength of its relay teams - three medals - in the Dragon Relays Saturday in Paducah.

The 800M relay team of Kathy Bryley, Kim Alexander, Geri Butler, and Clarissa Smith placed first with a time of 1:50.43. The mile relay team of Bryley, Clarissa Smith, Jamie Sawyer, and Butler also grabbed a gold with a time of 4:24.15.

In the 400M relay, Bryley, Alexander, Stephanie Smith, and Clarissa Smith finished second with a time of 51.4 - 50.72 in the prelims.

"The times are coming down nicely as we progress," head coach Steve Schmidt said.

Catherine Chamberlain placed third in the 1600M run with a time of 6:48. The bronze medal finish came after starting off the race in eighth place.

"After the first lap, she was in a distant eighth place," Schmidt said. "It was an incredible finish to win the bronze. She showed great heart."

Sophomore Lindy Helms placed fifth in the 3200M run.

In field events, Kim Alexander threw the shot put 32-10 for second place, and Kasi Ashcraft was in third with a throw of 32. Ashcraft also was second in the discus with a throw of 93 ft.

"I'm very happy with the participation we're getting from all the young ladies," Schmidt said. "Everyone is improving and working hard."

The Lady Broncos travel to Groom Friday and Saturday for a two-day meet.

Ashcraft named to All-Region team

For the second consecutive year, Lady Bronco Kasi Ashcraft was named to the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches All-Region team.

Ashcraft joins nine other Class 2A Region I players who make up the Region I first team.

The accomplishment was a great honor considering her off-season knee injury and ensuing surgery, head Lady Bronco girls coach Steve Schmidt said.

"After the severe knee injury (Ashcraft) suffered last May, it's wonderful that she has been able to play at all, let alone be awarded with such a great honor. There are some great athletes in our region.

"It's a great accomplishment to be named to the All-Region team, especially two years in a row. I'm very happy for her. Kasi's the hardest working athlete I've ever coached. She's worthy of this award."

Abdullah picked for All-State team

Senior Kareem Abdullah was the fifth pick overall in the Class 2A All-State players selected by the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches.

The honor means that Abdullah is one of the top 10 players in the state of Texas in Class 2A. Abdullah also was named to the Region I All-Region first team.

"This was a great honor for Kareem," head coach Jimmy Avery said. "He excels in all sports, but he has to work the hardest in basketball because of his height. I can't think of anyone more deserving of this honor."

"I've said it many times, but (Abdullah) is one of those once-in-a-lifetime kids that you coach. He has it all: Ability, athleticism, and a true sense of what it takes to be a leader. On top of that, he's a great young man."

Abdullah and senior Brent Gaines will team up one more time this weekend in the 28th annual Golden Spread Basketball Tournament to showcase their talents and those of other top players in the Panhandle.

The games are scheduled for Thursday through Saturday at Cal Farley Competition. Games are scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. both Thursday and Friday and at 1 p.m. Saturday. A 3-point shooting contest and a slam dunk competition also are scheduled.

High school boys finish sixth in Dragon Relay meet

Junior Blake Bass placed third in the pole vault with an attempt of 11 ft. to pace the Broncos to a sixth place finish Saturday in the Dragon Relays in Paducah.

Senior Kareem Abdullah sprinted to a sixth place finish in the 100M with a time of 11.48, and Matteo Lombardi finished sixth in the 800M in 2:24.36.

The J.V. Broncos finished one point off of second place with 96 points to Claude's 97 points in Paducah. Childress finished in first place in the junior varsity competition with 110 points.

Host team Paducah finished in a distant fourth with 55 points.

In the shot put, Hunter Spier finished first with a throw of 41-3. Brandon Word was third in 38-6, and David Hall was eighth in 34-7.

Word was first in the discus with a distance of 112-4, and Spier was second with a throw of 109-3. Tyler Lane finished seventh with a throw of 97-8.

In the pole vault, Shannon Martin placed first with a height of 9-6. Michael Lane finished third with 8-6.

Williams was second in the high jump with a height of 5-6. Colt Floyd also participated.

In the long jump, Dee Thompson was second with a jump of 18-11, and G.J. Martindale placed third with an attempt of 16-8. Martindale was second in the triple jump with a distance of 40-8. Colt Floyd and Williams also participated.

Freshman Nathan Floyd ran to a seventh place finish in the 3200M run. Greg Leeper also participated. Michael Lane was seventh in the 1600M run, a race in which Nathan Floyd also participated.

Colt Floyd placed fourth in the 400M run with a time of 59.23. Carey Thornberry injured himself in the preliminary race. Martin, Thompson, and Butts participated in the 200M dash. Thompson was fifth in the 200M with a time of 12.12, and Martin was sixth with a time of 12.42.

Butts also participated.

Sam Holton was fifth in the 100M hurdles with a time of 18.60.

The team of Martin, Butts, Floyd, and Thompson were third in the 400M relay with a time of 47.33. Holton, Colt Floyd, Martindale, and Butts finished second in the 1600M relay with a time of 2:53.55.

"Overall, the boys did well," assistant track coach Hugh Farmer said. "Butts stepped up for an injured Thornberry on the 1600M relay and ran very well. Word threw the discus better, and Hunter Spier and David Hall improved on the shot put."

Seventh grade Colts win 400M relay at Panhandle Jr. High Track Meet

The seventh grade 400M relay team of Jacob Mondragon, Richard Rodriguez, Cameron Word, and Richard Anderson placed second in the Panhandle Junior High Track Meet Saturday in Panhandle.

The eighth grade team of Cody Watson, Anthony Jaramillo, Clay Sawyer, and Greg Wootten placed fourth in the eighth grade division.

Seventh grader James Williams threw to a first place finish in the shot put and a second in the discus. Eighth grader Clay Sawyer was second in the pole vault.

In the 1600M relay, the eighth grade team of Antonio Wilson, Jaramillo, Lax, and Wootten ran to a fourth place finish. Seventh graders Word, Anderson, Rodriguez, and Taylor Shelton won fifth place in the mile relay.

Seventh grader Brian McFarland was fifth and Adam Hix was sixth in the 800M run.

"I was very proud of the way both classes competed," head junior high boys track coach Byron Bass said. "(Hix) placed sixth in the 800M and (Brian) Thompson was sixth in the eighth grade shot put. These sixth places are evidence of some of the boys getting better at each meet."

McFarland placed sixth in the 1200M run and eighth grader Sawyer was sixth in the 400M. Wootten finished fourth in the eighth grade triple jump, and Mondragon was sixth in the seventh grade shot put.

Powerlifters travel to Killeen

A nagging back injury prevented Clarendon High School senior Jeremy Shelley from completing his opening lifts in Saturday's State Powerlifting Meet at Abrams Fieldhouse on Ft. Hood Military Base in Killeen.

Sophomore Cael Shields, who advanced as an alternate, was not given an opportunity to lift because everyone made their weight.

Shelley earned the right to compete by placing second in the 132 lb. class in the Region I competition March 14 in Colorado City. Shields was third in the 148 lb. class and would have competed as an alternate if another lifter had not made his weight. The senior Shelley injured his back during a recent training session.

"It was bothering him and he didn't lift as well as he had hoped," head powerlifting coach Darryl Cash said. "They were weights he easily lifted before, but his back was hurting too much."

"He could've finished as high as fourth, and it was possible he could've gone higher if he was at his top form."

Shelley is capable of lifting more than 1,000 lbs. total in the dead lift, squat and the bench press. Winners at the state meet lifted close to a total of 1,100 lbs., Cash said. "He had a great season and it was a great honor to be invited to the state meet. He's part of a very elite group."

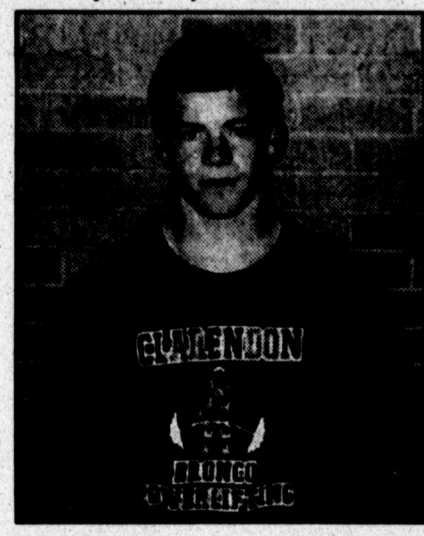

The top two finishers in each of the six regions competed at the state-wide level. Competitors in Shelley's class were from Class 1A, 2A, and 3A.

Although Shields was not given an opportunity to compete, making the trip to Killeen was an eye-opening experience, Cash said.

"It was a good experience," he said. "He's all fired up for the years to come. He is determined to qualify in the years to come."

Jeremy Shelley

"It was quite an accomplishment for him to qualify. He did a great job all year. His totals went up each and every meet, as a result of his hard work and dedication. It's very unusual for a sophomore, especially in his weight class to advance to state."

Bronco golf team places third at Canadian Country Club

Sophomore Chris Linquist fired an 81 and freshman Colt Floyd played a round of 82 to pace the Clarendon Boys "A" Golf Team to a third place finish at the Canadian Country Club March 24 in Canadian.

David Hall shot an 84, while Keith Kidd and Sam Holton played rounds of 97. Clarendon placed third out of 12 teams.

Linquist was the fourth medalist and Floyd was fifth.

"We played very well, and David Hall came through big for us," head coach Allen Dews said. "Canadian's course is quite challenging, but it was a good tournament for us."

The Clarendon lin'sters tee up again Thursday in Wellington.

Clarendon's Lady Bronco golf team tested the Canadian course March 23 with three golfers participating. Kirsten Bertrand came in with a low team round of 110, while Melissa Campbell shot a 113 and America Santos hit a 127.

"We only had three girls playing at Canadian and finished well in the morning group," Dews said. "(Bertrand) finished sixth overall and (Campbell) was seventh overall."

The Lady Broncos will field a full team for the district meet, Dews said. "The girls are improving every day."

Seventh grade girls place fourth at Panhandle Relay Meet

The seventh grade girls placed fourth, and the eighth grade girls placed fifth in Saturday's Panhandle Relays in Panhandle.

Second place finishes by two relay teams scored many points for the seventh grade as Kelsey McQuien, May Butler, Brandi Martindale, and Christine Holden ran to a second place finish with a time of 1:00.57.

The same squad ran a 2:08 for second place in the 800M relay.

Martindale was first in the 200M with a time of 33.52, and Kelsey Morrow was third, clocking in at 34.25. Holden ran to a first place finish in the 400M with a time of 70.75. In the 1200M run, Brandi Betts was fourth with a time of 5:35 and Ronna Edwards was fifth in 5:55.

Tax deferral available for elderly homeowners

Texans aged 65 or older may postpone paying delinquent and current property taxes on their homes. They may take advantage of a tax option called "over-65 deferral" by signing an affidavit at the Donley County Appraisal District office.

Once a homeowner files an over-65 tax deferral affidavit with the appraisal district, no taxing unit can start or continue a lawsuit for delinquent taxes as long as that person owns and lives in that home.

Taxpayers need to be aware that tax deferral for the elderly only postpones paying delinquent taxes on the home; it does not cancel them. During the deferral time, taxes and interest of eight percent continue to add up. When the elderly taxpayer no longer owns or lives in the home, the taxes become due. Taxing units can then sue to collect all the deferred tax and interest.

Filing of the deferral affidavit does not forgive penalties that are already due. Also, if the taxes remain delinquent more than 90 days after the deferral ends, an added penalty may be charged if the account goes to a delinquent tax attorney.

Tax deferral affidavits are available at the appraisal district office. For more information, taxpayers may contact the Donley County Appraisal District, P.O. Box 1220, Clarendon, TX 79226 or phone 806-874-2744.

Spring will fly as your children prepare reports, essays, and speeches while finalizing this school year. Invaluable resources for their needs are available at Burton Memorial Library.

Enchantment of the World series, published by Children's Press, provides information about different countries. Each book's contents, by a different author, offers insight to individual cultures in an appealing way. Timeline, fast facts, sidebars, and general information at the end of the book accompanies the interesting narrative. "Find Out More" section reveals additional resources including various websites.

Another series, See Through History, contains seventeen books of fascinating ancient cultures, medieval knights, tombs and treasurers, and other subjects of different eras. A unique feature are four "peel-back" see-through pages in each book, allowing readers unusual views of ships, palaces, cathedrals, and intriguing places.

Chelsea House Publishers combined several authors' writings into World Explorer Series. Adventures of Sir Francis Drake, Daniel Boone, John Charles Fremont, Henry Stanley, LaSalle, Magellan, Undersea World Explorers, and others are brought to life to challenge readers. In each book is an introduction essay by astronaut Michael Collins, 1969 moon explorer.

Each of thirteen attractive books by Dennis Brindell Frandlin describes an original American colony in such a way that any age reader, proud to be an American, can appreciate.

Festival of the World series by Harlinah Whyte not only informs of different cultures and holidays, but includes recipes and things to do for young readers. How about making a Babushka doll or some delicious Russian sweet treats? A Chinese Dragon Kite? An Egyptian beaded collar? You can, just by following directions in one of the 49 books concerning the country of your interest.

Fiona Macdonald present facts of various countries in an interesting way with corresponding illustrations by artists, Mark Bergin and Nick Hewetson in her First Facts Series.

Voices from the Past series includes accounts of those who participated in wars. Each of the six books covers one of the significant wars (from the War of 1812 to World War II) in United States history, describing reasons behind the war, the action, and its effect on the country.

All of the above are complimented with beautiful photographs. The purchase of these valuable books and others, too numerous to mention is on column, was possible by the Tucker Foundation Grant received last October. Thanks, Librarian Mary Green, for your wise choices.

Mary informed me these nonfiction books are becoming popular with children who have already discovered them.

Teachers, what a great benefit these can be to provide that extra "spark" to some of your lessons.

You who are organizing the Clarendon After School Program, "Something More," will possibly find Burton Memorial Library's books beneficial to integrate into your future programs. Incidentally, Burton Memorial Library wishes you much success with your plans to enhance Clarendon children's activities.

I encourage you to allow Burton Memorial Library to assist your children in successfully completing another school year. Why not check it out?

THANK YOU

To the person that pulled the children from the lake and got them safely to shore Saturday, God bless you. Their families realize that there could have been a great tragedy but because of a guardian angel, lives were spared. We are so grateful. Again thanks and God bless you.

Dear Friends,
 We can never say enough "thank you's" for all this community has done for Clint and our family. We truly owe Clint's life to the expertise care our ambulance team gave him. To them, we will be eternally grateful. You have overwhelmed us with such an outpouring of love through visits, food, money, cards, and many things of which we may be unaware. We are very grateful, and we do hope we have not failed to thank everyone who did something for us while Clint was in ICU. Thank you most of all for your prayers; please continue to pray as Clint faces another surgery this week.

Sincerely,
 Don, Katherine, David, Clint, and Lindsay
