Relaxed Banking.

Herring National Bank president Mark Mann demonstrates the bank's new, more relaxed style of banking in a conversation with Ike O'Neal during a customer appreciation hamburger lunch last Wednesday, October 1.

The bank, which changed its name last week from First Bank & Trust, reportedly fed more than 420 people for its Grand Opening.

Mr. Mann actually broke his leg during a recent rodeo mishap, and we wish him a speedy recovery.

Broncos' homecoming victory sends Sunray packing

Clarendon utilized its potent passing attack and a slew of receivers to send Sunray home with a 39-20 stomping Oct. 3 before a rain-soaked homecoming crowd in Bronco Stadium.

The Broncos improve to 3-2 for the season before kicking off District 2-A play Friday in Bronco Stadium against 10th-ranked Quanah.

The Indians are ranked 10th in the latest Associated Press football poll. Quanah (5-0) breezed by Electra, 40-14, Oct. 3, in the Indians' last tune-up before district action.

"(Their No. 10 ranking) means they're pretty good," said first assistant coach Allen Dews.

Although Quanah is ranked 10th in the polls, the Broncos are preparing for the contest as they would any other, head coach Tooter Draper said.

"We're telling them that we'll execute the way we need to. We feel like we can play with them, and we just keep instilling that in them."

"They look real good on film," Dews said. "Their skill positions are real good. Their running back, (Brian) Dolomo (5-10, 175) has a lot of talent. So does their quarterback (Joe Hildebrand, 5-10, 160)."

Quanah sports a run-oriented wing-T offense, which is tough to defend. Dews said. Quanah likes to move the ball on the run, which is difficult for Clarendon to stop, he said.

"We're weaker against the run than against the pass. We've still got (Jeff) Hearn out, and inside the defense we're weaker."

"They run a 5-2 defense, which is real similar to what we do. They move around a lot. That will pose a little problem for our run blocking."

"If we can shut down their running game, we can play with them. They don't like to throw unless they have to. They like to control the ball."

Revenge may be a factor in Friday's contest. The last time the two squads met, Clarendon came out on top, 7-0, removing any hopes Quanah had for the post-season.

Quanah is big and physical, Draper said. "I think we'll have to play one of our best games," he said. "Anytime you throw the football like we do, anything can happen."

The Broncos are moving toward a more pass-oriented offense, Dews said. Quanah has its best athletes in the secondary, and it may not be as easy to score against the Indians as it was against Sunray.

The Oct. 3 homecoming game was delayed for more than an hour because of heavy rains and intense lightning. The contest was played in 8:00 quarters.

Sunray's Bobcats gambled early with an inside kick to open the contest and recovered the ball on their own 37-yard line. Sunray scored with 6:07 left in the opening quarter and tacked on the PAT for the early 7-0 lead.

"We felt as if they were going to do (inside kick)," Dews said. "A lot of people don't want to kick it to Kareem (Abdullah). The kids just weren't prepared to get on the football at that time."

"We still felt pretty good. It was just a matter of, 'OK let's control the ball and go back and score again.'"

Clarendon returned the favor as junior quarterback Scotty Elliott passed to three of his receivers to move the ball 53 yards. Cael Shields found the end zone with 2:59 left in the quarter on a 3-yard ramble.

The run failed and Sunray led 7-6. But it would be for the last time.

Elliott, who passed for 318 yards for the evening including three touchdowns, hit Kareem Abdullah on a 70-yard TD pass with 6:29 remaining in the second quarter. The two-point pass from Elliott to freshman Sam Holton increased Clarendon's lead to 14-7.

Elliott was 13-20 for the evening, utilizing a passel of receivers. "Our passing game with Brent (Gaines), (Abdullah), (Holton), (Jason) Archuleta and (Chris) Bruce is great," Dews said. "We feel like we're a lot better. The running game hasn't gotten started good."

Sunray was forced to punt on its next possession, and Clarendon soon found the end zone. Elliott found Abdullah again on a 45-yard pass with 3:59 before halftime.

The PAT failed and the Clarendon lead increased to 20-7.

It would take the Clarendon offense just one play to reach paydirt right before halftime.

Elliott pitched to Abdullah, who connected with senior Brent Gaines on a 55-yard pass as Clarendon entered the locker room with a 26-7 lead.

"We felt pretty good, offensively and defensively," Dews said. "We made some adjustments to their formations to stop the trap. Offensively, we were going to continue the what we were doing. They couldn't cover the tight end or (Abdullah)."

American Land Sovereignty Act will Strengthen Private Property Rights

If you look at some of the things that have made America the great country it is today, one of the key factors has got to be the protection of private property rights. From the Declaration of Independence on, protecting the rights of citizens to own and use property has helped make us the greatest country in world history.

This is especially true in our area. We've got a great heritage of people earning their living off the land. And yet - little by little - these rights are being eroded away. For example, a growing amount of public lands in America have been included in international land use programs without the approval of Congress - or the American people.

These programs include two operated by an arm of the United Nations called UNESCO. The programs are called the Biospheric Reserve and World Heritage Sites. There are currently 47 UNESCO Biospheric Reserves and 20 World Heritage sites in the United States, accounting for more than 68 percent of the land in our national parks, preserves and monuments. These sites weren't designated by Congress, and they weren't designated with input from the states and local communities who are affected. Instead, they were designated by the U.N.

The American Land Sovereignty Act would put an end to that. It's a bill I'm cosponsoring, and one for which I plan to vote. The reason is simple. We can't allow the United Nations or any other foreign entity to have a say in how we conduct our public lands policy.

It's a threat to our Constitution, a threat to private property owners, and a threat to one of the things that has made our country great.

Local school districts receive technology grants

Members of the Panhandle Information Network (PIN) have been awarded $10.6 million in two technology grants.

A $6.1 million grant from the Telecommunications Infrastructure Fund Board (TIFB) was awarded to the PIN Internet Collaborative (PIC) to provide direct Internet connectivity to 46 of the smallest school districts located in the Panhandle. A $4.5 million grant from the Texas Education Agency Texas Technology Literacy Challenge Fund Initiative has been awarded to the Region 16 Education Service Center on behalf of the PIN Video Collaborative (PVC) to install a two-way interactive video conferencing network in the Panhandle.

Hedley ISD is one of 46 school districts included in the PIC grant project. This $6.1 million grant will provide direct Internet access, computers, printers, and training. The grant also provides for the creation of centrally managed services such as e-mail, web page, and telecommunications support.

Clarendon ISD is one of 34 school districts included in the PIN Video Collaborative. This $4.5 million grant will provide training to core teams from 34 Panhandle schools in order to integrate technology into the curriculum. Training will be delivered via 15 two-way interactive videoconferencing sites located at Canadian, Childress, Clarendon, Dalhart, Hart, Spearman, Stratford, Sunray, Tulia, and McLean ISDs, Amarillo High School, Caprock High School, Amarillo Area Center for Advanced Learning, Region 16 Education Service Center, and West Texas A&M University. Each participating campus will also receive lap-top computers which will serve as educator workstations throughout the professional development program.

The Panhandle Information Network is a consortium of governmental and public nonprofit institutions, entities, and organizations formed to plan, coordinate, and facilitate the cooperative development and operation of a regional integrated telecommunications network. PIN's membership includes 63 independent school districts; Region 16 Education Service Center; West Texas A&M University; Amarillo, Clarendon, and Frank Phillips Colleges; Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center at Amarillo; 13 public libraries, Harrington Library Consortium; 6 county/city governments; and Panhandle Regional Planning Commission.

By working together in a true partnership, member organizations have provided innumerable volunteer hours in support of the technical design and grant writing efforts. The two grants to the Panhandle region will establish infrastructure for the support of telecommunications to provide future opportunities for the citizens of the Panhandle of Texas.

Off Campus
By Scott Elliott "Mr. Buckley has tied my hands, but maybe rightly so"

Back in the dark ages, colleges operated a lot differently than today. College administrations were more or less responsible for the care of the young people entrusted in their care by well-meaning parents.

The principle was known as en loco parentis, which I believe in Latin means "in place of the parent." Over the generations that philosophy changed. Young folks going off to college for the first time were no longer considered one step removed from high school, still in need of a lot of guidance and TLC. Rather, they were regarded under the law as responsible adults, ready to sink or swim on their own merits.

This new school of thought peaked, if you will, along about 1974 with the passage of what has become known as the Buckley Amendment or, more formally, the Family Education Rights & Privacy Act Public Law 93-579. To me, the Buckley Amendment is a double-edged sword. There are times when I consider it the worst legislation ever to come down the pike, that is, Pennsylvania Avenue. There are other times when logic dictates and demands respect for the law.

In short, the Buckley Amendment precludes public colleges and universities from disseminating certain information about their students. To do so would constitute an invasion of privacy under the law and presumably make the college subject to litigation.

Now, imagine you're a parent with an 18-year-old enrolled in college. You're paying for the whole college freight - tuition, fees, books, room and board. It's costing you a boatload of money.

Naturally, therefore, you should have some expectation of accountability from both your child and the college, right? Wrong. Bawwww!!!! Don't pass Go. Don't collect $200.

As a school administrator, I can't tell you how many times over the years I just wish I could pick up the phone and contact a student's parent. When students experience serious academic and/or social problems, one must wonder if Mom and Dad really know what's going on.

Moreover, it's not uncommon for school administrators to get telephone calls from unsuspecting parents, asking about their child's progress or lack thereof. Some become quite annoyed when the Buckley Amendment is cited. Irrespective of the law, it's a bad practice in some cases to disseminate information to telephone callers. One can never be completely certain to whom he/she is talking.

I remember once in my career that a student attended a social function off campus and allegedly engaged in far too much libation, so much so that the student's system apparently was poisoned, rendering the individual comatose. I learned of the incident about 2 a.m., and, after some soul searching, decided to call the student's parents, who lived far away in another state. At the time, I didn't know to what extent the student might be in peril. For all I knew, the student might never awaken.

So, I took off my administrator's hat and began thinking like a parent. I thought, "Scott, can you live with yourself if that young person dies, and you didn't contact the parents?" Having a daughter of my own in college, I had to answer, "No."

When I called the parents, they were frantic, as you might well imagine. Later, after the student recovered, it was reported to me that the student was upset with the school administration. No suit was filed, but who knows? It might have been.

On the other side of this issue, whenever I get to thinking that the Buckley Amendment is a really awful law, I always experience some sobering thoughts.

Such as, "If my country will permit an 18-year-old to vote in the most important election in the world - choosing the leader of the free world, choosing the most powerful individual on the planet, then what right do I have to judge that teen-ager's ability to make his or her own lifestyle decisions?"

Even more poignant, "If my country will allow a teen-ager to die in the rice patties of Vietnam in defense of my freedom, then what right do I have to try to impact his decisions about school?"

The unvarnished answer is that I don't have the right. Privacy is a fundamental American right. Certain decisions students make are simply none of my business.

That, of course, doesn't diminish the sometimes frustrating, if not agonizing, feeling of watching a young person - perhaps living away from home for the first time - make decisions that are arguably not in his or her best interest, and not being able to render assistance by contacting the people who love him/her the most.

I guess the bottom line is that, irrespective of legislation, maturity is not so much a state of chronology as mind. And who's going to try to legislate that?

Dr. Scott Elliott is the president of Clarendon College.

4-H can bring about solutions to public concerns

by Sue Church, County FCS Agent

Young people today are ready and willing to help bring about solutions to public concerns, and the 4-H program of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service can help make it happen.

Enthusiasm and optimism have always been admirable qualities of American youth. Youthful exuberance, combined with the guidance and experience of adults, provides an unbeatable combination that results in a positive 4-H experience.

4-H'ers from all economic, ethnic and social backgrounds are helping to clean up and protect the environment and natural resources. Youth work to conserve energy, assist in agricultural production, and help improve health and nutrition habits of the community. In the process, the 4-H'ers develop good citizenship and leadership traits and gain skills that will help them later in life.

Combining youthful enthusiasm and energy with adult guidance and support results in a common purpose, and that is the 4-H story. 4-H'ers, their parents, their leaders, and alumni all work together to support the 4-H motto, "To make the best better."

Young people who have plenty of enthusiasm and adults who may wish to volunteer their time and talents are invited to get involved in 4-H to help "make it happen." Information on 4-H programs and activities is available at the county Extension Service office at 874-2141.

During the time of re-building Highway 287 through Clarendon, it is more important than ever that we support our hometown businesses. They may be a little harder to get to because of the construction, but these are the business men and women who support our schools, our churches, our senior citizens, and every worthwhile endeavor undertaken by our community. They deserve our support whenever possible.

Nursing Home residents visit Tri-State Fair

Residents celebrating birthdays in September were Letha Denney, Dorothy Hall, Richard Lewis, Myrtle Hay, Beulah Maxey, Katie Philips, Dorothy Boyette, and Lillie Messer. Family, friends, and residents gathered in the dining room of the Medical Center and enjoyed cake and punch. Five residents enjoyed a trip to the fair on Sept. 12. Those who went to the fair were Sibyl Rattan, Opal Paschal, Tommy Silvers, Carrol McClellan, and Neal Smith. On the trip to the fair, residents were excited to get there. Residents and staff sang songs and looked at the countryside. While eating at the Fair, residents enjoyed going and looking at the different exhibits. Medical Center Activity Department bought each resident a Tri State Fair T-shirt to take home with them. On the trip back home, the residents were tired, but were wondering when the next trip would be. Also on Sept. 27, resident and family members enjoyed their Family Picnic and Carnival. Residents and family enjoyed playing carnival games such as bean bag toss, duck pond, bowling, bingo, horseshoes, dart game, tic-tac-toe, cork gun game, and ring toss. Tommy Silvers and Neal Smith enjoyed shooting the cork gun and knocking over tin cans while Sibyl Rattan enjoyed popping balloons with the darts. Those residents who also enjoyed the games were: Louis Percival, Letha Denney, Ethel Dinger, Lillie Messer, Cora Hearn, Myrtle Hay, Mary Johnson, Harold Neal, and Doris Talley. After the games outside, residents and family members gathered in the dining room for bingo. After bingo, hamburgers were served along with all the fixings.

In the up and coming months residents will enjoy going bowling, a trip to the cross in Groom, and on Oct. 11 some will ride in the Hedley Cotton Festival Parade. Anyone wishing to volunteer their time and enjoy the fun along with us contact Becky Allen at 874-5221.

4-H: Preparing youth to be the leaders of tomorrow

Youth of today should be preparing themselves to become leaders for tomorrow, and that is where 4-H can play an important part.

4-H projects allow 4-H'ers to investigate areas that might be career opportunities for tomorrow. Project opportunities are limited only by a youngster's imagination. Projects allow 4-H'ers to develop skills, ideas, and knowledge to the fullest potential.

4-H clubs provide leadership, organizational, educational, and recreational experiences. Through these clubs 4-H'ers learn the democratic process, self-expression, self-esteem and group cooperation.

Through meetings, programs, recreation and achievement events, 4-H'ers learn to share, to be good sports and to accept recognition gracefully. They learn each time they perform at a club, county, and district event that regardless of whether they place first or last, they're winners because they have worked and achieved.

From their first projects in family and consumer sciences and agriculture, youth develop as they progress to bigger and larger projects. As 4-H'ers round out their years in 4-H, they become mature, self-sufficient, self-confident, self-supporting young adults ready to take their place in society and become worthwhile citizens. As former 4-H'ers enter the work field, they can be found in every career field. As 4-H continues into the next century, members will be outstanding and easily recognized because of their vast experience in the worthwhile organization. 4-H today and in the future will continue "to make the best better." For more information on the 4-H program contact the county Extension office.

A2S students go to Discovery Center

by Jamie Simmons

You may wonder what A2S means. It means Advanced Academic Services. The A2S students took a field trip to the Discovery Center in Amarillo on September 25, 1997.

There they learned the Scientific Method developed by Francis Bacon. The steps of the Scientific Method are purpose, research, hypothesis, experiment, analysis, and conclusion. The A2S students did four experiments using the Scientific Method. The experiments they did were: Can you pick up an ice cube using salt and a string?, Will an egg float in salt water or fresh water?, Can you bag groceries without using your hands?, and Can you build a tower using eight soda cans?

The A2S students had great fun at the Discovery Center and appreciate the Discovery Center for teaching the students the Scientific Method.

Extension programs are available to all people regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, disability or national origin.

Hedley Aldermen hold regular meeting

The Board of Aldermen of the City of Hedley met in a regular meeting on October 2, 1997, at 7:15 p.m.

The board nominated Bufford Holland to serve on the Donley Appraisal District Board of Directors.

The board considered the matter of picking up trash dumpsters that are located in Quail for Collingsworth County.

City Secretary Randy Shaw informed the council that Collingsworth County Judge Jim Forrester had contacted him about the possibility of the City of Hedley picking up the four dumpsters that are located in Quail as the city's truck was passing through on its way to the landfill in Wellington.

After some discussion, the board voted to pick up the dumpsters for a monthly fee of $25 each with Collingsworth County providing the dumpsters and the tipping fees at the Wellington Landfill. The city will empty the dumpsters at least once per week.

in the Harned Sisters Auditorium and will be administered by Dr. Carale Manning-Hill. Drama students will need to complete an application and provide a recent, close-up photograph. For the audition, students will need to perform 45-90 seconds of prepared monologue material. Students must call CC at 1-800-687-9737 by Friday, October 17, to reserve a tryout position for choir and drama scholarship auditions.

Sneak Peek '97 attendees are also invited to attend the annual Clarendon College Intramural Rodeo at 1 p.m. at the city rodeo arena. At 9 p.m. will be a dance in the Community Center, located next to the rodeo grounds.

Elliott found Gaines with 1:43 left in the third quarter on another 55-yard pass with 1:43 remaining in the third quarter. Abdullah's PAT was good for a 33-7 lead.

Sunray scored at the 6:44 mark in the fourth quarter and trailed 33-14. Clarendon increased the lead to 39-14 with 3:20 remaining as Elliott motored in 1 yard.

Sunray scored again with 1:32 in the fourth quarter for the final score of 39-20.

"It was a great offensive game and our best defensive game since Claude," Dews said. "The running game was a little lacking. The passing game - (Elliott) and the offensive line had a lot to do with that. We were afraid they were going to cancel (the game). We might have jelled at the right time."

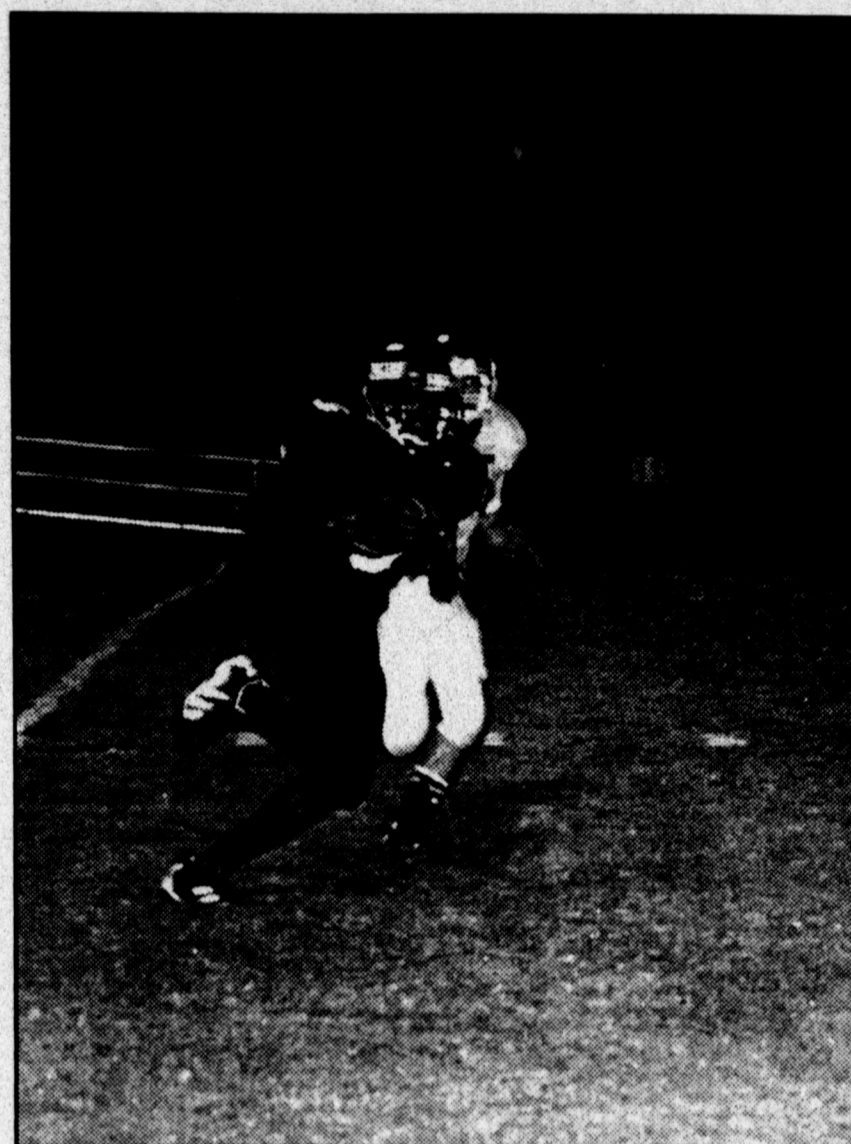

"We played well, and we're having a good time," Draper said. "Everyone played well."

The junior varsity Broncos continued their winning streak with a 26-24 squeaker past Claude Oct. 2 in Claude. Freshman Josh Williams caught a TD pass from Colt Floyd, and junior Wes Ritchie scored three TDs on runs. Jared Hartman caught a two-point conversion.

The seventh and eighth grade teams combined forces in their contest vs. White Deer.

The Bucks came out on top, 24-0.

Clarendon's younger squads travel to Quanah Thursday for 4:30 p.m., 6 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. starts.

Lady Broncos place third at Wheeler cross country meet

Clarendon's varsity girls captured third place in the Wheeler Mustang Stampede cross country meet Oct. 4, while the junior high squad placed first and two junior varsity teams stole first and fourth.

The Lady Broncos will take this week off before making one last tune-up before the District 2-2A meet Oct. 27 in White Deer.

Clarendon competed well on what head coach Steve Schmidt described as a "very fast course, with few tough uphill and several downhill slopes that really forced the runners down at full speed."

Finishing for the varsity Lady Broncos were Kathy Bryley, 13:18; Jamie Sawyer, 13:19; Geri Butler, 13:40; Courtney Newhouse, 13:42; Danielle Holden, 13:45; and Lindy Helms, 15:07.

Newhouse chopped off :23 from last year's time, while Holden took off :17, and Helms knocked off :09.

"With all the homecoming week excitement, I didn't expect great results," Schmidt said. "But these young ladies continue to overachieve. They all made their coaches very proud Saturday."

While the varsity competed well, Schmidt also was impressed with his junior high and J.V. runners.

Junior high runners Clarie Rodriguez, April Bryley and Christine Holden are running well enough to compete on varsity, Schmidt said.

Finishers were Rodriguez, 2nd, 12:48; April Bryley, 3, 12:50; Christine Holden, 12, 13:40; Kelley Lemley, 14:39; Carrie Helms, 14:42; Kristen Glover, 15:28; Brandi Betts, 15:34; Mandy McKinney, 15:57; and May Butler, 17:17.

Rodriguez, April Bryley and Carrie Helms, chopped off more than 1:00 from last year's time.

"The other amazing performance was a freshman, Julie Turbeville, who ran her first cross country race of her life and won it," Schmidt said. "She also ran fast enough to be on varsity and will be for our next race."

Finishers for the junior varsity competition were Turbeville, 13:45;

Stephanie Smith, 14:43; Jamee Sparks, 15:27; Shannon Cooper, 15:28; Jill Hicks, 15:29; Lindsey Shelton, 15:37; Melisse Campbell, 15:54; Jaclyn Griffin, 16:00; Kim Alexander, 16:03; Jenny Roberts, 16:15; Tonya Wilson, 16:46; Lindsey Eads, 17:18; Sarah Kidd, 17:36; and Ry Webster, 17:58.

"We really had an enjoyable day," Schmidt said. "Coach (Katie) Vanzee and I heard so many compliments from other coaches on our kids. Their attitudes, work ethic, commitment, manners, etc. People are taking notice that our kids are real competitors and will be contending with the best for years to come."
