Large Crowd Attends Annual Rodeo And Free Barbecue Here July 4th

Clarendon was filled to the brim Monday, July 4th, with what was termed one of the largest crowds in the history of the annual celebration here. Everyone could tell the crowd was here when the time came for serving of the free barbecue at 11:30 on the 4th and also when the rodeo performance got under way the night of the 4th.

It was estimated that between 9 and 10 thousand were on hand for the barbecue. Flip Breedlove and his crew did an excellent job with the barbecuing and it looked for a while Sunday night that they would be hampered by rain but it held off until Monday night after the rodeo was over. J. B. Melton and his helpers did an excellent job with the beans and peaches and Bill Todd and his crew of relatives had a crying good time Sunday afternoon peeling and slicing the onions.

Following the barbecue, thousands lined main street and Sully street to witness one of the best western parades ever presented here. Winners in the parade were Barnhill Theatres, 1st; Ashtola Community, 2nd; and Kidd Bros., 3rd.

In the Queen Contest, Miss Karen Knorpp, was presented as Rodeo Queen Monday night at the Rodeo performance, Miss Judy Thompson was the second place winner and Andy Pinkerton, third.

After the dust had settled from the last rodeo performance, Bill Greene, President of the Outdoor Entertainment Association, expressed his appreciation for all the assistance he had received from everyone throughout the entire celebration. He also expressed his thanks for the various donations of prizes, beef,

Disaster Relief Team Favors City Dam Repair

The Disaster Relief Team that was scheduled to arrive here last Friday but showed up Thursday instead, checked over the damage to retention dams south of town and reported to Mayor H. T. Burton that they would recommend relief aid to put the dams back in good condition. The request for aid will have to be passed on by the President before any actual work can begin on the job but it is gratifying to know this group was favorable toward this project although they stated that they could not include repair to the sewer disposal plant, Burton added.

It will be necessary for the City to find some other means if taking care of the sewer system and at present the City is out of money, Mayor Burton concluded.

A large turnout of voters is expected for the School Bond Election Saturday, July 9th, as interest mounts each day.

Residents of all ages are more conscious than ever of the need for new school buildings and are working hard to get all voters to the polls Saturday to vote for the two propositions that must receive a majority vote so we can make a progressive move toward new schools and equipment.

Our present school buildings are out-moded and inadequate in most every respect. The passage of the bond issue will allow our present generation, and youngsters to follow, a better education which is necessary in this present day of living.

In voting for the School Bond Issues, it will mean that taxes will be approximately 1/3 higher than you are now paying but you can't expect to have new schools and up-to-date equipment without paying for them just the same as anything else you buy. The returns from additional taxes will be rewarding when we can look about us and see our children are receiving the same opportunity of those in larger cities.

For more information regarding the propositions turn to page one of the second section of this issue of the Leader and read what your school trustees have to say in connection with the bond issue.

We invite you to turn all the way through the Leader and read the advertisements that are being published this week by many of your local merchants and individuals who are strongly supporting the issues for better Clarendon Schools.

It's pretty hard to convince the kids that the shortage of teachers is a calamity.

Writing in Ladies Home Journal, Dr. James Bryant Conant, former president of Harvard, says: "No one would consider requiring all boys and girls, irrespective of their talent, to spend hours trying to play a musical instrument. Yet some recent proposals I have read about a high-school curriculum seem to me equally absurd. To be sure, if the United States is to survive in the kind of world in which we live, rapid improvement of the education of the academically talented youth must take place. But in our zeal to upgrade the schooling of one group of students — the exceptionally bright boys and girls — we must not forget the needs of all the others. We must not neglect the development of the manual skills or the education of future voters."

YELLOW CATS MUST CHOOSE OWN PARTNERS

AUSTIN — Hatching and raising yellow catfish presents more problems to the State Fish Hatcheries than any other species of fish, according to the Director of Hatcheries, Texas Game and Fish Commission. "The greatest problem is raising that spawn once it hatches," said the director. "However, nearly as great is the problem of matching brood fish and feeding the little offspring." It seems that yellow cats, like many other forms of wildlife, must choose their own mates. Other fish, such as bass, are not so particular, but yellows will not produce unless they are with the mates of their choice.

Usually, hatchery personnel catch mated cats in their nets since pairs normally travel together.

er. These are transferred to hatching ponds where they can spawn. Often, when a hatchery pond containing yellow cats is drained, pairs tend to isolate themselves in the shallow water. These also are kept together and used as brood fish. Once a pair accepts each other and successfully spawn one year, they will continue to spawn each year as long as they remain together.

Once the eggs hatch, biologists are faced with the problem of feeding the little ones. Baby cats manage in hatching ponds until they reach about 2 1/2 inches. Then, they refuse anything but live food.

"These are just some of the problems encountered in our experiments with yellow cats," said the director. "Some day we hope to find solutions to these obstacles so we can satisfy the stocking demands in the State."

The Portland, Oregon, Traffic Safety Commission points out that most traffic accidents occur on a straight, dry, level roadway. And there is no doubt about what causes these accidents — it is driver error, and nothing else.

Some time ago Joel Barlow, an authority on tax matters, testified before a Senate Committee on U.S. tax policy as it affects the depreciation of industry's machinery and other facilities. He said: "... the United States is the most backward of the leading industrial nations in tax depreciation policy... Now while other nations forge ahead, and Russia is investing in capital goods at an astounding rate, we are operating under a depreciation system more than a quarter of a century old, a system that has a profound deterrent effect on capital investment, and is particularly hard on taxpayers with restricted access to outside capital."

TREE SEEDLINGS AVAILABLE FOR WINDBREAK PLANTS

College Station— Established windbreaks are an excellent means of preventing wind erosion of valuable topsoil as well as providing protection for farmsteads, especially in West Texas. The Texas Forest Service this year will again make available tree seedlings for planting windbreaks.

Deadline on orders for the seedlings is March 1, according to Bill Smith, extension forestry specialist. Red cedar, Arizona Cypress, Austrian pine, ponderosa pine, cottonwood, muiberry, sycamore and osage orange (bois d'arc) seedlings are available and will be shipped for planting shortly after March 1. The price is nominal and local county agents can supply the exact figure.

The seedlings will be packaged bare-rooted in moss and moisture-proof paper rather than being individually wrapped in burlap. Smith pointed out that the seedlings may be used only for windbreaks — not for shade or ornamental purposes.

Application blanks may be procured from county agents and Soil Conservation Service district offices in the West Texas area. In addition, the forms are available upon request from the Director, Texas Forest Service, College Station.

Smith added that most calls for the small trees come from West Texas but that any farmer or rancher in Texas can buy your prime.

The time to get primed for the future is when you're still in them.

Twelve were present for the called meeting Thursday night, June 30th. Mrs. Van Knox presided at the business session.

The following three motions were carried: to buy an air conditioner for the center, to buy plastic materials and make three bouquets to be left at the center for use in decorating for special occasions, and third to sand the floors.

Discussions shelved for a vote at a later date were plans to have church services at the Center and plans for square dancing lessons.

Plans were completed for our float for the July 4th parade and our bake sale at the courthouse lawn the day of the barbecue in Clarendon.

Next meeting July 8th. Bring part of a cake and your dominoes. —Rep.

KINGS BEGIN SUMMER RUNS ALONG COAST

AUSTIN — The big run on kings and mackerel along the Texas coast has finally come, according to the executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

According to reports from along the coast, huge catches of both kings and mackerel have been made by boats within the past week. There also has been a tremendous run of tarpon at the mouth of the Brazos at Freeport. Bank fishermen and boats in the river have snarled traffic on the river for the past two weeks and hundreds of tarpon have been caught.

Trout and redfish also are being taken more consistently now, according to reports. High winds caused slow fishing for some time, but water now has cleared up considerably.

Reports from Laguna Madre indicate a heavy influx of food fish, which means the bay waters will have a heavy run of fish for the time being.

Offshore fishing also has resulted in some large catches of snapper, ling and jew fish. This type of fishing is done from party boats from such points as Port Arthur, Galveston, Freeport, Port Aransas and Port Isabel.

GOOD RECORDS NEEDED BY TODAY'S AG PRODUCERS

College Station — Profitable farm and ranch operations are developed through alert, aggressive management. Adequate business records are an essential part of that management, points out C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist.

Business records can serve as the compass for charting the course but constant review and analysis are needed to make them more effective. Over-all record keeping is fine, says Bates, but enterprise records really show where the profits and losses are originating and why.

In most cases, points out the specialist, the over-all farm or ranch business is made up of several segments or enterprises. A complete summary of the business usually does not reveal the relative profitability of the different enterprises or parts of the whole business. Enterprise records call for a bit more understanding of accounting since they involve some additional breakdowns of cash account items.

Work now under way by the extension farm management specialists and field personnel is aimed at assisting a limited number of farm and ranch operators with enterprise records in each county. As resources permit, this work will be expanded, according to Bates.

He adds that farmers and ranchmen, like other businessmen, must use every available means to maintain satisfactory returns on their investment, labor and managerial ability. If enterprise records will improve the efficiency of the business, and Bates believes they will, then they should be kept.

He says that local county extension agents can supply additional information on enterprise record keeping and assistance if it is desired.

Lawrenceville, Va. News: "The Internal Revenue Service recently ruled that certain advertisements by private power companies, advertisements which discussed public power companies, could not be deducted as a business expense by the private power companies"

"We . . . believe that the private power companies have a perfect right to . . . decide what is legitimate advertising expense and what is not — not the Internal Revenue Service of the U.S. Government. If the Service can do this to the private power industry, it can intimidate many other major industries and curtail freedom of expression and opinion to an alarming degree."

STRAC Soldier Trains with M-14 Rifle

SGT. LARRY T. JACOBS of Richmond, Virginia, member of the 101st Airborne Division (Screaming Eagles), equipped with Army's versatile M-14 during a training exercise held in January at Fort Campbell, Kentucky. The four-in-one infantry weapon replaces the M1 Garand rifle, the M2 carbine, the Browning automatic rifle and the M3 submachine gun.

als and other essentials necessary for good animal health, says the pathologist.

The fungi, bacteria and other germs which cause plant diseases cannot be seen with the naked eye. And plant diseases are difficult or impossible to control once they have infected a crop. However, says Smith, many can be prevented. For example, the treating of planting seed with a good fungicide will aid in controlling some feed and forage crop diseases.

The pathologist suggests that good, carefully selected seed which is dry, sound and free from combine injured seed coats be planted. Also that the seed be planted in a warm, mellow soil. Cold and wet soil favors seedling diseases.

He recommends that rotation be followed with annual feed and forage crops because growing the same crop on the same land year after year tends to increase plant disease problems. If a disease resistant crop variety or hybrid is available, Smith strongly urges its use. For as he puts it, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure in preventing plant disease losses.

DOESN'T MAKE SENSE

Of interest to the taxpayers is the following item about the Montana Power Company, which is typical of hundreds of other private electric companies in the 50 states.

In 1959, its taxes came to more than $14 million. This was a little more than company employees received in wages, salaries and pensions and the return to investors, combined. Thus government — federal, state and local — is the biggest beneficiary of the successful operation of hundreds of such tax-paying electric companies throughout the 50 states.

Yet there are those in government and elsewhere who would displace these tax-paying enterprises with tax-exempt, socialized projects, and shift the taxes to the backs of remaining over-burdened taxpayers. Why?

A smile will add to your face value.

Leave sooner and live longer.

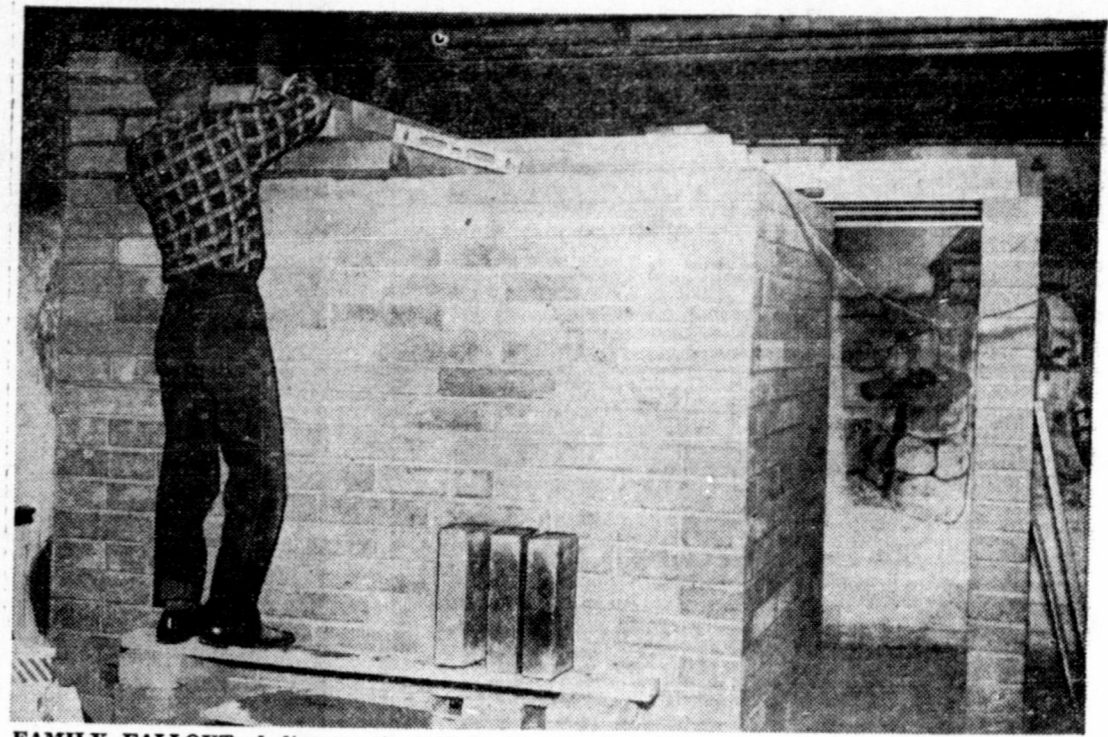

WATCH CATTLE FOR BLOAT

College Station — Bloat is causing increasing cattle losses in Texas, especially along the Gulf Coast where cattle are allowed to graze young legume pastures. A severe hay shortage has made the problem even more serious.

Hay or cottonseed hulls are the best preventatives, but if not available, use any dry, palatable roughage available, advises Dr. C. M. Patterson, extension veterinarian. It is a good management practice to have the animals well-filled on dry roughage before starting legume grazing and to feed at least small amounts of dry roughage as long as the legumes are soft and fast growing, he adds.

Many cattle feeders prefer cotton seed hulls because they are easy to feed without waste and appear to be especially well adapted to preventing bloat because of their capacity for water absorption. Also, hulls are easily mixed with cottonseed meal, molasses, or other ingredients which add sufficient palatability to insure the cattle eating enough roughage.

When cattle are turned on young legume pasture for the first day, be sure they are well-filled on roughage or more mature pasture forage, and have plenty of fresh water available, continues the veterinarian. Mid-day or early afternoon is a better time to start grazing than early morning, and avoid grazing when the young legumes are covered with dew or wet from rain. It is sometimes best to let the cattle graze only a short time the first day if they appear to be eating heavily. If cattle are removed from the young legume grazing, the same precautions must be observed in starting them back on the legumes, Dr. Patterson says.

FAMILY FALLOUT shelter constructed in the basement of the Orval M. Conner residence in Battle Creek, Mich., is typical of some 100 built under way or being negotiated throughout the nation for construction in new and existing public and private buildings, in parks, and similar sites.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

Roseburg, Ore., News-Review: "We find that more and more taxes are being imposed upon the workingman to provide low-cost housing to great numbers of people, to keep hordes of people in idleness on welfare, to extend unemployment benefits in which widespread chiseling has been indicated, and to spread dollars in many other ways designed to capture votes, although every dollar must come out of the pockets of taxpayers and principally from the pockets of working men. Yet the liberals contend to be friends of the laboring man while, at the same time, turning his pockets wrong side out."

A spokesman for the Citizens' Public Expenditure Survey states that "if the federal government does not start paying off the present debt, in the next 30 years we will pay interest charges equal to the $284 billion principal of the debt — and still owe all of it."

PLANT DISEASES CAN CUT LIVESTOCK PROFITS

College Station — The prevention and control of plant diseases are important in livestock production because profits depend on maximum yields from pastures and crops.

E. Smith, extension plant pathologist, the weather, soil or planting seed get the blame for low production when plant diseases cause the losses. Too, he adds, poor quality feed or forage often results from damages caused by plant diseases. Such feed does not contain the vitamins, miner-

Regulations Regarding Excess Cotton

As most of you know there has been a change in regulations regarding disposition areas of cotton which is very important to every farmer that has excess cotton. The change reads as follows: "Adjustment credit shall be given only for areas of regular shape with not more than four sides. One side or one end of the disposition area shall be parallel with the rows or field boundary when row crops are destroyed in a square, rectangular or trapezoidal pattern."

MR. TAXPAYER!

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE CLARENDON CONSOLIDATED INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT, AS YOUR ELECTED REPRESENTATIVES, WISH NOW TO PRESENT THIS FORTHRIGHT FRANK AND HONEST PICTURE OF WHAT THIS BOND ISSUE WILL MEAN TO EACH TAXPAYER. YOU MAY THEN FIGURE YOUR PROPOSED TAX INCREASE INDIVIDUALLY.

THESE ARE POINTS FOR YOU TO CONSIDER:

FIRST...

THIS SCHOOL BOND ELECTION IS BEING CALLED FOR SATURDAY, JULY 9TH, 8 A.M. TO 7 P.M. AND WILL BE HELD IN THE SCHOOL TAX OFFICE.

SECOND..

YOUR VOTES WILL DECIDE TWO QUESTIONS (PROPOSITIONS)

PROPOSITION NO. 1

To establish a maintenance tax of $1.50 limit. (We already have a $1.50 tax rate limit, but must have new authorization by voters for this bond issue.)

PROPOSITION NO. 2

To authorize the issuance of bonds in the amount of $750,000 for school construction and furnishings.

THE BALLOTS WILL READ SUBSTANTIALLY AS FOLLOWS:

For the levy of a maintenance tax

Against the levy of a maintenance tax

For the issuance of the bonds and the levy of a tax in payment thereof

Against the issuance of the bonds and the levy of a tax in payment thereof

Both of the above issues must carry favorably in order that bonds may be issued and the building program proceed.

THIRD...

If both propositions carry in this election, your 1959 taxes will probably increase one-third.

As an example of how this increase will affect your tax bill, we give the following illustrations:

If your 1959 tax assessment is now $9.00, with a one-third increase, your new tax bill will be $12.00 (A cup of coffee a day would cost $36.50 a year.)

If your 1959 tax assessment is now $30.00, with a one-third increase, your new tax bill will be $40.00, or an increase of less than $1.00 per month, in order to have a modern-up-to-date School System.

This will enable each taxpayer in the District to estimate his 1960 taxes.

OFFICIAL POSITION OF YOUR BOARD OF EDUCATION ON THIS BOND ISSUE:

We, the seven trustees of the Clarendon Consolidated Independent School District, being lay members of this community, recommend for your VERY FAVORABLE consideration the TWO PROPOSITIONS to be voted on Saturday, July 9, 1960.

Therefore, in our endeavor to represent you, the taxpayer and parent, we feel that these two propositions are not only necessary, but must be acted upon immediately.

The residents of the Clarendon Consolidated Independent School District have for many years enjoyed an abnormally low Assessment and School Tax; however, an improvement program is now a necessity, and even with this adjustment the tax bill to the residents will be far below comparable School Districts in West Texas.

Your support of the new program is earnestly requested. We want you to be well informed and have all the facts. If you have questions, please get in touch with any of the School Board members, our Superintendent of Schools, or the School Tax Office.

If we have faith in the future, we must continue to invest in the youth of today.

Respectfully,

Mutt Graham

WHO MAY VOTE IN THIS ELECTION?

QUALIFIED, TAXPAYING VOTERS RESIDING WITHIN THE DISTRICT, OWNING PROPERTY RENDERED ON THE DISTRICT ROLLS, MAY VOTE.

NOTE: "Qualified Voters" as thus used refers to district resident voters who hold a current poll tax or exemption.

"Taxable Property" refers to either REAL PROPERTY or PERSONAL PROPERTY, or BOTH.

GEORGE'S WIFE

By "Sarah"

We run across this theme, title "Juvenile Delinquency" written 17 years ago by a high school student. In case you had forgotten this was during the war years. It is interesting to note the causes this young person gives for delinquency. We wonder if our country would have been spared this problem, had we heard this cry in the night. The following is part of this theme:

American children are talking back to their elders, the young people want to get to the root of this problem, not just scratch the surface of things. The adult world would be wise to hear our side of the story, before convicting us of crimes against grown-up conventions.

There are many causes of delinquency, the gravest and most important one at this time is working parents. They are making more money than ever before, and some are spending in on a last fling. This, and the excitement of war makes a very un-stable environment in the home. Some seem to have forgotten their responsibility as parents.

Parents, now is the time to make friends with your children and young people. Talk to them, give them more love and understanding. We feel this excitement also, and need calm and steady guidance more than ever.

Some young people are not satisfied with playing soldier or war, and are turning to more dangerous pursuits. Teenage gangs in the cities have been known to kill people, just for the thrill.

Parents, teachers and ministers, give us some of your attention, re-open the recreation centers, sponsored by solid citizens of our community. We may not seem the most important issue of the day,

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

IF

Almost any youngster will vouch for the fact that "if" is a mighty big word. That one syllable can pack more meaning and importance than the most ponderous and lengthy words in our language. And this lesson has not lost its meaning on Americans, for we have saved ourselves a great deal of unnecessary diffi-but this generation will soon be the ones making peace or waging war. The care and guidance given now, shapes the world of the future.

There is more of this theme, this part of it, except for there being a shooting war, could have almost been taken from yesterday's paper. We do not know if these ideas were taken from papers and magazines, or if the situation on the part of this student really was this bad. We do know there are more working mothers now than there were during the war even, according to very recent statistics. We have never thought there was a more pressing need for mothers to be in the home when there are children given to them, than right now.

culty by refusing — as one of our proverbs has it — to "cross that bridge until we come to it." For "if" can bring into play countless numbers of vague and worrisome possibilities which are senseless to pursue.

But in the field of foreign policy, it is becoming more and more clear that a greater willingness to consider "if" has enabled the Soviet Union to reap large dividends. Our dislike for ambiguity has found us unprepared for a number of the world crises which the USSR has exploited successfully. And the most unpleasant feature of this tendency in our diplomacy is the fact that many of these crucial international events could have been anticipated.

At this very moment, even the most unpracticed eye can find several potential trouble spots in the world, and yet we offer little or no indication that we have any sort of plan to deal with them and to counter Communist influence. Here are a few of the more obvious indications of future trouble, designed as a quiz for the Department of State:

1. Do we have any plan of diplomatic action if ties between the Soviet Union and Cuba become closer after the visit of Khrushchev to our Caribbean neighbor in the near future?
2. What means would we employ to continue access to West Berlin if the Soviet Union signed a separate peace treaty with East Germany and thereby sought to isolate West Berlin?
3. How would we act to prevent a collapse of our East Asian defense perimeter if the present Japanese government should be replaced by a Socialist-Communist one which sought to repudiate the security treaty?
4. If a revolt occurred in an Eastern European satellite nation, such as the one which occurred in Hungary, would our attitude be any more imaginative than the one adopted in that case?
5. Do we have any broad, long range plans — other than haphazard give-away programs — for achieving support of the vast neutralist nations of Africa and Asia?
6. How would we approach further turmoil if it exploded in the Middle East between the Arab League and Israel and how would we prevent any possible incursions by the Communist bloc?

7. Have we even contemplated any changes in our efforts at home if the Soviet Union should achieve economic equality with the United States?

Unfortunately, there is little evidence that these questions have been answered. It appears that we have been answering questions of equal severity in the past while being pressed by the heat of necessity. This is not to say that our State Department has not prepared plans of action in the event the several "IF" situations should develop. If there are such plans of action, it is understandable that they could not be made public in advance. However, there should be advance information conveyed to those who have the power of creating such situations. This advance information should be to the effect that this country has given thought to these possibilities, has prepared and developed an effective plan to cope therewith, and will have no hesitancy in bringing it into play. This would not only improve our chances of preserving and bettering our prestige in the eyes of other nations, but it would also serve to discourage the ambitions of totalitarian nations and reduce their opportunities for the bluff and bluster technique. A firm, tough-minded policy would, in my opinion, be much more effective than the policy of mildness which has been pursued in an apparent effort to try to please all men in all things.

GRASSROOTS OPINION
Beverly, Mass., Evening Times:
"The mania for munching tranquilizing pills caught the American public at about the time of the outbreak of the Korean War. It has been estimated that more than 40 million persons buy those makes for which a prescription is not required.

"Without anxiety in reasonable proportion a man would be indifferent to everything and the world would be chaos. Who wants to live in a world of tranquility achieved via a pill box?"

money-short future, a State Senate Committee is studying the possibility of earning higher returns from the investment of state trust funds.

Sen. Hubert Hudson heads the panel which is studying administration and investment of four funds totaling $1,200,000,000. They are the University Permanent Fund, the Permanent School Fund, the Teachers Retirement System Fund and the State Employees Retirement Fund.

Mortgage bankers suggested to the panel that the funds could earn a higher return without sacrifice of safety by investing in government-insured home mortgages. Some panel members observed that the funds now invested in federal bonds were not earning as much as was being lost through inflation.

For the past three years some of the University's Permanent Fund has been invested in corporate securities which has increased its earnings over what it had been from government bonds.

Senators also discussed the possibility of saving through a unified organization for administration and counseling on the four funds.

GAS DECISION AWAITED — State of Texas and the natural gas pipeline companies are waiting for a decision is the first round of a long series of court fights on the validity of the natural gas severance beneficiary tax.

A total of 108 lawsuits have been filed against the tax by pipeline companies. Their attorneys argue that it, like the old natural gas gathering tax that was knocked down by the courts, is unconstitutional because it constitutes a burden on interstate commerce. Companies have paid the $6,363,878 in severance taxes under protest. If the law is struck down in the courts, the money will be refunded to the companies.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, arguing for the state, declared the law is not unfair to interstate commerce because it treats gas sold outside of Texas and gas sold within the state exactly the same.
SAUNDERS CASE ARGUED — Court of Criminal Appeals is to rule next fall in a case hinging on whether a witness can be convicted of perjury in connection with testimony before a legislative committee.

Defendant in the case is J. Byron Saunders, former chairman of the State Board of Insurance, who was convicted and sentenced to two years imprisonment for lying to a legislative committee about funds received from ICT Insurance Co. while he was in office. Saunders' attorney contended that perjury is possible only before a judicial body, not before a legislative committee.

AUSTIN — Amid the searing, summer weather, Texans are putting new emphasis on getting a statewide water plan.

Though Texas is supposed to be mid-way in a seven-year wet cycle now, unexpected harsh drought settled on parts of South and South Central Texas in late spring and early summer. As one scorching day followed another, crops were stunted and pasture began to burn.

Though conditions were better elsewhere, the difficulties of the farmers in the areas around the Capital City lent emphasis to Gov. Price Daniel's plea for a "crash program" to develop a water plan. If Texans don't do it, said the governor, the federal government will take over.

Target is to have a complete master plan for development of Texas' water ready by May 1, 1961. To help meet this deadline, the governor asked representatives of the river authorities and districts to file updated master plans for their areas with the Water Board by Nov. 1. He also asked the river authorities to lend engineers and technical personnel to help prepare the state plan.

Meanwhile, farmers, watching their corn burn up in the fields, took what comfort they could from the often-repeated statement that "Texas has plenty of water; it's just a matter of distribution."

STEEP GRADES AHEAD — Looking ahead 10 years at estimated costs of state government, the governor's State Finance Advisory Commission got a dizzying view of spiraling expenses.

Sub-committees of the commission will study the problem of future costs and how to meet them through the summer and make reports to the entire commission Sept. 10. Commission's report and recommendations to the governor are due Oct. 10.

Estimates of their future needs made by major state agencies for the Commission indicated a need for spending $29,000,000 more each year to meet growth needs.

Governor Daniel told the commission he hoped they could find ways to scale down the new money needs and find revenue sources that would grow as population and demands for services increase.

FINANCE STUDY GROUPS — Making up the Finance Commission sub-committees which will work through the summer to find answers to Texas' worrisome money problems are a group of citizens with more than average experience in public affairs and finances.

The panels and their chairmen, as named by Commission Chairman John Redditt are:

Sources of Additional Revenue: Dr. George C. Hester of Georgetown.

Financing Law Enforcement, Welfare, Hospitals and the Industrial Commission: E. B. Germany of Dallas.

State's Fiscal System and Deficit Problems: Ben H. Wooten of Dallas.

Public Schools: Thomas B. Ramsey of Tyler.

PLOWIN' Out the CORNERS

by Uncle Zeb
I used to worry what folks might think.

It is easy to start watching the other fellow for some unfriendly gesture and winding up by being the same way ourselves. We remember the story of the fellow who started over to borrow the neighbors ax. On the way he started thinking that this neighbor might refuse. He figured that he might have gotten mad at him over something and that his asking to borrow the ax might bring out the whole affair. He proceeded as he walked along to build up his case and to tear down his neighbor until upon reaching his destination he had himself worked up into a fury. Calling the neighbor to the door he said; "Well, if that's your attitude after all these years I wouldn't use your old ax if it was the last one in the world." And with that stalked out of the yard and back home.
Most folks think better of us than we do about ourselves. We have those little guilty conscience

A Modern Labor of Hercules . . . Army Missile 'Kills' Missile

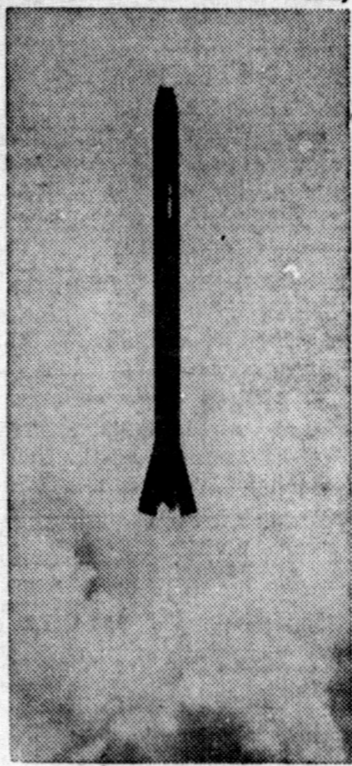

Army

KILLER

TARGET

AN IMPROVED U. S. Army Nike Hercules air defense guided missile, in an engineering feasibility demonstration, destroys a Corporal ballistic missile fired at White Sands Missile Range, N. M. While the Corporal has much less range and speed than the inter-continental ballistic missiles, the test yielded valuable information pertinent to the development of an anti-missile defense, the Army said. Closing at a speed of thousands of miles per hour, the Hercules intercepts and destroys the Corporal in the first known kill of a guided missile by another. A previous kill was made by the Army's Hawk against the Honest John, a ballistic missile. In the sequence above, the Hercules appears on top as a flash of light as it approaches the Corporal for the kill. At left is the Hercules at take-off and at right is the Corporal which served as the target.

Safety From Fire In Our Schools

Every spring young boys wish that the school would burn down, you can bet. But what if ours really did! June issue of Parents' Magazine reports that a group of educators through the Ford Foundation literally turned firebugs.

Fires were set in a school in Los Angeles — a condemned building thirty-five or forty years old, two or three stories high; built of reinforced concrete, brick, plaster, hollow tiles, metal lath and wood trim; solid, comfortable, overrowed. It was a school something like Chicago's Our Lady of the Angels which trapped and killed ninety-five children and teachers a year and a half ago.

do so from asphyxiation, a few scorched to death by heat, only a few would die burned by flame.

Heat from fires set in the basement and left unchecked made the first floor unbearable within five to seven minutes; its second and third floors within eight to eleven minutes. However, the smoke from those basement fires made first floor corridors untenable within two to three minutes; the second floor within four minutes, and the third floor within six minutes. In Chicago's Lady of the Angels fire, only 12 minutes lapsed between detecting the fire and sounding the alarm.

Ideally, classrooms should have outside exits, be one-story high and built to minimize the possibility that any fire, once started could develop rapidly by feeding on the building itself. Safety from fire in our schools is up to parents, grandparents, neighbors, friends, of the children in Clarendon. — An Interested Citizen.

If it's true that a fool and his money are soon parted — then tell us how they got together in the first place?

pangs to deal with. There are more well-wishers in the world than we sometimes think.

An uncle of mine used to make the following statement; "God may not mind helping most of us up now and then, but I reckon that He must get a mite tired 'jes' toten some folks all the time." Every now and then we are asking God to help us have our wants we remember the above and stop to ask ourselves if we have done our very best to stand on our own.

We believe that God would get just a bit impatient with us if we failed to use all of our own resources to help ourselves out of any predicament. When we have done the best we can then He will be nearby to lend us that helping hand.

Now and then we find folks who are the same way about the every day problems. We have seen those who seemed to have their hand outstretched for some one to give them some help. It seemed that they always had some sort of a made to order emergency that would justify the neighbors helping out.

On the other hand, most folks do not really want to be helped but would rather make it on their own. These folks can be persuaded to take some help when a real tragedy occurs but will soon be seen bouncing back into high gear and doing things for themselves.

God wants us to be humble, but He doesn't want us to become helpless. He wants us to trust Him, but He would not want us to stop trying on our own. He will provide us with the fishes but we are expected to keep on digging for the bait and tugging at our lines. God will help each of us with our problems, but the fellow who keeps trying to help himself will always be a bit farther down the road when trouble comes.

Clarendon, Texas

The 4th of July always brings on an outbreak of celebrations. We have barbecues, rodeos, old settlers meeting together to discuss old times, such as we are attending here in Clarendon. We have the rounds of fireworks, week end trips along the highways with its toll of car wrecks. And we have something else; that of pausing now and then to give thanks for our country, and for the freedom and independence which our forefathers have bought for us at such a great price.

Daniel Boone and many of the pioneers of that day left their marks upon the trees as they blazed trails westward to new lands and new homes. To them we owe a great debt of gratitude.

George Washington and his brave men who fought, starved and died at Valley Forge that we might have this great freedom should always be kept in our memories. It was he who once told his men that; "This Freedom will seem cheap by and by, when no one dies for it." Unless we remember well this can be so true. We can so easily forget the price, and take for granted these grand and wonderful blessings which we enjoy.

These pioneers, which we honor today may not have marked the trails with an ax, but they have left many wonderful and worthwhile marks as they have "blazed the trail" for us. On this corner they have helped to place a stone that marks the corner of some land that has been proven and patented and surveyed. There they dug a well. On another corner they have built a school house so that their children may have a better chance to find happiness in life. On another they have built churches. Within these walls their children have found great spiritual hope. In these they have gotten married and brought their families to Sunday School. For these wonderful marks along the trail we say a big "Thank You" to all Pioneers who have "blazed the trails for each of us."

BUILD NEW SCHOOLS TO HELP OUR TOWN GROW WITH OUR CHILDREN JUNIOR'S FOOD MARKET

Do We Need New Schools?

There is not an adult, or child, in Clarendon School District who can't answer this question if he will only go on an inspection trip of our present school facilities.

Does your grade-school child take science? He should you know, for our world around us is almost completely dominated by scientific feats of spectacular dimensions reaching into the heavens above as well as infesting our homes with gadgets of ever increasing complexity. If your child in grade school takes science, he does so in a laboratory (?) not even equipped with running water!! Let's not ask about laboratory equipment, experimental facilities, nor instructional materials . . . THIS MIGHT BE EMBARRASSING! And you ask do we need new schools? Does your child take STATE REQUIRED P.E. in school? For the past two years Physical Education has been a required subject for all public school children . . . except those handicapped or officially excused by medical recommendation. For the past two years, and ages before, your Clarendon Public Schools have not been able to meet this state requirement because of lack of facilities. Have you seen our gymnastic outlay at our grade schools?? You should you know, for these are tools used to build strong, healthy bodies, and clean minds for our children and the generation of leaders of tomorrow. Do you still ask if we need new schools?

Did you know that a state team of examiners rate your public schools? Do you know how we are rated? Did you know we have been on probation during the past five years for inadequate facilities? Did you know our present facilities have escaped condemnation because we have been in litigation and unable to improve the situation with a bond issue? If you do not think we need new schools, please, go take a conscientious evaluation of our facilities.
