Goodnight Cookoff to be held Saturday

The stage is set for the third annual Col. Charles Goodnight Chuckwagon Cookoff to be held this Saturday, Sept. 27, on the grounds of the Saints' Roost Museum.

Gates will open to the public at 10 a.m. and the cost of admission and a chuckwagon meal is $10. Entertainment-only tickets are available at a reduced price.

This year's event will feature at least 12 authentic chuckwagons, competing for cash prizes awarded for the best food in the categories of meat, bread, beans, and dessert. The chuckwagons will also be judged on the authenticity of the wagon, chuckbox, and equipment as well as camp furnishings.

A concession lunch will be sponsored by the Clarendon VFW Post, and they will serve hamburgers, hot dogs, and beans.

A trade show will be held in the old Ft. Worth & Denver Depot building and will feature Western trappings, jewelry, and art. Norman Dysart, author of the Mobeetie-based Like Whispers In The Wind, will be on hand to sign copies of his book.

The museum will be open all day to receive visitors, and tours will be conducted by the CHS Junior Historians in period costumes.

In the museum conference room, an exhibit will display the work of artist Don Ray. His works include historical paintings and bronze sculptures.

The Chuckwagon Supper will begin at 5:45 p.m., and everyone is urged to get there early. Following the meal, an awards presentation will be held at 7:30.

Chances are being sold on a pair of James Owens' handmade boots to be given away, and a Hay Bale Auction, with hay donated by Dan Sawyer, will also be held.

Entertainment for the evening will feature the Western music of Duke Davis, performing on an open air stage.

A working cowboy, Davis' rugged cowboy image and horsemanship skills have given him the opportunity to work as an actor in television, films, and commercials. His four albums have received international acclaim, and his dedication to the preservation of the working cowboy has driven him to portray the cowboy ideals in his art.

Tater Paschal will also be on hand to grace the audience with his cowboy poetry.

This year's Trail Boss Sponsor is James F. Hayes & Co. — Agriculture Real Estate Services.

Tickets are on sale now at Henson's or may be purchased the day of the event at the gate.

College to hold Miss Bulldog Pageant next week

Clarendon College's Student ambassadors will host the traditionally funny Miss Bulldog Pageant on Thursday, October 2, at 7 p.m. in the Harned Sisters Fine Arts Auditorium.

The pageant is a satirical spoof on conventional beauty contests. The Miss Bulldog Pageant is definitely not your typical beauty pageant, according to Markeeta Schnelle, CC Student Ambassador president.

"Some may call this a she-male contest," Schnelle said. "But, no matter what you call it, pageant goers will witness Clarendon College's most handsome men become the college's most, umm...beautiful women."

The contestants are being sponsored by campus organizations, residence halls, and friends.

More than 15 men are expected to strut their stuff in full make-up, wigs, and even high heels in two categories - evening dress and personal interview.

"The Miss Bulldog Pageant is actually an old tradition on campus," Schnelle said. "The Student Ambassadors wanted to bring this activity back to life and to provide a few laughs as well."

The winner of the Miss Bulldog

Pageant will be awarded a cash prize and various gifts. Runner-ups will also be awarded special gifts.

"Cash is a great way to get college men to dress up as women," Jeff Henry, CC Student Ambassador said.

To date, contestants representing CC's Ranch and Feedlot Operations, Student Senate, College Choir, Block and Bridle, Student Ambassadors, the judging teams, men's basketball, Southwest Hall, Bulldog cheerleaders, and Phi Theta Kappa will be vying for the title of Miss Bulldog.

The Miss Bulldog Pageant is a fund-raiser for CC's Student Ambassadors.

For the second straight year, the Ambassadors will be fundamental in the college's new student recruitment, campus tours, and assisting with special campus events.

The public is encouraged to attend this comical event; admission to the pageant is only $1 per person.

"Since the winner of the Miss Bulldog Pageant will be selected on both audience applause and judges' scores, we are encouraging everyone to attend and cheer on their favorite so-called lady," Schnelle said.

The evening's emcee is KLSR's Joe Davis.

City, county receive grants to repair structures damaged in spring floods

WASHINGTON — The Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs has awarded the city of Clarendon and Donley County disaster relief grants totaling $600,000 to repair infrastructure that was damaged during heavy rainfall on April 3 and 4, US Senator Phil Gramm said Tuesday.

In a press release to the Enterprise, Gramm said the funds are provided under the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program of the US Dept. of Housing and Urban Development.

Specifically, the senator said, the city of Clarendon will receive $350,000 to reconstruct its wastewater treatment system and transfer stations, and Donley County has been awarded $250,000 to repair seven drainage structures damaged in the storm.

"I am pleased that some of the tax dollars sent by Texans to Washington are being returned to benefit area citizens by financing improvements to the areas where we work and live every day," Gramm said.

"My strong commitment is to assure a fair return to Texas taxpayers on the money we pay in federal taxes," the senator said.

The Community Development Block Grant program, one of HUD's largest, is designed to assist communities in carrying out a wide range of development activities aimed at neighborhood revitalization, economic development, and improved community facilities and services.

Clarendon Mayor Tex Selvide said he was very happy to hear the grant had been awarded.

"We felt like we were going to get this grant, but you never know until it actually comes through," Selvide said.

"Our grant writer has been working very hard on this for about four months, and now we can get out there and take care of the problem."

Cattle raisers realign districts to meet increasing demands

FORT WORTH — Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association has realigned its inspector districts, effective Oct. 1.

The realignment will make better use of manpower and accommodate the increasing demands of urban areas and the new horse inspection program, explains TSCRA Executive Vice President Steve Munday.

The realignment reworks the Oklahoma districts, increasing the number of inspectors from seven to eight and creating more theft investigation presence in western Oklahoma.

Oklahoma, the Texas Panhandle, Texas South and Rolling Plains, North Texas, Northeast Texas, East Texas, and some Gulf Coast districts have been reconfigured to make them more efficient and cost-effective, Munday said.

The Dallas-Fort Worth District 12 has been split into two separate districts, with two new inspectors hired to replace Jim Tuck who has resigned after 12 years of service to accept a position with Moncrief Cattle Co.

H.D. Brittain of Stephenville, Texas, will serve District 11, comprised of Denton, Erath, Hood, Johnson, Parker, Tarrant, and See CATTLE RAISERS on page 3

Texas Tomorrow Fund opening enrollment period October 14

AUSTIN — State Comptroller John Sharp announced that the Texas Tomorrow Fund's next enrollment period will begin on Tuesday, October 14.

The Texas Tomorrow Fund, proposed by Sharp and approved by state lawmakers during the 1995 legislative session, allows families to lock in the costs of their children's future college tuition and required fees for about what they would pay today.

The Texas Prepaid Higher Education Tuition Board, which Sharp chairs, determined that a prepaid tuition contract paid in a lump sum during the upcoming enrollment period for a Class of 2020 graduate will cost $10,904. The new rate, which is about 12 percent higher than last year's, reflects the rising costs of tuition and required fees at the state's public four-year universities. The Texas Tomorrow Fund covers up to 128 academic hours of tuition.

"The Texas Tomorrow Fund is the best school bargain this year. For as little as $92 a month until that child graduates from high school, the parents of a newborn Texan can sign their baby up for four years of tuition and required fees at a public university," Sharp said.

The Texas Tomorrow Fund's

third sign-up period will run through Wednesday, April 1, 1998. During the program's first two enrollment periods, more than 65,000 families took advantage of the pay-now, learn-later program.

"Since our second enrollment period closed last spring, thousands of parents and grandparents have contacted us to see about enrolling their children or grandchildren in the program," Sharp said. "They will be receiving information pamphlets and application forms within the next few weeks - in plenty of time for the next enrollment deadline."

The seven-member board that oversees the Texas Tomorrow Fund also approved an expanded marketing program with the Texas Association of Life Underwriters. For the first time, life insurance agents will be able to sell prepaid tuition contracts during this enrollment period.

The current semester marks the second year that some 500 college freshman and sophomores are using their Texas Tomorrow Fund contracts at Texas universities and community colleges. Their top three public university choices are the University of Texas at Austin, Texas A&M

University's main campus in College Station, and Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

Sharp said nearly 83 percent of the prepaid contracts purchased during the two enrollment periods were for the senior college plan, which covers tuition and required fees for up to 128 credit hours at any public senior college or university in Texas.

Another 10 percent were for the junior-senior college plan, covering two years at a public junior or technical college, plus two years at a public senior college or university.

The Comptroller added that 5 percent of the contracts purchased were for the junior college plan, which pays for up to 64 credit hours of tuition and required fees at a public junior or technical college, and 2 percent were for the private college plan, covering up to four years at any of the state's Private colleges and universities.

"Calling Life's Signals"

Life should be like a game of football

The futility of my career as a high school football player could not be overstated.

However, I did record one of the most prolific pass completion percentages in Tennessee schoolboy history. I was what you might call a non-discriminatory quarterback - completing passes to almost every-body - innocent spectators sitting six rows deep, cheerleaders, tuba players, and towel boys.

But mostly I completed passes to the other team. One way or the other, rarely did one of my wounded ducks hit the ground.

Now, I always get a little nostalgic during football season. Sometimes I'll even dust off the old scrapbook and review my career highlights. Like the time I threw an interception to muscle-bound named Joe Cook, who went on to make All-Southeastern Conference as a linebacker at Vanderbilt. Joe was a superlative player, and it was an honor to be... er... associated with him.

With those accolades, how did I really benefit from football? After all, my only trophies are a bad back and a moth-infested letter jacket no self-respecting Good Will store would consider adding to its inventory.

Well, I think the game of football is kind of a microcosm of life. One has to learn how to deal with adversity, cope within a team environment, and strategize for success -- the aggregate of which sounds like a good training ground for any career.

Think about it. On a football team, a lot of players want to be the quarterback -- the guy calling the shots. Same is true in a job setting. A lot of folks aspire to be superordinates. But, alas, there can be only one quarterback, just as there can be only one chief executive officer in a business.

And the CEO's job in any business is kind of like playing quarterback. One gets too much credit when things are going well and too much blame when they're not.

One key to a good football team is getting the right people in the right places. A coach will sometimes play Johnny at fullback for three weeks before discovering he's really a better pulling guard. The same is true in business. One must utilize the individual talents of his/her employees to achieve optimum productivity.

Consider the plight of an offensive lineman in football. I would suggest that there are no consistently successful football teams that don't feature standout offensive linemen. They are like the motor in a car, the engine in a train. Stellar offensive linemen can make mediocre running backs look great; conversely, great running backs can't get out of the gate absent quality linemen.

Given that, one would think offensive linemen would achieve lots and lots of publicity. Far from it. The only time you hear an offensive lineman's name mentioned on TV is when they are penalized for jumping off-sides. Interior linemen have to be the most unselfish people on any football team.

Off Campus
with Scott Elliott

Again, the same is true in business. Secretaries and administrative assistants, as examples, are a lot like offensive linemen -- figuratively speaking, of course. (That didn't quite come out right, either, did it?) Anyway, secretaries are the unsung heroes in any business -- the people who really run the place, truth be known.

Heck, you think I run Clarendon College? Forget it. If I didn't show up for work, the place wouldn't miss a lick. But if folks like Darlene, Barbara, Beth, Anna, Carlene, Wanda, Joyce, or Ann miss a man, you've got a major league hole in the boat.

Suffice it to say, the best football teams are those on which no one is concerned with who gets the credit. Same in business. When individual agendas are subordinate to the greater good, you're there.

Football also taught me to effectively interface with people from all walks of life. Growing up in the Bible Belt South, football was probably the first endeavor in my existence that caused me to work shoulder-to-shoulder with a diversity of people.

And, you know, I really didn't much care about the color or socioeconomic status of the guy in front of me leading interference. All I knew was that he was out there in harm's way for my benefit or, at least, the benefit of the team.

Why can't life be more like that? If people interfaced in cities, towns, and neighborhoods as well as they do on a football field, then maybe there wouldn't be so much strife in the world. Maybe there wouldn't be the proverbial other side of the tracks.

Football taught me about winning and losing. I discovered that no matter how hard one tried, you can't win them all, but that it was always important to try. I discovered the difference between losing a game and being defeated.

Life is a lot like that. You win some, and you lose some. Yet, there is always merit in effort, in picking yourself off the turf and going on to fight another day.

You're sure to lose some. That's a given. But the fellow who keeps picking himself up off the turf -- the unemployment line, pink slip, lay off, demotion, or just a good old fashioned tail chewin' by the boss -- only loses one game. He's never truly defeated.

Dr. Scott Elliott is the president of Clarendon College.

Dear Editor,

I am writing to give the heartiest congratulations to Mrs. Helen Estlack for being named the 1997 Region XVI teacher of the year.

Mrs. Estlack's commitment to the education of Clarendon students is commendable. I am one of those who recalls, (complete with jingle), the list of helper and "BRAGSPT" verbs printed with her announcement article. The community is fortunate indeed to have a woman of her talent and generosity.

Marriage Penalty is Example of How the Tax Code Works Against us

Last year, the IRS penalized more than 21 million couples an average of $1,400 dollars each - not because they were late paying their taxes, and not because they never filed a return.

The IRS penalized them simply because they were married. Under current law, many married couples who file jointly are pushed into higher tax brackets when both the husband and wife work.

For instance, a single teacher making $24,000 dollars a year is currently taxed in the 15 percent bracket. If she married another teacher who was making the same amount, however, their joint income of $48,000 dollars would push them into the 28 percent tax bracket, costing them an additional $600 dollars each year.

The marriage penalty is just another way that the current tax code works against us, instead of for us. It's also another reason the entire tax code needs to be reformed.

I signed onto a bill this past week that would eliminate the marriage penalty altogether by letting couples choose their tax filing status. Under this legislation, a couple could choose to file either separately or together, whichever way provided them with the greatest tax relief.

This bill's been endorsed by such groups as the Christian Coalition, National Taxpayers Union, and Americans for Tax Reform.

It's also got the support of those who are affected most by this unfair law - the millions of couples across America who are being penalized simply for being married.

"The recent drought and market decline have forced many of our members, particularly the older ones, to exit the cattle business; we do not anticipate that they will return," Munday said in outlining the factors behind the realignment.

"At the same time, the increasing human populations in the metropolitan areas have resulted in more calls from new members and non-members. And the addition of horse inspection in Tarrant and Kaufman counties is expected to increase the workload on area field inspectors.

"The services provided by our field inspectors historically have been and continue to be the primary reason for membership," Munday emphasized. "The realignment will help ensure that TSCRA continues to provide its members with the best services and benefits at the least cost."

Group to replace sr. citizens' warehouse roof

A group of men from the First Methodist Church is planning to replace the roof on the Donley County Senior Citizens warehouse. We invite any additional help from the public. Please call the Center at 874-2665 for more information.

The Board of Directors of the DCSC consists of eight members who serve two year terms. Every year four terms expire and four members are elected. There's No Place Like Home, There's No Place Like Home

Dorothy knew what she was talking about. There is no place like your home town or your home-town merchants. Dorothy knew that by supporting the local businesses, the entire community benefits.

Local merchants pay local taxes which improve local roads, schools, parks, facilities and a host of other community efforts and events. The big city puts your money to the same use, but not for your benefit.

Dorothy knows that she can find new ruby-red shoes or a new collar for Toto right here at home.

The best part is that she knows shopping at home will prevent her town from being blown away.

During the time of re-building Highway 287 through Clarendon, it is more important than ever that we support our hometown businesses. They may be a little harder to get to because of the construction, but these are the business men and women who support our schools, our churches, our senior citizens, and every worthwhile endeavor undertaken by our community. They deserve our support whenever possible.

Social skills to be taught to students

The Clarendon Elementary School faculty and staff attended a social skills workshop given by the Region XVI Service Center in Amarillo on Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 8 and 9, 1997.

Research was given to show that there is a need to instruct students in the area of social skills. Furthermore, research reveals that an individual's success is directly correlated with his/her social abilities. The Violent Continuum Chart shows how discourtesy and disrespect can escalate to crime.

Throughout the year, the elementary students will work on social skills. The goal is not only to recognize the social skills that the students already use, but also to teach them new skills.

"We plan to work together with parents to implement the skills and to recognize them for the hard work they do in teaching their children proper social behavior," said elementary principal Mike Word.

County Judge Jack Hall (left) administered the oath of office to newly appointed commissioner Andy Wheatly last Tuesday, Sept 16. Wheatly will fill the unexpired term of Ronnie Hill, who left the Commissioners Court to take a new job.

This year's WTAMU/FPC rodeo will feature two events for rodeo team alumni. A drawpot team roping for the alumni will be at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 27 at the arena. The "Bring one, Draw two more" competition costs $40 per person.

The team will also host a cookout for rodeo and agriculture alumni at 6 p.m. Sept. 27 at the Range Riders Clubhouse.

Tickets for the Rodeo are $5 per person and may be purchased at the gate. For more information, contact Sharp at 806/656-2452 (days) or 806/655-9172 (evenings).

Lake Greenbelt Report

The blustery winds of this year's first major cold front couldn't keep Lynn Miller of Amarillo from winning last Saturday's Fun Fishing Tournament at Lake Greenbelt. Miller used a white buzzbait at dawn and silver spoon in the moss during the day to catch a three bass limit that weighed 9.98 lbs. Miller bested forty-seven other anglers from fifteen towns across the Panhandle to win the first place trophy and $480 cash.

Second place and $240 went to Brent Breznik of Borger with 5.62 lbs. Breznik used a new Splash-It topwater lure at dawn and switched to a finesse worm during the day time. Third place prize money of $120 went to Amarillo's Jimmy Patterson who weighed in two bass that totaled 5.30 lbs. Patterson's favorite lure was a white spinnerbait fished near the moss beds on the main lake.

Other top anglers included Jack Richardson, Jim Braswell, Chester Hales of Claude, J.T. Hodges, Jim Hammond, Donnie Price, and Mike Kelley.

Next on the Fun Tournament Trail will be the 1997 Invitational Tournament of Champions on October 4th. To qualify, anglers must have entered at least three events and placed in the top six during a tournament.

Students and parents toured the CEI Lab at Clarendon Elementary as part of the program's annual open house. The CEI Lab uses computers to assist children in learning to read and in improving reading skills.

Local artist's work hangs in Washington

Local artist Kevin Johnson recently completed a group of watercolor paintings for Susan Wenger.

This commission consisted of five paintings in watercolor. One of the five paintings was chosen to be displayed in Congressman Mac Thornberry's congressional office in Washington, D.C. while two of the remaining four were selected to be displayed in the 13th Congressional District office in Amarillo. The collection included scenes from the Donley County area.

Mr. Johnson is known for his watercolor paintings of local landmarks and southwestern themes.

Last week, Mac Thornberry was presented the painting which depicted a windmill at sunset.

Continuing his success, Mr. Johnson placed first in the Tri-State Fair Contest last week with his watercolor painting of an Indian on horseback. His painting was entered in the Advanced Adult division.

Taste No. 1 issue for consumers of beef

BRYAN — One tough, tasteless cattle carcass can affect up to 542 people, said Dr. Jeff Savell, professor of animal science at Texas ARM University.

Taste is the No. 1 issue in whether consumers will eat beef. Nutrition and food safety rank second and third, Savell said.

According to Savell, the way the animal has been fed and aged will determine how the beef tastes.

Also, the amount of cooking time is very important, he explained. The longer you cook a steak, the tougher it will be.

However, consumers are concerned with food safety. According to Savell though, the bacteria that cause health problems are on the outside of the steak, not the inside.

Ground meat has to be cooked thoroughly because it has more exposed surfaces that can contain microorganisms and dangerous pathogens, he emphasized.

Pain may be eliminated for millions

(SPECIAL)—A drug that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur Itis," and is being called a "Medical Miracle" by some, in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itis, relieves pain by first selectively attracting, and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itis, is available immediately without a prescription in an odorless, greaseless, non-staining cream or new roll-on liquid form. Arthur Itis, is guaranteed to work or your money back.

Lots of excitement surrounding museum Saturday

by Saints' Rooster

Saturday's The Day!

Even if you don't like chuckwagon food, sights and sounds of the Old West, or history, there are still a lot of reasons to spend Saturday enjoying the Third Annual Charles Goodnight Chuckwagon Cookoff and Camp Gathering at the Saints' Roost Museum. Cost for a full day of entertainment and an authentic chuckwagon meal is only $10, a bargain even Col. Goodnight couldn't pass up. Gates open at 10 a.m.; see you there!

Depot Work-A-Thon

James Owens and Sherman Cosper have taken on depot renovation as a challenge and with assistance from a crew from Jimmy Thompson's downtown detention facility have nearly completed the extensive work required to return some of the faded glory to the once abandoned building. Weather permitting, the building could be painted by Cookoff time.

Even the pigeons are amazed at the progress made in such a short time.

The building will house vendor booths during the Cookoff, and the back room will be used by the judges to sample food from the competing wagons and to tally results.

The depot stands as proof of what a town interested in preserving its history can do. Had Clarendon not rallied, the depot building and its history would have disappeared.

The pigeons would probably have stayed around, however.

Look Who Came To Visit

Jane and James Hall from San Angelo returned to the place where both had or surgery in the 60s. "It seems a much more friendly place now that it is a museum," commented Jane.

Tom and Judy Sutherland came by while returning to their home in Mexico City. The Sutherlands had been back to the United States on vacation and dropped by on their way home. Tom is employed by an American firm in Mexico.

Thelma (Hardin) Hill visited the Museum on her birthday accompanied by her daughter, Connie White, who had been born at the Adair Hospital. Discretion forbids listing the year of birth of either mother or daughter.

Peggy DeBord of Hedley who also had a baby at the Museum when it was a hospital, also dropped by for a visit as did Tom and Ida Sills of Fort Sill. Tom pointed out that he and the fort are not related.

Former JA Ranch cowboy Bud Jones paid a nostalgic visit to the Museum. Jones was hospitalized for 45 days in Room #5 with a broken pelvis. He said that the hospital got real lonely at night, especially on the weekends. He also told us that on Saturday night an un-named friend would tap on the window of his room and hand through a couple of cold beers.

"That beer was very welcome on a hot night in the hospital," Jones recalled, smacking his lips at the memory.

Jones' granddaughter, Francis (Jones) Hobbs of Matador recounted the story of how William Thomas Blackwell got the nickname "Boy" and later "Grand Boy."

On The Way To Another Record

More than 130 people have visited the Saints' Roost Museum in the last 30 days. This year so far over 800 people signed the visitors register. It looks like we'll set a new record for attendance again this year.

Donations

Donations this month came in the form of money and time. The Donley County EDC donated $5,000 to the depot restoration project. The result of that donation is readily visible. The city chipped in $2,000 of hotel/motel tax money for the chuckwagon cookoff, which made it possible for some last minute TV advertising.

And the donations of time. The Clarendon High School Junior Historians donated a Sunday afternoon to dust and clean before the influx of Cookoff day visitors, and the Board of Directors have donated many hours to enable the Museum to put its best foot forward Sept. 27.

Broncos regroup to stop Hart Longhorns

The Broncos must regroup after their Sept. 19th 48-19 loss to Spearman and work on stopping Hart's running game before the two squads meet Friday in Hart, according to head coach Tooter Draper.

Class 1A Nazareth thumped Hart, 27-3, Sept. 19 in Hart. The last time the two teams met, Hart slipped by the Broncos, 34-20.

"We feel like we can be in the ball game with Hart," Draper said. "We can play with them. If we can execute and keep playing hard, it will be a good game."

Hart features 5-11, 195-pound all-district tailback J.J. Finch, who rushed for more than 1,000 yards as a junior.

"We'll have to contain (Finch)," Draper said. "They mostly run. They're not that big. They're a little bigger than us and about the same size."

Clarendon will have to contend with several injuries that reared their ugly head in the first three games, Draper said.

Jeremy Shelley is suffering from a hurt ankle; Jeff Hearn has knee problems; Shawn Beach also is plagued with a knee injury, Draper said. "Oren (Shields) is questionable. He's feeling a lot better, but we're still waiting for the doctor's OK."

The Broncos appeared in control of the game early against Spearman as junior Scotty Elliott snagged a Lynx pass. "We felt good at that point,"

Draper said. "But then there was a fumble, and we were kind of shell-shocked for a minute."

Spearman fell on the ball in the end zone and led early, 7-0. "We bounced back and drove the ball about 75 yards and got down to about the 8-yard line and didn't score," Draper said.

"The kids could see that we could drive the ball and we still felt good."

Spearman scored again and led 14-0, but Clarendon's offense came alive. "They were covering Kareem (Abdullah) pretty tight, and we threw a little hitch pass to (Abdullah), and he hit Brent (Gaines) on a deep post route for the touchdown."

"We felt real good about that. It brought us up. We were going into the half, and the score was 14-7, we were feeling good, and we kicked off and they exploded up the middle."

Spearman's Michael Lusby ran the kick-off back 93 yards to enter the locker room with a 22-7 advantage.

"We just talked about being in the ball game," Draper said. "We made some defensive adjustments. We were trying to force them to do different things."

Spearman's workhorse, Lusby, scored two more times in the third quarter before Gaines cradled a 16-yard TD pass from Elliott.

Spearman led 35-13 entering the fourth quarter. Spearman scored to open the fourth quarter before senior Pat Church hauled in a 14-yard pass from Elliott. Lusby scored his fifth TD of the night to close out the game.

"They were really big," Draper said. "Lusby is probably the best back we faced this year. He's a super kid who's able to stop and go and make good movement. He was a real good back."

"The difference - it had to be experience. Spearman, they've been down this road before and our kids will make a couple mistakes that will cost us in the long run. The next time we won't make those mistakes. The mistakes come with inexperience."

Draper cited Abdullah, Elliott and freshman Dee Thompson with strong performances.

"We spread the ball around to our different receivers. Everyone had a catch."

They still felt good. We talked about working to win. Everything we're doing in non-district is getting us ready for district."

Clarendon's junior high and junior varsity squads meet Memphis at Bronco stadium Thursday beginning at 4:30 p.m., according to Draper.

The seventh graders lost 20-16 to Panhandle Sept. 11, with Jacob Mondragon scoring both touchdowns. The eighth graders lost 6-0, and the junior varsity won 6-0 on a long run by Wes Ritchie.

Lady Broncos do well in White Deer

Clarendon's Lady Bronco Cross Country team competed well Saturday in the White Deer meet despite cold, damp and windy conditions, according to head cross country coach Steve Schmidt.

"We had a lot of improvements in time and compared to our first meet, and I think it was a little tougher course, so that's encouraging," Schmidt said. "We were missing three varsity runners (attending a band activity) and that hurt our team points considerably."

"The team is really going to have to work hard and be committed to improving each week for us to be able to be competitive by the district meet."

Finishing for the Lady Broncos were Clarissa Smith, 36, 14:49; Kathy Bryley, 54, 15:12; Geri Butler, 57, 15:17; Lindy Helms, 90, 16:21; Jill Hicks, 92, 16:32; and Stephanie Smith, 93, 16:39.

Competing in the junior varsity division were Melissa Campbell, 27, 17:52; Kim Alexander, 34, 18:23; and Tonya Wilson, 37, 18:49.

"Our junior high group again gave us something to be excited about," Schmidt said. "The top four runners in junior high ran well enough to be on varsity and they're still far from being in top physical shape."

"We saw lots of improvement time-wise from their first meet. We especially had great efforts from April (Bryley), Claire (Rodriguez) and Christine (Holden)."

Finishing for the junior high were Bryley, 13, 14:27; Rodriguez, 17, 14:54; Holden, 20, 15:02; Kelley Lemley, 44, 16:28; Carrie Helms, 55, 16:44; Kristen Glover, 71, 17:42; Brandi Betts, 75, 18:00; Mandy McKinney, 77, 18:10; Brandi Martindale, 84, 18:56; and May Butler, 85, 18:58.

The Lady Broncos next meet will be Sept. 27 in Amarillo.
