Family Doctor

After Nearly 40 Years, Clarendon's Physician Retires

By Valerie Ullman Avery

As Dr. Richard Gilkey gently examined the delicate, injured arm of patient Lela Whitehead, he teased her with an old familiarity that comes only from years of healing the sick in Donley County.

Gilkey doesn't need many words to know Whitehead's condition - he can sense Whitehead's health and that of her family with a few of her gestures and the way she carries herself. As the primary caregiver in Donley County for nearly 40 years, there're few people who haven't seen Gilkey during the worst and best of times.

While he treats Whitehead's injured arm, he inquires about other aspects of her health, such as her upcoming cataract surgery and her ongoing bout with diabetes all without consulting her chart.

Gilkey reassures her while he puts a clean dressing on her wound, giving her a quick squeeze on the shoulders before breezing into another examining room.

That extra touch, the wink of an eye makes him a favorite among the people he treats, said Onita Thomas, R.N., who has worked alongside Gilkey since she moved here in 1964.

"He is kind and caring, and he knows everybody's family and treats the person as a family member and not just as a statistic," she said of the man she's spent more time with than her husband during the past 30 years. "He's a good Christian man."

When Gilkey retires at the end of November, he will be sorely missed, Thomas said. "It will be different, but for Dr. Gilkey's own health he needs to retire."

Gilkey not only sees patients in the Donley County Rural Health Clinic but supervises a physician assistant in a Silvertown clinic. When the Silvertown P.A. became severely ill last year, it severely taxed Gilkey's health, according to his wife of 33 years, Jane.

He developed pneumonia driving back and forth to Briscoe County to pick up the slack there and continued to see his officeload of patients in Clarendon. "I got pneumonia trying to do too much," Gilkey said.

"Nothing would help. Onita said, 'You make your patients go home and rest, now you go home and rest,'" Gilkey said laughingly. "I had planned on slowing down for another year or two, but this pushed up my decision. It was a very hard decision."

Gilkey's family will honor the long-time physician's retirement with a reception Nov. 23 from 4 to 6 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall. The public is invited to come and show their appreciation for Gilkey's many years of service to the community.

Gilkey's arrival in Clarendon in 1959 was preceded by years of hard work, which started at the age of 11, driving two of the Topeka State-Journal's largest newspaper routes - 500 papers in all.

"I could fold and throw at the same time on my bicycle," Gilkey fondly remembered. He continued the route throughout high school and saved his money and enrolled at the University of Kansas as a pre-med major, hoping to follow in the footsteps of his father, who was a dentist, and his uncle, who was a pediatrician.

When he entered medical school at the University of Kansas, he was deadset on becoming a family practitioner because he thought "that was where the action was."

A one-year internship at Hermann Hospital in Houston was followed by four years in the U.S. Navy. The peacetime campaign was during a period when Fidel Castro was coming into power, Gilkey said.

His most memorable experience as a flight surgeon was evacuating Cubans off the shore of Cuba, who surely would have died if not rescued.

Gilkey was such a strong physician, his commanding officer urged him to re-enlist, but he didn't want a career in the armed forces.

"I wanted to get out and practice medicine," Gilkey said. When he began looking for places to locate, he narrowed his choices between Clarendon and Fredericksburg.

"The chamber (of commerce) here induced me to practice here. (Former Clarendon physician) Dr. George Smith was very persuasive."

The two physicians practiced in the Adair Hospital, which is situated in the current museum. The 12-bed hospital was extremely busy with some patients waiting for rooms on stretchers in the hallway, Gilkey said.

Most of his cases in the early 1960s involved injured cowboys on the JA Ranch. "We had quite a few broken bones, lacerations from barbed wire fences and a lot of heart disease."

While Gilkey practiced medicine, he cared for the Moore family, including Jane Moore and her four children. When Jane's husband passed away, Gilkey married the former Mrs. Moore in 1963, and they raised her four children together.

They are Melinda McAnear of Clarendon; Tina Putnam of Austin; Jim Moore of Albuquerque, N.M.; and John Moore of Waxahachie. The family boasts nine grandchildren and 1 3/4 great-grandchildren.

After 10 years of working in Clarendon, Gilkey felt as if he needed more continuing education and moved to Waxahachie, south of Dallas. "I enjoyed it very much, but I worked even harder," Gilkey said. "It was not unusual for me to work 14-hour days, most of the time it was 16- or 17-hour days."

"Dr. Smith was leaving his practice in Clarendon, and Jane told me I was going to have a heart attack and die if I stayed in Waxahachie, so I came back and took over Dr. Smith's practice. (four years later)"

Smith recently retired after working for the VA Hospital in Amarillo, Gilkey said.

"I was so happy to be back. I knew everyone. The hospital had closed by this time (1973) so we used it as an office for awhile."

It was in that hospital that Thomas realized the depth of Gilkey's "humanness."

"There was a very well-respected man who died on the day shift, and I remember Dr. Gilkey and Dr. Smith had to go back in their office and close the doors to compose themselves," Thomas said. "It was then that I realized that doctors are human."

When Gilkey returned in 1973, he no longer delivered babies because as a sole practitioner he would be on call 24 hours a day and malpractice was just starting to rear its ugly head.

He began seeing fewer injured cowboys and more degenerative diseases because of the elderly population. Then the resurgence of younger families coming back to Clarendon brought many cases of childhood diseases.

Gilkey purchased and renovated his current building in the mid-1970s and has remained there ever since.

White Becomes Donley County's First Republican Commissioner, Mac Thornberry Wins Re-election

Donley County voters in Precinct One made history Tuesday by electing Randy White to the County Commissioners' Court.

White is the first person to be elected to county office as a Republican. In fact, according to the County Clerk's office, he is the only Republican to ever even run for commissioner in the county's 100+ year history.

"I'm plenty excited," White said Tuesday night, "and I'm going to try to do my best."

White defeated incumbent Steve

Reynolds for the Precinct One seat, 63% to 37%.

Donley County also voted to send their local man back to Washington for a second term. Seventy-seven percent of county voters cast their ballots for Rep. Mac Thornberry.

"I'm very grateful for the support and the encouragement that the local people have shown me," Thornberry said.

Challenger Sam Silverman, garnered 23% of the local vote.

Approximately 65% of registered

Bulldogs sweep first home games

Clarendon College swept both games in their season-opener Nov. 1 and 2 in the Merchant's Classic at Clarendon College.

The Bulldogs opened up the tournament with a 97-89 win over a scrappy North Lake team out of Dallas and then closed out the tournament with a 105-64 pasting of the Wayland Baptist Junior Varsity.

Kilgore Junior College defeated Wayland 134-90 and North Lake, 91-77, in the two other contests.

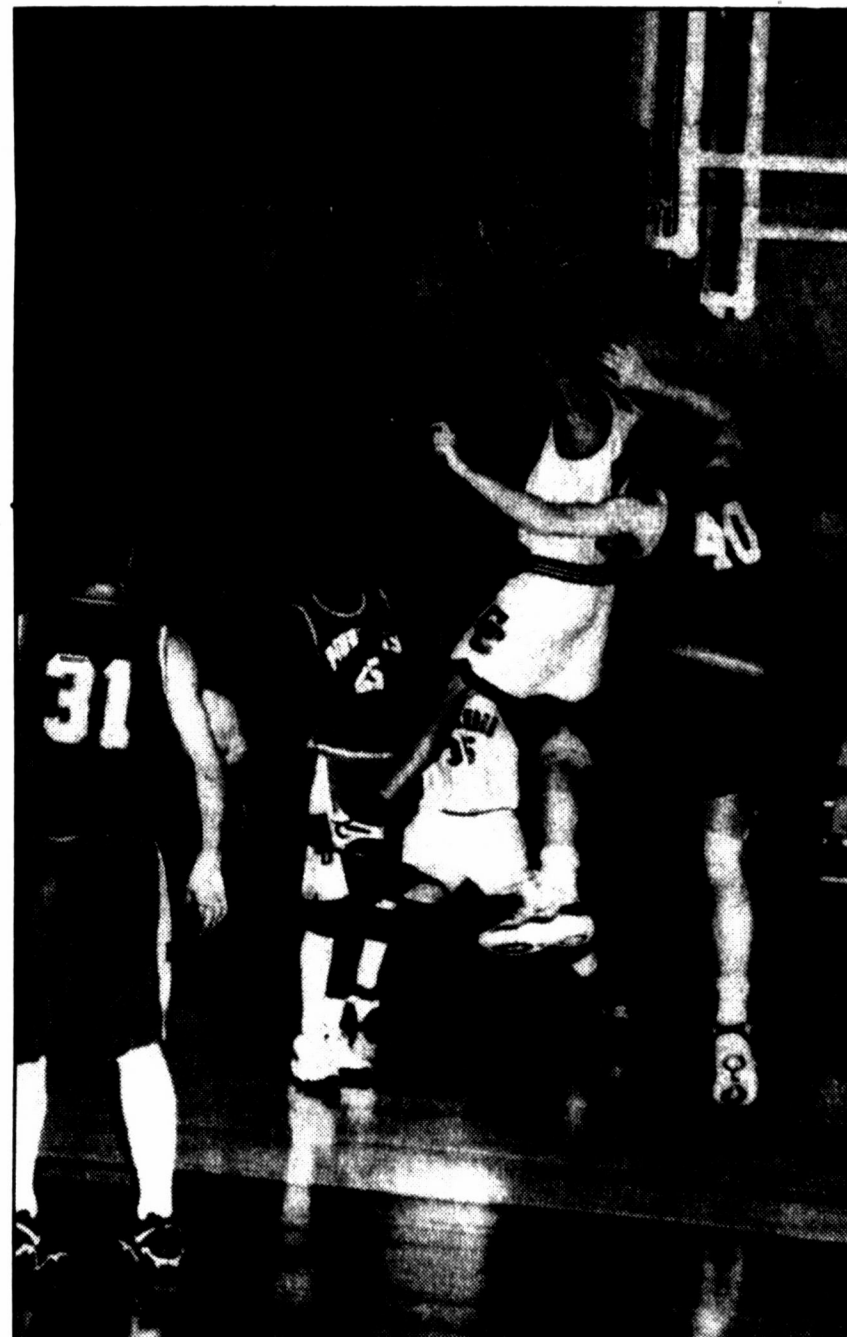

The Bulldogs travel to the Garden City Classic in Garden City, Kan., Thursday through Saturday before returning home Nov. 15 and 16 for the Coca-Cola Bulldog Classic.

Sophomore Marlon Green of Austin paced the Bulldogs with 20 points, including two 3-pointers in their 97-89 win over North Lake. Eleven of his points came in the first half, as Clarendon held onto a slim 44-41 halftime lead.

"They had a bunch of kids who really could shoot the three-point shot," head coach Joe Mondragon said. "We just turned the ball over too many times. It was just a lack of experience. We were forcing the issue. Many times we were running up into double teams."

Sharp inducted into Chadron State Athletic Hall of Fame

A mathematics professor and rodeo coach at West Texas A&M University, Dr. Kelvin Sharp, was inducted into the Athletic Hall of Fame at Chadron State College on Saturday, Oct. 26, 1996.

Sharp was an exceptional team player while attending Chadron State in the late 1970s. He was the runner-up in the regional standings in 1976 and was the team roping champion in 1977 and '78.

At that time, Chadron State was in the Great Plains Region that included the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, and Nebraska.

Sharp also finished fifth in the nation in the intercollegiate rodeo standings in both 1977 and '78 and was eighth in 1976.

Sharp graduated from McPherson County High School at Tryon, Neb. Shortly after he graduated from Chadron State in 1979, the Sharp family moved back to Texas. He earned a master of arts degree in mathematics at Texas Tech in 1987 and received a doctorate in higher education administration from that institution in 1994.

He was associated with Clarendon College for 7½ years, including 3½ years in administration before joining the faculty at West Texas A&M.

His wife Lissa, whom he married in June of 1994, is a native of Tucumcari, N.M. She is a Texas Tech graduate and is pursuing a master's degree at West Texas A&M. His parents, Wesley and Beth Sharp of Clarendon, also attended the induction program.

Sharp is just the sixth rodeo participant to be inducted into Chadron State's Athletic Hall of Fame.

Letters

Dear Editor:

Back in mid-August a Texas candidate for the United States Senate made a spur of the moment decision to visit Donley County, eat lunch at a Senior Citizen's Center, talk with habitués of the Center and perhaps win a few friends, for it has been at least 50 years since a senatorial candidate has visited Donley County.

Out local newspaperman, Mr. Estlack, was informed on August 19, a Monday, that Mr. Victor Morales, a Democrat would be in Hedley on Tuesday, the 20th of August. Mr. Estlack was apparently too busy stumping the streets of Clarendon looking for news to go to Hedley, so he sent his office manager, Cheryl Johnson, to interview Mr. Morales. Miss Johnson did indeed interview Mr. Morales, but nothing appeared in the Clarendon paper concerning this visit by a candidate for national office.

This writer recently called Mr. Estlack and asked why nothing had been in the Clarendon Enterprise about Mr. Morales' visit. Mr. Estlack told me he didn't consider the visit to be newsworthy, and anyway on Tuesday he was busy putting the paper to bed.

I believe one of the first rules of journalism is to not let your personal feelings get in the way of writing and printing the news. Maybe Mr. Estlack had better go back to school?

Billie Shaffer

Thank you for your thoughtful letter.

It is true that Mr. Morales visited Hedley back in August, but our office did not receive notice of his visit until about 9 a.m. Tuesday, Aug. 20, not on Monday as you state. At the time, my staff and I were "too busy" working on the first Back to College edition to be printed in over 20 years. Mrs. Johnson, a Hedley resident, attended the meeting in lieu of her lunch hour that day, but was not sent to interview Mr. Morales due to the time-constraints on that week's issue. She did ask him to make a comment, which he did. I made the determination that the comment was not newsworthy enough to hold-up production on that week's issue.

A political reality in today's world is the need to cultivate relations with the media. Public relations, or PR, is the name of the game. Newspapers, big and small, will cover various events, but advance notice increases the possibility of having a reporter there. It's not that difficult in this day and age to simply send us a phone call, a fax, or an e-mail. Mr. Morales did none of these things in the days before his trip here.

No advance notice equals no coverage.

Given our coverage of Hedley's Chicken Barbecue, Cotton Festival, Homecoming, Graduation, and other school events, I don't believe that we have neglected Hedley in any way. Furthermore, in light of the numerous press releases we have printed from Democrats such as Comptroller John Sharp, Texas Speaker Pete Laney, and former congressional candidate Aaron Alejandro, I do not believe we have "let personal feelings get in the way."

For the record, Democratic congressional candidate Sam Silverman has not issued any press releases to this newspaper, has never notified us of his trips to Donley County, and has twice scheduled interviews with this paper and then canceled or not shown up.

"Mississippi Mud"

Antidisestablishmentarianism. Geez, is that ever a mouthful, huh? One of the longest words in the English language.

But what does it mean? The 28-letter word refers to an issue that has long been controversial in the United States - the separation of church and state.

The issue commanded space on the front pages of America's newspapers again this week, as the U.S. Supreme Court let stand a lower court's ruling that held a Mississippi law allowing student-led school prayer to be unconstitutional. It was yet another victory for the Madalyn Murray O'Hairs of the world, and had particular relevance for Texas, as we share the 5th Judicial Circuit with Louisiana and Mississippi.

The ruling ushers in an opportunity to review the real meaning of separation of church and state, something on which our nation was apparently quite clear at its outset, but has since become exceedingly muddled.

Historically, the issue stems from the Church of England, which served as the "official" state church of the mother country. (In fact, the word "antidisestablishmentarianism" refers to opposition to the disestablishment of the Church of England.)

Creating a state church was something our founding fathers rightly wanted to avoid as they pondered the rudiments of a working democracy. However, in declaring that Congress shall make no law respecting the establishment of religion or forbidding the free exercise thereof, many would argue that Franklin, Adams, Jefferson, Madison, and the lot never had it in mind to ban God - lock, stock, and lightning - from government.

On the contrary, many efforts at lawful organization in our early history support the argument that the highest ideals of our government are rooted in Christianity. Recently, a fine Christian lady in our community, Naoma Spann, loaned me a booklet authored by Dr. D. James Kennedy, in which the evangelist chronicles some interesting examples:

• The First Charter of Virginia was written in 1606 and was the document on which America's first settlement, Jamestown, was founded. The charter clearly stated that one mission of the first American immigrants was to make Jesus Christ known to the Indians. Their charge, as specified in the charter, was to propagate "the Christian religion" under the "province of Almighty God" and for "the glory of his divine majesty."

It is also noteworthy that in April of 1607 the first act of the founders of Jamestown on publicly chartered land was to erect a large wooden cross and hold a prayer meeting.

• Before the Pilgrims ever set foot on Plymouth Rock, they enacted the Mayflower Compact, which begins with, "In the name of God, Amen." In the ensuing passage are the phrases "the glory of God," the "advancements of the Christian faith," and "in the presence of God."

Having signed the Compact, the first thing the Pilgrims did upon putting ashore was to "fall upon their knees and bless the God of Heaven," according to the writings of Governor William Bradford.

Broncos to play White Deer here Friday night

Senior running back Roy Williams eclipsed the 1,000-yard season rushing mark Nov. 1 in Clarendon's 49-6 loss to Memphis in Cyclone Stadium.

Williams rushed for 903 yards prior to the game, despite missing the first three games of the season because of a foot injury. He rushed for 149 yards and one TD in the Memphis contest.

Clarendon will play its last game this week. White Deer travels to Clarendon Friday for a 7:30 p.m. kickoff.

The Bucks are coming off an emotional 24-9 win over Wellington. The victory over the Skyrockets is White Deer's first District 2-2A win despite opening with a 4-0 record in non-district play.

Memphis struck first in the opening period on a Richard McGuire 9-yard run. McGuire, who rushed for 217 yards on 32 carries, scored three TDs during the contest.

Junior Kareem Abdullah broke his foot in the first quarter changing up many of the Broncos offensive and defensive plays. Abdullah plays offense and defense and on special teams.

Junior Keith Kidd and freshman Jeff Hearn filled in for the injured Abdullah.

Memphis scored three more TDs in the second quarter and led 28-0 at halftime.

Williams scampered on a 71-yard run to open the scoring in the third period. The run failed and Clarendon trailed 28-6.

The Cyclones tacked on one more touchdown in the third period and two more in the fourth for the final score.

Quarterback Scotty Elliott was 4-for-10 and one interception. Williams recorded the most tackles on defense.

• The Fundamental Orders of Connecticut, the first written constitution in America, was established in 1639. It includes the passage, "and well knowing where a people are gathered together the word of God requires that to maintain the peace and union of such a people there should be an orderly and decent government established according to God."

• In May of 1643, the New England Confederation was formed. It marked the first time in our history that various communities united under law. The Confederation reads, "We all came into these parts of America with one and the same end and aim - namely, to advance the Kingdom of our Lord Jesus Christ."

• The first Pennsylvania charter pointedly refers to God, stating, "Almighty God, being the only Lord of conscience." It goes on with, "and all persons who profess to believe in Jesus Christ, the Savior of the World, shall be capable to serve this government in any capacity."

• In the Declaration of Independence, Jefferson concludes with, "and in support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor."

The list of such evidence of the real intent of our founding fathers goes on and on to include George Washington's inaugural address, in which he prefaced his remarks by saying, "It would be peculiarly improper to omit in this first official act my fervent supplications to that Almighty Being who rules over the universe."

Our first president made a specific point not to "omit" God. It is befuddling as to why many in more recent generations have tried to do otherwise in government, including the first Supreme Court ruling in 1962 which banned organized school prayer.

As a lifelong and bold sinner, I am a most unlikely author on this subject. Perhaps people such as myself would be better served to first promote God as a strong presence in the home, and not worry so much about His place in government.

Yet, I am government, and you are government. We own it, as Mr. Perot so aptly notes. I am often quite disillusioned with the absentee way we run our business. Where God has an increasingly diminished place, must not the good that can result proportionately suffer? I believe the answer is a resounding "yes."

Perhaps Franklin said it best at the Constitutional Convention: "I have lived, Sir, a long time, and the longer I live, the more convincing proofs I see of this truth - that God governs in the affairs of men. And if a sparrow can not fall to the ground without His notice, is it possible that an empire can rise without His aid?"

Earlier this week our highest court affirmed that public school students can not lawfully initiate organized prayer, even though they are the consumers we seek to serve and, indeed, influence toward positive ends. America engages in such practices, as my pastor, Dr. James Bell, has so eloquently stated, "at its own peril."

Surely, one answer to this dilemma is the ballot box. How did you fare Tuesday?

Dr. Scott Elliott is the President of Clarendon College.

Gilkey: Clarendon's doctor retires after a lifetime of service

In June 1995, he joined hands with High Plains Baptist Hospital, which provided administrative support.

"I became a branch of the hospital. They let me practice the way I wanted to."

The partnership meant continuing as a training facility for the nurses taking classes at Clarendon College. "That is something I enjoy," said Gilkey, who also serves as president of the college board of regents.

Instead of missing the good old days, like so many retiring physicians, Gilkey embraces the future. "I think we're getting better quality care with technology. Of course, that comes with a cost."

"You can't yearn for yesterday. You have to stay current with the times. The bad thing is the increasing amount of paperwork."

Gilkey's last day on the job will be Nov. 30. Thomas can't bear to talk about it for fear of getting too sentimental, and Gilkey is beginning to feel the pain.

"It's hitting me now. I've got to clean out my desk. These are my dear friends. I don't have patients. I have friends."

"In ways it makes it easy to treat them. You'd like to ignore the bad things, but you'd like to be honest. I hope (being here a long time) has been an asset. I want them to think of me as a friend."

"The hardest thing will not be going back and treating people."

Gilkey and his wife will travel. Instead of rushing to get there and rushing to get back, they'll take long, leisurely drives. The early riser will now introduce himself first thing in the morning to the Internet, instead of patients.

And even though Mrs. Gilkey has insisted her husband retire, she's becoming sad at the upcoming change in their lives. "It's kind of a teary time," she said. "It's a sad time, but a happy time. He is so busy with other things."

Gilkey doesn't fly anymore because of his age, but it's something the former pilot who was qualified to fly a commercial airlines is still interested in.

Practicing again though may become a reality. The Baptist/St. Anthony's system has asked him to keep his license active to "fill in" when needed.

The hospital will keep the clinic open with the current staff and physician assistant Robert Powell, who says he has learned from Gilkey that there's much more to treating the patient than just analyzing their diseases and treating them. "I'm not as rough around the edge as I used to be," Powell said.

"They're trying to get another doctor in here," Thomas said. "If we don't get one right away, we'll have one supervise us one day a week and keep the clinic open full-time."

Gilkey has no regrets, believing there's not enough time in life for regrets. "I'm most proud of the fact that I have been able to be a family practitioner in a small town and practice quality medicine and do the thing I love doing. I believe I've made a contribution to my community."

The Lions Tale

Lions celebrate 74th anniversary

By Gene Alderson

The Clarendon Lions Club held its 74th Annual Charter Banquet at 7:00 p.m. on Tuesday, October 29, 1996, at the Lions Hall. There was no noon meeting that day.

Boss Lion Gene Morris called the meeting to order and members and guests sang the National Anthem. Following the invocation by Lion Allen Estlack, everyone enjoyed a very delicious buffet meal prepared by Don and Mary Berrig with Creative Catering who also provided some beautiful decorations for the occasion.

Boss Lion Morris served as Master of Ceremonies. He introduced District Governor Jack Duke and his wife Jean and Region Chairman Rosa Bilderback and her husband Maryon. The club was privileged to have three windows of former members in attendance, Tennie Smith, Dorothy White, and Ruby Dell Estlack. The Boss Lion presented each of them with a gift from the club. Each member then stood and introduced himself and his guests.

Boss Lion Morris introduced the officer of the club. He presented awards to Past President Jimmy Johnson, to Membership Chairman Allen Estlack for three new members, and to Reporter/Song Leader Gene Those receiving awards at the Lions Banquet were (back) Don Smith, 15 year pin; Jimmy Johnson, past president award; Allen Estlack, 30 year pin; Gene Alderson, recognized for being the song leader/reporter; A.R. Henson, 45 year pin; (front) Boss Lion Gene Morris; Wilbert Bernabe, 10 year pin; special guest Region Chairman Rosa Bilderback; and District Governor Jack Duke.

Alderson. A gift will be presented to pianist Clayton Ferris at a later date.

The following members were presented with pins, signifying the number of years they had been a lion: A.R. Henson, 45 years; Allen Estlack, 30 years; Darrell Leffew, 25 years; Don Smith, 15 years; and Wilbert Bernabe, 10 years. The awards and pins were presented by the District Governor.

A very entertaining musical program was presented by Kerri Gandy. She is the wife of Lion Kevin Gandy.

The customary standing ovation was given to the District Governor Jack Duke when he was introduced as our speaker for the evening. The District Governor gave an interesting and informative speech entitled, "What is membership?"

A drawing was held for a Donley County Afghan and Audry Garland was the winner.

The banquet was very successful and the members who worked on it are to be commended.

Schaffer wins football contest

Jeffery Schaffer was the Canadian winner and the regional winner of the Pass, Punt, and Kick contest held recently for 10-11 year olds. He advanced to the state competition which will be held at Texas Stadium in November. The winner of the state competition will get to attend the SuperBowl. The event is sponsored by NFL and Gatorade.

Jeffery is the son of Barry and Jan Schaffer formerly of Clarendon and the grandson of Earnest and Roxie Barbee.

Band Boosters to raise money for scholarships

The Bronco Band Boosters will be holding a Paper Airplane Toss during next Tuesday's varsity boys' basketball game against West Texas High to raise money for band scholarships in the names of Jacob Smith and Betsy Ellerbrook.

Participants will buy a sheet of specially marked paper from the Band Booster table for 50¢. At halftime of the boys' game, everyone will fly their airplanes onto the court. The owner of the plane landing closest to center court will win a prize from The Nook.

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular meeting at noon on Tuesday, November 5, 1996, at the Lions Hall with 19 members and pianist Clayton Ferris present.

Following a very good meal, vice president Walt Knorpp called the meeting to order. The regular opening ceremony was observed and Lion Alderson presented Clayton Ferris with a gift of appreciation for serving as the club's pianist.

There was no business and the meeting was adjourned.

Beef Council's checkoff scope grows more focused

Beef checkoff programs conducted by the Texas Beef Council (TBC) in the coming year will achieve more measurable results than ever before, said Chaunce Thompson of Breckenridge, TBC chairman.

"TBC will extend the national effort of promotion and education about beef into Texas in more focused ways during 1997," Thompson said. "We call our programs Intensified Partnership Initiatives (IPI) because TBC's staff works closely with selected partners. To participate, the partners have to provide us with specific information on how these programs affect their beef sales."

Thompson said the beef industry has used the beef checkoff program to grow into its new marketing role.

"In the first years of the check-off, we had to promote our image and sell our benefits," he said. "Decades of underfunded marketing efforts had forced us to remind consumers that we had a healthy, wholesome product. Those years of effort now allow us to go one step further. We can begin working with partners who have the greatest impact on beef sales nationally and internationally."

In the domestic marketing area, for example, TBC will conduct an IPI with HEB, a supermarket chain with 230 stores in 122 Texas communities with expansion plans for Louisiana and Mexico. HEB also is a key account of the National Cattlemen's Beef Association (NCBA), the national organization which develops and conducts national checkoff programs. TBC will work with HEB executive staff to train store employees about all facets of beef.

Sysco, the giant foodservice distributor, will work with TBC to provide intensive beef training to its sales staff about how beef fits into various restaurant menus. Sysco's key accounts also will benefit from a joint management seminar conducted in partnership with TBC. Finally, TBC and Sysco also will promote beef during critical beef supply periods.

On the consumer health front, TBC again will partner with the American Heart Association to sponsor educational programs for Texas consumers explaining how beef fits into wellness programs. TBC also will sponsor heart-healthy meals (along with the beef entree's nutritional analysis) for healthcare professionals in Houston, Dallas, and San Antonio.

In export market development, TBC's IPI programs will include associations with selected Texas exporters to train their sales staff and their key account end users (such as foreign chefs, restaurant operators and retail meat buyers) about the benefits of U.S. beef. These programs will support U.S. Meat Export Federation programs conducted in foreign countries.

In the area of quality and consistency, TBC will be a partner with Texas A&M University to conduct the highly effective Beef 706 programs.

These hands-on trainings for beef producers have generated many on-farm programs that have increased the uniformity and quality of beef through management and genetic changes.

The TBC will also be involved with continued visibility for its highly successful "Come See How Cattle Shape Your World" interactive exhibit.

"This summary covers some highlights of the TBC plan," Thompson said.

"The TBC board, which is made up of representatives of all the major beef and dairy cattle organizations in Texas, has approved all TBC's programs. These programs are cost-effective extensions into Texas of the industries unified national plan. Our goal is to strengthen beef's position in the global marketplace by providing value to consumers, partners, and cattle producers."

Lady Broncs finish season

Clarendon's Cross Country team finished its season Saturday with a 15th place showing at the highly competitive Region I Cross Country meet in Lubbock's Mae Simmons Park.

Eighteen teams and 140 girls competed in the prestigious race.

Canadian and Stratford - two of the top teams with strong tradition in the Panhandle - finished 7th and 8th in the meet.

Clarendon's top runner, Clarissa Smith, crossed the finish line in 48th place with a time of 13:31. Other finishers were Kala Holland, 61, 13:41; Korey Knorpp, 107, 14:30; Kasi Ashcraft, 108, 14:31; Lolli Menchaca, 119, 14:40; Jenny Roberts, 120, 14:43; and America Santos, 138, 15:49.

"The weather was really nice, and there were some really good times," head coach Steve Schmidt said. "There were some very good runners. The girl from Canadian (Denise Lee) got second (with a time of 12:9.1). She'll run college somewhere."

"We're just getting there, and I told the girls 'You can't run until you've walked' and I think we've learned to walk this year. We really didn't do that bad; we're just not up to that level yet."

"We did beat Panhandle, so we're happy about that. And (Smith) beat the Wellington girl (Monique Davis) who had been beating her all year."

Schmidt said he was pleased that Knorpp and Ashcraft put on extra steam when surrounded by several Panhandle runners and sprinted to beat them at the tape.

"I did like the fact that I saw (Knorpp) and (Ashcraft) looking for the Panhandle girls. (Holland) beat one by a second, and (Knorpp) and (Ashcraft) beat two of them with a second or less behind them."

"They've got a lot to be proud of," Schmidt said. "This program improved and they'll be the ones who started this whole thing. We showed the (younger) Clarendon girls that we could be successful. They deserve a lot of credit for it."

"I'm also appreciative that we had a lot of fans there. The parent support all year long has been great."

District 2-2A Cross Country Champs: Coach Steve Schmidt, Kasi Ashcraft, Korey Knorpp, Kala Holland, Clarissa Smith, America Santos, Jenny Roberts, Kathy Bryley, and Lolli Menchaca.

Moderate influenza season predicted

Experts are predicting a moderate 1996-97 influenza season, but people most at risk for life-threatening flu complications should still get vaccinated - and the sooner the better.

"The elderly and people with chronic underlying health problems should get vaccinated every flu season," said Dr. W. Paul Glezen, epidemiologist at the Influenza Research Center at Houston's Baylor College of Medicine.

Influenza B will likely be the dominant strain this season, Glezen said, but there could also be an appearance by A/Wuhan (H3N2), new variant.

Glezen advises people in the high-risk groups to get inoculated as soon as the vaccine becomes available, usually in early autumn.

In North America, flu season usually begins in earnest after Thanksgiving, but, as happened in 1991, it can come earlier.

"If it hits early, the elderly and people with chronic underlying health problems need to be protected," Glezen said.

Every year thousands of people, most of them elderly, die from pneumonia resulting from influenza, he said, and many, perhaps most, of the deaths could have been prevented by vaccination.

Among the people at high risk for possibly deadly flu complications: people with heart disease; lung disease, including asthma and chronic bronchitis; diabetes, chronic kidney disease; chronic anemia, including sickle-cell disease; and immune-system disorders.

Influenza usually strikes suddenly and produces fever, generalized muscle pain, severe weakness and fatigue, a sore throat, and a dry, hacking cough.

To reduce fever and pain, adults may take aspirin or aspirin substitutes; children should take acetaminophen, if needed, said Glezen, a pediatrician. All flu victims should get plenty of bed rest and liquids.

The vaccine is about 85 percent effective in helping people avoid influenza, he said.

Some people worry that they will get the flu from the vaccine, but that is not possible, Glezen said, because the vaccine is made from killed virus.

The vaccine has been shown to significantly lower the risk of hospitalization for influenza and pneumonia in people 65 and older.

Economic Disaster Loans available

Businesses depending on farmers and ranchers in some Texas counties can now apply for low interest Economic Injury Disaster loans from the US Small Business Administration (SBA). These loans are available to help businesses meet normal operating expenses that cannot be met due to the effects of a disaster.

Drought, freeze, freezing temperatures, sleet, and snow which occurred January 1 through May 31, 1996, and continuing caused many farmers and ranchers to experience reduced incomes which may have had an adverse economic effect on businesses depending upon these producers. Farmers and ranchers are not eligible for this loan program but may be eligible for disaster assistance through other Federal agencies. However, nurseries that are victims of drought disasters can apply.

Businesses in the following counties are eligible to apply: Armstrong, Carson, Coke, Crane, Donley, Glasscock, Gray, Howard, Hutchinson, Martin, Midland, Moore, Nolan, Potter, Randall, Reagan, Roberts, Runnels, Sterling, Taylor, and Upton.

To obtain an application or receive additional information, interested business owners may call SBA toll-free at 1-800-366-6303 or TDD 817-267-4688 for the hearing impaired. The deadline for filing applications is May 27, 1997.

CHS to open new basketball season

Clarendon opens up its basketball season Tuesday with a home game against West Texas High. Game time is tentative at this point.

West Texas remains in the football play-off hunt and will be unable to suit up a boys team.

Bronco head coach Jimmy Avery is searching for a boys game at press time. Depending on whether the boys find a game, tip-off for the girls junior varsity and varsity games may change.

The girls match-up will pit the Lady Broncs versus a WT team that defeated Clarendon in the 1996 bi-district round.

"In the back of our heads we want to make a good showing," head coach Steve Schmidt said. "But we've got a long season, and we can't put all our energy into this game."

The 1996 WT squad, which was beaten in the area round, lost one of its all-district players to graduation. "They'll be tough to beat," Schmidt said.

Colts beat Memphis

Clarendon's Greg Wootten and Cody Watson scored two TDs apiece to pace the seventh grade Colts to a 32-6 win over Memphis Oct. 31 in Bronco Stadium.

The Colts are 5-2-1 entering their season-ending contest with White Deer at 4:30 p.m. Thursday in White Deer Stadium.

Jared Lax chipped in a 20-yard run in the winning effort.

Clarendon's eighth graders increased their record to 4-3-1 with a 38-6 trouncing of the Cyclones.

Quarterback Colt Floyd hit paydirt on two runs, and Shanon Martin added two TDs of his own. Sam Holton scampered for a touchdown on a reverse, and Dee Thompson scored three two-point conversions to lead the Colts to the pasting of the Bucks.

Clarendon travels to White Deer for a 6 p.m. kick-off. The Junior Varsity game is scheduled for a 7:30 p.m. start.

The J.V. game with Memphis was cancelled by Memphis and will not be rescheduled.

Advanced imaging for breast cancer

A new breast exam technique is ready for clinical trials. It's based on technology developed for the military and may allow early detection and diagnosis of breast cancer.

Standard mammogram

- Creates one-dimensional X-rays of breast from top and side
- Misses 15% to 20% of cancerous tumors

New method combines:

- Computer-enhanced X-ray
- Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI)

Images processed by computer to create 3-D picture of breast

Benefits of new method:

Tumor's actual size, shape, volume can be seen

More detailed image helps view dense tissue and determine if tumor is benign or malignant

Importance of testing:

One in eight women will be diagnosed with breast cancer in her lifetime

In 1996, an estimated 44,000 women will die from breast cancer

CC students elect senators

Kim Wooten has been elected by the student body to serve as Secretary of the 1996-97 Clarendon College Student Senate, and Drew Jeffers has been elected to serve as a Freshman Representative.

Other Student Senate officers include President Will Edwards, Aspermont; Vice President Ginger Teague, Childress; Treasurer Clint McWaters, Okeechobee, FL; and Reporter Markeeta Schnelle of White Deer. Ross Dalby of Aspermont will serve with Jeffers as a Freshman Representative. Serving as Sophomore Representatives will be Jamie Kirkland of Shamrock and Tony Clark of Schertz.

The Student Senate serves as the official liaison between the student body and the college administration. Senate members decide and rule on factors affecting student life. Last year, Senate members were heralded for returning CC's residence hall visitation policy, the building of a sand volleyball pit, and the implementation of a new food service.

the lead to 10-12 points several times during the contest, but North Lake would respond with a series of treys.

With two minutes remaining, Clarendon was up by seven points. Jason Kinney came up big in the second half nailing a three-pointer and four field goals. He also was 2-for-2 from the charity stripe in the second half.

"They could shoot," Mondragon said. "I thought it was a great team effort. We played bad at times; we played good at times. Everybody was in the contest. Everybody had a part in it, both good and bad."

Scoring for the Bulldogs were Green, 20; Kinney, 16; Corey Fields, 10; Ryan Ross, 10; Tony Clark, 10; Bryan Shed, 10; Angel Otero, 9; Josh Minkley, 3; Lawrence Bailey, 3; Steven Browning, 2; Antonio Williams, 2; and Jamie Carter, 2.

Clarendon was able to hold Wayland's Robert Alexander of Trinidad, who scored 79 points in one game, to 6 points in their contest against the WBU J.V. Saturday.

"We neutralized him," Mondragon said. "I think the night before he had 30-40 points, and he came back in with that put-back dunk in our game. He's a great athlete. We watched him play (Friday). We practiced a little bit to iron things out."

Shed came up big for the Bulldogs with 18 points, as Mondragon used a balanced scoring attack using all 16 players.

Wendell Harris put in 12 points for Clarendon, who led 57-35 at intermission.

"I think our depth got the . . ." Mondragon said. "We have a lot of kids who can play."

Mondragon praised Green and freshman Fields of Clarendon for doing a "good job of distributing the ball."

"I'm sure (Green) had 10 assists and (Fields) had seven," Mondragon said. "Both players were team-oriented. That's good when they're sharing the ball."

Scoring for the Bulldogs were Shed, 18; Harris, 12; Williams, 10; Kedrick Monson, 10; Green, 9; Clark, 8; Fields, 8; Otero, 8; Kinney, 7; Minkley, 6; Ross, 4; Carter, 2; Sam McLeod, 2; and Browning, 1.

District FFA Leadership Contests held at college

Clarendon College hosted the 1996 FFA District Leadership Contests held on Saturday, Nov. 2.

Approximately 400 students from the Top-O-Texas, Greenbelt, and Amarillo Districts were represented and competed in nine different contests. The top two placing teams will represent their respective districts at the Area I Leadership Contest on Nov. 23 at Clarendon College.

Also participating in the Area I contest will be qualifying teams from the Littlefield, Lubbock, and Plainview districts. The 1st place teams from the Area I competition will advance to state which will be held on Dec. 7, 1996, at Sam Houston State University in Huntsville.

Clarendon High School's FFA team placed fourth in the Radio division during Saturday's contests.

1996 Farm Bills give local SWCD new responsibilities

"As a result of the 1996 Farm Bill, the Donley County Soil and Water Conservation district (SWCD) with headquarters in Clarendon, along with 3,000 other SWCD in the nation, has been given the charge to lead the way in developing programs and initiatives to improve soil and water resources at the local level," said Dick Bode, chairman of the SWCD.

"After years of applying top-down program management approaches in federal conservation programs, the new 1996 Farm Bill establishes a locally driven process, coordinated by conservation districts, to guide the state and nation's agricultural conservation efforts."

"It provides tremendous opportunities for local people to become involved in assessing local resource needs," Bode added.

According to Mr. Bode, the process deals with developing a list of concerns for a long range Farm Bill program for Fiscal Year 1998 and beyond.

To enact the Farm Bill on the local level, the Donley County SWCD, in partnership with the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service, will conduct a work group meeting with its conservation partners and interested persons or organizations on Nov. 4, 1996, at 7 p.m. in the Courson RFO Center located at Clarendon College.

The purpose of the meeting is to conduct a local conservation needs assessment, and make program recommendations on what problems the SWCD should address in future years.

Local recommendation will then flow to the state level where the district's technical issues, resource priority areas and program policies will be reviewed and integrated into a state, regional, and national program.

"We are really excited about the opportunities the new Farm Bill offers because Congress is seeking our leadership to assist our community in carrying out a cooperative, locally driven, incentive-based conservation program that wisely invests public resources to protect local natural resources," said Bode.

New gym coming to Clarendon High School

After years of dreaming of a new gym, Clarendon will be experiencing the real thing when school starts in the fall of 1997.

Plans have been approved for a 95 ft. by 140 ft. structure to begin construction in November. Bids totaling $792,505.18 were approved by the Board of Trustees on October 24.

The building will be constructed of metal with a decorative brick facia. It will be attached to the existing high school gym and will extend north into the current parking lot. The entrance will be at the northeast corner of the building into a 35 ft. by 95 ft. concession/foyer area with restrooms. The foyer will include two windows for viewing into the gym floor area.

Attaching the new gym to the existing gym will enable students to utilize the existing dressing rooms thus saving on construction costs.

The playing floor area will include retractable seating on both sides of the playing floor. The projected seating capacity will be 327 on the visitors side on 535 on the home side.

The players will be seated in folding chairs in front of the home stands.

Preliminary plans anticipate completion of construction by the end of May. Superintendent Phil Barefield said in a press release that Clarendon ISD has been very fortunate to have the support of the community for continuous improvement of its programs and facilities.

Clarendon High School will have a gym to be proud of when school starts next year. Among other things the new facility will boast seating for 862 spectators, retractable bleachers, and a 35 ft by 95 ft concession/foyer area.

CISD earns 'recognized' status again

Each year, Clarendon ISD presents the district's educational performance on the Academic Excellence Indicator System (AEIS). The public hearing this year will be on Monday, Nov. 11, at 7 p.m. in the secondary library.

The information presented at this meeting will pertain to student achievement, attendance and dropout rates, as well as campus performance objectives. Clarendon ISD is proud to again announce that the district was a "Recognized" district based on the 1995-96 results.

The District Improvement Committee will be reviewing the AEIS information as it is presented at the public hearing. This committee will be meeting again later this year as part of its continuous improvement planning.

Wootten selected as CC mascot

Kim Wootten of Clarendon recently attended the "Dedicated to Responsible Leadership for the 21st Century" conference in Austin, Texas. The conference was designed to train young, emerging leaders about the issues facing the state of Texas.

Wootten, a sophomore at Clarendon College, represented Phi Theta Kappa - a national junior college academic honor society. Also representing CC was sophomore Erin May of Idalou and Miss Cynthia Ewing, CC's PTK adviser.

Both Wootten and May were awarded a $75 scholarship for participating in the John Ben Shepperd Leadership Forum.

The John Ben Shepperd Leadership Institute is the namesake of John Ben Shepperd, former Texas Secretary of State and Texas Attorney General. Before his death in 1990, he created this unique opportunity for the leaders of tomorrow to gain practical knowledge and experience on the issues facing Texas.

Economic Injury Disaster Loans available from SBA

Businesses depending on farmers and ranchers in some Texas counties can now apply for low interest Economic Injury Disaster loans from the US Small Business Administration (SBA). These loans are available to help businesses meet normal operating expenses that cannot be met due to the effects of a disaster.

Drought, freeze, freezing temperatures, sleet, and snow which occurred January 1 through May 31, 1996, and continuing caused many farmers and ranchers to experience reduced incomes which may have had an adverse economic effect on businesses depending upon these producers. Farmers and ranchers are not eligible for this loan program but may be eligible for disaster assistance through other Federal agencies. However, nurseries that are victims of drought disasters can apply.

Businesses in the following counties are eligible to apply: Armstrong, Carson, Coke, Crane, Donley, Glasscock, Gray, Howard, Hutchinson, Martin, Midland, Moore, Nolan, Potter, Randall, Reagan, Roberts, Runnels, Sterling, Taylor, and Upton.

To obtain an application or receive additional information, interested business owners may call SBA toll-free at 1-800-366-6303 or TDD 817-267-4688 for the hearing impaired. The deadline for filing applications is May 27, 1997.

Check It Out

By Mary Beth Nelson

Did I hear you say, "What's new at Burton Memorial Library?" I was delighted to be made aware of several new additions while visiting with librarians, Mary and Barbara, last week.

Four shiny paperbacks which caught my eye are part of a brand new "West Dream Series" by best-selling author, Jane Peart. The novels offer light fictional reading full of excitement, adventure, and romance against a colorful background of the Old West. Each book revolves around a strong woman whose trails and successes are weaved together in such a way to capture reader's interest from the very first page. They are about "women who must find a new life for themselves in a difficult, sometimes hostile environment. But with persistence, principle, and a steadfast faith, they not only survive, they thrive."

Promise of the Valley, which I am currently reading, begins in September, 1870, right after the Civil War. Lovely 26 year-old southern born Adelaide Pride and her aunt view the charred remains of Adelaide's beautiful home torched by Union Army soldiers. The war left her without family, fiancé, or fortune. She had accepted a position across the country in California which, at the present time, offered only a challenge and an uncertain future.

Hollis Lambeth, heroine of Runaway Heart, made a 2,000 mile trip from Kentucky to settle in Riverbend, Oregon, only to find that she was not as welcome as she had expected. She is presented with a challenging opportunity to overcome her conflict, but not in the way readers might assume.

The other two novels in the Western Dream Series, While Tomorrow Waits with an Oregon Trail setting, and A Distant Dawn in which a midwestern family is victimized in a financial swindle by a con man, both promise to hold readers' interest throughout the stories.

Other new materials of which you'll be informed, but too numerous to mention in one article, have been recently received.

Many of you have generously donated reading materials to Burton Memorial Library at various times. The library staff would like to express appreciation, once again, for your contributions which not only increase the quality of the library, but make more good reading available to other community members. Thanks for sharing.

Remember the Jane Peart novels waiting for your enjoyment. Why not check it out?

Local couple working on Baptist camp

A Clarendon couple has been involved for the last four months in the largest construction project ever undertaken entirely by Texas Baptist volunteers. Buck and Jo Welty, members of the First Baptist Church of Clarendon and the Texas Baptist Men Retired Campbuilders, have lived in their travel trailer on the building site at Big Country Baptist Assembly in Lueders, Texas.

Buck is in charge of the plumbing for the two story, multi-purpose adult conference center.

The 36,000 square-foot project was estimated at $1.5 million by contractors, but camp administrator Jim Brinkley hopes that by using all volunteer labor the cost can be cut to $710,000. More than $215,000 has been given, and Brinkley last week announced an anonymous $100,000 gift, to be paid on completion of the project.

In addition to the Texas Baptist Men Campbuilders, two other retired building groups have worked on to project so far. They are Christian Builders and Campers of Mission.

Brinkley hopes to have the first phase of the conference center ready for use by May 15, 1997. It will have 58 private rooms, a health and fitness center with spas, an office complex, seven conference rooms seating up to 200, a first aid station, and a gift shop. The primary use of the building will be for marriage enrichment seminars and adult retreats.

Big Country Baptist Assembly, located on the banks of the Clear Fork of the Brazos River, is Texas' oldest encampment and will celebrate its centennial in 1998.

Work on this camp has been especially meaningful to Jo since she grew up in the area and camped along the river with her family as a child. A picture of her grandfather and some uncles, which was made in 1925 at the camp, hangs on the wall of the dining hall where Jo helps with meals and breaktime refreshments for the workers.
