Hester named Dole/Kemp chairman for Donley County

Rogers Hester of Clarendon will serve as chairman of Texans for Dole/Kemp for Donley County.

"I am proud to serve as chairman for Bob Dole and Jack Kemp," Mr. Hester said. "Their plan to cut income taxes by 15 percent will provide a much deserved increase in the paychecks of many thousands of Texas taxpayers."

"The Dole/Kemp ticket will also give us the honesty, leadership, and integrity that Texans are looking for in the President."

Governor George Bush, chairman of Texans for Dole/Kemp, said that he is "pleased that Rogers Hester has agreed to serve on the Dole/Kemp campaign."

"I am convinced more than ever that America needs Bob Dole as President. He's a man who fought back from a terrible injury through sheer determination and will, and we need that heart and spirit in the White House.

"Bob Dole is a leader, a family man, and a decent, plain-spoken man who got where he is the old fashioned way: duty, honor, and country. Texas is a conservative state, and Bob Dole is the conservative candidate," the governor said.

"I am glad that Rogers Hester has agreed to head up the Donley County Dole/Kemp campaign," said Railroad Commissioner Barry Williamson, chairman of Leadership Texas '96.

"Mr. Hester will remind Donley County voters that while Bill Clinton tries to sound like a conservative, Bob Dole is a true Conservative whose agenda will make life better for Texans and all Americans."

Rogers Hester is currently serving as Republican Chair for Donley County. Your participation and vote will be welcome.

Public invited to review second draft of Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills

The public is invited to provide recommendations and give input regarding the second draft of the TEKS (Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills) on Tuesday, Oct. 22, 1996, at Region XVI Education Service Center, 1601 S. Cleveland, Amarillo, from 7 - 9 p.m. in the Panhandle Conference Room according to a news release from the Hedley ISD.

In 1995, the 74th Texas Legislature passed Senate Bill 1 which calls for the State Board of Education to adopt "Essential Knowledge and Skills" for kindergarten through twelfth grade to serve as a framework for what students need to learn for the 21st century.

Those new essential knowledge and skills should emphasize real-world (workplace, everyday life, community setting) applications as well as acquisition of information, and should focus on what the student learns rather than on how the teacher teaches.

Copies of the second draft of TEKS will be available for a 72 hour checkout period. Also, a set may be purchased from the Education Service Center. The draft is also available on the Internet at: <http://www.tea.state.tx.us:70/0/teks/index.htm>.

Conference to be held in Pampa for area ranchers

FT. WORTH — Ranchers looking for practical ways to manage during periods of drought and depressed cattle prices are invited to attend the High Plains Cattle Producers Conference Friday, Nov. 8, at the M.K. Brown Memorial Civic Auditorium in Pampa, says Chauce O. Thompson Jr., president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.

The free conference, which begins at 9:30 a.m. and ends at 2:00 p.m., is one in a series of regional meetings which TSCRA is conducting in Texas and Oklahoma. Rolling Plains Production Credit Association and High Plains Federal Land Bank Association are underwriting the project.

"We feel that we must roll up our sleeves and help our members on a personal basis during this period of crisis for the Texas cattle industry," says TSCRA President Thompson. "Conditions are different in each area; we have to be there to hear what our members want from their association and offer area-specific information to help them survive."

"To be sure that we provide the kind of information needed by ranchers in each area, TSCRA directors and staff members who live in each region have been asked to help plan the program," Thompson says.

Stan Bevers, extension economist from Vernon, Texas, will compare ranch performances in the region using actual SPA data.

"The Texas Rolling Plains is probably one of the most profitable ranching areas in the country," says Bevers. "However, as with any industry, there is always room for improvement. This information helps us pinpoint where progress can be made."

J.F. Cadenhead, extension range and brush control specialist also from Vernon, will be speaking on rangeland and brush management tips.

"We'll discuss everything you wanted to know about chemical control of noxious weeds and brush that infest our rangelands in the High Plains," says Cadenhead. "Locoweed, broomsnakeweed, mesquite, cedars, skunkbush sumac, wild plum, Russian Olive, sand sagebrush, sand shinnery, plains pricklypear, and yucca (beargrass) are just some of the problems to be addressed."

James R. Clark from West Texas A&M University will explain some of the new programs initiated by the school's agricultural division. Also from West Texas A&M, Ted Montgomery will discuss how cattle producers can access the NCBA Cattleman's Carcass Data Service and explain what data and costs they can expect.

There will be information on services available from the Rolling Plains Production Credit Association, High Plains Federal Land Bank Association and TSCRA, including question-and-answer sessions with officers and staff members of these organizations.

A complimentary lunch will be provided by Hi-Pro Animal Health. Door prizes will be given away to a few lucky participants.

Broncos scalp Quanah Indians after standoff

Clarendon and Quanah were locked in a defensive stand-off Oct. 11 that ended when senior Roy Williams romped on a 68-yard breakout run to record the Broncos only score and secure the 7-0 win.

The Broncos are riding a two-game winning streak and a 1-0 District 2-2A record entering Friday's district match-up with Wellington in Broncho Stadium.

Panhandle manhandled the Skyrockets, 44-0, in their district opener Oct. 11.

Winless Wellington has struggled this past year going through several coaching changes and finally landing a permanent coach in July. The musical chair coaching situation has not been advantageous to the Skyrockets, Clarendon head football coach Tooter Draper said.

Wellington fields a team of strong athletes who are capable of beating the Broncos, Draper said.

Clarendon's defense will be tested Friday even after the clinic they put on Oct. 11 in Quanah. The Broncos "D" held the Indians to 206 yards rushing and capitalized on big plays.

Quanah was poised to score at the 5-yard line in the first half, but Quanah fumbled and Trent Mooring came up with the football.

"(The fumble recover) was real big," Draper said. "Someone told me that that was the turning point of the ball game."

The Indians later started on a drive and got within the Clarendon 10-yard line.

The Bronco defense, which had played outstanding all evening, pushed Quanah back to the 20-yard line.

"They played hard; they played great," Draper said. "It was pretty much of a defensive ball game. Our defense really played well. We were clicking. I think they're learning more each week of what we want them to do and what we expect out of them."

"We were really surprised at Jeremy Shelley. He had 18 tackles as a linebacker. He was just getting to the ball everywhere. The defensive ends (Tabor and Hamilton) played outstanding."

Clarendon broke into the scoring column at the 4:44 mark in the fourth quarter. Quanah punted the ball after failing to make the first down, and the Broncos started their scoring drive.

Quarterback Scotty Elliott rambled two yards before throwing an incomplete pass to junior Kareem Abdullah.

But Elliott found Abdullah on the next play on a quick pitch out to the side, and the Broncos gained 8 yards and the first down.

Williams, who rushed 26 times for 150 yards took over on the next play and made little headway but broke loose on the following play on a 29-sweep and ran untouched into the end zone.

"We had been running the sweep all night," Draper said. "We had run almost six of them earlier. On this one, Josh Mondragon blocked for him, and he broke loose."

Blake Bass' PAT was good, and Clarendon led 7-0 at the 2:46 mark.

But Quanah responded and marched 25 yards down the field before time ran out.

"It wasn't a coach's ballgame; it was a spectator ball game," Draper said.

Draper cautions his young Bronco squad not to overlook the 0-6 Wellington Skyrockets.

"We're at a point where we're controlling our own destiny. We will have to work hard this week and get ready for the next week. If we take it one game at a time, there's no telling what we can do."

SBA accepting nominations for Small Business Person of the year

WASHINGTON - Do you or someone you know have what it takes to become America's "Small Business Person of the Year" for 1997?

If so, the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) wants to hear from you. But you'd better act quickly since the deadline for nominations is November 15, 1996.

Each year since 1963, the President has designated one week as National Small Business Week in recognition of the small business community's contributions to the American economy. Small businesses today, some 23 million strong, generate more than 57 percent of all sales in this country, 50 percent of our domestic private sector output and about 55 percent of all innovations. Small businesses also lead the nation in job creation, providing approximately two-thirds of all new jobs.

Business owners from every state, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Guam, who have been named as their state's "Small Business Person of the Year," travel to Washington for three days of small business-related activities and meetings that typically include high-level government officials. This same pool of winners also vies for the national honor of "Small Business Person of the Year."

Traditionally, the national winner is announced by the President of the United States during a White House ceremony. In addition to receiving nationwide recognition, the media often identifies the winner as a spokesperson on local and national small business issues.

Each state's Small Business Person of the Year must meet criteria which include staying power, growth in employment, increase in sales/unit volume, innovation, response to adversity, and evidence of contributions to his/her community.

Advocate awards are also presented to persons who have used their professional skills or personal talents to further public understanding and awareness of small business. Candidates must have taken an active role in creating opportunities to promote the interests of small business. Advocate categories include: Women in Business, Minority, Veteran, Accountant, Financial Services, and Media. An advocate winner may or may not be an entrepreneur.

Special awards are also presented to the Small Business Exporter and Young Entrepreneur of the Year, and the Federal Government Prime Contractor and Subcontractor of the Year. Large companies that started as small businesses are also honored with the Entrepreneurial Success Award.

Nominations in the Small Business Person of the Year, Advocates of the Year and special Small Business Week award categories can be made by any individual, or organizations such as professional and trade associations, business organizations, chambers of commerce, banks, or a small business' employees.

All nominations must be received by the SBA district office no later than November 15, 1996. For more information or the location of the SBA office in your area, call the SBA's Answer Desk at 1-800-827-5722.

"The Power of Love"

By Scott Elliott

"Don't need money, don't need fame. Don't need a credit card to ride this train."

—HUEY LEWIS & THE NEWS from "The Power of Love"

Tucking my children into bed was one of my few contributions to their early rearing.

Their mother, Claudia — a much smarter, diligent, and capable individual than myself — did most everything else from selecting their clothes to nursing them through a zillion runny noses.

Sometimes I would read Stacie and Scotty a bedtime story or occasionally make one up. Then we would pray together, kneeling by the bed, very often starting that communal time with the age old classic, "Now I lay me down to sleep." After that recitation, we would tack on some addendums, like special blessings for special people. Of course, Grandpa and Grandma frequently made our elite list as did the kids' pre-school teachers.

I remember when Scotty was about three years old. I don't know whether I'd dropped him on his sandy blond noggin too many times or perhaps he'd just watched one too many Bela Lugosi films on Saturday afternoons. Whatever the cause, he experienced a time when he was suffering from some rather terrible dreams.

He would sometimes wake up in the middle of the night frightened out of his wits, and it required several minutes to make him aware of the security of his surroundings. It became so prevalent that Claudia and I contacted our family physician about the dilemma. As I recall, he offered something really comforting like, "Hey, don't worry about it. The kid will grow out of it."

Well, things didn't change in the coming weeks. We sought out the advice of friends who had children, asking if they'd experienced similar problems. Everybody and his dog had an opinion, but nothing really helped.

We did everything but write Ann Landers and sign it "Sleepless in Seattle."

Finally, I got a novel idea. At least it was novel for me. I decided to pray about it.

That night I knelt with Scotty at his bedside. After we got through our "Now I lay me's," I added, "And, Dear Lord, please protect Scotty from having bad dreams tonight."

Guess what? It worked. I mean like WD-40 on a dog-gone rusty bolt. The kid slept like he was loaded up on Sominex or something. Didn't hear a peep out of him the whole night.

Thereafter, we would pray for God's protection each night. I don't recall Scotty ever having a bad dream whenever we asked for help. And to this day, he never has bad dreams - not even about 225-pound linebackers.

Now, any learned skull doctor might attribute our good fortune to the power of suggestion. But I prefer to think of it as the power of love.

It was a little episode involving a little guy, but there was a big, big lesson to be learned.

Sometimes we search exhaustively for complex solutions to simple problems. As a mathematician might note, the shortest distance between two points is a straight line. Yet, seeking out detours has become a matter of habit with me.

Funny, I've never taken a detour with which I've been happy. The road is usually a lot bumpier, and it takes you much longer to get where you want to go.

Dr. Scott Elliott is the President of Clarendon College.

"Deer Hunting Predictions"

The latest reports indicate that deer hunters in the Panhandle can anticipate better than average deer hunting this season. Horn development may be slightly below the outstanding levels of the past several years, but both the number of deer and their territorial range continue to grow.

In the Hill country and South Texas, hunters should expect slightly below average hunting. It appears that the late summer rains may have provided enough vegetative growth to carry the deer through the winter.

A newsletter from Mike Kasberg and Rod Marburger with Wildlife Management Services (210-257-4651) suggests some actions that could improve many hunting leases. These experts note that a mature deer consumes six pounds of vegetation each day. They also observe that most deer herds are culled at the end of the hunting season. By the simple act of an early harvest of deer (particularly excess does) the remaining deer will benefit from the extra forage during the difficult months of January and February, when nature controls the excess numbers by starvation and predation of the weak animals.

Frequently, it is the mature bucks, who have just finished the rigors of the fall breeding season, that are most affected by a lack of winter forage. An early harvest just might be the key to achieving more trophy bucks on your hunting lease.

He's Back: Chairman of the Hale County State Bank and former Amarillo banker, E.W. Williams just returned from a three-week hunting trip to South Africa, where he collected ten additional trophies to fill in the gaps in his extensive African trophy collection. This was his sixth safari since 1980, and his impressive collection of African trophies now totals fifty mounts.

Thanks Doppler Dave for continuing to serve the anglers of the Golden Spread. His opening segment of the weather portion of the 10 o'clock news on KFDA gives the lake level and water temperature at Lake Meredith. Both pieces of information are vital news for local anglers.

Fishing doesn't stop when summer ends. Knowing the current lake conditions can help local anglers decide when to stop fishing for largemouth bass and start chasing the small mouth bass or walleye. For the record, I have observed that the water temperatures at Lake Greenbelt, Lake Conchas, and Ute Lake closely parallel Lake Meredith while Lake Baylor (just off the Caprock near Childress) is usually three to five degrees warmer.

Until next week, good fishing, good hunting, and good luck.

That Cough Again: Should You Worry?

Coughing is a normal cold symptom and not usually a cause for concern. But a persistent cough can signal something more serious. And coughing in children can easily become serious. They are less able to spit up phlegm, so it sometimes collects in their chests. Take note of the following symptoms so you'll know when to call a doctor with a cough.

TYPE OF COUGH	POSSIBLE PROBLEM
A cough with a temperature of 100° or above and breathlessness.	Pneumonia, acute bronchitis or the flu. (These symptoms without breathlessness may indicate a mild form of viral pneumonia)
A dry, raspy cough with wheezing or with no other symptoms.	Asthma.
A dry cough for no apparent reason.	A side effect of medications.
A cough that begins after a cold or the flu or that's usually persistent during the winter.	A polyp or cancer of the larynx.
A productive cough with thick gray or greenish-yellow phlegm most days accompanied by difficult breathing	Lung diseases such as emphysema or chronic bronchitis.
A cough that persists for several weeks or months that becomes more severe.	Lung cancer or tuberculosis.

Breast Cancer Awareness Stamp available now

The Don and Sybil Harrington and the United States Post Office will be selling the "Breast Cancer Awareness Stamp" through November 6, 1996, to promote October as Breast Cancer Awareness Month. The United States Postal Service issued a "Breast Cancer Awareness Stamp" on June 15, 1996, in conjunction with the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation National "Race for the Cure" in Washington, DC.

Volunteers from the Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center and Area Circle of Friends representatives will be at local and area US Post Offices on October 18, National Mammography Day, to promote the stamp and hand out information concerning early breast detection. The postal service issued 100 million stamps.

On National Mammography Day, women across America are encouraged to receive or sign up for a screening mammogram or to make a commitment to get one. Information will be available at the post offices on local and area clinics available through the Harrington Cancer Center Mobile Mammography Program.

In 1996 it is estimated that 184,300 women will be diagnosed with breast cancer (one every 3 minutes); during this same time, 44,300 will die. Breast cancer is the leading cause of death, from all causes, of women between the ages of 35 and 54. Seventy-five percent of all breast cancer occurs in women with no known risk factors. Although there is no known cure for advanced breast cancer, detection of breast cancer at an early stage provides a greater chance of cure and more treatment options. Early detection is the key to survival and a greater quality of life.

For information on the commemorative stamp, National Mammography Day, or Mammograms, please call Tracy Dougherty at (806) 359-4673 Ext. 207 or 1-800-279-4673.

Free white flowering dogwood trees from Arbor Day Foundation

Ten free white flowering dogwood trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during October 1996. The free trees are part of the non-profit Foundation's Trees for America campaign.

"The white flowering dogwoods will add year-round beauty to your home and neighborhood," John Rosenow, the Foundation's president, said. "Dogwoods have showy spring flowers, scarlet autumn foliage, and red berries which attract songbirds all winter."

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between November 1 and December 10 with enclosed planting instructions. The six to twelve inch trees are guaranteed to grow, or they will be replaced free of charge.

Members also receive a subscription to the Foundation's bimonthly publication, "Arbor Day," and The Tree Book with information about tree planting and care.

Corrected Dietary guidelines released

A widely printed news release from the Associated Press reported that the American Cancer Society had recommended eliminating red meat and alcohol from the diet in order to prevent cancer. The report however was incorrect. The following is the correct version of the new dietary guidelines.

Recommendations for the new dietary guidelines are:

1. Choose most of the foods you eat from plant sources. Eat five or more servings of fruits and vegetables each day and to eat other foods from plant sources, such as breads, cereal, and grain products

2. Limit your intake of high-fat foods, particularly from animal sources. Be sure to choose foods low in fat and limit your consumption of meats, especially high-fat meats

3. Be physically active and achieve and maintain a healthy weight.

4. Limit your consumption of alcoholic beverages.

The updated guidelines will be incorporated in the American Cancer Society's Home Page on the Website, 1997 Cancer Facts & Figures, the revised edition of Changing the Course, and the worksite program package currently in development.

Altus AFB celebrates open house

Altus AFB opens its gates to the public on October 19 for its open house and air show featuring the US Air Force Aerial demonstration team, the Thunderbirds.

The theme of this year's air show is "Wings Over the Heartland."

"We're trying to focus the show on the Air Force's 50th anniversary and what air power has meant to US history," said Maj. Wes Nolden, air show project officer. "We want to use the air show as a chance to thank the people in the Altus community for all the support they've given us."

A number of aircraft have been tentatively scheduled to perform or be displayed at the show, including the B-1, B-52, F-15, T-1, T-37, T-38, Army helicopters, and several World War II vintage. Special appearances are scheduled by the B-2 stealth bomber and the F-117 stealth fighter. Other aircraft appearing at the air show include Altus AFB C-5s, C-17s, C-141s, and KC-135s.

Since the event is in the slower half of the air show season, air show organizers haven't had many problems booking acts, Nolden said. "In fact, we've actually had more acts than we can book," he said.

The highlight of the event will be the Thunderbirds. The Thunderbirds squadron is an Air Combat Command unit comprised of eight pilots (six are demonstration pilots), four support officers, three civilians, and more than 130 enlisted people performing in more than 25 different career fields.

A Thunderbirds air demonstration is a mix of six aircraft performing formation flying and solo routines. The four-aircraft diamond formation demonstrates the training and precision of Air Force pilots, while the solos highlight the maximum capabilities of the F-16 Fighting Falcon.

The pilots perform approximately 30 maneuvers during a demonstration, and the entire show, including ground and air, runs about an hour and 15 minutes.

Air show organizers hope to display the evolution of Altus AFB and the Air Force through static displays, aerial demonstrations, and an exhibit documenting the history of the base.

A parking area will be provided for people attending the air show from off base, and a shuttle service will transport the people to the flightline area. The shuttle service will also be provided for people in the family housing area.

Booths with hats, T-shirts, and other souvenirs will be set up in the air show area. Food and beverages will also be available.

THE BEST WAY TO SAVE!

Donley County Senior Citizen News

After weeks of gathering mountains of garage sale items, pricing everything from a bathroom sink to crystal, and setting out dining tables, chairs, and lobby furniture, setting up tables, and moving all the garage sale "stuff" into the Senior Citizens building to display it all, we have finally exhausted every faithful worker and finished our benefit garage sale. It was a tremendous effort, and all workers are in agreement about setting our next garage sale in about 40 years.

The DCSC had two fund raisers on October 5. While the garage and bake sale were going on at the Center, Onita and Claude Thomas and Sharon Grady were manning the concession stand for the auction of Loel Box's business, Happy Trail Antiques. They were very busy keeping up with all the food orders.

They want to remind all their members to vote in their 1997 board of directors election. Absentee voting begins October 21 at the Center. All members may vote absentee. Election day is November 5, from 8 a.m. until 1 p.m. Persons 55 years and older may belong to the Donley County Senior Citizens and memberships are only $1.00 per year.

Small Business Administration now seeking out nominations for 'Small Business Person of the Year'

WASHINGTON - Do you or someone you know have what it takes to become America's "Small Business Person of the Year" for 1997? If so, the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) wants to hear from you. But you'd better act quickly since the deadline for nominations is November 15, 1996.

Each year since 1963, the President has designated one week as National Small Business Week in recognition of the small business community's contributions to the American economy. Small businesses today, some 23 million strong, generate more than 57 percent of all sales in this country, 50 percent of our domestic private sector output and about 55 percent of all innovations. Small businesses also lead the nation in job creation, providing approximately two-thirds of all new jobs.

Business owners from every state, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Guam, who have been named as their state's "Small Business Person of the Year," travel to Washington for three days of small business-related activities and meetings that typically include high-level government officials. This same pool of winners also vies for the national honor of "Small Business Person of the Year."

Traditionally, the national winner is announced by the President of the United States during a White House ceremony. In addition to receiving nationwide recognition, the media often identifies the winner as a spokesperson on local and national small business issues.

Each state's Small Business Person of the Year must meet criteria which include staying power, growth in employment, increase in sales/unit volume, innovation, response to adversity, and evidence of contributions to his/her community.

Advocate awards are also presented to persons who have used their professional skills or personal talents to further public understanding and awareness of small business. Candidates must have taken an active role in creating opportunities to promote the interests of small business. Advocate categories include: Women in Business, Minority, Veteran, Accountant, Financial Services, and Media. An advocate winner may or may not be an entrepreneur.

Special awards are also presented to the Small Business Exporter and Young Entrepreneur of the Year, and the Federal Government Prime Contractor and Subcontractor of the Year. Large companies that started as small businesses are also honored with the Entrepreneurial Success Award.

Nominations in the Small Business Person of the Year, Advocates of the Year and special Small Business Week award categories can be made by any individual, or organizations such as professional and trade associations, business organizations, chambers of commerce, banks, or a small business' employees.

All nominations must be received by the SBA district office no later than November 15, 1996. To obtain information on completing a nomination package, contact your nearest SBA office. For the location of the SBA office in your area, consult the U.S. government listings in your telephone directory or call the SBA's Answer Desk at 1-800-827-5722.

Beef information to blanket Texas State Fair attendees

The 3.5 million visitors attending the State Fair of Texas September 27-October 20 will have the opportunity to learn a lot about today's beef thanks to the beef checkoff program, says Terry Stokes, executive vice president of the Texas Beef Council (TBC).

"This year, TBC will use check-off dollars to generate a passel of activities designed to increase the public's knowledge and understanding about beef," Stokes said. "Because the State Fair of Texas is such an important attraction for consumers, teachers, students, and persons in all walks of life, it is a great platform for spreading positive information about beef."

The highlight of beef's involvement in the State Fair will be the launching of the new Seven Lean Cuts campaign. Through dissemination of new recipes, refrigerator magnets, and nutrition information in the State Fair's Food and Fiber Pavilion, consumers will learn that beef has seven cuts that fall between the skinless chicken breast and the skinless chicken thigh in leanness.

"We want consumers to know that eating beef cuts with the name loin or round in them is the perfect way to enjoy the great taste of beef and stay on a low-fat diet," says Linda Bebee, TBC vice president for domestic marketing. "Our goal is to get them to remember: It's lean. It's easy. It's beef."

The campaign will be supplemented with a mailing to food editors around the state with additional information on the Seven Lean Cuts.

Other activities at the State Fair by the beef checkoff program will include:

- * Weekly prizes. Consumers will be able to register to receive restaurant certificates, aprons, beef cookbooks as well as donated Dallas Cowboy skybox tickets.

- * Restaurant promotions. Several Dallas restaurants will partner with TBC to offer beef specials during the dates of the State Fair. Similar beef specials during the Houston Livestock Show proved highly successful in introducing Houston restaurants and their patrons to new beef cuts and new ways of serving beef. Dallas participating restaurants include Paul's Porterhouse, Good Eats Grill, Sonny Bryan's Barbecue, Matt's No Place, Matt's El Rancho, and YO Ranch.

- * The Red River Chicken-Fried Steak Challenge. The Texas-OU football game won't be the only battle at the State Fair in Dallas on October 11. The Dallas-based Good Eats Grill will challenge the Cattleman's Steakhouse in Oklahoma City for the title of the best chicken-fried steak in Texas and Oklahoma. The event will take place on a day when 253,000 persons pass through the State Fair turnstiles. It traditionally is the heaviest attendance day at the State Fair.

"The checkoff program allows us to provide a variety of activities for persons attending the State Fair," Stokes said. "We have a program that is sure to interest everyone who loves good food and attends the State Fair. We also invite all beef producers who are attending the Pan-American Livestock Exposition during the State Fair to stop by the Food and Fiber Pavilion and see your checkoff dollars at work."

Bassett painting donated to PPHM

Bill and Mary Cheek of Dallas have given a painting of Palo Duro Canyon by Dallas artist Reveau Mott Bassett (1897-1981) to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum at Canyon. Bassett's pastel The Wagon, depicting a chuckwagon and cowboys in Palo Duro Canyon, twelve miles east of the Museum, joins eight other Bassett works in the PPHM collection. The Cattleman magazine reproduced a larger version of The Wagon on the cover of its April 1950 issue.

Bassett displayed his work at the Museum during a 1961 solo show, a Reveau Bassett Art Association exhibition in 1965, and exhibitions of the Dallas Chapter of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society in 1966-67. Bassett also was a close friend of former PPHM director C. Boone McClure and former PPHM curator of art and artist Harold D. Bugbee.

The new Bassett painting, The Wagon, fills an important gap in the Museum's Bassett collection according to Museum curator of art, Michael R. Grauer. "We had several Bassett oils and lithographs, but only a minor pastel before this acquisition. Consequently, we are thrilled to add a major Bassett pastel to the collection, and the fact that it depicts Palo Duro Canyon is simply icing on the cake," said Grauer.

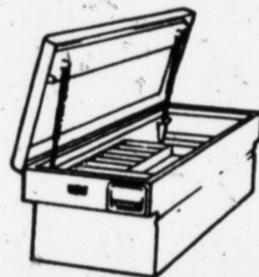

"I greatly admire the Texas Collection (at PPHM) and wanted to add to it and felt the Palo Duro Canyon painting was appropriate," said Bill Cheek.

The Wagon will be featured in either the Texas Gallery or in the exhibition "The Panhandle's Gallery: 75 Years of Collecting Art" in November.

The Head Start class at Clarendon elementary enjoyed the visit of Refugio Benavidez and Greg Collins in observance of Fire Prevention Week. Mr. Benavidez explained about the equipment that is worn to fight fires, and the children were able to become familiar with the fireman suit. Mr. Collins explained about the firetruck and how it is used to extinguish fires.

Lady Broncos run in Mustang Cross Country Meet

Clarendon's Clarissa Smith finished sixth, and three other runners crossed the finish line in the top 15 Saturday at the Mustang Stampede Cross Country Meet in Wheeler.

The Lady Broncos finished second - despite running without two of their top runners - behind a strong Follett team.

Follett also bested Clarendon in their previous meeting in Fort Elliott, Cross Country Coach Steve Schmidt said.

Schmidt used this meet as a test for which runners would advance to the District 2-2A meet Oct. 21 in White Deer. The top seven runners will compete at 2:30 p.m.

Junior varsity races begin at 2 p.m., and the junior high girls' race is tentatively scheduled for 4 p.m.

Smith crossed the finish line in fourth place and a time of 12:58. Other members of the squad that will compete in the District 2-2A meet will be Kala Holland, 6, 13:01; Lolli Menchaca, 9, 13:11; Korey Knorpp, 10, 13:11; and Jenny Roberts, 23, 13:49.

Ashcraft and Bryley also will compete in the District 2-2A meet at the varsity level.

America Santos finished 28th Oct. 12 with a time of 14:19.

Santos will compete on the junior varsity level and will serve as an alternate if the Lady Broncos advance to the Region I meet in Lubbock the first week in November.

The top two teams in district will compete at the regional level, Schmidt said.

Schmidt was impressed with the running of many of his competitors and admired their experimentation.

"(Smith) really took out hard and tried to win the race early and ran out of gas the last half mile or so. It will definitely help her get in shape, and she'll be a little smarter. It was an experiment to see if she could go out hard."

Compared to last year's meet at Wheeler, Knorpp ran a 1:26 faster and Menchaca chopped :40 off her time.

"(Knorpp's) gotten so much tougher than last year, and (Menchaca) ran better. She definitely didn't want to be on J.V. and wanted to get one of the top seven spots. If we throw (Ashcraft) and (Bryley) in there, we will have a real successful district meet."

White Deer's cross country route for the district meet is relatively flat with a "couple of good hills," Schmidt said. "I'm real excited. We haven't raced against Panhandle this year. We've gone against the other district schools and have beaten them, so we have a good chance of going to regionals."

The Lady Broncos Junior Varsity squad placed second - one point behind host team Wheeler.

Those competing and their places were: Catherine Chamberlain, 3; Jill Hicks, 8; Paula Jackson, 9; Stephanie Smith, 10; Niki Carter, 11; Tracy Hankins, 12; Lindy Helms, 13; and Lindsay Green, 15.

Clarendon's junior high team placed first as the runners were trying to finish in the top seven to advance to the District 2-2A meet.

The top seven were: Jamie Sawyer, 2, 13:54; April Bryley, 3, 13:55; Danielle Holden, 4, 14:02; Courtney Newhouse, 5, 14:05; Claire Rodriguez, 12, 14:35; Kelley Lemley, 15, 14:46; and Megan Roberts, 19, 15:11.

Others competing were: Carrie Helms, 26, 15:46; Jacki Grady, 27, 15:54; Nelli Menchaca, 33, 16:56; Mary Jaramillo, 35, 16:59; and Sarah Kidd, 37, 17:28.

JV and Jr. High squads play Quanah

Clarendon's junior high and junior varsity teams put up a tough fight against the visiting Quanah Indians Oct. 10, but Quanah downed all three squads.

Clarendon will travel to Wellington Thursday for a 4:30 p.m. start.

The eighth grade Colts held Quanah to the toughest contest but came up short, 18-14.

Dee Thompson rambled on a long run for the first TD. Quarterback Colt Floyd scrambled on a bootleg 2-point conversion to put Clarendon up, 8-0.

Quanah responded with two TDs of their own before Thompson broke loose again, putting the Colts up 14-12.

But the Indians scored another TD before time ran out. The eighth grade Colts record moves to 2-3 for the season.

Colt seventh graders were blanked, 30-0, in their first loss of the season to move their record to 3-1-1.

The junior varsity came up short, 27-0, but showed many bright spots in an exciting contest.

Clarendon's Sean Beach kicked off to the 25-yard line and the J.V. gridders allowed only 10 yards on the kick-off return. Quanah drove the ball, scored, and made the two-point conversion for an 8-0 lead.

They later intercepted a Clarendon pass, returned the ball to the 10-yard line, and eventually scored for a 15-0 lead. The Indians scored again and tried for the kick but did not expect Brandon Word getting a hand on the PAT.

The freshman phenom blocked the extra point.

The Broncos recovered the football but turned the ball over on downs. In an exciting stand-off, Clarendon kept the Indians out of the end zone on a goal line stand to end the half.

Clarendon's Jeff Hearn made the first down to open the half and then made another first down. Clifford Alexander made another first down, and the Broncos received another first down on a Quanah face mask penalty.

Hearn carried the ball to the 25-yard line and was within scoring range. Quarterback Cael Shields' pass was intercepted, and Quanah returned the ball to the Clarendon 44-yard line, but the Broncos held the Indians scoreless in the third quarter.

Quanah scored from the 9-yard-line, and again the Bronco defense was too tough for the PAT. Freshman Aaron Jeffers blocked the extra point, holding Quanah to a 27-0 lead.

Freshman Brock Holland returned the kick-off to the 40-yard line, and QB Shields made the first down on a quarterback sweep.

Quarterback Carey Thornberry's pass on fourth and 10 was intercepted, but David Sanchez brought the crowd to its feet recovering an Indian fumble on the 42-yard line.

Clarendon's stellar defensive play in the second half held a strong Indian offensive team to a low of seven points for the final two quarters.

October concert in Amarillo features Tchaikovsky winner

The October concert of Amarillo Symphony Orchestra features some of the most beloved classical music of all time. The easily recognized melody of the famous "Unfinished Symphony" by Schubert, a popular romantic Tchaikovsky concerto, and a "Spanish Fantasy Dances" composition promise to provide an evening of excitement and beauty for the audience. Guest artist Dave Buechner, third prize winner in the prestigious Tchaikovsky competition, brings one of the master's most exciting compositions to the Amarillo state as the center piece of the October 19 concert.

This second concert of the season opens with Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony." James Setapen, Music Director and Conductor of the Amarillo Symphony Orchestra, said that the orchestra is playing several Schubert compositions during the season to mark the 200th anniversary of the great composer's birth. "Schubert was only 31 years old when he died, but he packed a tremendous amount of music into his short life," Setapen said. "He wrote over 600 songs reflecting his love of the human voice. His music, whether written for voice or instruments, always sings."

Setapen said the "Unfinished Symphony" is one of the composer's most popular works. "No one knows why he didn't finish it, but even unfinished, it has one of the most famous, immortal melodies of all time," he said. "The sheer beauty of the 'Unfinished Symphony' has converted many people to a love of classical music."

Setapen explained that the Tchaikovsky "First Piano Concerto" is one of the most popular concertos ever written. "Most people consider this a great romantic concerto," he said. "A popular song Tonight We Love, written in the Forties, uses a melodic line based on this concerto. Having a pianist of Mr. Buechner's quality is a most great accomplishment of the Amarillo music community. Buechner is one of the most respected pianists on the concert scene," Setapen added. "Of course, most people remember that the Tchaikovsky competition in Moscow is the one which Van Cliburn won, and is considered one of the most renowned music competitions in the world. Buechner is definitely a first-class pianist who should give the audience an exciting rendition of the Tchaikovsky."

The other piece on the concert program is Turina's "Danzas Fantasticas." "The brilliant sounds of this Spanish piece will be interpreted exquisitely by our Spanish guest conductor, Alfonso Saura, who conducts an orchestra in Spain and one in Italy," Setapen said.

The concert, which is being sponsored by Peterson, Farris, Doores, & Jones, begins at 8:00 p.m. in the Amarillo Civic Center Auditorium. Tickets are available by calling the Amarillo Symphony office at 376-8782.

Local delegates to attend Girl Scout National Council meeting

Local delegates chosen to represent Texas Plains Girl Scout Council (TPGSC) will be traveling to Fort Worth this weekend to attend the 47th Girl Scout National Council Meeting. Delegates chosen to represent TPGSC are Melonee York of Dumas, Denise Hill of Amarillo, and Nancy Huntington of Canyon. "The delegates have met with members all over the council to gather opinions. They are ready to represent TPGSC," said Linda Wright, Executive Director.

Melonee York is the Dumas Service Unit Director, as well as troop leader for Junior Girl Scout Troop 315. Denise Hill is a member of the Caprock Service Team and troop leader for Senior Girl Scout Troop 95. Nancy Huntington is a member of the Canyon Service Team and troop leader of Senior Girl Scout Troop 209.

Every three years the National Council of GSUSA meets to make decisions about the future of Girl Scouting. Delegates from all over the United States will be present at the National Council Meeting of Girl Scouts of the USA (GSUSA) held October 10-14. It is the first time the meeting has been held in Texas in more than 20 years.

The number of delegates a council is entitled to register to attend the National Council Session is based on girl membership as of September 30, 1995.

Delegate responsibilities include studying the issues and gathering opinions from the TPGSC membership regarding national proposals. They will participate in the National Council Meeting and report to the membership the decisions made at the meeting on and their impact on TPGSC.

Any adult or girl (14-17 years of age) registered from the 1996 membership year may attend as an official, full time visitor. Five Girl Scouts and nine adults will be traveling to Fort Worth with the three delegates this weekend.

For more information about Girl Scouting or the National Convention, please contact Stephanie Cross, Communications Manager at 356-0096 or 1-800-687-4475.
