Lady Broncs snag fourth place finish

An all-sophomore Lady Bronco Track Team ran away with a fourth place finish in the May 11 Class 2A State Track Meet in Austin at Memorial Stadium.

Two relay teams medaled and two sprinters placed sixth to give Clarendon 30 points in the competition with the best tracksters in the state.

Bronco Roy Williams came in third in the 400 meters, while the boys sprint relay squad finished seventh.

Clarendon's ladies entered the 800 meter relay competition with the third-fastest qualifying time and finished second with a time of 1:46.92 - two seconds behind Alto, which finished in 1:44.95.

"I thought we would have to run our best time (1:45.8) to medal, but we didn't," head girls track coach Steve Schmidt said. "We had one bad hand-off and it didn't seem to make that much of a difference."

"Mandy (Weatherton) had to stop to get the stick but she just took over and made up the time. They were all pretty confident and a lot more calm than I thought they would be."

Weatherton, Kim Alexander, Kathy Bryley and Clarissa Smith participated on the silver medal team.

The mile relay team of Alexander, Weatherton, Kasi Ashcraft and Smith were a fraction off of their best time of 4:05.8 by running a 4:06.52 - good enough for third place. They had the fourth fastest qualifying time.

Alto, which closed out the meet with a first place finish of 66 points finished the relay in first place with a time of 4:02.14. Panhandle was second with a time of 4:03.47.

"I thought all the legs ran real well. I can't complain," Schmidt said. "Panhandle was definitely determined with their seniors, and Alto has great athletes."

"The relays did what I wanted them to do - medal. When we come down here next year and the year after that, we'll be even better."

For the second year in a row, Smith finished sixth in the 100 meters with a time of 12.70 - less than 1/10th of a second away from fourth place. First place clocked in with a time of 12.33.

"Her start was not as good as she had hoped," Schmidt said. "She has a fear of jumping (the gun). She's talking about running something else next year. It's something he proud of in itself. I'm real proud of her."

Weatherton was sixth in the 200 meters - her first time to state. "I think it looked like her first time," Schmidt said. "She looked pretty tight, but she ran real well. She came in sixth and scored a point for the team."

Schmidt was pleased with the team's fourth place finish and expects more next year.

"Each year I want to make them more excited about it. (State) will be something they'll begin to shoot for." "I just want to give thanks to the girls for a heck of a year. I had a lot come out, and they were all willing to do what I asked of them."

Williams medaled for the second year in a row in the 400 meter race finishing in a time of 48.28. He finished third behind Fred Hackney of Alto, who set a Class 2A state record in 46.41. T.J. White of Winnie East Chambers clocked in with a 47.91.

Williams time was a tenth of a second off his time at the regional meet.

Head Track Coach Kent Allison said Williams' lane assignment hurt his chances of beating Hackney who beat the Bronco by a head in last year's meet.

"He was visualizing running in lane 4, and he ended up running in lane 6," Allison said. "He was assigned lane 4 next to Hackney, but someone from another region scratched so they redrew. But everyone else's lane assignments were the same. His was the only one whose was different."

"I knew going down there the lane assignment was going to be critical. Roy couldn't see where to attack. I thought he competed hard under the circumstances."

Clarendon's 400 meter relay squad finished seventh with a time of 42.86. Their previous fastest time was 42.7. Alto was first clocking in at 41.87.

"I knew these guys could run better than what they did run," Allison said. "It comes down to the hand-off, and if you have a slight mistake, it costs you. You just can't have a mistake like that."

"Lorenzo (Moore) didn't get the stick when he was supposed to and slowed down and had to look back a bit. It's the kind of mistake that will cost you some time."

Members of the Region I champion sprint relay team were Evan Williams, Moore, Dean Stanzione and Roy Williams.

Abdullah wins third place in state tennis

Sophomore Kareem Abdullah brought home a third place medal in his first trip to Austin in the Class 2A State Tennis Championship on the University of Texas campus.

Abdullah first faced sophomore Chase Smith of Mason, which has a traditionally strong tennis program.

He promptly put away Smith, 6-3, in the first set and continued to dominate in the second set before winning, 6-2, in the morning session.

"(Abdullah) was just a better player than Smith," head tennis coach Jimmy Avery said. "(Abdullah) came out ahead early, but it was real hard to break Smith's serve. When (Abdullah) finally won Smith's serve in that first set, he finally was able to break him."

The Region I champion next faced Andres Gutierrez of Tom Bean. Gutierrez is a foreign exchange student from Columbia, who practices year-round.

Gutierrez game arsenal was fully loaded and shot down Abdullah, 6-2, 6-1.

"Gutierrez' coach told me that he hits hundreds of balls every day all year long," Avery said. "He just had a lot of tricks, and he hit the ball really hard. He had great lob shots. He could put the ball anywhere. We're glad he won't be back next year."

Gutierrez lost in the finals to defending state champion Ben Fortune of San Antonio Cole. Fortune defeated Justin Smith of Tuscola Jim Ned, who Abdullah beat in the Region I finals.

"(Abdullah) had a great year and it was a real pleasure coaching him. He's polite and thoughtful and just a good person."

"I hope his success helps build up the program and that more kids come out for tennis next year. Tennis is one of those lifetime sports that you can compete in for a long time."

Gayle Price appointed Municipal Judge in Marble Falls

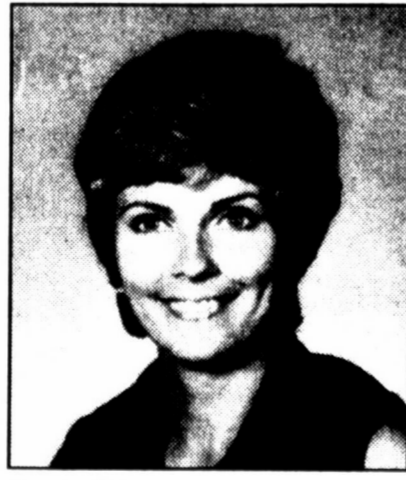

By Andy Rhodes, Marble Falls Highlander

On April 16, 1996, the city council in Marble Falls appointed Gayle Price as the new judge, following the four-month tenure of Marilyn Gish.

Price, known as "Mrs. EMS" of Marble Falls for the past 12 years, will spend the next few weeks training and attending specific judicial classes. The former judge will assist Price in the upcoming month with the paperwork while she gets to know the intricacies of her new job. She will be officially sworn in at the April 23 city council meeting.

"I truly feel I can be objective and fair to all parties - police officers as well as citizens," Price said. "That's one of the toughest things, to make sure I am being objective. But I have a job to do, so I'll do the job and not let personalities enter into it."

"Personally, I believe that someone who spent time in EMS with the vehicle accidents, and drinking and driving incidents will be able to take that experience to the bench," stated Griff Morris, mayor of Marble Falls. "We're glad she was still available."

In addition to her EMS work, Price held the police department dispatch position in Marble Falls for three years. She believes that this experience will help her with familiarity of duties - "I have a knowledge of what goes on," she says - while the remaining qualifications will be covered in judicial school.

The Municipal Judge position is considered part-time by city standards. The hours can range from 20 to 35 hours a week, and duties range from handling traffic stops to juvenile crimes.

"This is a position that always appealed to me," Price said. "I never

The association is asking that all former students, who are not receiving Ex-Students newsletters, to please update their addresses with Clarendon College.

"We try to keep all former students informed of Clarendon College happenings, but that is extremely hard to do when many of the addresses are old," Christi Whitten, Marketing and Public Information Coordinator said. To update your mailing address or name, please contact Clarendon College at P.O. Box 968, Clarendon, Texas 79226 or by calling Christi Whitten at (806) 874-3571. Alumni may also fax the information to Ms. Whitten at (806) 874-3201.

Depot is on the move

Historic 1887 Fort Worth & Denver depot will soon have a safe haven at the Saints' Roost Museum in Clarendon.

The historic 1887 Fort Worth & Denver depot will soon have a safe haven at the Saints' Roost Museum in Clarendon.

In the summer of 1994, the Preservation League of Donley County learned that the depot was slated for demolition by Burlington Northern Railroad. Since the structure was one of the first to be built in Clarendon, the League began work to save it.

Along with windmills, railroads-made the settlement of the Panhandle possible, and Clarendon's depot is a reminder of that era.

The town of Clarendon, one of the three oldest in the Panhandle, moved its townsite six miles south to be located on the railway when the Fort Worth and Denver City Railroad built its tracks through the area in 1887.

Bringing in everything from lumber to traveling circus and shipping out locally produced agricultural products, the railroad and its depot soon made Clarendon a center of commerce.

Over $12,000 was raised locally to move the depot. It is on its way to the grounds of the Saints' Roost Museum where it will be restored to house railroad exhibits and serve as headquarters for the museum's annual Charles Goodnight Chuckwagon Cookoff.

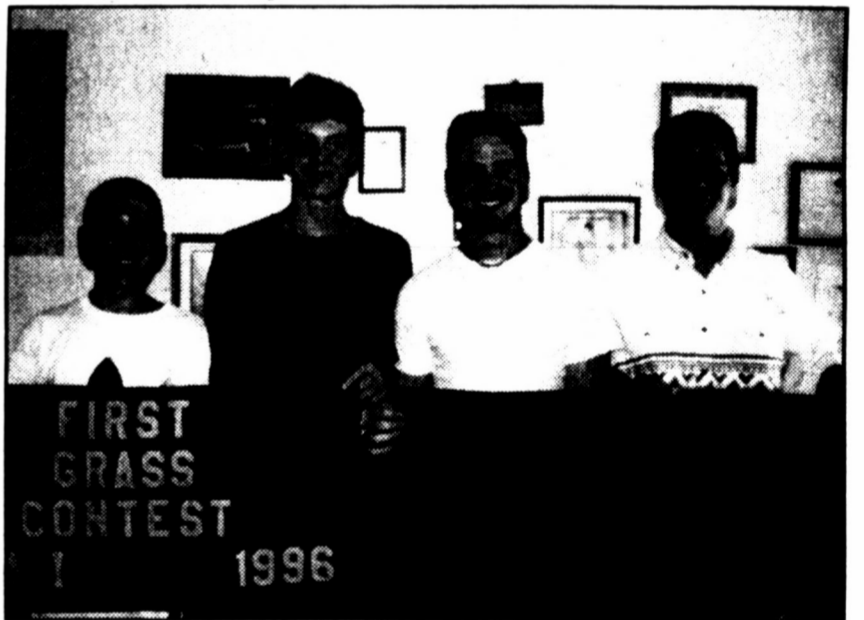

Restoration work can begin immediately thanks to a gift of $9,000 from the Charles E. Bairfield Memorial Foundation. These funds will allow the Preservation League to protect the structure from weather damage with a new roof and windows while more money is raised to renovate the interior.

FFA Plant ID Team places at state contest

On April 20, 1996, the Clarendon FFA Plant Identification Team competed in the State Plant Identification contest held on the Texas Tech University campus. Team members included Nathan Sears, Derek Shields, and Brandon Bock.

This team was fourth overall out of 18 teams. The highlight of the contest was when Nathan Sears was awarded the top honor of being the high individual out of over 75 contestants in the state contest. Nathan scored 590 points out of a possible 660 to achieve this honor.

Congratulations to the team and to Nathan for a job well done.

Thornberry unveils proposal to boost independent domestic oil production

AMARILLO - US Rep. Mac Thornberry (R-Clarendon) held a news conference last week at a pumpjack north of Amarillo to talk about gasoline prices and a bill he plans to introduce this week that could help lower prices by spurring oil and gas production among independent producers.

"People have a right to be upset about getting pinched at the pump," Thornberry said. "But they'll be even more upset if we don't do something about it. I'm not talking about selling part of our strategic petroleum reserves, which I think is a politically driven and practically dubious proposition, at best. Nor am I talking about simply eliminating the 1993 gas tax, which - although I support it and think it will bring about some immediate relief - doesn't really address the long term problem we face as a nation."

"In my opinion, the only way we're going to bring gas prices down and restore some stability to the market is to reduce our overall dependence on foreign oil. And the only way to do that is to boost the amount of oil we're currently producing, which is what my bill will do."

Thornberry's legislation is called the Energy Independence Act of 1996. The bill would provide producers with a business tax credit to encourage the production of oil and natural gas from new and marginal wells. A new well is defined as any domestic oil well which was drilled after December 31, 1995, while a marginal well is a domestic well which averages no more than 25 barrels of oil a day.

According to Thornberry, there are currently 122,769 marginal wells in Texas. These wells produce nearly 119 million barrels of oil each year and deliver just under $6 billion in annual revenue to the state economy.

"This legislation would change the tax code in a way that would encourage producers not only to bring existing wells back on line, but to drill more wildcats, as well," he said. "This in turn could serve to drive down not only the amount of oil we have to import from abroad, but the price we have to pay for a gallon of gas."

A local industry agree. "If the Energy Independence Act was enacted," stated Don Hupp of the North Texas Oil and Gas Association, "it would help reduce the volatile situation we are seeing in the price of gasoline by reducing our dependence on foreign oil. It would also help reduce early abandonment of our oil and gas wells in North Texas, which are almost entirely made up of marginal properties."

Thornberry said he plans to introduce the legislation tomorrow when the House of Representatives returns to session. ## "The Hope Of Youth"

By Scott Elliott

Youth is much maligned in our country today.

The pages of our metropolitan newspapers and the airways of our electronic media consistently brim with the less than productive activities of youth - everything from drug abuse to sexually transmitted disease to satanic music to increasing suicide rates.

Of course, those kinds of subjects are much more interesting than honor rolls and graduation announcements, just as car wrecks demand more attention than a blooming bluebonnet. Sadly, such is human nature.

Negativity is like sorghum. You can drown in the sticky stuff, if that's your pleasure.

But over the last week a couple of things happened that caused me to take note of the real hope represented in today's youth.

The first happening was the Clarendon High School FFA banquet. Ronnie Edwards, the chapter advisor, was kind enough to invite me to speak at the event, but my humble attempt at eloquence was far from the evening's highlight.

The real highlight for me was observing the well-mannered, neatly dressed young people who participated. The chapter officers conducted the program in an organized, efficient fashion. Every individual had his or her duties, and each performed those functions to the letter. All were quite articulate, too.

I beamed inside, observing the attentiveness of the youngsters, the leadership skills they exhibited, and the support of their parents.

The second really uplifting happening of the week, for me, occurred about 2,000 miles from Clarendon in Gainesville, Florida. I read a little blurb about it in the Amarillo newspaper. Maybe you saw it, too.

As a graduate of the University of Florida, I'm a bigtime Gator fan. I'd rather watch Gator football than devour apple pie a la mode. I'm as rabid about Gator football as Doug Lowe is about Texas Tech or Flip Breedlove about Texas A&M.

My favorite Gator player is senior quarterback Danny Wuerffel, who finished third last year in the Heisman Trophy balloting and came within a country thumping by Nebraska of leading his team to the national championship.

Danny is a "P.K.," the son of the chaplain at the U.S. Air Force Academy. Every time Danny throws a touchdown pass, he clasps his hands together as if to pray, thanking God. The difference in Danny and most showboats you see these days on TV, however, is that Danny really means it. He doesn't rip his helmet off in a frenzy to make sure the cameras catch him. When he prays, he's not grandstanding.

Anyway, it heartened me to read that Danny had turned down the opportunity to be named to the Playboy Magazine pre-season All-American team. Had he accepted the "honor," Danny would have received an all-expense paid trip to Arizona for a photo shoot, as well as seeing full color pictures of himself plastered all over an internationally-distributed publication.

Did you read Danny's reaction? I thought it was neat! In politely rejecting Playboy's invitation, he commented, "I didn't even have to think about it. It wasn't a hard decision at all."

Reading that article kind of put me on a high for the rest of the day.

I guess the lesson is that such opportunities for gladness - like the local FFA banquet and Danny Wuerffel's decision - are all around us every day. Some of them jump right up in our faces; others we must ferret out, just a little.

To me, one of the real keys to a better society is recognizing those positive things about youth and showing them how much we appreciate them, rather than investing most of our energies in dwelling on the negativity that continually seeks to grasp us by the throat and choke the goodness right out of us.

So, to Ronnie Edwards and his students, please accept my sincere gratitude for permitting me to be part of a truly positive experience. You all did a wonderful job, and you are outstanding young people. You, and many of your fellow students who are engaged in equally positive pursuits, represent the hope of a better tomorrow.

And to Danny Wuerffel - well, maybe I'll mail him a copy of this column. To me, he's a hero. He's made a lot of great plays for the Gators the last three years, but "passing" on Playboy Magazine was his best one ever.

Dr. Scott Elliott is the president of Clarendon College.

Dear Editor,

My family was here recently and visited Lake Greenbelt for fun and relaxation. To my dismay, one of my grandchildren came home with eight cuts on his arms, legs, and feet. At Sandy Beach there was found to be broken bottles and empty cans in the sand and in the water. What a disappointment to all of us to find such a mess in such a lovely place. Whatever happened to 'Don't Mess With Texas' in Clarendon?

There are people who do not care what they do to other people's property, but does it have to stay that way?

My husband and I have seen RVs and tents on the water's edge at Sandy Beach. When Thunder Junction is on its way, many more will come. Have any plans been made to put these people in an RV area?

In the meantime, clean it up, please!

Barbara Brock

Dear Editor,

On behalf of the Preservation League of Donley County and the Saints' Roost Museum, I would like to express our appreciation to Jim Roberts and his city crew as well as Dude Cornell and his county crew for their help in saving the railroad depot from demolition. They contributed greatly toward making this community project a success.

We would also like to recognize the Charles Bairfield Memorial Foundation for its gift of $9,000. This makes it possible to provide a new roof and allow us to take other steps to prevent the depot from deteriorating further.

Over the past two years, numerous private citizens, the City of Clarendon, and the Donley County Industrial Foundation have been generous in helping fund the moving expenses for the depot. By the end of May, this long, first phase of the project will be completed. On the foundation that is now under construction, the depot will rest safely at its new home on the grounds of the Saints' Roost Museum.

At that point, the $20,000 renovation phase begins. Your help in the form of money, labor, materials, or donated artifacts from the days when the depot bustled will be greatly appreciated.

With continued community support, we plan to dedicate your depot at the Col. Charles Goodnight Chuckwagon Cookoff on September 28, 1996. The museum invites you to join the crowd at this celebration of our western heritage.

We should all be proud that Donley County has pulled together to work toward the goal of making the depot shine as a monument to the history of our community.

Dear Editor,

This being an election year, the battle has begun in Washington for our votes. Two or three years ago neither the President nor Congress would have touched this (minimum wage) subject with a ten foot pole. Presidential elections can cause strange things to take place.

Professor Norton Grubb, an economist at the University of California says: "#1 Increasing the minimum wage from $4.25 to $5.15 would do nothing to build up wages for average earners. The average wage earner makes about $11.00 per hour. #2 It would not stop companies from shipping jobs overseas or Mexico. #3 It does not increase the skill level of American workers, enabling them to earn more and move into better jobs."

What would be the actual effects of raising the minimum wage to $5.15? The employer would pay $5.15 per hour, plus mandated fringes such as social security, workman's compensation, etc. bringing the actual wage cost to $7.00 per hour. How many of these part-time, new workers produce $7.00 worth of labor? The same thing would probably happen to these many part-time workers that happened to the young people who washed our windshields, checked our oil, and checked the tires.

Lets look at the statistical facts about which workers are generally employed at the minimum wage. Eighty percent of all minimum wage workers live in non-poor households. About twenty percent of them live in households earning over $50,000 annually. More than 50% of them are between 16 and 24 years old, and more than 63% work part time. Only 5% of all adults are paid the minimum wage, and many of these are employed in jobs where other income, such as tips, commissions, etc., add significantly to their take home pay.

Many economists say, raising the minimum wage will hurt the youngsters and not benefit the poor. The small amount a kid can earn after school, on weekends and doing summer work, does not compare to the valuable lessons they learn, like promptness, respect for supervisors, following instructions and work habits that will pay off for them in the future.

We are all aware that $5.15 per hour will not solve the poverty problem. That won't even cover the rent in many large cities, and there have been suggestions recently that maximum earnings should be limited.

Unfortunately there are some employers who pay the lowest wages they can. That's why a minimum wage law was enacted several years ago. Maybe Congress can find a way to raise the minimum wage for full time adult workers and exempt the part time youth jobs. The fast food industry and others provide many part time jobs that are valuable training for our youth.

Planned Parenthood to mark Healthy Mom's Week to raise awareness of women's health

Planned Parenthood kicks off its Healthy Mom's Week May 12 - 18th by inviting its clients and the public to visit sites and receive a free Mother's Day card.

While there, they can receive information about fee structure, health services, and educational programs offered at Planned Parenthood.

"Healthy Mom's Week is a nationwide program designed to heighten public awareness of women's health and its importance in fostering healthy families and communities," explains Donna Miller, president of Panhandle Planned Parenthood.

Free Mother's Day cards are available to anyone for the asking. The cards share health care tips for mom, stressing the importance of women's preventative health care.

May has been designated as National Osteoporosis and Breast Cancer Awareness month. Clearly detection is critical for the treatment of many diseases, especially breast cancer," explains Barbara Holland, local Planned Parenthood Clinic Coordinator.

Planned Parenthood includes a breast examination in their annual visits as well as demonstrating self exam techniques so women can test themselves on a regular basis.

Osteoporosis is a disease that affects bone density. Twenty-five million Americans are affected by osteoporosis, making it a national health problem. Hundreds of thousands of women and men experience hip, vertebral, wrist, and other location fractures due to bone loss. Osteoporosis is preventable and treatable through diet, exercise, and in certain cases hormone replacement therapy. The following risk factors have been identified: Menopause before age 45, A family history of fractures in elderly women, Use of corticosteroids or anti-convulsants, Low calcium intake, Thin and/or small bones, Caucasian or Asian, An inactive lifestyle, Cigarette smoker, Excessive use of alcohol, and Advanced age.

Osteoporosis can be detected through specialized bone density tests in various sites of the body. With the information obtained from these bone mass measurements, physicians can assess an individual's bone density and predict the likelihood of fracture.

"Healthy Mom's Week," Holland added, "is an opportunity for husbands and children to encourage moms to take good care of themselves, schedule an annual Pap smear, physical exam, a mammogram if they are over 50, and perform regular self breast examinations."

Panhandle Planned Parenthood Association has 18 offices serving the 26 counties of the Texas Panhandle, providing medical care and education to women of all ages regardless of their ability to pay. It offers confidential counseling, family planning education and methods, physical exams, pap tests, and screening for hypertension, anemia, diabetes, and sexually transmitted diseases including HIV/AIDS.

Donley County Senior Citizens "Tour of Homes" set for June 22

The Donley County Senior Citizens is sponsoring a "Tour of Homes" to be held on June 22, 1996, from 1:00 p.m. until 5:00 p.m. Since the Donley County Senior Citizens does not receive 100 percent funding from the federal government and senior meal programs are facing even more funding cuts, the board members and fund raiser committee members are constantly looking for creative ways to raise money to benefit their nutrition program which funds their meals served there at the Center and their home delivery meals.

Everyone knows that upkeep costs for their home and groceries seems to increase every day. The Senior Citizens Center is affected by these increases also. Costs for food, utilities, insurance, salaries, and operating expenses average between $8,500 and $9,000 every month. Income from federal funding averaged $4,082 for the last twelve months. Memorials, meal donations, and the proceeds from crafts and fund raisers are vital to the operation of the Center.

The "Tour of Homes" will feature five of Clarendon and Donley County's most unique and interesting homes. Each home owner has written an informative history of their home that will give a sneak peek behind their front door.

For the price of $5.00 per ticket, the public will enjoy a tour through the homes of Florine and Bill Bennett, 912 W. 7th Street; Virginia and Nelson Christie, the Bairfield home, 516 S. Parks St.; Kathy and Gene Hommel, 420 W. 4th Street; Vicki and Pat Robertson, 820 S. Parks; and Judy and Vergil Welch, The Castle, south on farm to market road 2162.

The Donley County Senior Citizens is proud to sponsor an event that will both give the public a great opportunity to view these remarkable homes and benefit a wonderful senior food program.

The Clarendon Enterprise will preview one home to be featured on the "Tour of Homes" each week beginning with the May 23 issue of the newspapers.

The residents have been busy doing some of their planting at the Medical Center. They haven't planted any vegetable, yet, but their flowers are looking pretty good. ### Summer TAAS testing scheduled

The summer administration of the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills test, commonly known as TAAS, will be given in July at Clarendon CISD. The battery of tests, which are given at the Exit-Level only during the summer are criterion referenced tests used to measure specific skills. These tests are called Exit-Level because each student must show mastery on them in order to graduate. TAAS will be offered to all 1996 Clarendon High School Sophomores and Juniors who have not yet mastered any of the three portions of the test.

Clarendon High School will also be an Out-of-School/Out-of-District test site. Any eligible student who is out of school or is enrolled at another district may test at Clarendon. They must register first, however. Registration forms may be obtained in Clarendon by contacting the CCISD Counselor's Office at 874-3241. These forms must be received in Iowa City, Iowa, no later than June 14, 1996.

The schedule is as follows: Writing, July 16; Mathematics, July 17; and Reading, July 18.

Three and four year olds needed for Pre-School

There will be a pre-school screening for three and four year olds at Clarendon Elementary School on Thursday, May 16, 1996. Please call the elementary office at 874-3855 to make an appointment.

This is a great half-day introduction to school. Students participate in greeting time, planning time, work time, recall time, smack time, circle time, small-group time, and outdoor time. All activities are planned and age appropriate. This program is for language delayed or developmentally delayed three and four year olds.

If you look like your passport photo, you're too ill to travel.

Reese AFB schedules air show for May 18-19 C of C secretary completes training

Colonel Randy Gelwix, commander of Reese Air Force Base's 64th Flying Training Wing, announced today that the US Air Force's Thunderbirds and the US Army's Golden Knights will perform at Reese during the base's annual Air Show and community appreciation day on Saturday, May 18, 1996.

The air show and community appreciation day will be a two day event on Saturday and Sunday, May 18th and 19th, but the Thunderbirds and Golden Knights will only fly on Saturday, May 18th, which is Armed Forces Day.

The base will be open to the public from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. both days. "The two demonstration teams will have to share top billing in the flying department with some of the armed services' newest aircraft and some civilian-owned vintage military aircraft," Colonel Gelwix said.

The Thunderbirds is the Air Force's renowned Air Demonstration Squadron from Nellis Air Force Base, Nevada. The Golden Knights is the Army's famed Parachute Demonstration Team based at Fort Bragg, North Carolina. They both will help the personnel of Reese Air Force Base celebrate "fifty-five years of training the world's best military pilots," said Lt. Colonel Mark Edwards, this year's Air Show project officer.

Lt. Col. Edwards recommends that persons interested in visiting the base during Community Appreciation weekend "arrive early for all events! We know that traditionally many visitors travel 100 to 400 miles to see a Reese Air Show, so make your plans early."

"This year we have a great mixture and variety of military and civilian flying events. Come early!"

Colonel Edwards also recommends that visitors "bring along a portable radio to track the latest traffic conditions, weather and show updates, and plenty of sun tan lotion to protect you from the sun."

"Remember," says Colonel Edwards, "whether you are coming to Reese from a distance or from nearby Lubbock, when you are driving in the vicinity of Reese, please be patient and follow the directions of the law enforcement officials who will be trying to make each motorist's arrival and departure as safe and smooth as possible."

For more information, contact Bill Tynan or Tsgt Dave Brown at the 64th Flying Training Wing Public Affairs Office, telephone (806)-885-3410.

C of C secretary completes training

Chamber of Commerce Secretary Pat Archuleta attended the Texas Department of Commerce (TDOC) Global Communities workshops for tourism development and business retention and expansion held last Wednesday and Thursday in Pampa.

The workshops are part of a series being piloted by the TDOC. The first workshop in the series was held last November in Lubbock and was titled "Regional Cooperation." The next workshop will cover the topic of due diligence.

On Friday, she also attended the final day of the Rural Economic Development Institute (REDI) sponsored by the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission and Southwestern Public Service Company. This was the fifth in a series of half-day seminars. Both the TDOC and REDI programs focus on community and economic development.

According to a press release from the chamber, as a result of Archuleta's training, a business survey will be conducted. Business owners are asked to complete the survey as completely and honestly as possible. Results will be compiled by an independent consultant so that the confidentiality of the business will be upheld.

The survey is the first step in a business retention and expansion program. Until the needs of the current business community are known, plans cannot be made for improvement, the press release says.

Businesses and individuals who would like to learn more about the strengths and weaknesses of the community are invited to attend the Strategic Planning Session, which is co-sponsored by the Clarendon Economic Development Corporation and West Texas Utilities Company.

The sessions will be held next Monday and Tuesday night from 5:30 to 9 p.m. at the Clarendon College Bairfield Center.

The Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents erected a display at the Institute of Personnel Management Conference in Harrowgate, England. It collapsed.

"Super Lines"

After a three year promotion blitz by the manufacturers of the new generation of braided fishing lines, results from the 'real' anglers are starting to paint a true picture concerning the value of these "super lines."

Spiderwire, made with space age Spectra fibers, led the assault on nylon fishing line with promises that (1) ultra sensitive, (2) no stretch, (3) super strong 'braided' fishing lines that would forever change the way anglers fish. Stren answered with braided Kevlar, and several other manufacturers re-packaged kit string and called it fishing line.

These first generation products caused quite a stir within the industry, but after a brief flurry of angler interest, sales lagged because of high retail costs and the unique fishing techniques required to use these new lines. A swirl of controversy developed around which knot to use and the problem of broken fishing poles. One major manufacturer even warned that his braided lines would "cut through the guides" on many fishing rods.

Locally, West Texas anglers found that our windy conditions played havoc with these bulky braids and caused frequent loop knots to form at the rod guides.

The second generation of braided lines (SpiderWire 2000) were thinner and stronger, but the slow process of braiding continued to limit the supply.

In 1995, the folks at Berkley introduce FIRELINE, a third generation super line that uses a heat-coated space age fiber (micro Dyneema) to dramatically improve fishing results. Crankbait anglers can feel every wobble of the lure, and Carolina rig anglers can detect the subtle changes in bottom conditions.

FireLine recommends anglers use a Palomar knot, and thanks to a slightly stiffer line composition, FireLine does not form the dreaded loop around rod guides.

The only remaining problem with FireLine was the lack of product availability in the heavy strengths that flipping and pitching required. Good news: According to a press release that just crossed my desk, FireLine is finally producing a 30 pound line that should be perfect for hoisting hogs out of the heavy cover.

Just as golfers do not use a single club for all shots, anglers can now use different lines for different fishing conditions. FireLine is a huge improvement over the old braided kite string, and I am looking forward to more improvements in the search for the perfect fishing line - invisible and unbreakable.

Until next week, good luck and good fishing...

Texas FFA Foundation Endowment Campaign Seeks Funds To Continue FFA Programs And Increase Scholarships

Familiar to thousands of rural and suburban area Texans are the bright blue and gold jackets worn by young men and women who study the agricultural sciences in Texas schools. The jackets sport the emblem of the FFA, an organization that today is threatened by the ever-widening circle of federal and state budget-cutting.

The good news, however, is that FFA has many friends. They are now joining forces to develop an endowment fund that will preserve the structure of FFA for future generations of students.

Former FFA members, current and past teachers and students, and Texas agricultural leaders have signed on to broaden the funding base for FFA state leadership training, coordination of meetings, conventions, seminars and contests, and scholarship funds.

Durvin Hill, executive director of the Texas FFA Foundation and state-wide coordinator of the endowment campaign, reports that more than 60 percent of FFA chapters pledged to underwrite the foundation's current budget. Cash donations, some as high as $10,000, have helped launch the endowment campaign. Contributions in varying amounts, plus vehicles, farm equipment, and other donations that can be raffled or sold have pushed the total toward the eventual goal of $500,000 for 1996.

Momentum is building, and it could not happen at a more critical time in FFA history.

"It's really a simple story," said Hill. "State and national funds have been significantly downsized." In the case of FFA, core program responsibilities that were carried out in 1985 by 16 professionals and eight staff support personnel must be provided now by four professionals and one half-time support person. "There is no reason to believe that the budget cuts will stop at current levels," Hill said.

Early contributions and pledges to the endowment campaign reflect an understanding of the dilemma and a serious commitment to help by those who already know FFA or have participated in it.

The letters FFA once stood for Future Farmers of America. With the technology revolution in agriculture, fewer farmers are needed to grow food for the rest of the population. Today's FFA, however, continues to prepare students for careers in agricultural science. Even students who choose careers outside of agriculture say the hands-on skills they learned in FFA are valuable to them. In addition, the emphasis in learning and practicing FFA traditions of personal responsibility, productivity, and community-building is attracting growing numbers of parents and students who are participating in FFA chapters in suburban Texas.

"Parents would rather have their youngsters learning about the environment, our food and fiber system, and problem-solving and leadership skills than to have them hanging out at the mall," said Elvin Caraway, a past state and national FFA officer, attorney, and FFA Foundation Board Member.

Interest from the permanent endowment fund will be spent in two ways, Hill explained. It will fund the support staff needed to carry out Texas FFA activities. This includes the state convention, state office coordination, leadership training, career development, an the Texas FFA magazine. The funds will also be used to continue and expand the FFA scholarship program.

"For the students and teachers who've experienced FFA, it is difficult to imagine education in Texas without a significant role for the organization," said Hill. "Make no mistake, current funding will eventually disappear, and if we are not ready with the endowment, FFA as we have come to know it will cease to exist."

To help build a strong Texas FFA for future generations of our young people, send your contribution to Texas FFA Foundation; 614 E. 12th Street, Austin, Texas 78701 or call (512) 472-3128 to find out how you can become a volunteer. Contributions are tax deductible to the extent allowed by law.

Drought Alert: Water efficient practices for saving your landscape

There are two types of irrigation systems for use in landscapes - sprinkler irrigation and drip irrigation. Within a Zonescape, use a combination of these two systems in watering lawns, trees, shrubs, groundcovers, and flowers.

The goal of an irrigation system is to give the plants a sufficient amount of water without waste. In addition, by zoning the irrigation system, higher water requirement plantings can be watered separately from lower water requirement areas.

Sprinkler irrigation is the most commonly used method of watering. The two kinds of sprinkler irrigation systems are the hose-end sprinklers, and the permanent underground system with raised sprinkler heads.

The difference in these two sprinkler systems are in the cost, convenience, and efficiency. Permanent sprinkler systems are much more expensive than hose-end sprinklers, yet the permanent system is much more convenient and can be much more efficient in applying the water.

The major advantage for sprinkler irrigation is in lawn watering. A sprinkler system, hose-end or permanent, is the most widely accepted way to water a turfgrass area.

However, there are some drawbacks to sprinkler irrigation. First, sprinklers wet the plants, as well as the soil. Water which remains on a plant through the night increases disease susceptibility. Therefore, sprinkler irrigation should be used early in the day to allow time for the plant leaf surface to dry before nightfall.

Another disadvantage of sprinkler irrigation occurs on windy days. Watering in as little as a five mile per hour wind will distribute the water unevenly over the soil surface and cause a great deal of evaporation.

Perhaps the most efficient way to water the home landscape is with a properly designed and well-maintained drip irrigation system. Drip irrigation slowly applies water to soil. Water flows under low pressure through emitters laid alongside the plants.

Water applied by drip irrigation has little chance of waste through evaporation or runoff. The water is applied directly to the plant's root zone. This also eliminates waste from applying water to unplanted or weedy areas.

Overall irrigation requirements will vary according to plant species, soil type, rainfall, and temperature. Established, well-adapted plants require less frequent watering than newly planted trees and shrubs. A minimum length of time to operate a drip irrigation system is three hours. However, it may take six to twelve hours to thoroughly wet the root zone of an established large shrub or small tree.

Covering the drip system with mulch is often recommended to hide the drip tubing from view and add to the life expectancy of the system.
