Annual Red Cross Drive Is Scheduled For This Weekend

The annual membership and fund drive of the Donley County Chapter of the American Red Cross has been set for this week, with a concentration of effort on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, according to Mr. J. B. Melton, chairman of the Donley County Chapter.

Mr. Melton states that the Donley County quota is $1,199 and that Messrs. Basil Smith and Lawrence Neece have been appointed co-chairmen of a committee to raise this amount. They are being assisted by a large group of your neighbors.

The American Red Cross, with its 3,683 local chapters, in the last fiscal year gave service to an average of 87,000 servicemen each month at military hospitals and installations, and in addition, an average of 94,000 service families were aided in some way each month in Red Cross chapters. These services included effecting the release of the nine soldiers who were the passengers and crew of a helicopter which made a forced landing in East Germany last June. The release was arranged by representatives of the American Red Cross and the East German Red Cross after negotiations between the United States and Soviet governments had broken down the free distribution of tons of cigarettes and toilet articles when the American forces were sent into Lebanon; health and welfare reports on, and letters and packages to the Americans taken prisoner in Cuba; the transmission of hundreds of thousands of messages to and from servicemen and their families in all parts of the world where we maintain outposts. In addition, many grants and loans were made to servicemen and their families to tide them over in emergencies. The total cost of this program was nearly 36 million dollars and is the biggest single service of the Red Cross.

The 52 (now 54) blood centers of the Red Cross last year collected more than 2 million pints of blood for distribution to the Armed services and to the civilian population. The cost of this program was over 13 million dollars. The Red Cross is given the responsibility of serving as the blood collecting agency for all the nations' defense requirements. None of this blood is lost, if it becomes too old for use as whole blood it is "fractionated" and the fractions used for fighting diseases or for research. H. T. Burton Re-Elected Mayor

For the second time within a week, a large number of voters turned out for the City election Tuesday and re-elected H. T. Burton as mayor of our little city. Considering the rainy weather, the vote was exceptionally high. A total of 321 votes were cast in the school trustee election Saturday.

Dogs To Be Vaccinated For Rabies April 17

City officials announced this week that the usual rabies vaccination and city dog tag special will be Friday, April 17 at the court house lawn. The hour will be 1 to 5 p.m.

At this time you can have your dog vaccinated for rabies and get the current dog tag for only $2.00. At any other time, the tag and vaccination will be $3.50 which is a net saving of $1.50. This special is offered each year by the city and Dr. Chas. Deyhle as an inducement to get every dog in town vaccinated in the interest of protection to our youngsters against this dreaded and serious infection.

Dr. Deyhle and Constable R. C. Hill will be on hand at the Court House to render this service so keep the date in mind and save that $1.50. Both the tag and vaccination are compulsory here in the city limits.

All Of County Receives Good Moisture

The current dry spell which lasted the past eight months, was broken Tuesday when rain started falling shortly after 7 a.m. and continued intermittently thru midnight to give us a grand total here in town of 1.87 inches. For the most part the rain fell slow and soaked right in to the ground with very little run-off.

The best moisture report came from Hedley where 2.10 inches was recorded. Ben Lovell at Ashtola reported 1.80, Mrs. M. W. Hatley at the Country Club reported 1.75 and Willard Knox at Lelia Lake reported 1.12.

The moisture came in time to help a majority of the wheat acreage in the county and it certainly brought smiles to farmers and ranchers who were waiting to get their plowing done and also see enough moisture to start an early growth of pasture grass.

For those who wonder about the moisture total which is given for this area on the radio and TV we wish to give this explanation: The local weather observer has been calling in the total for a 24-hour period. This has been done at 7 a.m. in the past on any amount of moisture especially during the growing season. We were informed Tuesday that the local weather observer would now call Oklahoma City instead of Amarillo so it may take a bit longer for this information to go on the tape and back out to the Amarillo weather station.

INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE UNITED STATES TREASURY DEPARTMENT

TAX MAN SAM SAYS:

If you sold your house during 1958 you will have to account for any profit or loss on your income tax return. The cost of the house plus any additions to the house, such as, chain link fence, original cost of putting in the lawn and shrubs and a number of other deductions including real estate fees may be deducted from the sale price in determining whether you have a profit or loss. You will probably be entitled to a capital gain on a profit. However, if you have a loss, you don't get a tax deduction. The 1959 edition of "Your Federal Income Tax", publication 17, which is on sale at all Internal Revenue Service offices for 35c will probably answer all your questions on just how to figure out whether you owe Uncle Sam tax or not on the sale of your residence.

Texas taxpayers may be entitled to an extra tax deduction on page 3 of their tax return if they have received dividends from a corporation. This is due to Texas being a community property state where both the husband and wife own the stock. Ordinarily, it doesn't matter in Texas whether the stock is in the husband's name or the wife's name. Both own the stock. Since both husband and wife own the stock they both get an exclusion of $50 each. Don't miss taking the extra $50 exclusion if you had more than $100 dividend and are entitled to the exclusion.

The chances of Junior getting a better education than dad on on how to prepare an income tax return are pretty good. In the Dallas District 771 high schools and colleges have more than 2600 teachers instructing some 75,000 students. The material prepared by Internal Revenue Service is excellent material and can be used by any teacher without too much trouble. However, the Texas Society of Certified Public Accounts are cooperating with the Internal Revenue Service and the schools to provide a local CPA wherever possible to hold a question and answer period with the teachers and the students at the end of the course. The CPA's are taking time out during their busy season when they are ordinarily filing tax returns for dads to go to the school and try to answer some of the skull-busting questions Junior is certain to think of. This sort of cooperation in educating our young Texans is proof of the sort of country we live in.

We won't say that we told you away back, the week after Christmas, to file your income tax in January. Time has passed and many of us are among those taxpayers who never mustered the courage to file that tax return before the last minute. If the shoe fits, here's what you ought to do: (1) Read your tax instructions; (2) carefully figure your tax; (3) check your arithmetic; (4) don't forget to sign it (ma and pa); (5) be sure to attach your W-2's; and (6) if you owe tax, make the check payable to Internal Revenue Service. It sure is simple. We know that you wish that you had filed it on January 10. Next year you

Is The Texas Livestock Industry To Be Abandoned To Cattle Thieves?

Unless officers and members of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association can stop them, eleven livestock auctions might destroy the only effective defense Texas cattlemen have ever had against cattle theft.

These auctions are not protecting the 8 cents per head brand inspection fee, because they don't bear the expense. The cattle owners themselves pay the fee, which amounts to a very small insurance premium.

The USDA estimates that the average price per head for Texas cattle and calves as of Jan. 1, 1959, was $137. For 8 cents per head, the owner of a $137 steer is assured that he, and not a cattle thief, will get the money from the sale of his steer.

These eleven auctions have asked that the Secretary of Agriculture revoke Texas' brand inspection procedure because branding is not mandatory by law. There is a law requiring branding of cattle but no penalty for failure to comply. No one benefits from the branding of cattle but the owners, and no one suffers from the loss of cattle but the owners.

These eleven auctions say brand inspection should be revoked because "the practice of branding or marking does not now prevail by custom to an extent that would warrant the charging and collection of mandatory fees for the inspection of brands." This statement hardly coincides with known facts.

Record in the Cattle Raisers Association files are more than 230,000 cattle brands in use in Texas, more than 5,000 of them registered during the past year. No one knows how many cattlemen there are in Texas, but some 230,000 of them have registered brands.

"A substantial portion of the cattle originating in or shipped from the State of Texas is not inspected for brands . . . since a substantial portion of the cattle produced in the State of Texas is not sold through posted markets," the complaint continues. "A substantial portion" is meaningless because nobody knows how many Texas cattle are sold direct from the range.

The USDA estimates that approximately 75 per cent of all Texas livestock sales are made through the 175 livestock auctions in the state. "A substantial portion" of the remaining sales are made through Texas' three livestock markets in Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio, so the so-called 'substantial portion' of cattle sold without going through a livestock auction or major market clearly must be less than 10 per cent of the total.

These eleven auctions, nine of which are located in East Texas, comprise less than 5 per cent of the total number of livestock auctions in the state. Assuming that they are average-sized auctions, they could sell no more than about 3 per cent of the livestock sold annually in the state.

These people are not complaining that the fee is too high. Texas' brand inspection fee is the lowest of any of the Western states, and to the auctions markets the fee is simply a book-keeping procedure. They pay it, and then pass the charge on to the cattle owners who benefit from the inspection service.

These people are not complaining that the TSCRA inspectors are doing a bad job; they are not suggesting a replacement agency. They claim to just want to discontinue brand inspection service altogether.

Cattle thief is easier and more profitable now than at any period in the history of the cattle industry. Trucks and good roads have made cattle theft infinitely easier and safer than in the early days of the industry. No "fence" is necessary for the sale of stolen cattle—no middleman takes the profit from the theft. The TSCRA inspector who patiently checks the brands and notes the license number of the vehicle which delivered cattle to the market is the only theft prevention the cattle industry has. And it isn't a small industry. Texas' beef cattle population is almost 8,000,000 head, and it is valued at $1,166,000,000.

During the past 20 years, TSCRA inspectors have returned more than $30,000,000 worth of livestock to their rightful owners.

Texas cattlemen, who have refused every attempt at government subsidy for their business, even during disastrous drought years, are no less independent than their grandfathers were. If brand inspectors are not permitted to protect them against theft, they might figure out some less regulated way to protect themselves.

"Back The Attack" On Traffic Accidents!

A new nation-wide campaign has been launched in Texas. A lot of people will be too busy to give it much attention. Others will find it difficult to whip up much enthusiasm for it.

What's the campaign about? Well the purpose is to urge citizens to "Back the Attack on Traffic Accidents."

What happens when a few purse-snatchings take place in one part of the city within a short time? Citizens are up in arms demanding police action against this "crime wave!"

A big fire where several people die arouses public indignation and a full-scale investigation is begun.

If a high school athlete dies of football injuries, parents storm the school demanding that authorities either provide their children with adequate protection, or ban the sport.

But every day, week in, week out, month after month, death and injuries mount on the streets and highways. And the most violent reaction by the citizenry is a loud yawn or a sympathetic "my, my", or "why doesn't somebody do something?"

When a disaster of nature such as a storm or flood takes human lives, it is tragic enough. But when traffic kills and maims thousands because of the drivers involved, it is infinitely more tragic.

The National Safety Council has launched the "Back the Attack on Traffic Accidents" campaign in an all-out effort to halt the rising accident toll—in Texas the program is coordinated by the Texas Safety Association.

The tragic part of it all is that we DO know how to prevent traffic accidents!

The methods used in cutting down accidents have been used in a number of communities. The results are amazing. TSA believes that if these methods work in a few localities, they can work throughout Texas.

Who or what does it take to cut down traffic accidents? It takes you and me—the average citizen—the average driver and pedestrian.

When you and I start driving and walking as if we really wanted to prevent accidents, the toll will go down. If we show our public officials that we are as mad at the reckless driver as we are at the purse-snatcher, we will get better traffic enforcement. If we offer our services and talents to a local safety organization to help convince the general public of these truths about traffic accidents, we will be doing our part in fighting this menace.

But if we still find it impossible to get aroused over the dismal traffic accident picture, we will see the death and injury lists rise each year until we, ourselves, may become statistics on the traffic books.

Let's all "Back the Attack" on Traffic Accidents!

Self-made men should be more careful in selecting the materials they use.

A man never gets so rich that he can afford to lose a friend.

Men who make big money are careful with their small change.

PLANT GOOD SEED FOR TOP YIELDS
"Know the Seed You Buy" is the title of a new bulletin released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The bulletin points out that the use of high quality seed is basic to successful farming. Farmers may irrigate, use high rates of fertilizer, follow good insect control and other production practices, yet high yields will not result unless good seed of a well adapted variety are planted. Money invested in quality seed is good insurance since no crop can be better than the seed to which it is planted. Low priced seed often are of low quality.

The purchase of certified seed is the best guarantee of the purity of the variety that you want. Seed with the Texas Certified Seed label and seal should mean that the seed has these characteristics: the seed were produced in fields properly isolated from other fields of the same crop, essentially all rogues of off-type plants were removed from the field prior to blooming, the seed are free from noxious weeds and essentially free from seed-borne diseases, that the seed trace back directly to the original seed of the variety, and a satisfactory germination.

The bulletin discusses Texas Tested Seed Labels, Texas Certified Seed labels, knowing your varieties, selecting the variety, how to buy quality seed, seed treatment tags, buying the seed on appearance, miracle varieties, and when to buy new seed.

The bulletin can be obtained from your local county agent or

DONT FEED THE GARBAGE CAN

Is your garbage can a heavy eater? How much does it cost to feed it for a year?

The average American feeds 225 pounds of food a year to the garbage can, according to estimates by extension foods specialists. That's two-third of a pound a day. For a family of five that would add up to 3 1-3 pounds a day or 1,125 pounds a year. At the low rate of 25 cents a pound, this means a family of five pays $281 for groceries they do not eat.

Specialists point to four common causes of food waste in the home: lack of good planning and buying, which result in over-buying, poor preparation and serving of food, poor use of leftovers, and improper practices of preservation and storage.

What to do about them? Plan your buying and preserving so that food can be used or stored promptly before it loses freshness and flavor or spoils. Serve food when it reaches the just-right stage. It loses texture and flavor if overcooked or if it stands too long before it is served. Keep all food clean, cool and covered until you use it. Check food often and keep it moving.

*"All I could think was—
If Mary lost the baby... and I lost Mary..."*

"When I married Mary I vowed I'd look after her, because up until we met she was pretty much alone in the world.

"Even with me over here in Korea she was making out on my allotment plus her job which she'd keep until she had to quit—to have the baby. It's our first and Mary was thrilled—she'd have a family at last.

"Then I got this letter that knocked the props out from under me . . .

"Seems she got complications in her sixth month and the doctor put her in the hospital. For how long, they couldn't say. She wrote for me not to worry. WORRY! I was half out of my mind. Mary, 3,000 miles away. Alone and scared about money. We'd saved up for the baby, but not enough for anything like this.

"I really felt I'd let Mary down the day I walked in to see our Red Cross Field Director. As it turned out that's about the smartest thing I ever did.

"The Red Cross in Korea wired the Red Cross at home, no charge to me. That same day a Red Cross lady, a Mrs. Allen, went to see my wife in the hospital. Mary says she'll never forget her sweet, kind face.

"Less than 24 hours later I got a complete report on my wife, and what the Red Cross was doing for her. They'd talked with the doctor, with Mary's boss at the mill, and explained that the Dependents Medical Care Program would take care of the doctor's bill and all but a small amount of the hospital bill. Also, Mary was given Red Cross funds to take care of other needs.

"That was just the beginning. Mrs. Allen took Mary home from the hospital and every week drove her to the doctor's. Last week she speeded her right into the maternity hospital!

"I'd never realized the work the Red Cross did before this. Believe me, Mrs. Allen and all the Red Cross folks have been just great to us."

"Mrs. Allen apologized for her black-and-white photo of Joe, Jr. Seems he's got his Dad's hair—red!"

The Rusk Enquirer mentions the fact, that on the 14th inst., three prisoners confined in the jail at that place, left very unceremoniously and without the leave of the jailer. They were all heavily ironed, but managed to unshackle themselves and cut a hole through the wall, and by means of blankets let themselves to the ground.

We learn from the San Antonio Herald, that a Mr. Hilburn, of Uvalde County, on Friday, 14th inst., shot an Indian, while out hunting dogs. The Indian was nearly naked, and refused to tell his tribe, and said that he was

Southern Intelligencer

It will be seen in another paragraph, that of the 318,313 population in Arkansas, there are only 60,038 slaves, leaving 258,265 who either work or play, but who, in working, are degraded in the opinion of some of the Texas Democratic presses. And yet Arkansas is regarded by many as the very best cotton state in the Union.

The annual expenses of Arkansas are only $80,000. Texas, with 300,000 inhabitants, has an annual expense of half a million dollars. Verily Arkansas is a very economical, or Texas a very extravagant, country.

Southern Intelligencer

We learn from the Galveston News that that city is soon to be lighted with gas—the first cargo of pipes having already arrived, whilst three others are on the way.

—o—

We learn from a passenger on the stage from Waco to this place, that on Monday, 24th, about ten miles beyond Belton, the lines became unfastened from one of the lead horses. As soon as the driver perceived the situation of affairs, he called upon the passenger to open the door and jump out of the stage as quick as possible. No sooner had the passenger got out, than the horses, taking advantage of their freedom from the lines, endeavored to free themselves also from the stage, which they soon accomplished by upsetting it, then righting it, upsetting it a second time, and then righting it a second time—in the meantime throwing the driver from his seat, breaking his arm, uncoupling the wheels, and finally, by the horses each one becoming free from the stage and going on "twenty-one" on his own hook. The passenger attributes no fault to the driver, all the difficulty remitting from the use of springs instead of buckles on the lines.

Southern Intelligencer
From the San Antonio Herald we learn that the over land mail from El Paso, arrived at San Antonio, on Monday the 7th instant "bringing dates from San Diego to 17th, and from San Francisco to 13th ultimo.

The Harrison Flag is in favor of the acquisition of Cuba, not by purchase—for it thinks it is idle to talk about that—but by peaceable colonization. The Flag says:

"Let the patriotic young men of our country emigrate peacefully with arms in their hands, let them expatriate themselves, and let our government support the Monroe Doctrine, and Cuba will be free—its preesed despotism and slavery will be things of the past."

For our young men to enter Cuba "with arms in their hands," for the avowed purpose of colonization, strikes me as being rather a singular mode of peaceful acquisition. The Spanish Dons, who are somewhat eccentric in their notions of things, might, in their simplicity, regard the entrance into their territory, of such pacific colonists, in martial array, in the pleasant light of a hostile invasion by armed filibusters. At least there is a slight possibility of their so concluding. Whatever the future may bring forth, Cuba is not yet a ripe plum ready to fall into the outstretched lap of the United States.

Mr. William L. Taylor, of Williamson County, who was in the city on Tuesday, reports that the young grasshoppers are appearing in considerable numbers on the San Gabriel, and also in some of the counties above Williamson. If our citizens can do so with safety, they had better, probably suspend hostilities against the larks, which might become useful in the extermination of the above mentioned pests, of which they are very fond.

Mr. Taylor also states that such solicitude still exists in the country on account of the presence of mad dogs about Lampasas. We marvel what will come next.

some people but that he didn't need to go.

Finally the pastor fired a series of questions at him.

"When you get sick, what do you do?"

"Go to a doctor or a hospital," replied the skeptic.

"When you need legal advice, what do you do?" the pastor asked.

"Go to a judge or lawyer."

"When your car won't run what do you do?"

"Take it to the garage."

Whereupon the pastor said:

"Every answer you have given shows that you go to a specialist to take care of your needs. When you're sick, you go to the hospital; when you need legal advice, you go to a lawyer; when your car won't run, you take it to a repairman."

"Why is it then," the pastor continued, "that you don't place the care of your soul in the hands of a specialist—a clergyman, whose profession has trained him to care for your spiritual needs?"

The parishoner didn't answer, but he was in church the following Sunday.

Your pastor, priest or rabbi can't help you unless you let him. Every week he conducts a service to take care of the most important need of your life. As the Religion In America Life Program urges, "Find the Strength for Your Life . . . Worship Together This week."

Large Crowd Attends Weather Program

H. C. Winburn of the U. S. Weather Bureau in Amarillo was in Clarendon Tuesday to speak to members of the Lions Club at their noon luncheon and at 2 p.m. showed a film to a number of interested people at the Mulkey Theatre.

Mr. Winburn stressed several points as to what people should do in the event of a severe weather warning for this area. Among the points stressed were the following:

1. Do not panic. In the event of a severe weather warning, decide what you are going to do and do it calmly.
2. Remember that any thunderstorm cloud is capable of producing a tornado.
3. Do not depend entirely upon someone else to protect you. Although the Sheriff's Department, the Police Department and the Fire Department in Clarendon along with the Weather Bureau in Amarillo will do everything in their power to warn you of the approach of a tornado, it is possible for a tornado to strike without warning. When a bad thunderstorm cloud appears, watch it and be on the alert to find protection in the event a tornado forms.
4. When a tornado is approaching, take shelter in a storm cellar, cave, or underground shelter.
5. When underground protection is not available, take shelter along the inside walls of the lower floors of a strongly reinforced building, or in the southwest basement corner of a house. Also, some of the windows should be opened to prevent pressure from forming inside the building which will cause the building to literally explode.
6. In open country, move at right angles to the path of the approaching tornado. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest ditch or depression in order to avoid flying debris.
7. In recognizing a tornado, Mr. Winburn stated that a tornado is usually seen as a dark funnel-shaped cloud, spinning rapidly and extending toward the earth from the base of a thundercloud. When nearby, a tornado sounds like the roar of hundreds of airplanes. Even though a cloud may be a funnel-shaped, as occasionally happens when the sky is threatening, it is not a tornado unless it has the rapidly-rotating motion.

All of this information is of value to every citizen in the community and while we hope there will be no tornadoes or severe storms in this area, it is a protection to us all to be well informed. We appreciate Mr. Winburn paying us this visit.

Conservation Reserve Program—Soil Bank

You are hereby reminded of the importance of establishing a perennial grass on your Conservation Reserve land in 1959.

You must ask for a Cost-Share approval before you start your practice. Remember, there is only a limited amount of funds to be used in our county for cost-share practice on your 1959 Conservation Reserve land. It is most important that you do everything in your power to establish a good cover of grass.

Please come by the office and fill out a Cost-Share Approval for seeding as soon as possible. You may wait until the weather permits before you plant your grass seeds.

Cropland-Conservation Reserve

In checking our records we have 135,517 acres of cropland under Conservation Reserve Contract, which is 24 per cent of the cropland in Donley County. There are 78 farms that are total Soil Bank, which includes 3,024.3 acres of cotton and 1,176.7 acres of wheat that will not be planted during the term of the contracts.

Gene Long (center) Scoutmaster of Troop 37 was recently presented an appreciation plaque for faithful and loyal service to the youth of Clarendon by Bill Eller, (left), district Scout Executive. The Roar of the Lions THE LIONS DEN

By the Liontamer

Last Tuesday was a big day for the Lions of Clarendon. Due to the overcast and intermittent showers with probable severe weather warnings in the near vicinity, one of the most pertinent and timely programs was presented on film with commentary by H. C. Winburn, who has been connected with the Amarillo Weather Bureau the past 18 years, that the Lions have enjoyed in a long time.

Actual photos and prepared maps and charts were viewed which will enable each one who attended, to more readily ascertain cloud formations and weather conditions that would lead to tornado formations, and increased knowledge that will aid in discriminating between tornado and similar cloud formations. Mr. Winburn completed the program by reviewing the safety rules to follow if and when a tornado is sighted.

No program could have been more pertinent and valuable at this time of year and in this area. In addition to Mr. Winburn's program an outstanding slate of civic leaders were elected to direct the course of Lionism in Clarendon during the next fiscal year. The nominees which were elected and their respective office are as follows:

President, Milton (Bill) Todd; First Vice-President, H. M. (Flip) Breedlove; Second Vice-President, W. W. Pinkerton; Third Vice-President, J. B. Melton; Secretary, A. R. Henson; Treasurer, Joe H. Bownds; Lionmaster, Mutt Graham; Taitwister, C. A. Pitts; new members of the Board of Directors, George Benson, Weldon Day.

With this leadership and the cooperative and loyal support of a large membership, Lionism can look forward to a successful and profitable year.

THANKS

Thank you for the support you gave me in Tuesday's election. I am glad to be a citizen of Clarendon and surrounding communities. Best wishes to all.
Major B. Hudson

Gene Long Honored By Scout Troop

At a surprise party last week Mr. and Mrs. Gene Long were honored by the parents, boys, leaders and friends of Scout Troop 37. Gene who has been Scoutmaster of Troop 37 for the past few years has led the boys to where they are one of the better troops in this area. He has certainly gained the love and respect of all the boys who have been under his leadership, and the gratitude of their parents for the work that he has done.

For the efforts that he has put forth for scouting, not only in Clarendon but in this district, Bill Eller, District Scout Executive, presented Gene with a certificate of appreciation in behalf of the District Committee, and each leader in this area. The members of the local Troop presented Gene with an engraved silver dish so that he would always remember them, because down deep in the heart of this scout troop and to each Scout thru his hard work, kindness and willingness, Gene will be long remembered.

Mr. and Mrs. Long and their son, Dickey, will make their future residence in Groesbeck, Texas.

Dudley Gillespie, freshman from Memphis, defeated Marvin Rucker in the number two singles match, 6-2, 6-0. Owen Johnson, sophomore from Clarendon, beat Frank Doenges, 6-1, 6-1. Pat Wilkins, freshman from Wellington, beat Dale Sprague, 6-1, 6-1, and Brad Wilson, sophomore from Silverton, defeated Bob Moss, 6-4, 6-1. In doubles play, Bedwell and Gillespie teamed to defeat Noles and Rucker, 6-2, 6-2, and Johnson and Wilkins defeated Doenges and Sprague, 6-3, 6-4.

This was the second win of the season for the Bulldogs as they defeated the Amarillo College team recently in Amarillo, 3 to 2. The Bulldogs will return the match with Panhandle A&M at Goodwell on April 14.

Train a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it. Proverbs 22-6.

We read a lot this day and time about this and that being wrong with Junior. Probably there is no more wrong with the Junior of today than was wrong with his father. We may have to translate the situation from the horse nad buggy age to the atomic. We may have to realize that we were could get only about 10 miles from home on horseback. Junior can cross state lines and be back before morning.

We can't speak with as much authority as some folks but in our field of experience we have found that most of the ills could be cured by a good application of the above rule. It just about always follows that when we have careless and unconcerned parents we have children with no respect for law and right. When we find bad parents living with no thought of bringing up of their children we most generally find boys and girls that are headed for trouble.

We'll admit that now and then we find a case where apparently the parents did their very best and still the child wandered off. We still believe that the above scripture is true, and that no matter should they stray from the straight and narrow, that they will come back to the good teaching. It may take a while but like the prodigal son they will most always come to eventually see the light. The other way we are almost certainly doomed so its best to try our best anyway.

It has been some time since we included a poem from our scrapbook suggestion. Since we are talking about the family, the following seemed so very good. We do not know the author but he or she speaks our sentiments. It is called:

THE FAMILY

The family is like a book The children are the leaves. The parents are the covers The protection beauty gives. At first the pages of the book Are blank and purely fair, But time soo writeth memories And painteth pictures there. Love is the little golden clasp That bindeth up the trust; Oh, break it not, lest all the leaves Should scatter and be lost.

It looks to us as if the sorghum farmer was sort of "took" on the lowering of the loan rate by Mr. Benson. Even before this cut in the loan rate on grain sorghum many corn producers were letting their corn go to the government at the loan rate and buying our grain sorghum to feed to their feedlot cattle. What will happen now that another

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Texas — "After seeing the appropriation bill—and with all the sentiment there is in favor of a teacher pay raise—I don't see how we can pay for it all without passing one of those big tax bills."

Speaking in private conversation was a legislator. He is one of an estimated 30 to 90 House members who told voters flatly last summer they wouldn't vote a general sales tax.

But the "big tax bills" to which he refers are the Strickland-Roberts bill, Blanchard bill, Olivier bill, etc. All of these are, as someone said, "mighty like a sales tax," in that they would be collected on the basis of the sales of large numbers of items.

His predicament is shared by many Texas lawmakers this year. It is: how to finance the 25 to 30 cents have been trimmed from the sorghum loan? Actually, it could prove a blessing in disguise. Sorghum may sell well above the loan due to its feed value being about equal to corn. This way we would get rid of the grain without a loss in price. If this happens then a year from now the corn surplus would be higher and it would be due for a cut, and the grain sorghum man would be in a better position to get a raise. Supplies on hand influence the loan rate.

things the people of Texas want without voting a tax the people don't want?

BIGGEST EVER — House Appropriations Committee is recommending a 1960-61 spending bill that is the granddaddy of 'em all.

Altogether, spending from all sources, including federal grants, would total $2,401,276,388. It is $240,000,000 higher than the 1959-60 budget.

Even so, it is $7,500,000 less than recommended by Gov. Price Daniel. Committee's bill calls for general revenue spending of $322,441,196; the governor's for $329,952,992.

Financing the committee's recommendations will require about $157,000,000 in new tax money for the general fund. This results from adding together (1) the expected $65,000,000 deficit from 1958-59, (2) the $42,000,000 increase in spending for the coming biennium over this one and (3) an expected $50,000,000 gap between revenue and present spending levels.

If the proposed public school teacher pay raise and any other part of the Hale-Aikin recommendations for school improvement are adopted, the new money needs would soar to between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000.

Principal beneficiaries of the $42,000,000 increase proposed by the Appropriations Committee would be higher education, up $23,804,432; state employees, up $3,400,000; state hospitals and special schools, up $10,321,186; prison system, up $6,000,000.

TAX FRONT — Meanwhile, the House Taxation Committee, beset by the prodding of the governor on one hand and the objections of various citizens on the other, toils on in its search for new money.

Recent actions include: Showing temporary disapproval, 12-6, of the governor's plan for the state to take over abandoned property ad dormant bank accounts.

Hearing the pros and cons of a raft of "broad-based" taxes. These include:

1. A nine-part omnibus tax measure by Reps. Bob Strickland of San Antonio and Wesley Roberts of Lamesa which would include a gross receipts levy on retail establishments. It would raise an estimated $200,000,000 to $300,000,000.

2. A 1 1/2 per cent gross receipts tax on all business activity (with certain exemptions for farm supplies, charitable institutions, professional services, etc.) by Rep. H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock. It would bring in about $300,000,000 to $400,000,000.

3. A tax on "the first sale or use of any finished product" by Rep. W. T. Oliver of Port Neches.

4. A tax on "net profits and receipts" by Rep. Alonzo W. Jamison, Jr. of Denton.

5. A "cure all" tax on manufactured goods by Rep. Jerry Sadler of Pecos, to bring in about a half-billion dollars per biennium.

It all led one House member to complain of a "million-dollar headache."

PLAN TO TAX BOATS — Boat owners may be in for a shock if the "Water Safety Act" becomes law. Representatives have tacked on a few taxes.

Although designed to promote safety, the measure as it now stands calls for the purchase of a $2 Certificate of Number every two years, plus payment of a fee of from $5 to $12.50 per boat per biennium. About the only boats exempted are canoes and "seaplanes."

The measure passed the House but still must meet Senate approval.

ECONOMY BILL MAKING HEADWAY — There's at least one fellow who believes that his type of job is useless, outmoded and unnecessary.

He is George Corse, Jr., of Graham, Texas. Corse feels that school money is being wasted by keeping the job of county school superintendent alive. He wants to dispense with the office and contends that it will save the State a minimum of $400,000 annually.

To prove they were economy-minded too, the House passed his bill (HB No. 101 by Rep. George Wilson of Newcastle) and sent it on to the Senate with their blessings.

HB No. 101 would permit the people of a county, by petition of 10 per cent of the eligible voters, to vote on discontinuance of the office of County Superintendent of Schools.

Corse is county superintendent of Young County.

TO CITIFIED? — Texans may have a chance to vote in the next general election on a constitutional amendment to decide, in effect, whether the Legislature shall "go urban."

House passed a resolution by Rep. Will Ehrle of Childress to limit representation from the big city counties. As amended, it would provide one representative for each 100,000 population up to 900,000 and one for each 400,000 thereafter.

Primary target was Harris County, whose sprawling industrialism might entitle it to as many as 13 representatives after the 1960 census, under present rules. Rural legislators fear the city delegations will develop a virtual veto over rural interests. Also, conservatives are skittish about the strong liberal forces that come from Harris County.

But Houstonites, and other city solons, argue that tax-paying citizens are entitled to equal representation, no matter where they live.

Sen. Waggoner Carr Expresses Tax Views To House Of Representatives

The following is a tax speech delivered by Speaker Waggoner Carr, April 1, 1959 to the Texas House of Representatives: Ladies and Gentlemen of the House:

The Creecys clear more than $4.00 per hen

The Wayne Creecys, Ardmore, Oklahoma, have expanded from 220 cages in 1955 to their present total of 2,100 cage hens. Their operation was expanded because of a growing demand for Purina Cage Eggs and, as Mrs. Creecy so aptly stated, "We wanted the extra income!"

The first 8 months of 1958, their birds returned a labor profit of $3.08 per bird... projected for the year, this would be more than $4.00 labor profit per bird.

"We've been relying on Purina since we started," commented Mr. Creecy, "and wouldn't think of feeding anything else. We appreciate and depend on the services of our Purina Dealer."

LOW-COST LOANS QUICKLY ARRANGED

With your permission I want to take a few minutes to discuss with you a problem which is soon to be before you for decision.

I respectfully direct your attention to the unhappy but timely subject of taxes.

In doing so, I want to compliment the Revenue and Taxation Committee for the conscientious and statesmanlike work it has been doing—in attempting to find a fair and equitable way to meet our state financial needs.

I am sure I express the sentiments of the members of the House, and of this committee, when I say that we must now bring our hearings to a close and write a tax bill—one that will encompass the most desirable features of the many plans which have been presented and heard.

The unpleasant task of levying taxes on our people, and ourselves, must be met head-on.

I, for one, shall not try to fool the people into believing that the cost of building the future of Texas can be put on the other fellow. There is no tax Santa Claus. When taxes go up—directly or indirectly, everyone pays.

We can begin with three all-too familiar facts:

1. We will probably need at least $300,000,000 in new money to pay our bills during the next biennium.

2. In a progressive state with a rapidly growing population, our revenue needs are going to grow—not decline.

3. Piecemeal taxation, or the mere raising of present piecemeal taxes, will not solve the problem, either today or for the future.

The Governor's program, which he submitted early in the session as the Constitution directs, has been carefully studied in committee. Without attempting to evaluate it piece by piece, we can say that in total it is inadequate to the task before us.

The need clearly exists for a type of tax linked closely enough with Texas's growth and industrial expansion that our tax income will keep up with the State's legitimate needs.

In other words—a "broad-based" tax.

I recognize that various persons are trying to make that a bad word—a synonym for "general sales tax." That, I submit, is sheer demagoguery.

I am aware also of the fact that a majority of the members of this House are committed, as of the last election, against a general sales tax. You will note that the Revenue and Taxation Committee has not even heard the general sales tax bill which was introduced some time ago. Yet I have found a strong sentiment among you for spreading this new tax across as much of the Texas economy as possible.

You are correct in believing that this is the only equitable solution. Texans do not want a plan which rewards political favorites or pays off political debts. You and I cannot engage in this type of fancy footwork.

You have told me that you expect your Speaker to make suggestions on this tax problem. You have asked me to assume personal leadership in an effort to arrive at a fair answer before this regular session ends on May 12. You have a right to expect this, and I shall not hesitate to assume the responsibility.

You know the views I have expressed up to now:

1. I think we should make every possible effort to solve our money problems before May 12.

2. I know that the majority sentiment of this House is against a general sales tax.

3. I am convinced that we should put the cost upon as broad a segment as possible—not just upon a few segments of our people or economy. We should spread this responsibility—crippling no one—taking into consideration the economic condition of those taxed—showing no favoritism.

In light of the testimony before the Revenue and Taxation Committee, and in accord with the general principles I have just stated, I recommend to this committee that it report a bill to the House which includes a broad array of selective taxes—including, but not confined to, selective sales taxes.

I would remind you that this type of tax is well established in the tax statutes of Texas. It is not contrary in principle to the tax program recommended by the Governor, inasmuch as more than 50 per cent of his tax recommendations were for increases in existing sales taxes.

I recommend further that this bill include increases in taxes upon those segments of the economy which appear in the Governor's recommendations—including natural gas, liquor, cigarettes and corporations—but that we need modify the Governor's plan in two respects:

1. To include most, if not all, those items presently taxed but omitted from his program.

2. To bring in new items and otherwise spread the burden so that the rate of tax, in most instances, will be less than that recommended by the Governor.

I further recommend that since we are going to raise the salaries of college professors and state employees, we should also raise the salaries of public school teachers. This obligation, on top of all the others we face, merely makes more urgent the necessity of passing a tax bill much broader and more inclusive than has been suggested. It is my feeling that a portion of the new tax revenue should be allocated—in the bill itself—for teachers' salary increases. Any other approach, this late in the session, might well result in no pay raise at all for the public school teachers.

It is well that we have taken a cautious and deliberate course in the very serious matter of increasing taxes. I am proud of this House for refusing to be stampeded into hasty action. And don't let anyone stampede you, now. True, time is short—but there is always time to be fair and do be right.

I hope we can put our knowledge and information to work quickly—as quickly as is possible under the circumstances. We can never forget, however, that laying a tax bill of $300,000,000 or more on the people of Texas is a matter worthy of the most careful consideration.

Whatever your decision may be, let us act on it. The people you represent will applaud and appreciate your willingness to meet squarely the greatest financial crisis, dollar-wise, that Texas has ever known.

LARGER EWES PRODUCE LARGER LAMBS, TESTS SHOW

College Station — The size of a yearling ewe before first breeding is a good indication of how large her lambs will be, both at birth and weaning time.

Tests at the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Southwestern Range and Sheep Breeding Laboratory at Fort Wingate, New Mexico, showed that heavier ewes—regardless of breed—produce heavier, faster-growing lambs than lightweight ewes.

In the 4-year USDA tests, ewes were grouped by weight. The lightest group averaged 65.4 pounds as yearlings and the heaviest, 92.7. The heaviest group, with an average weight advantage of 26.3 pounds, produced lambs averaging 1.29 pounds more at birth and 10.5 pounds more at weaning.

USDA scientists say quicker profits from breeding flocks should be possible as a result of this finding because culling can be done before breeding rather than after each ewe has produced a lamb. In addition, the bigger ewes have more skin area for growing wool.

EDITH BARNES

I am sorry that bad health caused Mrs. Prewitt to resign but I can tell you how glad I am that I am your new librarian.

Mrs. Prewitt gave the library two new books: The first 1959 condensed book from Reader's Digest. These books are issued every three months. Each book contains condensations of current outstanding books. This one has "The Rainbow and the Rose," by Nevil Shute, "The Acmen," by Shepherd Mead, "The White Room," by Elizabeth Coatsworth, "Woman of Straw," by Catherine Arley, "Mrs. Arris Goes to Paris" by Paul Gallico and a short condensation of "The Ugly American" by William J. Lederer and Eugene Burdick. There is one full shelf of past Reader's Digest condensations in the library.

The other book Mrs. Prewitt gave is "Perpetual War for Perpetual Peace," by Head Editor Harry Elmer Barnes. Speaking of "Time" I let the issue with the article about Editor Joiner slip but one of our friends is letting me have a copy for the library.

Twenty-five cents for a three

CITY-COUNTY FIGHT DEVELOPS

As reported to you last week the city-county fight erupted on the floor of the House last Tuesday. The country boy coalition was successful in adopting H.J.R. 41 which as amended would limit the larger counties to a maximum of nine members in the House, but would give them an additional member for each additional 400,000 population.

This Constitutional Amendment will, of course, have to be voted on by the people of the state. If it passes such a population vote then the rural areas will be more fully assured of representation more evenly spread over the entire State.

TAX COMMITTEE SLAPS GOVERNOR

The House Revenue and Tax Committee last week slapped the Governor's tax program by killing his "escheat" tax measure by a vote of 10 to 6.

The Committee reported the bill unfavorable with the recommendation that it do not pass. Then in a surprise move the committee turned around, reconsidered its previous vote, and voted to postpone the measure. This parliamentary strategy would keep this tax bill from getting to the floor of the House in a minority report.

This "escheat" bill is the one which would transfer all dormant bank accounts and all dormant accounts with insurance and transmission companies into the State Treasury.

APPROPRIATION BILL OUT OF COMMITTEE

The House Appropriation Committee has read out the giant appropriation measure for the next biennium. This measure consist-

Teach Your Youngsters To Obey Safety Rules

By J. O. MUSICK
General Manager Texas Safety Association

Like charity, safety should begin at home—then followed up at school and in the community.

Regrettably, far too few parents realize the importance of proper home training in the development of safety habits. Habits that may in later years mean the difference between a healthy, fruitful life or one of injury, regret and, possibly, an early death.

By proper home training I don't mean just plain, "No! No! Johnny—that'll hurt." Certainly, the kind of speaking of requires direction and the dictation of the do—and—don't type but the most important lessons will be learned from parental example.

Tell a child to be careful when riding a bicycle, or not to dash into the street, is of little avail if he sees father driving past a stop sign, or mother jay-walking to the dress shop across the street.

If you doubt that parents are safety thoughtless, ask any school patrol boy. He will tell you that it is generally the parents who have the least regard for traffic safety rules; it is the parents who do the double-parking ("... it's ing of well over 100 pages now comes before the 150-man House for debate. It will probably be a week or 10 days before the bill is brought up for discussion. In the meantime much study will have to be given this spending bill.

Of course, the less money we spend in the appropriation bill the less taxes we will have to raise. Consequently, it seems to me that we should give equal weight to cutting expenditures where possible before we start levying more taxes on the people of Texas. This is always a hard job but let's hope we can keep our tax bill as small as possible.

only for a minute; ad infinitum.), who get out from the wrong side of a car or disregard crosswalk markings.

Anyone of these, and dozens of other such careless habits, are not of tremendous importance when singled out, but when viewed in the whole—as a child might do—they build an attitude in the youngster's mind. (One of careless respect) that lasts a lifetime.

Without question, a universal respect of safety rules, for the common good is the ultimate answer to our safety problems—whether they be at work, play, home or in traffic.

How great is the need for proper traffic safety training? It is great enough that if our present traffic habits go unchallenged we can expect every second pre-school child in Texas, today, to experience a traffic accident before he or she reaches voting age.

Let's I sound like an alarmist, let me hasten to add that such a statement isn't so far fetched in the light of present facts.

This year, according to Texas Safety Association records, two and a half million Texans will operate more than four and a quarter million motor vehicles in excess of forty-billion miles. And, in so doing, they will pile up a total of nearly 275 thousand accidents. The cost? It has been conservatively placed at $275 million.

Indeed, this is not a bright picture and promises to worsen as Texas population increases with greater and greater rapidity.

What can we do to extricate traffic dilemma? The first step ourselves from the horns of this should be taken in the home, through consistent safety training by both parents. Secondly, by careful examples. Finally, by combining the first two steps to build healthy safety attitudes.

One of the leading stories in a Washington newspaper last week started off as follows:

"The House last week handed President Eisenhower a second victory in as many days when it voted 315 to 57 to increase the United States' contributions to the World Bank and International Monetary Fund in the current fiscal year, rather than in 1960."

The debate brought out that the 1 billion 37 million dollars would be charged to the federal debt. The federal debt now stands at 265 billion dollars. I was among the 57 who voted against it.

The following headline heralded the other victory referred to in the above story:

"President Triumphs as House Approves Money for Aid Fund."

The story began like this:

"President Eisenhower won an important victory in the House yesterday when a bipartisan majority approved 100 million dollars in new money for the Development Loan Fund by a vote of 191 to 85."

The Development Loan fund is a part of the foreign aid fund. I was among the 85 who voted "NO."

These two actions cost the American taxpayer 1 billion 475 million dollars, which will be borrowed money on which interest must be paid by that same taxpayer.

The whole transaction reminded me of the story of the music critic who was given an assignment of reporting on an appearance of a string quartet. His brief but most revealing review of the performance read as follows:

"Last evening at the City Auditorium a string quartet played Brahms. Brahms lost."

When I saw what happened to the American taxpayer last week, I couldn't help but think of poor Brahms.

The Supplemental Appropriations Bill came before the House last week and included some items for the District of Columbia to supplement their funds for this year, because they were facing a deficit of some 5 million dollars. Each year the federal government, because of the great amount of federal property owned in the District on which no taxes are collected, makes a contribution of federal payment in lieu of taxes to the District. This has been set for next fiscal year at 25 million dollars. It was claimed that the payment last year was too small and that additional sums had to be provided. When the Appropriations Committee cut the supplemental amount requested by some 3 million dollars, the local press rose up in arms and editorialized in news stories and on the editorial page against Congress.

The federal payment has long been a sore spot with many people, and I decided to look up a few figures to see what the financial status of a citizen of the District of Columbia was, compared to that of a citizen of some of the states. My discovery was most revealing. For instance, the net long-term debt that each citizen of Texas owes on a state and local basis is $298.45. The New Yorker owes $472.86. The man from Delaware owes $498.07. The Oklahoman owes $298.45, and the man from Massachusetts owes $406.08. The man from the District of Columbia owes $45.61. In fact, he owes less in local indebtedness than any of the people in any of the states of the United States before the admission of Alaska. The figures are not available on Alaska; hence, cannot be quoted. These revealing figures would indicate that the federal gravy train has been working pretty well for the District of Columbia.

Trees around a place add considerably to its sale value. A good tenant or hired hand is much easier to get and to keep with a good windbreak to shelter his home. You yourself will greatly enjoy trees about the place. Remember how grateful you have been for the forethought of someone else who planted your favorite shade tree years ago so that it grew in time for you to enjoy? Your children and others will be grateful for your efforts in providing them with the beauty and protection of a well planned windbreak of trees and shrubs including evergreens and possibly Multiflora roses.

Seedlings may be had at a nominal cost to you. Order blanks for securing trees from the Texas Forest Service may be had by contacting the County Agent or the Soil Conservation Service Plans for the most effective types of windbreaks suggested by your Donley Soil Conservation District will gladly be made with you by contacting Bland Draper or Deamond Dallas of the local Soil Conservation Service office. Among those enjoying the protection of farmstead windbreaks are Riley Allen, O. D. Hearn, and G. A. Myers.

is important to do some soil improving over the areas where cuts have been made. Growing high residue producing crops with a legume and turning them under is a good practice. Barnyard manure should be used where available. Commercial fertilizer may also be used to good advantage.

The final results of land leveling should be to produce a surface that will utilize every drop of water both from rain and irrigation. The graded surfaces should be gentle enough so that most of the water will soak up. Irrigation water will be distributed uniformly and will help to produce a uniform crop over the entire field. Leveling will help reduce tail water to a minimum.

A heavy leveling operation generally requires two years to complete. The first operation will apparently give a perfect job (everyone hopes). However, fills have a tendency to settle after one season of use. The second operation should involve only a general touch-up and should not be too expensive.

If your farm is in need of some leveling, technical assistance may be obtained through your local Soil Conservation District. Locally assigned technicians of the Soil Conservation Service are available and glad to help work out any land leveling on your farm.

The World's largest Shopping Center is in Your home The YELLOW PAGES put everything you want as close as your telephone! Try to imagine something you can't find in the Yellow Pages of your directory. Then, when you give up on that, try to think of any way to find what you want faster. Talk about Aladdin's magic lamp—the Yellow Pages have it beaten all hollow! That's why we say, "No matter what you want, no matter how fast you want it, look first in the Yellow Pages."

It will take you about 4 minutes to find out why It Pays to Own a Dodge! (It could save you hundreds of dollars!) Okay, it's settled. You've thought about it and talked about it and now you've decided: A new car—and soon. Now for the jackpot question. Which '59 car will it be? Unless you happen to be a Mr. Gotrocks, you'll probably think pretty carefully before you finally make the move. You'll do more shopping and compare more closely. And you'll ask yourself some basic questions. How much will a new car cost me to buy? How much will it cost me to drive? What do I get for my money? There is no mystery about new car prices Until this year, it was hard to compare different makes of cars to find which offered the most value for the money. It was like comparing apples and bananas. But not any more. Not since all new cars are required to carry price labels. Now, for the first time, you can compare various makes and models and see exactly what you're getting for your money. It's like exposing the hole cards in a game of stud poker: You know exactly where you stand. Why should you buy a Dodge? No one has to tell you that there are a number of cars on the market that sell for less than a Dodge. No cigar on that count. You know it and we know it. But there are things you get in a Dodge that you simply can't get in these other smaller cars. And this is important. Dodge gives you all of these things—the bigness and roominess, the comfort and ride, the luxury and prestige—for less than other cars in its field.
