Clarendon College To Hold Public Hearing

The Clarendon College Board of Regents will hold a public hearing to adopt the college's proposed budget for 1995-96 at 11:45 a.m., Thursday, August 10, 1995, in the V.I.P. Room of the Bairfield Activity Center on the Clarendon Campus.

Florida Boys Scheduled To Perform In Clarendon

The Florida Boys Quartet will be in Clarendon at the Donley County Community Building, August 24, at 7:30 p.m. Admission is free.

During their forty-year career, The Florida Boys have established some impressive landmarks. They were the hosts of the most successful gospel music television program in history, The Gospel Singing Jubilee, which won a number of Dove Awards and also established The Florida Boys as the most televised group in gospel music history. They are among a select few who have stayed in the business for forty years and are in a class by themselves when it comes to productivity over that many years.

Today, The Florida Boys sing gospel fifty weeks of the year at concerts all across America. They have been in over a dozen foreign countries, co-host an annual singing "Way Down Upon the Suwanee River" at the Spirit of the Suwanee Camp in Live Oak, FL; co-host a singing cruise each year to the Bahamas, and perform at most of the key events in Southern Gospel music year after year.

The Florida Boys have been pioneers in the Southern Gospel world and are still pioneering today by taking Southern Gospel into areas it has not gone before. Over the years, the look and the style of The Florida Boys has changed somewhat, but the message of their gospel songs has not. That is why they have kept fans for forty years and made new fans at every performance.

Help welcome The Florida Boys to Clarendon and attend their performance August 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the Donley County Community Building.

Graham Receives Visitors

Viola Graham of Clarendon has had several visitors lately. Her son Doyce and his wife Linda from Clemson, South Carolina and her parents, J.O. and Willie Updike of Borger are visiting with Viola.

Other guests of Viola Graham were Mildred and Dub Tomlinson of Bartlesville, Don and Gay Barker of Amarillo, Mary Murff, David and Nova Mooring, of Clarendon.

Chamber To Conduct Planning Retreat

The Clarendon-Donley County Chamber of Commerce will conduct its first annual planning retreat Monday, August 7, and Tuesday, August 8, from 6:00 p.m. until 10:00 p.m. at the Bar H Dude Ranch. This planning retreat will consist of brainstorming sessions for development of committees and committee plans for the 1996 year.

Monday evening will consist of an overview of the previous year's activities as well as a brainstorming session for 1996 activities. By the end of the evening, a list of activities for 1996 will be formalized. On Tuesday evening, committees will divide into work groups to outline plans for each activity. By the end of Tuesday evening, a one year calendar with planned Chamber activities will be adopted.

Contact the Chamber office to reserve your space at the planning retreat. Dinner will be on your own. Anyone wishing to have dinner at the dude ranch before the retreat begins should make reservations with the dude ranch and arrive by 5:30 p.m. Each session will begin promptly at 6:00 p.m. They may adjourn before 10:00 p.m. if their work is complete.

For more information, contact the Chamber office at 874-2421 or call 874-2475.

Parvo And Corona Virus Found In Clarendon

During the latter part of July, there have been several cases of Parvo in dogs in the Clarendon area. Local veterinarians are strongly recommending vaccinations for all unvaccinated dogs and booster for animals which have not been vaccinated in the past year.

One of the most easily preventable and most difficult to treat disease of dogs is the complex known as parvo and corona viruses. These viruses cause loss of most of the lining of the small intestine within the animal. Dogs affected by Parvo virus and/or Corona virus can become suddenly very depressed, dehydrated, have profuse diarrhea with blood, and excessive vomiting. These animals are subject to death within 24 hours without proper supportive care. Proper care consists of intravenous fluids, antibiotics, and medication to control vomiting and diarrhea. Frequently, cost of treatment for Parvo and Corona virus can be very high due to the intense nature of the treatment required in order for the animal to survive.

Fortunately both of these diseases are relatively preventable by the use of routine, well placed vaccinations. Puppies should begin to receive vaccinations against Parvo and Corona virus as early as 6 weeks and should have a series of boosters to provide adequate immunity. A single injection or vaccination against Parvo and/or Corona virus is normally not sufficient to protect the animal and it is therefore recommended that more than one vaccination take place when the animal is relatively young. Annual boosters should be given.

In the unprotected (unvaccinated), Parvo and Corona virus can affect dogs of all ages, and since treatment is relatively expensive, vaccinations function as an inexpensive form of "insurance"

In some breeds, such as the Rottweiler, Parvo and Corona virus is much more severe. In these breeds vaccination is required on even a more frequent basis early in the dog's life. Consult your veterinarian for advice about your animal.

TDA Scanner Inspections Results In Fines

Austin - Several Texas retailers have been fined in excess of $1,000 for overcharges on merchandise through their check-out computer price scanners, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said recently.

"To ensure consumer confidence, the Texas Department of Agriculture conducts spot checks statewide of retail computer price scanners," Perry said. "Overall, inspections have revealed most retailers to have accurate scanners. However, several store inspections in April uncovered numerous violations and excessive overcharges that resulted in larger than normal fines."

For the first three quarter of fiscal year 1995, from September 1 through May 31, TDA has conducted 811 inspections statewide, and overcharges were found at 251 stores or 31 percent, Perry said.

"Most businesses have not intentionally overcharged customers," Perry said. "In many cases, stores have failed to change advertised prices after sales or update their scanner prices."

"But, small overcharges can add up," Perry said. "Of the items found overcharged by our inspectors from September 1 to May 31, consumers paid more than $7,400 in overcharges. TDA has levied more than $45,650 in fines for these overcharges."

Martin School Plans Reunion

The Martin School reunion will be Saturday, August 12 at the Clarendon Lions Club building. All ex-students and friends are invited.

Doors will be open and coffee will be served at 9:30. Letters were mailed to those living out of Donley County. Locals are notified through the "good ole" Clarendon News.

Ashtola Reunion Scheduled

All Ashtola ex-students and friends are invited to the Ashtola Reunion on August 13 at 10:00 a.m. at the Donley County Fair Building. Please bring food, drinks, plates, etc. There will be plenty of visitation and entertainment.

During an inspection, TDA employees randomly select 30 advertised specials and regularly priced items through out a store and then have the items rung up at a check-out scanner. If an overcharge is found, TDA will stop sales of these items until the price is corrected.

Inspections where overcharges are found usually detect one or two mispriced items with an overcharge of 55 cents an item, Perry said. TDA is authorized to levy a $500 fine for each overcharged item, and fines per store on average range from $150 to $500. However, several inspections in April uncovered extremely large overcharges, which have resulted in fines of more than $1,000, the commissioner said.

Shoppers who suspect a store's scanner is not accurate may request a TDA inspection by calling Austin at (512) 463-7476; (800) TELL-TDA or the TDA regional office in Amarillo at (806) 358-7285.

Letters To The Senior Citizen News Editor

Dear Editor,

Thanks to the public service announcements run by this paper, the Howardwick V.F.D. has received a huge amount of donations for our Annual Garage Sale scheduled August 12. We're thrilled, and I'm sure our sale will be a huge success!

However, due to the response we have run short of storage. The decision was made to park one of the fire trucks outside the station, and use the stall for garage sale items. Imagine our chagrin the next morning to find someone had siphoned the fuel from that truck!

Everyone is working so hard to raise money so we have a good, working fire department to protect our homes and families, and I think it's sad that people would steal from all of us!

The Lion Tale

By Gene Alderson

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular meeting at noon on Tuesday, August 1, 1995. Eleven members, one guest and one prospective new member were present. We had another delicious meal consisting of lasagna, salad and apple pie. It was provided by Don and Mary Berrig who operate Creative Catering. Following the meal Boss Lion Johnson led the Pledge of Allegiance followed by prayer by Rev. Hamrick. Liontamer Henson introduced Rev. Marty Hamrick, Pastor of the United Methodist Church, who will be joining the club in the near future. We were also happy to have Walter B. Knorpp who was the guest of Lion Todd Knorpp.

Plans were started for the annual Lions Pancake Supper to be held on September 8. Other fund raising activities were discussed and the meeting was adjourned.

Everyone who missed the Birthday/Anniversary Supper July 25, missed out on a feast. They had a wonderful meal. Ed Ballinger opened the evening with prayer. Members with July birthdays were Zell Sarfield, Thelma Behrens, Tuffy Reynolds, and Bill Meador. Lee and Bradis Shaller were recognized for having had a July anniversary. Their great kitchen helpers were Bill and Nita Meador, Eda Wallin, and Cora Hamilton. Mitchi Fuston and Ricci Tunnell from Clarendon's own Dairy Queen have been very generous to the Senior Citizens Center. Again they provided gift certificates to be given away at their supper. Lucky winners were Zell Sarfield, Betty Tolbert, and Red Morrison. Betty Thomas donated two rolls of 35 mm film. It was won by Bill Hodges. Frank Hommel was present to give us an update on Thunder Junction. Their entertainers for the evening were the Nifty 50s from Memphis. Performing with the group was Teddie Allen, Frankye Goldston, Jansetta Martin, Kathryn Jones, and Johnnie Gresham. They did a terrific job! They are a great group and they will be glad to have them back real soon.

They want to recognize the July volunteers: Ann Bunyan, Murie Butts, Barbara and Orin Brock, Jean Baten, Thelma Behrens, Helena Catoe, Jan Campbell, Dolly Cole, Kathy Cornwell, Anna Gay Ceneceros, Lee Caskey, Wendy Dishong, Gloria Gage, Sharon Grady, Hazel Guy, Cora Hamilton, Bill and Judy Hodges, Bob Kidd, Pat McCombs, Billy Powell, Thelma Rudder, Wanda Smith, Mike and Margie Suiter, Onita Thomas, Wesley Thomas, Eda Wallin, Karen Wortham, and Trina Wright.

This is the second summer that Clarendon teachers Jan Campbell and Gloria Gage have helped on their home delivery route. They hate to see them go "back to school!"

Lee Caskey and Eda Wallin are making plans for the Donley County Senior Citizens second annual Christmas in October Bazaar to be held on the first Saturday in October on October 7. They encourage any area crafters who would like to support the Center by donating hand made crafts, to do so. This is a great program and all help is greatly appreciated.

Keeping an eye on Texas

Texas could lose billions in Medicaid funds by 2002

If Medicaid funding formulas proposed by Congress are approved, Texas health care providers could lose close to $12 billion in seven years. Many counties would see total losses greater than $100 million. State Comptroller John Sharp has proposed the Fair Share Plan, a block grant proposal which would distribute Medicaid funds according to each state's percentage of the U.S. population and its poverty rate.

U.S. Cotton Industry Not Blue Over Jeans

Memphis - Americans' love for cotton clothing, particularly denim jeans, is showing no signs of waning. That love has enabled cotton to capture an additional 25 percent of the apparel market in the past decade.

According to the National Cotton Council of America's annual market research report, "Cotton Counts Its Customers," cotton captured 67 percent of the U.S. clothing market in 1994. That's up two percent from 1993. In 1985, cotton captured 42 percent of that market.

"Cotton's most recent surge in the apparel sector is due, in large part, to consumers' fondness for denim jeans," said Jim Howell, Council senior market analyst who compiled the report.

Howell said nearly 400 million pairs of denim jeans were made in the U.S. last year, up a significant 7.8 percent from 1993. That 7.8 percent increase required an additional 114,000 bales or nearly 35 million pounds of cotton.

"Denim continues to do extremely well," Howell said, noting that 1.9 million bales or nearly 500 million pounds of cotton were used in denim construction - mostly five-pocket jeans - in 1994. He said consumption of five-pocket jeans is being bolstered by more and more women buying men's jeans.

"They can get a better fit with men's jeans," said Howell, who has been tracking cotton and uses for 38 years.

U.S. denim jeans and other denim goods also are tremendously popular overseas, which, coupled with the soaring domestic use, is okay with U.S. cotton farmers. That's because about two pounds of cotton are used in the average pair of denim jeans.

Howell said the clamor for denim jeans is a solid indicator of Americans' move toward casual wear. Dutch Leonard, president of Burlington Industries' Denim Division in Greensboro, NC, agrees.

"We've underestimated this whole movement toward casual dressing in the workplace and at home," Leonard said. "This move has made denim more popular than ever before. Demand is strong, our major customers are forecasting healthy growth in the jeans business and we're seeing increasing demand for denim in shorts, shirts, and dresses as well."

Burlington is counting on the denim demand to continue. The company recently announced it will increase its denim capacity 20 percent, moving it from third to second largest U.S. denim producer.

While denim jeans' manufacture is strong, "Cotton Counts Its Customers" revealed all categories of cotton clothing realized healthy gains in 1994. T-shirts, sportswear, underwear, and other knits gained market share. Cotton woven clothing, such as 100 percent cotton and cotton-rich slacks and the wrinkle resistant products, also fared well.

"Wrinkle resistant has perked up consumers' interest in an already strong cotton clothing market," Howell said.

The Council report also revealed that cotton's top five markets in 1994 consumed about 5.64 million bales, almost half of the total U.S. made product consumption of 11.36 million bales. Those markets, in the order of usage were: men's and boys shirts, men's and boys' trousers (including jeans) and shorts, towels and wash cloths, drapery, upholstery, and slip cover fabrics, and women's pants (including jeans).

Howell noted that cotton's gains in the apparel sector and healthy usage in home furnishing and industrial uses, enabled the natural fiber to retain 38 percent of the total fiber market.

"Cotton Counts Its Customers" has been published by the Council since 1939 and draws on data supplied from personal contacts within the textile industry, the U.S. Department of Commerce, and various trade publications. The report is available to non-Council members for a fee by contacting the Council's Economics Services Department, P.O. Box 12285, Memphis, TN 38112 or call (901) 274-9030 or FAX (901) 725-0510.

From about April through October each year, TDH classifies mosquitoes collected from infested areas. This year alone, the TDH Bureau of Laboratories may classify as many as 100,000 specimens from throughout the state. In addition, the laboratories analyze blood samples from animals, particularly from test flocks of chickens in specified areas of the state, to detect encephalitis before human cases are reported. If mosquito-borne disease outbreaks occur, TDH assist local health authorities with insect control efforts.

Vaughn stressed that mosquito control is the responsibility of local governments - city, county, or designated mosquito control districts. "We advise the local authorities on pesticides and other control methods, assist with laboratory support and disease surveillance, but whether a local government sprays to control the insects is its own decision," he said.

He added, "But regardless of what the community does as a mass effort, individuals can do much to eliminate the places on their own property where mosquitoes can breed."

Vaughn explained that since mosquitoes must hatch in standing water, people should empty or dispose of any outside containers where water can collect. Old tires, outside flower pots, holes in trees, and clogged gutters on houses are infamous hatching places for mosquitoes. In addition, the water in pet dishes, children's wading pools, and bird baths should be changed at least twice a week. Also, door and window screens should be in good repair to prevent mosquitoes from moving indoors.

Citizens Can Control Mosquito Swarms

According to Texas health officials, this year's mild winter and wet spring have contributed to an annoying boom in the state's mosquito population. But although the insects may spoil some outdoor recreation, so far no mosquito-borne illness outbreaks have been reported.

Key Vaughn, chief of the vector control program of the Texas Department of Health (TDH) General Sanitation Division, said, "So far, most areas with mosquito infestations are bothered by pest varieties of the insects, not the more notorious disease vectors."

He explained that of about 83 mosquito varieties native to Texas, only four or five species readily transmit serious diseases. The viruses that cause St. Louis encephalitis, and eastern and western equine encephalitis are native to parts of Texas and are of special public health concern. Other mosquito-borne illnesses, dengue (or "break bone fever") and malaria, were endemic to the state early in the century, but today are rare in Texas and usually are "imported" by travelers from other countries.

Treat Now For White Grubs In Texas Lawns

By Zachary Wilcox

By treating now for white grubs, Texas homeowners can prevent unsightly dead patches from appearing in their lawns later in the season.

Now is the time to treat from mid-July through early August. After that time, the grubs will be too large to control.

White grubs are the larvae of the ordinary brown June beetles, the nondescript, brown bugs that buzz around porch lamps at night. Though June beetles like porch lights, they avoid the sunlight during the day by burrowing in the soil. It is at this time the insect lays its eggs.

Throughout most of Texas, adult June beetles appear and begin to lay eggs in late May and early June. In July, the eggs hatch, and the larvae, though still tiny, begin feeding on grass roots.

The beetle does not restrict its egg-laying to lawns. It may not be a problem. Because the adult beetles are attracted to household lights, some lawns may be especially hard hit.

Using a shovel, cut a foot-square section of sod about an inch deep and fold it back. The grubs should be easy to find if they're present. Look for small c-shaped grubs, white to cream color. If you count more than four in the square foot of exposed roots, then treatment is recommended.

Size of the grubs will vary depending upon the time of year during mid-July, the grubs should be from 1/8 to 1/4-inch long.

If you let them go, they will get as big around as your little finger. By then, it'll be too late to treat.

The treatment window is rather short. Mid-July is the best time, but homeowners may realize effective control up to early August. Use products that contain one of four active ingredients, diazinon, chlorpyrifos, carbaryl or bendiocarb.

Though diazinon has received some bad press lately, I consider it a safe product for the user and for the environment as long as label instructions are followed. Most of the problems occur when users exceed label rates or don't follow application instructions.

The Texas Legislature established the Agricultural Extension Service in 1915 under the provisions of the federal Smith-Lever Act of 1914. All 254 Texas Counties have a local Extension office, operating as a partnership between the Texas A&M University System and the local county government.

The Extension Service provides research-based information and education for agricultural producers, agribusinesses, consumers and citizens. The Extension Service disseminates expert, reliable and current information in the broad categories of agriculture, nutrition/home economics, environment/natural resources, community development and youth development.

Horse Heritage Center Adds Demonstration Arena

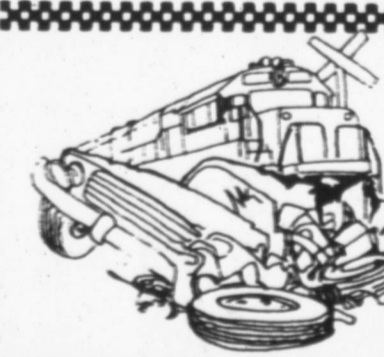

Amarillo - With the help of the Justin Boot Company, summer visitors to the American Quarter Horse Heritage Center & Museum have the opportunity to see American Quarter Horses in action. The museum's Justin Arena sports quality exhibitions provided by volunteers and their American Quarter Horses illustrating various activities which can be enjoyed horseback.

Outdoor demonstrations usually are featured twice a day, three times a week through mid-August - weather and arena conditions permitting. Additional demonstrations are arranged when requested by special groups, such as bus tours.

During each demonstration the arena program coordinator narrates the action in the ring via a public address system, thus educating spectators about American Quarter Horses and the American Quarter Horse Association, which is located adjacent to the Heritage Center. Past demonstrations have highlighted trick roping, reining, cutting, and English riding events.

For more information about the Justin Arena or the American Quarter Horse Heritage Center & Museum, please call (806) 376-5181.

Keeping an eye on Texas

Much of Texas burning up

Hot conditions are forcing Texas ranchers to thin down herds of cattle, sheep and goats, while farmers are seeing a decrease in harvests of vegetables, cotton, hay, wheat and grains. In spite of recent rainfall in some areas, many Texas counties have received less than average precipitation since the Spring of 1993.

1995 Property Tax Rates

This notice concerns 1995 property tax rates. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Alderman Meeting Minutes

The board of Aldermen of the City of Clarendon met in regular session on July 25, 1995 at 7:00 p.m. in the Board Room of City Hall. Member present were Mayor Steve Smith, Aldermen James Kuhn, Mac Stavenhagen, Bobbie Kidd, and Shawn Barker. Members absent were Delmar Wiggs. Others present were Jim Roberts, Holly Eads, Ann Alexander, and Beverly Alexander. Minutes of the July 11, 1995 meeting were read and approved upon a motion made by Alderman James Kuhn and seconded by Alderman Bobbie Kidd. Motion carried.

Jim Roberts responded to questions regarding the status of street paving and the construction progress of the Recycling Center. The addition of a street light at the corner of Jackson and Burkhead was also discussed. The City Council adopted the resolution regarding the Economic Development Corporation upon a motion made by Alderman James Kuhn and seconded by Alderman Shawn Barker. Motion carried. The City Attorney will proceed with filing incorporation papers with the Secretary of State. Beverly Alexander expressed appreciation for all of the work done in the North Ward Community by the City. She also requested that the City install street lights and a water faucet in the parks in the North Ward. A motion was made to do so by Alderman James Kuhn and seconded by Alderman Mac Stavenhagen. Motion carried.

Walt Knorpp was reappointed as Director of the Greenbelt Water Authority upon a motion made by Alderman Mac Stavenhagen and seconded by Alderman Shawn Barker. Motion carried. The Texas Department of Transportation has requested members of an Airport Advisory Board or Committee attend a meeting in Wellington on August 23, 1995. Mayor Steve Smith will try to attend this meeting and make inquiries on behalf of the City Council. Bids were accepted and opened during the Council meeting regarding the sale of the Peabody Hotel. Upon a motion made by Alderman Mac Stavenhagen and seconded by Alderman Shawn Barker, a bid from Don Johnston Construction for $6,900.00 was approved with a time limit on restoration to be limited to five (5) years and construction approval by City Council. City Council did also agree to waive City taxes only on this property. The only other bid presented was Frank Hommel for the amount of $452.50.

Mayor Steve Smith stated that he had taken Dr. Richard Gilkey to see four (4) buildings, all of which Dr. Gilkey condemned. The City Attorney will be writing letters to those property owners who will have thirty (30) days to cooperate. Extermination of another property was discussed and Jim Roberts will be contacting Dr. Gilkey regarding this also. There being no further business at this time, motion was made by Alderman Mac Stavenhagen to adjourn, seconded by Alderman Shawn Barker. Motion carried.

"Minding Your Own Business"

By Don Taylor

Cashing Out

I'm convinced that it is much harder to sell a business than start one. I've visited with several business owners who were ready to sell and they tell me it is a difficult and frustrating process.

"No one wants to give me close to what my business is worth," one owner complained. Another asked, "Isn't my sweat equity worth anything?" This owner told me he spent nearly 30 years building his business and wanted to fund his retirement from it. Still another said, "I'd sell in a minute if I could get enough to pay off my debts."

On the surface these owners' desires appear reasonable enough. Building a successful small business is hard work and does take time. It is natural to think recovering what you've put into your business is a reasonable request.

However, cashing out isn't easy. Many owners tell me it is difficult to find a qualified buyer who agrees with their value of the business.

Selling problems

The No. 1 problem in selling a business is that owners base their asking price on factors that have little bearing on the true value of the business. There is no reliable blue book for businesses as there is for automobiles. Therefore, owners usually set a price based on what they want for retirement, the amount of money they've put into the business or enough to pay off debt and give them a nest egg. These methods of pricing a business usually result in an unrealistic value compared to the business's actual worth.

There are several other factors that cause difficulties in selling a business. A common problem for both buyers and sellers is confusing the book value of the business's assets with their market value. Book value reflects only the original purchase price of the assets minus allowable depreciation. This is a balance sheet number, and may not be close to the current market value of the assets if sold.

Other problems include assuming that an offer made for your business five years ago is still a valid price indicator today. Some owners have trouble selling because they are getting bad advice from friends, relatives and other unqualified experts.

One owner named her price because a friend told her she had sold her business for that amount. Still another picked a price based on buying all new assets to start over. Unfortunately, it is unlikely that any of these methods will establish a fair and marketable price. A fair price

There are several ways to arrive at a fair selling price. Some are very sophisticated; others are simple. The best methods consider factors that are part of the business's elements of value.

Most businesses have two basic elements of value. The first is the market value of all assets owned by the business. The second element of value is the earning power of the business.

For the sake of simplicity, let's assume a rental truck business consists of 10 trucks each worth $10,000 in the blue book of truck values. The owner rents the building, lot and furniture used to operate the business. Therefore, the total asset value of the business is $100,000 (ten trucks worth $10,000 each).

You measure the second element by analyzing how you use the assets (trucks) to produce income. In this example, the owner earns $50,000 net income each year by renting the trucks out to delivery companies, individuals and government agencies. Obviously, the business has some value above the value of the assets. You must consider both value elements to arrive at a fair price.

MAKING FAMILY LIFE MORE FUN

TV Or Not TV? That's Not The Only Question

(NAPS)—For most families, there are two areas of concern when it comes to television and the new equipment that can come with it: quality and quantity. That is, what is the quality of the shows that come in and the picture they present and how many channels can you get for how much technology?

Many have found the answers through a system called Full View TV. It offers up to 350 channels including 100 free TV channels, 100 free radio channels and 150 subscription channels, often at less than cable would charge. This is partly because the system has access to 21 satellites, not just one.

As to the quality, it presents parents with more control over what their children watch. An on-screen display features the title of each program, the rating if it's a movie and the running time. There's also a lockout control that prevents access to specified programs or channels without the use of a personal password. With so many channels to choose from, parents can tailor program packages to contain only family and educational programs.

Next, the quality of the equipment: families can rest assured knowing they're using proven technology that has worked well for more than three million people across the country. Much of it is used by nearly every cable company and virtually every programmer in America. It provides a clear image in almost any kind of weather.

To get the big picture when it comes to TV reception, many families agree it's a good idea to get a Full View TV satellite system.

General Instrument Corporation has developed much of the technology used in Full View TV. The system's larger dish is often considered superior to smaller versions. Viewers get crystal-clear reception, CD-quality sound and thousands of entertainment choices a week.

To find out how to get satellite TV for your family, you can call 1-800-778-4900 or visit your nearest satellite dealer.

Hedley School Registration Set

Another year at Hedley School is about to begin. This is a schedule of events to help the students and parents get ready for that first day. Pre-registration will be held on Tuesday, August 15 from 1:00 p.m. until 4:00 p.m.

Students entering Hedley School for the first time should bring their birth certificate, immunization records, and a social security number or an address so these things may be obtained.

School starts on Friday, August 18 at 8:00 a.m. Back to School Night will be Thursday, August 17 at 7:00 p.m. This will be general meeting with all the teachers, students, and parents in the cafeteria, then parents will be able to visit classrooms. Registration will begin after this meeting. The students will run through a short schedule and refreshments will be served in the cafeteria.

Cut the Fat, Not the Taste When You Cook Outdoors

(NU) - Summer always brings a personal dilemma: You want to look terrific in your bathing suits and shorts, but you also want to enjoy all those great things to eat at the neighborhood barbecues.

With some planning, though, you can do both. Here are some suggestions from weight management expert Jenny Craig:

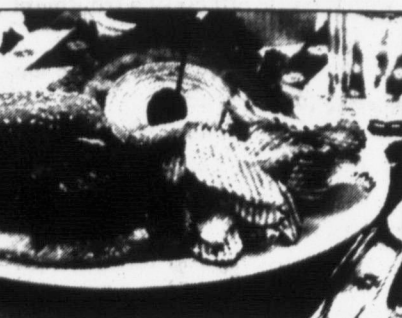

- Don't overdose on appetizers. Thick dips and chips will stay with you all summer long. So snack on plain veggies, fat-free beans and salsa.

- Think thin when selecting meats. Instead of regular ground beef, choose lean beef, or better yet ground turkey breast which has much less fat.

- Skip the spareribs and go for pork tenderloin. Chicken is always a good choice, but go easy on the barbecue sauce.

- As an alternative, try marinating chicken breasts, fish, chops and steaks.
- Slim down your side dishes — if it's creamy, steer clear. Potato salad, macaroni salad, cole slaw and certain casseroles contain heaps of calories and lots of fat. Replace mayonnaise, whole milk and butter with plain non-fat yogurt and evaporated skim milk. You'll never know the difference.

- You can have your cake and eat it too. Many cake, brownie and cookie recipes are just as good minus the fat. For example, replace

With some smart planning, you can enjoy delicious summer foods and still stay slim.

- cooking oil with like amounts of applesauce or prune puree. You'll not only keep your desserts moist and delicious, you'll also add a little fiber to your delicacy.

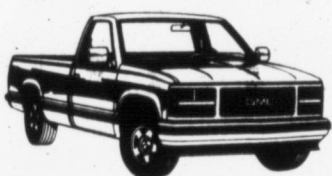

- Keep your cool at the barbecue. To avoid overindulging: — Arrive late and leave early so you'll have less time to eat.

- Fill yourself up with a large glass of water just before mealtime.
- Join in the Frisbee and badminton games to keep your mind off food.

- Make your food selections before approaching the buffet table and stick with your choices.
- Be the last one in line so there's no time for seconds.

- Focus on the fun and ignore that little voice that says "eat, eat, eat."

For more information on weight management, Jenny Craig offers a toll-free phone number, 1-800-43-JENNY, which connects callers with a nearby Jenny Craig center.

Attitude Makes Difference In Getting Well

Houston - Dying of cancer, one woman was grateful for time to share memories with her children. Another patient saw chemotherapy as a chance to make friends with the nurses she'd never have met otherwise. Call them Pollyannas or call them naive, but they're likely to live longer.

"A positive attitude sometimes is the difference between getting well and not getting well," says Philip McCarthy, MD, an oncologist-hematologist at The Methodist Hospital in Houston, whose daily post overseeing bone marrow transplant unit has allowed him countless opportunities to witness the differences in healing between optimist and pessimists.

Optimists stay positive and expect the best outcome regardless of their limitations. Pessimists, on the other hand, assume the worst will happen and that they are powerless to alter their fate. They're wrong.

McCarthy and other Methodist physicians and nurses attest that patients who arm themselves with optimism are better able to battle illness and strengthen their immune system. Those who surrender to pessimism often find that their minds and bodies turn against them.

That attitude affects illness has been acknowledged nationally. Using standardized psychological tests to distinguish the optimist from the pessimist, doctors have shown a distinct connection between healing and frame of mind.

As Methodist's acting chief of hematology and oncology, Garrett R. Lynch, MD, sees a range of attitudes in people dealing with serious illness. The futility that pessimists envision, he says, often becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy.

"They won't seek all the options," says Lynch. "They won't want to put up with the side effects of a treatment that can cure them."

While Mari Rude, a cancer nurse specialist at Methodist, hasn't conducted formal research, experience has shown her that positive thinkers also seem to suffer less than pessimists while undergoing treatment.

"Cancer patients who automatically assume doom and gloom seem to have more side effects from chemotherapy or radiation," Rude says. "They're slower to recover from surgery, and they aren't able to go on with their normal lifestyles."

How easy is it for health professionals to distinguish the cheerful from the gloomy?

An optimist approaches an illness differently from the start, says Rude, and you usually can tell from the questions they ask.

"Optimists ask when they can return to their normal activities, how long their recovery will be and how they can best manage side effects so the won't be limited," Rude says. "Pessimists focus on how they'll suffer rather than how they can cope. They usually talk about how weak they're going to be."

So is it possible to harness pessimism and get a better grip on the reins of health?

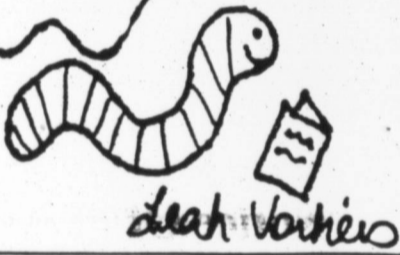

Unfortunately, our attitude to life is formed in childhood and difficult to alter.

"You can't suddenly change a person's personality because they've come down with a serious illness," Rude says, "but you can recommend that pessimists seek therapy and look to friends and family for support."

Watch Out For Children In School Zones

We've all heard the saying, "Kids say the darndest things!" Well kids do the darndest things, especially around school zones. With school starting up again, there's sure to be trouble afoot. Now is the time for drivers to start thinking about the dangers this presents.

Whether you drive in school zones once a year or work there every day, you can never forget certain lessons. One is that you have to use better judgement that the 7-year olds who surround you, according to Trooper L.B. Snider, Public Information Officer for the Texas Department of Public Safety.

"It's important to remember that kids aren't small adults, and they don't think like adults. They lack experience with traffic, and they don't always act logically. When you sound your horn, for instance, a child may think its okay to cross the street in front of your vehicle," Snider added.

Children also have limited perceptual skills. Sometimes they can't even tell if your vehicle is in motion or stopped. They can't accurately judge the speed and distance of vehicles or detect safe gaps in traffic.

"Elementary school aged children often aren't tall enough to be seen on the other side of a parked car, or as they move between vehicles to cross the street when they're being picked up. School zones are not the time to light a cigarette or call the office on your car phone," Snider says.

The key is to see children in time to avoid a collision. Search from curb to curb for kids who could enter your path. Everyone who enters the roadway is vulnerable to injury, but children on foot are even more at risk.

Many times the kids probably have their minds on school or friends, not on the vehicles moving around them. That means it's your job to be even more aware of what's going on around you. Since it's hard to predict kids actions near schools, try to avoid these areas. Reroute your trip, if possible, to avoid peak drop-off and pick-up times and getting stuck behind a school bus.

However, if you can't avoid a drive through a school zone, the best strategy is to just slow down and stay alert. It's up to us to take precautionary steps to keep kids alive and safe.

Floodplains And Wetlands Notice Of Explanation

August 3, 1995
The City of Clarendon, Texas intends to undertake a sewer line improvements for residents along an area bounded by Faker

Street, 4th Street, Kearney Street, and Cooke Street as a CDBG project under the Texas Community Development Program for non-entitlement cities and counties. The project will provide improved sanitary sewer services for 186 low and moderate income families. The project is located in the 100 - year floodplain. The proposed sewer improvements cannot be undertaken in any other location as relocation costs would exceed available program resources. Failure to provide the sewer improvements would result in the continued unsafe and unhealthy living conditions for the 186 families. It is the City's judgment that the improvements to the existing structures outweigh consideration for Executive Order 11988/11990. Please extend or send written comments to Mayor Steve Smith, City Hall, Clarendon, Texas, 79226. Comments will be received until August 12, 1995. Steve Smith, Mayor of Clarendon Environmental Certifying Official 31-1tc
