Thornberry Holds Town Meeting

by Roger Estlack

Rep. Mac Thornberry reported on his first six months in office and outlined issues currently being considered in Congress when he held a town meeting here Sunday.

About 30 local citizens came to Sunday's meeting in the Bairfield Activity Center to hear the congressman speak.

Thornberry briefly discussed the Republican majority's "Contract with America." Ten reform-minded items were voted on in the new Congress' first 100 days. All points were passed by the House of Representatives except term limits, which fell about 60 votes short of the two-thirds needed for passage.

However, term limits is not a dead issue according to the freshman Republican. Thornberry said he felt the issue would be voted on again after the elections next year.

Thornberry said that the budget is Congress' top priority right now, and it will remain so well through August. He said that he feels it is necessary to balance the budget in order to stop interest on the national debt from gobbling up the federal budget.

"Sixteen percent of the current budget goes to pay interest on the debt," Thornberry said. "Next year it will surpass defense to become the second largest expenditure in the budget."

Congress is also trying to find a way to save the Medicare system from bankruptcy. "If we don't do something, the Medicare Trust Fund will be bankrupt by 2002," Thornberry said.

"It is possible to save Medicare by simply slowing its rate of growth. We can still increase Medicare expenditures, but it must be limited to only about 3% increase per year rather than 6 or 7%."

Thornberry said his office is still seeking recommendations for improvements in the Medicare system, and he urged people to contact him if they have any suggestions.

Thornberry then opened the floor to a variety of questions from the audience.

Concerned that efforts to reform environmental protection laws might result in dirtier water and air, one citizen asked if Thornberry was concerned that Congress might "throw the baby out with the bathwater."

The congressman answered that when it comes to EPA rules, "there is a lot more bathwater than baby."

"We have to rely more on the states for these things," Thornberry said. "It's nonsense to believe that only folks in Washington know what's best."

In closing, Thornberry thanked his constituents for the opportunity to represent them in Washington. "It is a big honor to serve you," he said.

Economy: Employment Good; Sales Off

According to State Comptroller John Sharp, Texas' economy is growing, even though retail sales are off. "While the Texas economy continues to grow at a healthy rate, retail sales have cooled somewhat from their previous torrid pace. Statewide employment continues to spiral upward to nearly 8 million jobs, a 3.6 increase in the past year."

June's sales figures reflect taxes collected on May sales and reported to the State in June.

Donley County's sales were off by (-)7.07 per cent compared to June of last year, and down (-)6.92 per cent for a comparable period last year (i.e. Year-to-Date or YTD). Clarendon was lower by (-)0.19 per cent for June and (-)7.51 per cent for the YTD. Howardwick slumped by -41.67 per cent for the month and declined (-)11.90 per cent for the longer period. Hedley's figures were listed as "unable to compare."

Most area towns posted similar results. Armstrong County (Claude) looked good for the month, with a positive (+)29.09 per cent, but performance over the YTD was negative (-)20.07 per cent. Briscoe Counties were also mixed, but with the June number a negative [- 11.65] and the YTD a positive [+3.4 per cent]. Carson County (Groom, Panhandle, Skellytown and White Deer) chalked up improvement on both tallies, 8.32 and 9.02 per cent, respectively.

Childress saw lower sales in June, -1.67 per cent, but the county and city have good sales for this segment of 1995, with a +2.25 per cent. Collingsworth did not perform as well as in 1994 on either category: -19.03 and -0.59 per cent. Gray County (LeFors, McLean and Pampa) also failed to make sales grow, with a -11.06 and a -2.73 per cent. Hall County (Memphis, Esteline, Lakeview and Turkey) had a good June (+2.57 per cent) but a poorer long term (-2.85 per cent). Hardeman County (Chillicothe and Quanah) squeaked by with both numbers on the plus side: 0.27 per cent and 8.53 per cent. Hemphill County (Canadian) turned in similar results, .46 per cent and -0.22 per cent.

Hutchinson (Borger, Fritch, Sanford and Stinnett) was -8.30 for June and -2.81 YTD. Motley County (Matador and Roaring Springs) was off for June (-)5.37 per cent but was positive—barely—with 0.08 per cent for the year.

Potter County (Amarillo) won big in 1995. Its June was 11.80 per cent better than last year's, and sales grew by 6.88 per cent Year-to-Date. Neighboring Randall County (Canyon) almost managed a positive figure in both categories. Canyon's June was 3.22 per cent, but their YTD missed the positive side by less than a half-percent. Their YTD equaled -0.49 per cent.

Roberts Count (Miami) sold almost 10 per cent more than in June a year ago, with a (+)9.99 per cent. Unfortunately their YTD was a -1.68 per cent. Wheeler County (the towns of Mobeetie, Shamrock and Wheeler) saw sales decline in June by (-)8.13 but they increased for the YTD with (+)8.82 per cent.

Loans Available for Purchasing Farm Land

The Texas Agricultural Finance Authority, administered through the Texas Department of Agriculture, is accepting applications for a new loan program that helps individuals purchase up to $150,000 worth of farm or ranch land, Agriculture commissioner Rick Perry said.

"Our Farm and Ranch Finance Program is for producers who want to buy their first place or for those who want to expand their operations," Perry said. "Applicants must have at least three years of farming or ranching experience."

A Texas A&M University study conducted among producers and financial institutions in May 1994 found that a demand exists in Texas for almost $300 million in loans to help individuals, who are farming and ranching, buy land, Perry said.

"Many producers nowadays lease land and have been unable to save enough for a down payment," Perry said. "Our Farm and Ranch Program will allow those who don't have a large amount of cash on hand to buy a limited amount of acreage."

Applicants must be Texas residents and show that they have earned at least 25 percent of their gross income from farming and ranching over the last three years. Applicants will be required to complete a business plan demonstrating that they intend to be full-time agricultural producers, and they must provide evidence that their net worth is less than $250,000. Applicants also must prove that they have finances available for necessary farming and ranching equipment and operating costs.

Applications must be completed in cooperation with a local lending institution. The maximum loan of $150,000 may not exceed 95 percent of the land's appraised value or 95 percent of the purchase price. Interest rates are based on market conditions and will be adjusted over the life of the loan. The rates must be approved by the lender and the Texas Agricultural Finance Authority. As of June 5, the interest rate was 9.75 percent.

In addition to the Farm and Ranch Finance Program, changes have been made in TAFE's Young Farmer Guarantee Program to encourage more applicants. The program was established to help those between 18 and 40 years old start their first agricultural operation. Loans guarantees may be used for purchases of feed, seed, fertilizer, livestock, poultry, farm or ranch equipment, farm or ranch buildings or to lease farm or ranch land.

Changes in the Young Farmer program are: the maximum amount of agricultural income an applicant may earn to be eligible for the program has been increased from 25 percent to 50 percent; the down payment has been reduced from 20 percent to 5 percent; and the program's application form has been streamlined. Applicants will still be required to complete a five-year business plan.

To receive an application for any loan program administered by TAFE, or for more information about these loan programs and others, call TDA in Austin at (512) 475-1619; fax (512) 475-1762 or write: the Texas Agricultural Finance Authority, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711-2847.

Clarendon College Reaffirmed By Regional Accrediting Agency

Clarendon College officials on July 17, 1995, received official notification that the institution has been reaffirmed by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS).

The Southern Association is a regional accrediting agency which conducts periodic reviews of all its member institutions to assure that appropriate standards of quality are being met.

Clarendon College began its reaffirmation process some two years ago by conducting an internal self-study, headed by Dr. Kelvin Sharp, Dean of Instruction.

Following the submission of its self-study, the college was reviewed on-site by a SACS visiting team consisting of representatives from colleges across the South/Southwest region. The findings of the visiting team were then presented to the SACS Committee of Reaffirmation, which announced its final rendering on Clarendon College June 28, in a meeting at Atlanta, Georgia.

"We are very proud and pleased that Clarendon College has been reaffirmed," said Dr. Scott Elliott, college president. "Dr. Sharp should be commended on a fine job in guiding the college through what is an arduous and complex process - from faculty to staff to administration - should likewise be commended."

Elliott added that "Clarendon College is like all institutions in that formidable challenges remain on the horizon."

"Being reaffirmed doesn't mean that Clarendon College is perfect," Elliott concluded. "No college is perfect. But it does mean that the college has demonstrated compliance with established criteria on quality education. We still have some follow-up work to be conducted with SACS, but the bottom line is that the college has been reaffirmed, and in that we should all take great pride."

The DCSC staff celebrated Trina Wright's birthday at the Center Monday 7/10. She is a whopping 24 years old.

The Friday, July 14 meal was especially delicious because Bill and Nita Meador provided garden-fresh green beans. Everyone enjoyed them.

C.C. Ayers was at the Center to celebrate his 92 birthday last Tuesday, July 11. His wife, Grace, was teasing him about all the attention he was receiving.

Claude Thomas built a display case for the Center and delivered it Friday. Now they will be able to fill it with some of the crafts that the ladies have made. They will offer a "gift nook" to their members and to the people of Clarendon. If you need a gift for someone special come by and shop with us. As always, all proceeds will benefit the Donley County Senior Citizens Center.

For the July birthday/anniversary supper on July 25, the Nifty Fifties will be here to entertain them. This is a group of ladies from Memphis that have been there before and they have always been enjoyed.

They have received a request for some information concerning a Mr. Ellis Lancaster. His granddaughter, Rosalyn White, was at the Center Friday, July 7, and she is trying to locate anyone who might have known her grandfather. Mr. Lancaster, his pregnant wife, Maude, and five children were picking cotton in Donley County in November 1924. Mr. Lancaster was found dead in the field when he did not come in for dinner. He was 34 years old. They had no family in this area. The county buried him. A Baptist preacher named Kennedy performed the services. Mr. Lancaster was a talented fiddle player who played for area dances. Mrs. Lancaster's brothers came to take the family back to Central Texas. This is all the information the family has concerning Mr. Lancaster. Anyone with more information may contact: Rosalyn White, 703 S. Ave S, Clifton, TX 76634.

Keep Picnics Safe

To prevent food-borne illnesses from ruining picnics this summer, remember three simple rules: keep it clean, keep it cold, and keep it covered.

"Most cases of food poisoning are caused by careless food preparation, storage, and serving," said Dr. Corinne Montandon, a nutritionist at the USDA's Children's Nutrition Research Center and an assistant professor of pediatrics at Baylor College of Medicine.

Montandon believes that safe food handling begins with a clean work area and clean hands.

"As you prepare your family's picnic favorites be sure that countertops, cutting boards, and all the utensils that touch the foods are clean," she said.

"Always wash hands with warm soapy water before preparing, packing, and serving foods, and take along disposable hand wipes in case there is no running water at the picnic site."

According to Montandon, bacteria multiplies quickly in foods left at room temperature so refrigerate foods soon after preparation.

Some foods are more susceptible to bacterial growth than others. Foods that require special attention include meat, poultry, fish, shellfish, meat-and-seafood salads, potato salad, milk products, eggs, cream pies, and custards.

If someone becomes ill, give them plenty of fluids to prevent dehydration. If you suspect a food-borne illness, contact your physician as quickly as possible.

PPHM Offers Workshops

According to a press release, three all-day Basic Methods Workshops for archeology and paleontology are planned for July, August, and September at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum.

The first workshop will cover recording archeological sites, the second workshop will deal with archeological laboratory methods, and the third workshop will cover paleontological laboratory and field methods. The workshops are co-sponsored by the PPHM and the Summerlee Foundation through a grant to the Panhandle Museum Resource Sharing Consortium.

The workshops are designed for individuals from the eighth grade through adult who are interested in archeology and paleontology but have little or no training in these fields. The main objective of the workshops is to familiarize participants with current procedures for recording and processing archeological and paleontological sites and collections. If these workshops are successful, additional workshops that cover other topics in archeology, paleontology, geology, or natural history may be offered.

The Archeological Site Recording Workshop, scheduled for Saturday, July 29, will be led by Pat Mercado-Allinger of the Office of the State Archeologist. Topics to be discussed include the Texas Panhandle-Plains archeology; landowner's rights; completing archeological site forms; locating sites on topographic maps; and determining UTM coordinates. Deadline for reservations is July 17.

The Archeology Laboratory Workshop will be led by Gail Bailey of the Texas Archeological Research Laboratory at Austin. This workshop is scheduled for August 26 and deadline for reservations is August 14. Topics will include artifact processing and labeling with proper materials, inventorying artifacts and other materials, and data entry. The pros and cons of various lot numbering systems also will be discussed. Ms. Bailey will bring samples of materials for people to examine and show slides of lab procedures.

The Paleontology Workshop will be co-led by Mr. Charles Finsley, Earth Sciences Curator at the Dallas Museum of Natural History, and Dr. Gerald Schultz, Paleontology Professor at West Texas A&M University. Topics to be covered include Texas Panhandle-Plains paleontology, field methods, collection and analysis of specimens, and the care, molding and casting of specimens. The workshop date is September 16, with reservation deadline of September 4.

The full registration fee (non-refundable) is $10.50 for members of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, Museum Auxiliary or students and $12 for non-members. The fee includes morning doughnuts and coffee, a sack lunch and soft drink (optional), and instructional handouts. For those who prefer to provide their own lunch, the registration fee (non-refundable) is $8 for PPHS members or students and $9.50 for non-members. Each workshop is scheduled from 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m., with morning and afternoon breaks and a 45-minute lunch.

For additional information, please contact the coordinator, Ms. A.J. Taylor, at (806) 656-2259 or Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum, WTAMU Box 967, Canyon, TX 79016.

US Senate Votes to Allow Repeal of 55 MPH Speed Limit

WASHINGTON -- The US Senate has voted 65-35 to turn back to the states the right to set speed limits for automobiles. Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, supported the repeal of the 55 mph national speed limit.

"Driving long distance across Texas at 55 mph, two things happen. You either get discouraged and turn back, or you're going to get run over," joked Gramm, adding that he believed the Texas Legislature was fully capable of setting an appropriate speed limit in rural areas.

Current law sets national limits for all vehicles of 55 mph on most roads and 65 mph on rural interstates.

"It's illogical for politicians in traffic-congested Washington, D.C. to make a law that sets the same speed limit on a 100-mile stretch of the Texas Panhandle and a crowded Houston freeway," Gramm said.

The primary aim of the bill is to designate 159,886 miles of roads across the country -- primary interstates and main highways -- as the National Highway System and provide $13 billion over two years to upgrade these roads. The measure has yet to be considered by the House.

Under a 1991 law, roughly $440 million from the Highway Trust Fund is to be provided in each of 1996 and 1997 to help improve and maintain Texas roads, if the National Highway System is officially designated by Sept. 30 of this year.

In 1974, Congress set a national speed limit of 55 mph in an effort to conserve gasoline at the height of the Arab oil embargo. Congress approved a 65 mph speed limit for rural interstates in 1987, and extended it to four-lane highways in 1991, subject to state approval.

During the three-day event, a total of $29,220.38 in prize money was won by the top 51 contestants out of 435 entrants. The results for each category were as follows:

Memorial Dedication Planned

The welcome home celebration will consist of ceremonies and events designed to honor all veterans of the Korean War and to dedicate the Korean War Veterans Memorial. Events include a full honors military parade; a troop muster of veterans of the war; a wreath laying ceremony at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier; live entertainment and displays on the National Mall; fireworks; academic seminars; and the National Dedication Ceremony of the Korean War Veterans Memorial by President Clinton and, from the Republic of Korea, President Kim.

Many Korean War commemoration and reunions will be taking place during the 4-day event. For more information, contact Greg Player, Public Affairs Officer, or Libby Kling, Public Affairs Office, at (202) 208-3561 or write to: Korean War Veterans Advisory Board, Public Affairs Office, 18th and C Streets, NW, Room 7424, Washington, DC 20240-9997. FCC Urges: Have Safe Trip on the Information Highway

By The Federal Communications Commission

It's summer and Americans are taking to the roads. Whether you're traveling the real highway or the information highway, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) wants you to have a safe trip.

Each year, about three billion "away from home" calls are made from hotel and motel phones, payphones and other public phones. And most calls don't cause any problem. But every month the FCC receives more than 300 complaints from consumers who fell into a telephone trap for the unwary.

Carriers that serve hotels, motels, payphones in airports, hospitals and other public places are called Operator Service Providers (OSPs). If you dial 0+ the phone number you are dialing, your call is routed to the OSP that serves that phone.

The OSP that handles your call may or may not be your carrier and may or may not charge the rates that are about the same as your carrier.

Many callers mistakenly believe if they use a telephone calling card or credit card, the call will always be rerouted to their own carriers.

These callers can then be unpleasantly surprised by high telephone bills from one trip out of town - or one stop at a payphone.

As the summer travel season nears, the FCC wants consumers to know they have rights and can make their own choice when they use a public phone.

FCC rules guarantee consumers using public phones the following rights:

> You have the right to know the carrier that will handle the call.

> You can find out how much you will be charged for that call and, if you think it's too much, how you can access the carrier of your choice.

> You are guaranteed the right to reach the carrier of your choice. If you have a calling card for a long distance carrier, look at the back for instructions on how to reach that carrier using an access code. If not, call your carrier before you leave home and ask for this information.

You can protect yourself when using the information highway just like you protect yourself when crossing a real highway - STOP-LOOK-LISTEN.

STOP before you use the phone in a hotel room, airport, hospital or other public place.

LOOK at the information on the phone. These phones are required by law to have posted on or near them the name of the carrier serving that phone and information on how to check the rates for that carrier.

LISTEN after you dial for the message naming the carrier that is handling your call. If you don't like what you hear, hang up.

If you get stung by high rates, you should first try to resolve your complaint with the carrier that handled your call. If the call was made in-state, file your complaint with that state's local or state regulatory commission. If the call was made between states, you can file a complaint with the FCC. Send a letter describing what happened to:

FCC
Common Carrier Bureau
Enforcement Division
Informal Complaints and Public Inquiries Branch, Mail Stop 1600A2
Washington, D.C. 20554.

Include the name of the carrier that handled your call, the name of the location where call was made (hotel name or payphone location, for example) and a copy of your phone bill.

(This article is an unofficial announcement. Only release of the full text of a Commission order constitutes official action. For information, write the FCC, Office of Public Affairs, 1919 M Street NW, Room 254, Washington, D.C., 20554 or call 202-418-0200 or TT at 202-418-2555).

Veterans Use Experience For College And Career Credit

If you are reading this, chances are that you or someone in your family is a veteran. In fact, over 26 million Americans are veterans of the U.S. armed services. This includes an astounding 14.5 million Army veterans who have had extensive military experience and training, training that should not go to waste upon leaving the service. For the last nine years, the American Council on Education (ACE) has worked with the U.S. Army to help soldiers, employers, and college admissions officers understand just what military experience is worth.

The Army/American Council on Education Registry Transcript System (AARTS) offers a document that translates Army military course work and experience into civilian terms for both enlisted soldiers and National Guard personnel who entered active duty on or after October 1981. Since its inception, AARTS has been used by thousands of Army servicemembers who need a permanent record of the skills and knowledge gained from their military education and training experience. The transcript can be especially useful to Army veterans who are applying to college. As one university administrator observed, "The transcript takes the guess-work out of awarding academic credit for servicemembers' experience, making the whole process so easy for both the soldier and the admissions officer." In addition to helping college officials, the transcript also provides employers with a better understanding of the responsibilities and skills that Army servicemembers gained on active duty. As such, veterans often find that AARTS transcripts are excellent supplements to their resumes. As one soldier commented, "(The transcript) proved to my employer that I definitely had the essential skills needed for the job."

Eligible Army servicemembers may obtain a transcript request form (5454R) from Army education center or college counselors or by writing to AARTS, Ft. Leavenworth, KS 66027-5073. The transcripts are available at no charge. For further information on the Army/ACE Registry Transcript System, call (202) 939-9434 or write to AARTS, Center for Adult Learning and Educational Credentials, One Dupont Circle N.W., Suite 250, Washington, DC 20036.

Propane Directory Helps Travelers Find Fuel

Travelers who drive propane-powered vehicles or use propane appliances in their RV's now have unparalleled access to their chosen fuel, thanks to the Texas Railroad Commission.

The commission's newly updated directory lists 910 Texas businesses that refuel vehicles with propane and 1,026 that refill bottles and tanks.

The 142-page 1995 Texas Propane Services Directory lists outlets for all propane services, not just motor vehicle refueling. It is organized alphabetically by city, with a key showing which services each business offers. A total of 1,228 listed locations offer services such as home fuel delivery, car and truck refueling, engine conversion, and cylinder and bottle refilling for propane grills and recreational vehicles.

Copies of the directory are available free at any of the Texas Department of Transportation's 12 Travel Information Centers statewide and by request from the Railroad Commission's Alternative Fuels Research and Education Division.

For further information on the directory or propane as an environmentally beneficial alternative fuel, call the Railroad Commission's toll-free propane information line (800) 64-CLEAR.

Texas A&M Will Train Russians in Ag Businesses

COLLEGE STATION — Texas A&M University has signed an agreement with the Russian Ministry of Agriculture to help develop an agribusiness training program throughout Russia — a move aimed at accelerating the country's transition toward a free-market economy.

The $2 million project will address one of the most fundamental problems facing Russian agriculture: how to manage the change from centralized, government-controlled collectives to farming enterprises that are private, autonomous and market-driven.

Medicare Provides Breast Cancer Screening

Did you know that more than half of the new breast cancer cases diagnosed this year will be among women 65 and older? And did you know that only 37 percent of eligible women will take advantage of a Medicare breast cancer screening benefit that can help detect the disease?

The American Cancer Society and the American Association of Retired Persons are joining forces to promote breast health awareness among women 65 and older. Volunteers from both organizations in communities across the state are linking up to develop activities that will encourage more Medicare eligible women to take advantage of the mammography screening benefit.

"The American Cancer Society and the American Association of Retired Persons have two of the largest volunteer networks in Texas," said Mary Nowotny, Rn, PhD, chair of the Texas Breast Cancer Detection Campaign. "Together we can help decrease breast cancer deaths by 30 percent and help women and their families lead happier, healthier lives."

Since January 1, 1991, Medicare has been helping to pay for mammography screening for the early detection of breast cancer. Screening mammograms, together with a physician's consultation on the results, are covered by Medicare once every two years for women aged 65 and over. For other women covered by Medicare, test coverage varies by age and risk category.

Because of screening tools like mammography, breast cancer is being detected earlier and breast cancer death rates are dropping. For more information about breast cancer detection and mammography, call the American Cancer Society at (800) ACS-2345, or the National Cancer Institute at (800) 4-CANCER.

Poor People Pay for State Lottery

COLLEGE STATION — A study by Texas A&M University researchers finds that the Texas State Lottery has the largest impact on Texans with the lowest incomes.

In a telephone poll of more than 1,000 Texas households, researchers found that low-income residents earn only 2 percent of all incomes in the state, but provide almost 10 percent of the lottery's revenue.

Minorities and the less-educated also spend a greater proportion of their income on the lottery, according to Dr. Donald R. Deere, associate professor of economics, and Dr. James Dyer, associate professor of political science, both at Texas A&M.

The researchers found that residents with a high school education spend an average of $11.31 a month on the lottery. Those who have not completed high school spend $8.74 and those with college degrees spend $6.95.

College-educated players spend only one-fourth of 1 percent of their income on the lottery, compared to nearly two-thirds of 1 percent for those with a high school education. Yet those who have not finished high school spend slightly more than 1 percent of their salaries on gambling.
