Deluge Of Rain Causes Heavy Damage To Crops At Ashtola

Crops in the Martin to Ashtola area suffered heavy damage early Monday morning when a heavy cloud roiling in from the west dropped from 4 to 6 inches of rain on that area, tapering off to 1.25 at Lelia Lake.

Farmers in the Ashtola area said damage was heavy to crops and especially to their fields due to the fast run-off as the deluge fell mainly in less than an hour. It will take years to even try to rebuild the top soil.

Ben Lovell recorded 4.08 inches at Ashtola but several farmers to the north and east caught 5 to 6 inches in their rain gauges. Lakes are numerous in the area which will prevent getting back into the fields to replant.

Here in town our official weather observer recorded 2.77 inches in the southeast part of town but 3 to 4 inches were recorded in other localities here. To the south of town 2.75 was recorded and the fall was light in the northeast part of the county.

This downpour missed the July 4th celebration by just one night. If you recall, we received a similar deluge of rain July 3-4th last year that wiped out hundreds of acres of crops also.

Work Progressing On Dam Project Plans

The Topographical Maps of the Salt Fork of Red River and the area drained by the river were received by the Greenbelt Water Authority Monday, June 22nd. The authority's engineers, Freeze and Nichols of Fort Worth, now have a copy of the maps and are getting their data. Within a short time they will have enough information to locate the exact site of the dam and the covering of the river bed will start. When the covering is completed they will then be able to figure the amount of land that will have to be purchased. That with the cost of the dam, filter plant and pipe lines will enable them to figure the exact cost of the water to the cities, stated C. L. Johnson, Secretary of the Water Authority.

The maps had been expected by the Authority some time ago and progress on the dam was halted. However this delay will probably not amount to anything in the long run as no election was anticipated until September when most of the voters will be back from vacation. No further delays are expected and progress can be resumed at a normal rate. Daily sampling of the water at the dam site will continue until Sept. 1st.

The Outdoor Entertainment Association bought these pots this year to add to their equipment. They are all new. Please bring these containers in NOW!

Clarendon was filled to the brim again last Saturday, July 4th with what was termed the largest crowd in history to attend the annual celebration here. An above usual crowd was on hand Friday also to see the first parade and get the celebration well under way.

Everyone could tell the crowd was here when the time came for serving of the free barbecue at 11:30 on the 4th and also when the rodeo performance got under way the night of the 4th.

It was estimated that between 8,500 and 9,000 were on hand for the barbecue. Flip Breedlove and his crew did an excellent job with the barbecuing and J. B. Melton and his helpers did an excellent job with the beans and peaches.

Following the barbecue, thousands lined main street and Sully street to the west to witness one of the best western parades ever staged here.

Good crowds were on hand to see all the rodeo performances with an overflowing crowd on the night of the fourth. Attendance at all four performances numbered over 7,000 with over 3,000 on hand for the final event.

After the dust had settled from the last performance, Bill Greene, president of the Outdoor Entertainment Association, expressed his appreciation for all the assistance he had received from everyone throughout the entire celebration. He also expressed his thanks for the various donations of prizes, beef, food and various other items. K. D. TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

Deadline

Although this is a weekly newsletter, which would indicate that there is plenty of time to prepare it, the deadline sometimes slips up on you. Last week was one of those times. We almost missed getting this letter out on schedule. The reason was the extreme activity in the Committees and the House. The Legislature Oversight Subcommittee of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce held hearings all week long commencing at 9:30 each morning and lasting until the House of Representatives went into session at Noon or 11:00 o'clock. The measures being considered by the House of Representatives involved matters that required our constant attendance.

The first day was devoted to consideration of a Conference Report on an appropriations bill, the Consent Calendar, and the Suspension Calendar. The Suspension Calendar included the highly controversial Veterans Pension Act of 1959. A two-thirds affirmation vote was necessary to pass this bill, but its passage does not indicate the controversy that took place in the House. Another bill on the Suspension Calendar was the extension of the Oil and Gas Compact between the States, which is highly important to Texas and our section. The House then adopted a resolution authorizing the consideration of the foreign aid bill, to be taken up and debated on Tuesday. A major portion of the rest of the week was consumed in bitter debate over this highly controversial measure. We also had the wheat bill that had been approved by the Senate and House Conference Committee. This was hotly debated and, incidentally, failed of adoption. As soon as the foreign aid bill had been concluded, the House considered probably the most expensive issue facing the country today. I refer to the proposal of the Eisenhower Administration to increase the national public debt limit.

These activities meant that the day of the Congressman started earlier and lasted later than usual. I was on the move by 7:00 o'clock in the morning, and never able to get to bed before 12:00 o'clock all week. In addition to the activities outlined above, we had the usual responsibilities and obligations of the average day in the Congressional office. That is, the regular mail that must be answered promptly, the matters that must be handled with all the Federal departments, the reference work which must be done to keep one acquainted with the pending bills, as well as a thousand and one other things that are never anticipated. I am sure all newspaper, television, and radio people can appreciate the deadline situation. I just wanted you to know that it goes on here too.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Brown July 4th were Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Brown of Samnorwood, and Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Brown of Shamrock.

GEORGE'S WIFE

By "Sarah"

I finally got off to Church this morning, didn't make it to Sunday School though. If Sunday School was any where near as good as the Sermon I heard, all I can say is "I'm the looser and will never know what I missed." The reason I couldn't make it to Sunday School, George just had to work. He broke his plow, walked to the house to get parts off of another one, and was doing more harm than good to this little cotton. Seems he was covering up more cotton than he was getting weeds. Of course I had to help, or listen. But when I got back from Church I wanted to tell him about the good sermon and also the plans for the summer.

fail to lift me plum out of this world. But I didn't say anything because I didn't want to make him feel any worse than he already did.

JUST ONE OF 7 Big Bests Chevrolet OFFERS you over any other car in its field!

Take a tip from the experts... in their own words... and from on-the-record facts and figures: More than ever, Chevrolet gives you more than any other of the leading low-priced three! More room to relax in, for instance. A sampling of official dimensions reported to A.M.A.* makes this clear. Chevy front seat hip room, for one thing, is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars. And Chevy even offers more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars!

Best Brakes Not only bigger, but built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life. Just to prove what's what, Chevy out-stopped both of the "other two" in a NASCAR-conducted test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

Best Style It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

Best Engine Every motor magazine has given Chevrolet's standard and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED puts it: "... surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price."

Best Ride MOTOR TREND magazine calls Chevy "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." You'll be able to tell this yourself instantly, once you take the wheel.

Best Economy No doubt about this: two Chevrolet 6's won their class in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, got the best mileage of any full-size car, 22.35 miles per gallon—with Powerglide.

Best Trade-In Check in any N.A.D.A. Guide Book. Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."

We are glad to share the column spot with "Sarah," and her new column called "George's Wife." Especially during these hot summer months we have always found many jobs that we would much rather "Let George Do It" . . . Trouble was there never seemed to be a George around handy and willing to do our work . . . Sometimes we have thought that Fate must have thought that our name was George.

Anyway, we will be watching and reading each column to find out what happened and is happening to "George" . . . Best Wishes to Sarah on this new venture.

Oklahoma City . . . The following thumb-nail comments on the Sooner State and its capital city . . . My wife and I always have an argument about the meaning of the word Sooner . . .

She explains very carefully that the word came from the days of the land rush into Oklahoma . . . Just for pure meanness we argue that it is because most of the folks would "Sooner" be in Texas. Anyway, it is the land of the much publicized Hereford Heaven. The former home of the much loved Will Rogers, the land of the Indians and also the former home of many a Texan's beloved wife. It is a land of lush pastures, beautiful cattle, bad roads, and good turnpikes.

Speaking of the roads many of them are being re-built but as of now to an old Panhandle boy there are too many winding curves. The curves won't let you break the speed limit on the bad roads and the cops won't let you be mean on the turnpikes. We always enjoy our trip through Oklahoma even though we argue with the wife that even though it might be beautiful you can't see it for the trees.

One of our friends who lives in the City tells us that she used to love to run all over the country but after a recent operation she just wants to stay close by home. She had several transusions during the operation and that she believes the hospital used "Squatters Blood".

My wife always wins the argument by asking that if I can think of so many things to argue with her about Oklahoma how come I grabbed the first Oklahoma gal who said YES, and many times head that way for a fishing trip. She's got me "Dead to Rights."

Joplin, Missouri . . . Three hours from Oklahoma City over two fast and furious turnpikes, and with three bucks less in your pocket you find yourself in Missouri. The home of beautiful dairy herds, two story houses, three story hay barns, and the fishiest looking rivers we have ever seen in our life. The state is also the former hide-out of famous Jesse James. It is also the fade-away home of Harry Truman. Don't ask us which one made the most enemies in his life-time . . .

In the aim to make 66 a non-stop highway for all of its length we also find a portion here that is a long way from being complete but work is going on. We never miss a sign of any kind on a trip and we got a bang out of this one along the construction. It said: "Watch the road, not the construction."

Another sign advertised the Garbage Can Cafe . . . We watched for it but didn't stop.

Still another read: "Don't kill your wife with the family laundry. Let us do it."

This and that; One fellow said that he just loved to read the home-town papers . . . That it was great to read the line by line to see what all of his old friends were doing, and then the very best part of all was to go back and read between the lines about all the things that likely wouldn't do to print . . .

Some folks can talk all day and not say anything, others can say a lot just by keeping quiet.

When children are young they need their parents often, and when parents are growing older they need their children often . . .

St. Louis, Mo. . . . This is a pretty good sized town for an old country boy. It takes half a day to go around it and twice as long to go through it. After this we can understand a big city by-pass.

Don't tell my baseball friend Charles Stewart that we spent three days in town with the Cardinals playing each day and didn't see one game . . . He'll want to hold our funeral right away. We did see the park. It's big enough to hold all of us, the only trouble is getting out there and getting inside, then getting back in all the rush.

Supposedly just to make folks like us feel at home there is a 1400 acre park smack dab in the city. When there is hardly room to build in the country round-about we wonder how they ever saved this wonderful spot. In it is the finest zoo to be found anywhere, so they say. At least we have never seen anything like it.

Every newspaper in St. Louis had been stopped by a strike for two weeks, in fact all other Missouri big city papers were out also. It is a most unusual feeling to be in a big city and not be able to buy a newspaper . . . The mechanics union was also on strike so you were warned to not break your car down . . .

The clerk's union was picketing some of the larger stores so we got our first real glimpse of a situation involving major strikes.

Sign advertising a diaper service; "Rock-A-Dry-Baby." Motto in front of a church; "Peace with God, will bring peace with man."

We believe that St. Louis would have the most two-story brick apartment houses all just alike except for the house number of any town. Each housing after house and street after street, all seemingly cut by the same pattern.

Belleville, Ill. . . . Just to think about it would seem impossible that one could eat breakfast in Belleville, Ill., which is some 25 miles across the Mississippi River in Illinois and then without breaking the speed limit eat supper before dark at home in the Panhandle.

Neither does it seem possible to drive equally as many miles in a southerly direction and never hit bottom in Texas. Having done each this year we vouch for the truthfulness of both. Drawing a circle with a radius of 800 miles would come close to McAllen, Texas, and Belleville, within 50 miles at least.

This country boy sized town of some thirty thousand benefits considerably from Scott Air Force Base which is nearby. We were told that some of the better land sells as high as one thousand dollars per acre. We don't see how anyone could ever buy and pay for a farm at this price.

Looking across the countryside we could see one 15 acre wheat field after another. Some years ago when the wheat program was written congress wanted to be kind to the voters so anyone was allowed 15 acres of wheat without a penalty. Now we are told that over one half of the wheat is produced on these small uncontrolled acres and that because of the political angle it is doubtful that the law could be changed. It has practically blasted the wheat program in that land diverted from other crops has been switched to wheat. It poses a real problem in the wheat surplus situation.

residues? Let us consider nature's way of using them. We see that when the plant dies or its leaves fall, they just lie on top of the soil as litter or mulch. This litter meshes together to form a protective covering on the soil. It is valuable in stopping the splash of hard rain and in slowing down running water. The soil is shaded from the hot sun and protected from the cutting wind.

This insulation is just as valuable as that which you put into your home. Certain microbial organisms live in the soil when it is in good condition. They cannot stand extremely hot temperatures or quick changes. Therefore it is necessary for them to have this insulation over them.

Excess heat in soil causes more evaporation, drawing the needed water from deep in the soil away from the plant roots. Hot soil also causes the plant to use more water in keeping cool or to prevent wilting.

Why not give your soil a break and protect it? Leave your crop residues on the surface until next spring's blow season is past, or longer if convenient.

It's better to be late than absent.

Ask the men who countour farms.

Soil weakened by erosion weakens the Nation.

Stop! Swap! and Save!
at your Ford Dealer's
SUMMER SWAPPING BEE
Get a 2ND MILLION DEAL now!

Because Ford's the first manufacturer to sell over one million '59 cars . . . your Ford Dealer can offer you even greater savings now, on the 59 FORD of your choice!

GET A HONEY OF A 2nd MILLION DEAL NOW!
Ford sales are booming over the million mark! And right now, during the Ford Summer Swapping Bee, you can get an extra-generous 2nd Million Deal on any one of the new Fords that are already lowest priced of the best-selling three!

YOU CAN SAVE UP TO $102.75 ON THE POSTED PRICE ALONE!
Ford prices are the lowest of the best-selling three. Take a Fairlane 500, for example. It is priced $102.75 lower than the major competitive model,* when both are equipped the way most people buy cars—with heater, radio and automatic transmission. And the bigger 2nd Million Ford trade your Ford Dealer can make you, now, makes your savings still greater!

SAVE UP TO A DOLLAR ON EVERY TANKFUL OF GAS!
Standard Ford engines thrive on lower-cost, regular gas. That saves you as much as a dollar a tankful. And Ford's standard Full-Flow filter stretches oil changes 4000 miles apart.

SAVE ON MAINTENANCE!
Some of the new saving features you get in the '59 Ford are . . . amazing Diamond Lustre Finish that never requires waxing to keep its beauty bright . . . an aluminized muffler that normally lasts twice as long as the ordinary kind used in other cars . . . a husky 66-plate battery instead of the usual 54-plate battery installed in other cars.

SAVE WITH YOUR FORD DEALER'S EXTRA-GENEROUS TRADE-IN ALLOWANCE!
Because Fords are the most popular cars, Ford Dealers can afford to make more generous trades. Visit your Ford Dealer and see how you can save with this 2nd MILLION FORD DEAL . . . now!

118,351 COLONIES OF BEES RELOCATED IN 1958

Bees for pollination of crops are becoming increasingly important to Texas farmers. During the year which ended August 31, 1958, the State Entomologist's Office granted official permits to 219 beekeepers to relocate 118,351 colonies of bees.
The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Progress Report 2089 states that 45,685 colonies of bees in Texas were inspected and 148, or 32 per cent were infected with American foulbrood. The report says that during the 1957-58 season a number of apiaries in Bastrop County were affected by European foulbrood and were treated with a formulation of terramycin (TM-5 and TM-10). After two dustings of this antibiotic many of the affected colonies showed very little or no evidence of the disease. The bees in the colonies under observation stored a good honey crop during the season.

The disease picture of American foulbrood is now rather clear. But much more information is needed concerning European foulbrood and para-foulbrood. European foulbrood appears suddenly and may spread through an apiary in epidemic proportions, affecting a large amount of young brood. Some of the colonies may die with the disease or it may disappear entirely within a short time.

Also discussed in the report are Nosema disease, para-foulbrood, and paralysis which were found in a few isolated colonies in the state.

The number of commercial beekeepers who raise and sell queen bees and combless packages of bees, are also mentioned, along with the number of beekeepers and colonies of bees inspected in each of 73 counties during 1957-58.

Write the Agricultural Information Office for a copy of the report. Ask for PR-2809.

"Why There Are Jobless"

There has been a great deal of discussion of the unemployment problem. A commonly suggested cure is more massive doses of government aid of one kind or another, combined with inflation-breeding government building programs. But these proposals offer no real cure at all. They are merely alleviations. They deal with symptoms of the disease—and not the disease itself. Writing in Newsweek, the distinguished economist Henry Hazlitt explains "why there are jobless." He says: "Unemployment is caused mainly by wage rates that have become excessive in relation to productivity or demand. The price of labor services is like the price of anything else. If it is too high in relation to demand, part of the supply will go unsold. The cure for a commodity is to reduce the price to the point where the entire supply can be sold. The cure in the case of labor is to reduce wage rates, in the lines where they are unworkable, to the levels where full employment can be resumed." This prescription will be highly unpalatable to a great many people. But it is the only prescription which can solve the basic unemployment problem without creating still worse and still more destructive problems. Labor can price itself out of the market—and it has been doing lean, tender cuts find favor with American housewives. This meatier hob can be produced by selecting gilts and boars that have adequate length (30-inch carcass on a 200-pound hog) with thick, muscular conformation, with just enough fat at market weight to insure carcass firmness and give quality and flavor to the cuts.

This hog must come from sows that farrow and raise large litters of big pigs; he must be fast growing, be able to convert grain and supplement into pounds of pork at an efficient rate and possess other traits that mean profit for the producer, says T. D. Tanksley, extension animal husbandman and author of the publication.

The author discusses the different programs hog producers can follow to determine the best breeding animals to use for highest meat production.

Also discussed is information on selecting gilts, programs for both the purebred and the commercial producer and probing for backfat-how and when to do it. Included also are tables for adjusting the actual weight of the hog when weighed at a certain age to his equivalent weight at 180 days, and for adjusting the backfat probe at 150-300 pounds to the equivalent probe at 200

Corner on Cotton
BY BOB COLLINS

Two or three of the best farm publications have run reader surveys to determine whether or not the farmer wants the government to continue the support programs . . . one of the surveys indicated that only 22 per cent of the readers wanted more help from the government . . . another survey showed that 88 per cent of the cotton farmers wanted some kind of a support program . . . now there are all kinds of ways of reading into a survey the results you wish . . . in fact, it is pretty difficult to reach any kind of firm conclusion as a result of a survey taken like either of the two mentioned here . . . but one thing is certain to anyone who stops to think about it: continued supports that keep the price of any product above its true value can't last forever . . . we can't expect to keep on getting a price for American grown cotton that just isn't real-

A1c and Mrs. Keith Pittman have visited the past two weeks with relatives here and at Groom. Keith left Wednesday to report for duty at the Naval Air Base at Norfolk, Va.

Saturday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hill were Mr. and Mrs. Messer and Ann Ruth of Quail, Miss Ellen Messer of Abilene, Mrs. Gerald Knight and Jerry of Memphis, and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Hill.

able . . . just as we can't keep on subsidizing cotton to foreign mills forever . . . this fact should make us look at the kind of research we need now.

There is a move to slant most of research on cotton toward finding new use for the product . . . but it is just as important to reduce the cost of growing the fiber . . . let's not let the fact that there is a surplus influence us to spend all our research in getting rid of the excess . . . let's channel a fair part of the research into cost of production . . . this is getting to be a more serious problem as publicity piles up about the farm surpluses.

Cotton Use Better
Amount of cotton used in the U. S. is increasing over estimates of '58-'59 season . . . in fact, the USDA has had to up its forecast for the third time since November . . . estimate now is the U. S. spinners will utilize 8.7 million bales . . . that's up 450,000 bales over the November estimate.

More Farm Cash??
All across the country used farm machinery is bringing better prices . . . up about 20 per cent over last year . . . folks who know say this is because the farmers have money to spend now, that they are looking forward to large crops and that they hope to beat the high cost of farm labor by adding machines instead of farm hands . . . new equipment is priced about 5 per cent higher than last year.

Adventures in ADVERTISING

THE FANTASTIC STORY of MUSA-SHIYA THE SHIRTMAKER

If the shipping department of a factory had not made an error, the world would never have known of Musa-shiya the Shirtmaker and the most astounding advertising campaign in history would never have been launched. Following World War I an English textile factory was getting back on a peacetime basis. In error it sent a full five year backorder of shirting material to Musa-shiya, a Japanese shirtmaker who operated a small shop in Honolulu. Business was poor and Musa-shiya was near bankruptcy, when the customs office informed him that certain bales of cloth and a fat bill for duties awaited his pleasure at the port of Honolulu. When the little shirtmaker realized what had descended upon him, he asked for time and went into the silence for purpose of mental refreshment. Remembering a friend in a big mercantile establishment, he hid himself there and sought counsel. How in the name of the horned prophet of evil was he ever to get rid of all that English shirting? And in the meantime where was he to put it? His little box of a shop wouldn't hold one bale. "You'll have to advertise," advised his friend. "Leave it to me. I'll have our advertising agents help you out." This merely compounded the little Japanese shirtmaker's troubles. Advertising to him was an uncharted sea. The advertising agent called on Musa-shiya and suggested $300 as a modest starter. "Too-o-o much. Maybe I think thirty dollar plenty," said the shirtmaker. He was told that wouldn't even get him in print. The agent explained the costs of various advertisements, and finally Musa-shiya agreed to try the plan and what was destined to be the most astounding and far reaching campaign in the history of advertising was launched.

Two columns by five inches then started appearing regularly in the Saturday Honolulu Star-Bulletin. The ads were written just the way Musa-shiya talked—in colorful pidgin English which is used throughout the Orient. Here is an example of one of Musa-shiya's ads: "Well here come storek again—but Musa-shiya, the shirtmaker, is able prepare. Wonderful accumulation of baby things in dry goods selling corner of Musa shop. Everything for the baby—especially diaper. Exclusive of storek, which find most easily, many persons not finding little shop of Musa-shiya the shirtmaker in King Street, Makai side, between fish market and river." Tourists started sending copies of Musa-shiya's ads to their friends in many countries. Soon Musa-shiya was receiving orders from all over the world as well as doing a thriving business in Hawaii. And that is the story of how a well planned, small advertising campaign made an unknown Japanese shirtmaker not only wealthy but world famous. Your local newspaper doesn't promise to duplicate this story for its advertisers, but it does take your sales message into the homes of your customers where full and careful consideration is given your suggestions. Who knows, perhaps you too can be a Musa-shiya.

America's First Jetliners Will Shrink Nation

First Southwest Jet Service through Dallas by mid-1959

One of the most significant advances in U. S. transportation history occurs in January when American Airlines launches the first commercial jet service across the nation with 707 Jet Flagships (shown above). The most thoroughly tested airliners ever to enter service, the huge 600 mile-an-hour 707 Flagships will trim the nonstop time between Los Angeles and New York, where they will be introduced, to an incredible 4½ hours. American's big four-engine jets will carry 112 passengers in both first-class and aircraft accommodations (56 in each) and will have considerable cargo carrying capacity. Their speed will shrink the nation another 40 per cent resulting the following farmers have planted perennial grasses this year: C. B. Morris, Richard Cannon, Henry Wilson, Leo Wallace, R. R. Partain, and Slaton Mahaffey.

Six farmers have done some deep plowing this year with cost-share assistance. They are:

"The Case Of The Invisible Ear" Is Solved By Perry Mason

Eric Stanley Gardner was one of the first to discover what a tremendous advantage is both comfort and clarity "Target Hearing" brings to an operator. "I can't begin to tell you how much satisfaction I get out of it," he says.

Eric Stanley Gardner, creator of "Perry Mason", says, "I think more people should realize the extent to which recent scientific discoveries can help in restoring lost hearing, just as glasses can sharpen dim vision". Like Mr. Gardner, you'll be amazed at the ease and clarity with which Otation's exclusive, patented "Target Hearing" lets you hear where you look.
