Bronco Social A Success

Last Tuesday night, the Booster Club, Bronco Mothers, and Colt Mothers held a "Meet The Broncos Night" at the Bronco Stadium. Coach Allison introduced all of the players along with other coaching staff members and the managers. Afterwards, everyone enjoyed free ice-cream and had the chance to talk to the Bronco football team and coaches.

Coach Allison states, "Well, I thought it went real well, I was pleased with the number of people that came out!"

The Broncos are still practicing hard for the season that lies ahead and are getting prepared for the upcoming scrimmage. "Practice is slow, but it's going about as fast as we can go right now. We're still trying to get all the kids in the right positions. We're trying to do all the little things right, we just have to be patient and eventually it'll come together!"

School Accident Insurance Clarified

Accidents happen at school and in school activities just as they do at home. The parents need to be aware that the school is not liable for student accidents that happen at school nor during school activities, including sports activities. Phil Barefield, Clarendon school superintendent, stated that the school provides supplemental accident insurance for students while they are at school or participating in school sponsored activities. "The school accident insurance on students is only a second-

School Policies Announced

The School Board has met and the following policies have been approved for the following year in Clarendon Jr. High School. These policies will be strictly enforced this school year.

Hemmed shorts of an appropriate length may be worn from the first day of school through October 1. Appropriate length is defined as the length of walking shorts (about 4 inches above the knee). Bike shorts, soccer shorts, fringed denim shorts, daisy dukes are just a few of the examples of inappropriate attire. If the student body respects this dress code in the fall, the principal may extend this privilege from April 1 until the last day of school.

Ornaments in, on, or around the ears of male students or around the nose of any student worn during instructional day is prohibited.

All 6th, 7th, and 8th Graders can pick up schedules, Wednesday or Thursday at the Junior High Principal's Secretaries Office.

Featured Business of the Week

by Shelley Tongate

This weeks featured business is the Grocery Store located at 118 Kearney, at the stop light in Downtown Clarendon. The Grocery Store is home owned and operated by Jack & Shirley Clifford and Brit & Virginia Patten. Brit and Virginia have been married seven years and began working at the store in 1986. They have two children, Abby age four and Diane age one. Virginia is the Clarendon Merchants Association President.

W.T. Clifford moved to Clarendon in 1908 with his children, including Walter Clifford, the father of Jack and Fred Clifford, so they could attend Clarendon College. In 1914, Walter started the business, and this summer his great grandson, John Ray Clifford was the sacker, making it four generations of Cliffords working in the Grocery Store here in Clarendon.

James Watts has worked at the store for 15 years as butcher, Janie Hill has worked there for 8 years as cashier, and James Burlison has worked there for 30 years.

With the friendly atmosphere and the old hard wood floors, The Grocery Store brings a unique and distinctive look to Clarendon. They offer fresh produce, fresh meat cut daily, a deli with cooked meats, fruit trays and vegetable trays, and hand dipped ice-cream cones.

Jack states, "Only two things remain from the old establishment, and that's Clayton Mann and the fan over the market!"

Virginia states, "I would not ever be happy if I didn't work at the Grocery Store. This is my life, I grew up in it. I think our economy is getting better and we welcome all the new people in town."

dary, supplemental policy that seldom pays 100% of the accident costs," barefield commented. He continued, "Parents are responsible for the medical costs of students accidents even when they happen at school or during a school sponsored activity. This has been established by state law and court cases. The school is only trying to help out on these costs by providing supplemental insurance.

In order to avoid misunderstanding about parent responsibility for the costs of medical treatment when students are injured at school, the district will be sending a notice home with each student when school starts. "We want to avoid any misunderstanding about the school's responsibility for the medical treatment of student injuries. All treatment is billed to the parents. We file on the school accident insurance, however it often only pays a small percent of the costs. Parents need to be aware of this from the beginning of the year." If parents have primary health insurance, the school's insurance will pay as a supplement after the primary insurance has paid its part. If a parent has no insurance, the school's insurance will pay only the limits listed on the policy. "There are strict limits on what this policy will pay," Barefield commented.

Parents are also offered the opportunity to purchase a 24-hour accident policy on their children as well as supplemental dental insurance. "The cost of this insurance is relatively low but the benefits are definitely limited. It certainly beats having no insurance at all," Barefield stated. The additional insurance is at the parents option and cost.

CISD Makes Rules For Athletic Events

In order to provide a safer, more responsible situation at athletic events in the district, Clarendon CISD announced the following policy for students attending athletic events this year.

Students in Grade 6 and below must be accompanied by a parent, guardian, or responsible adult to attend athletic events at Clarendon CISD.

Students must be accompanied by a responsible adult when leaving an athletic event. Otherwise, the student must pay an admission charge to return to the event.

Student spectators that expelled from an athletic event may not attend other events in that same sport for the remainder of the season.

The district asks for the cooperation of the students and parents in making attendance at athletic events a safe, enjoyable experience for everyone.

WTU To Seek Review of Revenue

West Texas Utilities Company announced it will file a petition with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUCT) to start a process to review WTU's revenues, rule on proposed rate changes and implement lower interim electric charges to customers by 3.25%.

The petition, to be filed around Aug. 25, will request that a review of WTU's revenues be conducted by the PUCT to determine if WTU's revenues should be adjusted. The petition process interim rates until the PUCT can complete this review.

Until a final PUCT order is implemented, interim charges to customers will be reduced by 3.25%, effective Oct. 1, 1994.

"The action to initiate this

FEATURED BUSINESS OF THE WEEK; The Grocery Store

review process by WTU is quite remarkable since some other electric utilities have recently increased rates," said Glenn Files, WTU president and chief executive officer.

WTU's customers have not experienced a base rate increase since 1987, even though the average overall cost of living has increased nearly 30% over that same period.

"WTU, however, has effectively managed the business and, as a result, we have remained financially strong. Our strong financial position has allowed us to be a key player with the communities we serve in economic development activities," Files said.

"The action we are announcing underscores our commitment to the growth and prosperity of the communities we serve," he added.

"Reasonable electric rates and rate options are important to our customers and to prospective customers. Therefore, WTU will use this process as an opportunity to introduce new rate options in response to market changes and modify or replace old rate options. These changes are necessary for WTU to continue to be responsive to the changing marketplace and to meet the needs of our customers," Files added.

"Our company has always had a commitment to ensuring that our rates are fair and that our customers are paying appropriate prices," he added.

"After reviewing our current and projected financial results and after discussions with the PUCT and others, we are announcing this action. The action will ensure that our customers benefit from activities that have resulted in efficiencies in our service to the customers," Files added.

"Also, a part of our commitment to ensure the benefits are passed to our customers in a timely manner, we are proposing to set the effective date for any revenue adjustment and new rates implemented as Oct. 1, 1994, regardless of when the PUCT issues its final order," Files added.

"It is not clear at this time what the total amount of the overall base revenue change may be or what impact this overall base revenue change will have on customer bills. Those determinations will be made during hearings before the PUCT after a careful review of our financial numbers, the proposed rate changes and some assumptions made by the PUCT staff," Files added.

"But the point is that the overall base revenue that WTU receives from its customers for the electricity could be lower than it is today," Files added.

In addition to the PUCT review of utility rates, a city may also review and analyze its electric utility rates under another formal proceeding.

"We are proud of the strong relationships that we have with the communities we serve. It is from these types of relationships that we have been able to work together to benefit our customers," Files added.

THE FIRST DAY OF SCHOOL

Starting school is difficult for many children and even harder for some parents. Parents worry about the safety and reaction of children. They wonder how their child will feel. They feel sad, anxious, lonely and --maybe --just a little bit old.

Feelings of sadness and worry during your child's first days of school are common, but these suggestions can help you get through those first days of separation:

 Talk to a friend. It may help to discuss your feelings with friends or other parents who have a child in school. Talk about how they felt when their children went to school for the first time. Ask how they have adjusted to the school routing.

 Plan busy days. Time drags if it is not filled up. Plan chores to occupy your time while your child is at school the first few days. Think about all the tasks you have been wanting to do but haven't had the time. Make a list. If you are at work, try to plan a day that will keep your mind occupied and away from reminders of your child. If you keep a photograph of your child on your office desk, for example, plan meetings to keep you out of your office.

 Make sure you can be reached. Be sure you have provided phone numbers where you can be reached in an emergency in case the school needs to call you for some reason. That way you can rest assured that you will know about any problems if they arise. If you don't hear from the school, it means your child is getting along just fine.

 Plan a special treat for your child's return. When your child returns at the end of the day, you will want to spend time with him or her. Plan a special treat based on your child's interest. It might be a cookies - and - milk break, a walk outside or a time to sing and read together. Just remember that your child will be tired and excited after the first days of school, so don't plan anything too demanding.

 Give yourself permission to care. Don't tell yourself you "shouldn't" feel the way you do. Let yourself worry a little and feel sad. Missing your child and worrying about him or her shows you care.

SCHOOLS AND POLICE: PARTNERS AGAINST CRIME

Imagine this. Two gangs have a street fight and are arrested by local police. The next day, the rival gang members sit in the same classroom. Not only might teachers and school administrators be unaware of the explosive situation, the police are prohibited by law from informing them.

It used to be that way in our state. An outdated law prevented law enforcement authorities from reporting to a school the information that one or more students had committed a serious crime and could pose a threat to the school environment.

A New Law
Last year, the state legislature passed a law amending the Code of Criminal Procedure. The law, which took effect September 1, 1993, states that law enforcement agencies could inform school superintendents of the arrest or detention of one of their students for a serious or violent crime.

But somewhere between the passage and the implementation of the bill, the intent of the law was misinterpreted. Some people had the mistaken impression that the law was meant only to allow the release of the name of a student to the schools - the nature of the crime or offense had to remain confidential.

Knowledge of the names of the students - and nothing more - would be of minimal help to superintendents in their struggle to provide a safe environment for their students. In response to a request from the Nueces County District Attorney, my office issued an Attorney General's Opinion to clear up any confusion about the matter.

School officials have the right to know the names of students arrested for serious crimes and/or offenses. Furthermore, police can tell educators the nature and severity of those crimes. Armed with this knowledge, teachers and school administrators should have a better chance of defusing potentially explosive situations.

Making our schools safe again

We must again create an atmosphere where students can go to school without fearing for their personal safety. Informed teachers can take steps to forestall further violence. Educators can be on the lookout for trouble, monitor hallways, and intervene by mediating between rival students. School administrators need these and other effective tools to keep order in their facilities.

Our office is proud to join this new police-school partnership. By working together we can make our schools safe again.

Training for FmHA Borrowers to Begin Soon

U.S. Dept. of Agriculture - FmHA, Temple, Tx.

"Farm borrowers at Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) will be receiving invaluable training in the near future," said George Ellis, FmHA State Director. A new program, which was mandated by the United States Congress, will provide FmHA borrowers the chance to receive financial and production training from approved vendors, according to Ellis.

Financial training is mandatory for direct and guaranteed farm borrowers, and production training is contingent on County Committee recommendation. Production training may be waived if the County Committee believes the borrower is a proven farmer/rancher. The regulations for the training went into effect on March 1, 1994.

"The goal of the training program is to help the FmHA borrowers to graduate from Federal assistance," Ellis said. "Our number-one goal at FmHA is to serve our customers by helping them become independent. This training opportunity will build each borrower's capacity to succeed in a very tough business."

Three institutions have been approved to give the training to Texas FmHA borrowers. These vendors include: East Texas State University (ETSU), South Plains College, and Texas State Technical College (TSTC).

ETSU will provide financial training through high school vocational ag teachers. South Plains will provide financial training through the Texas Junior and Community College System with technical assistance provided by the Extension Service. TSTC will provide production and financial training through its campus system. All three will provide a method to reach remote farmers and ranchers.

Farmers/ranchers may choose any one of the three vendors based on the borrower's needs, convenience, and cost consideration. Cost of the training will be provided by the farmer/rancher, and is an allowable expense under an FmHA loan plan. If anyone wishes to contact any of these institutions, you may do so at the following:

ETSU - Dr. Larry Lingbeil at 9903-886-5379

South Plains - Ron Presley at 806-894-9611 x 328

TSTC - Bob Detlefsen at 817-867-3972

If you have questions concerning this or any other program offered by FmHA, please contact the FmHA County Office nearest you.

Farmers Home Administration, as an Equal Opportunity Leaders, makes loans or grants to individuals or groups and guarantees to approved loans or grants to individuals or groups and guarantees to approved lenders without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, familial status, and handicap. Meet Living Proof of the Difference Dobson Can Make.

Kenneth Banks, another satisfied customer of Dobson Cellular Systems.

For Kenneth Banks of Pampa, his cellular phone has always been a timesaver. Fortunately for him on April 30, 1993 it was a lifesaver as well.

Kenneth's Story.

With clients for his landscape maintenance business scattered all along the route, the short drive from Pampa to Canadian is one he's made many times before. But this day, halfway there, a cold, dull pain began to shoot through his chest and arms. Thank goodness his difference-making 'business partner' -- a cellular phone and service from Dobson Cellular -- was in the front seat with him. "I knew I was having a heart attack, so I pulled over and called 911," said Kenneth. "An ambulance was there in about ten minutes. Later, my doctor confirmed what I already knew: the cellular phone saved my life."

Affordable? You Bet Your Life!

For Kenneth, his cellular phone -- and the peace of mind that comes with it -- is worth every penny. "Before getting my phone, I used to think about the loss of time and business. Now, I think of the loss my family would feel if not for my Dobson cellular service." Real convenience and confidence. Now more than ever, you and your family need the Difference that only Dobson Cellular can make.

The Difference Maker.

Dr. Dobson Answers Your Questions

QUESTION: My wife and I disagree strongly about the role of materialism in our children's lives. She feels we should give them toys and games that we never had as kids. At Christmastime, we stack gifts knee-deep around the tree. I feel this is a mistake, even if we could afford to do what we are doing. What is your view on materialism in the life of a child?

DR. DOBSON: I also have concerns about giving kids too many things, which often reflects our inability to say "no" to them.

The child's lust for toys is carefully generated through millions of dollars spent on TV advertising by toy manufacturers. Their commercials are skillfully made so that the toys look like full-sized copies of their real counterparts. The little buyer sits open-mouthed in utter fascination. Five minutes later, he begins a campaign that will eventually cost his dad $14.95 plus batteries and tax.

Suppose the parents are courageous enough to resist the child's urging. He is not blocked. Grandparents are notoriously easy to "con."

Some would ask, "Why not? Why shouldn't we let our children enjoy the fruits of our good times?" I would not deny a child a reasonable quantity of things he craves. But many American children are inundated with excesses that work toward their detriment.

It has been said that prosperity offers a greater test of character than does adversity, and I'm inclined to agree. There are few conditions that inhibit a sense of appreciation more than for a child to feel he is entitled to whatever he wants, whenever he wants it.

It is enlightening to watch as a child tears open stacks of presents at his birthday party or perhaps at Christmas-time. One after another, the expensive con-ments are tossed aside with little more than a glance.

The child's mother is made uneasy by this lack of enthusiasm and appreciation, so she says, "Oh, Marvin! Look what it is! A little tape recorder! What do you say to Grandmother?" Give Grandmother a big hug. Did you hear me, Marvin? Go give Grams a big hug and kiss.

Although it sounds paradoxical, you actually cheat a child out of pleasure when you give him too much.

Pleasure occurs when an intense need is satisfied. If there is no need, there is no pleasure. A glass of water is worth more than gold to a man dying of thirst. The analogy to children should be obvious. If you never allow a child to want something, he never enjoys the pleasure of receiving it.

If you buy him a tricycle before he can walk, and a bicycle before he can ride it, a car before he can drive and a diamond ring before he knows the value of money, he accepts these gifts with little pleasure and less appreciation.

How unfortunate that such a child never had the chance to long for something, dreaming about it at night and plotting for it by day. He might have gotten desperate enough to work for it. The same possession that brought a yawn could have been a trophy and a treasure.

I suggest that you and your wife allow your child the thrill of temporary deprivation. It's more fun and much less expensive.

QUESTION: What is the source of self-esteem itself?

DR. DOBSON: Feelings of self-worth and acceptance, which provide the cornerstone of a healthy personality, can be obtained from only one source. It cannot be bought or manufactured.

Self-esteem is generated only by what we see reflected about ourselves in the eyes of other people. In other words, evidence of our worthiness must be generated outside of ourselves. It is only when others respect us that we respect ourselves. It is only when others love us that we love ourselves. It is only when others find us pleasant and desirable and worthy that we come to terms with our own egos.

The vast majority of us are dependent on our associates for emotional sustenance each day. What does this say, then, about those who exist in a state of perpetual isolation year after year? Such people are virtually certain to experience feelings of worthlessness, accompanied by deep depression and despair.

These questions and answers are excerpted from the book, Dr. Dobson Answers Your Questions. Notice of Public Hearing on Tax Increase

The Clarendon CISD will hold a public hearing on a proposal to increase total tax revenues from properties on the tax roll in 1994 by 8.18 percent. Your individual taxes may increase at a greater or lesser rate, or even decrease, depending on the change in the taxable value of your property in relation to the change in taxable value of all other property.

The public hearing will be held on August 25, 1994 at 7:30 p.m. - Adm. Office

FOR the proposal: Joe Lemley, Dan Hall, Phil Fletcher, Johnny Floyd, Wayne Hardin
AGAINST the proposal: None
PRESENT and not voting: None
ABSENT: Elmonette Bivens, Lynne Williams

The statement above shows the percentage increase the proposed rate represents over the effective tax rate that the unit published on August 4, 1994. The following table compares taxes on an average home in this taxing unit last year to taxes proposed on the average home this year. Again, your individual taxes may be higher or lower, depending on the taxable value of your property.

	Last Year	This Year
Average home value	$ 22,900	$24,860
General exemptions available (amount available on the average home, not including senior citizen's or disabled person's exemptions)	$ 5,000	$ 5,000
Average taxable value	$ 17,900	$19,860
Tax rate	1.17 /$100	1.15785 /$100 (proposed)
Tax	$ 209.43	$ 229.95 (proposed)

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would increase by $ 20.52 or 9.8 percent compared with last year's taxes. Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the tax rate would decrease by .01215 per $100 of taxable value or one (1) percent compared to last year's tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.

Social Security News

FOCUS GROUPS FIND SOME PEOPLE RELY TOO HEAVILY ON SOCIAL SECURITY

Here's a message that apparently needs repeating—you can rely on Social Security for your retirement, but you shouldn't rely only on Social Security, according to Jim Talbot, manager of the Social Security office at Amarillo.

Talbot said that a recent series of focus group studies conducted by the National Academy of Social Insurance found "deep disappointment" from some (participants) who said they had been led to believe that Social Security by itself would be sufficient to sustain them at the standard of living at which they were now living. "These participants had the notion that current earnings would completely be replaced dollar for dollar by Social Security benefits," Talbot said.

"That focus group experience points out the fact that we need to do all we can to make sure everyone covered by Social Security understands the way the system works."

"We need to emphasize again and again that Social Security was never intended to be the sole source of income in retirement. It is part of what we have always referred to as a three-legged financial stool. One leg is Social Security, another is pension income, and the third is personal savings and investments," the Social Security manager stated.

The National Academy of Social Insurance notes that "thinking about planning for retirement, knowing what one should do to save for retirement, and actually taking the steps to adequately save are three very different things. Only a little more than half of all people indicated that they were actively saving for retirement."

Also, fewer than 59 percent of all employees participants in an employer-sponsored pension plan.

"So for one reason or another," talbot said, "the three-legged stool can suddenly become a single peg upon which people are hanging all of their retirement dreams."

Statistics show that Social Security is the only source of income for 14 percent of elderly beneficiaries and constitutes 90 percent of more of the income for another 26 percent.

"We want to shrink those numbers in the future," Talbot said. "One way to do that is to get people to begin planning early for retirement. A good first step is to contact Social Security and request a Personal Earnings and benefit Estimate Statement. just call 1-800-772-1213 and ask for more information about this helpful form for retirement planning."

SOCIAL SECURITY PUBLICATIONS NOW AVAILABLE ON COMPUERVE

The Social Security Administration now makes its most popular publications available to users of online information services. On CompuServe, the publications are posted in the Retirement Living Forum (Go Retire).

The federal agency produces more than 100 publications in English and Spanish on the Social Security retirement, survivors and disability insurance programs, and on Supplemental Security Income (SSI) for aged, blind or disabled persons. The Social Security Administration library on the Retirement Living Forum contains about 20 of the most popular titles, including a Spanish-language publication.

The forum is managed by the SPRY Foundation, a non-profit foundation committed to developing community-based education and outreach programs for seniors. SPRY seeks to strengthen seniors' control over their lives, foster intergenerational understanding and cooperation, and enable those who are not yet seniors to establish their retirement priorities.

As part of its services to members of the Retirement Living forum, Social Security will provide a speaker at online conferences at least once each quarter and will post general replies to frequently asked forum questions in a "FAQ" question-and-answer library file.

Social Security's presence on CompuServe reflects a government-wide effort to make more information and services available to the public through electronic means. The agency is also negotiating with other online information services to use its publications.

Also, Social Security has expanded its Internet services at its national headquarters. This service, called "Social Security Online," distributes publications, statistical tables and other documents through the Internet. To receive an index of available documents, address an Internet message to Info@ssa.gov and enter the message "send index" (without the quotes). You'll receive the index by return E-mail.

The agency maintains a toll-free telephone number, 1-800-772-1213, to reply to individual inquiries about Social Security benefits and services. Lines are busiest early in the week and early in the month, so if your business can wait, it's best to call at other times. Some services are available at night and on weekends and holidays to users of touch-tone phones.

Herring Bancorp To Purchase First Bank And Trust

C.C. Burgess, Chairman of Herring Bancorp, formally announced today, plans to purchase the First Bank and Trust of Clarendon, Texas. Herring Bancorp is the parent company of the Herring National Bank of Vernon. According to Bank officials, the transaction should be finalized in late September or early October, depending on Federal Reserve and State regulatory approval. "We have been positioning ourselves for expansion for quite some time," said Burgess, "this move is very favorable for our bank, its stockholders and its customers."

Herring Bancorp officials have been negotiating since January of this year with the primary stockholders of First Bank and Trust. In May, an agreement was reached with the 3rd generation management of First Bank and Trust that finalized the purchase, pending regulatory approval.

Herring Bancorp approved the purchase at its second quarter board meeting in May, said Campbell Burgess, Vice President of Bancorp. Bancorp's officers and directors have been operating under a confidentiality clause per the agreement.

First Bank and Trust of Clarendon was established in 1912 as the Farmer's State Bank. It has enjoyed a long history of supporting its customers in the Clarendon community. Like Herring National Bank, FBT's customers are involved in ranching, farming, real estate, manufacturing, and many other types of businesses in the Texas panhandle.

Established in 1899 as the C.T. Herring Banking Company, the Herring Bank group has been servicing agricultural and rural customers for almost 100 years. "We think that our bank should work hard for its customers and hard for its local community," said Campbell Burgess.

Burgess further said that with combined assets of over 130 million, "We believe that this acquisition will help us provide our customers in Clarendon and the Panhandle with more products, services, and financial strength than any other financial institution in the area."

First Bank and Trust does not anticipate any staff changes, Burgess said.

Equipment Loan Approved

Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District No. 3 was recently approved for an Agricultural Water Conservation Equipment Loan from the Texas Water Development Board.

The District is now taking applications for loans to farmers at fixed interest rate of 4.80%. Loans will be limited to 80% of the purchase price for capital items. A loan may be made in any amount up to $75,000 and repayment scheduled for up to ten years. Equipment purchased prior to January 1, 1994, will not be considered for a loan.

Under TWDB guidelines, low-interest loans may be made for the purchase of irrigation water delivery equipment such as aluminum or plastic above-ground pipe and in-line flow measuring devices. Also, irrigation application systems, such as Low Energy Precision Application (LEPA) systems, low-pressure sprinkler systems, low-pressure drip (trickle) irrigation systems, furrow dikes, and surge valves.

Additional information regarding this program may be obtained at the Panhandle Ground Water office in White Deer, or call 883-2501.

1994 Property Tax Rates in Hedley ISD

This notice concerns 1994 property tax rates for Hedley school district. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the school district used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the school district can set before it must hold a rollback election. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes and state funds by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:
Last year's operating taxes	$ 232,088
Last year's debt taxes	$ 0
Last year's total taxes	$ 232,088
Last year's tax base	$ 21,914,315
Last year's total tax rate	$ 1.05907 /$100
