Foster Care Month Set

May is National Foster Care Month, and the Texas Department of Protective and Regulatory Services would like to take this opportunity to recognize its more than 2,000 foster parents across the state.

Texas Department of Protective and Regulatory Services is proud of the families who have accepted the challenge of taking foster children into their hearts. The children of Texas are our future. Through patience, acceptance, and understanding, foster parents give children who have been unable to live with their birth parents the joy of a loving home.

Texas Department of Protective and Regulatory Services is currently accepting applications for foster parents. There is a great need in the Panhandle for more foster parents. The children placed in foster care by the Texas Department of Protective and Regulatory Services are children who have been victims of child abuse or neglect. Children placed in foster care are between the ages of birth and seventeen years. Homes are needed for younger children, but the greatest need is for more homes that can care for older children and teenagers, and those who can accept the placement of more than one child to accommodate brothers and sisters placed together.

Persons who apply to be foster parents can be married or single. They need to be financially stable and in good health. The foster home must pass a fire and health inspection. Foster parent applications are reviewed by law to pass a criminal and child abuse check by the Texas Department of Protective and Regulatory Services and the Department of Public Safety. Foster parent applicants are approved for foster care after they have completed training, a foster home worker has completed a foster home study, and the home

JARA BEHRENS AND RICHARD DEBOSE

Vow To Be Exchanged

A candlelight wedding ceremony is being planned for June 25 at 7:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church in Canyon uniting Jara Dee Behrens and Richard William "Bill" DuBose.

Parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Behrens of Canyon and Mr. and Mrs. Richard DeBose of Plano.

The bride-elect received her bachelor of science degree with a major in biology from West Texas A&M. She was a member of Zeta Tau Alpha. In May she will attend Texas Tech University Physical Therapy School. The prospective groom received his bachelor of science degree from Texas Tech University with a major in Agriculture/Business. He was a member of the Red Raider football team. He is Regional Sales Manager for ANIPRO Liquid Supplement. Jara is the granddaughter of Mrs. Truett Behrens and the late Truett Behrens of Clarendon.

Dear Editor,

A Home For The President

There is a rumor afloat in Clarendon that the Clarendon College Board is considering purchasing a home, the Charlic Deyhle house, west of Clarendon to be used by the president of the college. The price is $250,000. "Let's study this a little", as they say in college.

Perhaps the board could personally assume this purchase as it would only amount to about $27,777.78 for each of them if they paid in advance. It would of course amount to only $416.68 per member per month for ten years if they financed it, or about $270,000 including interest. I'm sure this would be no step for each of them as this doesn't seem too much to surround the president with the luxuries to which he is entitled. He only makes about $90,000 per year plus car allowance and travel expenses. It's not known if he receives a housing allowance. I'll bet he's having a hard time making it on this.

If the board doesn't want to personally assume this responsibility, I'll bet the Senior Citizens would like to take over as they get so much benefit out of it. They've paid taxes on everything except their sweat for years and up until now have hardly ever been able to see any results. If this transaction

Wedding Announced

Cyril and Mitzi Brockman of Nazworth announce the engagement of their daughter, Stephanie Sue, to Phillip Lee Behrens. Behrens is the son of Jerry and Delores Behrens of Canyon. The couple plans to be wed May 28 at Holy Family Catholic Church in Nazworth.

The bride-elect received a bachelor's degree in physical education from Eastern New Mexico University in Portales, New Mexico, in May 1993. She is the assistant girls basketball coach at ENMU.

The prospective groom received a bachelor's degree in finance from Southwestern Oklahoma State University in Weatherford, Oklahoma in May 1990. He is a sales representative for Heff Jones Co. Phil is the grandson of Mrs. Truett Behrens and the late Truett Behrens.

takes place they could drive by this beautiful home and say, "Now that's progress, and I helped make it possible". I'm sure they would all be very proud.

If both of these options fail, it's most probable that the teachers would jump at the chance to pay for it. Each of them probably thinks they are highly over paid and they will want to pay in order to unload their excess money. It is probable creating a lot of stress in their lives just wondering what to do with all the excess they are accumulating. It is also apparent that each of their departments has an embarrassment of riches in equipment and facilities. Good for the teachers, they will go for this.

If all the above options fail in the attempt to raise funds for this most necessary purchase, there is no doubt in my mind that the citizens of Clarendon will be tickled to increase their college taxes enough to cover this minor item and the expenses that go with it like repairs and upkeep, utilities and daily maintenance for both house and grounds. Their joy at doing this will be because they already pay federal taxes, state taxes, school taxes, luxury taxes, city taxes, county taxes and a multitude of other taxes and haven't actually had a revolution yet. Yeah, they'll go for it, they are a little bit dense anyway and probable won't even notice.

Good idea College Board! Go For It! Sound like a real smart thing to do. An the future everyone is going to be greatly impressed by how you made this intelligent decision.

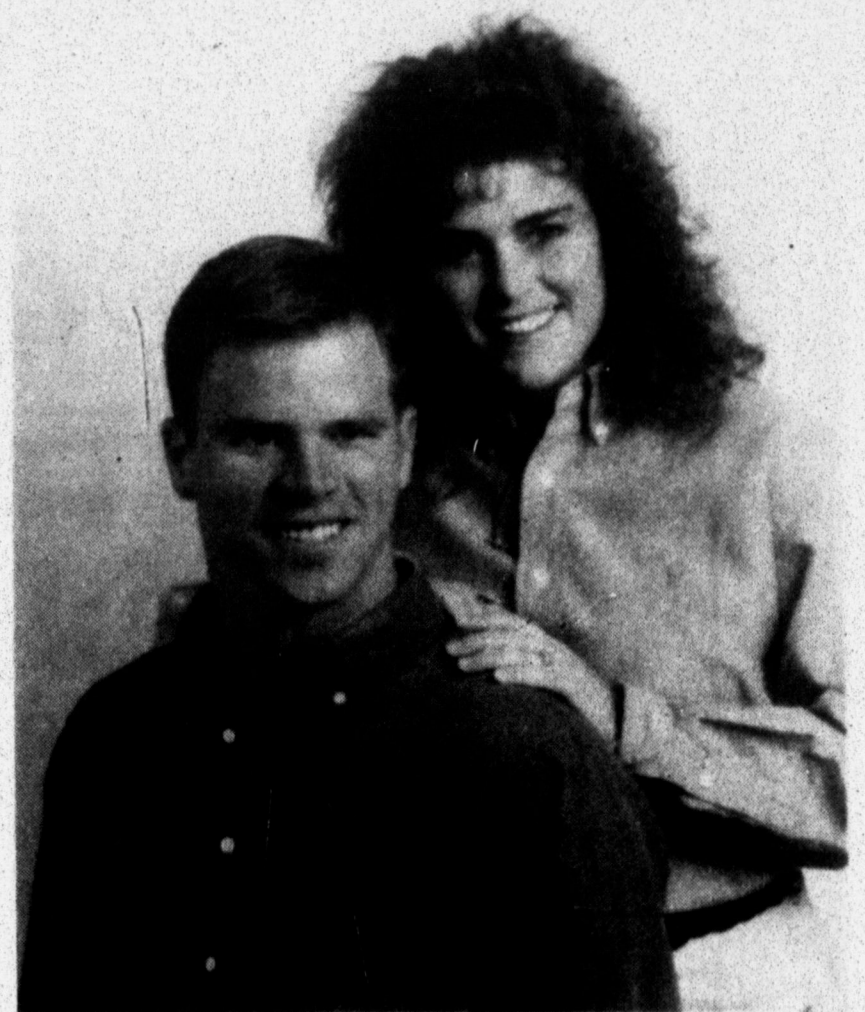

Most of the discussions concerning this has been more or less kept in the dark and everyone knows that everything that takes place in the dark is good. Each of us could of course, have been at the board meetings but who need to keep informed when we have smart people like this representing us.

Helpful Lawn Tips

If you're having trouble growing the perfect lawn, don't throw in the towel. The truth is you don't need a Ph.D. in horticulture to be successful. In fact, schooling yourself in the basics of lawn care is as simple as A, B, C.

This year, you can turn a sparse lawn into a carpet of green with ease by following a few simple lawn care tips from the experts at Ampel Corporation, manufacturers of Reveille line of soil nutrition products.

Choosing A Grass Seed
Whether you are creating a new lawn or maintaining an existing one, the key to healthy grass begins with the seed. To guarantee successful grass plants, choose a seed mix designed to thrive in the environmental and lifestyle conditions specific to your landscape. Amounts of sun and shade, lawn size, temperature range and level of family use are all important factors to consider.

Remember, when choosing a grass seed, you'll reap what you sow, so take the time to select the grass seed best suited for the

has been verified to meet state requirements.

Foster care is primarily short-term care for children. The length of time a child is in a foster home can be as short as one day or, in a few cases, permanent. The average length of time a child is in a foster home is usually three to six months. Foster parents are assisted with reimbursements for the child's expenses. Foster parents can choose the age, sex and race of children they wish to foster.

Foster parents are individuals who are willing to accept the challenge of providing for an abused or neglected child who needs them. They are willing to accept the personal rewards, as well as the heartaches, involved in caring for foster children.

environment, design and use of the lawn. If you're still unsure, consult your local County Extension Agents for assistance.

The Soil
Before an artist can paint, he needs a clean canvas — the same is true of lawn care. For grass to thrive and grow the lawn must be clear of debris, such as rocks and twigs, and soil must be properly conditioned.

Using a tiller for large areas, or garden shovel for smaller projects, loosen soil to a depth of two to three inches. If the soil is clayey and compacted, blend in a product such as Reveille "Pelletized" Gypsum with your regular fertilizer application to break up and aerate the mix. Gypsum will improve drainage and reduce harmful salt levels, so fertilizers will work more effectively — promoting deeper root growth, while providing essential nutrients.

Some soils may not react immediately to the fertilizer due to imbalanced pH levels — levels of acidity or alkalinity in the soil. Grass plants grow best in pH levels that range between 6.3 and 7.0 (7.0 being neutral). To correct any acid imbalance, include an application of limestone or sulfur with your regular fertilizer. There are many types of limestone available for every soil type. Reveille, for instance, offers three non-toxic and pelletized products — Dolomitic Limestone, High Calcium Limestone, Calcitic Limestone and Pelletized Sulfur, one of which is sure to solve your pH problem.

Spot Patching
To patch a weedy, dead or damaged section of lawn, first rake out the affected area to form grooves in the soil surface. Next, work in a handful of a balanced fertilizer, and rake the area smooth again.

With weeds and debris raked clear, you're ready to spread the grass seed. The seed can be broadcast by hand, or with a hand-held spreader for more even distribution. After spreading the seed, rake the area again to cover them lightly with soil. Once covered, use an empty roller to gently press the seeds into contact with the soil. Water the newly-seeded area as needed for the next two weeks until the grass is well-established.

Watering
The key to watering established grass plants is a thorough soaking once a week, counting rain purely as a bonus. Water early in the morning to minimize evaporation and runoff, and soak the soil to the depth of the roots, approximately two to three inches. This watering formula will promote deep root growth and allow grass to withstand the stress of heat and drought.

Mowing
A lawn of thriving grass is like a full head of hair — periodically it needs to be cut to keep it neat and healthy. For the best results, mow often but not too closely, never removing more than the top one-third of the grass plant in one cutting. A more severe or deeper cut will leave grass plants more susceptible to scalding, pests and disease. As a rule, cut more frequently when grass is growing rapidly and less often when growth slows during mid-summer months.

Remember to keep mower blades sharp as well. Dull blades will damage grass leaving ugly dead tips which soon turn brown. Also, avoid cutting the lawn when grass is wet, as soggy plants lie flat, minimizing the effectiveness of mowing.

With a little extra effort and determination, this spring you can graduate with honors from the school of lawn care and have a lawn that's the envy of the neighborhood.

Elm Leaf Beetles Attack Trees

As the weather warms up and trees begin to emerge DONLEY County will soon see the emergence of the Elm Leaf Beetle. Adults are about 1/4 inch long and light yellow to brownish-green. Several black spots decorate the head and thorax, and a broad black stripe follows the outer margin of each wing cover. Mature larva are about 1/2 inch long and yellow with black spots and stripes. Pupa are 1/4 inch long and bright orange-yellow with scattered black bristles.

Elm leaf beetles overwinter in any sheltered, dry place which gives them protection. Occasionally, overwintering adults enter homes were they become a nuisance on warm days. In the spring beetles fly to elm trees shortly after foliage emerges. they eat holes in new leaves and soon deposit double rows of 5 to 25 yellowish eggs, which resemble minute lemons, on the underside of leaves.

New infestations of young elm leaf beetles are easily overlooked because of their feeding location. At first, three green part of the leaves are removed with just the veins remaining. As damage accumulates, dry skeltonized leaves become obvious. Heavily infested trees have sparse forage, and remaining leaves take on a rusty, reddish-brown tint. Heavily infested trees drop leaves prematurely and may eventually die.

Natural enemies include birds, toads, discases and predaceous and parasitic insects. A small wasp frequently kills many pupae.

Chemical control of elm leaf beetles depends on early detection of infestations and through insecticidal coverage of the tree. Examine the underside of leaves for yellow eggs and young larvae in March and April soon after the tree leaves out. Control measures normally are applied about three weeks after the leaves begin to emerge if eggs and larvae are present. A second application may be necessary 2 to 3 weeks later. Continue to examine trees every 2 to 3 weeks during the remainder of the summer because reinfestations from adjacent, untreated trees may occur.

If you would like additional information on this are other subjects please contact the Extension office at 874-2141.

Allergy Season Approaching

It is allergy season again and parents will want to look for the "allergic salute" -- a sure sign that their child has allergic rhinitis or "hay fever," and not just a common cold.

The "salute," a rapid rubbing of the nose and eyes, is one sign the parents can watch for as trees begin to spread their pollen this allergy season, says a Baylor College of Medicine allergy expert.

"While allergies usually run in families, many parents may not recognize the symptoms," said Dr. Stuart Abramson, an assistant professor of pediatrics at Baylor. "Early detection can pay off, because untreated conditions sometimes lead to significant illness. Recurrent sinus and ear infections, sleep problems, behavior problems, and jaw pain can all be symptoms of untreated allergic rhinitis."

Abramson says that allergic rhinitis in children is often confused with colds, since their symptoms are similar.

"A runny nose, red watery eyes, sneezing, a sore throat -- these can result from a common cold, or they can be warning signs of allergic reaction," he said. "The main difference is that children with allergic rhinitis have an unusually high amount of sneezing and itching in the nose."

Wheezing, too can be a sign of allergic reaction to airborne pollen, and should be taken seriously, he added, since nearly 80 percent of all children with asthma have seasonal or year-round allergies. This can cause an asthma attack, a potentially life-threatening condition, if not treated properly.

Allergic reactions can be divided into three categories. Those that occur in the nose or sinus are called sinus, hay fever, or allergic rhinitis. If in the chest, it can trigger asthma. Allergic reactions of the skin are called hives.

Allergic rhinitis occurs when the child breathes in airborne allergens such as tree pollen. In allergy-sensitive people, the body produces an antibody to the pollen. This eventually leads to the release of histamine, a substance that reacts to the "invasion" of the pollen, which sets off a chain of events such as sneezing, itching, and red watery eyes.

Children 3 and older can be tested for sensitivity to airborne allergens if they display symptoms. Treatment can include decongestants and antihistamines for mild cases and allergy shots for more severely affected patients.

"The big advance today is inhaled medications," he said. "They can often control inflammation of the nose and lungs."

New treatments include steroids such as topical nose sprays, and non-sedative antihistamines, which are given orally to children 12 and older.

Abramson says that it is not known why people have allergies, although it is hereditary.

"It does run in families, although not every child who has allergies has parents with allergies. That is why it is important for parents to know the signs," he said.

Minding Your Own Business

by Don Taylor

Improving Customer Care

Today, small businesses must stay completely focused on their customers if they are going to survive. It will take superior customer service to hold market share and excellent service to gain on the pack. We're not talking about lip service, but real, honest-to-goodness customer care.

Based on conversations we've had with hundreds of business owners and customers around the country, we believe there are five levels of customer service. You may see your business in one of the levels we describe. If you're not where you would like to be, you may want to move your service quality up a notch.

Five Levels of Care

No Care. The lowest level of customer service is no care. A recent study by Yankelovich Partners found that for many businesses "no care" is the norm. Sixty-two percent of the customers surveyed reported that they had walked out of a business because no one greeted them, no one waited on them or offered to help. That's no care.

In the same survey, 60 percent of the respondents reported asking a question that the sales clerk couldn't answer. To make matters worse, most didn't offer to find out. That's no service.

Barely Care. Barely care is the level where many small businesses perform. They barely give any real customer service. They do almost nothing to set themselves apart from the mega stores who also provide barely care.

Barely care gives greet their customers, offer assistance and say thanks. Then they go on to the next sale. The previous customer is quickly forgotten as the barely care giver repeats the process on the next one.

Reactive Care. The reactive care giver provides barely care and then goes one step beyond. The additional step is to let the customer know that they are there to help if needed. The customer must take the initiative, but they are assured of assistance if they call.

Minding Your Own Business-from p. 7

Each of these steps is an improvement. Barely care is better than no care; and reactive care is better than barely care. Barely.

Proactive Care. Proactive care is the level of care that goes beyond reactive care. Proactive care gives follow-up with customers. They initiate calls to see how customers are doing.

The proactive care giver really is concerned with how the customer is doing. They want to serve the customer more effectively because they know that the only way they can guarantee future business is to keep the customer satisfied.

Proactive care is a high level of customer service. However, if you're providing proactive care you could still lose your customers to a competitor who goes all out to please the customer.

Whatever-It-Takes Care. Whatever-it-takes customer service includes the best of all other levels of service. In addition, it encompasses building a partnership with customers.

This level of service is not just based on giving great service to ensure the next sale, but also focuses on helping customers even if you don't make another sale. Your business becomes giving customers what they want and need.

It will require a higher level of commitment and employee training than you've provided in the past. You'll have to stretch to build new relationships. You'll have to think like a partner with your customers. You'll have to know their needs as well as you know your own.

The reward is customer loyalty. I know you've heard that customer loyalty doesn't exist anymore. For most businesses that is true. Most businesses don't offer whatever-it-takes care. No care equals no loyalty. Barely care, reactive care and even proactive care offer little promise of "customers for life." Whatever-it-takes care will ensure satisfied customers who want to do business with you again and again.
