LABAN TUBBS, New Ranch and Feedlot Operation Program.

College Hires Instructor

Clarendon College has hired Laban Tubbs to fill the instructor's vacancy in the college's Ranch and Feedlot Operations Program. Tubbs, a graduate of New Mexico State University, is presently a senior research assistant at the university's Corona Experimental Station.

He brings eight years of experience and a strong background in the livestock industry to the RFO program. Tubbs holds a bachelor's and masters degree in Animal Science from NMSU. While working on his masters, he served as a research and teaching assistant. He taught courses and labs dealing with reproductive physiology, animal breeding and advanced reproductive physiology. He also worked within the packing sector of the livestock industry as a Quality Assurance Manager for Monfort.

Tubbs, his wife Jennifer, and their two children will reside in Clarendon. His employment with the college will start August 1.

George Wayne Estlack

Funeral services for George Wayne Estlack, age 77, were held at 10:30 a.m. on Monday, June 13, 1994 in the First United Methodist Church with Rev. Terry Tamplen, Pastor and Rev. Truman Ledbetter, Pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Interment was in Citizens Cemetery with arrangements under the direction of Robertson Funeral Directions, Inc.

Mr. Estlack died at 7:45 p.m. on Friday, June 10, 1994 in Hall County Hospital in Memphis following a lengthy illness. He was born February 5, 1917 in Eunice, New Mexico and had lived in Clarendon for the past 75 years. He married Ruby Dell Scoggins on November 28, 1936 at Clarendon. He began working at the Donley County Leader newspaper in 1929 and was the editor and publisher for many years before selling the paper in 1974. He then owned and operated Clarendon Office Supply and Printing until his retirement in April 1992. He had served as the Past President and had served several years as Secretary of the Panhandle Press Association and had been a director of the Texas Press Association. He had received many first place awards for his editorials over the years on a statewide level. He was one of the organizers of the Clarendon Outdoor Entertainment Association and was a member of the Clarendon Masonic Lodge #700 and a 50 year member of the Clarendon Lions Club. He had served on the Donley County School Board for many years and was a member of the First United Methodist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Ruby Dell Estlack of Clarendon; one daughter, Jackie Patterson of Canyon; one brother, E.H. Estlack of Austin; one granddaughter, Marcella Wilson of Amarillo; and one great grandson, James David Wilson of Amarillo; and several nieces and nephews.

Casket bearers were Bud Lovelady, Johnny Leathers, Duane Nichols, Joe Lovell, David Smith, and Bronnie McNabb.

The family requests that memorials be to Citizens Cemetery Association, P.O. Box 1005, Clarendon, Texas 79226-1005.

Fisherman Catches Lucky Bass

This weekend an Amarillo fisherman caught a winning bass in the merchants' fishing contest. Orvil Nevgin caught a one-and-one-half pound bass that was tagged by S&S TV Repair. He will claim the prize from that participating merchant.

Many other fish in Lake Greenbelt are swimming around with tags that could win a lucky fisherman prizes. Most Clarendon merchants bought a fish and promised a prize to the person who catches it.

The promotion is an effort to increase tourism in the Clarendon area, and appears to be working. Each winner is expected to generate additional excitement for the contest.

WTU Testing Program

West Texas Utilities Company is testing a customer satisfaction program called "Talk to Me" in the Northern part of Texas this month. The pilot program will give customers in Clarendon and surrounding towns the chance to voice their opinions and suggest ideas on how the company could improve service.

Response cards featuring a picture of Reddy Kilowatt saying "Talk to Me" will be handed to customers who will have the option of filling in the card immediately or returning it by mail. The objective of the program is to focus on customer service and find out what our customers think of WTU.

"To be successful in the future, our focus has to be on customer service, a total marketing effort and business growth," Pete Churchwell, executive vice president, said. "These three targets will be achieved if our customers are truly satisfied with WTU. We welcome their ideas."

WTU wants to provide "optimum customer services and options in a safe, reliable and cost-effective manner to make WTU the electric provider of choice," Churchwell said. One way to find out if we are meeting our customers' needs is to ask, he added.

"Talk to Me" cards are simple and direct, which will help WTU record the honest and candid opinions of the customers it serves. The new program was created as another way to meet customer needs, but customers can always talk face-to-face to someone directly at the nearest WTU area office. "This depicts the kind of neighbor-to-neighbor dialogue we have had with customers for years," Churchwell said.

If the test program proves to be successful, "Talk to Me" will be implemented companywide in July. WTU serves 52 counties of West Texas.

Call To Order: Mayor; H C Clark called the meeting to order at 7:00 P.M. and welcomed all present.

Parliamentary Procedure: Mayor; H C Clark discussed the common practices of parliamentary procedure. Each speaker should get recognition from the chair before starting to talk and not talk while someone else has the floor.

Minutes: The minutes for May 10th, 24th, and 31th, 1994 were read and approved as read.

May Financial Statement: The May Financial Statement was presented for approval by Council. Bob Thompson made a motion to approve, with a second by Bob Hall. Motion carried with a five to nothing vote.

Bills To Be Paid: Bob Hall made a motion to pay the bills, with a second by Bob Thompson. Motion carried with a five to nothing vote.

Mayors Duties: According to the Texas Municipal Law and Procedure Manual, in a Type B General Law Municipality, the Mayor has a vote along with the Council on anything. This is not to be confused with a Type A municipality where the mayor does not have a vote unless there is a tie. At this time, the mayor ask Council to give the authority to hire and fire an employee and the responsibility of the employees. Chery Linquist made a motion to give the authority back to the mayor, with a second by Bob Thompson. Motion carried with a four to nothing vote, with Willie McCauley and Margaret Pettit abstaining from voting.

Someone To Keep Office: The mayor asked if someone would like to volunteer to keep the office when the secretary needed off. Margaret Pettit made a motion that the answering machine be hooked up to the phone and a notice as to how long the secretary would be gone put on the door and close the office for this time, with a second by Willie McCauley. Motion carried with a five to nothing vote, with H C Clark abstaining.

Trash For Weekenders: After some discussion, Bob Thompson made a motion that the City issue to the ones that want to participate in the use of the dumpsters be given a lock and key to the dumpster area for the fee of $2.00 for the key and $3.00 for the lock. If the key is used by anyone else, the lock will be taken off and the fee for the key will not be reimbursed, with a second by Chery Linquist. Motion carries with a six to nothing vote.

Clarify Citizen Presentation:

According to the Texas Municipal Law and Procedure Manual; "It is possible to allow citizens to present complaints or ask questions. Council members may not discuss the matter. They may ask questions of the city staff or of the citizen for further clarification. They may request that the matter

Little League News

Baseball season is winding down, and with only a few short weeks left, the coaches are pleased to say that the '94 season has been a huge success.

The scores and players of the are as follows: The Tee-ball teams have all showed tremendous improvements. This is largely due to the dedication of their coaches and the support of the fans. Wranglers 10 to the D.C. Kids 6. Rangers 18 to Wranglers 17. Rangers players of the week were Will Betts and Destiny Weatheron. Wranglers players of the week are Cierra Benavidez and Shanna Shelton.

Knickers player of the week was Loren Floyd. Knickers 22 to D.C. Kids 18. This game finished the season for the D.C. Kids with coaches Randy White and Bruce Baird saying that coaching these fine young players was an experience they will never forget. The coaches were proud to say the outstanding players of the week were Equilla Weatheron, Casey Elliott, Louis Castro, Kristian White, Jamie Simmons, Timothy Sears, Andrea Helms, Andria Kidd, and Shawna Barker.

B&R Bulldogs got romped on by Groon but came back to win against the Bandits. Bulldogs 12 to Bandits 11. The players who did a great job this week were Shawn Prestidge, Antonio Wilson, and Steven Wilson.

Falcons faced off against the Rappers and came out victorious with some tremendous batting by Dee Thompson, John Yankee, and Jeremy Tunnell. Falcons 8 to Rappers 2. Falcons lost to Groon 2 to 8 but the coaches said the whole team put forth an outstanding effort and they are Nathan Floyd, Colt Floyd, Shanon Martin, Jeremy Tunnell, Randy Sanchez, Tyler Martin, Nathan Jaramillo, Aron Mays, Seth Seale, John Yankee, Dee Thompson, and Bryan Thompson.

The Headbangers barely inched by their Head Spinning Moms with a score of 7 to 6.

Pink Pizazz stomped the Bad News Babes 17 to 12. But coaches Cheryl Bennett and Tangela Copelin would like to say what a courageous effort this was on part of the girls who played the majority of the game with 6 girls. Tiffany Noble made a noble stand to try to play but due to an illness had to set the game out. Brittney Bennett played a hot and tiring game as hind catcher. Hailey Bennett played first base and Kristen Glover played second base but both girls had to also cover right field. April Bryley played third base as well as covered short stop. Lydia Hartman played left field as well as covered center field. Chrystal Holeman played second base then stepped in to relieve Kristen Glover as pitcher. Both girls pitched a great game as well as doing a fine job backing each other up. This was a game the 6 girls could all be proud of as they each played with the heart of champions.

WT Announces Acquisition

West Texas Gas, Inc., is pleased to announce the recent acquisition of the natural gas transmission and distribution assets of Producer's Utilities Corporation based in Groom, Texas, and several other assets, including two gas wells and a compressor station owned by related entities. The purchase was completed and West Texas Gas and WTG Exploration, Inc. of Midland, assumed operations on January 18, 1994.

The Producer's Utilities systems include gas burner tip sales in the cities of Claude and Groom, Texas, and rural residential and irrigation gas customers in Carson and Armstrong Counties, Texas, and have over 40 miles of main transmission pipelines. West Texas Gas will also reopen its propane, diesel, gasoline, and lubricants business at 502 E. Front, Groom, Texas, including a new gasoline and diesel automated fueling station (GASCARD) at that location. Customers may want to call Ms. Judy Miller or Mr. Donald Bland in Groom (806-248-7461) for all natural gas, propane, gasoline, diesel, and lubricant needs, or for a GASCARD application. Mr. Bland, formerly of WTG's Clarendon District, will supervise the operations at Claude and Groom, and will be ably assisted by Ms. Miller, district clerk, Mr. David Hinson, Groom meterman, and Mr. Robert Miller, Claude meterman.

West Texas Gas, Inc. operates throughout the Texas Panhandle and West Texas, as a distributor of natural gas, gasoline, diesel, lubricants and automated fueling (GASCARD). WTG also has gas appliances (hot water heaters; wall heaters; and gas ranges) at the Groom office.

West Texas Gas, Inc., with headquarters in midland, Texas has acquired the natural gas transmission and distribution assets of High Plains natural Gas Company, based in Canadian, Texas. The major stockholder of High Plains is Mr. Samuel Ballen of Santa Fe, New Mexico. The purchase was completed and West Texas Gas assumed operations on May 20, 1994.

The High Plains systems include gas burner tip sales in the cities of Canadian, Higgins, Mobeetie, Miami, Darrrouzett, Follett, Wheeler, Briscoe, Allison, Texas; and Reydon, Oklahoma. High Plains also sells natural gas to the municipal gas systems of Perryton, Booker, and Spearman, Texas, and has over 200 miles of main transmission pipeline.

West Texas Gas is a public utility that has operated in the State of Texas since 1976. WTGas owns and operates over 2,400 miles of pipeline composed of various transmission and local distribution systems located throughout the Texas Panhandle and West Texas areas. WTGas currently serves over 10,000 residential, commercial, agricultural, and city-gate customers, and their annual sales volumes to these customers averages over 9,000,000 MCF per year.

The President of West Texas Gas, Inc., is Mr. J.L. Davis, and Mr. Richard Hatchett is Vice President-Natural Gas Operations, Sales, and Supply. Mr. Davis "We are most pleased to acquire High Plains because it fits so well with our present systems in the Texas Panhandle and we are looking forward to contributing High Plains quality service. WTGas will continue High Plains' current rate structure for the foreseeable future and maintain the majority of its outstanding personnel in their present or similar positions."

The Lions Tale

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular meeting at noon on Tuesday, June 7, 1994 at the Lions Hall with 14 members, 2 guests, and Lion Sweetheart Dee Williams in attendance. Following a delicious lunch, Vice-President Garland called the meeting to order. The regular opening ceremony was held (Thanks to Lion Bernabee for filling in as song leader) and Liontamer Henson introduced the guests including Kevin Thompson who is in the insurance business and who was the guest of Lion Garland. A treasure's report and a bingo report were given by Lion Bernabee. In response to a question by Lion Garland, Lion Bernabee reported that he flew four missions over Normandy on D- Day and seven throughout the European Campaign. Program chairman Smith reported that we would be having a program in the future on D-Day and also several programs on visits to Russia.

Notice to Members: The regular meeting on Tuesday, June 28th has been changed to Wednesday, June 29th. There was no other business and the meeting was adjourned.

Saving Tips Offered

The long hot days of summer are upon us. When temperatures reach the 90's, you wonder how to stay cool and save energy at the same time. West Texas Utilities company offers these tips to help use energy wisely during this hottest part of the summer.

Check air conditioning filters each month and replace them at least every 30 days. Dirty filters cause the equipment to work harder and use more electricity.

For economy, set the air conditioner thermostat no lower than 78 degrees. Each degree below that adds to the cost.

Use portable and ceiling fans whenever possible to help circulate air and reduce the amount of air conditioning required.

Set thermostats at a higher temperature when away from home. The air conditioner won't cycle as often while you're out.

Perform heavy housework chores in the cooler time of the day. This includes washing dishes, baking and laundry work, chores which create heat and moisture that put an extra strain on the air conditioner. Vent clothes dryers to the outside and use kitchen exhaust fans to get rid of excess heat.

Block out direct sunlight as much as possible. Close curtains, shades and blinds to hold down the temperature inside the house. Consider light-colored roofs, outside wall material, drapes and solar screens that reflect the heat.

Weather-strip doors and windows to prevent expensive air leaks. Make sure all windows and doors are closed when the air conditioning unit is operating.

The attic should be properly ventilated to prevent excess heat build-up which causes a cooling system to work harder.

Insulation is very important and can pay for itself by lowering cooling costs by as much as 20 percent. Use insulation with a high "R" value. WTU energy experts suggest R-30 to R-38 for ceilings, R-16 for outside walls and R-19 for use under raised floors. Also, an 11.0 or higher Seasonal Energy Efficiency Ratio (SEER) is preferred for air conditioning units and heat pumps.

Air conditioning and heat pump equipment should be inspected and serviced each year to operate at maximum efficiency.

If you have a fireplace, be sure the damper is tightly closed.

Keep furniture and draperies away from air vents inside the house. Air should be allowed to flow freely throughout the home.

Shrubby growing against the outside walls, as well as trees that shade the roof, act as a barrier against the sun and can reduce the amount of energy required to cool a home. However, keep shrubbery trimmed away from the outdoor compressor unit so that there is ample room for good air circulation.

These tips can help the homeowner make it through the upcoming "dog days of August" while using energy wisely around the house.

Summer Bugs Are Back

The bugs are back. And they're in a buzz.

Even if you dread that familiar summer scenario, there is little you can do to prevent a run-in with one of the many vicious, venom carrying insects that invade every pool party, picnic, baseball game and barbecue.

"Repellent will keep mosquitoes at bay, but the only way to avoid the sting of a harmful flying insect like a wasp or honeybee is to stay a safe distance away," says Dr. Robert Fromm, Jr., Director of Emergency Services at The Methodist Hospital in Houston.

Dr. Fromm says swatting at them with your hand may just stir them up, so its best to just move away as fast as you can. "If you should disrupt a nest or beehive, run!" says Dr. Fromm.

Certain flying insects, like the honeybee, can sting just once, but several will strike several times and that means more poison penetrating your skin.

"Nausea, vomiting, shortness of breath, weakness and generalized swelling usually mean a lot of venom has been secreted into the skin," says Dr. Fromm. If you notice those symptoms, it's time to see a doctor.

Mosquitos

If you are stung by a honeybee, the bee will leave its stinger stuck in your skin along with a small sack which contains venom. Don't squeeze it! Dr. Fromm advises gently scraping it off the skin so the venom will not penetrate.

All insect stings will likely produce some localized swelling, redness of the skin, pain and an itching sensation. "The best way to treat most stings is to apply ice for the swelling and a lotion or cream to relieve the itching," says Dr. Fromm, "but try to resist the urge to scratch the affected area since that often causes an infection."

And one more thing. Interestingly enough, the smell of some fragrances and trash is a magnet for most stinging insects.

They'll get all over it. Like bees on honey. (I just couldn't resist.)

Vacation Tips

It's vacation time and time to start thinking about our summer travel plans. Trooper LB Snider with the Texas Department of public safety says, "With a little bit of forethought, our summer travels can be made easier and a lot safer".

Basic planning includes a vehicle safety check of belts, hoses, fluid levels, lighting, treadwear and air pressure of tires, cooling and ventilation system and safety belts. Drivers should be rested and free of alcohol and strong medications. Drivers should be familiar with highway numbers and speed zones they will be traveling.

When traveling, be sure to use your safety belts, be alert for dangerous drivers and road conditions. Snider encourages motorist to use headlights day and night to see and be seen. Frequent breaks are also recommended to relieve stress.

Motorists entering large cities should plan their trips to avoid rush hour traffic and watch for farm implements and other slow machinery in rural areas.

Snider reminds Texas motorists that many people lose their lives within 25 miles of departure and/or destination. This fatal fact is due in a large part to excessive speeds and not wearing safety belts. Remember to buckle up, be alert and have a great vacation this summer.

ment program. Culligan Water Systems of Amarillo, TX, uses a straightforward approach for creating excellence from within. Tom Grimes, the company's owner, shared his five-element plan with us several weeks ago. The quality program was developed by the entire staff.

I've read the five elements several times as I've sorted piles of information on future column topics. Each time I reviewed the five points, I was reminded that good programs don't have to be complex.

Recently, quality critics have criticized some of America's larger companies' TQM programs because of their complexity. The critics say that several of these programs are failing because the process is too complicated to understand and implement.

We realize that all business management issues are easier to discuss than to put into practice. However, if the process is too complex or if those charged with responsibility of implementing the program feel that it is too complicated, it is doomed from the start.

This is why keeping it simple and straightforward is beneficial.

If you can express the main elements of your quality efforts simply, you can work out the methods of implementation and measurement.

Chrysler's Simple Turnaround

Lee Iacocca, the retired chairman of Chrysler Corporation, described his success in turning the troubled company around a few years ago. He said the fundamentals were to, "Create a quality product, deliver it to the marketplace and make sure you let everyone know about it."

Iacocca's formula is neither complex nor difficult to understand. He founded it on sound manufacturing principles: Produce and deliver quality and then promote it.

Many specific operations are required to produce quality. You should examine each aspect of your business operation to ensure that it is contributing to quality in your products or services.

The elements of quality will vary from business to business. Some companies will be more product oriented, others more service focused.

The Q.T.I.P.S. Program

For Tom Grimes and his Culligan team, the quality effort began by identifying five areas to improve. They call their process the Q.T.I.P.S. Program. Here it is as Grimes shared it with us.

Q - Quality - Quality products, quality image and the most important factor quality people. Customers will pay more for real quality. Employees take pride in working for a quality company.

T - Teamwork - Work together toward common goals. Teamwork makes heavy loads lighter and laughter brighter. Insist on cooperation from all departments and staff. Eliminate bad apples from the barrel (firm).

I - Integrity - This is the foundation: Honesty and fairness. Customers respond to integrity; employees thrive on it. There is no other way to do business.

P - Profit - Profit is not a dirty word. Profits mean good wages, new trucks, better products and services. Who is responsible for profit? Everyone in the company. Selling is essential for profit. Who sells? Everyone in the company.

S - Service - Service is the hallmark of good business. It separates the best from the rest. People take pride in providing good service. Customers demand it. The key elements are good people, trained well.

Start with quality and end with service. Build a team of dedicated individuals. Run the business with integrity. Watch the bottom line profits.

Grimes summarizes the process by saying, "Q.T.I.P.S. sound simple but you and I know better. It takes dedicated people to make it work and it is an ongoing process."

Collecting

Larry is a successful small business owner whose sales are increasing steadily. In May, he achieved his third record month in a row. Business is booming, but Larry's bank account is empty. Selling is becoming easier, but Larry is slow in collecting the money his credit customers owe him.

Like Larry, most businesses are selling on credit. We're not talking about credit card sales, rather we mean open account, non-secured credit. When you sell on credit it means that you are not only in the selling business, but also in the collection business. This is an area of business that many entrepreneurs struggle with.

Laura is a perfect illustration of this point. Laura runs a very successful service business. She is bright, talented and pleasant. Her work is excellent, and her prices are reasonable.

Laura came to us for help because she was out of cash. Sales were strong and she had more work than she could do, but she had no cash and couldn't pay some of her suppliers.

The first thing we did was analyze Laura's financial records to see if she had a profitability problem or a cash flow problem. After examining Laura's business records we found that she was generating profit, but she wasn't collecting cash from her customers quickly enough. The result was that Laura was using her available cash to pay the higher variable expenses that come with increased sales. It was a classic cash-flow problem.

Improving Collection
In Laura's case we made several recommendations for improving collection and cash flow. Here are several tips that you can use, too:

Bill quickly. When Laura landed new clients and got very busy, her billing regularly slipped. Sometimes accounts went along for as long as 45 days without receiving a bill.

Our experience has been that even your best paying accounts won't pay until they receive a bill. If you're experiencing cash flow problems, we recommend that you send out bills as soon as you complete the work.

Bill frequently. On jobs where you don't complete the work quickly, make partial billings. Bill on the 15th and the 30th of each month. Billing quickly and more frequently will improve cash flow.

Bill clearly and accurately. Inaccurate or unclear invoices will always delay your collection process. To ensure clarity, keep bills simple and uncomplicated. Describe each billing item separately.

Check your math. Double-check all figures and calculations. Make certain that all bills are based on accurate charges. You may wish to provide documentation of delivery or services rendered.

Bill conveniently. Enclose a self-addressed envelope. Make it easy for the person you've billed to pay your bill. Although simple, this technique may move your invoice to the top of the "to be paid" pile.

Expect prompt payment. Once you've sent an accurate bill, you have a right to expect prompt, timely payment. If you don't receive that payment within a reasonable period, communicate your expectation clearly. Don't delay. Get on the phone and let your customer know that you expect payment.

If you're not going to get paid the sooner you find out the better. You may want to take quick action such as cancelling further work orders or shipments.

Follow-up. No one likes to make collection calls. It is stressful. It is not fun. However, there is no fun in not being able to pay your bills either.

When you must make collection calls, get right to the point. Don't beat around the bush and don't apologize for calling. You shouldn't be on the defensive. You have a right to be paid and you need to express it. Follow your call with a short letter confirming your conversation. You'll be pleased with the result.

FATHERS ARE THE SAME, DESPITE THEIR DIFFERENCES

Although he might be tall or short,
Or young or gray or bald,
He's still your dad, or any sort
Of name by which he's called.
For all the things that life demands
He'd always toil and strive,
By working with his brains or hands
And keeping you alive.
At times he had to punish you,
To teach you right from wrong;
As well as everything he knew
To help you get along.
The Bible tells you to obey
And love him while you can;
So just remember, come what may,
Your father's quite a man.
