School Bus Driver Safety Week Slated

"The Muleshoe Schools will be observing Texas School Bus Safety Week October 3-9 by trying to implement four district goals, says Neal B. Dillman, superintendent.

"These goals are (1) to emphasize the need for increased care when near a school bus (2) to make the public aware of the laws or ordinance regarding when and where not to pass a school bus (3) to make safer drivers of all school bus operators and (4) to educate the public regarding the importance of a school bus in the total education program.

Muleshoe schools have 14 buses which travel approximately miles each day and 207,760 miles per year. They also transport almost 700 student to and from school each day," he continued.

Lazbuddie Homecoming Is Spoiled

Homecoming at Lazbuddie was spoiled by the Matador County Matadors from Matador Friday night, when the Matadors roamed over the Longhorns 39-7 in a District 2-B North contest.

The traditional rivals squared off with the Matadors unbeaten and they refused to relinquish their unbeaten status Friday. The loss leaves Lazbuddie 2-3 for the season this year.

First tally for Matador was by halfback Jerry Lee in the first quarter. They put three more TDs on the scoreboard before halftime with Craig Christian scoring twice from the one yard line. Lee also made a 65 yard dash for another touchdown. Going into halftime, the Matadors had a comfortable 27-0 lead.

Bails Found Guilty, Five Years

It took a jury 45 minutes Wednesday afternoon to find Harold Bails guilty of aggravated robbery and an additional 30 minutes to assess his penalty as five years in the Department of Corrections for the conviction.

Bails was charged following an alleged armed robbery on the Myron Pool farm west of Muleshoe. He is one of three persons charged in the early morning incident. Ronald Frank Ethington and Larry Henderson are yet to be tried for their part in the armed robbery which netted the three approximately two gallons of gas.

Bails declined to take the witness stand in his own defense, and offered no defense witnesses in his behalf.

Testifying for the prosecution, the state of Texas were the men at the farm at the time of the alleged robbery, Deputy Sheriff Pete Black, Myron Pool III, DPS Officers Louis Cardinal and James Williams and Ken Angeley.

At no time was a denial made that Bails was at the farm early on the morning of the incident, and his attorney, John Broadfoot of Amarillo, said Bails' sole reason for using the gun was because he could not communicate with the Spanish-speaking people on the farm. He also said the fact that Bails was drinking was a major fact in his actions on that morning.

Jurors in the case preferred to accept District Attorney's statement in his closing to the jury.

"Consider the fact that Bails held this gun (a revolver) on the people, and said, give us the gas or you will die."

The trial of Bob Kimbrough, which was to begin Friday, was postponed due to the Routon case continuing through the day.

Shortly before 5 p.m. Friday, after 40 minutes of deliberation, the jury in the Carol Routon case determined she was not guilty and freed her from all charges.

By noon Friday, more than a day had gone by since testimony began in the trial of the State of Texas vs. Carol Routon for conspiracy to commit burglary. Mrs. Routon who took the witness stand for her own defense, completed her testimony around 11:30 Friday morning, following other witnesses to the stand. More defense witnesses were to be heard Friday afternoon before the jury began deliberation in the case.

Mrs. Routon has been charged following implication in the incident by Larry Wilkins, who received a three year sentence in the same case. Wilkins was found concealed on top of the meat coolers in the store on Saturday, October 19, 1974 after officers had been informed of the attempted burglary and where to look for the concealed man.

Wilkins at first refused to implicate anyone else in the incident until he was sentenced on February 14, 1975, then implicated Mrs. Routon, her sister, Macil Darlene Cowgar, and another subject in the incident.

Miss Cowgar was freed by the court on February 11, 1975, with Judge Pat Boone citing lack of evidence to get a conviction for Miss Cowgar's alleged part in the burglary attempt.

Wilkins testified for the state in the trial of Mrs. Routon this week. He testified that Mrs. Routon planned the burglary and helped with carrying out the plans. He said Mrs. Routon and Miss Cowgar are both his cousins.

Also testifying for the state was another cousin, Clinton Ray "Buddy" Clark, who said he was approached by Miss Cowgar, Mrs. Routon and George Edward Joe Clark, and asked to commit the actual burglary. He said that he refused the offer after thinking about it overnight, then went to City Officer Wayne Holmes and gave him full details of the planned

Muleshoe State Bank Offers New Service

Bill Loyd, president of Muleshoe State Bank, announced that an automatic teller machine has been received and is installed in the bank lobby and ready for public display.

"We've named the machine 'the Ready Bank' because, in keeping with our policy of providing innovative banking service, we've reached the area first with a complete new world of banking. Now, we will offer banking convenience seven days a week, twenty-four hours a day, every day of the year, including holidays," Loyd stated.

The automatic teller machine will initiate as many different checking and savings transactions as the customer desires, according to officials of the bank. From withdrawing cash from checking and savings accounts, to making deposits, to transferring funds between accounts and providing instant balances.

"Our customers will soon be receiving cards imprinted with personal code numbers through the mail. Only these cards can activate the machine. We think the Ready Bank is so simple to operate that a child could catch on after one simple lesson. We'd like to invite our customers and all our friends and neighbors from around the area to come in for a demonstration of the machine. Our Ready Bank is as easy to operate as a candy machine. We think it will revolutionize banking throughout the Muleshoe area," Loyd further commented.

The bank is demonstrating the machine and invite all their customers to come by and check out the Ready Bank.

Bilingual Classes Held Grades K-3

Bilingual Classes are offered for children in Muleshoe schools in Grades K-3 whose dominant language is Spanish.

"The primary goal of Bilingual Education is successful achievement by the student of the goals of the educational process using two languages, developing proficiency in both, but acknowledging English as the basic language of instruction, in all schools and assuring its mastery by all pupils," said Curriculum Director Elizabeth Watson.

Miss Rose Mary De la Cerda teacher bilingual kindergarten and second grade and Miss Mary Helen Gutierrez teaches first grade in Richland Hills Primary.

SBA Seminar Boosts Sales, Advertising

More than 40 people attended a seminar Thursday night which was sponsored by the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture in conjunction with the Small Business Administration.

Conducting the seminar was Bob Prock, management assistance officer for SBA from Lubbock. He was assisted by CPA Dave Sudduth and Tommy Black of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce.

Prock outlined to business people attending the meeting ways to draw customers and how to induce them to buy once they are in the store. Most of the time, he related, it is right on the store clerk's back, that indifference or rudeness by sales personnel tends to 'turn customers off' and they leave without a purchase.

Special services by a store, especially a small town store can make a big dollar difference in the store income, said Prock. Some of the special services he outlined included Know Your Merchandise; Gift Wrapping; Counseling Service; Gift Certificates; Shopping Service; Delivery Service; Telephone Service; Bridal Pattern Registration; Carry Out; Special Order; Size Registration; Customer Returns; Charge Accounts; Check Cashing and Cash Discounts.

In order to turn shoppers into buyers he suggested good store fronts; good window displays; appealing inside display cases; accenting of special items, business identification tags sewn into merchandise; signs and new and better store lighting.

He also suggested that small stores better utilize the time of their salespeople to keep merchandise rotated and in good shape, encourage sales people to be courteous and show customer-ship-know how to serve the customer and how to talk his language.

A sales person has to first sell himself, said Prock, before they can sell to a customer.

Although only 25 percent of an advertising budget is put into newspaper advertising added Prock, a very recent survey by the Bank of America shows newspaper advertising to be the most effective of all advertising.

He said it is 91 percent successful for retailers and 71 percent effective for service type organizations.

Second in the list of effective methods of advertising is the yellow pages of telephone books, he said, and commented, "The least successful method as far as advertising is concerned is radio. This does not necessarily hold true with small towns away from a large city," he commented, "But the fact is brought out strongly by the Bank of America survey, that newspaper, by far, is the most effective type of advertising known today."

"Advertising works," he emphasized, "But, remember, advertising is primarily to get a

Mules And Antelopes Just Don't Mix Well

It ended as it started, and as it happened throughout most of the game-on a fumble. Neither team looked outstanding during the entire game as Muleshoe marked up six fumbles and two interceptions and the Antelopes had five fumbles and two interceptions.

However, the scoreboard reflected that Abernathy has something the final score was Abernathy 33, Muleshoe 3.

Going into the second quarter, no one had scored, and no one moved the ball very well. Muleshoe had not been able to take advantage of being inside the 20-yard line three times until early in the second quarter when Alonso Ontiveros put the Mules only points on the scoreboard with a 22-yard field goal. Aroused Antelopes then racked up three touchdowns before the end of the first half. First was on a 20-yard scamper by flanker Scott Cunningham, followed by a slam through the middle from the one by quarterback Roddy Shipman. But the Antelopes were not satisfied. They then scored on a six yard pass from Shipman to Dan Nunn in the end zone.

Going into the half, the score was 19-3.

The second half was much as the first half had been, with additional touchdowns by Le McCune, who raced for 40 yards, outrunning his pursuers and then a razzle dazzle pass play from Roddy Shipman, who started running with the ball and a quick pitch to McCune, who completed the 55 yard play

Vacation, Sick Leave Policies Approved

Meeting in session on Wednesday, September 29, members of the Bailey County Commissioners Court adopted the adjusted salary rates for the county employees and also approved a new vacation and sick leave policy for county employees.

On motion by Commissioner Bob Sanders and second by Commissioner Matt Dudley, the following policy was adopted: "Each employee will be allowed two weeks paid vacation per year which may be taken on the basis of one day per month, or a total of two weeks per year, but not to accumulate more than twelve months at a time.

"Each employee will be allowed one-half day sick leave per month not to accumulate more than twelve months, or a total of six days per year. Major illnesses, accidents, injuries on the job, or special cases are to be brought before the Commissioners Court, and only upon approval by the Court will additional sick leave be granted.

"Each department head is hereby granted authority to administer this policy in his respective office, and will be responsible for application of it."

Following a request by Frank Ellis, operator of Singleton-Ellis Funeral Home for an increase in the ambulance subsidy granted by the county, a joint meeting with members of the Muleshoe City Council will be held on Tuesday morning. At the same time, members of the Commissioners Court will also discuss dispatching services for the Muleshoe-Bailey County Law Enforcement Center.

Discussed by the commissioners, with no decision being made, was an increase in allowed funds for feeding prisoners in the county jail. A proposal had been made to increase funds allowed due to the greatly increased food prices.

A number of repairs to the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center were authorized, including pipe and floor leak repairs, and repairs to the cell area, along with repairing and maintenance of the heating and

Freshmen Rip Canyon Team

The Mules ran wild and in the final analysis, had a big 51-20 score over the hapless young Eagles.

During the first half, Mike Northcutt scores, Jim Norman ran in two touchdowns and Mark Northcutt, the second half of the Northcutt twins didn't let his brother outdo him as he scored also.

Zeke Pecina, a strong runner in his own right, ran in four extra points and Al Ontiveros ran in two extra points and kicked one point.

About mid-point in the third, the Mules were leading the Eagles 29-14 when James Atwood latched onto a pass and made a 55-yard touchdown catch and run. This was immediately followed by Al Ontiveros making a 90-yard run which was called back on a Mule penalty.

person into your store. It's like a magnet. But what also happens when the potential customer gets into your store. Are your store personnel courteous, helpful and ready to serve the customer? Or, is the customer ignored while your clerks complete a conversation, or while the clerk does some shopping? Customers like to be acknowledged, and they don't like to be pushed. Offer to stay close by if they say they are shopping, but don't push them, or hover over them.

Following a film on salesmanship, and customership, the SBA representative, aided by Dave Sudduth, answered questions concerning the new credit laws which recently went into effect.

Also introduced was Mark Gist, instructor for the Distributive Education program at high school. The instructor said his students were being taught basically the same thing the seminar was covering and boosted employment of his youthful clerks as trained personnel, ready to serve the public effectively.

thing I ever saw as she started for your bus. Did you notice that she didn't even know how to hold her notebook? She was almost ready to turn and run back to me when she saw you open the bus door... and then you smiled and spoke to her. Then everything was all right. We had told her that you would take care of her just the same as we would, and when she saw your smile, I am sure she remembered what we had said. You will be careful with her, won't you?

Tonight she told us about school... how much she liked her teacher... and then she told us how nice you were to all the children. She said each one who rides your bus is made to feel that he is helping every other one to be safe and happy, and then she said that she was "on your team" now.

My wife and I just wanted you to know that we are happy because our little girl is on your team, and we want to be on your team, too. You will be extra careful with each one of them, won't you?

She also testified she and her children left Muleshoe the day her sister was cleared of the charge on February 11 because "I didn't want to call this town home anymore; this town has been bad to me and this town did a lot to my family."

DA Young refuted her testimony that she had never before had any dealings with the law when he reminded her that a "worthless check" charge filed against her certainly came into the realm of "dealings with the law."

He also refuted her testimony that she was not aware that charges were to be filed against her in 1975 when her husband was in the courtroom on February 14, three days after she left Muleshoe, and heard the order of warrants being issued for her arrest for conspiracy. The case was expected to go before the jury for deliberation sometime late Friday.

A Super Bargain... Numbers Of Cattle On Feed Declines... Milk Production Up And Down.

Whether you buy your beef in a supermarket or from the corner grocery, the fact remains: beef is a super bargain. And it's likely to continue that way through the rest of this year.

The unfortunate part of this story is the producer. He is the one who continues to take a beating. Cattle prices to producers are now a fourth below what they were a year ago.

Cattlemen continue to liquidate their herds in an attempt to get supply and demand back in some sort of balance so the cattle producer can have hopes of improving his economic situation next year.

And as that situation continues, more beef comes to market lowering the cattlemen's price and in turn providing consumers with bargains in beef.

Beef prices to consumers are down from levels of a year ago, but have not yet reflected all the declines that producers have taken.

But beef continues to be probably your best food buy today. And now is the time to enjoy it.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN C. ROBINSON

Miss Wood, Robinson United In Marriage

Double ring vows were pledged between Miss Terri Gayle Wood and John C. Robinson, at 4:00 p.m., on September 4, 1976, at the altar of the Third and Dwight Church of Christ. Buddy Fritz of Odessa performed the ceremony.

The couple stood under a wedding arch of greenery, flanked by a pair of seven branched candelabras trimmed in yellow satin.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wood, 4201 South Faye, and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Robinson of Goldsmith. Wearing a gown of peralized satin designed and made by her mother, the bride was escorted down the aisle by her father. Ruffled lace formed delicate trim on her square neckline and cascaded down the front of the gown in two rows to the deep ruffled flounce of her softly gathered skirt. The high rise waist was encircled with a matching self-fabric band and her long, slim sleeves complemented the simple elegance of the gown. She wore an elbow length veil illusion caught to a headpiece of matching lace.

Her flowers were a flowing arrangement of yellow gladioli and baby's breath carried atop a white Bible.

Aunt of the bride, Mrs. Pete Wishert of Clovis, N.M. was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth Wood, sister of the bride and Miss Tavia Gage of Alpine.

The bride's attendants wore yellow floral organza creations featuring puffed sleeves and sweetheart necklines, and wide ruffles encircled their skirts. Each attendant held a nosegay of yellow and gold daisy poms.

White baskets decorated in lace and trimmed in yellow satin streamers, brimming with rose petals, were carried by flower-girls Miss Laurie Bowlin, of Pecos and Miss Sherry Haley, of Hobbs, N.M. Their gowns were identical to those worn by the bride attendants.

Attending as best man was Gary Morgan. Groomsman were Bubba Adkins and Allen Smith.

Serving as candlelighters were brother of the bride, Chad Wood and Russell Haley, of Hobbs, N.M.

The music selections, "Annie's Song", "Sunrise, Sunset" and "The Wedding Song" were presented by the Lubbock Christian College Wedding Chorus.

The reception was held in the community center following the ceremony, with the bride's bouquet centering the table.

Serving the three tiered confection cake adorned with yellow roses was Miss Cynthia Carpenter. Miss Bonnie Carpenter served the punch.

Miss Cindy Oxedine presided at the groom's table and served chocolate cake. Daisies formed the centerpiece.

The couple honeymooned in Carlsbad, N.M. and are now making their home in Monahans.

The bride is a 1976 graduate of Monahans High School where she was active in the Big Green Band for two years. Her husband was a graduate of Pecos High School. He attended Howard County College and is employed at Lo Vaco Gathering Co.

Terri is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Lowe and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Wood, both of Muleshoe.

Guests registered from Pecos, Hobbs, N.M.; Orla, Goldsmith, Muleshoe, Clovis, N.M., Ohio, Pyote and Odessa.

"Room To Grow" Is Theme Of 4-H Week

COLLEGE STATION—National 4-H Week Oct. 3-9 will provide a challenge for youngsters across the United States to fulfill this year's theme, "4-H—Room To Grow."

With a 7.8 per cent increase in membership nationwide, this year's enrollment includes 5.6 million young people between the ages of 9 and 19 who will try to increase membership and leadership during the weeklong observance.

"National 4-H Week is scheduled annually by the Cooperative Extension Service to bring public attention to the values of 4-H as an informal, youth educational program that stresses development of practical skills, leadership and citizenship," points out Dr. John T. Pelham, state 4-H and youth leader for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Some 120,000 4-H youngsters across Texas will also be participating in different countywide activities, notes Pelham.

Texas enrollment includes about 3,000 youth under nine years of age, 45,000 in the pre-teens nine through eleven, 46,000 in their early teens (12-14) and 24,000 between the ages of 15 and 19.

A little over half of the Texas young people enrolled in 4-H live in towns with populations over 10,000. The rest of the youngsters live in the ever-increasing suburbs and on farms.

"The 14 Extension Service districts in Texas will have different activities planned during National 4-H Week in an attempt to attract new members as well as to encourage current members to expand their involvement in 4-H and thereby increase their learning experiences," adds Pelham.

Home Economics-Business Interface

How can home economics improve business relations and profits? How can the increasing versatility of the home economics profession create new job opportunities for men and women?

These questions and others will be addressed by professional home economists at a career seminar on October 21 at 7:30 p.m. in El Centro of the Home Economics Building, Texas Tech university.

Persons in the business world are urged to attend this seminar sponsored jointly by the Texas Home Economics Association, District K, and Texas Tech Exes in Home Economics.

The seminar will focus on how professional home economics operate in areas of public relations, federal and state legislation, merchandising and research to meet the demands of consumers.

Mrs. Billie Chapman, Executive Director of Vocational Homemaking Teachers' Association of Texas, will be the keynote speaker on career versatility.

Alice French, a local television personality, will moderate a panel of speakers on how their profession can facilitate meeting consumer needs and increase business profits. Panel members will include a home service advisor of a local utility company, a district extension agent, a program director of Big Brother/Big Sister, an interior designer and a buyer-coordinator of a local clothing store.

A relatively new area of endeavor for home economists will be represented by a special services consultant from a major banking institution. There are other business fields currently using the services of home economists in innovative ways. Building contractors, realtors and insurance agencies are employing them to advise prospective customers. For example, home economists trained in housing management and finance can help families invest their resources to secure goods and services tailored to their individual needs.

Likewise, home economists are employed in advertising, media and public information services to advise consumer groups.

Lubbock and the surrounding counties are the target population for this seminar. Professionals in business, agriculture and home economics are invited to participate.

Persons from the following counties are encouraged to attend:

Floyd, Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Motley, Cottle, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens and King.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,
I have an aunt who seems to be interested in nothing else but that of being a beauty. She is tall and slim and has kept her figure although she is in her seventies. When she comes to church or any other public place she looks like she just stepped out of a fashion salon.
Don't you think that at her age she shouldn't be so concerned about her looks?
Niece-III.

One can be creative in many different ways, in what they do with music, cooking, painting, or themselves.

However, one should not devote all of their lives to being beautiful. It should be put in the proper perspective along with other things. If your aunt takes care of her important things in her life; making the most of her God given talents in helpful and spiritual ways, there should be no objection to her making the best she can of her looks.

Louisa.

After talking to Mrs. Gramling, Annette learned only Juniors and Seniors are allowed to join; and even though Annette has a long time to wait, she can expect HECE to help her find a career.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Acquiring a pedigreed cat or dog qualifies as a major consumer decision, since prices may range well up into the hundreds of dollars for certain animals. So inexperienced buyers would do well to proceed with caution, our Consumer Protection Division attorneys say.

Our legal experts and animal breeding experts both suggest that you "go slow" and never make a snap decision when purchasing an expensive animal. You should first analyze why you want such an animal and what you will want it to do. Is it to be a family pet?

A show animal? Will it be used for breeding? In the case of dogs, is it to be a working dog, a hunting dog, or a guard dog?

Another major thing to consider is the environment into which the animal will be required to fit. Will it be around small children? Some animals adapt readily to children, others do not. Will the animal be kept indoors in an apartment or house all day, or will it have an outdoor area in which to roam? Some breeds that are cooped up all day may expend restless energy on mischief.

How much time do you or others have to spend on daily care, grooming, exercise, and training? Longhaired dogs and cats can often take considerable time daily for combing and brushing, and many large dogs need quite a bit of exercise and training.

After you analyze your needs and those of the animal, study the various breeds to learn which fit those requirements. You can get information from books, from magazines, from national organizations such as the American Kennel Club and the American Cat Fanciers Association, and from clubs devoted to special breeds. Attend shows and compare the various breeds. And ask owners and breeders for information. Most will be delighted to help you learn.

Only after you've selected the right breed for you should you begin to select a breeder. You may buy from breeders at shows, from breeders whose ads you have seen in dog or cat magazines, or from local breeders who advertise in the classified section of your newspaper. Some ads may indicate "no wholesaling" or "no litter lots." This means that animals are sold individually, not by entire litters for later resale. Puppy or kitten "mills" produce quantities of animals for later resale by middlemen but may not produce quality animals.

Most reputable breeders offer both "pet quality" and "show quality" animals for sale. Pet quality animals will have the characteristics of the breed, but may not be perfect specimens, and therefore are usually less expensive. Animals to be used for shows or breeding must meet more rigorous standards and generally cost considerably more. Even if you buy a show quality animal, however, there is no guarantee it will be a champion. Show quality means the animal has potential, but is no assurance it will be a champion. Only a very few breeders guarantee their animals to be champions.

Almost all reputable breeders offer a money-back or replacement guarantee if the animal you buy later exhibits any defects of heredity. Don't take chances though—get it in writing before paying. And make sure the length of the guarantee is spelled out. For dogs, you may want at least a two-year one, since it often takes that length of time for certain genetic defects such as hip dysplasia to appear.

Remember . . . it may be difficult to think of that cute pedigreed kitten or puppy as a long-term investment, in terms of money, time, and attention, but if you don't, both you and the animal may later be sorry.

ON ECONOMY

The pace of production activity has picked up in the last two months, the Federal Reserve Board reported, indicating business is taking over a bigger share of the load in the economic recovery.

Hazard Pay Would Help

Texas State Trooper Jim Warren of Vega recently had a very unenviable experience but on he'll remember for some time to come.

Trooper Warren had stopped a car on Interstate 40 west of Vega, had pulled his unit off the improved shoulder and had gotten out to make his contact when a rattlesnake, concealed by darkness and weeds struck at him.

The rattler came so close to biting him that the venom from the reptiles fangs discolored his uniform trousers and managed to get enough venom into his boot top that he had to discard the boot to be on the safe side.

Who was it that said these officers shouldn't draw hazardous duty pay? Oh well, this is just another example of unexpected dangers that our officers face which add color to their jobs?

Color they could easily do without, huh, Jim?

CONGRATULATIONS!...Tommy Edmondson, No. 10, left, receives congratulations as he leaves the football field Thursday afternoon immediately following the second of two spectacular pass receptions in a row which helped set up a Muleshoe touchdown.

THE JOY OF SHARING

There is pleasure in doing things with others. It may be looking at a picture magazine, or riding toys, or for parents it may even be sharing knowledge of the day's events that bring joy. God's people have a desire to share with you in the greatest joy, that of worshipping together in God's House. ATTEND CHURCH

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

State's Elderly Ill To Receive Vaccine

The state's elderly and those with chronic illnesses will be the first to receive the A/New Jersey influenza vaccine soon.

In fact, Texans falling into this category will receive a combination vaccine of the A/New Jersey and A/Victoria strains, according to the Texas Department of Health Resources.

For the most part, private physicians in Texas will receive the combination vaccine for immunizing the elderly and those with chronic illnesses. Persons are urged to contact their private physicians for recommendations on receiving the vaccine when it becomes available.

Public health clinics also will have the vaccine available for those without private doctors, said Dr. Philip W. Mallory, Deputy Director for Health Maintenance of TDHR and coordinator of the statewide immunization campaign. The First Lady's Volunteer Program is a partner in the campaign and will be concerned with getting volunteers to help in clinics throughout Texas.

Tests with the newly-developed vaccine have shown that a safe and effective vaccine for adults has been developed with minimal side effects.

The new strain of influenza—the A/New Jersey or swine flu—was discovered last winter following an outbreak at Fort Dix, N.J.

The Fort Dix outbreak was the first episode of person-to-person transmission since 1930, although the transmission of this type of virus among swine has been observed for many years.

The swine influenza virus identified at Fort Dix represents a major change from other influenza viruses which have been circulating recently in the United States. Major shifts of this sort occur roughly every 10 years. When they do, they are almost invariably followed by widespread epidemics, or world-wide pandemics, of flu.

Since influenza hits hardest at the elderly and those with chronic illness, these persons should make every effort to receive the vaccine, said Dr. Mallory.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm gets on to a touchy subject this week, but he'll have to look out for himself. Dear editor:

As I hear it, there's a lot of concern around the country over public education these days. People are pointing out that a student can finish high school and still not be able to read and write. In fact, it's gotten to where lots of time a high school diploma is about the equivalent of what a grammar school diploma used to be, and a college degree is the equivalent of what a high school diploma used to be.

To back this up, experts point out that scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test for high school seniors have worsened. As I understand it, the tests indicate among other things how much a student has learned, and for the past few years they indicate he's learning less and less.

This naturally has troubled school leaders and they've been hunting for answers. You suppose they're looking in the wrong place?

I mean, this is none of my business, but since I'm not running for President and can therefore afford to put my foot in my mouth, I was just wondering: has anybody thought of giving the school faculties across the nation a Scholastic Aptitude Test? Since I've gone this far I might as well ask, has anybody thought of giving boards of trustees the test? School principals? Superintendents? University regents? State legislators? Governors? Congressmen? I don't have time to take it myself.

Even though it may be too late, I will now change the subject. I notice that the 1977 model cars are going to get more miles per gallon of gas, some even a third more than cars did three years ago.

Conservationists say this can be translated into a 33 percent saving in the nation's consumption of gasoline, but this may be a statistic with holes in it. What it may mean is that people will simply drive a third more. It's sort of like the over-weight beer drinker who was delighted when he found out about the new brands of beer containing one-third less calories than the other brands. "Here's where I can lose some weight," he said, but he didn't. What he wound up doing was drinking a third more.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

NO MORE PENNIES?

A government-sponsored study has recommended that the government eliminate pennies by 1980 and replace half-dollars with a new smaller dollar coin, the U.S. Mint said.

Texas Farmers And Cattlemen Get Concern

"Texas farmers and ranchers are deeply concerned about low prices and the bleak outlook for next year," Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco said today.

According to the state farm leader, Texas farmers recognize that their problems relating to wheat, feed grain and rice prices are a direct result of the policies of the Ford administration and secretary of Agriculture Butz.

"Farmers see President Ford as the man who embargoed their grain exports and drove the price down at a time when there was an adequate supply for the American consumer. The labor unions never had the opportunity to make good on their threat not to load ship, because the Administration announced its refusal to sell grain," Naman said.

Texas farmers are comparing the poor performance of this administration to the promises of the Carter-Mondale ticket, according to the farm leader. He said they are inclined to accept the pledges stated by Governor Carter to set price supports at "no less than the cost of production," to maintain open export markets, and to relieve burdensome excess supplies on the market with a reserve in farmers hands, locked away from the market.

"Texas farmers want a farmer-Secretary of Agriculture who is sympathetic with the problems of family farmers and ranchers. They identify Secretary Butz with the international grain traders and the feed processors. They can't wait to get rid of the present Secretary of Agriculture," Naman commented.

"There is deep unrest and resentment among the farmers and ranchers in Texas. Rice farmers are disgusted with the administration over the loss of the rice program. Peanut farmers are angry at the Secretary of Agriculture for his distortion of the truth about the peanut program and bad administration of that program. Wheat, feed grain and cotton producers are seething at the bad administration of the disaster program and the low loan prices set by the Secretary. Cattle producers are mad at the attitude of the administration toward imported beef.

"I know of no segment of Texas agriculture sympathetic to the farm policies of this administration. I predict the agricultural community will go for Carter and Mondale," Naman said.

Head smut this year? WHAT ABOUT NEXT YEAR?

For the most part, head smut occurs in fields that have been planted to corn for several years. It appears that farmers with a head smut-infested field have a choice for the use of that field next year. They can plant the field to another crop or can, with reasonable safety, plant corn hybrids that offer resistance to the disease. Pioneer has three excellent hybrid corn varieties that show strong resistance to head smut. One of these is well known to area farmers and is the most planted variety in much of this area... Pioneer brand 3306. Two other Pioneer varieties... 3184 and 3195... which were planted widely in this area for the first time this year, not only resist smut but have even greater yield potential than the well-known yield champion, Pioneer brand 3369A.

A RECOMMENDATION

If you have a field that shows signs of head smut infections, plan to switch to one of the three Pioneer varieties that provide resistance to the disease and, at the same time, give you a shot at the best corn yield you have ever had. You should also consider Pioneer brand 3780. It's an earlier hybrid which shows moderate resistance to head smut and demonstrates extraordinary yield capability.

Talk to your Pioneer dealer now about ordering Pioneer varieties 3306, 3184, 3195 and 3780. It makes a lot of sense to plant all four.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Massive efforts are under way to make 1976 a record year for voter eligibility in Texas in spite of apparent apathy in most areas of the U.S.

Secretary of State Mark White Jr., who is coordinating the statewide drive, predicts that as many as 6.2 million will be registered by the October 3 deadline for eligibility to vote in the November 2 election.

That figure would be about 75 per cent of the total eligible by age and residence and would represent a jump of a million voters from 1972, the previous high.

About four million applications have been prepared for distribution to labor unions, employers, institutions, drivers' license offices, churches, civic clubs, beauty shops and grocery stores.

Cooperating organizations include labor unions, the Democratic party and a variety of minority groups.

Changes in the election laws last year made it easier to register in Texas than in any other state, according to White.

Voters who have received their blue certificate cards from county tax assessor-collectors, already are registered and don't need to rush to the courthouse or look up a registration deputy.

Those who have no blue card and are U.S. citizens, at least 18 years old and residents of the state can still become eligible to vote in the presidential election if their applications are delivered to a deputy before midnight October 3.

White thinks voters are, at last, beginning to get interested in politics this year, and that a warming presidential campaign will boost the election day turnout.

Bond Fight On
A major battle is developing over the proposed $400 million water bond issue to be voted on November 2.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe recently named Paul G. Veale of McAllen to head a statewide committee working for passage of the bonds. Briscoe maintains the bonds are necessary to meet Texas water requirements.

A coalition of environmentalists has opened a campaign against passage of the bond amendment to the constitution, claiming there is no real justification for a "crash program" and that interest rates would be unlimited.

Credit Good

Texas cities and counties general have good credit ratings, according to Texas Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations.

Of 27 largest Texas cities, 25 have bond ratings of "A" or better. Austin, Dallas and Houston have the highest ratings — Aaa. Forty-one counties have "A" ratings or better, and 45 counties have no long-term debt. Credit ratings are an indication of financial health of local government.

New Approach Charted

Texas Animal Health Commission has ordered a new approach to the brucellosis program in Texas to control and eradicate the dread livestock disease.

The new program would seek to raise immunity to the disease through an all-out calfhood vaccination program for five years and then return to a "test and slaughter" program hopefully amended by better diagnostic tools perfected by research.

The state brucellosis study committee report will be sent to the U.S. Animal Health Association Brucellosis Committee as a guideline for negotiating support of USAHA for a Texas program following recommendations laid down by the study panel.

AG Opinions

Information on cost, type and use of electronic eavesdropping equipment used by police is public, Atty. Gen. John Hill said.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

A member of the Dental Laboratory Advisory Board vacates his office when he moves his residence outside the state.

Brenham State School is not entitled to a share of the state available, county available or county permanent school funds.

Rate Hike Delay

As expected, Texas Public Utility Commission suspended for 120 days effective date of Southwestern Bell's proposed $298.3 million telephone rate increase. The company asked an October 7 start-up for the new rates.

The rate hearing will begin November 1.

Commissioners approved classification of 107 intervening parties into four interest groups to present their positions on the rate request. Cities, companies and consumer groups may set up still-other groups to express their opposition to the various rate proposals.

Cities were ordered to present their overall case jointly with Atty. Gen. Hill who represents state agencies.

Urges Permit

Gov. Dolph Briscoe called on the U.S. Corps of Engineers to grant a permit for the Limestone Reservoir project on the Upper Navasota River.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service recommended purchase of 15,000 acres of land to provide wildlife habitat (at a cost of $8 million) near the area to be flooded by the lake.

Briscoe said the permit should be issued immediately without further delay over the wildlife habitat issue and evaluations.

New Industries

Twenty new industries — a record number for the year — announced plans to locate in Texas during July.

Texas Industrial Commission estimated the new firms will add more than $35 million a year to the state's economy, creating 428 new jobs directly and another 613 spin-off jobs.

Four of the new industries chose to locate in Dallas. Others went to Fort Worth, Galena Park, Austin, Jacksonville, Stephenville, Longview, Marshall, Baytown, Plainview, Pawelekville and Waco.

Fortunately, Texas was not as hard hit by the recession as most states and economic recovery is advancing at a faster pace than that of the country as a whole," commented Jim Harwell, executive director of Texas Industrial Commission.

Short Snorts

Mart Hoffman is new deputy executive director of Texas Youth Council, succeeding Clinton Kersey.

Applications to drill oil and gas tests in Texas totaled 12,986 for the first eight and a half months of 1976, up from 11,475 for the same period last year.

The $56.6 million rebated to Texas cities as their September city sales tax share was the highest monthly payment since the monthly allocation program began.

The first shipment of early oranges for 1976-77 left the Lower Rio Grande Valley last week. Citrus growers are expecting a bigger harvest than the 17.1 million boxes of 1975.

State Bar of Texas is sponsoring a program to place nearly 300 offenders in jobs around the state.

Texas Utilities Generating Co. of Dallas applied for authority to begin lignite mining operations in Panola County and at existing projects in Freestone, Hopkins and Titus counties.

ON WOMEN BISHOPS

MINNEAPOLIS — The House of Bishops of the Episcopal Church has voted to admit women to the priesthood, a step that would alter church tradition of more than four centuries.

Doctors Hear Diagnosis On Malpractice Insurance

Area doctors got a diagnosis of the malpractice insurance crisis Saturday (October 27) from the Texas Medical Association president. He said the crisis makes medical care less available and more expensive to patients.

The crisis has affected the doctor supply, said TMA President L.S. Thompson, Jr., M.D. of Dallas. The staggering cost of malpractice insurance has forced some doctors into early retirement. Others are considering moving to states where legislative reforms have helped the situation. Young doctors find it increasingly difficult to start Texas practices. Thompson showed a film and spoke on the subject at the Panhandle District Medical Society meeting in Amarillo. The society is composed of 41 county areas.

The crisis also has hurt many towns, especially smaller ones, because doctors have had to cut back services. Three out of four family doctors in a statewide TMA survey said they have had to stop providing some services because of the threat of a lawsuit. Some doctors have quit delivering babies or doing surgery in order to bring down their malpractice insurance costs. This insurance is a doctor's only protection against financial ruin in the current situation. Texas malpractice suits have quadrupled in the last five years.

Legislation is the key to solving the problem, Dr. Thompson said. He reviewed some tentative actions of the state's malpractice insurance study commission. The governor appointed the group to recommend legislation to the 1977 Texas legislature.

Texas Ideal For Textile Plants

Texas is the ideal state in the nation for the growth of the textile industry, according to the Joint House Legislative Committee on Textile Development in Texas.

Jim Heath, Special Projects director for the Texas Industrial Commission and special advisor to the Committee, cites the state's production of 19 percent of the nation's cotton, as well as the vast petroleum and chemical industry, to point out the abundant supply of natural resources to form the basis of the textile industry.

More than 700 apparel manufacturing firms operate in Texas today producing more than $1.2 billion worth of goods annually, using more than $200 million worth of fabric. Yet three-fourths of the fabric utilized was shipped from textile mills out of state.

Only 42 textile mills are producing fabric in Texas. However, the state's supply of natural resources, labor force, site locations and market outlets can support 300 textile mill operations.

The Textile Industry Committee has among its goals promoting the expansion of more textile mills in Texas and service to the existing mills. The Committee also will encourage research into the quality of fibers and fiber blends, development of new products and expanded market outlets.

"All areas of the state are able to support one or more phases of the textile industry," Heath said. "One major textile mill is located on the Guadalupe River close to an abundant water supply, which is important to many phases of production, especially the dyeing process. But Littlefield, on the high plains near Lubbock, is supporting a new denim mill with no problem at all."

One of the keys to the success of the denim mill, Heath said, has been the support of the area cotton producers and ginners who own the plant and the surrounding communities which are anxious to bring in new industry to utilize cotton crops and provide more jobs.

"This mill utilizes the newest technology available in a modern building -- designed to accommodate this new technology -- which is a cheaper way to go than trying to remodel existing antiquated structures," Heath said. "Our acres and acres of industrial sites in Texas, as well as financial support for developing the sites, are a magnet to the out-of-state and foreign textile leaders."

Top level technology to design and operate the various phases of textile milling is at a premium. Training the rest of the labor force is being facilitated through the Industrial Start-Up Training programs offered by the Industrial Commission and Texas Education Agency. These two state agencies are working with industry to design training programs for specific application to the textile industry.

Ongoing research into better quality fibers and fiber combinations is aiding the quality of Texas fabrics. Such organizations as the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech University, the Natural Fibers Economic Research at the University of Texas at Austin, Texas Woman's University and Texas A&M University are continually striving to improve Texas products.

"The Committee includes representation from these organizations, as well as marketing experts and industrial development specialists. The Committee membership will promote the sharing of research finds and dissemination of technology to producers, and lure more industry to the state," Heath said.

Lay members of the Committee in addition to Heath are Carl Cox, executive director of the Natural Fibers and Food Protein Commission; Bill Harris, director of the Natural Fibers Economic Research Department of The University of Texas at Austin; Dr. Herb Grubb of the Governor's Division of Planning Coordination; and Marvin Segal, director of the Southwest Apparel Manufacturers Association based in Dallas.

Legislative members are Rep. E.L. Short of Tahoka, Sen. Grant Jones of Abilene, Sen. Kent Hance of Lubbock, Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells, Rep. Forrest Green of Corsicana and Rep. Don Rains of San Marcos. Senior advisors are Armer Earwood, president of Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association; Dan Davis of the Plains Cotton Cooperative in Lubbock; and Fred Walker of the Walker Estate Ranch in Comstock.

"Through the Committee's combined efforts of technology and industrial development, a tremendous surge will be experienced by the Texas economy," according to Short, chairman of the Committee.

The current cotton production of 2.4 million bales for the 1975-76 season could easily be expanded to a total of 3.6 million bales, according to Harris. This increase of 1.2 million bales could support 17 textile mills with a direct employment of more than 7,000 employees with a $51 million payroll and a generated employment of more than 4,700 jobs. The annual state and local taxes generated would exceed $7 million, revenue to producers would exceed $390 million and revenue to agribusinesses would be almost $1.5 billion.

Texas wool and mohair production could easily be increased to support nine mills using both the fibers individually or in blends. They would employ nearly 900 new workers with a payroll of $6 million annually, and would stimulate nine new businesses with 60 new jobs in firms providing services to mills and employees. The mills alone would increase the annual state and local tax revenue by more than $178 thousand. Sheep and goat raisers would increase their income by $10.2 million, and agribusinesses throughout the state would experience a $36 million annual expansion.

Currently, there are no textile mills in Texas producing man-made fiber or yarn.

"As the natural fiber mills expand in the state, more and more of them will begin to use man-made fiber in combination with the natural fibers to produce durable blends," Heath said. "The fact that Texas leads the nation in production of feedstock for synthetic fabrics is one more important reason to expand the state's textile mill operations."

Polyester fabrics are made from ethylene and glycolethylene, acetate fabrics from butane and ethylene, acrylic fabrics from propane gas and propylene, vinyl fabrics from ethylene and nylon fabrics from benzene or cyclohexane. Of the total national production of these chemicals, Texas supplies 60 percent of the ethylene, 54 percent of the propylene, 51 percent of the benzene and 87 percent of the butadiene.

"The market for Texas' finished garments is virtually unlimited," Heath said. "The 1976 fall women's and children's clothing display attracted 13,390 buyers representing 44 states and 14 foreign countries to the Dallas Apparel Mart. On top of that, Texas has the nation's third largest population, giving the state a ready-made customer pool of 12.05 million people.

"With Texas' vast supply of natural resources, garment manufacturers and market outlets, the missing link is in the textile mills," Heath said.

Life has its disappointments, but there is no reason to be one of them.

Q: A tenant in my rent house signed a one-year lease, but she moved after five months when she decided she could no longer afford the rent. I spent more than twice the amount of her security deposit on repairs. Am I obligated to return her deposit or provide her with an itemized accounting of my costs?

A: State law requires you to return your tenant's security deposit, after subtracting for unpaid rent, repairs or other deductions allowed under the lease, within 30 days. However, if your tenant owed rent when she moved, an itemized accounting of deductions is not required. The tenant also remains liable for the rent due for the remainder of the lease, but this liability is reduced by the amount of any rent collected if the property is leased again.

Q: I've been trying to get some family property straightened out since my father died in 1968 and left the land to me and eight other heirs. Someone has

A: You may find it necessary to file an application in court for administration of the estate in order to establish your authority to remove the unauthorized users of the land. Although such applications normally must be filed within four years after death there is an exception to this time limit in cases involving the recovery of property of the deceased person.

Q: My son was recently injured in an auto accident. We asked him not to sign any legal papers, but he signed a settlement to pay for the injuries he suffered in the accident. My husband and I believe the settlement is too low. My son is 20 years old--can I void the settlement?

Animal Wastes Control Ordered

As a cure might be worse than the disease, so regulations governing animal waste disposal in the 50 states could be costly, confusing and ineffectual because of rapidly changing attitudes and activities in environmental control.

To discover existing problems and to help improve effectiveness of legislation regulating animal waste management, Texas Tech University researchers are undertaking a year-long analysis of laws and regulations in this area.

The study will cover all 50 states. Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., has announced that the research will be supported by a $74,954 grant from the Environmental Protection Agency.

Dr. George A. Whetstone of the civil engineering faculty, who is an engineering bibliographer, is principal investigator. Project manager is Dr. Dan M. Wells, Horn Professor of civil engineering and director of the university's Water Resources Center. Legal adviser is Bruce M. Kramer of Tech's law faculty. Technical advisers, representing three fields, are Dr. William J. Huffman, chemical engineer, Prof. Walter Grub, agricultural engineer, and Dr. Ralph H. Ramsey, civil engineer.

"The last few years have seen quickly changing attitudes and activities in all aspects of environmental control," Wells said. "The rapid development of laws and regulations to cope with these new attitudes is prone to leave gaps and to create inconsistencies."

"Our final report will include analysis of pertinent statutes, administrative codes and court decisions in every state, with particular emphasis on the impact of current practices in animal waste management on the economics of animal production."

Gaps and inconsistencies will be pointed out. Major differences in codes from state to state will be studied and their effects evaluated.

"While uniformity is not necessarily desirable, even within a single state," Wells commented, "it is evident that a study of results obtained by different approaches to a problem, will help provide insight into possibilities of modifying legislation or administration to public advantage."

The researchers will review the laws and regulation of each state and then attempt to determine their effect on animal waste management, the economic impact, and whether the legislation is reasonable and enforceable.

Before completing the study, they will try also to determine future research needs, need to change statutes to make them more effective and the possibility of new statutes for better animal waste management on the local, state or national level.

TEXAS JOB TALK

The Texas jobless rate moved down to 5.5 per cent in August, Harold K. Dudley, chairman of the Texas Employment Commission, has announced in Austin.

"The August rate is three-tenths of one per cent below the July rate of 5.8 per cent," Dudley commented. "August is the second consecutive month in which Texas has experienced a decline."

"The drop follows a seasonal pattern which we generally see each year as many who have been seeking summer employment leave the labor market," the TEC official added.

The Texas labor force in August totaled 5,437,100—some 29,600 fewer people than were in the corresponding group in July. The jobless in August numbered 301,500 which is down 13,000 from the July figure.

"The Texas unemployment rate continues to run substantially lower than its national counterpart which was 7.6 per cent in August," Dudley observed.

Unemployment rates for the major labor areas of Texas in August include Abilene, 4.0 per cent; Amarillo, 3.2; Austin, 4.5; Beaumont-Port Arthur-Orange, 6.9; Brownsville-Harlingen-San Benito, 10.0; Corpus Christi, 5.9; Dallas-Fort Worth, 4.7; El Paso, 12.5; Galveston-Texas City, 6.9; Houston, 5.7; Laredo, 11.6; Longview, 6.4; Lubbock, 3.4; McAllen-Pharr-Edinburg, 12.2; Midland, 3.3; Odessa, 3.3; San Angelo, 3.9; San Antonio, 7.3; Sherman-Denison, 8.9; Texarkana, 7.8; Tyler, 5.4; Waco, 5.1; Wichita Falls, 4.2.

Working, it seems, often has a way of getting in the way of one's recreation.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

The Senate has approved several of my amendments to strengthen the federal Program of Aid to the Aged, Blind, and Disabled, to get it on track and working as it was meant to.

The changes will be of benefit down the line in Texas—from those who receive assistance, to state taxpayers, who have to shoulder an extra burden when federal programs fall short.

One of my amendments deals with a quirk in the law that requires some elderly couples to seek a divorce when one of them is put in a hospital or nursing home. Virtually all aid goes to pay for the medical care of the husband or wife who is hospitalized, with nothing left to provide for the needs of the spouse remaining at home.

There is neither rhyme nor reason to government regulations that force older couples—many of them married for many years—to contemplate divorce. My amendment overcomes the problem, assuring continued assistance to the mate who remains at home, by treating the couples as individuals when one of them is hospitalized.

My second amendment to the Program of Aid to the Aged, Blind, and Disabled deals with the problem of Texans who have received Social Security increases only to find themselves cut off from Medicaid.

In 1972 Congress acted to shield older Americans from the cost of living by making their Social Security benefits go up whenever the cost of living goes up. Yet last summer 1300 Texans found that cost of living increases in their Social Security had made them ineligible to continue receiving Medicaid. The increase received by one woman pushed her 30 cents over the limit, and her Medicaid was cut off.

Under my amendment, Medicaid recipients would continue to participate in that program regardless of increases in their Social Security benefits.

The third amendment I have cosponsored will activate an existing program of rehabilitation for 150,000 disabled children in this country, to match a program already in operation for handicapped adults. The sooner we start rehabilitation training the better the chance that these young people will be able to lead full, productive lives as adults.

My fourth amendment approved by the Senate eliminates a provision in the law which prohibits older Americans from receiving benefits under the Program of Aid to the Aged, Blind, and Disabled if they reside in a small home or the elderly.

As the law now stands, these people—to be eligible for assistance—must either live in a private home or submit to confinement in a medical institution, regardless of whether they need medical care.

This requirement imposes a needless financial burden on both the taxpayers and the people involved. It makes no sense to require expensive hospital or nursing home care for someone whose needs could be met just as well in a smaller and much less costly home for the elderly.

This amendment alone will save $1.6 million in federal funds, and at least an equivalent amount in state funds.

Too often, federal programs just don't work right. They become snarled in bureaucratic red tape that drives costs through the roof without delivering the benefits that are promised.

The four amendments outlined here—which I have proposed and the Senate has adopted—will help insure that the federal Program of Aid to the Aged, Blind, and Disabled does the job it was set up to do, and at the lowest possible cost to the taxpayer.

IN A PILE... Matadors and Longhorns are all in a pile during part of the action at Lazbuddie Friday night. Matador and Lazbuddie are scrambling for points and downs for both teams in the non-district game.

On Wall Street
By Bob Hill

The median price of a new house in the U.S. is $43,600. It has doubled since 1970 and the number of consumers who can afford that price house is shrinking every day. To reverse that trend, Congress is trying to find new ways to keep builders and buyers of houses active and well.

Traditionally, mortgage loans on houses have been fixed rates loans -- the interest rate on the loan does not change over the life of the loan. But, now a flexible mortgage is being tested to see if there is a type of mortgage loan which will answer the needs of the housebuyer without wrecking the builders of the houses. By next year there should be three or four specially designed flexible mortgage loans for consideration and action by Congress.

The most common flexible mortgage loan is the variable-rate mortgage (VRM) which would permit the lender to peg the interest rate on the loan to the lender's cost of money so that both the lender and borrower share in the inflationary impact on the cost of housing. Hopefully, it would also encourage institutions to make longer term mortgage loans.

The second type of flexible mortgage loan is the graduated payment mortgage (GPM), which calls for lower payments in the early years of the loan when the borrowers are young and making less money, and higher payments as income goes higher later on. This would sharply increase the number of prospective home buyers but would sharply reduce the cash flow of the lending institution in the early years since mortgage payments would be lower than on standard mortgage loans being made today. This approach to the problem is the one favored by President Ford. Congress has refused to permit federally chartered savings and loan associations to make variable rate mortgages but signs are that it may change its mind on the whole subject. The graduated payment mortgage is still favored by politicians. Simply put, the savings and loans want all the relief they can get in requiring the borrower to carry a larger share of the cost of inflation. Consumer groups, however are reluctant to endorse either type of mortgage.

A young man writes: My father has always been an independent person, very much on the stubborn side. Recently, he has been taking a very long time in the bathroom and grumbles a lot when he comes out. He says that it's "nothing but hemorrhoids" and refuses to see a doctor--could it be more?
ANSWERline: Your concern is legitimate, but no one can tell you just what's the matter until your father sees a physician. You might enlist a person of his own age whose opinion he respects, to "talk turkey." That means that your father must understand that he might possibly have a dangerous condition that won't get better by itself. Having it checked out will give him peace of mind, and might even save his life.

have been associated with a specific second form of cancer. For example, having had breast cancer, a woman may be more prone to developing cancer of the uterine lining, called endometrial cancer, or colon cancer. Again, this is not likely or usual, but has been known to occur. It is another reason why cured cancer patients are carefully followed by their physicians.

A reader asks: "If you are stricken with one form of cancer, does that mean that you are safe from getting new cancer, in another part of your body, some other time?"
ANSWERline: No. Unfortunately, having cancer does not protect you from a second, different cancer, although this is not a common occurrence. In fact, some sites of cancer

YOU CAN BANK ON IT!

Bill Loyd, President
Muleshoe State Bank

You may have heard the word "float" used in banking and wondered what it means. In the customer sense, float is a free service whether it is advertised that way or not. It works this way:

Say your employer banks at a bank in another city and you bank here. When you deposit your paycheck in your bank, you have the "immediate" use of the money. You can write checks at the grocers, florist, clothing store, but your bank may have to wait 1-2 days or longer for its money to come from your employer's bank. Float has been defined as "Two credit balances represented by the same funds," and that's just what it is.

Float is a convenience and allows you to use our money free while we wait for ours from your employer's bank.

Several of the grandchildren with their families and also great grandchildren attended. There were 81 relatives gathered. The two days were spent in visiting, eating and reminiscing about past days.

Crime Family Says It's Way Of Life

Crime has been a way of life for a Seattle family with seven boys, according to police count.

"I hope to God we've turned the corner, because I'll tell you mister, I can't take much more," the mother of the boys, who range in age from 11 to 20, told Police Detective Stephen Heard, assigned full-time to the family. Under juvenile offender laws, the family cannot be identified.

There have been 39 arrests for burglary, 23 for larceny, 16 for property damage, 12 for robbery, 5 for assault, 4 for auto theft, 3 for narcotics, 2 for carrying a concealed weapon and miscellaneous ones ranging from shoplifting to trespassing to disturbing the peace to refusing to pay cab fare.

Police say it's the worst case of a repeating crime pattern under one roof in the city.

One son, a 27-year-old dope addict, was killed by a shotgun blast in a Los Angeles apartment, and another died at the age of 23 when he "ran into a knife," the mother said.

But the oldest, she says, has not been in trouble since being released from a Louisiana prison about a year ago.

She says the three daughters haven't been in serious trouble, either, but all three grandchildren who live with her - a 12-year-old girl and boys 8 and 9 years old - have been arrested for burglary.

The mother, 48, has been married three times. She says her first husband was shot to death in New Orleans, her second husband got a divorce, and her third husband died three years ago of cancer.

She lives on welfare, a veteran's widow's pension and Social Security, a total of about $1,000 a month.
