A FINE PAPER FOR FINE PEOPLE

In April 1970 much of Howardwick (Sherwood Shores IX) was destroyed by a tornado. Another threat approached this young city Sunday afternoon when a grass fire, believed to have been ignited by firecrackers, swept across the west side of Carroll Creek. Top photo shows the fire burning in the underbrush and huge cottonwood trees; middle photo shows part of the Howardwick residential area which also shows a large portion of the burned area in the background. Firefighters from Howardwick, Clarendon, McLean and Groom brought the fire under control before it was able to jump the creek and extend its destruction to the residential area of Howardwick. ### County Banks Show 2½ Million More Than Last Year

According to long statements being published in the Leader this week in answer to a banking call June 28, 1974, the three banks of Donley County: The Farmers State Bank & Trust Co., Donley County State Bank and Security State Bank of Hedley show a total of $22,097,548.58 in deposits which is a drop of $856,872.59 from the all-time high recorded April 24, 1974.

Eventhough there was a slight drop in deposits at his time, the total is up some $2,588,383.58 at the same time last year.

At the same time, the three banks showed $14,731,778.08 in loans which is up $836,312.15 over the April 24 figure and up $2,752,129.70 over the same time June 30, 1973.

Donley County has as fine banking facilities as to be found most anywhere and residents of this area can certainly be proud of the many services offered by these institutions.

Project Accomplished Band Uniforms Here And Fully Paid For

Superintendent Jeff Walker announced this week that final payment on the new Band uniforms has been made, that the uniforms are here and will be worn at the first football game this fall which will be the Childers - Clarendon game scheduled for September 6.

This was a big undertaking and the completion of this project marked the culmination of many hours of work on the part of individuals, organizations and students. Sixty-five uniforms were ordered at a total cost of $8,547.17. Individuals contributed $8,127.55 toward this amount and the Band Boosters contributed $361.44. It was fortunate that uniforms were ordered when they were. Considering the increase in cost of most everything one buys today, these same uniforms could have easily cost a third more had ordering been delayed.

The Uniform Fund drive was headed by the three banks in the county: Farmers State Bank and Donley County State Bank of Clarendon, and Security State Bank of Hedley with Fred Chamberlain, coordinator of funds.

Thanks are extended to each and every person, group, organization, business — anyone who has contributed in any way to help make new uniforms possible for our Broncho Band. We can all be very proud of this accomplishment.

A grass fire started about 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon on the west side of Carroll Creek across from the residential area of Howardwick posed a threat of destruction to this young city north of Greenbelt Lake for several hours. It was believed that the fire was started by some youth shooting firecrackers.

This was the first major threat of destruction to Howardwick since the tragic tornado in April 1970.

Fire units from Howardwick, Clarendon, Groom and McLean fought the blaze along with water from a spray plane. One of the more effective units was the one from Groom which was a new truck designed for this type of use. Corky Wilson, owner of Wilson Aerial Spray Service, based at Howardwick, emptied 15 tanks of water on the fast moving fire to hold it in check while the other units arrived and moved in.

Excellent work by the fire units kept the blaze from jumping the creek and moving across the residential area of Howardwick proper. Approximately three-fourths of a section of good grass was burned along with heavy damage to the huge cottonwood trees and other growth along the creek.

The fire started near the Sherwood Shores IX south fence a short distance north of Old Clarendon and burned north and west beyond the Sherwood line on the north. The only casualty was Carroll Rippeote, Maintenance Foreman and Fire Chief at Howardwick, who was overcome by smoke and rushed to Medical Center for treatment.

General Telephone Rate Policy Release

Rural telephone customers in the Clarendon exchange will begin paying new telephone rates effective July 16, 1974, it has been announced by General Telephone district manager J. H. Davis.

Davis said the new rural rate schedule is the second step taken by the company in the last year to place as nearly as possible, the cost of providing service on the customers utilizing that service.

The manager explained the company started its repricing of services program last year by bringing the charges for business customers to the level required to pay for the large volume of usage by the business community.

"Business customers use telephone equipment to a much greater extent than residential customers and we feel they should pay the costs of providing the additional equipment required to handle the calls," he said.

The company has placed the new business rate structure in most of the areas it serves in Texas, according to Davis.

He continued: "Now, we are inaugurating a new rate schedule that recognizes a portion of the higher costs of providing rural telephone service and we are adjusting rural rates in relation to this higher cost," he stated.

"Facilities (poles, cables, lines, connectors, lightning arresters, etc.) in rural areas are more costly to the company per customer than in urban areas because of the length of the facilities between rural customers and the fewer customers served by rural facilities.

A mile of rural facilities usually serves very few customers, making the cost per customer higher than a mile of facilities in towns where there may be hundreds of customers per mile.

"Additional equipment is needed to provide rural service because it is scattered and this additional equipment means more maintenance and more possibilities of outages and trouble reports."

Other rural-oriented expenses cited include more automobile expenses and manhours in driving time; wire facilities usually require more time and are more susceptible to damages; and party lines, predominant in rural areas, require more manhours to locate trouble.

"To initiate this new rate structure, we have completely reviewed our service in this area on an individual basis," Davis said. "Some customers in the past have been paying for the lower priced eight party service when they are actually receiving four party or better service. Now, they will be charged for the class of service they are receiving."

Hunters in Texas brought home more than $16.5 million worth of venison during the 1973-74 hunting season, according to statistics from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Hunters killed 10,260 mule deer and 366,033 white-tailed deer.

The average mule deer weighed 90 pounds when it was field dressed and produced an estimated 45 pounds of boneless meat.

White-tailed bucks averaged 78.5 pounds field dressed and produced approximately 33 pounds of boneless meat, and white-tailed does averaged 56.6 pounds field dressed and produced about 28 pounds of boneless meat.

Based on the price of ground chuck beef $1.20 per pound at the time of the hunting season, the mule deer meat was worth $554,940 and the white-tailed deer meat was worth $16,013,738.

The department estimates there were 50,000 bow hunters and 560,000 firearms hunters during the last deer season. The estimated mule and white-tailed deer population during the hunt was 3,622,000.

Research Report

The American consumer would become the ultimate loser and agriculture the immediate loser if future use of 2, 4, 5-T is limited or banned, according to a researcher with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Dr. Joseph Schuster, head of Texas A&M University's range science department and a TAES scientist, emphasized that future use of the herbicide that is widely used to control brush and weeds on rangeland is in jeopardy.

"This herbicide is highly effective in controlling noxious woody plants on rangelands and forests. It has a record of relative safety covering more than two decades of use. Now, this vital product is awaiting a public hearing called by the Environmental Protection Agency. Action following the hearing remains to be determined," the scientist added.

Costs of such agricultural items as meat, wool, mohair, and forest products are likely to climb if use of 2, 4, 5-T is banned or limited, Schuster said.

What is happening concerning this herbicide points up the risk to other important agricultural herbicides, regardless of their safety records, Schuster continued.

"The general public needs to understand more about the vital uses of each product, their safety records, how to use the product effectively, as well as possible potential dangers. The public should be concerned with protecting the environment, but citizens should depend on scientists and others trained in the field to determine the hazards involved in using herbicides," he added.

Schuster emphasized that our country's economic strength and its ability to produce needed food, fiber, energy, timber and other resources are sometimes weakened by demands made in the name of protecting citizens and the environment.

State Capitol Highlights and Sidelights

By BILL BOYKIN

Fitting together an acceptable constitution revision package proved to be fully as thorny a job as the most pessimistic forecasters maintained.

Constitutional Convention delegates limped back to Austin this week to try again for a showdown two-thirds majority vote after rejecting 91-86 the initial submission proposal which they had stitched together piece-by-piece earlier.

Hang-ups ranged over a wide area - from the separate right-to-work proposition (which is bitterly opposed by organized labor) to internal provisions of the basic revision document.

Some persistent critics argued special interests had too big a hand in drafting the revision.

A contested 4,500 acres including a large part of Pleasure Island and part of Lake Sabine's bottom belong to Port Arthur (surface rights) and the state mineral rights).

Its May 29 decision that radio evangelist Lester Roloff can operate homes for teenagers 16 and over without a license will stand in spite of a challenge by Hill.

SHORT SNORTS

Alabama Gov. George Wallace is soliciting funds from Texans for the new "Wallace Campaign," and polling as to how voters would cast their ballots if 1972 presidential candidates (including himself) were running today.

A poll by a state representative showed legislators don't really want a special session on school finance and other matters, although many are calling for one publicly.

Attorney General Hill has been called on to write an opinion on whether Constitutional Convention delegates can legally draw reimbursement for chartering airplanes for official travel.

Four top candidates for House Speaker have spent nearly $100,000 for their quest for the magic 76 votes needed for election.

Secretary of State Mark White Jr. estimates up to a million names probably should be stricken from voter registration lists due to changes of address.

Nineteen minority business loans totalling $286,577 and 12 grants and contracts worth $1,419,605 were approved by the Texas Office of Minority Business Enterprise.

Common cause charges lobbyists with "flagrant contempt" for a new disclosure law on their financial outlays for influencing legislation.

WRONG SIDE OF ROAD

Fifteen per cent of the fatal accidents on the rural highways of Texas occurred last year when some body was driving on the wrong side of the road, according to the records of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Warren G. Harding is the only man who went direct from the Senate to the Presidency.

The Old Camp Meetings

Dr. James O. Brandon
Pastor First Baptist Church

The pioneers who settled Clarendon were interested in the missionary expansion of the Gospel. They began at home to build strong churches as the Lord Jesus said that we should. Camp meetings in areas where there were no churches was the order of the day.

The camp meeting was a bustling affair. People came to the meeting place, from everywhere, usually meeting under brush arbors. The sides of these meeting places were left open so that the wind could blow under the arbor, even at this, they were usually hot. They weren't much more than logs stuck in the ground with a dirt floor with brush piled on top. Thus, they took their name, "brush arbors."

For a big meeting during the turn of the century, this outside brush arbor was necessary. What few church buildings were in existence in those pioneer days wouldn't hold all of the people who came to attend. Denominationalism meant nothing where a camp meeting was concerned. All Christians came together to support them forgetting their differences. The people sat on the ground, under the trees, or on hard benches which had been constructed for the purpose. Many of these early pews were just saved logs. People came in wagons, horse back, and on foot. The heat didn't seem to bother them because they didn't know what air conditioning was.

The camp meeting was exactly what the term implied, "camp meeting." People camped out usually cooking on open fires, sleeping out, or in covered wagons which they had brought.

Arbors would be set up in places far from the church in outlying communities that had no church. People from Clarendon would go to these areas to help promote the meeting. They would stay for several days.

As a result of these camp meetings, small country churches popped up everywhere. The idea was to make the church accessible to the community. Put the church where the people are was the idea. This worked well during those days because the world moved at a slower pace. Neither could people get very far from home very fast. As a result these small community churches thrived.

Rural America is the backbone of our nation. This is true not only in the raw materials we produce for world consumption, but true also in our spiritual heritage. Rural America provides the moral and spiritual spice for our society. As the old timers have said, "When you worked hard, you didn't have time to get into trouble." Church wasn't an option, everybody went. You were considered an "odd ball" in those days if you didn't attend church.

No wonder these staunch pioneers handed to us such a heritage. They built it on personal responsibility, appreciation for neighbors, hard work, and a faith in God that realized the importance of Sabbath worship. Have not we, this so called younger generation, blew it with our lax moral concepts that ensnare us rather than free us. We have poisoned not only our body but our mind. Let's return to the faith of our fathers that put God first, others second, and self last. Let's return to the faith of our fathers that build a nation on honesty, integrity, and hard work.

(I am indebted to Mrs. W. W. Taylor for her description of the old camp meetings. O. C. Watson helped me in an understanding of the spiritual attitude of the people).

Uncle Zeb's Mail Bag

This week we received a letter from A. H. Gilliam, Box 13, Davis, Okla. Zip 73030. Enclosed was a copy of his church bulletin and a rattlesnake story that we must use somehow, even if we get church over it. An unusual thing about our pen-friendship is the way we met. Our wives were shopping in the Green Stamp Store in Amarillo some ten years ago and we just got to visiting. We always send Christmas cards. The story is entitled MORE RATTLESNAKES.

It seems that once upon a time there was a family of church members who just didn't go anymore. The boys were named Jim, Bryan, and Sam, and the father was the most unfaithful of the lot. One day a large rattlesnake bit Sam. The father rushed him to the Doctor, and he done his best but Sam waxed worse and worse. Finally, it seemed that Divine help was needed so they called in the preacher and some other members of the church. The preacher was asked to pray, and he did so as follows:

O, wise and righteous Father we thank thee for that powerful rattlesnake that bit Sam. This done more to bring him to his senses than all his preaching had been able to do, in all these years. Now, please send two more about the same size to bite Jim and Bryan, and a much larger one to bite father Carl. It seems that Rattlesnakes might be the answer to our problem, and please father send us bigger and better Rattlesnakes.

This quote was from the Stillwater Christian Church Bulletin who had ordered twenty five large rattlers for their congregation. I hope we don't get Bro. Gilliam in trouble; this bulletin was from his church the First United Methodist of Davis, Okla. I'll bet his pastor doesn't need any rattlers for my good friends. Something told me to not bother this story, but inasmuch as we have never been bitten we have been prone to wind up in trouble. Thank You Friend Gilliam. If you liked this story drop A. H. a line.

The Decline And Fall Of Virtue

By: Weldon Rives, Pastor
First United Methodist Church

Philippians 4:8—"... if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things."

Unpopularity is often caused when you begin to point up sins of the nation and/or the people. The more personal you become the more unpopular you are likely to become. This was true with the prophets of the Old Testament, with Jesus and the apostles in the New Testament and preachers and priests of the church ever since. It seems as though we hold it unthinkable that we would have churches without preachers, but there appears to be less and less desire that the preachers be God's prophets calling our attention to our sins as a nation, as a people and as individuals, and calling us to confession, repentance, and rededication. Perhaps that is so because he is voicing opposition to the things we like to do and don't want to know they are contrary to the Will of God; such things as:

THE USE OF PROFANITY: There was a time when no one would willingly allow the preacher or a member of the opposite sex to hear us take the name of the Lord in vain. Now this such a common occurrence that even preachers are known to have done it on occasions.

DRINKING: People are drinking more every year. Yet, intoxicants cause inner disciplines to decline; inhibitions that usually are supported by high ideals and community standards lose their foundation under the influence of liquor, and because of this, persons do things and say things that otherwise they would not do or say.

GAMBLING: The profit motivation of vested interests today promotes harmful activities through seemingly harmless activities. I'm speaking of the rising number of game shows on T.V. which pattern their play after legalized gambling situations — pari mutual gambling and casino playing. Yet, no voice of retribution is being heard — especially a voice that will be heard and whose impact felt, and whose warning will be heeded.

ILLCIT RELATIONSHIPS: Again, the T.V. networks in their programming lead in this sin of increasing desire and lust. The Creation Story clearly indicated the sacredness of the sex relationship and highlights the sin of its abuse and equally negates any conception of it as evil in itself. Parents should instruct their children in the divine quality with which the relationship is invested.

IMPROPER DRESS: This is a gross violation of the moral principle. As I read the scriptures no where do I find God's approval for suggestive dress as we see so many young girls and women wearing today. However, modesty in dress is urged and is placed almost as a demand, upon men and women alike. I would urge all Christian women — young and old — to consider seriously the call to modesty in dress and depart from all dress which becomes suggestive and leads to a collapse of morality!

There are others which could be included in this list. However, I believe these to be the most predominant ones which our voice and our actions should be raised against to prevent the decline and fall of virtue in America.

GRACE AND PEACE!
THINK OF THIS: Hell is truth seen too late.

Many dignitaries are expected to be present.

A cordial invitation is extended each and every one to attend these ceremonies.

Efficient Refrigeration

Keeping food both safe and cool in your refrigerator takes know-how, according to one expert.

She's Mrs. Mary Sweeten, foods and nutrition specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Refrigerated food should be no warmer than 45 degrees F.—colder is fine — to prevent bacteria growth, the specialist pointed out.

"A clean refrigerator helps prevent outbreaks of food-borne illness because bacteria grows faster where dirt is," she noted.

"Store foods in small, shallow containers. The more surface that is exposed to the cold, the faster the food will cool," she said.

Keep food covered so that food particles from the shelf above will not fall into food below. Allow enough space between food containers and between containers and refrigerator walls so the cool air can circulate around the food.

"Never cover the wire shelves with paper or foil because within the refrigerator," the specialist warned.

Temperature in refrigerators varies with the location of the storage compartment. The lowest temperature is just below the freezing unit at the top of the refrigerator. The highest temperature is at the bottom of the cabinet.

CONGRESSIONAL REPORT!

The House Democrat Caucus is again using its new ex-officio power to dictate legislative policy — this time on the issue of Congressional reform. The Caucus has told the majority members of this Rules Committee to delay authority for House consideration of this proposal.

Personally, I do not favor every aspect of the reform proposal, but the issue of whether the House is going to act on the matter, or allow political maneuvering to block reform without debate or vote, is of overriding importance.

The reform proposal is the result of 14 months of consideration by the Select Committee on Committees. The Committee's proposal has been on the House calendar for more than two months, but cannot be considered without the approval of the House Rules Committee. The Democrat members of the Rules Committee have been directed by the House Democrat Caucus not to allow House action until the Caucus can subject the proposal to exhaustive review. Reform proponents concern the action by the Caucus is designed to kill the measure.

Recently, I joined with a number of my colleagues in sponsoring a resolution which, if passed, would force the Congressional Reform measure before the Congress for consideration and avoid the normal authority of the House Rules Committee which seems bound to the will of the Democrat Caucus.

The House Democrat Caucus is not an official Congressional committee but is an un-official organization of all the members of the majority party in the House. Earlier, the Caucus voted to hold its members bound to the majority will of the Caucus itself. In the first exercise of this new power, the Caucus told Democrat members of the Rules Committee to grant authority for a vote to kill the oil repletion allowance retroactively. Now, in its second use of its new power, the Caucus is blocking Congressional reform.

Among the provision of the reform bill are: establishment of a permanent Committee on Small Business; abolition of the House Committee on Internal Security; and prohibitions against dual committee assignments and "proxy" voting in committees by absent members.

I support the creation of the Committee on Small Business, but I oppose the abolition of the Internal Security Committee and the abolition of the practice of dual committee assignments. If this dual committee prohibition is passed, I would have to choose between my two current committee assignments: Agriculture and Armed Services.

THE LIVESTOCK LOAN GUARANTEE BILL, which is the result of the bill I originated, is scheduled for House consideration this week. The bill, as amended in the House Agriculture Committee, would guarantee 80% of a loan, limit the guarantee to $350,000 per borrower, require repayment in three to five years, and allow the interest rate to be determined between the borrower and the lender. I would prefer a 90% guarantee, a longer repayment period and an established low interest rate to generate the volume of credit which the livestock industry actually needs.

The climate in the House seems to hold good prospects for passage of some type of legislations but opposition is beginning to gather from big-city liberals. I hope that I will be able to expand the credit provisions, but the important thing is to insure that at least some kind of assistance to the hardstruck livestock industry is passed.

MEAT IMPORTS are coming down according to the third quarterly report recently issued by the Agriculture Department. The new estimate for meat imports during the third quarter of this year is 23% below the second quarterly estimate. USDA also reported that while U. S. commercial production of red meats in the first five months of this year was up 6.3% from the same period last year, meat imports decreased 5.3% for same comparison period.

I have urged the suspension of beef imports because every pound imported and consumed, is a pound which could have come from domestic stocks, and our domestic industry needs desperately to move beef in the marketplace. Imports and exports go hand-in-hand. We export in livestock products about half the dollar-volume of our beef imports; and our total farm exports out-value our farm imports between two and three-to-one.

The Administration has been discouraging other nations from exporting beef to this country, and the Congressional pressure for a beef import embargo has helped our negotiators overseas to obtain some voluntary reductions in our beef imports.

Burlington Honors 10-Year Employees

The Hall Plant of Burlington Industries, Inc., located in Memphis, honored 28 employees who have served with the company for 10 years or more. Burlington came to Memphis during the summer of 1962 and in 1963 moved into its present site in the northwest part of Memphis. The Hall Plant has operated continually since that time, fabricating bed sheets for private companies, the government, and Burlington branded products.

Bill Crane, Plant Superintendent, praised the people of the Hall Plant stating, "It is a privilege for me to work with this group of people. To have 28 of 112 employees with 10 years service is indicative of the team spirit of a company and its major asset—people."

Cystic Fibrosis Drive Is Being Planned

Mrs. H. M. Breedlove has been named chairman of the "Breath of Life Campaign" to fight children's lung diseases according to Mrs. J. H. Grizzard, president of the Lone Star Chapter, National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation.

Mrs. Breedlove will lead local volunteers in raising funds to support research and care programs for children affected by lung damaging diseases like cystic fibrosis, severe asthma, chronic bronchitis, and childhood emphysema. There are six million children in the U. S. affected with this type illness.

This campaign supports not only research but over 100 CF Centers for diagnosis and treatment across the country, six of which are located in Texas.

Open House At High Plains Research

The 18th Annual Field Day and Open House at the High Plains Research Foundation has been scheduled for Thursday, September 12, 1974. This important agricultural event is traditionally held on the second Thursday in September. A large equipment show, along with other farm-related products, will also be on display. Anyone interested in displaying materials on this day should contact the High Plains Research Foundation, Olton Route, Plainview, or call 889-3315, Halfway, Texas.

Field tours will begin at 1:30 p.m. and continue throughout the afternoon on 20 minute intervals. There will be no stops on the tour this year, in order to allow interested persons to view as many of the research projects underway as possible. A weekly series of articles will be released to give area citizens a preview of what will be seen on the field tours.

Facilities to eat lunch will be available, and a shaded rest area will be set up for the convenience of visitors. Other information concerning Field Day will be available weekly.

Tight Cotton Supplies

The 1974 cotton crop now looks smaller than first predicted in some circles, and an economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service thinks that overall cotton supplies may be tight through 1975. This should strengthen prices as the 1974 crop progresses and supplies continue to diminish. Carryover by August 1 is expected to be down to 3.4 million bales, the second lowest level in the past 22 years. This year's U. S. crop will probably not surpass the 14 - million - bale mark, compared to earlier reports of a 16-million-bale crop.
