A FINE PAPER FOR FINE PEOPLE

Can You Guess How Far The Leader Coverage Reaches ... How It Served The Farmers State Bank & Trust Co.?

How did it happen that Stock Photos International of Los Angeles, California should contact the Donley County Leader the latter part of June asking for the Father's Day issue of "The Donley County Leader," and stating their model had been used in an advertisement. The reply from the Leader office was to the effect that the Leader used Stamps - Conhaim Newspaper Service of Chatsworth, California. How could we possibly have used their model?

Soon Stock Photos wrote giving the name of the child model as Michelle Anderson, turning through the Leader of June 13, 1974. The Farmers State Bank and Trust Co.'s advertisement carried the picture of the child model, Michelle. A search was begun to determine who in California was receiving the "Leader" and "reading the paper."

Michelle Anderson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anderson of Huntington Park, California. She made her entrance into this world November 5, 1968 in the doctor's office.

Unusual from the start, her favorite toy was an ugly monkey and she loved to go for fast rides in the car. She has large brown eyes and long dark lashes and is very photogenic. She has done quite well. At the age of five she had traveled and lived in five states.

Michelle's mother signed her with Stock Photos International in 1973. Her pictures were cataloged and made available for commercial use. One day Michelle Anderson's name may be seen in lights as a super star of international fame.

How did we locate all this information from a Farmers State Bank & Trust Co. advertisement in The Donley County Leader? Mr. and Mrs. John E. (Elbert) Bain of Huntington Park, California, were once residents of Clarendon and Donley County and have taken the Donley County Leader from the time they moved from Clarendon. Mrs. Bain was amazed to discover Michelle Anderson's picture in The Farmer State Bank Advertisement Michelle is a kindergarten student in the H. P. Baptist school where Mrs. Bain is a secretary.

Quite an unusual story! From Michelle Anderson of California to Stock Photos International, to Stamps-Conhaim, to The Donley County Leader, to The Farmers State Bank and Trust Co. of Clarendon, to The Donley County Leader, and back to Michelle in California.

Yes, our local advertiser received wide coverage on his advertisement. This is but one story of many which could be told in regard to the scope of Donley County Leader coverage.

This advertisement is being reproduced in the Leader this week on Page 2. The text of their copy June 13, 1974 is what this bank stands for.

Weather News

Tommie Saye, official Weather Observer, reported 2.85 inches of moisture for the month of October.

Thus far a .10 of moisture has been recorded for the month of November. Of this amount .02 was recorded November 2, .02 on November 3, and .04 on November 4. This brings the year's total to 18.74 inches.

A low of 32 degrees was recorded for Monday night and early Tuesday morning November 4th and 5th.

Cold fronts have been coming through every few days. With the damp cold wind it has seemed colder to most than the thermometers were showing. Saturday night the area was under a tornado alert for some hours but so far as has been learned no violent weather occurred in the area. Heavy hail has been reported as falling in the Brice - Lakeview area and the McKnight and Giles areas.

Though no snow fall was seen by most, several have reported light ground coverage in the early morning hours Monday. It was reported to have held to the ground only a very short time.

Tuesday afternoon the mercury climbed as it did in the day Monday. Grain harvesting is progressing at a rapid pace each day as soon as the dew or light frost disappears. Hopefully we will have more dry weather to allow harvesting to continue.

Wheeler Mustangs Upset Bronchos 15-9

The Wheeler Mustangs invaded Broncho stadium last Friday night to play ball and that is just what they did by topping the Bronchos 15-9.

The Bronchos made and received a majority of the breaks in the game but were unable to capitalize and put a scoring punch together when needed the most.

Quarterback Randy Croslin pushed over for the Bronchos first 6 points on a keeper. The try for two extra points failed. Later in the game, Kenneth King converted a field goal to give the Bronchos their 9 points. With King still out most of the game in the running position the Bronchos had difficulty breaking thru the Mustang line. The Bronchos were within scoring distance several times the latter part of the game, mostly due to Wheeler fumbles but bogged down on each occasion.

Buy your tickets early and come eat with us on your way to the game.

The Clarendon Bronchos will take on another Mustang team when they journey to Claude Friday night. The Wheeler Mustangs upset the Bronchos last Friday night so the Bronchos are expected to outkick the Claude eleven to get back on the winning side of the ledger again before they meet the Wellington Skyrockets in their last game here November 15.

Claude has a poor season record but improved it a bit last Friday night by dumping McLean 47-13. The Bronchos are expected to take the game quite easily but you never can tell what brand of football the Mustangs will come up with when they meet the Bronchos. They have pulled several big upsets in the past.

Coach Clyde Noonkester reported the Bronchos in good shape for the game for the exception of Kenneth King who will be ready to play on a limited basis but this all depends on whether he gets a hard knock on his injured hip.

At any rate, the Bronchos will certainly appreciate good fan support. This goes a long way toward helping them to bring home a victory.

Early Resident Was Inventor Of Steam Operated Car

Editor's Note: Found in Institute of Texas Cultures, San Antonio by Mrs. Gene Alderson while in San Antonio attending a Chevrolet Annual Seminar.

Dr. John Wesley Carhart of San Antonio was a guest of the French government at the International Automobile Exposition in Paris in 1908, where he was honored as the "Father of the American Automobile."

This inventive Texan of many talents had, in 1873 designed and built the "Steam Buggy", first American ancestor of the automobile.

Born and educated in New York state, Carhart held degrees in both theology and medicine. Ordained at twenty, he became a leader in two denominations and a published poet and novelist.

Moving to Racine, Wisconsin, in 1871, the young minister developed plans for a "Steam Buggy," which he and his brother, H. S. Carhart built and operated on the streets of that city and adjacent towns in 1873.

In 1885, John Wesley Carhart left the ministry to join a nephew in colonizing the Texas Panhandle in the area of Clarendon. Once the colony was established, he moved to Lampasas, then to Austin, practicing medicine.

In 1908, he settled in San Antonio where he was a leading specialist in tuberculosis skin diseases and neuroses. Continuing his writing, he published several books of fiction, three of poetry, and two nonfiction works.

Dr. Carhart died in San Antonio in 1917 at the age of 83.

The Howardwick Party Line

The news from the City Hall is: The money has been put down for our new City Hall building. The first activity you will see will be the pouring of ce-made its appearance, and much opposition to my operating it on the public streets was encountered. I admit that it was a rather formidable looking affair, although not much larger than an ordinary buggy.

After a few months, Dr. Carhart either bowed to public opposition or tired of playing with his invention. He had proved his point, that a small and efficient steam powered vehicle could be built which would operate on the public roads.

The first American automobile, a "Steam Buggy", named "The Spark", was designed and operated on the streets of Racine, Wisconsin, in 1873, by John Wesley Carhart.

There was a guard rail or bumper in front. Steering by a handle caused the front axle to veer, rather than the wheels. The machine was very noisy, and a steady stream of sparks issuing, with smoke, from the smoke stack when it was in operation presented a frightening spectacle.

Although Carhart abandoned his automotive design for other activities, his "Steam Buggy" created such excitement that the Wisconsin legislature offered a $10,000 prize the following year for the builder of a self-propelled road vehicle which would accomplish certain results.

The only fish story we have is the four and a quarter pound bass that was caught by Mr. Bobbitt of Clarendon and the five pound channel cat caught by Raleigh Adams.

Great, great grandmother Martha Boon and great grandmother Grace Castner decided they spoiled Kelly Buchanan enough so they came home Saturday. Kelly has a brand new sister, Kasey Dawn, who weighed seven and a quarter pounds. She arrived last Tuesday. Elsewhere in the paper is a picture of the five generations. Kelly is being held by her mother, Mrs. Rhonda Buckannan. Rhonda's mother, Mrs. Marilyn McDonald is standing behind her. Mrs. Grace Castner is the mother of Mrs. McDonald and is standing beside her. Mrs. Martha Boon is also sitting and she is the mother of Mrs. Castner. I know they are all real proud of the family. Maybe the next time a photo is taken little Kasey Dawn will be able to be in it. We seldom see a picture of five generations of the same sex.

Your reporter enjoys doing baby sitting. Don't forget Lions this Saturday nite.

Corky Wilson, his son, Dwight and son-in-law, Rodney Neely caught a Bobcat at the Howardwick airport. It was such a pretty animal to be so destructive.

Well, what can you say about these past two Fridays? Pretty sad story, huh? In case you haven't heard, Wheeler won--15-9. There were rumors that scouts from Notre Dame were here looking at Kenneth King! (what have we here... a celebrity??) Tomorrow night the game is at the Mustang Stadium where the Bronchos face the Claude Mustangs.

The J. V. didn't have a game because of cancellations. Some thought it was because of Halloween. Speaking of Halloween... those certain people who thought they were cool giving the school an egg job that night had another thing coming the next day. Clean-up job on the battle field. Although the worst of it wasn't done by High School, we cleaned it up anyway. Wow, nearly everyone had to go outside because of the terrible, nauseating smell! Next time anyone tries to bomb CHS, they had better think TWICE!

The F.T.A. went to Canyon for the State Convention Tuesday. They were lucky and got to cut school!

Last week at the pep rally the FRESHMEN received the SPIRIT STICK. Although not much spirit was shown last week.

Last Thursday at Activity we had a sock-hop. It was 50's day and nearly everyone came dressed appropriately! The dance was a lot of fun... even if some couldn't do the bop... they got down on the bunny-hop!

At the Marching Contest, the band got a II rating. Many thought they deserved much higher than a II. They did a lot better!

Andi Eads and Karen Burgess received a I rating, Patti Page received a II on Solo Twirling. Congratulations! Andi and Karen will now go to State!

After the contest, they went to the Pizza Hut and McDonalds to eat. Would you say that Jalepeno pizza is a little HOT??!!

On the way home, they stopped at Stucky's. A lot of people came out with "Sticky fingers"! Right??!!

Hey Sheryl B., who's the latest love???

Brenda R., were you scared?

Now Laura H., we don't want your pants to fall off!

Alan H., glad you didn't have to amputate that toe!

Recalling The Buffalo Of Old Clarendon

Dr. James O. Brandon
Pastor First Baptist Church

The Buffalo of the Plains of the 1800's was considered a bison by Zoologists. The Buffalo around Old Clarendon had large heads and necks and humped shoulders. Unlike the oxen and water buffalo, the bison of the Plains had fourteen pairs of ribs instead of thirteen. The animal was brownish-black, except on the hind part of the body which was brown. Long coarse hair covered its head, neck, and hump coming down under the throat and chin to form what looked like a beard. The head had a pair of horns like those of domestic cattle. Some of the animals had horns 35 inches at their widest point.
A full grown male buffalo measured from 10 to 12 1/2 feet long from the tip of its nose to the end of its short tail. Some of them stood from 5 1/2 to 6 feet at the shoulders. The male buffalo weighed from 1,600 to 2,000 pounds. Extremely large ones weighed as much as 3,000 pounds. The female weighed less, usually around 900 to 1,000 pounds.

The children of the founding fathers still living in Clarendon can recall their parents talking about the great herds of Buffalo that roamed the Plains in those mid 1800's. One lady recalls her mother's comments about them on a stage coach ride to Old Clarendon. "They were everywhere," she said. "The Plains seemed alive with them."

A scientific estimate states that as late as 1850 there were over 20,000,000 of these huge bison still thundering over the Western Plains. Huge herds of them often forced trains to tarry for hours waiting for them to pass.

One report states that by 1889 only 551 bison could be found alive in the United States. They were slaughtered by the buffalo hunters for sport and for their hides. One senior citizen of Clarendon recalls her mother's comments about this slaughter of the buffalo. Upon her arrival approaching Old Clarendon, she commented to her stage coach driver about the big white clouds low down on the horizon. The driver explained that these were piles of buffalo bones.

The Indians depended upon the buffalo for their food and livelihood. They made their clothes, tents, and tools from the buffalo. When the buffalo declined, the Indians of the Plains found themselves without food.

To stop the extinction of the buffalo, laws were passed by the government to protect them. Many ranchers of the time like Goodnight protected them on their range. Experiments in breeding the buffalo with the range cattle was also tried. According to reports, it didn't work out too well.

There are about 10,000 of these bison living in the United States at present. These are scattered herds living on fenced game preserves.

ELECTRICITY

We Couldn't Do Without It!

You might think that is an odd statement for a natural gas company to say about electricity. But it's true! There are some things that only electricity can do...like lighting, refrigeration and the many other jobs that it does so well and so easily. But--

NATURAL GAS

Generates The Electricity You Use!

In Lone Star's service area most of the electricity is generated by using natural gas at power plants. The Federal Power Commission recently stated that it takes two to three times more natural gas to generate electricity to operate major home appliances than to use gas directly for the same appliances. So, you put natural gas to its best use with gas appliances.

By using natural gas and electricity for the individual jobs they do the best, you're helping to conserve our energy resources. And through conservation, our resources will last just that much longer.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

More and more consumers are turning to entertainment they can enjoy at home. Perhaps because of this, there has been an upsurge in do-it-yourself kits for hobbyists, artists, and home craftsmen who want to produce a useful or decorative item with their own hands.

For whatever reason, do-it-yourself kits can find a tremendous range of packaged kits on the market to satisfy any interest from jewelry making to telescope building, needlepointing to greenhouse construction.

Children certainly haven't been neglected, either. As a matter of fact, many companies specialize in producing hobby and other do-it-yourself kits for children who want to make their own puppets, doll dresses, or forts, or for older children who may be interested in ant farms, Indian beading, or wood-working.

A hobby or craft project can be absorbing when in progress and satisfying when completed. But some consumers have experienced inconvenience or disappointment after purchasing such kits and taking them home. Complaints range from inadequate or confusing instructions to missing parts, difficulty in completing the project, and inferior quality of finished product.

And some say they find that the parts of the kit when examined at home look nothing like the illustrations that induced them to buy at the store—either in size or quality. Some craft kits are really only big boxes with just a few small parts and a substantial amount of "filler" packaging — with lavish, oversized, color pictures.

The Federal Trade Commission has been investigating this particular practice of deceptively oversized packaging, known as "slack filling," along with those misleading depictions, and has ordered one craft manufacturer to cease such packaging. The decision was based on the fact that "slack filling" and oversized illustrations give purchasers the mistaken impression that they are receiving a larger product, or a product of greater volume, than they actually are. This is especially true when children are doing the purchasing.

Some manufacturers claim that "artistic requirements" of telling the product story determine their package size and artwork, occasionally resulting in larger-than-necessary boxes and illustrations. But the FTC says smaller pictures could do the job just as well, while more accurately reflecting the number and size of the completed products.

However, some consumers may have been responsible for their own dissatisfaction because they didn't take the time to read the product descriptions carefully, to check the illustration for its scale, or to look for a list of included parts before purchasing.

Then, when they assembled the "Super - Duper All - Purpose Cordless Kitchen Knife" and wanted to test it before going to bed, they discovered the fine print that said "Batteries Not Included."

They may also have found that the colorful picture showing the knife slicing a tomato was drawn four times actual size, and that the only thing they saw in their pocket - knife sized tool could handle would be a cherry tomato.

To avoid such problems, the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division recommends that consumers take a few extra minutes to examine the hobby or craft kit they are buying.

Check dimensions or quantities given for the finished item. Do the illustrations seem realistic? Check the package for any disclaimer such as "Illustration one-fourth actual size."

Open the package, if possible, to see that all parts are included and that the quality is as represented. Read the instructions and determine if you need any additional supplies.

If the kit is an expensive one for a product that will receive heavy use, such as a radio or bicycle, is there any guarantee on parts?

If you have a consumer problem, consult our Consumer Protection Division, your county or district attorney, or your local Better Business Bureau.

Within the next few months, many of us will be asked to contribute to a charitable cause, since various fundraising organizations concentrate their efforts in the period from Halloween through Easter.

There are three ways people commonly are asked to help a charitable cause: by donating money, by donating services, or by donating the use of their name for advertising or fundraising purposes.

All of us are familiar with the seasonal appeals of well-established charitable organizations, and few of us question the value of the work they do.

But the Attorney General's Consumer Protection cautions persons contacted by any unfamiliar charitable organization to check carefully before committing money, time or the use of your name.

Our attorneys suggest that you ask these questions before agreeing to support such a group:

What are the organization's goals? Do you believe they are worthwhile? Are they realistic? Are their fundraising campaigns and charitable programs well-planned?

Who heads the group and where are its central offices? Who are the local officers or representatives? Are they genuinely committed to the organization and its aims?

What services does the organization provide in your community? Are they effective? How is the group regarded by your friends and associates?

Has the organization met local or state regulations for charities soliciting funds?

How does the charity solicit its funds?

Some organizations use methods of fundraising that are questionable at best. Some send unordered goods through the mail then later request — or even demand — payment. Our attorneys remind consumers that both state and federal laws say you don't have to pay for or return unordered merchandise.

Another practice to be on guard against is representation of a group as employers of "handicapped," "disabled," "rehabilitated," "retired," "minority," or "student" workers when in reality only a very few, if any, such workers are employed. If approached by a group with such an appeal, you should inquire what percentage of such workers is employed, or what percentage of profits is paid to them.

In recent years, some questions have been raised by concerned citizens as to how much of the funds collected by various charities actually go toward their stated goals and how much is spent on administrative costs, salaries, and the cost of raising funds.

While low operating costs may tend to make a group seem efficient. It's important, say experts, to remember that many factors must be considered in evaluating such figures. The purpose of the charity, whether it employs professional fundraisers or depends on volunteers, costs of printing informational material, and whether the organization is an old, established one or a new one—all of these things affect operating costs.

Most of us are eager to support worthwhile organizations, but we want to be sure that our money or our time is being well spent. The Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce can

And the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division can help you if you have a complaint against an organization or firm that has engaged in misleading or deceptive practices.

IRS Tax Seminar In Amarillo Nov. 25-26

Amarillo College will host a two-day income tax seminar intended to help tax practitioners prepare for the coming filing season. The college and the Dallas District Internal Revenue Service (IRS) office have combined their services and will offer tax information and assistance that will cover the basics of tax preparation as well as advanced technical information.

The seminar is designed so that three concurrent sections will be held where IRS instructors will lead discussions for the part-time tax preparer, full-time practitioner, CPA or tax attorney. In addition to Basic and Advanced sections, one section will deal with the problems encountered in the preparation of Farm returns.

Each section is set up as a complete unit and therefore shifting from one section to another is not possible. Participation in each section is limited to 50 persons.

The Amarillo College tax seminar is scheduled for November 25-26. Anyone interested in attending or learning more about it should call the Southern Methodist University School of Continuing Education at (214) 692-2340. All registration for North Texas IRS District is being handled by SMU. Address: SMU Box 1099, Dallas, Texas 75275.

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

Who's Kidding Who?

Obviously, the liberals fail to understand that money and credit, which is money, is a commodity. When there is a greater demand for money than there is supply, the cost of using money climbs higher.

And of course, the more government has to pay for money, the more the interest charges assessed the taxpayers. Without a tax increase, these mounting interest costs of the Federal government divert more and more from the tax income, requiring the government to seek ever growing amounts of lending funds.

At some point, the string snaps. This has happened now.

Cutting the Federal budget by even $10 billion could conceivably cut interest rates a full point, or more.

There is nothing magic about this process. Unlike the viewpoint of some liberals, government cannot parade before lenders flying the flags with a band playing Yankee Doodle Dandy and expect lenders to choke up with emotion and give government the required funds at a big discount.

To investors, government seeking loans is no more than any other customer. If the cupboard is bare, the rate zooms up. The more government stays out of the competition for lending funds, the lower interest rates will drop.

REVISION PUSHED — State Senator Bill Patman of Galveston, will ask the legislature next year to submit to voters at the November 1976 general election the proposed constitutional revision plan rejected (by three votes) at the 1974 Constitutional Convention.

Patman said he settled on the 1976 vote, because an earlier special election might cost up to $3 million.

Meanwhile, the League of Women Voters of Texas served notice it will support passage of a bill or resolution calling for a new constitutional convention "as soon as possible." The League said it would "not turn its back on other methods of revision," however.

State Capitol Highlights and Sidelights
By BILL BOYKIN

Regardless of whether voters were steamed up about the November 5 general election, it cost the candidates a bundle to run.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe led the spending. His $1.2 million in outlays topped that of his nearest rival, Republican Jim Granberry, two-to-one.

Granberry listed contributions of $521,462 and expenditures of $536,545.

Briscoe reported about $1.3 million in contributions and loans, including $645,000 of his own money.

Second highest spending was in the heated race for state comptroller. Democrat Bob Bullock said he received $130,701 in 369. His Republican opponent, Nick Rowe, itemized $36,274 in donations and $31,877 in spending.

Opposition from Republican Robert Holt caused veteran State Treasurer Jesse James to spend $85,807 in a media campaign. James raised $86,408. Holt spent $32,124 and raised $37,032.

Eleven candidates with light opposition saw fit to put together sizable war chests. Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, for example, took in $117,599 and spent $101,420, although his Republican challenger Gaylord Marshall had only $10,564 in donations and spent $21,760.

Atty. Gen. John Hill reported spending $92,415 of $99,822 contributed.

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White spent $57,810 and received $58,643, while his GOP opponent, Zack Fisher of Memphis, settled for a $47,000 campaign and less than $40,000 in donations and loans.

TEACHERS WANT RAISE — Texas State Teachers Association's legislative committee has voted to ask the legislature to raise the pay of teachers to about $12,000 a year.

Texas teachers want at least $500 over the U. S. average beginning with the 1975-76 school year.

The U. S. average in 1973-74 was $10,673, but TSTA officials calculate it will go up to $11,761 in 1975-76.

Average teacher pay in Texas was $8,967 last school year placing Texas in 37th place among 50 states.

Another committee legislative proposal was for a 75 per cent increase in state funds for school bus transportation.

DISCOUNTS PROMISED — Owners of 1975 model autos will get a 10 per cent collision insurance premium reduction due to better bumpers.

Three import cars were approved for even higher bumper discounts, according to the State Insurance Board.

Checker Marathon and Volvo models are eligible for a 20 percent discount, and Saab 99 for a 15 percent reduction.

PLAZA OFFERED — The State Bar of Texas has offered to develop and give to the state a $700,000 memorial plaza and underground parking facility in the capitol area.

The plaza will be located near the proposed new $5 million Texas Law Center, the State Bar's future headquarters which is just about to be constructed.

Atty. Gen. John Hill, a member of the State Building Commission, recommended the legislature be asked to appropriate funds for two additional levels of parking under the scenic plaza in order to help relieve auto congestion in the crowded capitol area.

COURTS SPEAK — The State Supreme Court upheld removal of Whichita County District Attorney Jimmie Phagan after disbarment.

Nueces County law officers appeal of an injunction forbidding them from enforcing a new "handgun" law against an armored car service.

Supreme Court justices divided five-to-four in affirming action of a Randall County judge who set trial of a suit on promissory note without notifying the defendant.

Mrs. Hawley Harrison

We were sorry to hear that our Correspondent, Mrs. Hawley Harrison, has had surgery. Her family reported she is improving nicely at this time. Her come home with our notebook full of nice people we met and cute little sayings and jokes. This time we stayed at the Scandia Inn, owned by Mrs. Edell Hansen, and one of the kindest people we ever met on our trips. We will both remember her for her friendliness, and for the beautiful white linens everywhere. She was too modest to take credit fully for the wonderful soft water in which they had been washed. When she found out that we collected sayings she gave us a few which she had kept from her late husband's notebook. Here are samples;

"Nothing lies beyond the reach of prayer, except that which is beyond the Will of God."

"Speak kind words and you will hear kind echoes."

"A smile never causes an infection."

"When you feel hurry coming on, sit down until hurry goes away."

"Let us look well at our own defects, and be patient with those of our friends."

Thank You, Mrs. Hansen, for the warm hospitality, and for sharing the thoughts you had kept from your husband's notebook. See you again, we hope.

When we crossed over into what is called the Bible Belt, and a larger percentage dedicated Christians we resolved to ask each station operator, and others what they thought of the stories on Rep. Wilbur Mills. Most said they would not vote for him among those we questioned. His opposition is a young woman not very well known. It will be interesting to see what happens on Election Day even though this column may not be out until afterward. Some of the comments from The Arkansas Gazette ran like this;

"Did Fanne lose her fox, or did Wilbur lose his Fanne."

"Was Wilbur an old fox or did Fanne out-fox Wilbur."

One lady said that there was a famous old Mills Street in Little Rock and they had changed the name to GO-GO Street.

At the Fall Festival old worn out bib overalls were selling for eight dollars a pair. We hated these kind when we were a kid.

Speaking of the cut-off overalls, the so-called Hippie population seemed to be way down from the last trip. The regular folks didn't seem to go for them.

Abiding In Christ

By: Weldon Rives, Pastor
 First United Methodist Church

John 15:5 — "He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit."

John employs a horticultural figure, the vine which was a prominent feature of Palestinian agriculture, to emphasize the unity of the church and the constant need of repentance and renewal. This figure places a special stress upon the relationship between Jesus and his followers and the interdependence of the members of the church and their Lord which functions as a harmonious whole to bring salvation to the lost man.

Jesus compares himself to the true, strength-giving vine. As fruiting wood draws its life and strength from the trunk so it is for the Christian, for as he is united with Christ so he has abundant life. But, as the branch apart from the trunk is lifeless so is the Christian who is dismembered from Christ. Thus, when the church is no longer centered in loyalty and devotion to Christ, it is no longer the church. Our lives have real and eternal meaning and are lived at their best only as we make God's purpose our purpose. The real test of whether we are living according to this purpose as revealed in Jesus Christ lies in our actions and attitudes.

You see, the church is an institution like no other organization. It has a divine ancestry and purpose. If we could get all the people to really believe that we have God backing us nothing could stop us and the cry would be heard everywhere that "Those who have turned the world upside down have come here also!" (Acts 17:6). The story in John places heavy emphasis upon productivity, fruitfulness as the visible evidence of any claim to abide in Christ and to be the church. Unless we are involved in the continuing mission of Christ in the world, obedient to his commandment to reconcile the unreconciled, to show love where there may be no hope of recompense, to feed and clothe the poor, and to proclaim God's new order — unless this is the fruit we produce, we are not truly his people. For, Jesus said, "You will know them by their fruits" (Matthew 7:16a).

ity requirements for Social Security. Generally, a person is considered disabled when he has a physical or mental impairment which prevents his doing any substantial gainful work and the condition is expected to last, or has lasted, for at least 12 months or is expected to result in death.

Q—My 16-year old son broke both legs and sustained a severe head injury in a recent motorcycle accident. Can he draw Supplemental Security Income as a disabled person?

A—From your information it is not possible to give a definite "yes" or "no" answer to your question. Since Supplemental Security Income payments are based on "needs" it will be necessary for you to furnish more details regarding the family income and resources.

Q—I receive a VA disability payment. Will my entitlement to Supplemental Security Income be established when I present my VA award letter to Social Security? I only receive $130 as my total monthly income.

A—A finding of disability by the VA or any other agency does not necessarily entitle a person to Supplemental Security Income because the definition of disability may vary from one agency to another. Although additional medical evidence may be required, you may wish to contact your nearest social security office to discuss filing a claim for Supplemental Security Income.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Hazel M. Sneed

Funeral services for Mrs. Hazel Marie Sneed, 52, a resident of Floyd County since 1957, and a former resident of Donley County, were held at 2:00 p.m. Wednesday, November 6, 1974, in Schooler - Gordon - Robertson Funeral Chapel with Rev. Herbert Els, a Nazarene Minister from San Angelo and Rev. Tom Brown, Nazarene Minister from Floydada, officiating. Interment was in Citizens Cemetery with the arrangements under the direction of Schooler-Gordon - Robertson Funeral Directors.

Mrs. Sneed died at 7:30 p.m. Monday, November 4th, in Lockney General Hospital in Lockney, Texas after a lengthy illness. She was born February 12, 1922 in Kentucky and was married to Olen Sneed March 24, 1950 in Clarendon. She was a member of the Four Square Gospel Church.

Survivors include her husband of the home in Floydada; one son, Ricky Ray Sneed of South Plains; four sisters, Mrs. Julie Stoddard and Mrs. Laveda Sanders both of Sierra Vista, Arizona; Mrs. Annie Lee Artego of El Paso, Mrs. Jewell Henley of Tularosa, N. M., one brother, Steve Rogers of Clarendon; and two grandchildren.

New District IRS Director Appointed

Ronald Archer of the Amarillo office of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has been appointed representative of the District Director for the 22-county area for which the Amarillo office is administratively responsible.

In addition to his new duties, Archer will continue as manager of the Amarillo Collection Group, a position he has held since August 1974. He has been an IRS employee since 1964. Archer replaces Wayne Davidson. In making the announcement, A. W. McCanness, IRS District Director for North Texas, praised Davidson for the excellent relationships fostered among the educational and professional community, the public at large, and the IRS during his tenure as Director's Representative.

Home Maintenance Can Help Reduce Your Heating Bill

With the prospect of energy shortages plus higher utility bills this winter, homeowners can take some action to reduce their heating bills, says an agricultural engineer for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Your home should be adequately insulated to reduce heat loss," says Bill Allen. "Tight-fitting storm windows and doors or double-fitting windows can cut heat loss in half. Use of weather-stripping on loose-fitting window and door frames provides additional insulation, and caulking helps minimize heat loss from loose-fitting window panes."

The Texas A&M University System engineer also advises closing off rooms that are not frequently used and shutting draperies and window shades at night. By limiting the use of kitchen and bathroom exhaust fans, a homeowner can further reduce heat loss in the home, Allen points out. However, the fans should be run just enough to eliminate all excessive moisture.

The engineer also advises closing the fireplace damper when the fireplace is not in use so that heat cannot escape. "By keeping heating and cooling systems in good operating condition, a homeowner might have an energy savings of up to 10 per cent," notes Allen. "Careful maintenance and planning in your home can provide comfortable living conditions at lower costs."

WTSU Buffs Play In Tampa Fla. Saturday

The Buffaloes of West Texas State University will challenge the Spartans of Tampa, Florida in Tampa Saturday night, November 9. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Florida defeated Auburn 25-14 last Saturday while WTSU lost to Lamar University of Colorado 9-7 before a large Homecoming Crowd at Kimbrough Stadium in Canyon. Last year Tampa Spartans defeated the Buffaloes 28-6. This week's game should be a good one as the Buffaloes seem to play a harder game away from home.

The Buffaloes have two more games this season after Saturday's game. They will return to play in Kimbrough Stadium in Canyon November 16. Their final game of the season will be played November 30 in Louisville, Kentucky.

Defensive Driving Class At AC Nov. 9

Amarillo residents intent on saving their necks and their money will have the opportunity to do both by enrolling in an eight-hour defensive driving course to be offered Nov. 9 at Amarillo College.

The one-day community service class will be held in Room 111 of Building A at the West campus School of Vocational Arts. Instructors will be Walter Eubanks, director of public safety education at AC and Lee Bradshaw, instructor in the program.

The classes will meet from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and those who successfully complete the course will receive a 10 percent discount on automobile insurance premiums. The discount is good for a period of three years and applies to auto liability, collision, and medical payment coverage written by insurance companies which are rate-regulated by the State Board of Insurance.

Tech Red Raiders To Play In Lubbock Sat.

The Red Raiders of Texas Tech will be playing in Lubbock this Saturday after losing last Saturday's game to Rice in Houston by a score of 21-7.

The Raiders will meet the TCU Horned Frogs in a Homecoming game in Jones Stadium at Lubbock this Saturday, November 9. Kickoff time is 2 p.m. This will mark the 31st meeting between the two schools. TCU leads 18-12 in series and has an 8-6 edge in SWC competition. Tech has won five, lost two, and tied one this season. TCU is 1-7 for the season.

A large crowd is expected for the Homecoming game.

BOB WILLIAMS GROWS EXTRA LARGE TURNIP

We have had a number of large turnips grown in the area this year but we believe that Bob Williams has the largest we have ever seen. Bob brought the turnip to the Leader office Monday. The turnip weighed 12 pounds and measured 35 1/2 inches in circumference. It was too large to fit in the top of a 5 gallon bucket. Bob reported planting turnips in June. The one brought to the Leader office is of the Yellow Globe variety.

J. B. Lane and J. D. Jones have brought in some mighty fine turnips too. It sure is some mighty good eating. The greens are especially nice with all of the moisture. J. B. Lane brought in the largest Mustard greens we have seen. The greens and turnips are tender and sweet this year. Thanks, folks.
