The Hardware Grand Opening Is Saturday, August 3 - 1 To 7 p.m.

Basil and Letha Smith both agree that it has been quite an ordeal, lots of long hours, and hard work but they will be ready for the Grand Opening of THE HARDWARE this coming Saturday afternoon from 1 to 7 p.m.

The new hardware business, managed and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Smith, is located in the north portion of the 1st Supply building and will be operated in conjunction with The Automotive Inc., which carries a full line of automotive parts and supplies.

The Hardware is new throughout with all new fixtures and all new merchandise. It will be a complete hardware store with all the merchandise you would expect to find in a business of this nature. The Automotive Inc. is planning hardware stores for over 100 of their business outlets over several states and it so happens that this is their first complete hardware store to be installed.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have been with 1st Supply and the new owners, The Automotive, Inc., for fifteen years. Mr. Smith previously managed the Smith Gin for a number of years and was employed by Chamberlain Motor Co., and Alderson Chevrolet prior to taking over the management of 1st Supply Co. Basil came to Clarendon in 1935 and Letha is a native of Donley County.

Other employees of the business are Ray Lynn Fichte and Bill Kerlee. This will give a total of four to man the two business places.

Clarendon has been without a complete hardware store for several months and this "The Hardware" is certainly most welcome here. The Leader joins others in congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Smith on their grand opening Saturday. Read their page advertisement in this issue of the Leader for more details regarding door prizes etc.

Bicentennial Project To Enter Next Phase

The Donley County Living History Commission met in recent session to formulate plans for the next phase of the Bicentennial program. So far, 200 acres in Ciboli Valley have been leased by the Commission from The Greenbelt Water Authority. A portion of that acreage will be sub-leased to Troop 33 of the Clarendon Boy Scouts and other leaders who are interested in making the valley come alive as a tourist attraction.

The children's flag design contest produced a Donley County flag. The design for the flag drawn by Richard Sanchez was precisely copied in stichery by Debbie Campbell and will be on display in the Courthouse corridor after August 1, 1974.

The Youth Seminar in the valley was declared a big success by all in attendance. "Ann Armstrong Day", with the presentation of the Bicentennial emblem flags to Donley County, Clarendon, Howardwick, and Hedley was certainly a "red-letter phase" of the Bicentennial project.

Work on the Athens Amphitheatre has begun again and will be completed by spring. Now plans are taking shape for the re-creation of SAINT'S ROOST near the site of the amphitheatre. This too will be a community project as the other phases have been with most of the town folks and those from the other Donley County communities being called on to assist. We hope to locate and acquire little old buildings similar to the wooden fronts in Old Clarendon. The plan is to have a replica of the original settlement put together by 1976. (on a smaller scale, of course).

The drawing in this issue of the Leader sets forth a rough idea of the over-all plan. So be spotting little old buildings (even a privy) which can be had and moved to the intended location. Committees have been named and those persons will be notified.

This should be an interesting project for the entire area. So, let's get busy and find some buildings.

Linda, who is 10 years old, has won several awards and first place recognition with her singing. Daughter Loree plays the Electric Organ, Audrey the lead Bass Guitar, Bonnie the drums and Linda, lead singer. The family will soon be going to the World Fair in Spokane, Wash., for three nights of entertainment.

Also on the program will be Camille Mann and Mac Thornberry, local students who attended the Farm Bureau Seminar and who will report on their trip.

As previously announced President Woodson hopes to be present along with Carol Shalovka, Max Sherman, and Carol Pack. They will have for you information on the current critical situation.

Fun After Fifty Club To Meet Sat., Aug. 3

The Fun After Fifty Club (Senior Citizens) will be meeting at Lions Club Hall Saturday morning, August 3, at 10 a.m. The group did not meet in July due to the annual celebration; however, a rather special meeting is planned for this Saturday.

Games of dominoes and 42 will be played, a Door Prize given and those having birthdays in August will be presented birthday cards. There will be a covered dish luncheon at the noon hour.

Now to the specials . . . An Arts and Crafts Show has been planned. Everyone is invited to bring something you have made, anything along the hobby line as ceramics, handwork, leather work and any of the many other types of arts and crafts. A prize is to be presented to the person having the best one.

Dean Beryl Clinton of Clarendon College will be present to discuss Adult and Continuing Education Classes and the possibility of them being offered to the Fun After Fifty group through the College if here is an interest in this type thing.

Another possibility of a recreational type project will be discussed. An Amarillo minister is expected to be here to discuss with the group recreational bus trips to Amarillo for our Senior Citizens. These trips would include tours, sightseeing, and visits to areas of special interest to the group.

It is hoped a good number will be on hand to voice their interests in these possibilities. A covered dish lunch will be served at the noon hour. All members are urged to be present and to bring someone with you.

Church Of Christ Special Services Now In Progress

The special services at the Church of Christ in Clarendon this week through Sunday, August 4, are meeting with a great deal of enthusiasm and the response has been great.

"Preaching and Singing The Good News" are the Pape brothers. Jack Pape, evangelist, is a resident of DeSoto, Texas. Paul Pape, song leader, lives in Amarillo. These dynamic young men have a message for each and every one and are in great demand over a wide area. Services have been very well attended, and the local Church feels fortunate to have such dedicated young men for this occasion.

An invitation is extended to each and every one to attend these services: Mornings 7 a.m. Tuesday through Friday; Nights 8 p.m. Monday through Saturday; and Sunday 10:15 a.m. and 6 p.m., stated Don Stone, Minister of the Clarendon Church of Christ.

State Capitol Highlights and Sidelights

By BILL BOYKIN

Legislative budget planners recommended nearly $480 million in pay raises and fringe benefits for 116,000 state employees next year.

General revenue cost of the package (which includes a 23.8 percent salary boost for lower-scale personnel and higher travel allowances) is about $285 million.

Legislative Budget Board gave its blessings to the cost-of-living catch-up proposals to help planning of the 1976-77 appropriations bill.

Assuming the entire plan is approved by the legislature, more than 90 percent of the anticipated general revenue surplus will be used on compensation and benefits of 116,000 state workers.

One budget executive conceded the action "placed a little strain" on Gov. Dolph Briscoe's pledge of no new taxes next year, although the comptroller's estimate of a $315 million surplus is viewed as conservative.

Further, existing revenues are expected to generate much more money next fiscal period than they do today.

Many budget requests are running ahead of present appropriations by staggering amounts.

Examples are the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, the Department of Public Welfare, the Department of Corrections, the Health Department and Texas Youth Council.

LBB took a sobering look at some of the requests at its last meeting.

Not satisfied with salary raises delayed until next year, state employees said they still want a special legislative session to get inflation relief now.

CITIES LOSE MONEY - A group of Texas cities got the sad news last week that they will not get federal grants they requested to build sewage treatment plants.

About 204 projects were tabulated because of a $27 million federal fund deficit this fiscal year.

A total of $142.1 million in FY '75 money is available to Texas. But Texas Water Quality Board's list includes $169.1 million worth of projects.

Projects are carried on the TWQB list in line with how important they are to water pollution control.

FOOD CRUNCH NEXT - A "food crunch" could make the energy crisis seem mild by comparison, according to Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

A sudden world demand for better quality food is driving grocery prices up again, White said, and causing Americans to compete with the world markets for their own products.

U. S. producers can keep up with the demand if they have time to gear up, White stated. He predicted the United World Food Conference in Rome next November can "make or break" U. S. agriculture. He warned against commitment to "specific deals" which would handicap our own agriculture marketing system.

FACILITY FATE UNKNOWN - Future use of Gatesville State School is undecided, according to Texas Youth Council Chairman W. Forrest Smith of Dallas.

Enrollment has dropped sharply since 18-year-olds and children in need of supervision were removed. Possible uses mentioned are as a welfare facility, Department of Corrections unit and continuation as a school for boys, Smith said.

COURTS SPEAK - The Texas Supreme Court held the Dallas Episcopal Diocese and bishop cannot be held responsible for an ex-priest's alleged alienation of an Irving housewife's affections.

In other opinions, the Court concluded.

A Pasadena civil service commission ordered dismissing a police patrolman for insubordination should be dismissed.

A case involving San Marcus city council's power to set rates for electrical power sold by Lower Colorado River Authority within the city should be heard.

A moving and storage company that handed furniture and other belongings to the wrong person without a proper warehouse receipt must pay the owner for his loss.

The state has no special right to refuse answers to questions in a suit filed by a prison inmate as the result of losing an eye due to a basketball injury.

Court of Criminal Appeals ordered new trials for two Del Rio men on marijuana possession charges because of an illegal search of their residence.

AG OPINIONS - Atty. General John Hill invalidated an appropriations bill rider requiring state agencies to insure equal employment opportunity for all through special plans for ending discrimination.

He said he favors such a program, but it must be established by separate law. The ruling does not affect federal legal requirements prohibiting discrimination.

In other recent opinions, Hill held:

A teacher's eligibility for sick leave depends on applicable rules and regulations and is not affected by concurrent eligibility for leave of absence. Maximum leave of absence for temporary disability may not be set at less than 180 calendar days.

Public bodies letting contracts for public works may include value of "fringe benefits" in calculating "prevailing wage rates" for their locale and type of work.

Texas Department of Public Welfare can make rules and regulations to aid in administration of the Family Code.

The Open Records Act does not give an agency the right to withhold information from a legislator, but his right to access may be affected by other statutes.

ANTHRAX CONTROLLED - Agriculture Commissioner John C. White credited fast response by ranchers and governmental agencies with bringing a Falls County anthrax outbreak under "excellent control."

Anthrax, said White, is not now as big a problem in Texas as drouth and low prices of cattle.

Local veterinarians and representatives of Texas Animal Health Commission conducted a mass vaccination of all livestock in Falls County and seven surrounding buffer counties.

DROUTH RELIEF SOUTH - Texas Water Rights Commission ordered the City of San Angelo Water Supply Corporation to begin releasing water from Twin Buttes Reservoir to flow down the dry Concho River.

In a two-step effort to relieve drought conditions along the Concho and the Colorado between confluence of the Concho and San Saba rivers, the Commission also ordered all irrigators in that section to stop irrigating until further notice.

The section borders Concho, Coleman, McCulloch, Brown, Mills and San Saba counties.

Steps followed a hearing on complaints by domestic and livestock water users on the Concho and that portion of the Colorado.

Softball Scores THURSDAY, JULY 25 Riggs 10 - Mooring 23

FRIDAY, JULY 26 Clarendon Col. 15 - J & W Lbr. 11 First Baptist 14 - Chamberlain 19

MONDAY, JULY 29 Riggs 17 - Clarendon College 13 TUESDAY, JULY 30 First Baptist 11 - Mooring 25

At this point in play Mooring is in top place. Riggs and Clarendon College are tied for second place; J & W Lumber holds third place, Chamberlain 4th, and First Baptist 5th.

Based on the estimate that a male college graduate will, during his lifetime, earn and pay income taxes on about a quarter - of - a - million dollars more than a high school graduate - it is believed that the $29 billion cost of three GI Bills has been repaid many times over by the 5.9 million veterans who trained at college level.

More than half of nearly 8.5 million Veterans Administration loans valued in excess of $103 billion, guaranteed since the GI home loan program was initiated 30 years ago, have been repaid in full. Fewer than four out of a hundred have defaulted.

Those Old Clap-Board Churches

Dr. James O. Brandon
Pastor First Baptist Church

"Wash house churches" is the way one person described the church buildings of Old Clarendon.

They were clap-board, four walled structures with dirt floors and hard benches. They were not much to look at and not too fancy.

The Spirit of God, however, blessed those who worshipped there; and the spirit of those Christians who met within their walls was excellent.

Usually, these old church buildings were full of people on any given Lord's Day.

What about Sunday School in Old Clarendon? Sunday School was mostly for the kids; or so thought the older adults of that time.

The women, if they came, sat and talked while the men stood or squatted around outside chewing tobacco and whittling with their knives, discussing the weather or the conditions of the back pasture.

Church buildings have changed somewhat since that time haven't they? Adult attitudes toward Sunday School haven't changed that much.

It still seems that many adults feel that Bible study is for the kids, with the kids growing up feeling that Bible study is for the kids.

It is an endless circle of spiritual ignorance passed on from father to son.

The Bible has a different philosophy about studying the Word of God. God says, "The fathers to the children shall make known Thy Truth" (Is. 38:19).

"Thy Word have I hid in mine heart," said the Psalmist, "that I might not sin against thee" (Ps. 119:11).

God says, "Blessed is the man . . . whose delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night.

And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf also shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper" (Ps. 1:1-3).

When the fathers let down on the job of making known God's truth to their kids and meditating upon the Word of God, you can't really expect too much out of the kids, can you?

Yes, the church buildings are better, central heated, refrigerated air conditioning, padded pews, and carpeted aisles; but are we any closer to God?

Are we as fervent in spirit as those staunch Christian pioneers? Are we as devoted to private Bible study, prayer, and church attendance? Are we as conscientious as to what makes a community grow?

Are we building on a solid foundation or building the homes of this younger generation on the sand?

Bible study and preaching never hurt anybody, yet a lot of folk today asked the Psalmist, "Where is thy God?" Today, the world around us is asking: "Where can I find a real Christian who lives what he says he believes?"

Thank God for those old, old clap-board churches and for those faithful saints of God who met in them to praise and worship the Almighty. They pointed us in a right direction.

They laid a foundation of truth based on God's Word and of personal moral integrity and honesty. We can do no less for the future generation. We'll not be remembered for who we were, how much money we had, how popular we were in the community,

Sew Up Lease Before It's Too Late

Sure it's hot, but you've got to start thinking about the hunting season, now.

If you haven't sewed up your lease agreements, for example, you're already behind schedule. The closer the season, the slimmer the pickings.

You can save yourself some headaches even at this late date if you take care before signing an agreement.

Spelled out should be conditions for the protection of both parties and to prevent misunderstandings.

It should cover these points: what is leased, name of parties, description of tract including size and boundaries, the terms of the lease including the amount and time of payment, the duration of the lease, who is to hunt and the species of game animals, fish, game birds and varmints which may be taken.

Landowners should specify what services or facilities are included in the lease such as blinds, cabins, utilities and special permits.

A written lease, when properly acknowledged, can be recorded in the county records and is binding on the landowner should he decide to sell his property to another party.

For information concerning the proper legal form, an attorney may be helpful.

The first airplane flight of the Wright Brothers at Kitty Hawk N. C., lasted only 12 seconds and the plane traveled 120 feet.

Even Uncle Zeb don't always receive a compliment even though he loves them dearly. Recently he was trying to sing Happy Birthday to his grandson to which the youngster replied; "Paw Paw, I can see why you don't belong to the choir anymore" . . . Kids say the damndest things.

More recent than the above we were sitting in our favorite dentist's office when we became embroiled in some personal comments. A lady mentioned our gray hair . . . Use Of Herbicides Tested At Halfway

With increased production costs, new chemicals on the market and problems with insects and weed and grass control, farmers are looking for ways to combine operations that will produce results with a minimum expense. However, studies at the High Plains Research Foundation in 1974 have already shown that some combinations of herbicides and insecticides simply create new problems. One particular study, conducted by Jim Schrib and Gaylon Goodard, agronomists at the Foundation, can be seen during the 18th Annual Field Day at the Foundation Headquarters at Halfway on September 12.

The purpose of this study is to determine if a herbicide - insecticide interaction could occur which in turn would have a detrimental effect upon the grain sorghum.

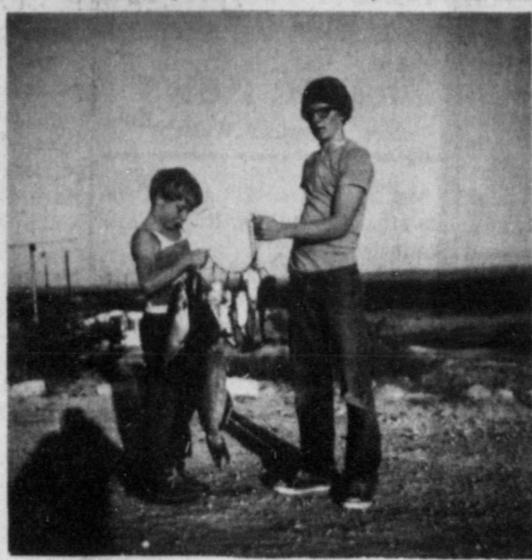

Thimet and Di-Syton were applied in-furrow at planting time at the rate of one pound of active ingredient per acre. A pre-emerge application of Milogard, Aatrex and Igran at rates of 2.4 pounds per acre of active ingredient were sprayed on each of the above insecticide treatments. The area was then sprinkler irrigated so as to thoroughly concentrate the herbicide - insecticide combination around the grain sorghum seed, as might occur in a heavy rainfall period.

Stand counts and injury ratings taken approximately 25 days after application indicated that interactions definitely had occurred, resulting in severe reduction of stand. Grain sorghum stands of 63,000 plants per acre were obtained where Milogard was applied without insecticide. When Milogard was sprayed over the in-furrow application of Di-Syton this population was reduced to 50,000. At the same time, a further reduction was seen when Milogard was applied over Thimet, resulting in as few as 18,000 plants per acre. In some cases, even more severe damage was noted.

Additional information can be obtained at the High Plains Research Foundation and these studies can be observed on the field tours from 1:30 to 5:00 p.m. on Thursday, September 12, 1974, during the 18th Annual Field Day and Open House.

Fishing has been good at Greenbelt Lake. Morris Castner caught a 6½ lb. Channel Cat and two 3 lb. Channel Cat using rod and reel baited with water dogs. David and John Winegeart of Pampa caught 12 Catfish, a 6½lb. Channel Cat, a 3 and a 2 lb. Channel Cat, and others ranging from ¾ to a lb. Water Dogs were used as bait. The women came in with fish too. Lois McVicker and daughter caught a 5½ lb. Channel Cat on Minnows.

Historic Anthrax . . . Agricultural Miracles . . . Maize Harvest Continuing . . . Milk Production Down

THE OUTBREAK of anthrax in Falls County—which appears to be under control at this time—stimulated a little digging to find out about the disease. The Texas Department of Health, in one of its bulletins, speculated that Moses might have had anthrax in mind when he told Pharaoh that a "grievous murrain" would come on all cattle, horses, oxen and sheep in Egypt if Egyptians didn't stop oppressing the Israelites. It is known that anthrax has appeared world wide, that it will attack almost all animals, including man, but that it appears to prefer cattle and horses. Man and swine appear to have greater resistance to anthrax infection. Anthrax externally may appear to be sores or carbuncles. Internally, it may be mistaken for pneumonia or bloat in cattle. It is usually fatal to infected cattle in a very short time, and its germs may live for many months and be a source of danger in previously infested areas for years. The authorities say that anthrax should be suspected when animals die suddenly, especially in areas where the disease has been a problem previously. The great Louis Pasteur is responsible for developing a vaccine that can protect animals from anthrax.

AMONG THE miracles of agriculture are the increased yields made possible by new varieties developed in such crops as grain sorghums, rice, soybeans, etc. One of the most dramatic has been in sorghums (maize). Before 1956, yields of maize were seldom more than 1,000 pounds an acre. Then came the hybrids and yields rose to more than 2,000 pounds an acre; and eight or ten years ago, yields went to 3,000 pounds or more per acre. Now Texas experiment stations are working on twin-seed hybrids that may increase yields 10-20 per cent more. Work is being done to develop strains that are more resistant to drought, to disease, and to insects. Production had already made grain sorghums the Number 2 crop (behind cotton) in Texas, and sorghums played a prominent part in the development of feedlots, another development in agriculture during the second half of this Century.

HARVESTING of maize is underway, or complete, all the way from the Coast through the Blacklands, as hot, dry weather allows in most places. Drouth on the High Plains delayed or prevented planting, and it appears that Texas' yields of maize this year may be below 1973. The estimate is that 6,600,000 acres were planted this year, compared to 8,100,000 last year. Acres in corn this year in Texas, however, is estimated at 980,000 acres, compared to 750,000 acres last year. Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service says this is the largest acreage planted to corn in Texas since 1962.

JUNE WAS Dairy Month, and milk production in Texas was 287 million pounds. That is two per cent more than in June, 1973, but five per cent less than in May, 1974. Average milk production per cow was 820 pounds during June, and that is 30 pounds above June, 1973 and 40 pounds below the average for May of this year. Price for wholesale milk for June was placed at $9.55 per hundred.

PASTURES over Texas continue to get worse as hot, dry weather continues in most places. Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service says that ranchers on the Cross Timbers, Edwards Plateau, and Low Plains started culling their herds earlier than usual. Some ranchers are having to feed their remaining stock.

Hunting And Fishing Guides On The Way

Information on game and fish laws for coming seasons is contained in the new "Guide to Hunting and Freshwater Fishing Regulations, 1974-75" soon to be available wherever hunting and fishing licenses are sold. The 20-page booklet from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department this year features a county-by-county listing of seasons and bag limits for popular game species along with fishing regulations. More detailed information is listed for licenses, tags and permits minnows, fur-bearing animals and general freshwater fishing and hunting rules.

Not included and yet to be established by the Parks and Wildlife Commission are regulations for migratory game birds and commercial and saltwater fishing.

The hunting and freshwater fishing regulations will be available around August 16 at all Parks and Wildlife offices and from all license deputies at sporting goods and tackle stores who are bonded for the 1974-75 fiscal year.

Pinto Beans Is High Plains Crop

Pinto beans have captured the spotlight with many High Plains farmers this year. Many of these people have never grown beans before and may need to be aware of some of the hazards involved, according to Jim Valliant, research director at the High Plains Research Foundation, Halfway, Texas.

Probably the most critical observation to be made concerns the first irrigation. Young pinto bean plants should not be allowed to suffer moisture stress. The first irrigation should be applied from 3 to 5 weeks after planting, dependent on available moisture. Even though the water-use rate during this period is only .08 inches per day, the relatively ro system MUST have moisture to avoid stress. "Another critical time to check for moisture content of the soil is when the plant begins to develop small shoots, or runners," said Valliant. "In fact beans should be irrigated about every 12 to 20 days, depending on weather conditions, etc. until the crop approaches maturity." Harvest of the beans should begin when about 80% of the pods are yellow and mostly ripe. At no time should the moisture content of the beans be allowed to drop below 40% before the beans are undercut and windrowed.

Other information on pinto beans can be obtained from the 1973 Annual Research Report of the High Plains Research Foundation, or by contacting the Foundation, Olton Route, Plainview Texas, 79072.

Home Gardeners Can Stretch Moisture

Hot, dry summer weather is here and that means following certain practices to "stretch" the moisture available for your lawn and garden.

"Wise use of available moisture helps keep your lawn and garden plants growing and healthy while at the same time reducing the amount of irrigation water required," points out Everett Janne, landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

To start with, Janne suggests a good mulch at least two inches deep around flowers, shrubs and other plants. This reduces evaporation loss from the soil surface, lowers the soil temperature, reduces weed growth and cuts down on soil cultivation. Shredded pine bark, pine straw, wood chips, chopped wheat or oat straw or other organic matter is good for mulching.

When watering, the horticulturist recommends soaking the soil to a depth of 6 to 10 inches. Of course, where the soil surface is sloping, watering should be reduced to avoid excessive runoff.

"Deep watering encourages deep root penetration and provides a greater reservoir of moisture for plants. This enables plants to withstand dry weather better than when waterings are light and frequent. After a thorough soaking of the soil, watering can be delayed until plants begin to wilt."

Janne advises applying fertilizer, insecticides or fungicides to plants only when there is moisture in the soil. Severe foliage burn can occur if these materials are applied when plants are under water stress conditions. Fertilize lawns when needed since a well-fertilized lawn will use water more efficiently and will require less water to keep it alive.

Raising the cutting height of your lawnmower one-fourth to one-half inch will also reduce the water needs of your lawn. "Do your yard work early in the morning or late in the afternoon," suggests Janne. "You will enjoy it more and your plants will also benefit."

Social Security

By TRAVIS C. BRIGGS

Q—I am writing about my social security account. I would like to know if I can qualify for additional benefits under the supplemental security income act. I will be 70 this year and I had to stop work three years ago because of illness. I am now losing my sight and can barely get around in my house. I have to go to my doctor once a month for a blood sugar test and buy medicine for my diabetes.

A—First of all, the Supplemental Security Income Program is a program separate and apart from social security, even though they are both administered by the Social Security Administration. Since you are over 65, you would qualify based on age and not disability. The other requirement you must meet is to have under $1500.00 resources and under 160.00 monthly income. You can file a claim by calling your nearest social security office.

Q—I am 16 and as far as I know I have never had a social security number. I applied for one the other day, and I was told it would be about five weeks before I would receive it. Why?

A—All applications for social security numbers are now being screened against social security files in Baltimore, Maryland, to make sure a previous record has never been established. Some parents get a social security number for their child when it is very young and the child may not be aware that he already has a number. By searching our central records, social security can be certain that only one number is given to each individual so work and earnings can be credited correctly. Anyone needing a social security card should apply at least five weeks before they will have to use it.

Q—I retired a few months ago and started getting monthly social security checks. I plan to help a friend in his repair shop this spring. How will the job affect my social security payments and when should I report my earnings?

A—If your annual earnings exceed $2,400, $1.00 in benefits will be withheld for each $2.00 of earnings above $2,400. Regardless of total yearly earnings, no benefits will be withheld for any month you do not earn more than $200 in employment and do not do substantial work in your own business. If you think you'll earn over $2,400 in 1974, you should report it to your nearest social security office as soon as you can. Then the social security administration can withhold your benefits during the period when you have income from your work. If you delay reporting your earnings to social security, you could be overpaid and have to refund some benefits.

Q—I started receiving disability benefits in October 1972, but I haven't gotten my Medicare card yet. Why? What should I do?

A—A person must be entitled to disability benefits for 24 months before he is eligible for Medicare. You will be eligible in October 1974. A Medicare card will be sent to you automatically at that time.

The Howardwick Party Line

By Sharon Mills

Hi! It's nice to be back on the line.
Mr. and Mrs. Glen Doty attended the Doty-Barber family reunion at Olney, Ill. last week. Glen saw cousins he hadn't seen in over 50 years. (I wouldn't tell ages). There were 54 relatives in attendance. People there represented states of Tenn., Maryland, Ill., Indiana, Texas and New Mexico. The oldest was 84 and the youngest was just a few months. Glen also got to visit the old home place where he was born.
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bland have their daughter-in-law Cherie Bland and grandchildren Travis, Reneay and Dovina, visiting them for a few weeks. They are from San Jose, California. How much spooling can be done in that time?

What Type Of God Do You Want?

By: Weldon Rives, Pastor
First United Methodist Church

Acts 14:15 — "Men, why are you doing this? We also are men, of like nature with you, and bring you good news, that you should turn from these vain things to a living God who made the heavens and the earth and the sea and all that is in them."

Paul and Barnabus healed a man of Lystra of deformed feet. The people responded to this in praise and worship saying that the gods had come to them in human form. Paul, however, commanded that they not offer to him and Barnabus any praise but hear about the one true living God, thus believing in him. When he refused to allow the people of Lystra to worship him and Barnabus as gods, they became prey for the Jews from Antioch who had come down to interfere with their work. As a result, the people soon turned from praising to stoning. So virulent was their hatred that they were stoned and left for dead, fortunately, they were not.

Acts 14:20-23 tells us that following the stoning Paul rose up and went back into the city in order to comfort and strengthen the Christians there. They needed it, because it was clearly evident that they would have to face persecution in the future. According to verse 22 only "by many tribulations" would they be able to enter the kingdom of God. Suffering would be theirs, nevertheless, victory would be theirs also!

The lesson from this points out two things to me. First, many try to mold God into the type of God they want, e.g., they attempt to make Him in their image. That is to say, rather than adopting the conditions of discipleship they seek to amend, rewrite, etc. the requirements God places upon man to qualify as a good and faithful disciple. Christian discipleship is not something we can rewrite, like a constitution, because we have deemed it "out of date," "too complicated," or "too uncertain in its meaning." When it comes to conditions of discipleship we have no right or power to alter them for these were set by God himself and to attempt to change them is to worship something less than the true living God. One way I see this made manifest is in church membership. Too often we see persons become and reject its disciplinary requirements for faithfulness, such as loyal support and attendance, abstinence from the use of alcoholic beverages, gambling, profanity, etc., or they set about trying to undermine those disciplinary requirements by the church to make them no different from non-disciplinary requirements. This stands in contrast to Peter's description which sets the Christian apart from the world (1 Peter 2:9): "You are a chosen race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, God's own people, that you may declare the wonderful deeds of Him who called you out of darkness into His marvelous light."

The second thing is that if we allow our lives to be molded according to His image of truth, justice and love, if we seek first His kingdom and righteousness, then we shall be persecuted. Persecution comes when we oppose evil and corruption of society which destroys the souls of men. When we admonish them to turn from their evil ways and come again in purity to God our Father they may turn upon us and destroy us, but ultimately those who reject the requirements of true discipleship and are disciples in name only, ultimately are defeated and the faithful are rewarded. We have that assurance from God. Therefore, the kind of God we want is seen in the fact of whether or not we reject the disciplinary requirements as set in the church which is the Body of Christ.

Grace and Peace.
THINK ON THIS: Christianity is not a voice in the wilderness, but a life in the world.

NEWS FROM Congressman Bob Price 13th District, Texas

ENERGY INDEPENDENCE

We have already experienced some difficulties of over-dependence upon foreign energy sources. Yet, last winter's Arab oil embargo was not nearly as damaging as it might have been had it lasted longer or had we been more dependent. We should learn from that lesson and we should take steps quickly to promote domestic energy production sources which can be fully depended upon.

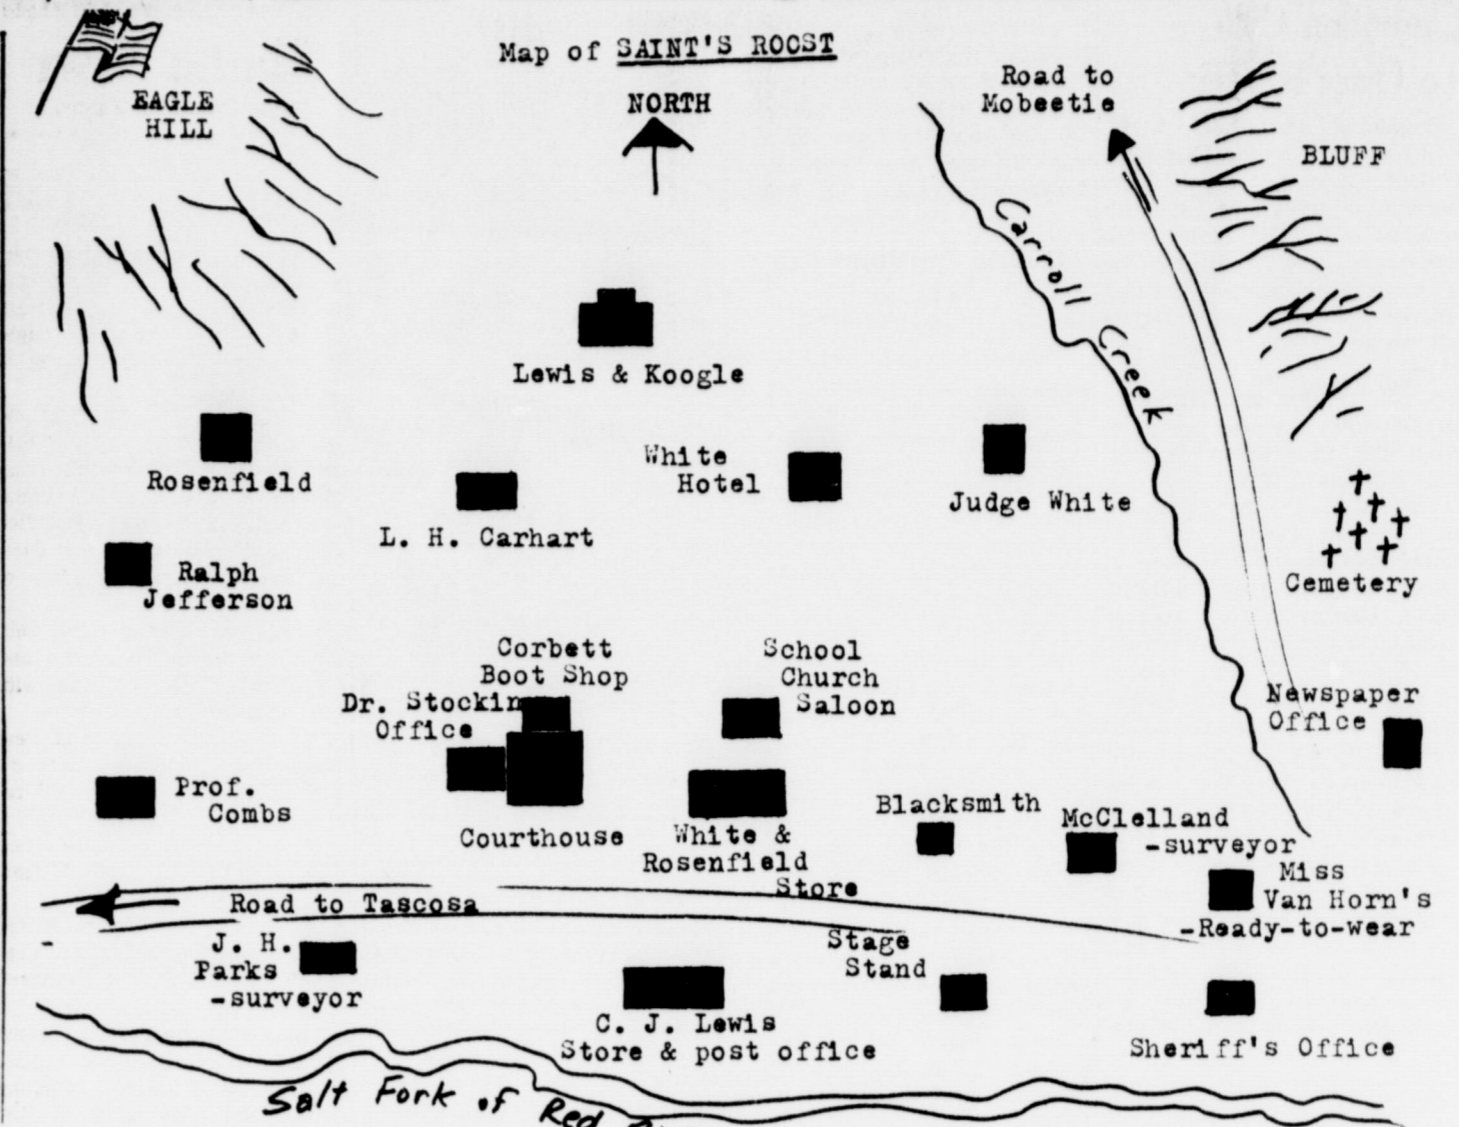

Earlier this year, a background paper on "Project Independence" was circulated which claimed that U. S. energy supply and demand could come into balance by 1980. If (1) the annual rate of growth in domestic supply could be increased to 4.7% from the existing 3%; and, (2) the annual growth rate of demand could be reduced from the current 3.6% to a rate of 2%.

Those numbers are easier to calculate than they are to attain.

The Energy Economics Division of Chase Manhattan Bank has projected growth in energy use and population indicating that by 1985 (only a little more than a decade in the future) the U. S. will need 30.2 million barrels of oil every day. Currently, our consumption is about 18 million barrels a day. While we were only about 20% dependent upon foreign oil in 1970, Chase Manhattan says that by 1985 we may not be able to provide even half of our petroleum needs from domestic sources, including Alaska. The bank's experts note that while U. S. industry spent $68 billion seeking new domestic oil production in the 15-year period 1965-1970, the industry will need about $140 billion for domestic exploration in the 1970-1985 period to meet growing demand. Yet, these economists can realistically see the availability of only about $85 billion in domestic exploration capital during that period — hence the growing dependency upon foreign sources. Chase Manhattan points out that if we are depending upon some 15 million barrels a day from foreign sources in 1985, those purchases will pose balance of payments deficit pressure upon our economy in the magnitude of $25 billion a year.

Clearly, it is vitally important that the U. S. strive to reach the highest possible level of energy self-sufficiency.

The Federal Energy Administration's "Project Independence" program is now seeking to coordinate plans for insuring as much self-sufficiency as possible and I am hopeful that a determined effort can somehow reverse the trend foreseen by the Chase Manhattan economists. This will not be easy. It will take the cooperation of every American; the finest traditional spirit of American free enterprise, and the best wisdom of those in the private sector who are experienced and knowledgeable about energy production.

In an effort to gain expertise, the FFA has now scheduled a series of nationwide hearings during August, September and October to gather facts to help determine a successful policy leading to energy self-sufficiency. Much of America's energy production expertise is in Texas and not a little of it is in the 13th Congressional District. The FEA hearings nearest to this area are scheduled for Aug. 6-9 in Denver, Colo., and Sept. 16-20 in Houston, Texas. I encourage anyone who can contribute to these hearings to make arrangements to present testimony by writing Delbert Fowler, Regional Federal Energy Administrator, Room 1700, 212 N. St. Paul St., Dallas, Texas, 75201.

AGRICULTURAL DISASTER aid is apparently going to be important this year for a number of farmers in the 13th District. Swisher County farmers recently received USDA approval for the Farmers Home Administration to take applications for 5% emergency loans due to drought and hail damage to crops. Certain other counties have applications for similar aid in various stages of consideration.

Farmers who feel they have suffered natural disaster should make application to their local FHA offices. Small disasters, covering fewer than 25 farmers, may be declared by the State FHA director upon the recommendation of an FHA supervisor. The local FHA supervisor must make his determination on the basis of inspection, so farmers should preserve the evidence of damage until after the survey is made. In cases involving more than 25 farmers, the local FHA supervisor makes his recommendation to the County Judge, who must certify the request and make a recommendation in turn to the Governor of the State. If the Governor agrees, he may request a disaster declaration from the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture who has the power to declare disasters involving larger numbers of farmers. Upon declaration, farmers will then be eligible to apply for the 5% FHA emergency loans.

ASCS runs a separate disaster program. Under this program, farmers suffering natural disaster contact their local ASCS office and an on-site inspection must be made by the County ASCS Committee. The Committee and the farmer determine the disaster payment based on estimated resulting yield as it differs from the farmers production history. Only eligible farmers with an ASCS history in feed grains, cotton or wheat programs may obtain this assistance. In the case of cotton, any catch crop may be planted and used for grazing, over or cash without affecting the determined payment. In the case of wheat and feed grains, however, the value of a cash crop produced on Farms obtaining disaster ASCS payments will result in a reduction of the disaster payments. Under this program, also, farmers must preserve the evidence of disaster after the inspection by the County Committee.

This field is new and expanding. At present, state flammability safety standards include children's sleepwear through size 6x and other flammable household products. Children's sleepwear through sizes 14 must be in compliance by May of 1975.

On the federal level, safety standards already have been developed for toys (electric, thermal, mechanical and those with sharp edges), fireworks, packaging of drugs and poisons, and old refrigerators.

Accent On Health

J. E. Peavy, M.D.,
Commissioner of Health

The age-old warning of "let the buyer beware" has a new ring when it comes to product safety, for now there are government agencies looking out for your best interest.

Emphasis was given consumer protection by the "torch sweater" incidents of the early fifties. These soft, furry-like sweaters literally exploded into flames at the drop of a cigarette ash.

Early-day flammability standards resulting from the sweater dangers have been expanded to include a growing number of articles and substances potentially dangerous to the consumer which are used in and around the home.

They may range from children's nightwear and toys to such things as carpets and rugs, stairs and landings, power tools, pool slides, aluminum wiring, baby beds, bicycles, kitchen ranges and tents used in camping. A growing list of these household or personal - use products are contained in present or future product standards.

The State Health Department is active in many areas of health and consumer protection, as well as health and safety of those involved in many occupations.

One of the biggest influences in the product safety area has been the general trend of consumer interest, says one State Health Department official. This has been reflected by action on both state and federal legislative levels.

It brought about creation of the Federal Product Safety Commission, which is concerned with almost all activities not covered by the Food and Drug Administration or other agencies. In Texas, it resulted in changes to the Hazardous Substances Act and doubtless will produce others as the state keeps pace with federal legislation.

At present four areas are covered in federal legislation by the Federal Product Safety Commission. These are:

1. Federal Hazardous Substance Act, including child protection and toy safety;
2. Flammable Fabric Act;
3. Poison Prevention Packaging Act; and
4. Refrigerator Door Entrapment Act.

The State Health Department's efforts in this field flow through the Product Safety Division, which is divided in two parts—Bedding Sanitation and Hazardous Products.
