Known as the Greenbelt Development Corp., the operation will be managed by Roy Gregg and is expected to employ 10 to 12 persons. Its capacity will be 6,000 head of cattle.
The new lot covers a 40 acre tract. Dirt work moved along at a fast pace the latter part of last week and concrete work was begun this past Sunday.

Motorcycle Races At Greenbelt Track Sun.

Motorcycle Races will take the spotlight with racing at Greenbelt Track south of Greenbelt Lake Sunday afternoon, February 3. Racing time is set at 2 p.m.
All classes will race with the special for the day being a Maxi-Max Race.

For an afternoon of top entertainment attend the Motorcycle races. You are sure to enjoy this challenging sport.

Hospital Board Hires Nursing Home Administrator

In a called executive meeting Tuesday night, the Hospital Board hired Steven L. White of Graham, Texas as Administrator of the Medical Center Nursing Home to fill the vacancy which was created recently.
Mr. White, who had previous experience at Van, Texas and presently employed at Garden Terrace Rest Home at Graham, will fill his duties here within the next few days. The salary set on a 90 day trial basis is $800 per month which we understand is a very reasonable salary for a person in this position and responsibility.
At any rate, the Nursing Home unit will be able to continue operation and it is the thoughts of the Board to take every action to also keep the Hospital Unit open if at all possible and it appears that Dr. R. L. Gilkey will cooperate with the board in this direction.

Work To Begin Soon On Expansion Of Security State Bank

Melvin Boothe, President of the Security State Bank at Hedley, announced this past week that work would begin soon on the remodeling and expansion of the housing facilities of the bank which in its entirety will double the size of the present floor space with newer and most modern facilities to serve the customers of the bank.
Several months ago, the bank made a trade with the Lions Club for the Lions Den north of the bank in exchange for another building of the same size at the north end of the block. Mr. Boothe agreed that the new Lions Hall would be completely remodeled with additional features over the present structure. This was quite agreeable with members as it would afford them a much better facility at the expense of the bank which was willing to take up the expense.

State Capitol Highlights and Sidelights

By BILL BOYKIN FROM YOUR

Interest in the Constitutional Convention is at a high level, according to Price Daniel Jr., presiding officer of the historic session.

Daniel pointed to a statewide poll showing a large majority favor constitutional revision now. A Common Cause poll indicated 67 per cent of a sampling of 370 Texans feel the constitution should be rewritten and 63 per cent think the legislature, sitting as a convention, will improve it.

The convention ended its third week ahead of a proposed 90-day schedule, Daniel calculated.

A $1.8 million budget was adopted, and a vote scheduled this week on the Bill of Rights witnesses and beginning to con- and Preamble — a week ahead of the proposed agenda for floor consideration of any committee reports.

Committees are plowing ahead with their schedules, hearing sider contents of their reports.

Daniel estimated 75 to 100 calls a day are being received on the convention's toll-free Wats line, offering suggestions and asking questions.

Concluded the presiding officer:

"Based on progress thus far, the increased public interest and participation and the continuing excellent attitude and spirit of cooperation among the delegates, I am more confident than ever that we will complete our deliberations within the 90 - day suggested period, that our end product will be a new constitution of which we can all be proud, and that the new constitution will be approved by the voters of this state."

OPINION REVERSAL URGED — Legislators who had a big hand in writing the new open records act told Atty. Gen. John Hill they had no intention of using it to close police arrest and offense records.

Hill took under advisement arguments of news media representatives and others protesting his recent opinions which held the records confidential.

Witnesses at a quasi-judicial hearing scheduled by Hill to discuss the hearing here noted that police records traditionally have been open to the press.

Daniel said the 1973 open records act contains a specific provision that no records regarded as open by agency policy at the time the law was passed will be closed by its terms.

The attorney general allowed 30 days for filing of additional briefs. He will then review — and possibly revise — the controversial opinion.

SPEED LIMIT RESULT IN DOUBT — It's too early to tell whether the new 55 mph speed limit will save lives or cause more accidents, according to Jim Arnold of the Office of Traffic Safety.

Arnold said it is possible motorists may get bored and negligent at the lower speed.

He said many drivers also will ignore the new limit, while others try hard to obey it, creating a difference in speeds which could be dangerous.

—Texas Democrats adopted delegate selection and party-participation plans to assure representation at the national Demo mini-convention in Kansas City, Mo., during December.

After weeks of controversy, the State Democratic Executive Committee, in effect, officially recognized that minorities (of at least 20 per cent) are entitled to proportional representation from the precinct conventions.

COURTS SPEAK — A three-judge federal court here held single-member House of Representatives districts must be provided for seven counties.

Counties are Jefferson, Tarrant, McLennan, Travis, Nueces, El Paso and Lubbock. Multi-member districts in Galveston and Hidalgo counties were not declared unconstitutional. Filing deadline for House candidates in the counties has been extended until February 18.

Texas Supreme Court held the city of Denton must pay damages to a woman whose home was flooded when a city employee left her faucets on.

The high court also upheld a Fort Worth intermediate court in a decision that a fired employee of a company must go through grievance committee proceedings before taking his complaint to court.

The Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed a 75 year prison sentence assessed an Odessa couple in the death of a man "picked up" by the woman, a prostitute.

The Third Court of Civil Appeals in effect held the act regulating coin operated machines unconstitutional.

An Austin district judge held the Railroad Commission has jurisdiction in a suit over diversion of 330 million cubic feet of gas from Lo-Vaca Gathering Company to North Texas distributors.

AG OPINIONS — In a new open records decision, Atty. Gen. John Hill held University of Texas correspondence on women faculty salaries is not a public record, but a computer print-out of UT salaries is.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

Persons under 16 can get marriage licenses only on legal waiver of the age requirement by a district court on proof of good cause.

There is no basis for testing constitutionality of a proposed surcharge on traffic fines to fund the state driver education program, since there is no legal authorization for it.

A respondent is not entitled to a jury in contempt proceedings brought under the uniform reciprocal enforcement of support act.

County courts have exclusive jurisdiction to try the offense of homicide by vehicle.

An appropriation to the Texas Water Rights Commission for allocations to Neches River Conservation District is valid. A state-chartered savings and loan association may designate or earmark all or any portion of its permanent reserve fund stock as a part of its federal insurance reserve account.

State Senator Max Sherman of Amarillo is shown here receiving a gavel from Constitutional Convention President Price Daniel, Jr., significant of his position as Chairman of the Committee on Style and Drafting for the Convention. Delegate Sherman was appointed by Daniel during the first week of the Convention to serve in the chairmanship position of the committee.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED — Ron Jackson was named director of Texas Youth Council.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe reappointed Frank Joseph of Harlingen to Texas Cosmetology Commission.

Richard Wayne Harrison was appointed assistant chief of the attorney general's tax division.

Richard C. Crandall of Amarillo will head the Highway Department materials and testing operations after A. W. Earman retires February 28.

Social Security

by Travis C. Briggs

Q—I've heard about automatic entitlement to Medicare. I was 65 two months ago, but I haven't received my card. Why?

A—You must first establish your entitlement to Social Security and/or Hospital Insurance benefits before Medicare enrollment becomes automatic. Contact your local Social Security Office immediately to file your claim.

Q—I am almost age 62 and am undecided about retirement. If I "get tired" of retirement and return to work, may I stop my social security payments?

A—Yes, you may stop and start your payments as often as necessary. You may report by telephone when you start or stop working and payments will be adjusted accordingly.

Q—How does a blind person qualify for payment?

A—Blind persons who have little or no regular cash income and who do not own much in the way of property or other things that can be turned into cash, such as stocks, bonds, jewelry, or other valuables, should contact their nearest social security office and apply for payment.

Q—How much is the payment amount to a blind person and how often is he paid?

A—The maximum monthly payment amount for an individual meeting certain requirements is $140 and for a couple the maximum monthly payment amount is $210. Payments are made to all eligible individuals once a month.

Q—When were the first payments under this new program made?

A—Federal Supplemental Security payments started in January, 1974.

Revolutionist

By Lawrence Thompson, Pastor United Pentecostal Church

Definition — Revolutionist is to make a drastic change.

Acts 17: part verse 6 and 7. "These that have turned the world upside down are come hither also, saying that there is another king, one Jesus."

It is time for us as children of God to be revolutionists.

It is time for all of Jesus' people to step out and proclaim the Truth. At one time the Aposles were put into the common prison because of teaching in the name of Jesus. The Lord delivered them out of prison and they went right back to proclaiming Jesus.

They were brought before the counsel and were told (Acts 5:28) "Did not we straitly command you that ye should not teach in this name and, ye have filled Jerusalem with your doctrine, and intend to bring this man's blood upon us."

The people were stirred because some got revolutionized for Jesus — in other words, John the Baptist said, (speaking of Jesus) "He shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost and with Fire. Acts 1:8 "Ye shall be witnesses." Let us all be a Revolutionist for Jesus and turn this world upside down. With this baptism we can — no doubt about it — we can turn this world upside down.

Edna Gladney Home Facilities Expanded

What effect has legalized abortion had on one of the nation's oldest and largest maternity homes and adoption agencies?

Mrs. Ruby Lee Piester, executive director of The Edna Gladney Home, Fort Worth, Texas, reports on the first anniversary of the Supreme Court's decision to legalize abortion that the effect had been minimal.

Many maternity homes and adoption agencies throughout the nation either closed their doors or moved into other work areas, but the board of The Edna Gladney Home was convinced that the need for the Home's services would continue to exist.

The first anniversary of the legalization of abortion fell in the same week Gladney was observing the seventieth anniversary of its state charter.

Mrs. Piester in the 11 years she has served as executive director of the Home has worked with thousands of unwed mothers, and knew that where one might choose abortion, there would be dozens who would never consider it.

It was this background that prompted Gladney to expand both its services and facilities to meet a need that was sure to continue. The closing of many homes resulted in an even heavier load for Gladney. With present facilities, the Home can comfortably accommodate 100 residents, but in the past year the number has often increased above that.

"The public often does not understand the plight of the unwed mother until there is a direct involvement with the problem. Many of the girls who come here are from homes where unwed pregnancy is never considered until it happens. It is our responsibility at Gladney to help these girls return to normal lives, and to find good homes for their infants if they choose to place them for adoption," she added.

During the stay at Gladney, girls have the counsel of case-workers a chaplain, a psychologist and a psychiatrist. Those still in public schools can continue their education while in residence. Gladney has its own private hospital that provides outstanding medical service and confidentiality. Younger residents live in a large dormitory and older girls have their own apartments on the Gladney campus. "It provides a home-campus atmosphere that makes the time in residence pleasant for the girls," Mrs. Piester commented.

With new restrictions on child placing resulting from new laws, especially the part that became effective on January 1, 1974, Gladney has received an increase of referrals from attorneys and doctors.

The Edna Gladney Home originally the Texas Children's Home and Aid Society, received its State Charter in 1904. Since the inception of the licensing laws, Gladney has been licensed for child placing by the State Department of Public Welfare, and maternity and hospital care by the State Department of Public Health.

Children Work On Bicentennial Posters

More than 150 posters were contributed and well over 100 children converged at the downtown flag workshop to draw posters and share ideas. Many children, after handing in one poster, immediately returned to their tables to draw another to enter in the Bicentennial Contest.

If you have not yet submitted your poster, today is the last day (January 31). Judging will be next week. Judges are two students from Clarendon High School, one from Hedley school, and three from Clarendon College.

The winner of the contest will be announced during the ceremony at which time Donley County will be presented its National Bicentennial Flag. The announcement is expected before the end of the month.

Ages of children participating in the workshop ranged from four years to 12 years. Besides parents, adults aiding the children with their posters were Norma Selvidge, Pam Gattis, Richard Allen, Kay Hayes, and Virginia Browder.

Don Hardy & Funny Cars Big Business

Don Hardy of Floydada, husband of the former Sue McCord of Clarendon, is engaged in a very successful business. He builds "Funny Cars," not for laughs but because drag strip demons are among the most popular racing machines on asphalt runways today.

The name of Don's company is Don Hardy Racing Cars and Equipment, Floydada, Texas. In the beginning Don was a repairman, however he became fascinated with the atmosphere associated with the world of Drag Racing and his hobby soon became a profitable business.

These cars were so named "funny cars" because of their appearance when they first hit the drag strips in about 1964 in Detroit. Today they are featured attractions of most drag racing events.

Two factors are basically involved in the success of these machines. First they are outfitted around the chassis on compact cars though modified. Second due to their performance they are exciting to watch.

Hardy was formerly a national drag racing champion. In 1967 he built only two cars. In 1968 production had increased to 10, in 1971 to 20, and it has continued to increase in the years since. His clientele represents well-known champion drivers in both the American Hot Rod Association and the National Hot Rod Association.

The two classes of funny cars are A-class and AA-class with the basic difference being the engine. The average funny car built by Hardy, ready for the track costs the customer in the neighborhood of $13,000. Hardy's work is limited to frame and body work with the owner supplying the engine. Weight varies between 1,700 and 1,800 pounds. The supercharged engine packs 1,500 hp with a two-speed transmission. A speed of 221 mph may be attained in a quarter mile in 6.60 seconds.

Cars are equipped with six gallon tanks burning about four and a half gallons per mile while racing. A mixture of nitro-methane is used as fuel and costs about $7 per gallon.

Hardy keeps enough spare parts in inventory to build a funny car at any time, a job requiring usually around three weeks. The fiberglass body weighs only 100 lbs. Some 40 lbs of aluminum and magnesium are used by Hardy in building the interior. The tubular frames are made of no. 4130 chrome alloy, three times stronger than regular steel tubing and much lighter. This type is used on many aircraft.

Construction begins with the front section of the frame, next the rear axles and under-body

The Path Of Life

By: Weldon Rives, Pastor
First United Methodist Church

Psalm 16-11 - "Thou wilt show me the path of life . . ."

Have you ever been in a strange place and become "turned around?" In such a state no point on the compass appears to be correct. If you seek to follow your instinct you become lost and possibly endanger your safety. In talking to a member of a church I formerly pastored, he told me of his experience in learning to fly on instruments. He said that you wear a blinder which makes it impossible to see anything other than the plane's instruments. The sensation you get at times tells you that there is just no way you can be in the position that the instruments tell you that you are flying. However, if you are to achieve your goal you must believe in and accept the reading of the instruments or else "you are in a heap of trouble!" If you are lost in a city you can always turn to a stranger for directions. If flying on airplane you have instruments to guide you when you cannot see.

In life amid all the conflicts, doubts and uncertainties which not only perplex and annoy us but threaten at times to overwhelm us, we can find comfort in the knowledge that out of this darkness and confusion like a flash of lightning at midnight comes the cry of triumphant faith "Thou wilt show me the path of life." God beckons us to the high road of eternal life and joy, while the trivial, the unworthy tempt us to the downward path. Therefore, we can triumphantly cry with the Psalmist (23:4) "though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for THOU art with me, thy rod and thy staff they comfort me." Again, we can say with Paul (II Timothy 1:12) "I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day."

Yes, God comes to us in Christ Jesus to show us "the path of life." Let us be eager to follow HIM!

Grace and peace in Christ Jesus
THINK ON THIS: It is God's world; trust in his love and power.
