Coach Jerry Wilson's Broncho team with assistants Billy Crocket, Doug Keeney and Jack Hall will journey to Silverton Friday night looking for their third district win. Bronchos stand 2-0 in district play and 4-1-1 for the

The Owls of Silverton only welcomed back five lettermen this year, however, all five were two way starters for the Red and White Owls last fall. The Owls main problem this fall was putting together a competitive backfield. Only Brent Bean (5-7,140, soph.) returns from last year's Tommy Lacy (6-0, 180, soph.) has been a big boost in that department. Tommy handles the fullback duties.

Brent Blannon (5-8, 140, fresh.) and David Strange (5-8, 150, soph.) will be handling the quarterbacking

Donley County Okays Budget

A routine budget of some $289,658.97 for the 1975-76 year was approved by the Donley County Commissioners Court at their regular October session Monday.

County Judge W.R. Crystal said the budget will barely cover essential items with no provisions made for anything other than routine expenditures.

Although the county expects to have funds available of some $296,240.44, all of those funds will not be available to pay expenses that occur from the general

Judge Crystal explained that the $1.39 county tax rate is broken down into 95 cents for an ad valorem tax, another 30 cents for a special fund and 14 cents for the unlimited tay and road fund

This means that some funds can only be used for specific purposes and even though a surplus may develop in that fund, the county cannot touch it for even routine general purposes. This provision for operat ing county governments has been long established by state law and in practice has proved to be a hamstring for commissioners courts trying to unravel complicated bud-

Donley County's budget is based on assessed values of $10,528,669 with a property levy expected to be $140,164 with the tax rate of $1.39 per $100 valuation

On the bright side of the picture, Donley County has only $45,000 in outstanding bonds with less than $4,000 in time warrants. This indebtedness should be erased in just a few years, Judge Crystal said

In the meantime, the county accepted the new Courthouse Annex with the provision that minor work be done before final approval. County officials expect to move into the annex in November and have an open house to allow Donley County residents to see the new facilities.

The new Annex, located on the south side of the 85-yearold courthouse, has been constructed by High Plains Builders of Amarillo at a cost of some $198,000.

The building is being paid for with federal revenue sharing funds so none of the costs will have to come out of county taxes. Last year the county received $49,055 in federal funds with an additional $12,595 received in the past few days.

What will be done with the old courthouse, erected here in 1890, is still open to question. Thanks to a fairly recent state law regarding the preservation of historical landmarks, the county cannot remodel the courthouse nor raze it and replace it with a new building.

Without otherwise getting permission from the Texas Historical Commission, all the county could do would be to restore the courthouse. Right now, Judge Crystal says the court simply does not know what it will do.

Meanwhile in other action the Court entered into a contract with Tower Service Co.

of Amarillo to service the radio tower for the local community. The cost of the contract is $174 annually with the city paying half of the Excerpts from the Arthritis Foundation Newspetter.

(1) The Arthritis Foundation will be watching closely to see if recent findings concerning a claim by a London physician - that he had found a cure and cause for rheumatoid arthritis have any valid repercussions. To quote the Foundation: "We will be watching closely to see if these findings can be reproduced by another physician in another location.

(2) "Laura Campbell, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tharon Campbell of Levelland, was named Poster Girl of the 89-county of the West Texas Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation at its Summer Meeting of the Board of Directors held in El Paso." (Laura has juvenile rheumatoid arthritis, but is no longer confined to a wheelchair, and her treatment consists of rest, aspirin and daily swims in the heated pool at South Plains College. She leads a normal life, but she must avoid very strenuous exercise. Her entire family is keeping a positive attitude toward Laura's illness; she has been a good example for all arthritis patients.)

(3) "Brighter Outlook Now for Juvenile Arthritis" --250,000 American children are victims of juvenile rheumatoid arthritis (JRA). The disease prevented some of these children from ever getting to school this September, and those who did get there took the problems of arthritis with

In addition to pain and deformity of the joints, JRA can threaten a child's vision, neart, liver and other organs. Twenty years ago, physicians could do comparatively little for children afflicted with arthritis. It was estimated that 2-4% would die. 1/3 would become seriously deformed, and the Foundation was chosen as rest would have frequent attacks of swelling and pain all their lives. Today, the outlook is much brighter. With proper medical care JRA can be controlled and usually recedes by puberty in 70% of its Medical care must begin promptly for maximum effect. JRA can begin suddenly or quietly, mas-querading as mild discomfort Symptoms include high fever, rash, or pain or tenderness in any joint. Since JRA symptoms often mimic other childhood diseases, parents should be alert to the first signs and seek professional without delay.

In addition to treating the disease, the physician will want to supervise the child's general health and nutrition, because arthritis can affect growth and development. Emotional and family prob-lems, for which the physician may recommend counseling, also can occur.

Most important is that the family help the child follow the physician's precribed regimen, which typically includes medication, rest and special exercises. Children whose parents are supportive of this program while helping them live as normally as possible, fare better than those whose parents are either overwhelmed by the disease or minimize its presence.

While juvenile reheumatoid arthritis now is a treatable disease from which most escape with little or no permanent disability, researchers are now working on the next step--finding the cause of the disease in order to prevent it. Considerable work toward this end is being supported by the Arthritis Foundation. For further information, ping into tools, ancient man began digging shallow pits in the hills along the Canadian to reach choice layers of the rock. As demand for Alibates flint increased, quarrying on the pock-marked hills became a veritable industry, one of the first in the New World.

The quarries also figured in the earliest American commerce. Bands of hunters with access to the flint began trading it for items they wanted from other groups. The trading network eventually spread Alibates flint across much of the continent.

The quarries acquired another kind of value in the history. In 1965, Congress containing many of the quarries, as a national monument. To the dismay of many Panhandle citizens who had high expectations for the monument, the designation ly. was about all that the federal government did for the site. A ceiling of $260,000 was federal attention on Alibates placed on expenditures for facilities, but after a decade, only a fraction of that modest sum has been spent, primarily for a dirt road and a temporary ranger station. Even with a guide, many people are disappointed by a visit to the national monument. Advocates of further development for Alibates contend that an information center and museum, with exhibits concerning ancient man and displays of artifacts made from the flint, are necessary to make a visit to the quarries meaningful. With such facilities and improved roads and parking areas, Alibates could be the greatest attraction in the Panhandle, members of the Amarillo Board of Convention and Visitors Activities have suggested.

Board members, convinced that the Panhandle cannot wait another ten years for action on the Alibates problem, are trying to persuade the federal government to undertake immediate development of the monument. They recommend a $2.5 million program that would include:

-Construction of a visitors center, museum, roads and parking areas to make the monument more accessivle and more understandable.

-Construction of a park ranger residence on the monument grounds to increase protection of the site.

-Expansion of the monument boundaries to incorporate more quarry sites and ruins of prehistoric Indian villages that are not now part of the national monument.

-Revision of the official name of the area to "Alibates National Monument."

The actions the BCVA recommends will require federal legislation to remove restrictions placed on the monument in 1965 and to appropriate funds for future de-

STAR-SPANGLED HISTORY HISTORICAL DRAWINGS BY JOSEPH BOGGS BEAL E (1841-1998)

"SYMBOL OF FREEDOM"

The American flag, with its triumphant heraldry of stars and stripes symbolizing unity and growth, appears repeatedly throughout the works of Joseph Boggs Beale, the nineteenth century illustrator. The eagle represents the power and strength that has made our country the great nation it is today. Writers and artists of Beale's day saw the American past as an exciting and splendid adventure of individuals fighting courageously for freedom. These values, and the individuals who fought for them, are present in the images featured in the "Star-Spangled History" series. From the collection of American National Insurance Company, Galveston, Texas.

Bronc Buster

By Liz Bromley

Homecoming has come and gone, leaving everyone with a feeling of a job done well. The seniors outsold last year's seniors on mum orders and the dance was a success. The football boys tromped all over the McLean Tigers 31 to 10. The victorious Bronchos then celebrated with well-earned zest at the Homecoming dance. The band sparkled all red, white and wow at the half-time with their bicentennial theme. All of these were the results of hard labor.

Friday was a busy day. Seniors delivering mums, the football boys "being serious" and thinking about the game. The cheerleaders were yelling and getting the spirit up. The band was practicing marching. The twirlers were preparing for their fire baton routine.

1975 Homecoming brought us a new football queen and her attendants. Jan Barbee, a senior cheerleader, is our new queen. Mona Robinson, also a senior cheerleader and Karen Burgess, senior head twirler are Jan's attendants. Congratulations!

Bronchos Shine On. 31-10 Over McLean

The Clarendon Broncs hosted the hard-hitting Tigers of McLean last Friday night handing them a 31-10 defeat. Clarendon now stands 2-0 in district play and 4-1-1 for the season.

Broncho defense was highly effective once again as they held the Tiger attack repeatedly. The Maroon and White offensive unit showed a sturdy performance with four touchdown plays.

Early in first quarter action Gary Jack kicked a 24 yard field goal, chalking up three points for the Brones. Later, action again picked up when Larry Shields made a concrete 5 yard run for the first touchdown of the game. Barry Shaffee added the extra points making the first quarter score 10-3.

Second quarter action brought fine offensive performances out of both teams, however, the Broncs defensive unit successfully held the Tigers to only a field goal while the Clarendon scoring attack came through once again when quarterback Gary Jack connected with end Walter Riggs for a fine 5 yard touchdown run. Shaffer again toed the extra points making the half time score read 17-3.

McLean intercepted a Broncho pass and ran it back 16 yards for the tally. The 2 point conversion made the third quarter score 17-10.

Early in the fourth quarter the Broncs cranked up a drive which resulted in a superb touchdown run by sophomore, Howard Weatherton, adding 6 points to the 17-3 lead. Jack added the extra point making the score 24-10. With 2:58 seconds left to play John Hall was spotlighted on a one yard touchdown plunge followed by the extra points by Shaffer rounding out the scoring for the night at 31-10.

In a post game interview earlier this week Coach Wilson had this to say about the game, "I don't feel like we've reached our potential yet, but I was real pleased with our defensive unit on holding McLean's offensive attack time after time. I was kinda disappointed in our offensive, we've got to be more consistent if we expect

Wilson cited Daryl Rives, Mark Booth, Paul Hermesmeyer and Ricky Mooring as the outstanding defensive gridders of the battle and

Howard Weatherton along with Larry Shields on their superb offensive efforts. Shields rushed for a total of 135 yards in 15 carries, and average of 9 yards per carry.

The Bronchos next outing will be Friday night when they travel to Silverton to tangle with the Owls. Game time 7:30.

Colts Tame Tigers

The 8th grade Colts upped their seasons record last Thursday evening at Broncho stadium when they downed the McLean Tigers 12-6.

In first quarter action Jeff Topper got things off to a good start with a 45 yard touchdown run. Extra point was no good leaving the first quarter score 6-0. McLeans tally came in the second quarter making the half time score 6-6. The strong defensive units dominated the third quarter totally and almost all of the fourth quarter. However, Topper was again spotlighted with only 19 seconds left in the game when he plunged over the strope making the final score of the night read 12-6. Extra point attempt failed. Even though the Colts came out on top, Coach Bromley had this to say, "We didn't play real good I thought and we're going to do better next Thursday I'm sure." Bromley cited Jeff Topper and Terry Putman for their outstanding efforts on offense along with the fine performance of Dean Hawkins. Defensive standouts consist of Bill Cornell, John Nichols, Dean Hawkins, Jeff Topper and Mark Jack.

The Colts next outing will be tonight when they clash with the Owls of Silverton at home. Game time 6:00.

The 7th grade Colts lost a tough fought battle to the large Childress gridders 30-6, last Thursday making their season record 1-3-1. The Colts only tally came in the last quarter with a 5 yard run by Michael McGowen. Extra point

Religious Thoughts By DR. JAMES BRANDON

THE CHURCH'S PLACE IN TODAY'S MORAL CRISIS

What is the church's place in the moral crisis of our land? It may surprise some to realize that the church does have a place and that it is the church's business when people miss the mark God has set for their lives. The church must life up a standard of right and hope and denounce sin and wrong wherever she finds it.

What can the church do to help remedy the moral crisis which our nation is passing through? Everyone realizes that something is wrong in the land. Wickedness, like a cancer, has eaten out the heart of our nation. Our FBI chief tells us that our streets and highways are not safe and that we have less security in our homes than we have had in the history of our nation. Our nation's Pledge of Alligence echos: "One nation under God...with liberty, justice, and truth." All heartily agree that we have not lived as near our God as we should have. Let us return to Him.

The church's responsibility is and has always been a spiritual one; yet spiritual to such a degree that it permeates every fiber of society causing individuals to act rightly, justly, and unselfishly. If the church is to do this, however, there are some things that are necessary for her to do. If we are to influence our land, emphasis must be placed upon the central theme of original Christianity.

The central emphasis of original Christianity was God's redemptive purpose for men as revealed in the Bible. God says that something is wrong with all men(Rom. 3:23.) No man can be good and do right just because he is supposed to. He must be redeemed. His nature is depraved. He does wrong easier than he does right. God must intervene in the life of every individual. The Bible calls this conversion, or spiritual birth. Men need to be saved-saved from themselves and from the stigma of sin in their own lives. This was the reason Jesus Christ established the church; therefore, this is the church's business -- to call on men to repent of their sins, wrong, and ask God's forgiveness. This was the first sermon Jesus Christ preached: "From that time Jesus began to preach, and to say, Repent: for the kingdom of heaven is at hand" (Matt. 4:17.) We would do well to follow His example.

God's redemptive purpose in original Christianity was inclusive of all of life. it isn't just a day on which men go to church. Salvation is a personal experience with God that changes the entire life of a man. It affects his personality for the good. It changes his life. The Apostle Paul said: 'Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things are passed away, behold, all things are become new" (II Corinthians 5:17.) Original Christianity emphasized the necessity of a changed life, a new nature, which affects everything a person does, thinks, and is.

The central emphasis of original Christianity was God's self-disclosure of Himself in His Son Jesus Christ. Jesus said, 'For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost" (Luke 19:10.) At his trial Jesus said, "To this end was I born, and for this cause came I into the world that I should bear witness unto the truth" (John 18:37.) The Lord of the church has not changed His mandate nor His purpose for the church's existence. We are in the redemptive business.

Original Christianity emphasized the crucifixion (death) and resurrection of Christ. Through His sacrificial death on the cross and a man's response to Him in love, a person could become a different individual. Thus the Bible ever lifts up hope for all persons. It matters not what we have done, how off base a person is, nor how wrong a person has become; if that person will turn in faith and trust to God in Christ, original Christianity said that he could become a redeemed person -- a child of God.

This is the message of the church. Our business is redemptive, and when we do our job, men can reach out in hope and find a solid foundation on which to walk, live, and die. Jesus Christ said, "And I, if I be lifted up...will draw all men unto me" (John 12:32.) Let us lift Him up. Let today's church tell men what the Apostle Peter told that pagan world of the New Testament era: "Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved" (Acts 4:12.)

To say the least, to put it mildly, or that it goes without saying Uncle Zeb is sort of excited... His big moment has arrived, and I truly hope that many of you our readers will enjoy it too... Our book called; "UNCLE ZEB'S MEMORIES" has arrived from the printer... It is all that we expected. It is only 32 pages, but 32 pages costs a lot to print these days with the new prices. Uncle Zeb has about half the pages stuffed full of the very best that he could do. Then, for the first time in any book we have written we delved into the personal life of my wife and I for some things that meant a lot to us over the years... In the last few weeks of her life I wanted to share some of the things that meant so much to us....

Anyway, both Uncle Zeb and my inner self hope you will want a copy. If for any reason you don't like it you can return it...For one dollar and if you will send a little postage we will mail you a copy. You can't buy much for DOLLAR these days but Uncle Zeb and I have done our best. Both of our hearts are in this little book...

Miss Maurine Seale, a dear pen-friend for more than 20 years sent us enough good material to keep us in business... She is badly crippled, but is busier than any cranberry merchant... Foxworth Galbraith

Has Birthday

Observance of the 75th year at Foxworth-Galbraith is drawing to a close. Lloyd McCord, manager here in Clarendon, comments "It is sort of like an important personal birthday because you hate to see it pass."

The lumber yard estab-lished in Stratford, Texas, in 1901 was the forerunner of today's Foxworth-Galbraith Building Materials Centers now serving a 4-state area. The recently published company brochure points out that lumber deliveries in those days were either in ox-drawn or mule-drawn

Today's employees of Foxworth-Galbraith call themselves "people-helpers" and that seems to be a large part of their success story. Lloyd McCord notes 'the customer demand during the first oil boom created the initial surge of expansion for the company, and we have stayed to serve those and other communities with building materials."
"We opened a yard in Arizona as early as 1919," says Lloyd McCord.

Currently there are over 50 Foxworth-Galbraith Building Materials Centers from East Texas to California and their 75th anniversary celebration will soon be concluded. Special merchandise features continue at present, and copies of the company pictorial brochure "The 75th Year" are still available at the local store. "Anniversaries quickly" says Lloyd McCord, so we'll just start working on the next 75 years."

from Congressman Jack Hightower

PRESIDENT'S TAX/SPENDING REDUC-TION PROPOSALS - President Ford surprised the American public and many of his closest advisers with his proposed $28 billion tax reduction program. Although it had been an open secret for weeks that he would ask for an extension of the tax cuts enacted last spring, only a few top officials had expected the request for such a dramatic increase.

I commend the President's intent. Each of us would like to keep more of our earnings rather than carry the present tax burden. However, the President gave us the recipe for only half a loaf. In this instance half a loaf could be worse than no loaf at all. The reality is that a tax cut at our present levels of spending could create economic disaster. Although the President suggested specific areas in which tax cuts could be made, he did not suggest specific spending programs that could be reduced. It would have been politically unpopular to do so, and it is also an extremely difficult

The President did say the Congress and the Administration must work together to reduce spending. I agree. I will support these efforts. He also said much of the increase in each year's federal budget can be attributed to programs aheady on the statute books. These programs must be examined closely, and time is very short if we are to enact tax cuts to become effective next January.

I hope the President will soon offer specific sugges-Waldrop of Clarendon and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lester of tions concerning how the national hudget can be reduced Phoenix, Ariz. The great and the national debt dimingrandmothers are Blanche ished. Higgins of Clarendon, and I believe the compromise bill provides important first steps toward assuring accountability by the EPA.

The bill states that the EPA must give the Department of Agriculture a chance to comment on any proposed agency regulations that would affect agriculture, as well as to notify the Agriculture Committees in the House and Senate of any proposed regulations. Equally important, the EPA is directed to provide an economic impact statement, which would apply a dollar and cents measurement to its regulations.

GRAIN STANDARDS ACT - Recent indictments of individuals for illegal grain inspection practices in New Orleans and other ports have raised loud cries for federal or state operation of the inspection program. I think that the majority of the American public knows that government involvement is not necessarily the best way to solve a problem. In fact, government attempts to solve relatively isolated problems caused by a small minority frequently make operations for the majority of honest businessmen ever more burdensome

The House Agriculture Committee, of which I am a member, has just completed an extensive schedule of hearings concerning the scope of the grain inspection problem and will shortly be fashioning a bill to deal with irregularities that have been

When the committee actually begins to draft the bill's language I will support strengthening criminal penalties in the present Grain Standards Act, as well as several other minor changes. I will do whatever I can to assure that government involvement is held to an absolute minimum.

The Duplicate Bridge Club met at the club last Monday for luncheon and cards. Maxine Hardin was hostess and the high point players were Peggy Minkley and Polly Sarich in that order.

Between forty and fifty Schriners and prospective Shrine club members enjoy-ed dinner at the club last Tuesday evening. The program was along organizational Wednesday was "Family Night." About twenty five were on hand for the buffet and games. Several other local meetings were in conflict but such will not be the case every month. Our members will get back into the habit of attending Family Night this winter, so make it one of your club nights beginning in November.

Thursday noon, Ella Hill prepared a delicious Mexican Buffet for the Ladies Golf Association. This was followed by Play Day in which the gals take quite a lot of interest, especially in who can score the best.

Don't forget the Halloween Party October 25, from eight until twelve. It will be a "Poor Boy Party" and no admission will be charged. Instead of having a big band we will have records from the "Big Band Era" and plenty of popcorn. The club will be decorated and you may wear a costume if you like. Prizes will be awarded. If anybody wants to donate a pumpkin or two for carving and center pieces, just call Dianne Chamberlain. This is gonna be fun so get your party together.

All members now hear this! Mark your calendar for Thursday October 23, at 7:30 p.m. The club needs your support. The FHA officer from the state office at Temple, Texas will meet with us to help us work out our future club operational plans. The more members we have on hand for this the better off we will be, so pass the word around and be Junior Girl Scout Troop 62 began working on their first badge of the year by having a cookout. The Jeff Walker's backyard provided plenty of space for the 4th and 5th grade girls. The girls roasted hot dogs on a stick and warmed chili over a charcoal fire. Newly learned first aid treatment was practiced on leader Mrs. Darlene Spier's burned finger - an unplanned event. Under the guidance of Mesdames Joy Martin, Diane Chamberlain, and Darlene Spier, the troop is looking forward to more successful outings during the fall season.

It's Against the Law . . . !

City ordinances written, approved and entered in the city record books may be out of date in some instances but they are still valid and can be enforced.

Article 110 of the Fire Ordinance for the city of Clarendon states; In case of fire it is lawful and herby the duty of any and all persons to sound the fire alarm, by the continous and rapid ringing of the bell provided for that purpose. Today Clarendon has fire alarms placed about the city to alert the citizenry and the bell that activates them is the telephone call to the fire station.

An entry dated May 11, 1908 defined a vagrant; 1. No means of support. 2. No local habitation. 3. Tells fortunes or exhibits tricks not licensed by law. 4. A common prostitute 5. Professional gambler. 6. Begger not afflicted or disabled by a physical malady for misfortune. 7. Drunkard, being a married man, who abandons neglects or refuses to aid and support his family. The fine for this offense was $25. This seems a fair assessment of vagrancy in 1975.

In 1908 regarding vehicle repairers an ordinance said: It is unlawful for a blacksmith or repairer of buggies or automobiles to repair such buggy and automobile in a street or alley. The fine for violation was not to exceed $50. Buggies do not pose a problem any more which may account for the more liberal attide concerning the automobile. If any person longs for the good old days when there was no dog tax he could be older than he thinks. A dog ordinance was passed in 1901. $1 tax to be levied on all dogs owned by residents of Clarendon and to be levied and collected on all dogs brought in and kept longer than three days.

Since 1908 it has been illegal to use or shoot rubber slings or air rifles in the city limits. The fine is $25, and if the art of using rubber slings is a thing of the past that of the air rifle is not.

Just plain good manners would seem to keep most persons law abiding in this instance. It is unlawful to spit or expectorate upon walls of buildings, sidewalks, floors of the depot, postoffice, store, hotel, inn, workshop or business building. A fine for non compliance was not less than $5 nor more than $10.

A fine of $25 may be levied against anyone who rides a bicycle on or across a sidewalk. This has been in effect since 1908. There were more buggies and fewer bicycles around in that year. Agility could have been a threat to law and order in 1908. Any person guilty of jumping on or off any moving train or moving cars in the city limits could be fined $25. This was excluding passengers or employees of companies operating such

Most of the ordinances enacted just after the turn of the century had to do with the control of animals or sanitation. The men who wrote them represented the responsible members of the city government and most of the laws are applicable today, for the protection of the citizens of Clarendon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bronnie McNabb, formerly of San Antonio, are being transferred to Dallas. Mrs. McNabb is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Simmons. Mr. McNabb is a senior assistant bank examiner with the State Banking Commission.

Ralph McGarity of Clarendon is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Owen McGarity of Clarendon and is a Clarendon High School senior.
