Celebration Festivities Begin Here Today

Damage From Hail And Heavy Rain Counted In Thousands Of Dollars

Heavy deluges of rain and hail last week brought damage to crops, homes, business buildings and autos which is expected to run in the thousands of dollars.

The heavy hail followed a deluge of rain at about 11 o'clock Friday night. The hail was hard and ranged from pea size to golf ball size. Numerous window lights were broken in the east part of town and roof damage was high all over town.

The hail storm cut a swath about a mile wide and several miles long from the Jo McMurtry place southwest of Clarendon beyond the H. L. Riley farm to the northeast of town. Crop damage was heavy or completely wiped out. Damage to trees, flowers, and gardens was heavy. Other areas received heavy rain damage to newly planted fields and young crops.

Due to the wide scope of damage claims, General Adjustment Bureau has set up offices in the Donley Hotel and has a number of adjusters here to handle claims for both Knorrp Insurance Agency and E. O. Simmons Insurance Agency.

The moisture total for June has climbed to 7.42 inches and a total of 11.24 for the year. Our official weather observer measured 1.26 Thursday night and 2.67 Friday night. An unofficial 4.25 inches was measured on the College hill Friday night. The highest temperature for the month so far was 96 degrees on the 3rd and the 24th. 55 degrees was the low night reading on the 11th and the lowest high reading was 77 degrees.

BIBLE SCHOOL SET FOR CHURCH OF NAZARENE

The Church of Nazarene, 3rd and Hanley, will hold a vacation Bible school starting July 5th and continuing through July 9th. Meetings will be held each day from 3 to 5:30 p.m. Age groups will range from kindergarten through Junior High. Mrs. Jack Leeper will be in charge.

This Is Your Annual Celebration Edition

Clarendon business firms are extending a warm and hearty welcome to one and all to come to the annual Celebration, as evidenced by the large number of ads in this issue of the Leader. Turn through your paper and read the words of welcome from your local merchants and make plans to be present for every event.

As always, it has been a pleasure to print this larger issue of the Leader. We especially want to thank the merchants for turning in their ad copy and those turning in news copy early to make this publication possible.

We hope this will be the biggest and best celebration ever held for each and every one of you.

Most Stores Plan To Close Saturday

In answer to a request from the Outdoor Entertainment Association, a majority of local business firms will close Saturday, July 3rd in order that employees as well as employers may help and take part in the annual Celebration.

Be sure to do your shopping early, today or tomorrow so no one will be inconvenienced by this special closing date.

ODD FELLOWS TO SERVE BREAKFAST FRIDAY AND SATURDAY A.M.

The Odd Fellows Lodge will serve breakfast at the Lodge Hall to the South end of Main Street Friday and Saturday mornings. Leo Snoddy, Noble Grand, stated that serving time will be from 8:30 to around 9 a.m. Price will be 75c so make your plans to be at the Odd Fellow Lodge Hall Friday and Saturday mornings.

Leader local rate $3.50

Here's the makings for the big Free Barbecue July 3rd. Joe Mercer, left, operator of Clarendon Meat Co. and Bill Todd, secretary of the Outdoor Entertainment Association are shown here with a part of the 5,300 pounds of locally raised beef donated by ranchers and individuals for the big feast.

Old Timers To Meet July 3rd At 8:30 a.m.

Old Timers will register at the Mulkey Theatre Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock or before with a fine program slated at that time. Ernest Kent, who is in charge of the Old Timer event, reports that the group will go to the barbecue in a group following the parade.

He said numerous prizes will be given to the oldest present, traveling the greatest distance, etc. Around 250 registered last year and a much larger number is expected this year, Kent added. We want all of you old timers to come and enjoy the visiting and the fellowship he concluded.

Leader Out-of-County Rate — $4.50 a Yr.

DUNKING BOARD TO BE FEATURE AT JAYCEE LOCATION

The Jaycees will feature a dunking board at the location just North of the Post Office Building which will be in operation each night of the celebration and all day July 3rd.

The Jaycee-ettes will be operating a concession stand at this location also. Go by the Jaycee booths and help them out during the celebration.

SQUARE DANCE TO BE HELD ON TENNIS COURTS

The Y Knot Twirlers will sponsor a Square Dance at the Tennis Courts Friday night, July 2nd. Dancing will be from 9 to 12 p.m. with Dusty Randall, caller. Admission will be $1 per person for those other than club members.

Warning Regarding Fireworks, Drinking And Reckless Driving

The Sheriff's Department and the City Police department have both issued warnings this week in regard to the shooting of fireworks, excessive drinking and reckless driving.

We are asking parents to convey the message to their youngsters that it is unlawful to shoot fireworks within the City limits, stated City Administrator M. B. Mitchell. We have had numerous complaint calls regarding firecrackers the past few days, especially from sick people and those with heart ailments. Please be considerate of others and regard the danger involved with shooting fireworks, Mitchell added. All violators will be picked up and dealt with according to law, he concluded.

Sheriff Cornell and Police Chief Gary Gerdes are reminding everyone to be especially careful with their driving during the celebration as there will be youngsters running pell-mell, horses and a throng of people in general along with exceedingly heavy traffic. If you obey all traffic regulations, injuries will be retained at a very low minimum.

If you plan to drink, please use moderation and keep your bottles and cans in your own car and not throw them about town, Cornell stated. If you do drink... do not drive as you may injure someone as well as yourself and a DWI charge is a more serious offense.

Sheriff Cornell also reported that the doors to the courthouse will be open all day the third so local citizens and visitors may have access to the rest rooms and other facilities.

BAND PARENTS TO SELL COLD DRINKS JULY 3RD

Band Parents will sell cold drinks on the Court House lawn July 3rd. They will have three portable set-ups which will be in operation from 9 a.m. until after the barbecue putting everyone within the range of cold drinks.

Your patronage will be appreciated as it has been in years passed.

Large Crowds Anticipated For Horse Show, Rodeo, Parade & Free Bar-B-Q

Jaycees To Use Same Parade Route This Year

The Jaycees will be using the same parade route as last year with the starting point to be the northeast corner of the City Park. If you have a float to be entered in the parade the Jaycees ask that you have it parked on sixth street, either east or west of main street no later than 9:30 a.m. on July 3rd. If you will be riding horses the horse trailers may be parked on the lot just south of the City Park and all riding clubs and others on horse back are asked to keep them on main street just east of the City Park until the parade is ready to roll. By doing this people on horseback can be filtered into the parade as it moves off.

The parade will move off promptly at 10:00 a.m. with the Highway Patrol leading the parade followed by the Color Guard. The parade will move north on main street to the Donley Hotel, turn west at the Donley Hotel and move one block, where it will then turn south on Sully St. It will proceed south on Sully to the Northeast corner of the courthouse where it will again turn west for one block and then turn back south and break up in the vicinity of the First Methodist Church.

The Jaycees ask that everyone who starts out in the parade to please complete the entire parade route. The crowds are very large and by having the parade route as long as it will be, it will give everyone a chance to see the parade very well, and if anyone drops out during the route it causes a large gap as well as not giving everyone an opportunity to see you in the parade. Roland Hill, President of the Jaycees, stated that it isn't too late for you to have something in the parade. Just get it all shined up and have it at the parade starting point no later than 9:30 a.m. on the 3rd. Trophies and prize money will be awarded the winners, so get to work and have any and everything that you want to enter ready for the big July 4th Celebration.

200 Entrants Expected In Terrapin Race

The way youngsters have been signing up to date, at least 200 are expected to show up for the Terrapin races Friday afternoon at 2 p.m. Up until Wednesday morning, a total of 161 had registered and received their number to paint on their Terrapin. The deadline for entering the race is today so you youngsters of all ages, get busy and sign up at the AAA Motor Co. before the end of the day.

Hershel Heath, sponsor of the event along with the Chamber of Commerce, stated that separate races would be held for each age group with the winners of the first three races competing for the grand prizes of a $50 bond, $25 bond and $10 cash furnished by the Chamber of Commerce. Read Mr. Heath's advertisement in this issue of the Leader for full particulars on age groups, etc.

The Terrapin races will be held in the middle block of main street and the Chamber of Commerce merchants free merchandise drawing will be held at the same time.

Leader out-of-county rate $4.50

With a full calendar of entertainment, large crowds of visitors are expected to converge on Clarendon today, Friday and Saturday.

The first event on the calendar is the Quarter Horse show this morning with judging to begin at 9 o'clock. A registered quarter horse cutting contest along with a ranch (open) cutting horse contest will follow the judging. Jimmy Garland heads this event.

Glenn Green has been moving in the stock and pre-registration of contestants for the rodeo events has been quite rushing. The Rodeo Headquarters is located at the south end of the dance floor at the Rodeo Grounds.

The first rodeo performance is set for tonight Thursday, July 1st at 8 p.m. Other performances will be held the nights of July 2nd and 3rd with an afternoon performance the 3rd.

Friday afternoon, July 2nd, Hershel Heath and the Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a Terrapin race at 2 p.m. which has grown to be one of the more exciting events of the celebration. The Chamber of Commerce free merchandise drawing will be held at the same time.

Old settlers will register at the Mulkey Theatre at 8:30 a.m. Saturday morning with Ernest Kent in charge. A special serving stand will be set up for this group at the Free Barbecue at 11:30.

The big western parade with the Jaycees in charge, will take place at 10 a.m. instead of the usual 1 o'clock to eliminate the mad rush between the barbecue and rodeo time. Those taking part in the parade should be at the starting point near the City Park no later than 9:30 a.m. The parade will follow the same route for the exception of turning west at Alderson Chevrolet and then south along the west side of the court house.

Clarendon Meat Co. has prepared 5,300 pounds of beef for the barbecue which has been donated by ranchers and business firms and individuals. Flip Breedlove and his crew will begin the big cooking job at 4 a.m. Friday morning and Fred Clifford will get his big bean pot into operation. The free barbecue will be served at 11:30 a.m. the morning of the third at the courthouse lawn. All who are helping to serve the barbecue are asked to be in their stands by 10:45 for it will take every bit of 30 to 45 minutes to get the stands in readiness to take care of the crowd. Lee Palmer, President of the Outdoor Entertainment Association, is asking for the cooperation of everyone in making this a most successful and enjoyable celebration all the way through. Palmer and other officers and directors and committeemen have put in some long, hard hours and should be complimented for their efforts.

Cowboys will be trying their best at all performances to build up a good record to win the two beautiful saddles donated by the Farmers State Bank and E. O. Simons Insurance Agency, and the Knorrp Insurance Agency and Greene Dry Goods Co. for the best all-around rider and the best all-around rider.

Local people are reminded that it will save time and less confusion if you use the north gate at the rodeo grounds and leave the east gate for visitors and rodeo contestants. Thanks to the City and City employees for assisting in getting the rodeo grounds ready for the busy sessions ahead.

Rodeo Queen candidates—(left to right) Cindy Smith, Janice Riley, Jackie Swinney, Pam Crawford and Sherol Shelton. Counting of votes in the queen contest will be at 2 p.m. today (Thursday) and the winner will be announced at the Rodeo tonight. The Queen Contest is sponsored by the Jaycee-ettes.

growing season to allow the forage plants to resupply food reserves in the root system, make top growth to produce food, and produce seed for natural revegetation.

Ranges in the county have declined in condition during the past two growing seasons due to a lack of moisture, the county agent said. Most range forage plants need an opportunity now to reestablish themselves and deferment will give them that chance, the county agent added.

Deferment of rangeland is recommended not only after a drought but also should follow brush and weed control, seeding and fire.

Coupled with deferment, attention should be given to the balancing of livestock numbers with the forage results in an accumulation of litter on the soil surface which is not wasted forage but an aid to more efficient water use, soil stabilization and improved soil fertility. The county agent said that publications were available from his office, at no cost, which outline deferred grazing plans and give information on other range improving practices, including weed control with chemicals.

Ice cream may be stored in the refrigerator for a short time, usually from one to four hours; in a refrigerator-freezer combination for longer storage, ranging from several hours and up to one week or more; and in the home freezer for still longer. For refrigerator storage, transfer the ice cream from its carton to a clean, dry ice cube tray. Cover tightly with foil or plastic film, then turn temperature control to the coldest setting. In a refrigerator-freezer or home freezer, store the ice cream in cartons as it comes from the store. The ice cube tray method can be used in the refrigerator-freezer unit also.

OIL INDUSTRY HAS THE ANSWER

It is confidently anticipated that during the last 40 years of this century more fossil fuels will be consumed than in all the previous 7,000 years of recorded history. While world population will somewhat more than double by the year 2000, energy consumption is expected to rise five times. How can that incredible demand be met? The oil industry has a two-pronged answer.

First, huge new petroleum deposits must be found. And the oil people are finding them—not only under ground, but beneath the sea. The costs of finding grow steadily greater due to a variety of factors. Wells must be sunk deeper and deeper, and this sends the bills skyrocketing. But we need have no fear that the cost of offshore drilling, with all the special problems that involves, is especially great. The risks will not be taken and willingly. They will be—so long as the oilmen can work in an economic climate which guarantees the right to gain a fair profit when they are successful.

The other part of the answer is found in what is known as secondary recovery. This dramatically increases the amount of oil and gas that can be obtained from the wells. Natural forces allow production of only about 25 percent of the reservoir's contents. But, by introducing certain liquids or gases into production reservoirs, the percentage can be doubled and at times, tripled. The industry's record of innovation and technological progress is the best evidence that any demand can be met.

The Rev. J. L. Williams of Oklahoma called on Mr. and Mrs. Kinch Leathers.

Mrs. Carl Willingham of Lubbock was a visitor with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Poole. They are brother and sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Morris from Phoenix, Arizona will arrive Monday to visit Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Ayers.

Mr. and Mrs. Odus Walsler and children from Plains are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Walsler.

Mr. and Mrs. George Moore and Lynette spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Ayers.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Ayers over the week end were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ayers of Canyon, and Rickey Wester, Mr. Ayers' nephew.

An unfortunate incident happened to Mr. and Mrs. Gary Longan last Friday night. Lightning struck the wires of their television, and it exploded, creating clouds of black soot, ruining all of their furnishings. They were not home at the time, and are at a loss to know just what did happen. They were lucky in that they were not at home. They will have to move out of the house as it is unlivable as it is.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Phelan and daughter Pat arrived Sunday from Hersher, Ill. to spend the week with his mother, Mrs. Lee Phelan.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT NOTES

"I am sending this money to fix the highways with."

That was the terse letter received recently in the Texas Highway Department main office in Austin. Enclosed was a one dollar bill in a separate envelope.

The good-roads writer is Kent Sojourner, age 8, of Abilene. His explanation of why he sent the money to "fix highways with" is simple.

"We studied that a long time ago roads used to be just gravel and stuff like that," he said. "And there were Model T's instead of modern cars. Now the roads are made of thick cement and are pretty and real wide. And they are safer, with posts and guards, and reflectors showing curves, and white lines."

Kent said he wrote the Highway Department because he was studying roads and travel in school. The children wrote for the Department's travel map.

"Texas roads are real good," Kent said. "They have roadside parks and all kinds of stuff. So I just wanted to help build some of the highways."

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer sent the dollar back to Kent expressing his appreciation for the boy's interest in better highways.

Kent is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy W. Sojourner in Abilene. His mother teaches school and his father runs a drilling company. Kent has a 10-year-old brother in the fourth grade.

Kent's mother knew nothing of her son's gift to the Highway Department.

"He's an extraordinary boy," Mrs. Sojourner said. "He's always sending off for various pamphlets and free travel literature."

He uses his own allowance and money he earns from running errands, and he writes his own business letters and buys his own stamps and addresses his own envelopes. We're always getting all kinds of things in the mail that Kent has written for."

Kent and his family travel Texas highways quite a bit.

"We went to the Sonora Caverns and to Dallas and Houston, and Aunt Barbara took us to Old Mexico," he said. "I like the pecan

TEXAS SAFETY ASSOCIATION ISSUES SAFETY PLEA

The Texas Safety Association has issued its annual "Accidental Death Alert" for the July 4th holiday period and called on Texans to put safety first in all activities.

"Holidays can be a time to remember, or a time of tragedy," S. Ross Carr of Houston, TSA President said. "It often depends on knowing and using your safety rules—whether you are driving on the highways, spending the week end at the lake, or just relaxing at home."

The TSA "Accidental Death Alert" begins at 12:01 a.m. Friday and ends at 11:59 p.m. Sunday. It coincides with the Department of Public Safety's traffic accident watch—"Operation Motorcade."

The Association is coordinating its traffic safety program with the DPS and other state agencies. Subject for the TSA safety promotion is "Courtesy and Caution."

"Adding courtesy to caution, can take you a long way in traffic. Your attitude about driving and that of other drivers has a profound effect on the possibilities of your being involved in an accident," Carr said. "Treat other drivers the way you want to be treated—with courtesy."

In addition to issuing traffic warnings, the Association has urged care in recreational activities, especially those associated with water.

"Boating enthusiasts should take all safety precautions in putting their crafts into crowded waters. Carry a life preserver for everyone on board. Don't overload your craft with too many passengers, and watch for swimmers, water skiers and other boats," Carr advised.

He reminded homeowners to be on the alert for the backyard-variety accidents and advised to be on guard for fireworks accidents.

"If your celebration calls for a backyard barbecue, be sure to use caution in handling starter fluids. Treat fires with respect. Keep a water hose handy to put out any fire that gets out of control," he said.

"Parents should take charge of any fireworks displays. Keep small children at a safe distance and supervise the handling of fireworks by other children.

"Even those harmless looking little sparklers can be dangerous. They burn at a temperature of 1,650 degrees, which is nearly hot enough to melt copper."

In concluding, Carr stated that each year many lives are lost during holidays simply because people put away their safety rules for the occasion.

"But, the fact is," he stated, "there just aren't any holidays on accidents."

LAWN DISEASES INCREASE WITH RAINS

Lawn disease problems have increased in several areas of the state due to heavy rains and cooler weather.

Wendell Horne, Extension plant pathologist, Texas A&M University, reports that brown patch specimens and leaf spotting organisms have been causing much of the damage.

Brown patch and leaf spotting are both caused by fungi. Lawn control can be most successful when preventative measures are taken against these microbes, according to Horne.

Building up a thatch of fallen grass clippings should be avoided. This material becomes colonized by micro-organisms that may affect the grass under certain environmental conditions.

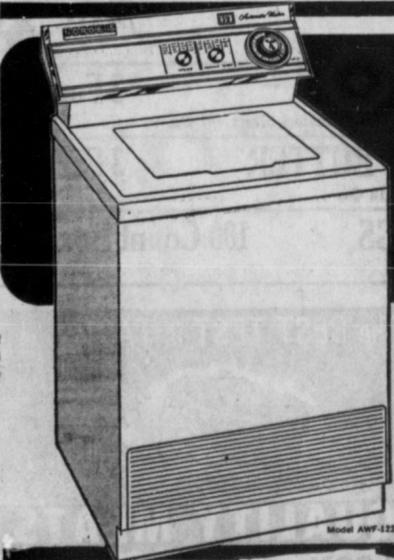

The grass should be kept in healthy condition by adequate watering and fertilization. Watering should be done early enough in the day to allow the grass to dry by nightfall. A damp condition favors the fungi.

A protective fungicide such as zineb can be applied if leaf spot becomes a problem. It should be used at regular intervals according to the manufacturer's recommendations.

If brown patch has been a problem in the past, a fungicide can be applied one to two weeks prior to the usual time it occurs. Horne recommends Terraclor, Actidione RZ, Ortho's Lawn Disease Control or other similar ma-

Requests for cost-sharing are now considered from the standpoint of merit, not on a so-much-per farm basis. The State and County limit per person remains at $1500.00

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Irrigation systems in Donley County have grown in number quite rapidly. The number of wells has grown to approximately two hundred-fifty. Some of these wells are small and many are as strong as any in the Panhandle of Texas.

Usually, the general public does not realize the investment cost in these irrigation wells. Cost of bringing water to surface is usually $5,000.00 to $6,000.00 varying according to depth and size of well. Then, investment in underground concrete, Asbestos-cement, and Plastic Pipe has run about $850,000.00 and Investment in Aluminum Irrigation Pipe has cost a total of $300,000.00. The average cost of equipment per farmer for irrigation is $28,000.00. This amount times the 250 Irrigation Farmers gives a total of $7,000,000.00 that the farmers and land owners of this district would have invested in irrigation. Comparing production costs, the irrigation farmer spends approximately $50.00 per acre labor, fertilizer, seed, water, insurance, insect control, etc. The Dry land farmer may spend twenty percent of this amount, but the potential income for irrigation runs about $15,000.00 per irrigated section of land and the dry land farmer will net about one-third that amount.

It is easy to see that related industry is benefited as much or more by irrigation as the farmers themselves. Irrigation farms have increased in size with no loss in population in irrigated counties. Related industries are brought in causing the population to grow. Growth in irrigation will bring growth in business and industry to the business people of this district.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

A total of 33 interim study committees were created during the recent legislative session.

Meetings of these committees will bring most of the legislators back to Austin during the next 18 months.

Studies will cover a wide area, ranging from state and local tax policy to such subjects as livestock auctions and restoration of Santa Anna's battle flag.

All but three legislators who are appointed to the interim panels will be eligible to draw travel expenses to and from meetings. In addition, some study panels are furnished staff funds.

Some committees will delve into: election laws, juvenile crime, rights of news media in reporting on persons charged with crime, liquor laws, the nursing profession, problems of farmers and ranchers, feasibility of a Pleasure Island State Park, public education, facilities for the criminally insane, and need for modernizing state fair facilities.

GOVERNOR VETOES SPENDING — Gov. John Connally red pencilled $2,600,000 of what he termed non-essential items in the $3,600,000 state budget for 1966-67.

Connally said he felt the Legislature in general appropriated wisely, but he line-item vetoed: $1,100,000 for one of three new buildings at Angelo State College, San Angelo;

$300,000 from a total of $800,000 for a museum at Washington State Park;

$200,000 for state aid to airport construction;

$200,000 for further improvement at Dam B Park near Jasper;

$275,000 for boll weevil eradication;

$126,000 for salaries in the new Department of Mental Health and Retardation;

$138,000 for water system at Rusk State Hospital;

$12,000 a year for a new special services director in the Parks and Wildlife Department;

$5,000 of stream flow measurement in Upper Red River Flood Control and Irrigation District;

$30,000 for John E. Connor Museum at Texas College of Arts and Industries, Kingsville;

$39,200 for doctoral-level instruction at East Texas State University, Commerce; and $110,000 for forestry research at Stephen F. Austin State College, Nacogdoches.

Connally also vetoed a bill which would have made the lieutenant governor a member of the powerful State Building Commission in place of the State Board of Control chairman.

COURT SPEAKS—Third Court of Civil Appeals now has ruled that the Guadalupe-Blanco River

Authority is entitled to 50,000 acre feet of water a year from Canyon Dam Reservoir near New Braunfels.

In a new opinion, court remained convinced that the City of San Antonio should get no water from the reservoir. Decision upheld 1957 order of Texas Water Commission and 1964 ruling of 98th district court. Principal change in Third Courts finding was that G-BRA has authority to distribute water for use for cities downstream.

Court of Criminal Appeal, overruling of Kleberg County district court, held Paul Eric Krueger, 17-year-old-Californian, is entitled to $15,000 bail on each of three charges of triple slayings.

REDISTRICTING URGED — Governor Connally has reluctantly signed new district court bills for Lubbock, Dallas, El Paso, Harris and Tarrant Counties. He said the next Legislature should address itself to the matter of judicial redistricting.

"While there is merit for new courts in these specific counties," Connally concluded, "when the state is taken as a whole, there are sufficient judges to carry the existing workload."

RETARDATION STUDY SET — Task forces soon will begin evaluations of recommendations by 55 mayors' commission on the new Texas Plan to Combat Mental Retardation.

Groups will study education, finances, legislation, health services, manpower, organization, coordination, public awareness and action, research and training, residential day care, vocational rehabilitation and employment, and welfare services.

Nucleus of task forces will come from members of the Governor's Advisory Committee, according to District Judge Herman Jones of Austin, committee chairman.

INTEGRATION QUICKENS — School systems are integrating faster under threat of lost federal aid, Texas Education Agency reports.

To be eligible for shares of $80,000,000 in federal aid under the 1965 civil rights act, districts must give assurances of having plans for integration. Total integration isn't required until September, 1967.

A TEA official says 1,150 districts have signed promises to comply with civil rights act, and 125 more have filed plans for future racial desegregation.

SUMMER PROGRAMS APPROVED — Governor Connally announced approval of seven more Neighborhood Youth Corps projects for summer employment at $1 per hour.

Projects will employ 1,866 youngsters in schools, parks, offices and hospitals in El Paso Independent School District, Rio Grande City Independent School District, City of Childress, Comanche County Board of Education, Taylor County Schools, Stonewall County and San Patricio County.

Connally also approved five additional Project Head Start grants from Office of Economic Opportunity for summer programs for underprivileged preschool children. Authorized grants now total 159.

Latest projects approved are in Amarillo, Hale Center, Paint Rock, Pleasanton and Van Alstyne. Panhandle and South Plains Venture for Aiding Needy Children's Education, Inc. is in charge of Amarillo program. Schools will operate the other four.

SEISMOGRAPH CRISIS — Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler has cancelled all outstanding seismograph permits in coastal waters and called in oil and seismograph representatives to review the rules.

He also issued further revisions of the rules, knocking out the delay to June 21 for all explosives to be permanently marked, and announced that new permits would be issued only to companies which are marking their explosives.

Sadler's action came after another rash of seismograph explosives washed in on Gulf beaches, mainly in the Sabine Pass area. Earlier washing-ashore had been in the Corpus Christi region, where about 50 were found along beaches.

TEENAGE JOBS SAFE — Liquor Control Administrator Coke Stevenson has clarified his two "administrative interpretative" bulletins which cautioned against hiring minors to work "on or about licensed premises." Stevenson says teenage workers will not lose their jobs if the stores comply with normal regulations.

He added that the bulletins from his office were meant to remind holders of beer, wine and liquor permits that they must separate a portion of their store by a guard rail and place an adult in charge of a check-out counter used for purchase of alcoholic beverages.

BROWNWOOD AREA PROJECTS APPROVED — Texas Water Commission has approved some $10,000,000 in U. S. Corps of Engineers flood control and water supply projects for Brownwood area.

A new $3,000,000 dam at Lake Brownwood, a $7,000,000 flood control reservoir on Pecan Bayou upstream and channel improvements on the bayou, Adams Branch, Tom Williams Branch and Willis Creek are included. The new dam is planned 800 feet downstream from the old one whose outlets never have worked properly since its construction during the 1932 floods.

Recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Carmichael and Eddie were their daughter-in-law and grandchildren, Mrs. Bob Carmichael, and children of Monrovia, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Heinrichs and children of Amarillo, and Jake Holman of Clarendon.

GOLF TOURNEY SUNDAY BIG SUCCESS

The medal play Golf Tourney held here last Sunday afternoon was a big success with around thirty entrants enjoying the fine weather and the excellent playing condition of the local golf course.

PESTICIDES

Pesticides are helpful and necessary for efficient agricultural production, says County Agent, Ronald Gooch.

Pesticides are defined as those chemicals that will control weeds, insects, crop disease organisms, rodent and other destructive life. They benefit the farmer and consumer by helping assure the high quality and adequate quantity of the nation's food supply. They have also added to man's life span by reducing the effects of pests in transmitting human diseases. Without pesticides food quality and food quantity would drop rapidly and food prices would increase. Many everyday foods, such as vegetables would become luxury foods.

It would be difficult to get along without agricultural chemicals, says Agent Gooch, but they must be used carefully. Only the person who applies a pesticide can make sure it is applied properly and safely.

Farm chemicals should be used only on crops for which they are specifically recommended and only in the amounts specified. It is costly to use more and it may damage the crop yield or make the crop unsafe for food or feed. Apply chemicals at times specified on the label using only recommended methods of application.

Drifts of sprays or dusts can be dangerous. Carefully observe label precautions to protect those who apply the chemicals, protect the crops from damage, and to prevent harmful residues on food or feed crops.

Gooch adds three other precautions: keep pesticides out of the reach of children, keep the chemicals in the original container with the label intact to prevent mixups and dispose of empty pesticide containers to avoid danger or injury to anyone in the future.

BUILDING TIPS AVAILABLE Planning any new construction on your farm? You'll likely profit if you check with your county agricultural agent. He can tell you about the farm building plan service available from Texas A&M University's Agricultural Extension Service and can show you what plans are available. The plans are for typical farm service buildings and are listed in the new 1965 Catalog of Building and Equipment Plans. These plans were developed over many years on the basis of research and field experience.

Agricultural engineers at Texas A&M say most farmers build not more than one major size building of any one type during their lifetime. Therefore, reliable information is necessary to help plan and construct the best building for any one specific purpose.

In selecting plans, the entire farm operation and probable use of other buildings must be carefully considered. Any building which does not permit the best use of labor and equipment or which does not do the job for which it is needed, should be remodeled, say the engineers.

A visit to another farm where a building similar to that planned is in use would be time well spent. All plans selected should be carefully studied and all desired changes made before starting construction, advise the engineers.

The Clarendon Jaycees were honored for their work in the area of agriculture and conservation last week at the annual convention of the U. S. Jaycees in Buffalo, N.Y.

The convention's 10,000 delegates heard national vice-president Merritt Martin of Saline, Michigan praise the Clarendon Jaycees for "imaginative programming in an area of vital significance to every American."

Over 4,000 United States Jaycee clubs were entered in competition in the twelve project categories this year.

Clarendon was named the outstanding Division I Jaycee club in Texas when they received the coveted Gissenbier award at the state convention last April.

Approximately 20,000 were on hand to take part in festivities beginning Wednesday and continuing through Saturday night. All states of the union were represented as were a number of foreign countries. The meeting was climaxed with a barbecue and rodeo.

RODEO PROGRAMS AVAILABLE AT EACH PERFORMANCE

Roland Hill, President of the Jaycees reports that the Jaycees have put together their Rodeo Programs for each Rodeo Performance and will be offering them for sale at each and every performance. Be sure and see one of the Jaycees at the Rodeo Grounds and get your Program of activities.

LIONS SPONSORING CARNIVAL HERE

The Clarendon Lions Club is sponsoring the Dudley Carnival here this week which is set up on the lot east of the Post Office.

The Lions were fortunate in getting this carnival here as it is one of the best on the road and has new equipment and a large assortment of rides, etc. It was scheduled to set up in Kansas but cancelled due to the floods in that area.

City Board Projects Rest Room For Park Area

The Clarendon Development Board is now sponsoring a project to build Rest Rooms at the City Park and recreation area. Donations are needed to finance this project. No contribution is too small to help this cause. Contributions may be made to Mrs. Edna Smith of the Development Board or the Donley County State Bank. The new facility will be constructed of cinder blocks and cement to provide for easy, sanitary care.

No Rest Room facilities are available at the Park at the present time. Various group gatherings, family reunions, and tourists stopping for a travel break, as well as Little League fans and players are in the City Park area daily. These facilities are badly needed. Make your contribution a generous one.

Wood Services Held At Claude Monday

Funeral services were held Monday morning at Claude for Roy Presley Wood, 80, a resident of Armstrong County for 35 years. Burial was in Claude cemetery.

Steer Wrestling
 Depends On

Rodeo's steer wrestling is a combination of scientific "know-how," picked up in a bruising apprenticeship, and another even more important factor — the horses used in the event.

One of rodeo's only two contests where three animals and two men are involved directly in the action — (the other being team roping) — back of every steer wrestler's winning streak, are three to five odds the horse he rode played a major part in finding the pay window.

From other steer wrestlers, some of the top hands even conduct "schools" a part of each season, and through constant practice, the proper moves to bring a steer around and twist him to the ground may be mastered. But without a good horse under him the cowboy still winds up among the "also rans" in actual competition.

Three things make up a "solid" steer wrestling mount. He must be quiet at the barrier, breaking instantly and quickly on cue, with speed to overhaul the racing quarry, and most important, the ability to let his rider down properly on target. The same requirements are asked of the hazers mount, who, with his rider, keeps the steer running straight.

The angle at which the steer wrestler's feet hit the ground after leaving his horse often makes the difference between a winning or a losing run. Properly executed, the feet should strike at 45-degree angles to the steer's trajectory to start the inward arc which at the end allows the cowboy to tilt the animal's head upward, twisting slightly, and thus use the steer's own weight to cause the fall.

Once free of the rider, the horse must pick up speed, widening to the left to evade the action behind him.

Probably the most famous of all steer wrestling mounts was the little, brown mare, Baby Doll, owned by Willard Combs of Checotah, Oklahoma. Before her sudden death late in the summer of 1960, cowboys had set a record of over $400,000 won from her back during a six-year career in the nation's arenas.

Lacking great speed, the Doll made up for the loss with short cuts almost human in perception. She foresaw the right moves before her riders and took advantage of them with a signal.

Clowns Play Important Role At Rodeos

Of all rodeo competition bull riding is the only event in which animals deliberately attack their riders.

The rodeo clown, although his baggy clothing and painted face are mirth-provoking, has a deadly serious purpose in the arena.

When a cowboy comes down from a flailing fifteen hundred pounds of bucking bull the clown must divert the animal's attention from his prey.

To do so, the clown relies on his stored-up knowledge of bovine behavior, and the cleated shoes he wears to prevent slipping.

Often his judgments errs in split-second timing, and broken bones or loss of an eye may be his reward. The bull makes no distinction in targets.

Danger for the cowboy begins in the chutes where the bull may crush a leg or use its horns to club the rider on his back. Once in the arena the rider must depend upon the clown for safety.

Any moment in the required eight-second journey that often seems to stretch an eternity, the clown is poised to rush in as a protector.

The weight of churning hooves presents an even greater danger than the bull's heavy horns, to a fallen rider, so the clown must draw the animal away in as straight a line as possible.

Once the cowboy has reached a vantage point of safety, the clown may underplay his own perilous role, with spaced rushes to sanctuary on arena chutes or fence, as the bull rages against his foiled plan of destruction.

But under the masking grease paint that caricatures his face, the rodeo clown is well aware of his constant partnership in danger.

By Vern Sanford
 In that rolling, cedar-studded countryside northwest of San Antonio there roams a peculiar game animal which most Texans don't even know exists.
 It is the Russian hog! It's a mean, vindictive beast with the proverbial chip on its shoulder.
 Probably the foremost authority on wild Russian hogs in Texas is retired game warden Bob Snow of Kerrville. His talented pack of dogs has chased game throughout Mexico and the United States. With Snow hot on their heels, his dogs have trailed many dangerous animals including jaguar and mountain lions.

Of the Russian boar Bob says: "A big Russian boar is the meanest, orneriest critter on four feet." He should know because he has killed over 100 of them personally.
 He also says there is no other game animal which can match the Russian hog in sheer speed and stamina. When cornered it is a kill-crazed fighter. It doesn't know what "quit" means.
 This animal's artillery is impressive. Long, wicked tusks curl back from the lower corners of its mouth.
 When cornered the hog tosses its head wildly, lashing about with the tusks as if they were razor-sharp sabers. Which they virtually are! Many a careless dog has drawn its last breath after bringing one of these boars to bay.

 A spooked hog never seems to tire. It isn't unusual for a boar chase to range over 10 miles or more of terrain.
 Like most creatures of the wild, when confronted with danger, the Russian hog would rather flee than fight. But once the occasion arises, it will turn with a viciousness seldom seen in any other game animal.
 Snow carries a small suture kit in his hip pocket on every hunt. It's almost an expected thing that at least one of his dogs will get laid open before the hunt ends. When this happens Bob gets off his horse and administers first aid, patiently stitching the dog together. All his dogs carry scars of battle.
 These accidents occur, Snow explains, simply because dogs are neither fast enough nor elusive enough to evade the charge of a belligerent hog.
 A Russian boar can lash out so swiftly and so suddenly that it is difficult to follow the action by eye. One instant the hog is backed up against the brush; the next instant dogs are flying in every direction, tossed like a bowling ball scatters pins.

 A Russian boar is a mean-looking critter. It is muscular and lean in the hips, has a protruding snout, sharp tusks and coarse hair. It prefers a hilly habitat and roams furtively through the underbrush where it seldom is glimpsed by human eyes.
 Only practical way to hunt them is with trained dogs.
 No one knows exactly how these foreign hogs came to Texas. One legend has it that many years ago a traveling wildlife exhibit passed through San Antonio and included in the display were several of the European or Russian hogs. The owner of the small exhibit was down on his luck and wanted to dispose of his animals. So he sold them to a rancher who wanted to crossbreed the wild hogs with domestic stock.
 But the hogs eventually escaped or were released. No one knows for sure. Anyway, they scattered into the hills. And from that inconspicuous start, they soon began multiplying and expanding their range.
 Ranchers claim a Russian hog is one of the worst pests ever to roam the woods. A big ornery one will tear down fences, root up crops and actually kill domestic stock.
 Here's evidence that Russian hogs are tough and difficult to hunt. It's a tale Bob Snow likes to tell about the time he was on the trail of an extremely large hog, in the 400-pounds-plus class. This happened on a hunt near Boerne, northwest of San Antonio.
 Five times the dogs brought the hog to bay. And five times Bob blasted it pointblank with his .45 pistol! Yet the hog refused to die.
 Finally it eluded the hounds, killing two of them in the process. Snow never did bring that boar in. However, deer hunters found it two weeks later some distance away, where it had wiggled under a brushpile to die.
 On another hunt a boar had one of its hind legs shot off, yet it managed to run for six miles before the dogs finally brought it to bay.
 We repeat — Russian hogs are mean . . . and tough!

Live Crawfish

Wise fishermen allow their live crawfish bait to sink to the bottom—where crawfish naturally are found. Also, they remove the two claws so the bait won't be able to grab hold of underwater brush and weeds.

Chamois Skin Bait

Fishermen are a resourceful breed. One angler's idea is to use an old chamois skin for bait. He washes the skin through several waters, then cuts it into strips of various sizes to resemble real pork rind strips.
 He argues that chamois skin is just as pliable as pork rind, and fish don't know the difference.
 An added feature is that you can carry the strips in your pocket.

Boy Scout Watch Trick

Every boy scout knows how to use his watch as a compass.
 Here's how to do it: Hold the watch flat in your hand, face up, with the hour hand pointed to the sun. South then will be halfway between the hour hand and 12 o'clock.
 Use standard time and forget the minute hand.

Scale, Or Not To Scale

Whether a fish should be scaled or skinned before cooking depends largely on where the fish is caught.
 If it came from cool, clean water, scale it.
 But if the fish was taken from a turbid pond or stream, it will taste better with the skin pulled off. This eliminates most of the muddy flavor.

Don't Snag Your Handgun

Hunters wearing handguns experience constant annoyance at the way their holsters hang on projections when passing through brush.
 This needn't be.
 Just fasten a left-handed holster to your belt at the back. There your gun will be out of the way of brush, yet can be easily reached by the right hand.

Funeral Home
Member — The Order of The Golden Rule

My little four-year old grandson has what we call a good outlook on life. The other day when his grandmother asked how he was getting along he replied; "Mamaw, I'm doing just fine today. I just got one paddling. Yesterday, just wasn't my day because I got three that day." Naturally, he is one of my favorite people .....

Was visiting with a good friend of mine who happens to be a real success in the cattle feeding business. Besides low prices in the cattle market from time to time the cattle feeding business does have its problems. One being that under certain conditions and with the wind in the proper direction it is possible to detect a certain odor... When someone commented to my friend regarding this matter he broke into smiles and replied: "Since the market has advanced about five cents a pound in the last few months the odor is not nearly so repulsive as when the price was on money losing rock bottom last fall." Little things do make a difference for sure...

Aunt Sarah Lou says that gossip can be a lot like bubble gum. Folks can take a small bit of it and after it has been chewed on for awhile the results is a lot bigger.

Nearly everyone has presence of mind. Some of us are bothered with the absence of thought.

If we get a good idea and fail to put it to work it is like pouring water in a sifter.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

This is an ideal time for farmers and ranchers to mow sand sagebrush. Methods that remove top growth of sand sagebrush, such as mowing, beating or chopping, eradicate some plants, reduce the vigor of others, and result in increased grass production sufficient to make these mechanical control practices profitable. Experiments in the Oklahoma Panhandle indicate that mowing, followed by chemical spraying the following year, resulted in a 99 percent kill of sand sagebrush. Other experiments indicate that mowing two successive years obtains good kill. It has been estimated that the highest yield of grass production can be expected 5 years after treatment and that the total benefit life of the treatment is approximately 18 years. It has also been noted that the best time to mow or beat sand sagebrush is while the plant is actively growing. Additional information or assistance can be obtained from the local Soil Conservation Service office.

LIBRARY NOTES

EDITH BARNES
A memorial gift has been given to the library dedicated to the memory of Mr. D. I. Barnett. Mr. Barnett was the owner of the local gas company. Frances Mossiker of Dallas has won about every award given in Texas for the best non-fiction book with her "Napoleon and Josephine" subtitled "The Biography of a Marriage." This is ready made for those readers who don't care too much about non-fiction but do like good historical novel. "Napoleon and Josephine" is far better than many novels yet it never makes any claims to being other than what it is, history written by one who makes it come alive even when she is using excerpts from actual letters written by the folks who were living in the days of Napoleon. From his letters you find out right away that he was no ignoramus.

You are able to follow the one sided love affair from the beginning. In the beginning Napoleon loves Josephine and in the end they reverse their roles. But according to author Mossiker even though he divorced her and married someone else, in his crazy fashion he loved her until her death.

The long, drawn out accounts of Napoleon's battles are left to some one else as they are only touched upon in "Napoleon and Josephine."

Quoting: "Young, and in love as in all things fervid, Napoleon gave his heart to Josephine — while she, the belle of Directoire society, was only amused and a little puzzled by the impetuous, albeit brilliant young soldier who had literally swept her into marriage by the force of his will! But this was to change: as national events swept Napoleon toward an emperor's throne, a peculiar twist developed in their relationship. Too late Josephine fell in love... In this warm and sympathetic biography, the author of "The Queen's Lace" probes deep into the lives and personalities of two of history's most famous lovers."

A good friend of the library has given us sixteen new books. They are all non-fiction but our non-fiction list of readers is growing—very slowly but growing.

RECREATION LOANS HELP FARMERS PRODUCE DOLLARS ON LOW-INCOME LAND

Producing additional dollars on low-income or idle Donley County farm land is being encouraged by a Farmers Home Administration supervised credit program to develop farm-based recreation enterprises.

Claude Moore, the agency's county supervisor, with offices at Clarendon, Texas, this week listed many types of recreation enterprises financed by FHA loans in rural areas.

Donley County farmers may apply for loans to finance construction of vacation cabins or other facilities such as ponds and lakes for boating and fishing, docks, vacation farms, riding stables, nature trails, picnic grounds, youth camps, travel-trailer parks, and shooting preserves.

"Farmers Home Administration is using its farm operating and farm ownership loan programs for financing recreation loans," Mr. Moore explained. "Farmers can obtain a maximum of $35,000 for operating expenses, including the operation costs of farm-based recreation enterprises and $60,000 for a real estate program, including the development of land and buildings for recreation purposes."

Individual Farmers Home Administration loans to farmers for recreation purposes not only help in boosting the borrowers net income, but raise the number of conveniently located recreation facilities for city folks along with putting land not needed for crops into income producing uses.

These loans carry a 5 percent interest rate on the unpaid principal. The repayment period on loans secured by real estate may not exceed 40 years, while that secured by chattels has a seven year limitation. Such credit is only extended to those who can't obtain it through normal lending channels.

Farmers Home Administration also makes loans to individual farmers and community groups for financing recreation facilities such as golf courses, swimming pools, tennis courts, lakes and ponds.

Complete information on loans to individual farmers and community groups for recreation purposes along with details about other Farmers Home Administration credit programs may be obtained from Mr. Moore at his office, 113 West Third.

Friendly Rivalry Among Cowboys

Rodeo began as friendly rivalry among cowboys on the open ranges of the west a century ago.

The lonely, and often dangerous life offered little outside entertainment, so the cowboys found it in routine pursuits of their livelihood.

A horse they couldn't master became a further test of skill for other cowboys encountered on roundup or at railroad shipping points.

Often a summer's wages were won or lost on the outcome between man and animal, so intense was interest in the competitive contests.

One such inter-camp contest was held at Deer Trail, Colo., in the fall of 1869 among the Hashknife, Mill Iron and Campstool cowboys, with one, Emetie Gardenshire, emerging victor and being awarded the mythical title of "champion bronco buster of the plains."

In 1883, Pecos, Texas, held a Fourth of July celebration, roping longhorn steers down the main street. Five years later Prescott, Arizona, charged admission to a "cowboy contest."

The succeeding years have brought rodeo to a sport of national dimension. Beginning with the American Junior Rodeo Association, for youngsters, it stretches on to the National High School Rodeo Association, thence to the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association, ending with the professional Rodeo Cowboy's Association.

Attendance at these rodeos runs into the millions with several hundred contests held each year with prize money running into the millions of dollars. These rodeos stretch from Edmonton, Alberta, in Canada, to Kissimmee, on the southern tip of Florida.

As rodeo grew in stature so did the roster of events, yet saddle bronc riding remains the classic contest. Also included in the present professional category are bareback bronc riding, bull riding, steer wrestling and calf roping.

Many sectors of the country, notably in the far southwest, add team steer roping to their arena agenda. The tandem roping event consists of a cowboy roping the steer's head while his partner catches the animal's hind feet, against the stop watch.

Junior and scholastic rodeos number additional events for their boy and girl contestants.

Prize money winnings have soared as well since early day contests. In 1907 the saddle bronc riding winner received $75 and a trophy saddle, the runner-up, $25, at Cheyenne Frontier Days, one of the first major rodeos.

Calf Roping Highly Skilled Cowboy Event

The most highly tuned man-and-mount combination in professional rodeo, perhaps in any competitive sport, is the calf roper and his horse.

So close are the outcome of many calf roping contests that less than a second will separate first and fourth places.

A winning team, broken up because of the horse's unsoundness, often will drop completely from the event's standings, and because the perfect combination to timing between the pair seems rare, a roper and his mount on a "hot" streak appear unbeatable.

Countless hours have gone into a calf horse's training. From the time the roper nods for his calf until his hands snap away from the tie signifying "time," the horse is making a series of moves, each one of equal importance.

Starting with his manners in the "box" the enclosure behind which horse and rider wait until the calf has reached a given scoreline, he must be alert, yet quiet.

Almost completely on his own, when signalled he must position his rider quickly for the throw at the ducking, twisting calf, and slam to a stop and keep the rope taut when the roper leaves his back.

Here, many a roping is won or lost, for the horse must keep the right amount of constant pressure on the rope — too much and the calf will struggle — too little and the animal may do the same, costing the roper precious seconds.

Value of a consistent calf horse cannot be tabulated. The roper knows he may spend far more than the sale price to find a suitable replacement.

Saddle Bronc Riding Most Popular Event

A hundred years ago the cowboy matched his riding skills, and often his life, against outlaw horses in cow camps and on roundups from Montana to Mexico — rodeo brings this struggle to the modern day arena as key-stone of its competitive event roster.

The saddle bronc rider in professional rodeo today, unlike his predecessor, must abide by a stringent set of rules, with the odds stacked in the animal's favor, but the basic combat between the pair remains full strength.

No longer does the outlaw bronc fight snubbing post and blindfold to be saddled. Instead he waits in boarded chutes, his effort conserved for the upcoming action.

Nor must he buck until will and breath are gone, as in the past. His span in the arena now lasts only a predetermined eight or ten seconds before the whistle sounds and pick-up men swoop in to halt the ride. It has been proved an animals action slows with further time allowance.

The saddle snugged against his withers, double-rigged, is built to specifications, policed by the Rodeo Cowboys Association. Only one rein, a braided length of manilla, is allowed for the rider's purchase, attached to the wide leather halter on the horse's head.

When the chute gate opens, the modern cowboy must have his spurs against the mount, over the shoulder points, until the first jump is completed. This is designed as further disadvantage for the rider. If he leaves his feet braced forward a moment too long, the next jump will pry him out of the saddle like a slingshot.

All within the next second the cowboy must find his timing with the horses jolting leaps, coordinating rein and spurs, to make the smooth, polished ride which brings high marking from the judges.

Brahma Bulls Vicious Animals

When it comes to getting rid of a burden, no other animal has the furious concentration of a Brahma bull.

Used in rodeo contests since the early twenties, the hump-shouldered cattle, which originated in India, even will use their heavy horns as a scythe to sweep a rider from their back — and when this and other murderous tricks succeed — they'll try to gore the fallen cowboy on the ground.

Because a bull will fight a horse as well, pick-up men cannot be used as they are in saddle bronc and bareback bronc riding events.

The cowboy, therefore, must get away from the bull as best he can. His only bulwark against injury is the rodeo clown, an accomplished matador in baggy pants, who distracts the maddened animal.

With the big odds in the bull's favor, rules are much simpler than in other riding events in rodeo. They call only for the cowboy not to touch the animal with his free hand — at anytime during the ride — to be clear off the ground, still holding to some part of the bull rope when the eight-second time signal is sounded.

The aforementioned rope is a flat-plaited, ten foot length of manilla, noosed around the bull's middle and held taut by the rider's hand. It can be a slim brace, indeed, against the calculated conniptions thrown by the Brahmas who can buck and spin like a top, adding direction changes a half-dozen times, violent enough to pretzel a spine.

From the time a cowboy settles on a bull's back in the chute — and pulls his rope tight — there is the added peril of falling beneath the churning hooves weighted with over half a ton of infuriated beef.

Until after he is back to safety at the ride's conclusion, the cowboy is engaged in the most dangerous, competitive contest known to man.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18th DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

WEATHER STATIONS IN SPACE

What did the astronauts see across our Texas high plains? Gemini Astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward White reported observing a curious finger-shaped shadow across the Texas plains—a shadow that appeared to represent a difference in the soil or in the underlying rock. Solving the mystery they thus posed is a challenge for geologists. What significance may lie in the answer?

Observations by our two astronauts are being sifted not only by scientists interested in space and in furthering our accomplishments beyond the atmosphere but also by men and women whose scientific specialties are closer to home. Just at geologists will seek to unravel the puzzle concerning our high plains shadow, meteorologists will make a close study of approximately 300 photographs taken by White and McDivitt from Gemini 4.

One day, it may well be that the United States Weather Bureau will augment other means of data collection by maintaining astronaut-observers in orbit.

While attention is focused on our manned space program, the U. S. is making good progress toward improved weather forecasting through the TIROS weather satellite program. The U. S. has sent aloft 10 such satellites; three are still functioning, relaying data to earth concerning cloud formations. TIROS was designed to show how we can fill in gaps of our knowledge, to make a first step toward developing a fully operational weather satellite capable of reporting global conditions on a continuous, daily basis. Now, our weathermen are able to receive weather data by conventional means for less than 20 percent of the surface of the planet. Data from the Earth's vast uninhabited and ocean areas is not accessible by these methods, yet the lack of data is a major problem in accurate weather forecasting. TIROS aims at finding the way to provide that data. And now, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Weather Bureau are working to make possible an improved system. When in being, perhaps by early next year, the system will be known as TOS—the letters standing for TIROS Operational Satellite System. TOS will permit observation of the atmosphere each day, and thus measurably enhance the weatherman's ability to deliver accurate predictions of weather conditions.

We who live in the Texas Panhandle and South Plains are more aware than most Americans of the very vital part weather forecasting can have on lives, property, and on agriculture. Violent weather is no stranger to our area. It is no stranger anywhere on earth—and to be able to predict with great accuracy the imminence and possible and consequences would be an enormous boon to mankind. The next generation of U. S. weather satellites will be designed to hasten that day.

TIROS satellites were most helpful in plotting the development and course of hurricanes. Data from TIROS was used to brief the crews of ships and planes as to ocean weather conditions, even to dangerous ice-berg conditions in shipping lanes. The weather system will, I hope, be able to provide data to tell us of developing threats from hurricanes, tornadoes, floods, droughts, and even sudden frosts and unseasonal spells of hot and cold weather which disrupt harvesting and merchandising of produce. Means are being developed to broaden the ability of our meteorologists to provide us with swift and accurate forecasts, and the data collection system being planned will not only be placed aloft aboard satellites, but will also be located on ocean buoys and land stations in remote areas.

REVISED BEEF GRADE STANDARDS EFFECTIVE JUNE 1— Revised U. S. Department of Agriculture beef grading standards will go into effect June 1. The new standards will leave the Prime, Choice, Good and Standard classifications unchanged, but will reduce marbling requirements for beef in those grades, depending on grade and degree of maturity. The marbling reduction angle, says Frank Orts, Extension meat specialist at Texas A&M University, will not materially affect the requirement for young cattle.

TEXAS DAIRY INCOME UP IN '64— Texas dairymen grossed $155 million from the sale of dairy products in 1964, 2 percent more than in 1963, reported the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. The average number of cows declined but the production per cow increased to bring total milk production up by 2 percent. The 6,150 pounds of milk per cow was 8 percent above the average for 1963.
