Nixon New President

NBC Projects Nixon Winner With 287 Electoral Votes

After a long night of close tabulation, Richard M. Nixon was projected by NBC as the next President of the United States at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, winning 30 states and at least 287 electoral votes. Nixon was also leading in the popular vote count with 48 per cent. This announcement was gratifying to many as it looked for a while like the election would turn into a big mess to be decided in the House or other possible ways which could have taken months. People will be anxious to see just what President-elect Nixon and Vice-President Spiro T. Agnew, will be able to do in changing the national situation after the inauguration in January.

On the state level Preston Smith was elected governor; Ben Barnes, Lt. Governor; Crawford Martin, Attorney General; Robert S. Calvert, Comptroller; Jesse James, Treasurer; Jerry Sadler, Land Commissioner; John White, Com. Agriculture; Jim Langdon, Railroad Com.

Donley County voters split their ballots and here's the way they voted: President—Richard Nixon, 816 to Humphrey's 543 and Wallace 268; Governor—Preston Smith 800, Eggers 771; Congressman—Bob Price 1,004, Dick Brown 553; State Representative—Tom Christian, 847, Red Simpson 862; Lt. Gov.—Ben Barnes 1,068, DeCluitt 457; Attorney General—Crawford Martin 984, Wynn 457; Comptroller—Robert Calvert 1,004, Bennett 461; Treasurer—Jesse James 1,139, Sanchez 405; Land Com.—Jerry Sadler 1,046, Neptune 425; Agriculture Com.—John White 995, Schuhart 469; Railroad Com.—Jim Langdon 958, Segrest 470; Board of Education—Herbert Wilborn 886, Burdette 514. Over 1,600 votes were cast in Donley County with a total of 123 absentee votes being cast.

Amendments carrying in Donley County were No. 3, 7, 9 and 14.

The College Bulldog roster includes Rene Ornes, Laredo; Rick Robinson, Uniondale, N. Mrs. Homer Estlack returned to Electra Tuesday to be with her father, J. C. Drennan, who is critically ill in the hospital there.

Clarence L. Hamilton of Clarendon has been appointed a registrar for the Gray-Roberts-Wheeler-Donley county draft board in the Clarendon area.

Young men who reach the age of 18 can register in Clarendon by calling on Mr. Hamilton at Clarendon Junior College, 704 Bugbee Street, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

All males are required to register under the draft law on their 18th birthday or within five days thereafter. Maximum penalties that can be applied for failure to register are $10,000 fine, or five years in prison, or both.

Learning Goes On For A Lifetime Say American Education Sponsors

Once upon a time, not so long ago, a student went to school and learned enough to last a lifetime. But nowadays, anyone who stops learning at any age is a dropout.

So say the sponsors of American Education Week scheduled for observance November 10-16 by Clarendon Schools and members of the teachers association. This is the annual visit-the-schools week in which more than 30 million parents participate.

Most teachers nowadays, according to A. L. Cordell, Superintendent of Clarendon Public Schools, try to teach youngsters techniques for learning, rather than just facts, since the facts the student learns today may be (Continued on Page 8)

LIONS TO MEET AT SCHOOL CAFETERIA TUESDAY NOON

Members of the Clarendon Lions Club will meet at the High School Cafeteria next Tuesday noon, November 12.

An invitation to meet at the school cafeteria was extended by Supt. Arling Cordell as a part of the observance of American School Week. The meeting will consist of an interesting program and the usual Lions Club procedure.

This will give the Lions an opportunity to visit with the young people who will be eating their lunch at the cafeteria at the same time. The regular Lions meeting this week was cancelled so voters could use the Lions Hall to cast their ballot in the general election and with a greater degree of privacy other than being hemmed up in the County Judge's office in the Court House where voters didn't even have elbow room.

John Jay of Dalhart spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Estlack.

The top-rated Clarendon Bronchos will journey to Wheeler Friday night for another important conference battle with the Wheeler Mustangs. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Wheeler needs a win over the Bronchos to help keep their hopes alive for a slice of District 2-A honors while the Bronchos need a victory to keep their title hopes going in unblemished fashion. The Mustangs are a highly competitive team and certainly remain a strong threat to the Bronchos. They boast a heavy line that has been quite effective in previous games. They battled Happy to a 14-12 win last week while the Bronchos topped Silverton 42-0 in a last half spurge in crossing the goal stripes.

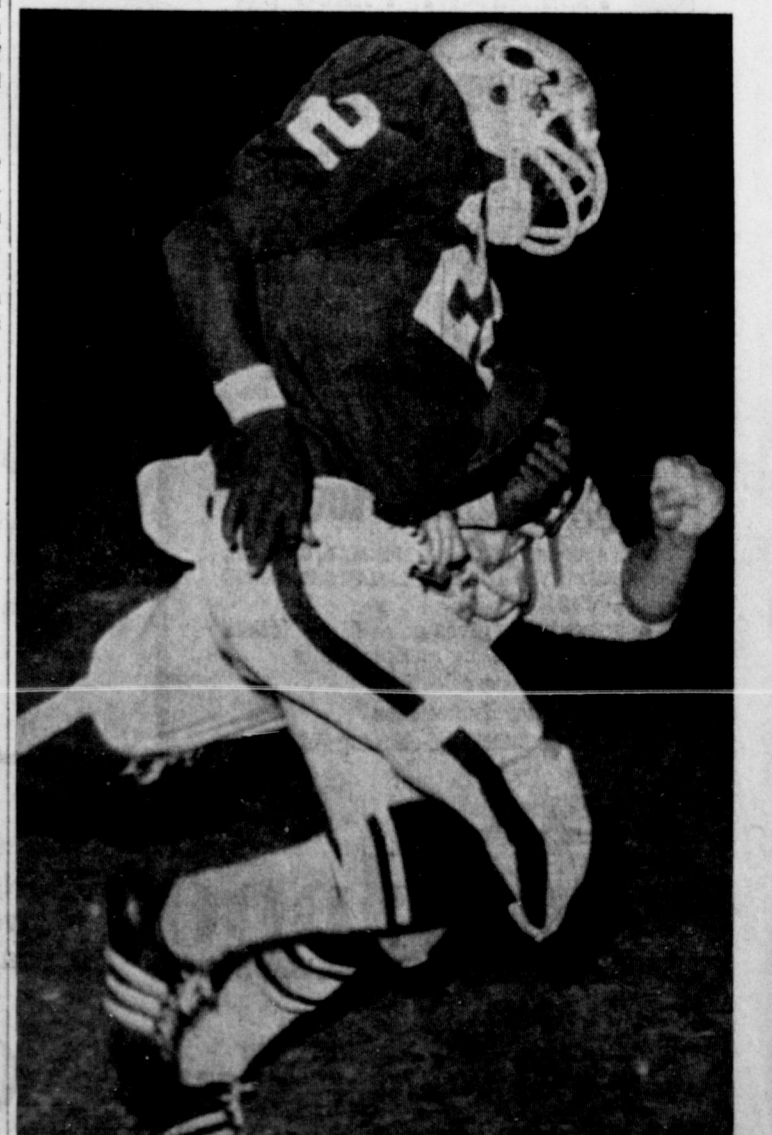

The Bronchos still remain the No. 1 Class A team in the Panhandle, second in the Star Telegram state poll and third in the Dallas News state poll. They have held this same rating for several weeks now while several other regulars in the top ten have disappeared or dropped further down the line.

Up to the present time in season play the Bronchos have scored a total of 300 points to their opponents 18. This gives the Bronchos an average of 37.5 points per game while their opponents have scored an average of 2.25 points per game.

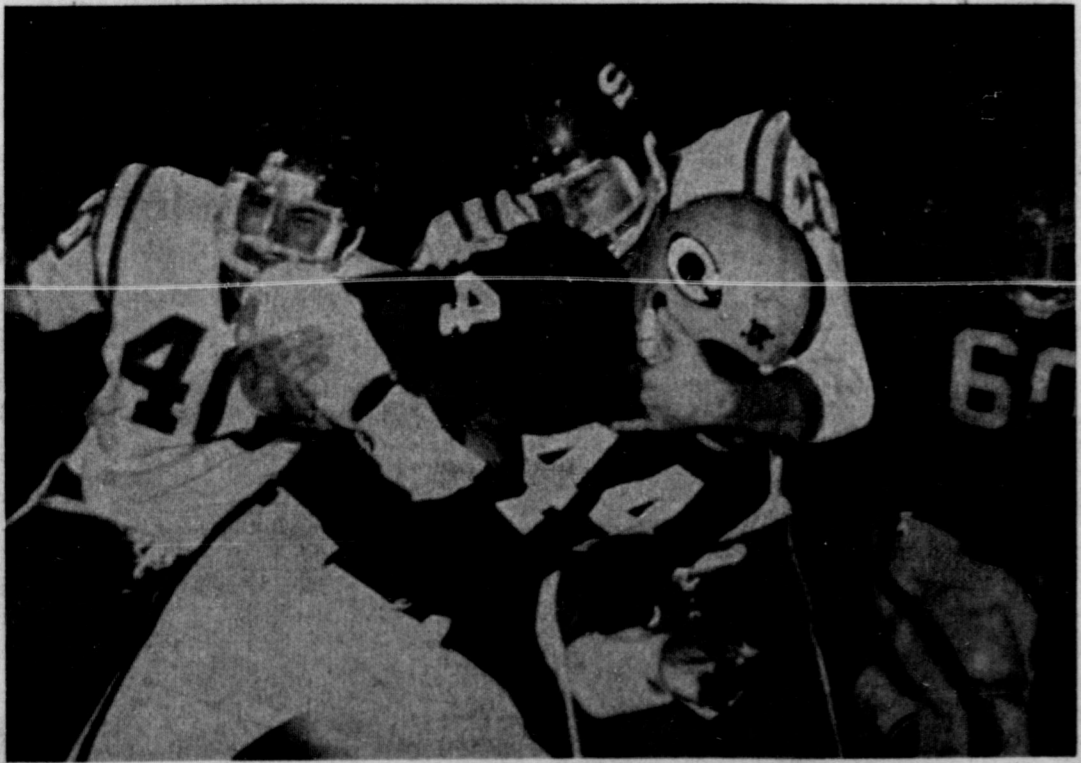

A large delegation of Clarendon fans are expected to follow the Bronchos to Wheeler Friday night as has been evidenced in the past. The Bronchos appreciate this strong support which gives them a greater incentive to put forth their best in every department. The best route to Wheeler is highway 66 to Shamrock which is 4-lane and a safer route.

Our concern right now is to take care of Wheeler and then make our plans for McLean next week, was coach Clyde Noonkesters comment this week.

The probable starting line up for the Bronchos for the offense will be: Larry Kidd and Jim Moore, ends; Phillip Longan and Everett Monroe, tackles; Billy Longan and Doyle Gilbreth, guards; Mitchell Martin, center; Don Mooring, quarterback; Walter Reese, wingback; Bennie Reese, fullback and Steve Land as tailback.

UNCLE ZEB
CARL C. WOOD

To hear the leaves move in the breeze—
To hear the birds sing in the trees,
We know that God is not dead.

To hear a newborn baby cry—
To see the stars held in the sky,
We know that God is not dead.

To have some storm in life to cease—
To have some hurtful pain find ease,
We know that God is not dead.

To have some worry come to naught—

Or just to have one precious thought,
We know that God is not dead.
—CCW

It seems so hard to believe that anyone could live in this living, breathing, ever-changing world and argue such an awful discouraging thing as to claim that God is dead. . . . We have only to look at any one thing which He created to know that He is so very much alive today.

Repeat the following several times and you will feel even more certain that God is very much alive for you: "Blessed be the name of The Lord our God and The Father of our Lord Jesus Christ".

We write a letter to a friend—
Spell out our deepest fear.
We know that he will always lend
A sympathizing tear.

A real friend is one we can tell the truth about our personal thoughts and feel sure that he won't laugh at us. Admit the bad and know that he will still believe in us.

We can just partly pay our rent in doing the best we can.
By seeing that each day is spent in service to God and man.

Patience is a thing we need
As we face life's hurried day.
Need it for our work and rest,
Need it for our time to pray.

It is a lot easier to stand on what we have said, if we were not lying.

Crusading Elf

Holly Schmidt

"Elfin" is definitely the word for Holly Schmidt, the little girl from Saginaw, Michigan, who has been chosen as 1968 national poster child by Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America. Diminutive, with bright eyes and a sudden enchanting smile, she could be one of the legendary "little people" whose moonlight dances, according to folklore, leave fairy circles in the grass.

But Holly cannot dance. She can barely walk. To make locomotion possible at all, her fragile legs must be supported by heavy steel braces. Her hands and arms are weakening, too, so that she sometimes finds it difficult to keep hold of the lively kitten, Samantha, who accompanies her on all her travels for the Association. The disease which is wasting her muscles is known as peroneal muscular atrophy or—after the physicians who first identified it—Charcot-Marie-Tooth disease. It is one of the many crippling disorders of the neuromuscular unit for whose conquest MDAA has mobilized a worldwide army of scientists.

Returning home to Saginaw between trips, she picks up the threads of what had already been a remarkably full life before she became national poster child. Her youthful and energetic parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore D. Schmidt, encourage her to ignore her handicap as much as possible. Besides maintaining an excellent record at school, she is a member of the Camp Fire Girls, plays the drums with enthusiasm and participates joyously in all family activities.

There are times, however, when the reality of her plight casts a shadow on Holly's blithe spirit. Like her five brothers and sisters, she has a bicycle of her own. But, while they are pedaling around the neighborhood, she has to place it on its side and sit quietly, watching them ride past.

Research Holds The Answer

In moments like these, Holly can only dream wistfully of the day when "her" Association will have achieved its objectives, when the braces can be removed from her legs and she has the freedom of movement other children have. She knows that research holds the answer to her problem, and that the more research there is the sooner will the answer be found. That is why—with faith, hope and courage—she has embarked on her great crusade.

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, The quality of life in our nation's future will be determined largely by the direction given to and the character developed by today's youth; and

WHEREAS, Our nation's schools play a paramount role in defining that direction and shaping that character by endeavoring to—

Offer pupils the opportunity to learn and practice society's values, direct intellectual development toward recognizing, making, and evaluating choices, and consider the curriculum in terms of its total impact on the value development of children; Recognize the needs of a complex society, view education in terms of national goals, encourage international understanding, and foster divergent and creative thinking as a means of improving society; Encourage the teaching of children as individuals and employ only teachers with the preparation and personal qualities necessary for effective teaching;

Offer each child a meaningful education suited to his individual needs regardless of the child's ability level, geographic location, or socioeconomic status; Stimulate continuing inquiry, with emphasis placed on the value of learning for its own rewards, and provide opportunities for a broad general education; Contribute to economic progress by providing early and realistic career counseling, educating all students to the full extent of their abilities, and maintaining a vocational educational program of the highest quality; Enhance the human quality of students by helping them discover and develop their abilities and live contentedly within their limits, advocate constructive attitudes toward leisure interests, and encourage both adaptability to change and action to direct change in ways beneficial to humanity; and

WHEREAS, In the achievement of these endeavors lies the happiness and well-being of the individual as well as that of society as a whole; and

WHEREAS, One of the primary duties of an enlightened citizenry must, therefore, be knowledge of, interest in, and responsibility for the quality of our schools,

Now, Therefore, I, RICHARD L. GILKEY, Mayor of the City of Clarendon, do hereby designate November 10-16, 1968, to be American Education Week and urge all citizens to examine more closely the existing projected programs of our schools, as well as their own efforts to ensure the highest quality education for all.

BROTHER OF FRANK HOMMEL KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Chauncey Hommel of Dallas, brother of Frank Hommel of Clarendon and Ollie Hommel of Alanreed, was struck by a car being driven toward him on the wrong side of the highway.

Funeral services for Mr. Hommel were held Wednesday morning in Dallas. Attending from this area were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hommel, Mr. and Mrs. Redell Henson, and Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Hommel of Clarendon; Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Hommel of Alanreed; Mr. and Mrs. James Moore and Mrs. Glenn Robertson of Amarillo.

Other seasons have ended or will be ending soon. The season on rails and gallinules closes Nov. 9, and the mourning dove season in the North Zone and the white-winged dove season are closed. The mourning dove season in the South Zone ends Nov. 19 except in the counties which had a white-winged dove season where it ends Nov. 15. But the major part of the hunting season is still ahead. The goose and sandhill crane season is in full swing, and the magic date of Dec. 14 is finally looming into sight for duck hunters.

COMMODITY LOANS

Growers are cheating themselves if they market their crops at prices below the CCC loan rate levels. The price support loan program was developed as a means of helping farmers sell their crops at a time when market conditions are most favorable, and that time normally is not at harvest time when supplies are ample and prices are likely to be down. Government loan gives an immediate return to the participating farmer at harvest time, and at the same time the farmer retains control of his crop. By storing it for a while and then repaying the loan and selling the crop later after the marketing peak, the grower frequently can get a much better price.

WHEAT PROGRAM

The 1969 wheat program calls for a 15 per cent diversion of acres on the farm. The 15 per cent is not taken off the allotment, but an acreage equal to 15 per cent must be diverted somewhere on the farm.

This office will be closed Monday, November 11, in observance of Veteran's Day.

EROSION CONTROL

Erosion control dams may be used where it is determined that gullies are causing appreciable damage to cropland. Harmful deposits of sediment on valuable farmland or grassland may be additional justification for this type of structure. Actual or obvious future damage to terrace systems, waterways, springs, windmills, and other valuable property may be used for justification of erosion control dams. Each pond of this type must have a drawn down pipe to provide safe disposal of run off water.

The purpose of the drawn down pipe is the same as that of springs on a car. It forms a flood cushion for the dam and protects the spillway from frequent and prolonged use. The erosion control dam will always have a drop pipe installed for the protection of the spillway and to cushion the dam against flood waters. This pipe is an L shaped new metal pipe coated with asphalt. The riser pipe is set in the face of the dam two or more feet below the level of the earthen spillway. The barrel pipe is set to extend at least six feet beyond the back toe of the dam.

TERRACES

Most of the terrace work is done in the winter months. Now is the time to start planning and making arrangements to get the work done.

The type of terrace system needed will depend on your soil type and how steep your land is. Level closed end terraces are usually suitable for soils that are moderately sandy and those that are on fairly flat to gently rolling slopes. For those of you that want to irrigate and farm with big machinery, parallel terraces may be the answer to saving your soil, increasing production and making the job of farming easier. Parallel terraces can be laid out to fit four and six row equipment. Construction cost is greater but there will be four hundred per cent fewer point rows. For fine textured soils terraces with a slight grade may be desirable. These may be parallel or conventional contour type. For these graded terraces to work satisfactorily they must have a grassed outlet.

COUSIN DIES IN MICHIGAN SATURDAY

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wright have received word of the death of a cousin, David Wright of Salem, Michigan Saturday afternoon. Mr. Wright, a pilot, and his brother-in-law, Dwight Steele, were aloft in a small plane when Wright slumped over and was dead. Steele, who had never flown before, managed to land the plane in a field.

... instead of improving a little ground well, we attempt much and do it ill. A half, a third, or even a fourth of what we handle, well wrought and properly dressed, would produce more than the whole under our system of management. —George Washington, 1797.

Pesticide Residues In Soil Can Be Trouble

Contamination of food crops by pesticides may not always be the producer's fault, because of unknown residues left in the soil, Dr. H. Wyman Dorrough, associate professor in the entomology department of Texas A&M University, says.

Chemical pesticides used on a crop such as cotton to control insects can show up in food crops later planted on the land. Many of the pesticides in the chlorinated hydrocarbon group, such as DDT, Endrin and Dieldrin, can remain in the soil for years and contaminate food crops if the soil is not thoroughly tested, he says.

"In most cases contamination of food crops can be traced back to misuse of pesticides by farmers, but often it can be a case of residue problems," the professor continues.

Food crops can take in pesticide residues in two ways—direct contact with soil-bound chemicals in such a crop as carrots, and uptake or trans-location into the plant with a crop like soybeans.

The amount of residue and its possible availability depend on the type of chemical, the type of soil and the individual crop susceptibility, according to Dorrough. Some of the chemicals are very stable, while others can be broken down easily by soil organisms, weathering and leaching.

Such crops as peanuts, soybeans and some vegetables are among the most susceptible, and soil chemical analysis, coupled with a thorough knowledge of the history of the farmland, are the best bets to avoid possible contamination and later seizure of the crop by authorities, he points out.

Forage crops contaminated by these chemicals can also be a problem, especially if fed to poultry or dairy animals. In fact, many livestock producers are now asking for certificates which guarantee the feed they are buying is free from pesticide residues, Dorrough adds.

Social Security News

Social security records are confidential and information about a person's social security account can only be released upon their giving written permission for such release. Mr. Glenn Wallace consented for information to be released concerning his deceased wife's account as he felt that many widowers like himself might not be aware that widowers can now draw monthly benefits for their minor children. The requirements for children to receive benefits on their deceased mother's account are now the same as on a deceased father.

Mr. Wallace's situation illustrates two important changes in the Social Security Law. Patricia Ann Wallace died October 12, 1965, and was survived by her husband Glenn and son Michael, born January 26, 1969. Shortly after her death, Mr. Wallace applied for and received a small lump-sum death payment. No monthly payments could be made for Michael at that time because his mother was not currently working and paying into the social security program nor furnishing one-half of Michael's support.

As a result of the 1967 Amendments to the Social Security Law, which became effective February 1, 1968, the current work and/or support requirement was eliminated. Now the surviving children of a woman worker can receive benefits if their mother had worked and paid into the social security program, a certain length of time, even if it was many years before her death.

Mr. Wallace said his wife worked in 1957 and 1958 to help send him to college. Based on this work Michael is entitled to monthly benefits. This benefit will continue until he is age 18. The other change in the law which applies to Michael was one made in 1965. This allows a child to receive benefits after age 18 and up to age 22, if he remains in school as a full-time student and unmarried.

LEARNING

(Continued from Page 1) obsolete 10 years from now. Thousands of young adults have already realized this. Each year about 25 million of them go into adult education activities mostly of a vocational or recreational nature.

By and large these adult students are already well educated. Statistics show that a college-educated executive, housewife, or professional person with a family income of more than $7,000 a year is six times more likely to be in an adult education program than is a grade-school-educated, blue-collar worker with an annual income of $4,000.

Statistics like these, said Cordeil, show a need for schools to instill in those least likely to go to college a love of lifelong learning, as they are the ones who probably could profit most from formal adult courses in later years.

The theme of American Education Week this year is: "America Has A Good Thing Going - Its Schools." The observance is sponsored annually by the National Education Association.

On the local level this week the Lions Club will have their Tuesday luncheon and program as a part of the week's activities. Parents, you are always welcome to visit your schools, especially in this national effort to help you to better understand your child's progress, his strengths, and his weaknesses. Researchers have found that your child will have a much better attitude toward his studies and his teachers if he knows that you are interested enough to visit him regularly, get acquainted with the teachers, and encourage him to do his very best.

Make your plans now to see us then - "Together we help a child", is our Motto.

Bronchos Overcome Owls, 42-0

By IRVIN MEARS

For almost a half the Clarendon Bronchos and the Silverton Owls fought to a stand still Friday night before an overflow crowd in Broncho Stadium, but the Bronchos won their eighth straight game by defeating the Owls, 42-0.

With just 21 seconds remaining in the half Donny Mooring dropped back and hit Larry Kidd with a pass good for 14 yards and the TD. Phillip Longan kicked the extra point to make a 7-0.

The first time the Bronchos had the ball in the second half they were unable to move the ball and had to punt to the Owls. Silverton had the same problem and had to punt back to the Bronchos. Walter Reese fielded the punt and raced 31 yards to the Clarendon 43 yard line. Four plays later Reese was standing in the end zone on a 26 yard scamper with 4:36 left in the third quarter. Longan's kick was good to make it 14-0.

On the kickoff Sandy Thornberry recovered an Owl fumble and on the first play Mooring hit Jim Moore for 25 yards and a

TD. Longan's kick was again good.

After a long run back by Silverton's Cletus Grady, the Owls were set to go. On the first play Steve Land intercepted a pass and raced 63 yards before he was brought down on the Silverton 14 yard line. Charles Louis found the end zone two plays later on a 4 yard run. Longan's kick was good to make it 28-0.

The Bronchos held the Owls and took over on downs. Louis again hit pay dirt, this time on a 25 yard run. Longan's kick was again good to make it 35-0 with 8:17 left in the game.

With 5:04 left in the game Longan intercepted another owl pass and returned it 40 yards, but before he was brought down he lateraled off to Ronnie Hasteley who gained 4 more yards before he was brought down on the Owl one yard line. Ike O'Neal went the final 1 yard for the last score of the night as Longan made the extra point to make the final 42-0.

Steve Land led Broncho ball carriers with 124 yards on 24 carries for a 5.4 average.

This Friday night the Bronchos travel to Wheeler to take on the ever dangerous Mustangs. Everyone go to Wheeler and back the Bronchos.

Good permanently productive land is the basis of our wealth, our health, our happiness, and our peace - here and abroad.

Restaurant Ramblings

By Jake Lamberth

Among the food items making up Columbus' first American meal was an edible root, irregular in form, with a nut-like sweetish flavor called "batatas" by the Indians.

Later when Sir John Hawkins brought these "batatas" to England in 1565, somehow or other the "b" became a "p" and the last "a" became an "o" which produced the name "potato". And that's the way it has been ever since.

White potatoes were developed and cultivated by the Incan races thousands of years ago. However, long before the conquest of Peru, the sweet potato had been brought back to Spain.

What is more appetizing than that big steaming baked potato loaded with butter, chives or sour cream, offered by the better restaurants.
