Peak Tornado Season Has Arrived

Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety and state director of defense and disaster relief, today reminded Texans that the peak tornado season has arrived.

Information obtained from the U. S. Weather Bureau's State Climatologist indicates that Texas reported 140 tornadoes during the past year. This figure compares with a record number of 232 during 1967, of which more than half occurred in September in connection with Hurricane Beulah. Since 1951, Texas has reported 1,659 tornadoes.

There were no months free from twisters in 1968. The peak tornado months, April, May, and June, produced 13, 48, and 21 tornadoes, respectively. Other totals included January, 2; February, 1; March, 3; July, 4; August, 8; September, 5; October, 8; November, 11; and December, 16.

A circular of tornado safety rules has been prepared by the Department of Public Safety, and is available through the local city and county Civil Defense directors.

QUALITY JOB PRINTING AT THE LEADER

Clarendon lost the Class A Track team championship to Lubbock Cooper at Lubbock Saturday in a heartbreaking wrap-up to the Regional track and field meet.

The Broncos had apparently won the team title when anchor-man Steve Land brought the baton home 30 yards ahead of the field in the final event of the meet, the mile relay. But disqualification on a lane infraction in the first lap provided second-place Cooper of Lubbock the race and in depriving Clarendon of 20 points. The disqualification of the Broncho relay team erased one of the top efforts of the meet in addition to rendering Clarendon's state meet hopes a death blow.

The quartet of Pat Chilton, Charles Louis, Walter Reese and Steve Land had set a region meet record of 3:24.9 in winning its preliminary heat Friday and was home in 3:25.0 Saturday, the apparent winner.

The mile relay points would have given Clarendon the meet, 12 more because of Clarendon's overall lead.

Steve Adams will be making the trip to Austin also but the 1st place Regional Winner in the boys Tennis singles, Steve went to Austin last year although this year has big hopes of bringing home the State Title. The girls double team, Sandy Skelton and Debe McAneer lost in the second round at Lubbock.

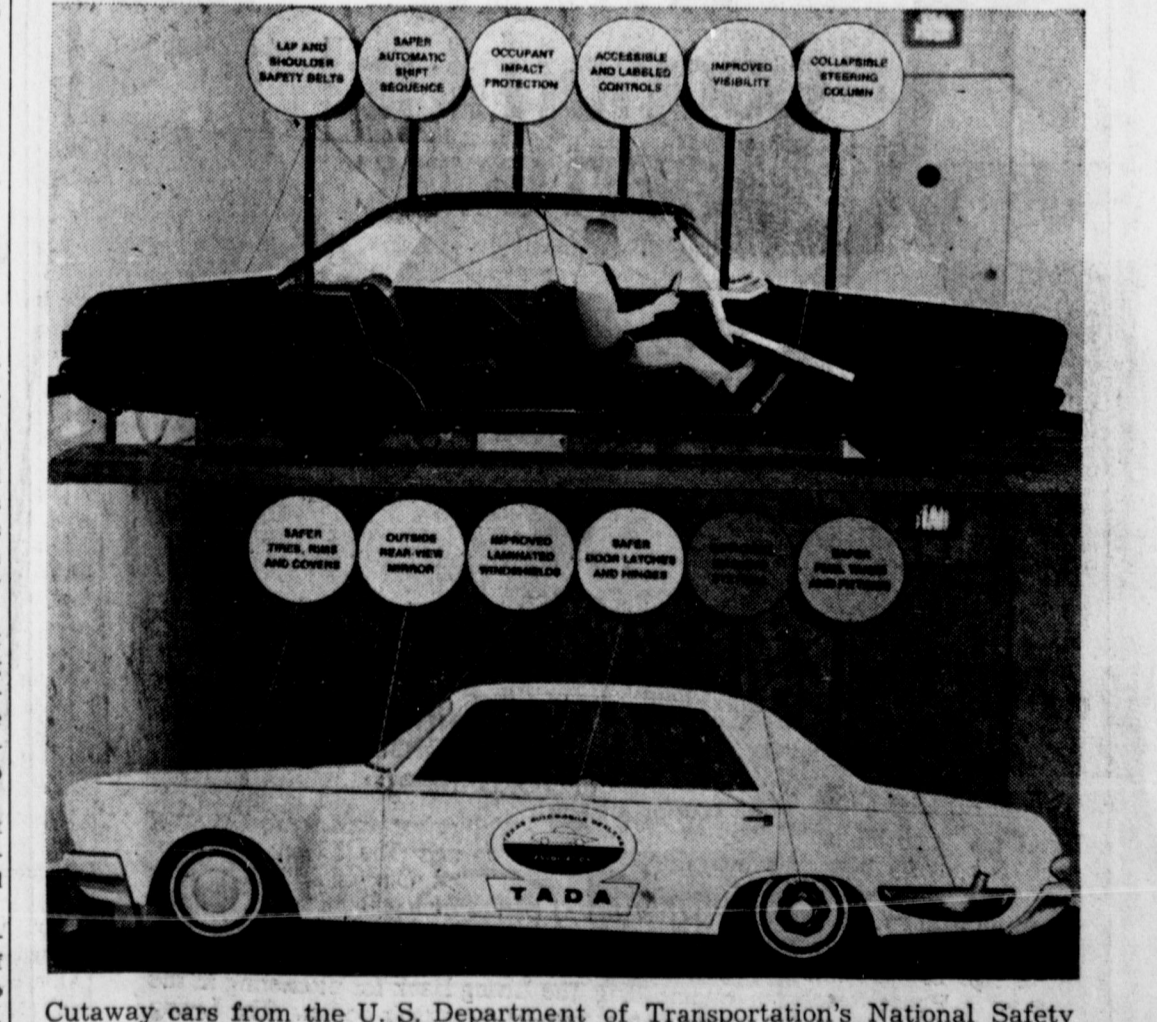

Individual results at the regional track meet were as follows: Long Jump — Charles Louis, 3rd; High Jump — Charles Louis (tied for 2nd but lost coin toss); 100 Yard Dash — Walter Reese, 3rd; 400 Yard Relay — Clarendon 3rd; 440 Yard Dash — Steve Land, 2nd.

After the last minute disqualification announcement on the mile relay, Clarendon mustered 41 points to place 4th in regional and would have placed 1st with 61 points if the race had been allowed. Clarendon's time showed who the actual winner should have been and our local team would have been in a more competitive position at the state meet.

Mrs. Ronald Dale Winfrey - nee Miss Sharron Dell Henson

Miss Sharron Henson and Ronald Winfrey Exchange Nuptial Vows In Candlelight Ceremony April 19

In a candlelight ceremony performed Saturday evening, April 19, 1969, in the First United Methodist Church, Clarendon, Texas, Miss Sharron Dell Henson of Clarendon became the bride of Mr. Ronald Dale Winfrey, United States Navy presently based at San Diego, California. The Rev. Carl Nunn, pastor, was officiant for the double ring vows.

Miss Henson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Redell Henson of Clarendon, Texas. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Winfrey of Dallas, Texas.

The altar background was formed by arched candelabras and miniature palm trees with a circular crystal candelabra back of the altar table. Baskets of white gladioli were backed by white chapel tapers. In the foreground were blue circular candelabras with stephanotis at the base. Windows were marked with hurricane candles accented with ivy, and pews with crystal votive cups, ivy and lime satin bows.

Tapers were lighted by Miss Cathy Hommel and Miss Cynthia Hommel. They were attired in blue chiffon over satin and wore headpieces of lime carnations and blue tulle highlighted by seed pearls.

Mrs. Jim Glass, organist, presented a nuptial prelude and accompanied Rev. Paul Hancock, soloist, who sang "Wither Thou Goest," and "Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of slipper satin fashioned with a full train and embroidered with pearls and sequins. The gown was designed with long sleeves and empire waist buttoning down the back with small buttons. The full train was attached at the waistline and was ornamented with pearls and sequins. She wore a full length mantilla bordered with lace, and carried a cascade of fuji mums and green cymbidium orchids.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Marilyn McMurry of Austin. Mrs. Jim Robinson of Clarendon was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Mike McCleskey of Denton, Texas, Mrs. Macky McWhirter of Waco, Texas, and Mrs. Grayson Rose of Shreveport, Louisiana. Their dresses were of lime green chiffon over satin with satin train. Dresses were fashioned with a roll collar and cuffs on full chiffon sleeves. Head-dresses were lime satin bows with seed pearls and lime tulle. Each carried a cascade of ivy and daisies centered with a blue and white candle. Miss Jacqueline Moore of Amarillo, Texas presided at the guest book. She also wore blue chiffon over satin with a headpiece of lime carnations accented by seed pearls and tulle.

Attending the groom as best man was Mr. Don Keeling, Texas Technological College, Lubbock, Texas. Groomsman were Mr. Mike McCleskey of Denton, Texas, Mr. Grayson Rose of Shreveport, Louisiana, Mr. Wes Henson and Mr. Jim Robinson of Clarendon, Texas.

Serving as ushers were Mr. Danny Moore of Amarillo and Mr. Gene Hommel of Panhandle, Texas. Master Frank Hommel was ringbearer.

Mrs. Henson, mother of the bride, wore apricot lace knit with matching accessories. The groom's mother wore aqua silk with silver accessories. Each wore a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

Following the ceremony a reception was given in the home of the bride's parents. The table was laid with a cloth of candlelight satin with tulle cover bordered with white satin embroidered with pearls. The floral decor was of green fuji mums. The five tiered wedding cake topped with wedding bells was ornamented with lime rosebuds and white bells with Italian filligree dividers and white lace trim. Table appointments were silver.

Miss Ginny Ailts and Miss Anita Palusky, both of Dallas, Texas, and suite mates of the bride at North Texas University, presided at the table. Others in the house-party included Mrs. Billy Hearn, Miss Jacqueline Moore, and Mrs. James Moore, all of Amarillo, Texas, and Mrs. Chauncey Hommel of Clarendon, Texas.

As a traveling costume Mrs. Winfrey wore yellow knit with matching accessories and the corsage of green orchids lifted from her bridal bouquet. After a wedding trip to New Orleans, Louisiana, the couple will be at home in San Diego, California where the groom is stationed with the United States Navy.

Mrs. Winfrey attended Clarendon schools and graduated from Clarendon College. In August of 1968 she graduated from North Texas State University and at the time of her marriage was employed by Carriage Shops in Dallas.

Mr. Winfrey attended schools in Carthage, Texas and Texas A & M College. He is presently assigned to the U. S. Aircraft Carrier Hancock.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Winfrey of Dallas, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hill of Hereford, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Malone of Denton, Texas; Miss Alice Hommel, Miss Ginny Ailts, and Miss Anita Palusky of Dallas, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Dodson and Louisa and Mrs. C. A. Barnes of Ponca City, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gibson of Panhandle, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Hardeman of McLean, Texas; Mr. Don Keeling of Lubbock, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Macky McWhirter of Waco, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Mike McCleskey of Denton, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Grayson Rose of Shreveport, Louisiana; and Miss Marilyn McMurry of Austin, Texas.

TRAFFIC LAW QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—When may you overtake and pass another vehicle on the right side?

A—You may pass on the right under the following conditions: 1. When the vehicle overtaken is making or about to make a left turn; 2. Upon a street or highway with unobstructed pavement not occupied by parked vehicles of sufficient width for 2 or more lanes of moving vehicles in each direction; 3. Upon a one-way street, or upon any roadway on which traffic is restricted to one direction of movement, whether the roadway is free from obstructions and of sufficient width for 2 or more lanes of moving vehicles.

Q—How close can or should you follow another vehicle?

A—The driver of a motor vehicle shall not follow another vehicle more closely than is reasonable and prudent, having due regard for the speed of such vehicles and the traffic upon and the conditions of the highway. A good rule of thumb is to allow one vehicle length for each 16 MPH of speed you are traveling.

Q—What should you do if you damage an unattended or parked vehicle?

A—You must locate the owner if possible or leave your name and address, name of the owner of the vehicle which you were driving and a statement of the circumstances in or on the damaged vehicle where the owner will find it.

Q—What should you do when blinded by the headlights of an approaching car at night?

A—Avoid looking directly into the lights of approaching vehicles. Slow your speed and, if on a two lane road, watch the right side of the roadway and the center stripe.

Q—If you want to learn to drive or need to practice before you take the driving test, what does the law require you to do?

A—If you want to learn to drive or need to practice before you take the driving test you must make application and pass the vision, signs and rules test. You will be issued a restricted license that will permit you to drive only when there is a licensed driver, age 21 or over, in the front seat with you.

CANNED FOODS HIGHLIGHT MAY PLENTIFUL FOODS LIST

May is a good time to stock up on canned and frozen foods, according to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Such canned items as beans, tomatoes and tomato products and sardines are on the plentiful foods list of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Green beans and sweet corn are abundant in both canned and frozen form.

Turkeys and onions complete the list of May plentiful foods reported by USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service.

With a 1968 pack of around 1.7 million cases of sardines — 1/2 more than the previous year — March 1 pack's inventories amounted to about 650,000 cases, or 250,000 more than on the same date a year ago. So you'll probably find sardines a most attractive buy this time of year.

Record stocks of 62 1/2 million cases of canned green beans have been available during the winter and spring. Supplies of frozen green beans exceeded 158 million pounds on January 31.

Storage stocks of onions from the late summer crop will supplement early spring production from the Texas Rio Grande Valley. This should mean an unusually large volume of onion this April. Sliced onions are always a welcome feature on the dining table.

Look for continued larger offerings of canned and frozen sweet corn, canned tomatoes and the many tomato products.

JOHNSONGRASS MAKES GOOD HAY AND GRAZING

It will often prove more profitable to encourage rather than fight Johnsongrass in a hay crop or pasture. Neal Pratt, Extension agronomist, says the costs of herbicides to control the grass are usually much more than would cost for fertilizer to really push it along for maximum production. When baled at the proper growth stage and kept grazed down, its nutrient value is comparable to many of the cultivated grasses and livestock can utilize it as well, Pratt said. But, he adds, keep it under control and out of cultivated row crops.

Pure air, clean water, stable soils, productive crop, pasture, range and forest lands, abundant wildlife, natural beauty, and the opportunity for man to live in harmony with his natural environment is essential. . . .

THE LEGISLATIVE LOFT

By Rep. Tom Christian

With the 61st Legislature moving into the final month-and-a-half of the session, representatives from all corners of the state are charting a course of action of pet legislation.

This is a normal occurrence, but especially in this session with the introduction of more than 2,000 bills in the House and over 700 in the Senate. We're looking at more legislation than any previous Legislature.

As the lawmakers maneuver for a stronger position on their respective bills, the passage of legislation will be somewhat slowed. The result will be that a large number of bills won't receive proper consideration, if any, before the session closes. In many cases, however, this is the only way to get action taken.

When the House recently approved a constitutional amendment to allow the voters to decide on liquor by the drink on a local option basis, several of the representatives used their votes as a bargaining tool.

The measure passed by only a single vote more than the 100 needed, 101-44. It was the third reading for the bill. On the previous day it failed, 95-48.

House sponsors Rep. Dick McKissack of Dallas and Rep. Cletus Davis of Houston did say that no compromises, no trade-outs and no promises were made during their overnight work to pick up the five additional votes. It'll be interesting, however, to see which legislation receives prompt attention in the next three weeks.

In regard to the liquor by the drink bill, I voted against the measure on all three readings. In other legislative business last week, the House passed a 5.7 billion dollar appropriations bill. The committee considered existing state funds and wrote the bill accordingly.

A teachers pay raise was not included in the bill and funds for the establishment of a vocational school at Amarillo Air Force Base were not included.

The bill will go to a ten-member conference committee composed of the chairman of the Appropriations committee and four members of the Appropriations committee of the House, and the chairman of the Finance committee and four members of the Finance committee of the Senate.

It is hoped that funds for the vocational school will be made available by the joint committee.

I was pleased to see State Senator Murray Watson of Mart introduce a bill which would again make it a violation of state law to sell or possess LSD or other hallucinogens. A similar bill by Senator Grady Hazlewood was recently ruled unconstitutional.

NEWS FROM

Congressman Bob Price
18th District, Texas

Although my mail these days is voluminous, I would like to take this opportunity to review with you some of my efforts on subjects in which my correspondents are particularly interested.

ESTATE TAXES
Support has been steadily growing for H.R. 8629, which I introduced on March 11, 1969, to relieve the devastating impact of Federal estate taxes on the families of farmers, ranchers, and small businessmen. As a result, I submitted a statement before the House Ways and Means Committee's hearings on March 28 and reintroduced the identical bill with cosponsors on April 1, 1969.

The need for enactment of my bill is clear, because inflated and unrealistic land prices have caused higher and higher inheritance taxes and forced liquidation of family operations in many cases when a landowner died. The same applies to many small businessmen whose heirs find that high estate taxes make it impossible to carry the business on from one generation to the next.

Principal reason for estate tax discrimination is the requirement that the tax be imposed on "fair market value" of the assets at the time of the owner's death. More often than not these prices are vastly inflated and are in no way comparable to the actual earning capacity of the property. My bill would provide a "fair alternative" to the present tax law and allow the executor the option of valuation at (1) fair market value (as under existing law) or (2) the higher of the decedent's adjusted cost basis or a value based on the reasonable earning power of the business as measured by taxable income. Earning power of the business would be computed on a prior ten-year average and a capitalization factor, and the decedent would have to have been in the business for at least 10 years prior to his death. For ownership under 10 years, my bill includes a special rule that demonstrated earning capacity and degree of ownership be considered under the "fair market value" option. Since the earning power of the shares of stock in an estate is generally considered the main factor in determining value, I believe that earning power should also be considered in the valuation of a farm, ranch, or closely held business for estate purposes.

WATER
On Tuesday, April 15, I introduced legislation to increase from 160 to 640 the acreage limitation under the present Reclamation Act. Any irrigation project that involves assistance of the Bureau of Reclamation is affected by the 160-acre limitation. This limitation has served a useful purpose in years past, but under today's farming conditions I feel that this limitation should be increased and know that this feeling is shared by a number of agencies, organizations and individuals in Texas, such as the Texas Water Development Board, the Texas Water Conservation Association, and county water associations.

This 1962 Reclamation Act prohibits delivery of water to more than 160 acres in a single ownership. This has been interpreted to allow 320 acres to a husband and wife joint ownership. The legislation I introduced would make it possible for a single owner to obtain water from a Federal project for 640 acres at rates designed to repay the Federal investment without interest, and water for more than 640 acres at a higher price reflecting an interest charge. In addition to an immediate increase to 640 acres in a single ownership, the bill would authorize a further increase in the limitation every 10 years "if economic or technological changes indicate that an increase is appropriate and consistent with the public interest."

The 1962 Reclamation Act limitation followed the concept of the homestead laws in an era in which agricultural planning was based mainly on the concept of the dawn-to-dusk farmer and his one-and-only horse. Today, huge tractors have replaced "old dabbins." Also, expensive mechanization requires more than 160 acres for economical operation. Moreover, the consumer also benefits because the higher unit cost of a 160-acre operator is no longer passed on to the market place.

WROUGHT IRON . . . THE ARISTOCRAT OF OUTDOOR FURNITURE
Wrought iron dining furniture has moved into the house. Bonny Lay, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist, suggests it be used in the dinette and in the semi-formal dining room.

Designs in expanded metal are most popular currently for outdoor use, says the Texas A&M specialist. Open work table tops, chair seats and backs let the breezes fan through.

Wrought iron is easy to care for, notes Miss Lay. An occasional washing with warm water and a mild detergent and a rinsing with clear water keeps it clean. An annual coat of automotive wax helps preserve the color of the finish.

Touch-up paint should be used on chipped scraped spots to close breaks against rust. Most manufacturers offer a guarantee — up to 10 years — relating to the rust resistance of their furniture.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By Vern Sanford

A new agricultural industry has been started in East Texas among the tall pines. This time it is not timber cutting, but catfish production.

For the last several years attempts have been made to produce "cultured catfish" but usually they were on the part of an individual with insufficient capital, or some landowner who just wanted to experiment. Now it is a different story.

More than 150 East Texas farmers have entered into a cooperative program which will supplement cotton, grain and rice income. They have formed the Tri-County Catfish Co-op, for Jasper, Tyler and Newton counties. They have already prepared a feasibility study. Through the Deep East Texas Development Assn., they are asking for federal assistance in getting a successful program under way.

Recently one of the original groups harvested more than 5,000 catfish from a lake 50 feet wide and 900-feet long. Those that weighed more than 1 1/4 pounds were marketed and the smaller fish distributed to other lakes. There are 21 lakes already on the Stringer farm near Kirbyville.

These catfish sell for around 60 cents per pound liveweight, which puts them on a more profitable basis than poultry. Men behind the East Texas movement feel they now have a project that will surpass the gigantic East Texas broiler industry.

Planting stock is produced at around 5 cents each for fingerling size. Every care is taken to produce quality channel cats. Any runts or mud cats are tossed aside.

Through the cooperative effort a processing plant will be built to provide for the proper care of the fish before reaching the market. This also will make it possible for ready markets to be established in larger metropolitan centers.

These men also are working with other government agencies, such as the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the Farmer's Cooperative Service of Washington.

Another effort is made to produce a fish that will not have the usual "fishy" smell. This the housewives will greatly appreciate.

So, the famous catfish and hush puppy dinners soon may become as popular as fried chicken or broilers, thanks to the men in this cooperative East Texas movement. And who knows, some of the ponds may be opened to pole and line fishermen, who can catch their own fish as they desire.

As the program develops in East Texas, like the broiler industry, it probably will spread to other parts of the state. Senator Charles Wilson of Lufkin is president of the East Texas Economic Development District, which is promoting the program.

Sorghum Residues Help Protect Soil

Sorghum residues were left on land to protect it from wind and water erosion. This is very commendable because it is partly responsible for the lack of wind erosion this past "BLOW SEASON". Sorghum residues were left standing on many farms, but now is the time to consider shredding this residue and incorporating it into the soil to help build fertility of the land that has been tied down during this blow season.

CROP RESIDUE MANAGEMENT is a term or conservation practice where residues are left on soil surface through the critical wind erosion period—about April. Spring planted sorghums are left through April and fall planted crops such as rye and wheat should be left through August 15.

Residues may be left undisturbed, shredded, mowed, or knocked down by stalk cutter. Normally loose residues need to be "TUCKED IN" by tillage to prevent blowing away. Best management is to leave standing because they will catch more snow. On irrigated land the stalks may be shredded in late winter and plowed in with disk leaving part of the heavy stubble in and seal the soil surface.

Outwardly, Episcopalians are pretty steeped in tradition. But in their relations with the world about them, they're a "today" sort of bunch.

They're usually among the first to address a compassionate ministry to "people problems" wherever those problems crop up

Take alcoholism. It's no accident that one of the founders of Alcoholics Anonymous was a sympathetic Episcopal minister, Sam Shoemaker...and some folks, today, make jokes about "Whiskeypalians."

It's true that this denomination is a bit more tolerant than some. They nourish a strange belief in guidelines — not straight-jackets — for a Christian life. They're not interested in condemning...but in helping people.

It isn't really a new idea. Just a timely one.

Episcopalians believe they have good reasons for many of their views. Maybe some of the reasons would make sense to you, too. It costs you nothing to contact the nearest Episcopal minister and find out. He won't even twist your arm.

Extension Economist Takes A Look At Feed Grain Situation

The supply situation plus expected increases in domestic usage; production goals for the 1969 crop which are aimed at holding output slightly below 1968-70 needs and an expected decline in exports are strong factors in the outlook for feed grains.

John G. McHaney, Extension economist at Texas A&M University, said the 1968-69 marketing year supply is estimated at 216.3 million tons, up only 1 per cent from 1967-68 marketing year. The smaller crop in 1968 helped to keep the supply of feed grains from increasing to any great extent, the economist noted.

This season's starting smaller "free" supply (privately held stocks plus production) coupled with a projected increase in total requirements for 1968-69 could result in a tighter supply situation later this spring and summer than was experienced in 1968. A smaller "free" carryover into 1969-70 may also result, he said. Domestic use during the present marketing year is expected to be 5 to 6 million tons above a year ago. Grain consuming animal units are expected to reach 184 million, up 5 million from last year and heavier unit feeding is also forecast, McHaney said.

Exports of feed grains will probably be somewhat smaller than the 23.3 million tons exported during the 1967-68 season, he said.

As for sorghum grain, McHaney noted that the 1968-69 supply was 13 per cent below the 1962-66 average, but 3 per cent larger than last year. Domestic usage is expected to continue strong and will probably exceed last season's demand. Exports, on the other hand, he said, are expected to be down from last year.

The larger quantity of sorghum grain going under loan in 1968-69 marketing year, together with the generally strong domestic demand should give support to prices during the remainder of the marketing year, he said. Further price advances may be limited by the larger supplies available for domestic use, especially since prices are now above the loan rate.

Alfalfa Weevil Found In Texas

The alfalfa weevil, which was first detected in Texas in four northeastern counties, in April, 1968, has now spread to Central Texas, says L. Reed Green, assistant (survey) entomologist at Texas A&M University. Specimens have been tentatively identified in Brazos, Grimes and Wharton Counties.

The rate of spread in other states has been from 50 to 100 miles each year. It is expected that at this rate, the alfalfa weevil will likely be found statewide within the next few years, said the entomologist.

The adult alfalfa weevil is a snout beetle about 3/16 inch long, and at first is a light brown with a broad, dark stripe running about halfway down the back from the head. As the weevil grows older, it becomes uniformly dark brown or almost black.

Eggs are bright lemon yellow. Larvae are approximately 1/20 inch long and are cream colored when newly hatched, but as they grow older, they turn light green. Pupae are concealed in a white cocoon, and are usually attached to dead leaves on the lower 1/3 of the plant. Adults emerge from pupae in one to two weeks, noted Green.

The first crop of alfalfa is damaged most by the larvae of the alfalfa weevil, which appears in early spring and is most numerous from the time the plants are about six inches in height until they reach early flower bud stage of development. An alfalfa field damaged by the weevil appears greenish-gray at first, but damaged leaves dry rapidly and the field takes on a grayish to whitish cast.

In addition to destroying the first crop, larvae may crawl to the new shoots of the second crop and continue feeding, thus, retarding new plant growth and reducing the second crop, pointed out Green.

Once a field of alfalfa becomes infested with the alfalfa weevil, damage usually occurs year after year. For control, most states recommend that farmers follow approved cultural practices in order that a dense, vigorous growth will be produced. The first crop should be cut when most of the plants are in the bud stage with the cutting as clean and close as possible to deprive the larvae of food and shelter. Exposure of the larvae to the sun is usually fatal.

Some insecticides effectively control the alfalfa weevil. Application of insecticides should begin when 50-75 per cent of the alfalfa tips in the field show feeding damage. Ten to 20 larvae per square foot is generally considered to be an economic infestation.

Insecticides can be applied either by air or ground equipment. Application rates should be 15 to 20 gallons of spray per acre with ground equipment, and about two gallons of spray if application is made by airplane.

For further information concerning the alfalfa weevil, contact the county agent, urged Green.

Total annual teenage spending in the U. S. passed the $20 billion line last year, according to Extension home management specialists.

Retirement is having a hobby, for one thing, says Minnie Bell, Extension specialist for aging. Choose one that you like, avoid one that will "play out" soon. Select something which requires some knowledge or skill. Reading and writing are almost inexhaustible hobbies.

FHA Loans Available For Recreation

The Farmers Home Administration can now make loans to farm and ranch owners or tenants for outdoor income producing recreational enterprises according to Claude Moore, County Supervisor.

Loans to individuals can be made to convert all or a portion of their farms to recreational facilities. The recreational enterprise may supplement regular farm income or, in some cases, replace farm income by converting the entire farm to recreation.

Public recreational areas are increasing in number each year; however, the demand for such facilities still exceeds what is available. The purpose of the loan program is two-fold in that it will provide more recreational areas and help farmers and ranchers to increase their income, stated Mr. Moore.

Loans may be made for camping, picnicking, and hiking facilities, swimming, boating, skiing and fishing facilities, golf courses, riding stables or many other forms of outdoor recreation. Funds can be used to purchase necessary materials, supplies and animals, acquire and develop land and water resources, construct or improve modest essential buildings, and to purchase and install needed equipment and fixtures.

Each loan will be scheduled for repayment over a period not to exceed 40 years at 5 per cent interest. Interested individuals should contact Claude Moore at the Agriculture Building in Clarendon.

Celery root is a knobby root in season from October through April. When buying, select firm, clean roots, suggests Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist. Serve it cooked or raw with hot melted butter and lemon juice.

May I take this means of expressing my appreciation and thanks to friends and neighbors for the cards, flowers, visits, words of encouragement and many other kindnesses shown me during my recent illness. Your thoughtfulness will always be remembered.
