Clarendon, Old and New
By ROBERT EBEY STOCKING

106 Berry, Stillwater, Okla. 74074

Clarendon owes its origin to the energy and enterprise of L.H. Carhart, a New Yorker by birth. He was a minister of the Northern Methodist Church and in one of the customary parish transfers, came south to Dallas, then to Sherman, Texas. It was there he heard of the bargain in land to the north: a section, 640 acres, for $100. When duty allowed, Carhart went north to see, accompanied by a brother-in-law, Rev. W.A. Allen and two friends: Dan Siebert and Jean Mosier. What they saw was a limitless expanse of waving grass: pristine, prismatic, thick, high, an herbivorous Eden.

Description of opportunity Carhart sent East to friends and relatives aroused prompt interest. One who heard was Albert Sully, another brother-in-law of resources beyond average. After a time, Carhart made a second trip and on return employed in Austin a firm of surveyors: Gunter and Munson. For their employer they outlined an empire: a strip running north from the JA Ranch (in operation then) to McClelland Creek, and in width from about nine miles west of present Clarendon, eastward to where Lella Lake sleeps: 343 sections, $34,300; 219,520 acres at $0.64 each, about sixteen miles wide by twenty-one long. It was a career for Carhart for he spent many years marketing piecemeal the empire.

Part of the career was townsite promotion. Nothing is known of the manner of choice of a site for Clarendon (obviously it was not farm-land) but he had the help, of two brother-in-laws: B.H. White and W.A. Allen. Located in 1878, two years after the Battle of Adobe Walls, last attempt of owners of the land to repel white invaders, original name of the new town was Carrollton, after Carhart's sister, Carroll, wife of B.H. White. The creek was similarly named. Not much later, after reorganization of finances of the venture of British and American capital, the town-to-be was renamed Clarendon, after Carhart's own wife, Clara. The Company, Clarendon Land and Investment Company, was similarly named.

Very few years later, the settlement was to have a name by the rougher element. Carhart's longtime partner, who had a vision of anyone planning a nation. Settling in the town were first without an owner: L.H. Carhart, the partner; William Grant, nephew of the partner; W.H. Allen, brother-in-law to Carhart and teacher in the earliest school; G.W. Graham and yet another whose name is lost. It was this concentration of superior virtue that prompted the last name: "Saint's Rest"

WANDA DEEN AND BILL EKLUND pose in Bill's new dry cleaning business.

Cleaners under new management

Yankee's do produce good people with merit. Bill Eklund is one of those Yankee's worthy of the subtitle, "Texan".

Bill came to Clarendon via a tortuous route. It began when his clothing business in New Jersey was robbed of the entire inventory. Without insurance on the goods and a 17% unemployment rate in New Jersey, Bill's only choice was to leave town for greener pastures.

Eklund hitchhiked across the country until he took a job with Burlington Northern Railroad and that eventually led him to Clarendon.

When he landed in town, Bill discovered softball as a means to make friends and while away his free time. Softball proved to be his golden opportunity for it was then that he met two people most instrumental in his becoming a new businessman in town.

Phil Hart was also on the softball team and the two became friends. Eklund also met June Topper who taught him many western and Clarendon customs that have helped him overcome his Yankee ways and to "adjust" to being a Texan.

Hart discovered that Eklund had had experience in the cleaning business and a deal was arranged in which Eklund will lease the operation for four years, then will become the owner of the cleaning establishment.

In addition to running a clothing business, Eklund has worked in other areas of business which qualify him to claim experience in all phases of owning a business. He spent three years working for the Naetone Cleaners in Brooklyn.

When you think of a cleaners, you imagine a home owned and operated business like Phil's Cleaners. That is a far cry from the sort of operation at Naetone Cleaners. There, dozens of people worked on a specific job such as pressing the bottom leg of a pair of trousers or removing spots or hanging the garment on hangers. Bill would learn how to do each and every part of the cleaning business, job at a time, in this manner.

On offense they will line up in a multiple set formation. Skipper Hodo #46 is a "Speedster" and does a good job running the ball. QB David Reynolds #4 is a good QB and he has a good receiver to throw to #83 Jody Bridges.

The Broncos will have to give another good effort on defense to control the speed of Skipper Hodo while the offense will be out to continue to put points on the board.

Bronchos play Quannah here Friday night

The Clarendon Broncos look for their second victory of the '81 season in hosting the Quannah Indians Friday night. Kick-off is 8 p.m.

Quannah comes into the game 0-1 as they dropped their season opener 20-12 to Childress. This is somewhat of a re-building year for the Indians as they graduated an excellent group of seniors.

The Indians on defense will use a "27" defense with some in certain situations.

Eighteen year olds must register for Selective Service

A list of Selective Service registrants born in 1962 and the first part of 1963 has been posted in the Donley County Courthouse.

According to Colonel Paul Dean Aikin, the State Director of Selective Service for Texas, the Military Selective Service Act requires that the names of Selective Service registrants be posted in a public place within each local board area.

Local Board tentative assignments have been made based upon the Zip Code of the registrants permanent home address.

Colonel Aikin says the law (the Military Selective Service Act) still requires all young men to register with Selective Service at age eighteen.

Currently, men born in 1963 are required to register within 30 days before or 30 days after their eighteenth birthday. Registration forms may be completed at any United States Post Office.

If any young man failed to register on time, he may clear his record by registering as soon as possible.

Presbyterian Church Fall Round-up

It is a Presbyterian Church Fall Round-up for church school beginning at 9:45 a.m. September 13.

If you need a ride to Sunday School call this number 874-3428. All classes will meet in the church basement.

June Trotter introduced them to each other. "Wanda is my right arm," Eklund went on. "She handles customers, helps press, does alterations and has helped bridge the gap between my being from New Jersey and becoming a Texan."

Eklund has two children living with him now, Stephen age 12 and Erik age 4. "The kids feel like: 'Hey, I've died and gone to heaven' here in Clarendon," Eklund said. "I grew up in a town of 5000 so I really feel comfortable here. We enjoy the Texas attitude and really enjoy being relaxed."

Eklund has worked nearly 24 hours a day trying to catch up on his work, repair the broken boilers and keep things running as he makes the transition. In fact, at 2 a.m. the sheriff's department dropped in to see what in the world was going on at that hour. Relaxed? Maybe, but Eklund is a "working fool".

Eklund claims regular hours of 8 until 6 with no closing at lunch. "I've learned how to eat standing over the pressing tables," he says with a wry smile. He also said that no matter how long it took, he would stay in the shop until he had his orders ready to get out on time.

"In spite of five boiler breakdowns recently, we strive to be on time," Eklund emphasized that problems may arise to prevent getting something out on schedule as promised, but both Bill and Wanda will do all in their power to prevent that from happening. "You can't get your clothes back quicker now," claims the new cleaners manager. "It won't do any good to take them out of town because you can get them done as well or better here and faster," now that Eklund intends to keep such workaholic hours to serve his customers!

"Cleaning revitalizes your clothes, not just cleans the dirt out, it actually helps give your clothes a new boost," Eklund said. "In addition to dry cleaning, we will plan on doing laundry service as GENELLA EADS, a twenty year veteran of the ASCS received her twenty year pin from Don Springer, chairman of the three county committee. Also congratulating her is Doyle Hall and Don Thornberry, both of the committee.

Eads at ASCS gets 20 year pin

Some of us can stick to a job at least 8 hours a day for a couple of years and then the smile begins to become fixed to the face, the job begins to look routine and the people in the office begin to look like worn out slippers: too familiar. Genella Eads has not found that a problem, evidently, because she has recently been honored with a 20 year pin for enduring the ASCS cheerfully and beyond the call of duty.

Genella began in 1961 working in a little building behind Bivens. The office moved again to a barracks type building behind the County Agents office where the dirt road is now. It finally moved to its current location in 1966.

"I've outlasted everybody," Genella says with a laugh. Mildred Ritters was the office manager when Genella began. She retired in 1972 after 33 years with the ASCS. Jerry Gage is the current "boss" and has a tough time keeping up with Genella's energy level.

The year Genella began work, there were 8 or 9 women in the office, 15 recorders in the field measuring the cotton and the office manager. Now there is Irene Gerner, Jerry Gage and Genella Eads.

The austere metal grey and white office is cheered considerably with Genella's bright face, sparkling smile and ready laugh. Farmers coming in with a problem are greeted efficiently and sympathetically by Genella. She can handle most of their problems from "do you find that pecan tree by the draw on that aerial photo?" to "my feet are killing me," as these hardy citizens of the county bring their business to the ASCS office.

The duties are many, the benefits are great but the people in the office and who come into the office have all had a great deal to do with the tenacity with which Genella Eads has done her job for 20 years!

Congratulations Jerry Gage for having such a super woman in your office! Thanks to Genella Eads for giving so cheerfully of herself to those she serves.

Rain and cotton

Concern has been expressed about the recent rainfall and the effect it might have had on the boll worm spraying that has been going on in the country. D & D Fertilizer said that if the spray had been on for at least four hours, that only 50% of the chemical would have been washed away. If the spraying had been done within the 12 hours prior to the rain, all of it would have been retained and the effectiveness would not have been diminished. The only farmers who suffered were those unlucky enough to have had the spray applied hours before the rain began. The helicopter working out of Hedley stopped only an hour before the rain began.

Most of the farmers will not have noticeable damage to the effectiveness of their spraying treatment.

Get back out and check your fields for worms

County Agent Ronald Gooch admonishes all farmers with cotton in the field to get back out and check the fields for new egg lay, and new egg hatches. Gooch says that "There has been a real heavy egg lay that will hatch the later part of this week." There are some fields that had an earlier egg lay which will hatch the early part of this week. It is important for the farmer to get out and check before it is too late.

The chemical spray has been effective and appears to be killing the newly hatched worms. Gooch said that he found this to be the case in several fields he investigated.

The Hedley area appeared to have the least infestation, and some of the farmers didn't spray as a result of the light boll worm egg lay. However, those that didn't spray are those that have heavily damaged crops.

"The important thing," Gooch said, "is to get back into the field and check."

Brownie and Junior Girl Scout uniforms needed

Anyone having Brownie or Junior Girl Scout uniforms that their children have out grown and would like to get out of the closet, please contact Mary Neal Risley, Girl Scout neighborhood chairman after 6 p.m. at 874-2284. We are getting started off on a new year of Scouting and it would be appreciated by Girl Scouts if you would help us get all the girls into uniform.

Seniors Brad Thompson, Junior Crump, Hosea Hearn and Bobby Weatherton put on a brilliant offensive show, while a stingy defense allowed only 100 total yards, as the Clarendon Bronchos scolded the Sanford-Fritch Eagles in the Bronchos' home opener, 18-3.

Four of Thompson's six completions and 144 of his 151 arial yards were to Crump, who was playing in his first football game in almost three years. One of those completions covered 88 yards and gave the Bronchos a 12-3 halftime edge.

Ironically, the Bronchos seemed in control for the entire game, as the statistics show. Yet the Eagles were within striking distance until the closing minutes of the game. This irony probably resulted from the Bronchos' habit of driving down the field and stalling, from either penalties or fumbles, interceptions or just plain loss of yardage. These common first game mistakes really saved what could have been a runaway. After a slow first quarter for the Bronco offense, the score stood at a deadlock, 0-0. But Sanford-Fritch drew first blood on a 32-yard field goal. The Bronchos bounced back, however, when Bobby Weatherton capped a 60-yard drive with a 17-yard touchdown run. Weatherton ended the game with 82 yards on 16 carries, averaging 5.1 yards per carry.

Toward the end of the first half, Clarendon found itself with sixty yards and three minutes on the clock the only thing separating them from paydirt. But a broken play and two penalties pushed the Bronchos back to their own twelve. That set up Thompson's bomb to Crump. Weatherton's PAT attempt went wide.

The Bronco defensive machine, which allowed only 100 yards and 8 first downs by the Sanford-Fritch offense, dropped Eagle runners for losses 13 times in the contest.

Hosea Hearn, the games leading rusher, exploded for 109 yards on only 11 carries, leading the Bronchos 383 yards total offense.

Mistakes were common on both sides, as Clarendon lost three fumbles while the Eagles lost two. The yellow flag was a common sight, also. Both teams were penalized six times, and both teams lost scores because of penalties. The Bronchos had a super TD catch by Brad Woodman nullified by a holding call, while a clip brought a 70-yard punt return back for Sanford-Fritch. For the Bronchos, it was about what was to be expected - early season mistakes, yet flashes of spectacular brilliance shown by offense and defense alike. For the Eagles, upsting the number 20 ranked team in the state (Harris) and according to Head Coach Ted Allen the best AA team in the Pan-handle was only a dream.

The Bronchos play the Quanah Indians at home Friday night, when they will try to take some scalps in revenge of a 35-8 thrashing they suffered last year. Now is the time to catch Broncho-mania!

Rock wall..Mend or Mesh

Superintendent Jeff Walker said that the repair to the recently collapsed rock fence that ran along the south end of the football field at the High School is either "permanently or temporarily repaired, depending on the money we can come up with later." The cost for the repair to the fence as it is, with a chain link fence embedded into a cement foundation, was actually more than they could justify, Walker said.

However, if there are parties interested in starting a fund to help re-build the stone wall to its original beauty and originality, they may contact Jeff Waler at 874-2062. This could be a great project for alumni associations, for past students to kick in a pledge or donation as a good way to leave their mark on the old alma mater.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character of any person or firm appearing in these columns will be gladly and promptly corrected upon being brought to the attention of the managment.

Community organizations such as sororities, Lions Club, Shriners, book clubs, art clubs, Bronco Boosters, etc. might consider making a project in which to raise money to put into a savings account or fund account which would be used toward the expense of putting that wall back up.

Give this some thought. As class reunions roll around, discuss it as a project worthy of mention and one that will last for many years to come. Contact the school immediately to let them know of your interest. Without your interest, the chain link fence will remain a permanent fence.

PSAT/NMSQT continues expanded services for students in 1981

Ethelyn Grady, director of guidance at Clarendon High has announced that new services introduced last year as part of the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT) will again be provided to students taking the test on October 27, 1981.

Before the test, students will receive the PSAT/NMSQT Student Bulletin which contains a Complete sample test with an answer key and scoring instructions. In December, students will receive a Report of Student Answers which displays the correct answers and the students' responses as well as scores. Schools will return test booklets at the same time so that students can review the original questions. Students will also receive About Your PSAT/NMSQT Scores, a booklet containing information on interpreting PSAT/NMSQT results and on general college planning.

The PSAT/NMSQT is co-sponsored by the College Board and National Merit Scholarship Corporation. It is administered annually to more than one million students and measures verbal and mathematical abilities that are important in college work.

The PSAT/NMSQT gives students a chance to find out what the College Board's Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) is like, and helps them in planning for college; further, students who opt to participate in the College Board Student Search Service have an opportunity to hear from colleges that they might not otherwise learn about. The PSAT/NMSQT is also the qualifying test for students who wish to participate in the nationwide scholarship competitions administered by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

The future hunting prospects is dependent upon the count of the area herds next year. Last year there was a 30% decline in the total antelope population. Permits were reduced last year by 30% with the understanding that if this years count were lower, there would be no permits issued.

Dvorak submitted this report to the Big Game Division and to Ted Clark, head of the TP & WD Wildlife Division, for approval. After consideration of the facts, the authorities have agreed that to help the future of the antelope herds in this area, there will not be any permits issued to the landowners this hunting year.

The TP & WD has obtained 700 "redband" trout, a strain of rainbow which apparently can withstand warm water.

Temperature tolerance experiments will be conducted on some of the fish to determine if their survival in Texas waters might be better than that of hatchery rainbows stocked each winter and spring in several Texas locations.

Here are some tips for the proper release of fish:

1. If possible, keep the fish in the water when unhooking; grasp the hook and try to free it without touching the fish.
2. Always avoid grabbing the fish's body. Grasp its lower jaw instead. Use a pair of fish-handling pliers or at least a pair of gloves to avoid

I was new at the job and didn't know what to do exactly. We had some folks sink a boat right there at the boat ramp." Welty grinned and said, "I

Lioness Club met

Nine members of the Hedley Lioness Club met Thursday, Sept. 3 for their first regular meeting of the fall. Sue Nivens, a guest brought by Sue Weatherly, quickly saw the fun and fellowship and joined the Lioness Club on the spot. It could have been the good food, the good cheer or the good intentions, but whatever the reason, we are glad to welcome Sue Nivens to our ranks.

We were all very glad to see Marty Tolver back with us after her recent serious operation. She looked as chipper and hale as ever and certainly her humor hasn't been harmed.

Insurance Agency moves

Bright red, white and blue signs have festooned the expanded building on highway 287, formerly Gene's Gifts, announcing itself to be the new location for the Donley County Farm Bureau offices.

Larry Summers, the agency manager, announced that the move took place Friday, August 28. The office staff dedicated several free hours to make the move at night so that office hours wouldn't be affected by the move.

Lloyd McCord is still the agent with the Farm Bureau.

JoDee Mincey, originally a part time secretary, has been full time gal-Friday since the latter part of August.

The telephone number will remain the same to avoid any confusion. Call 874-3597 for any information on the Farm Bureau.

The new location will better accommodate parking, will be much easier to locate and the spacious interior will make it easier to serve your needs more efficiently.

MINI-STROKES

At one time, it was thought that strokes occurred without warning. Now it is recognized that some individuals have mini-strokes prior to having a full-fledged stroke.

What is a stroke? A stroke is a blockage of one of the blood vessels in the brain. The vessel may be blocked with fat deposits, blood clots, or mere narrowing of the vessel's inside diameter. Strokes may result in paralysis of body parts; one may lose the ability to talk.

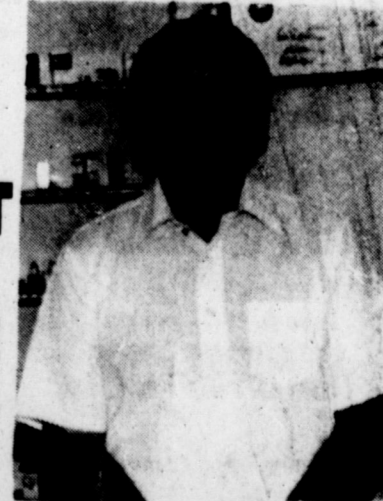

Mini-strokes have some of the same symptoms as strokes but last for minutes to hours...most last less than 45 minutes. Mini-strokes are known medically as transient ischemic attacks (abbreviated TIA's). Symptoms of mini-stroke include loss of vision, numbness of one side of the body, difficult speech, difficulty in performing a familiar task, inability to recognize a familiar face or object, and/or dizziness or disturbed balance.

Mini-strokes should be treated as medical emergencies. Early diagnosis may prevent a subsequent full-fledged stroke. Treatment may include administration of a drug that reduces the likelihood of blood clots forming in the brain (aspirin is used for this purpose).

Symptoms of mini-stroke should never be ignored. Many individuals can be spared disability when impending stroke is identified.

The manager kept passing by our table like he would stack the chairs with us in them if we didn't move on. Daze of Our Lives

By JEAN BURCHETT

Louise said if we went out to lunch without asking Janet she would just be crushed. When I called Janet she said if we hadn't already decided where we were going that Madge was dying to try the new restaurant on 50th. Madge invited Irene, and I never did figure out how the woman named Flo came into the picture. Anyway, by the time we found the restaurant and the carrying Irene lost in the car it was far past noon. Which was just as well, because if we had hit that place during the noon rush they would never have been able to handle us. "Oh my gosh," I heard the cashier groan when we came through the door. "Here comes a pack of many purses." "I'll just have a salad," Madge handed her menu to the waitress. "Which one would you recommend?" The waitress didn't have time to answer before Janet said, "Madge, you want more than a salad, try the bean soup. And I'm going to have... the shrimp creole. What all comes with that?" Irene said, "Now Madge, I'm going to get yours. I owe you a lunch." Flo said she was going to slurple and have the beef burgundy, not too much sauce. Janet told the waitress to change her order, the beef burgundy sounded better than the shrimp. The waitress left to sharpen her pencil and I was glad to have time to think whether I really wanted the steak like I'd said if Louise was having split chicken breasts. I hate it when another's food looks best. We all agreed that the restaurant was gorgeous. But as it turned out the service was lousy. I got pea soup and shrimp. Louise came up with a charbroil. Janet said she wasn't sure what they called hers, but it tasted like cheese quiche. Flo sent her plate to the kitchen. (I don't know her too well, but boy, she has brass!) Madge suggested that since we had come in my car it was only fair that the five of them pitch in and pay for my meal. Flo finally found a pen in the bottom of her purse and after a lengthy computation on the tablecloth, came up with a figure

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

SPECIAL ELECTION NOVEMBER 3, 1981

PROPOSITION NO. 6 ON THE BALLOT

above the spending limit provided by Article VIII, Section 22, of the Texas Constitution would be placed in a Water Assistance Fund to be used as provided by law, including projects for water development and conservation, water quality enhancement, and flood control purposes or any combination of these purposes.

The amendment also provides $500,000,000 of the general credit of the state to guarantee bonds issued in commercial markets by local political subdivisions, including cities, counties, and special districts. The amendment allows amounts to be established to decrease or retire state debt, which is defined as that debt secured by the full faith and credit of the state. The amendment would raise the interest that could be paid on authorized, but unissued, bonds guaranteed by the full faith and credit of the state from 6% to 12%.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the use of a portion of the excess revenues of the state for water development, water conservation, water quality enhancement, and flood control purposes; authorizing the use of the state's credit, not to exceed five hundred million dollars, to guarantee the bonds of cities, counties, towns, and other units of local government in the financing of projects for such purposes; increasing the interest rate that may be paid on previously approved, but unissued, state bonds; and authorizing a program to retire state bonds."

PROPOSITION NO. 7 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 4 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the Veterans' Land Board to issue and sell an additional $250,000,000 in bonds increasing the Veterans' Land Fund's total bond issuance authorization from $700,000,000 to $950,000,000. The amendment would increase the maximum interest payable by the state on these bonds from 6% to 10%, and permit an even higher rate, if specified by the legislature.

PROPOSITION NO. 5 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 49 proposes a constitutional amendment that would exempt livestock and poultry from taxation. Currently, farm products in the hands of the producer and family supplies for home and farm use are exempt.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to provide for the inclusion of livestock and poultry with farm products as exempt from taxation."

House Joint Resolution 6 proposes a constitutional amendment that would provide that one-half of the surplus tax revenues well. We will do some of it now, but later we plan on that being part of our over-all operation. There is a laundry next door, but that area will be expanded and modernized as well as better ventilated. That, however, is not part of the laundry plan under way. You can bring your dirty duds by and pick them up later, laundered, sorted and folded!

To make the new establishment a "complete cleaning service for Clarendon," Eklund has sub-contracted with a specialty cleaning business in Kansas City, MO where furs can be stored during the summer, leather goods can be cleaned and specialty garments such as furs and leathers repaired. The garments sent out will go covered with $500 insurance. This establishment has been in this business over 27 years.

Future plans include a face lift for the front of the store and a redesign for the customer area out front as well as better ventilation and cooling for the plant area.

Every piece of equipment will be replaced, "but intentions are well meant: we intend to do it," Bill said. There will be more job opportunities later such as a full time presser will be hired soon and later laundry workers will be needed as things expand.

"I believe in feeding the hand that feeds me," Eklund remarked. "I want to put my profits back into the community and to better serve my customers. What I make, I'll put into renovating the business so it'll be better for the customers. All I want is to live decently, eat well and put my sons through college."

Clarendon welcomes Bill Eklund and Wanda Deen in their new enterprise. We can already see that the quicker service will be a real benefit to those of us in a hurry. The upgrading of equipment will help the overall business grow and expand.

In addition to cleaning, if you are interested in conversational German, Bill speaks it fluently and will love to tutor you in that endeavor.

for dolls

Dolores Welty Hampton of Springfield, MO has been collecting antique dolls for about 7 years now. Her grown son and husband don't mind the hobby, in fact her husband has recently purchased several dolls that haven't even hit the market yet in her absence this summer. Her daughter, of course, loves the dolls that live all over her home, even sitting in high chairs in the kitchen!

Composition dolls are more valuable than the hard plastic. Of course, the bisque and ceramic dolls are highly prized by collectors. Composition dolls don't stand up to time very well, they get crazed, cracked, peel or break, Dolores said. She has three composition dolls in the collection she has made while spending her summer in Clarendon.

Dolores and her mother, Frankie Welty, have travelled all over Amarillo and the immediate area looking for dolls in junk stores, antique shops and garage sales. While looking for dolls, Dolores also looks for antique material, lace, do-dads and trim. "An old doll doesn't look good with modern material dresses. It takes away from them."

Using pictures of how the dolls are supposed to be dressed, Frankie makes her own patterns and completely dresses the dolls, "I even make their underwear," she said showing a pair of lacy petticoats and bloomers.

"I sew mostly by feel," joked Grandma Welty, "I don't see as good as I used to." The delicate and intricate sewing detail on the costumes belies that she can't see as well as you or I! She even makes rings and bracelets. Troy Welty has been recruited into making the crowns and tiaras.

"The closer you can dress the doll the way they look in the book, the more valuable they become," Dolores said. Frankie showed a gown on an ideal doll that she had duplicated down to the black lacy and pink rose bud cap in every detail.

The sewing is done both on the machine and a lot by hand. "Dolls don't bend like people so I have to put a pretty big slit in the back of the dresses to get them into them," Welty said. But these slits are sewn shut after the doll is dressed for a completely enchanting designer dolls' costume.

When asked if Frankie would consider doing this sort of doll sewing for the public, Troy answered with a resounding "NO!" So, this great skill, art and craft will be reserved only for the elite, the special: their daughter and her growing collection of fabulous antique dolls.

EVER CLOSE IN MIND AND HEART

No further away than a picture,
A smile or remembered phrase,
Our loved ones live in memory--
So close in so many ways,
For how often does a sunset
Bring nostalgic thoughts to mind
Of moments that our loved ones shared
In days now left behind!
How often has a flower,
Or a crystal autumn sky
Brought golden recollections
Of happy days gone by!
Memory has a magic way
Of keeping loved ones near--
Every close in mind and heart
Are the ones we hold most dear.

Brown Recluse Spider a local danger

The brown recluse spider, LOXOSCELES RECLUSA Gertsch or the "Fiddler spider", inhabits many southern and midwestern states, including Texas. It often lives around human dwellings and is found in bathrooms, bedrooms and closets; as well as under furniture, behind baseboards and door facings or in corners and crevices. It also likes cluttered cellars and garages. People are often bitten while they sleep, when they roll on a spider in bed. Others may be bitten by spiders trapped in the folds of clothing that has hung undisturbed for a long time.

The brown recluse is a nonaggressive spider that spins white or grayish non-descript webs. Its body and legs together cover about the same area as a quarter. The coloring of the recluse varies from an orange-yellow to dark brown or almost black.

The most distinguishing characteristics are the spider's eyes arranged in a semi-circle on the forepart of the head. The eyes also form the base of a violin-shaped marking on the back. The neck of the "violin" is formed by a distinct, short median groove.

Dr. Carl Hudson outlined the effects resulting from a brown recluse bite as beginning within the first 2-8 hours when there will appear a great deal of pain and swelling. A systemic reaction that can be quite severe will develop. Dr. Hudson said that after the initial swelling, a necrotic lesion will develop. This is dead skin tissue that will sluff off leaving an ugly wound. A granulomatous reaction will set in next which may leave a very deep and disfiguring lesion. This lesion may result in the necessity of having plastic surgery to cover the defect.

If you have a spider bite and cannot locate the spider, please go immediately to your doctor.

NUMB ARMS, LEGS Danger Signals

There may be misalignment of vertebrae in the spine causing pressure on nerves, yet the patient experiences no pain in the back. Instead, a variety of sensations may be felt in other parts of the body. These include tingling, tightness, hot spots, cold spots, crawling sensations, electric shock sensations, stinging, burning, and others.

Here are nine critical symptoms involving back pain or strange sensations which are usually the forerunners of more serious conditions. Any one of these usually spells back trouble.

- (1) Paresthesias (see above)
- (2) Headaches
- (3) Painful joints
- (4) Numbness in the arms or hands
- (5) Loss of sleep
- (6) Stiffness in the neck
- (7) Pain between the shoulders
- (8) Stiffness or pain in lower back
- (9) Numbness or pain in the legs.

These signals indicate that your body is being robbed of normal nerve function. Until this function is restored, you will, in some degree, be incapacitated. The longer you wait to seek help, the worse the condition will become. Don't wait! Should you experience any of these danger signals... call for in depth consultation in Laman's terms.
