New Years dance to be held for high school and college students at Mickey's

Denise and Mickey Grady purchased the Bain Drug Store building last summer and have been busy remodelling since that time. They have painted the drug store part of the building white and trimmed it in black, layed a new floor, and then tiled it with black and white squares. They are busy putting in a fountain which was purchased out of the Hedley Cherry Drug Store, have built new counters and purchased some of the old fixtures which had been sold at auction from the Bain Building and they will be installed soon. The remodelling is not completely finished and a feature story on Denise and Mickeys plans for the building when complete, will come later.

For right now...they plan on having a New Years Eve Dance. This of their General Telephone monthly dance will be designed for High School and College age students but number effective with their January anyone wishing to attend will be bills. welcome.

GTE has new toll-free number

General Telephone customers with questions about charges shown on the AT&T Communications portion statements will call a new toll-free

Jerry West, Memphis operations manager for General Telephone, said the new AT&T number will be sown beginning in January at the top of the page(s) listing AT&T long-distance calls and services billed by General Telephone.

He added that customers with questions about calls or services shown on the General Telephone portion of their bills will continue to call the General Telephone number shown on the statement. "The only change for customers will be that they call the AT&T number when they have questions concerning AT&T services," West said. GTE personnel will be available to answer questions about non-AT&T long-distance charges appearing on the GTE bill. General Telephone will continue to provide customer billing and collection services for AT&T's customers under a recently announced five-year agreement between GTE telephone coperating companies and AT&T. The only change will be that AT&T will answer customer questions about AT&T long-distance calls and services.

was kept busy over the holiday with a robbery at Mary's Country Kitchen, vandalism at Chamberlain Motor Company, and highway signs and Christmas decorations were stolen. Sheriff Jimmy Thompson stated, "If the person or persons who stole the Christmas decorations out of the Paul Bivens yard and those who took the highway signs will return them to the Sheriffs office, no questions will be asked. If I have to go and pick them up, charges will be filed."

Anything that is valued over $750.00 is a felony and may carry a fine of a thousand dollars, a six month jail term or both. The theft of the highway signs could carry from 2 to 10 years in jail.

Two Clarendon and three Pampa residents were arrested for the December alleged theft of more than $5,000 from Mary's Country Kitchen as well as guns, adding machines, a camera and some misc. items from the office.

Arrested and charged with theft of a building were Desmond P. Jackson, Damond A. Towns, and Ernest Brown, Jr. all of Pampa and Betty A. Baldwin and Connie D. Ballard of Clarendon. The money and mer-

Susan Fox will direct a parentoriented workshop in the school cafeteria at the regularly scheduled PTA meeting January 6th at 7:00 p.m. Ms. Fox holds a B.S. in counseling and human services from Texas A&M University. She is the director of Family Services in Clarendon, Wellington and Memphis.

A communication skills inventory will be part of the meeting. A study of self-concept, a basic key to communication, will include understanding defense mechanisms and self-fulfilling prophecy in children. Ms. Fox will discuss perception and listening vs. REALLY hearing what others are saying. The last section of the workshop requiring audience participation will be nonverbal communication: Messages without words.

Due to the nature of the meeting, parents are asked to attend without their children. However, child care will be provided for those who cannot arrange for alternative care. The PTA urges you not to miss this opportunity to improve your parenting skills because you cannot find a baby sitter.

Ms. Fox has two daughters and lives in Clarendon. She has worked with abused women and children in Beaumont, with the Texas Department of Corrections as a counselor and was with the Department of Human Services for four years. She was born and raised in Amarillo.

announced that the company has begun its fifth annual public solicitation effort in support of Project HAP'N (Heating Assistance Program for the Needy). Information explaining the scope of the program will be included in Lone Star's billing envelopes. A pre-addressed return envelope can be used for mailing in donations.

The local agency coordinating distribution of the heating bill assistance in Clarendon is the Donley County Texas Panhandle Community Action Agency.

Lone Star initiated the special program in 1982 to help the needy pay heating bills. Since that time, over $632,000 has been donated to this program through public support and Lone Star's contributions. These contributions have helped more than 7,000 families in cities served by Lone Star.

The program is administered by the Community Council of Greater Dallas a non-profit agency engaged in coordination of social services. All of the Project HAP'N donations are used in helping people throughout the Lone Star system.

In addition to Project HAP'N, Lone Star Gas also has available the Deferred Payment Plan and an Average Bill Plan for the convenience of those who can pay their bills, but prefer equal monthly payments over the entire year, or who need to pay a current bill in reasonable installments.

Drugs and drinking... why take the risk?

Millions of people take drugs every day and most are unaware that many of these substances affect their driving skills. alcohol, tranquilizers, marijuana, and a variety of other drugs can affect the mental and physical skills needed for safe driving-even some over the counter medicines can affect driving.

The effects of a drug vary significantly from one individual to the next, and even vary in the same individual at different times. The driver's age, sex, weight, emotional state, the amount of drug and when it was taken, are all factors which influence the ability to drive safely.

Taking more than one drug at a time is expecially dangerous because each one can add to the impact of the other. This is particularly true when one of the drugs is alcohol.

Alcohol, a min-altering drug that works as a sedative, changes the way a person thinks and acts. It affects judgment and coordination, and is a factor in 50 percent of America's highway deaths. In 1984, more than 23,500 American died in alcoholrelated crashes.

It is a well-known fact that alcohol increases the sedative effect of tranguilizers and barbiturates (sleeping pills). Mixing these drugs, on or off the road, is extremely hazardous.

Even caffeine, a stimulant in coffee and tea, which is supposed to help the drowsy driver stay alert, cannot make an impaired driver sober. Studies show that caffeine does not improve an inebriated subject's driving. You simply have a wide-awake drunk on your hands.

Marijuana is also a mind-altering drug. Its use affects a wide-range of skills needed for safe driving. Quick thinking and reflexes are slowed, causing drivers difficulty in responding to sudden unexpected events. Also, a driver's ability to "track" (staying in lane) through curves, to brake quickly, and to maintain speed and the proper distance between cars is attected.

Research clearly indicates that normal levels of driving performance are not regained for at least 4-6 hours after smoking a single marijuana cigarette. Drinking alcohol in combination with smoking marijuana greatly increases the risk of accident. LSD, PCP, and other illegal hallucinogens distort judgement and reality, cause confusion and painic, and can produce sever mental problems resulting in strange and violent behavior. Clearly, these kinds of drugs could severly impair driving ability.

Driving requires a combination of thought and motor skills, a great deal of common sense, and a concern for the safety of everyone on the road. Safe driving requires an observant eye, a steady hand, and a clear head. By mixing drugs with driving, you are only asking for trouble. Why take the risk?

The Clarendon Press, Thursday, Jan. 1, 1987

Well, I finally got my Christmas shopping done. We went to Clarendon Monday and I hurried to get it finished because we went to Amarillo and spent a very enjoyable evening with Harry and Cheryl Rowley and Jeff. We had dinner with them and after visiting Jeff took us around over town and we saw the lovely decorations. There were literally millions of lights in every imaginable shape and color in Bishop Hills. In addition to the traditional Nativity scenes and the Santas, we saw all kinds of animals, from reindeer to racoons and skunks. I never saw so many pretty lights in my life.

I had a card and letter from Elsie Shaw. She told me to tell everyone hello for her. She also said she stopped in Hedley recently and had coffee with Othel. She was enroute home to Dublin from Amarillo.

The Hedley Baptist and Methodist congregations had their monthly joint service Sunday, December 21st. The musical program was enjoyed by a full house. The choir sang a number of songs and were joined by the congregation on others. The children's choir, under the direction of Mrs. Debbie Roberts, sang "Away in a Manger". Amanda Ward and Norma Andiverdi both sang solos. Other special music included Mack and Judy Garrison, Jon Leggitt, Sharyn Morrow and me. But, to me, the highlight of the evening was when JoAnn Bailey sang "The Light of the World is Jesus" as the choir and congregation had candles lighted. It was a touching and moving scene to watch the faces become illuminated by the candles. one by one. The service was followed by refreshments in the fellowship hall and the young, and young at heart, enjoyed a visit with Santa. Almost everybody had company or went visiting during the holidays. Christmas Eve, Harry Rowley and Jeff came and hunted in our pasture. I don't think they found anything to shoot, but they had fun hunting. In fact, I think that's the reason Harry comes down. Not to shoot anything, but just for the opportunity to get out of the city and into the great outdoors. Both his boys enjoy coming with him, but Robert has to work, and so doesn't get to come so often as Jeff. Harry's wife, Cheryl comes when the snakes and spiders and crawly things are in hibernation. Roy and Juanita Brown had all their kids home during the holidays. Those enjoying their hospitality were Grace Burkhalter, Rhonda Nutt. Ricky Nutt, Gail Roland, Nita, Bryan, Johnny, and Jackie of Dell City, Oklahoma. R.L. and Marie Norton of Memphis, Doug and Debbie Stitsell and April, Kay Miller and Sid Ketchum, Tony and Nell Bramblett, Daniel, Angel, and Walter and Monica Koenig of Amarillo, Johnny and Kay Brown, Wade, Jesse, and Donnie of Austin, Mrs. Rhuy Ketchum and Glen Ketchum of Wellington, Roy, Jr. and Sue Brown, Les,

Susan, and Cindy, Alvin and Tammy Bramblett, April and Tim, Helen Crump, Karen and Kim, Jess and Callie Bridges, and Mrs. Mildred Lett all of Hedley.

Opal Clendennen returned recently from a visit with her brothers and sisters. Southwest Airlines gave tickets to a number of Senior Citizens and Opal was one of the lucky ones. The airline paid her airfare and the equivelent of seven days hotel fees. Opal opted to stay with her relatives instead of a hotel. AWAY WITH WARTS

% % Discount on Prescriptions

Children between the ages of 12 and 16 seem to have more warts than other age groups. The fingers, hands, and arms are the skin areas most commonly affected. Even if not treated most warts disappear in one to two years.

People hold many beliefs regarding the cause of warts-including the handling of frogs. Warts are actually caused by infection due to different viruses. Small children can propagate warts as they spread the virus through finger sucking.

The only way to effectively get rid of warts is to remove them or have them removed via a chemical or physical procedure. The nonprescription wart removers contain a mild acid [salicylic] that loosens the hardened skin of which the wart if composed. Over time, the softened wart may be scraped from the skin. Prescription wart removers work in a similar manner.

Physicians may remove warts by freezing them with liquid nitrogen. This procedure is commonly performed by skin specialists [dermat-ologists] and some family physicians.

A PROMISE TO HEAR

As you finish the Christmas meal this year, and you have an opportmity to reflect on this past year. Don't take your mistakes into the New Year if it is in your power. But look forward to a New Year with a hope and faith in your Christ and take him with you Each Day, for a day without him will bring on the nistakes that drag us down into the pits of dispair. Look up each day and give thanks to a God who would like to hear from you. He has things for you that you are not aware of. If you don't know him make this New Year him you will Find him. For he said in word "Before they call I will answer while they are still speaking I will hear." Maybe your prayers are but a few words long, addressed to him from your heart. He has ised to hear and answer.

A BRIGHT NEW YEAR FOR OUR HEARTLAND

As America prepares to begin a new year, our nation has a great deal for which to be thankful. Employment and prosperity have returned to many sectors of the U.S. economy, and the mood of many Americans is an upbeat one.

Unfortunately, this has not been the case in America's heartland. Across rural America, prosperity has not returned, and many traditionally prosperous sectors of the economy have fallen on hard times. In particular, American agriculture is facing a climate of uncertainty and despair. The time for speedy and positive action is long past due.

This past month, however, work began on implementing the type of actions that will return prosperity to rural America. Over the course of two meetings in Des Moines, Iowa and Chicago, Illinois, Congressional and state leaders from across the heartland have embarked on a course aimed at increasing the income of American farmers and regaining their world markets.

Organized by Senator Robert Dole (R-KS), the Republican Task Force on Farm and Rural America this past week endorsed a series of recommendations aimed at implementing a U.S. farm policy which: improves prices, makes U.S. exports competitive in world markets, is consistent and predictable, is simple, and is budget responsible. This working group, of which I am a member, is committed to helping American agriculture advance to a point where it can finally see the light at the end of the tunnel.

Additionally, the working group recognized that the economic crisis in rural America is as severe for local businesses and entire communities as it is for farmers. Many small cities and towns and businesses are in critical danger of collapse, and there is a real need for action on rural development that will complement what we do with the farm program. Specifically, the Task Force called on the President to establish a White House Conference on the Future of Rural America in order to develop initiatives aimed at revitalizing our small towns and rural communities by diversifying their economies and improving their infrastructures. Among these initiatives, we felt it was important to establish policies that will ensure the improvement of basic services-such as health care, transportation and communication facilities for all rural Americans.

The working group also endorsed a proposal that I introduced in late 1985 to help ensure a more even playing field for our farmers in the world market. This measure, known as the Foreign Agriculture Investment Reform (or F.A.I.R.) bill, would end the U.S. government's absurd practice of subsidizing foreign agricltural exports through loans extended by organizations like the World Bank. Over the course of its two meetings, the Task Force has made good progress towards agreement on the types of policies that will work for all rural Americans, and a third meeting is being planned for January. For it is only through cooperation of this nature among our leaders that we can hope to ensure a bright new year for the citizens of America's heartland.

VA Home loans score record year

A record number of home loans were guaranteed by the Veterans Administration if fiscal 1986, the highest in the program's 42-year history. During the 12-month period that ended September 30, 1986, VA loan guaranties totaled nearly $22 billion.

During the same period an even greater amount of VA commitments were issued, totaling $35 billion. The commitments, which are agreements by the VA to guarantee a loan if it is closed, indicate the home loan boom will continue into the new fiscal vear.

"Our experience reflects favorable market conditions and low interest rates during the past year," said Thomas K. Turnage, Administrator of Veterans Affairs. "But it would not have been possible without the hard work and ability of VA personnel across the country to cope with the boom."

Stocker Conference to focus on beef diet

"Beef Up America's Diet" is the theme of the 1987 Texas Stocker Calf Conference at the National Guard Armory here Jan. 8.

Conference registration begins at 12 noon and concludes at 7 p.m. with a keynote address by Jo Ann Smith of Micanopy, Fla., past president of the Natonal Cattlemen's Association and current chairman of the NCA's Beef Promotion and Research Board. A registration fee will be charged to cover conference proceedings and an evening meal.

Marlin has hosted the conference the past four years. The city is the county seat of Falls County, the self-proclaimed "Stocker Cattle Capital of Texas.""

The county annually boasts some 90,000 head of stocker calves on about 95,000 acres of small grain (wheat and oats) pasture, points out Norval Haile, Falls County agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. More than 120,000 head of stockers can be found on small grains in the Central Texas Blackland area.

"The stocker calf industry revolves around good quality forage provided by wheat and oat pastures," H'ile points out. "Farmers with wheat and oats can generate additional inco come by putting stocker calves on almost double the $11.45 billion guaranteed in fiscal 1985, exceeds by $5 billion the previous record $16.07 billion set in 1979.

In fiscal 1986 some 313,469 home loans were guaranteed by the VA, the largest number since fiscal 1979 when 364,578 guaranties were recorded. By comparison, 178,931 home loans were guaranteed in fiscal 1985.

The demand for VA loans jumped significantly following a drop in the interest rate to 91/2 percent on March 3, 1986. The rate was reduced again to 9 percent on November 24, 1986.

Veterans can use VA-backed guaranties to purchase, construct, alter, improve, repair or refinance conventional homes, condominiums and manufactured housing. The loans allow veterans to obtain. mortgages with little or no downpayment and are made by private lenders.

their fields to graze for 100 to 150 days, with a daily gain of about 1.5 to 1.75 pounds. The stocker program is geared to take 400-pound calves and put 200 to 300 pounds of gain on them before they move to feedlots." According to Haile, the 1987 Stocker Calf Conference will feature 27 educational booths and e exhibits by livestock allied industries plus 13 mini seminars on various phases of stocker cattle and beef production and marketing, including new beef products and future trends in the cattle industry.

The conference is an educational program of the Falls County Beef Committee and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Page 8 The Clarendon Press, Thursday, Jan. 1, 1987 Researchers Find Even Ordinary Activity Has Benefits Dr. Jack Bullock

Chances are you may have heard someone say something to the effect, "I don't care if I live a day past the age of sixty."

That's just the way they feel until they reach fifty-nine.

Today, in spite of the numerous health hazards we face, Americans are living longer than ever before up to 71.1 years for men and 78.3 years for women.

The group of citizens over 60 has grown four times as fast as the population as a whole. There were less than five million Americans over 60 in 1900. According to the U.S. Census Bureau, more than one in five Americans - or more than 45 million people - were at least 50 years old in 1980 and this percentage will continue to grow.

While a regular program of exercise is generally recommended for good health at all ages, the benefits of ordinary activity are not being overlooked.

According to Terry Monahan writing in the medical publication, The Physician and Sports Medicine, some researchers now believe that it's activity in our lives - not our ability to compete in a marathon that guarantees longevity. It's the activities we enjoy without being "told to" that these researchers hope to promote.

In the same article, Dr. Ronald E. LaPorte, associate professor at the Graduate School of Public Health. University of Pittsburgh, says increased activity is associated with increased life expectancy.

Picasso painted until the age of 91, Katherine Hepburn was 72 when she won an Oscar for On Golden Pond and author James Michener continues to write at 79. And, let's not forget Ronald Reagan, our oldest president at age 75.

Dr. LaPorte says people should be more active. For example, sitting is better than lying, walking is better than sitting and so on. According to the doctor, people will get results with an ordinary activity program.

And, new medical technology is now shewing that the benefits of ordinary activity is having far-reaching implications for thousands of people who - up to now - have had difficulty with almost any kind of activity.

About 80,000 people in the United States receive single chamber heart pacemakers each year. Since they were first introduced in 1960, fixed rate pacemakers have been the only units available. The average fixed rate pacemaker is set at 70 beats per minute and greatly limits activity of the wearer.

Researchers for Medtronic, Inc, in Minneapolis — the world's leading manufacturer of heart pacemakers tackled the problem and pioneered the concept of "rate responsive pacing" with the development of the Activitrax cardiac pulse generator. Medical experts report that rate responsive pacing and the simple activity-sensing cardiac pulse generator are the most significant advances in cardiac pacing in the last decade. Rate responsive pacemakers sense body activity and automatically adjust the heart rate as needed from 60 to 150 beats per minute. Just an to teach computer math at Clarendon College Research has shed new light on sweetness.

The Food and Drug Administration's recent task force report on sweeteners came to some interesting conclusions about what sugar does not do. Sugar, the FDA says:

 Does not cause diabetes Does not make children hyperactive

 Does not prevent people from getting needed nutrients. In addition, the government study could find no proof that sugar makes people fat --in fact it found overweight people tend to eat less sugar than do lean people—or that it causes tooth decay. Now that seems a scientific study that's a pleasure to swallow.

Cotton conferences to focus on competitive edge edge, and they will be exposed to inforemation to gain that edge at the 1987 Beltwide Cotton Conferences Jan. 5-8 at the Loews Anatole Hotel here.

The conferences kick off with special sessions on cotton quality and short-season cotton production the first day. Other sessions will focus on plant growth regulators, farm, legislation, irrigation, diseases, pest control, wind damage, financing, fertilization, harvesting, ginning, neps, seed quality, marketing, economics, crop simulation, regulatory matters, and new cotton

Nowhere else can cotton growers hear from so many experts on the latest state-of-the-art technology, production practicers, economic forecasts and a wealth of other information to help maintain their competitiveness," says Dr. Carl Anderson, cotton marketing economist with the Texas Agricultural Exte tension Service and chairman of the cotton economics and marketing sessions. "The conference offers a host of dynamic topics that producers shouldn't miss," notes Anderson. "Discussions on the new tax law, the '987 cotton program, the international cotton market, and marketing alternatives will help producers become mo . knowledgeable of the kind of crop situation they will be facing in the yhear ahead." The cotton market likely will be fairly volatile in the coming year, so producers have to learn to read it a little better to take advantage of price changes, the economist points out. The bottom line is that U.S. farmers can remain competitive if they can minimize production costs and know what the market is offering at any given time," says Anderson. The economist believes that sessions on the economics of renting and leasing cotton machinery, using microcomputers in machinery management, and the latest on-farm practices from land preparation to harvesting will be of particular interest to cotton producers.

The annual conferences conclude with 10 technical sessions the final two days which also will deal with a wide range of topics related to cotton. production and marketing.

The conferences are being coordinated by the National Cotton Council and The Cotton Foundation in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, state landgrant universities, agricultural chemical and equipment industries, and state and regional cotton organizations.

HELPFUL HINTS

• Know what kind of disk to get. Most of today's personal computers use 5 1/4" floppy disks. Then there are single-sided or double-sided disks...single density or double density. Double-sided and double density disks can store more data. The salespeople at a computer specialty store can help you determine what you need.

• To help disks last longer, keep them away from dust. Keep them in their protective sleeve when not in use. Never touch the delicate inner disk with your fingers. • Store disks away from heat, such as direct sunlight or a radiator.

• Store disks vertically to avoid warping. • Use only a soft felt-tipped marker to label disks.
