Family history book to be published

Donley County history book, "Donley County Land O Promise" written by Virginia Browder is no longer in print. Eakin Publication, who printed the book, advised Mrs. Browder that when they moved their operation to Austin, that all the negatives for the book were destroyed.

Mrs. Browder, The Clarendon Press and the city library have all reported that they still continue to receive calls for history of the county.

Because of this The Print Shoppe has decided to undertake the publication of a "Family History" of Donley County families.

You may be contacted in the near future and ask about your family history. If you do not receive a call in the next month, and you would like to have your family history published in this issue, you should contact Vonna Tunnell at The Print Shoppe, 874-2711, and talk to her about it.

It is hoped that this book can be published by Christmas, so it can be in time for your Christmas shopping.

More information will be published in the next week or so.

Clarendon experiences hot dry weather

How hot is hot, weatherwise that is? We can't answer that question, but anyone who has been around this past week can tell you how hot 106 and 107 degree temperature is.

In 1985, Clarendon only recorded 6 days when the temperature registered 100 or more degrees. There were 2 days in June, 3 in August and one in September which had 100 or more. The hottest day was on August 24 with 102 degrees.

This past week Clarendon weather man Tommie Saye recorded four days of 100 or more. They registered 103, 104, 106, and 107.

There is no relief in sight according to the weather bureau.

KIMBERLY WOOTTEN, Beth Barbee, and Josh Shields are enjoying participating in one of the interesting activities that Jackie Sanders provides in her Arts and Crafts class for Texas Reading Club members each Tuesday morning at Burton Memorial Library. Jackie's class has been one of the highlights of the special program each week. The final program will be next Tuesday, August 5, from 10:00 a.m.-11:45 a.m.

Farm Aid Congress to meet

The Farm Aid Congress will meet in the Clarendon College auditorium at 7:30 p.m. on August 11. All interested persons are invited to attend.

The purpose of the United Farmer and Rancher Congress is to provide a forum for the sharing of problems and their solutions for the family farmer. Recommendations for action will be carried to the congress by the approximately 1500 delegates who are being elected in some 500 meetings being carried on in the 48 contiguous United States between July 16 and August 30 of this year.

The delegates who are being selected in a democratic, grass roots program will bring to the congress the problems and solutions as identified by the farmers and ranchers they represent. Meeting in caucuses and forums at the congress, the delegates should be able to identify shared problems and possible solutions. It is the hope of the United Farmer and Rancher Congress steering committee that this cross-section of the American farm community can respond to repeated requests from members of the U.S. Congress to not only identify the real problems of the family farmer, and the causes, but to also suggest ways and means by which the U.S. House of Representatives and the U.S. senate, together, can move to aide the plight of the American farming and ranching family.

Commercial filmed in Clarendon

If you were down town Clarendon this past week, and you thought maybe the town had been invaded, and you had slipped and fallen back in time to the 1950's, you could be right.

The Mulkey Theatre was the setting for shooting a Guess Jean TV commercial. It was filmed by Gregory Lunn Chalenge and shot in Clarendon for three days.

They had some 30 Clarendon teenagers dressed appropriately for the 1950's era, and the film was mostly shot in and around the theatre.

The commercial will be aired on prime time television sometimes in September according to Lyssa O'Brien, a representative of Guess Jeans.

The Clarendon Press has done an interview with several members of the commercial company and will have a feature story next week.

A SIGNATURE TELLS IT ALL

A signature is like a calling card, a trademark with a personality all its own.

For handwriting analysts, a signature reveals drive, endurance, goals, purpose, determination, leadership, comprehension, integrity, compatibility and emotions.

"Each signature is very unique," said Ruth Holmes, a certified handwriting analyst. "The amount of information (a signature reveals) is really quite astounding."

"Handwriting is the key to personality," she said.

Signatures are also an important part of The Stroh Brewery Company, the world's largest family-owned and operated brewer.

Stroh family signatures span over 200 years when Johann Peter Stroh began brewing beer in Kirn, Germany. For six generations the signature of the company president has stood behind the quality of its beers.

Today, the Stroh Company has added the signature of Peter W. Stroh, chairman and chief executive officer of the company, to its super premium beer with the same revealing name—Signature. Signature is an appropriate name for this beer which also reveals personality. It is the beer for everyone who "thirsts for something extra."

Signature drinkers are telling the world they are willing to meet life's challenges head on, that they stand apart from the crowd, and are involved in what's going on in the world.

Instead of watching TV, Signature drinkers are out getting more from life—they're skiing, golfing, sailing or playing tennis.

After a national expansion May 12, Signature is available throughout the United States and in parts of Europe.

McAnear reunion held July 26, 27

The children of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fed McAnear held their annual family reunion Saturday and Sunday, July 26 and 27 in the community center building of Clarendon. The group of 125 enjoyed visiting and discussing family histories. Occasionally someone would tell something or call someone's name that would fill a missing link in the family chain that is being traced. The most interesting and informative information was a small tin box Carl Jones brought that was full of memorandums and documents dating back as far as 1814. Much information will be gained from its contents.

Barbecue sandwiches and home made ice cream were enjoyed by all Saturday night. The annual chicken and beef barbecue and all the trimmings, prepared by local chefs, was the highlight of the day Sunday. Besides the usual snapshots taken Mike McAnear and B.B. Osburn brought their VCR cameras and filmed the occasion. B.B. has been a friend of the McAnear family since he was a young boy. We want to express a special thank you to him.

Cody and Pat McAnear were surprised with a birthday cake and the group sang "Happy Birthday" to them. After doing so we learned quite a few had birthdays in July so all of them were wished a "Happy Birthday."

The children of Fed and Virgie McAnear attending were Mr. and Mrs. J.G. McAnear, Mr. and Mrs. J.A. McAnear, Mr. and Mrs. T.W. McAnear, Mr. and Mrs. Fed McAnear, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Sam McAnear. A sister Mary Sellman and her husband were unable to attend. We have had a death in the family since our last meeting. Our sister, Lucil Ray, passed away May 27, 1986.

We also have lost in death two nephews, Tim Ray and Jon Wilhite. Also our dear beloved Lois (McAnear) Jones of Dozier, Texas.

Local relatives attending were Cody and Starlet McAnear, Shane, Shonda and Ty and Tami Swinney, Durwood Ray, Vicki Wilhite, Connie and Dawn, and Lorine, and Ronnie, Melinda, Jennifer, Todd, Elizabeth,

Out of town relatives were Jay and Pam Barrett, Pampa; Jerry and Brenda Barrett and Judy, Bill, and Steven Monk, Kevin, Audra and Ginger McAnear, Canyon; Dan, Robbie, Matthew, and Kristen Ray, Alpine; Bill and Mary Bufkin, Don McAnear and Barbara Ray, Donna, Katie and Dustin Harmon, all of Amarillo; Deanna, Mike and Lisa McClesky, Denton; Sheliah, Harry, Aaron, Jarrod and Trevor Babbitt, Pampa; Rodney and Jeanne McAnear and Jeanie Echols of Rockwall, Texas; Debe, Steve, Mark, Wesley and Kirk Land, Panhandle; Irene and Wallace Smith, Dallas, Travis and Marie Strickland, Weatherford; Dewey McAnear, Snyder, J.C. McAnear, McLean; G.S. and Geraleene Strickland, Levelland; Carl Jones, Dozier; Danny, Mary, Keith, Lisa and Scott McAnear, Lubbock; Herbert McAnear, Plainview; Roy R. and Letha McAnear, Bowie, Texas; Edwin and Anna McAnear, White Deer; and Donna Kingston, Pampa.

New found McAnear descendants attending were Cheri McAnear Barkman, Meridian, MS; Joyce Webster and Mark McMahon, Thackerville, OK; Nora Dewbre, and Clara Brown, Ringling, OK; Rosie Mae Golson, Healdton, OK; and Beverly and Buddy Wilkerson of Amarillo.

Guests this year were Beth Scotch, Roy Ferguson, Erin Rogers, Faye Vargas, B.B. Osburn and Dorcus.

Several either wrote or called expressing their regrets for not being able to attend.

The oldest member present was Nora Warren Dupre of Ringling, OK who is 82. The two youngest babies were Wesley Land, son of Debe and Steve Land of Panhandle and Scott McAnear, son of Danny and Mary McAnear of Lubbock, who are 15 months old. The one traveling the farthest was Sheri McAnear Bachman of Meridian, Mississippi.

A FIGURE OF SPEECH

Weight Watchers Area Director

Exercise Tips for People Who Can't Stand Aerobics

Many people have suffered through the agonies narrated by "experts" on their now famous aerobic workout tapes, convinced that soon the aches and pains will subside leaving a lean new figure.

But, if you're one of those people who can't stand such a workout—with its accompanying kick, lift and push, push, push—then the thought of exercising may leave you in a cold sweat.

Well, take heart. Exercise doesn't have to be a test of strength and endurance. After all, exercise isn't a prerequisite for weight loss, but it certainly can increase the rate at which you lose.

Before embarking on any type of exercise program, make sure you're in good health. Your physician can advise you of any precautions you should take and what your acceptable heart rate zone should be while exercising.

Exercise that is done regularly, at an easy level, over a long period of time, can help you reach and stay at your goal weight. "Slow and steady" rather than "strain and sprain" is the best approach. Two simple activities which can speed weight loss and strengthen you physically are walking and stair climbing.

To begin a program of walking, all you need is a pair of sensible walking shoes and a place to walk.

Walk on a city sidewalk, a level country road or in a shopping mall. Before you begin, warm up by doing some simple stretches and five minutes of easy walking.

You may wish to begin with only five minutes of walking and gradually work up to 55 minutes or more. Begin at a comfortable pace you can keep for the entire time of the walk. If you are breathless or very tired, you may be pushing yourself too hard. If the walk seems too easy, go faster next time.

To begin a program of stair climbing, climb a flight of stairs to the floor above. You should climb no faster than two steps per second. After reaching the next floor, take a brief rest by walking around for one minute. Then proceed to the next floor.

If you climb stairs with 8 to 10 steps per flight, you should climb only 6 flights each time during your first week, gradually working up to about 24 flights after 10 weeks. If you climb stairs with 13-15 steps, climb 4 flights the first week and gradually work up to 15 flights.

After exercising, check your pulse to make sure you're within the range your doctor recommended.

Soon you'll notice your body becoming toned and firmer. You'll feel more peppy and healthy. And, as you continue to exercise, you also will notice that your resting and exercise pulse counts will be lower.

In addition to exercising, take a frank look at your level of physical activity. Your lifestyle is probably a lot more sedentary than you think. With a little thought, you can increase your level of movement. Here are some examples:

- If you have a simple errand to run only a few blocks away, don't drive, walk!
- Take the stairs rather than the elevator whenever you can.
- When you're watching television, don't just sit there. Do some simple exercises.

Remember, like a sensible weight loss program, sensible exercise should fit into your lifestyle and be enjoyable. If it's not, chances are you won't be able to maintain the program long enough to stay in shape.

Weight Watchers, America's number one weight loss program, has been helping people lose weight safely for more than twenty years. If you would like more information about what to look for in a safe weight reduction program, call toll free in Texas 1-800-692-4329.

"A SALUTE TO PETE BROMLEY"

Lubbock -- He took his wooden paddle with athletic tape on the end and applied a light tap to the posterior of each of twenty boys lined up along the gymnasium wall.

"This is yore vaccination," he explained as he moved down the line, speaking slowly and padding each bottom. "Wanna make sure you don't get in trouble this year, and ah wanna acquaint you with this here board right now in case you do."

Those vaccinations. What a concept. A pre-acquaintance with Pete Bromley's paddle. Just a "love-tap", mind you. But leave your towel on the floor or run down the hall to P.E. class, or fail to hustle at any time and he's become the Sultan of Swat. The vaccinations? Well, that was just for the first day of school. Just one way for Pete to let you know he loves you.

In this day and age, Pete Bromley's board would be ceremoniously sawed in pieces by the American Civil Liberties Union. In fact, he probably saw the day coming when the paddle he toted would be considered a "dangerous blunt instrument" by judicial factions. His junior high athletes and elementary Physical Education students, however, worried over no such thing. They just stayed out of trouble, fearful that Pete would really get mad, and a vaccination would turn into a serious hide-tanner.

While playing the roll of Mr.

Discipline, though, Pete had an uncommon sensitivity for the youngsters who happened to be terrible athletes. He had a rapport with the kids who couldn't be, or didn't want to be "tough." He detested bullies and 12-year old egomaniacs and put them in their place at every opportunity.

Above all, Pete loved children. His favorite time of the year besides football season was the end of school. He would take his entire sixth grade history class to his ranch each east of town to cook hot dogs, ride a horse-drawn wagon and wade in the creek the entire day. The little boys would sit and listen to stories of his college football days at West Texas State, and the little girls would rub his broad shoulders and bald head. His belly laugh and deep vocal tones filled the afternoon. Pete Bromley, as he always seemed to be, was happy.

Through his last years, though, he was really a lonely man. His marriage broke up, his children grew up and moved away, and his weight caused him serious health problems. One morning in his ranch house, a heart attack claimed him at age 55.

I often wonder if there's anyone left in the world with the charisma, the values and the warmth of Pete Bromley. But, that question is not important.

A Pete Bromley only comes along once in a lifetime. For that, I am eternally grateful.

WOULD-BE BANKERS HAVE BEEN MULTIPLYING LIKE RABBITS.

Don't allow yourself to be misled by apparent similarities. Just because so many others are hopping to include the word "bank" in their names doesn't mean that they are actually bankers. "Savings Banks," "Thrift Banks," stockbroker "bank" accounts, etc., try to blur the difference between them and real bankers. But they don't always offer you the experience or, sometimes, the security of bankers. In fact, the only place you'll find a banker is The Bank, where your deposits are Federally insured up to $100,000. Leon, Linda and Langly visited her parents Albert and Edith Ivy in Memphis last week. Linda's aunt, Mrs. Jean Stinnett of Claremore, Oklahoma was there.

Susan Cosby, David, Nancy and Carmen of Tulsa, Oklahoma visited her parents, Bill and Juanell Carson during the weekend. Susan sang at the morning worship services at the Methodist Church Sunday.

Walter Johnson went to White Deer Thursday to visit his cousin, Clarence and Phobe Couch of Pauls Valley, Oklahoma. They met in the home of Charlie and Eunice Johnson and attended the rodeo and barbecue at White Deer.

Woodrow and Ora Pearl Farris, Otis Farris, and Clara Mae Baggett attended the barbecue and rodeo at White Deer last week.

Arthell and Velva Gibson of Pampa visited her father, Walter Johnson Sunday. They picked some peas to take home with them.

Sis Martin took Kendra to Amarillo to the dentist Monday. I understand she fell and broke a tooth. I was a little surprised when they told me it was Kendra who was hurt. Matt is usually the one who manages to mess himself up.

Mother spent part of the weekend in the hospital at Wellington. T. Mullins brought her home Monday. The doctor said she was suffering from a mild bout of gastritis. I'd sure hate to have a severe bout of it!

My dad, Moon Mullins, went to the doctor in Clarendon last week. He had a severe nose bleed. It's amazing how much a person can bleed without dying.

I didn't find out much of what's happening in Hedley. When I found out Danny had been injured in a motorcycle wreck, everything else lost importance. We went to the hospital to be with Nancy. Danny was much luckier than his friend Neal Taylor. He's seriously injured and in hospital in Amarillo. I've decided Danny's guardian angel works overtime. This is about the fourth time he's been slightly injured in accidents. I talked to Marry Farris Monday evening and she told me that Neal was holding his own and that the doctors are optimistic about Neal's getting well. Othel came home Monday afternoon, but Mary will stay with Sandy and Neal. The community is concerned and hopeful that Neal will start improving soon.

Poolside party planned for Aug. 9

The poolside party planned for August 9th at 8:00 p.m. looks as though it will be a big success. From the number of tickets already distributed, planners are predicting a good turnout. Ticket holders and Friends of the Library are both expecting an unusually enjoyable evening. Donley County residents who want to attend can still get tickets at the Library or from any member of the Friends organization. Food and entertainment will be served up beside the pool at the Country Club.

From The PEN of PASTOR PINION

Paul, in ending his first letter to the church at Thessalonica, encouraged that assembly of believers to "quench not the Spirit." Paul knew that all believers are indwelt by the Holy Spirit. He knew that the Holy Spirit was the source of all spiritual strength and victory. But he also knew that Christians in rebellion to God's will would hinder the Spirit's work in their lives and in the life of their church.

Many believers and churches fail to achieve their full spiritual potential because they allow things in their lives that will stifle the work of the Spirit. Many blessings are lost and many lives are wasted when we fail to yield totally to the Holy Spirit's leadership. We must beware of those things which will quench the Spirit in our lives.

Unconfessed sin will quench the Holy Spirit. In Eph. 4:25-30, we are told of several things we need to "put away" so that we would not hinder the Spirit. We are to put away lying, anger (grudges), stealing and corrupt communication (gossip and slander). If we allow these things to fill our lives, then the Holy Spirit will be pushed aside.

We also hinder the Spirit by resisting Him. Acts 7:51 warned against hardening our heart against the leading of the Spirit. Jonah resisted the Spirit of God and ended up in the belly of the fish.

Another problem is the problem of worldliness. Jesus warned that "no man can serve two masters." The Spirit either has all control or He has no control. We cannot expect to live like the world and still experience the fullness of the Spirit's power.

Finally we must not neglect our sources of spiritual nourishment. Study of the Word of God, prayer, and S/S and church attendance are essential if we are to be yielded to and filled by the Spirit. My prayer is that as a Church we would never allow the Spirit to be quenched in our lives.

The Lion's Tale

By GENE ALDERSON

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular meeting at noon on Tuesday at the Lions Hall. There were 26 members and guests present. Following the regular opening ceremony Lontamer Messer introduced our guests. Boss Lion Simmons brought a recommendation from the Board of Directors that Todd Knorpp be elected as 3rd vice president and Mac Stavenhagen as a director. They were both approved unanimously. The Boss Lion then introduced Jimmy Ross, District Governor of Lions District 2T-1 who installed the following club officers for the '86-87 club year: President JEM Simmons, 1st vice president Jim Shelton, 2nd vice president Larry Hicks, 3rd vice president Todd Knorpp, secretary-treasurer Jim Sharrar, Tailtwister Darrell Leffew, Lontamer P.C. Messer and directors J.L. Phillips, A.R. Henson, Wilbert Bernabe and Mac Stavenhagen. Meeting adjourned.

Unsolvable tax problems tackled by IRS office

Taxpayers with an "unsolved" federal tax problem can get help from a special Internal Revenue Service office. It is called the Problem Resolution Program (PRP) office, and it gives personal attention to taxpayers when previous contacts through normal IRS channels have not helped. Tom Allen, Problem Resolution Officer for North Texas, said. Allen gives the following as an example: If a taxpayer's expected refund has not arrived 90 days after filing an original or amended tax return he or she should first contact IRS Taxpayer Service with the problem. An assistor will help the taxpayer, find out what is happening to the return, and let the taxpayer know when to expect the refund. If the refund has not arrived by that date, the taxpayer should contact PRP. Once PRP takes the problem, the taxpayer generally deals with one person and is kept informed of the progress of the case.

"One of the most common complaints brought to Problem Resolution is about delayed refunds," he said. "Sometimes these are caused by incorrect or duplicated social security numbers or by taxpayers who change their names - after marriage, for example - and do not inform the Social Security Administration." Taxpayers who move after filing a return without providing a forwarding address may also have their refunds delayed.

Allen stressed that PRP is not a substitute for normal IRS channels and cannot be used to appeal technical decisions of a tax examination. PRP will help if: 1. You have contacted IRS regarding the status of a refund at least 90 days after filing an original or amended return. Subsequently a second inquiry is necessary. 2. You requested information or assistance more than 45 days earlier and have received no acknowledgement or final response. 3. You previously responded to a billing notice and now have a third or subsequent notice indicating incorrect action or a lack of action by IRS on your earlier response.

Taxpayers can reach the PRP office by either writing or calling IRS asking for Problem Resolution. To phone: 742-2440 in Dallas; 263-9229 in Fort Worth; toll-free 1-800-424-1040 elsewhere in Texas. Address written inquiries to: Special Tax Problems, P.O. Box 50008, Dallas, TX 75250.

The Scientists Tell Me... Change In Hog Diet Can Cut Saturated Fat In Pork

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Many consumers perceive red meat to be high in saturated fat and one of the major sources of saturated fat in the diet, according to Dr. J.T. Keeton, meats scientist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

But few consumers seem to be aware, Keeton says, that red meat, especially pork, is also high in a monounsaturated fatty acid, oleic acid, which when eaten has been shown to decrease plasma cholesterol levels in humans.

In order to improve the nutritive value of pork and increase consumers' acceptance of pork as a source of high-quality protein, research by Drs. S.B. Smith, J.T. Keeton, and D.A. Knabe studied the effect of feeding pigs a diet with elevated levels of an oil containing 70% oleic acid.

"Pigs fed diets containing 10 percent oil," Keeton says, "produced meat that did not differ in overall tenderness or flavor, relative to meat from pigs fed standard finishing rations. Cooking loss and mechanical shear force (a measure of tenderness) also were not different between rations.

"Total saturated fatty acids were decreased from 43 percent to 30 percent of the total fatty acids, with a corresponding increase in unsaturated fatty acids.

"Oleic acid comprised 55 percent of the total fatty acids in muscle from pigs fed the high-oleic acid oil supplement, compared to 47 percent in muscle from the control pigs on the ordinary diet.

"Pork lean and fat from these animals were combined with beef lean to produce frankfurters that were lower in saturated fat and lower in total fat. These 'lite' frankfurters contain 25 percent fat, compared to 30 percent fat in regular frankfurters.

"As expected, chemical analysis of the frankfurters from pigs fed the high-oleic acid oil indicated that these frankfurters had elevated unsaturated fat and decreased saturated fat, compared to regular frankfurters.

"There were no significant differences in processing yields or overall palatability between regular frankfurters and the 'lite' frankfurters, containing less total fat and less saturated fat.

"It looks like production costs of this more desirable pork can be competitive, especially if it can be identified in marketing and rewarded with a premium price.

"Our research indicates that pork and pork products can be produced that are lower in saturated fat, with no sacrifice in taste, texture, or flavor," Keeton concluded.

State spending increases in June

State Comptroller Bob Bullock reported that state spending in June remained above the average monthly spending for the first six months of the state's budget year.

Spending from all funds totaled $1.801 billion, which was more than $494.6 million or 37.8 percent over the six-month average.

General Revenue spending for June totaled $406.7 million, which was about $12.9 million or 3.3 percent above the base average.

Bullock's fourth monthly report showed spending from General Revenue for employee pay was down 9.1 percent and 5.8 percent from all funds. Decreases of 27.4 were reported percent in the General Revenue spending for leased space and 18.7 percent from all funds.

There was a 23.7 percent decrease in out-of-state travel in General Revenue spending and a 25 percent decline in all funds.

The all funds report showed a 15.5 percent decrease in utility costs.

The largest chunk of the increase in spending from General Revenue was due to the Department of Human Services Medicaid program.

The report showed that nearly 87.5 percent of the spending increases from all funds -- $432.6 million -- were attributed to school payments by the Texas Education Agency, highway contract payments and refinancing of water development bonds.

The Scientists Tell Me... Bleeding Disorders May Be Due To Megadoses of Vitamin E

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Hemorrhage, both in laboratory animals and in humans, after the consumption of large quantities of vitamin E, has recently been reported by a number of laboratories. These bleeding disorders could be due, at least in part, to the interference of vitamin K function by vitamin E, according to Dr. Louise Canfield-Sander, assistant professor in food science and technology and Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

tural Experiment Station.

"Vitamin K and vitamin E are both fat-soluble vitamins and are required in the diet," explained Canfield-Sander, "but the functions of these vitamins are quite different."

"Vitamin E is required for membrane function and probably serves to protect the body from harmful oxygen by-products. Vitamin K is required to produce proteins in the blood that are needed for blood clot formation."

"The normal diet contains ample quantities of both of these vitamins.

However, problems can occur when people voluntarily consume large quantities of vitamin E supplements, in the range of 20 times recommended daily allowance (RDA). It is under such conditions that bleeding can result.

"In our laboratory, we have tested the ability of vitamin K to promote the production of blood coagulation proteins. Our results show that the enzymes which are required to synthesize these proteins are inactive in the presence of vitamin E. In addition, we have shown that vitamin E can affect the absorption of vitamin K into cells.

"These experiments have all been conducted in purified systems, not in humans. Caution must always be exercised in applying results of laboratory experiments to reactions in the human body.

"However, until these reactions are more completely understood, self-administered treatments with vitamin E should be strictly avoided.

"Particular caution should be exercised by people who are receiving treatment to prevent blood clot formation, as many of these treatments use vitamin K antagonists. Infants are also at risk as they have low body stores of vitamin K. While most multivitamin pills contain a safe dose of vitamin E for the average healthy adult, vitamin E supplements are not normally required.

"The most reliable source of vitamin E is a balanced diet. Vitamin E is widely available in common foods, and is concentrated in cereals, nuts, and meats," Canfield-Sander concluded.

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

SPECIAL SESSION ONLY A START

AUSTIN — The special legislative session slated for Aug. 6 has the potential to be the first step in the resurrection of Texas' sagging economy. Be warned, though, it also could be an unmitigated disaster.

Much of the success (or failure) of the session will depend on the Legislature's ability to lay the groundwork for the state's economic future. If we at least can get pointed in the right direction, then Gov. Mark White's decision to call us back to Austin will prove justified.

If, instead, House and Senate members squabble for 30 days without agreeing on any kind of plan or leave with only a mixed-up package of senseless budget cuts, then the governor will have wasted everyone's time and sealed his own political fate.

At this point, both scenarios are equally possible since no one seems to know just what to expect from this historic special session.

If there is heartening news, it is that the Legislature will try to trim the state budget before doing anything else. Budget cutting won't solve everything; the state is, after all, facing a $3 billion budget deficit. But, there is no other reasonable place to begin this process.

We simply would be irresponsible if we did not reduce state spending before increasing state revenue. No government has the right even to discuss a tax increase if that government is wasting any of the taxpayer's money.

It's not that taxes don't loom somewhere on the horizon; they will be discussed eventually. Three billion dollars can't be trimmed from the budget without wrecking some havoc on state services. About 90 percent of our budget is tied up in four areas, and two — education and highways — are too critical to our business climate to cut severely while the others — prisons and social services — largely are protected by federal court orders.

Remember too that we are talking about cutting $3 billion from the fiscal year 1987 budget only.

Fiscal year 1986 funds have been used up. That means we're trying to cut from a one-year budget of $18 billion instead of a two-year spending plan of $37.2 billion, a situation that makes our task all the more difficult.

So, there is no question taxes will be considered sometime. It's just unlikely they will be discussed during the special session. All of Texas statewide officials, half the Senate and the entire House are up for re-election, and no politician enjoys increasing taxes in an election year.

On a slightly higher level, we personally are pleased the tax debate has been delayed. We would prefer tax options be outlined before a session, so that we would have time to present the alternatives to you and solicit your input. We're not prepared at this time to support a tax increase and never will back one without your support. After all, it's your opinion that counts in the end.

We are left, then, with budget cuts, an unpleasant task that must be performed. We lawmakers are going to make some people mad, scuttle some pet projects and eliminate some state jobs in this process, but financial realities leave us few other options.

All we can hope for is a system of budget cuts that is both fair and visionary. We can't just cut where it's politically expedient; we must determine the programs the state can live without over the long haul and eliminate them. We can't cut only the programs that serve sparsely populated areas; each part of the state must share the burden equally.

In the world of politics and law-making, such goals are not easily attained, but they are not impossible either. We will be dedicated this special session to accomplishing those goals.

If you have any questions about the upcoming special session, or other issues, please write us at P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas, 78711.

Congressman Beau Boulter Reports from Washington

INCREASING FARM INCOME

In light of the current depressed state of agriculture, the Secretary of Agriculture should jump at any chance he gets to constructively help the American farmer without busting the federal budget. I have introduced a resolution which, by bolstering farm income and reducing burdensome commodity surpluses, has the potential to do just that. Through a relatively inconspicuous provision of the 1985 Food Security Act, the Secretary has the authority to accept bids for up to $20,000 in payments for land diversion. These payments, it should be noted, would be in the form of surplus Commodity Credit Corporation crops.

This is a chance to increase farm income, reduce carryover stock, AND reduce future budgetary expenditures.

Section 1009(e) of the 1985 Farm Bill gives the Secretary of Agriculture the authority to accept bids from producers for the conversion of crop acres to diverted acres, in return for payment in kind from CCC surplus stocks.

The key element of this provision is that the payments aren't counted as part of the normal $50,000 per person payment limitation established under section 1001 of the Farm Bill. They are, as I mentioned, limited to a total of $20,000 per producer for any one commodity.

My resolution expresses the sense of Congress that the Secretary should take full advantage of the authority to implement this program and provide much needed relief. It will provide the opportunity for increased farm income as producers would have the option of submitting bids and receiving payments in addition to deficiency payments and land diversion payments. The separate $20,000 payment limit assures that all participating producers would have the ability to take advantage of this program.

The program would also reduce huge carryover stocks that are creating downward price pressure on the commodity markets, and would lower future government storage costs for holding those stocks.

Finally, the in-kind payments do not constitute a direct budgetary outlay.

This is the kind of help hard-pressed farmers need to get through this particularly hard time. My resolution has the strong support of the American Farm Bureau, the National Wheat Growers, the National Cotton Council, and the National Corn Growers. Together we will continue to urge Secretary Lyng to take advantage of this program to address our currently troubled agriculture community.

I have introduced two other pieces of legislation which would provide assistance to the agriculture economy. The first would ease banking restrictions so that agriculture loans can be restructured rather than written off as non-performing assets. The other, the Foreign Agricultural Investment Reform Act (FAIR), would stop the flow of U.S. taxpayer dollars into foreign countries for the subsidization of agriculture commodity production.

There aren't any simple solutions to the current farm crisis. However, the government, through its policies of high interest rates and embargoes, has had a hand in creating many of agriculture's problems, and government must take some responsibility for providing assistance to our farm families and rural America. Each of the three legislative remedies I have proposed would provide significant relief while working toward a system of less government involvement and greater individual freedoms.

NEW HOPE FOR PARKINSON'S DISEASE

Why do some people get Parkinson's Disease while others don't? How can doctors alter the course of Parkinson's? Doctors and scientists are on their way to finding the answers to those questions and many others these days—and the data is coming from some rather strange places.

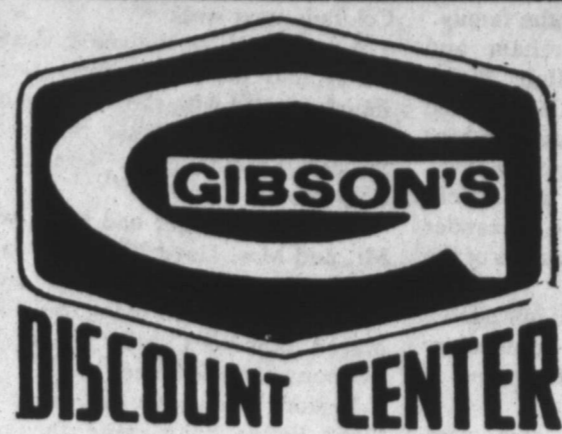

Doctors are finding new clues in the search for a cure for Parkinson's.

New hope in understanding Parkinson's Disease is coming from studies done on the people who make, sell and use "designer drugs." Designer drugs are made by illicit chemists for street use. For the FDA to control a drug, the government has to say exactly what the chemical structure and the name of the drug are. A chemist can take a drug, make a tiny change in its formula, and it's no longer illegal.

Now doctors have found that some abusers of these designer drugs rapidly develop symptoms very much like those found in someone with advanced Parkinson's. A substance found in the drugs, MPTP, kills certain brain cells that also die in Parkinson's victims. Doctors may now be able to find out why these cells die in people with Parkinson's Disease. The Parkinson's Disease Foundation continues to do a lot of research. For free brochures on how to help Parkinsonians live with their disease, call 1-800-457-6676. In New York State, people call 1-212-923-4700 collect. Or you can write the Foundation at 650 West 168th St., New York, NY 10032.

If you put a piece of wax paper directly on top of soups and stews before you refrigerate them, you can peel the fat off when they're cool.

BETTER INSULIN

The Type I diabetic requires daily doses of insulin and cannot depend on diet or oral medicines to control blood sugar levels. The good news in recent years for such individuals has been the advent of newer and better insulin.

Most commercial insulin is extracted from beef and pork pancreases. Older techniques for removing the insulin hormone did not eliminate certain impurities. The advent of newer extraction procedures (primarily ion-exchange chromatography) has produced an insulin that is more pure. All insulin sold in the United States now contains only 10 or less parts-per-million impurities. One study showed that today's insulin, when used in the typical Type I diabetic, allowed for a 15 percent dose reduction over older insulins.

Some of the newest types of insulin are the "human insulins." Human insulin is actually synthetic or semisynthetic protein that is structurally identical to the insulin produced by the human pancreas. Pharmaceutical companies make the human insulin by chemically modifying insulin that is obtained from pork sources. Another method involves the use of certain bacteria that have been genetically engineered to produce the insulin.

Lily Knox enjoyed a visit this week from her sister, Mrs. Eva Lott of Morgan, Texas and her daughter, Billy Jean Roberts of Scurry, Texas. Billy Jean also visited with Nova Mooring.

A former Ashtola resident Oleta Marshall Corneulius of Hamilton, Texas was buried last Thursday.

Her husband, Gene Corneulius is a cousin to Frank Mahaffey. Our sympathy is extended to the family.

Doyce and Linda Graham and Viola went to the High Plains Historical Museum at Canyon and returned by way of Claude where they visited with former neighbors, Ethel Reed and Ben and Rita Lovell.

Katherine, Clint, Lindsay and David Green enjoyed a trip to Red River, New Mexico with Steve Haare and Adam of Pampa and Steve's brother-in-law and nephew of Canyon. The weather was dry there but they found it warm enough to enjoy the pool and cool enough to ride horses and bicycles and take a jeep tour of the old mines in the area.

Jason Green spent the weekend in Amarillo with his mother and sister. Rhonda and Lori brought him home Sunday and visited with Naomi and Larry, Ellen and the girls.

Tiffany Patterson had her picture in the Amarillo paper last week and so many friends were kind enough to save it for us that we may be able to paper a wall.

Walter Warner and his son Marcus of Amarillo visited with Duane and Mae Naylor of Thalia and Mr. and Mrs. Royce Hall at Clarendon.

John Morris of White Deer, who has been in Veterans Hospital in Amarillo, will be staying at the Ronald McDonald House with his wife Inez for outpatient radiation and chemotherapy.

Senior Citizens

We got the juke box working for Monday night dance practice. The past two weeks it has been out of order - it would play - we just couldn't select the tunes we wanted. Thanks to Doyle for coming by and fixing it.

Terry Floyd, Donley County Home Extension Agent, has been presenting some very good nutrition programs for us. Wednesday, July 23rd her program was on "Vitamin C." We really appreciate Terry for this monthly service.

Had an extra table busy at game night on Thursday, July 24th. There is still plenty of room for several more tables.

Friday's Musical Jam Session was a good one with twenty-eight guests and musicians were Hugh Neuhaus, Jack Davidson, Jerry Chambliss, Lucille Smith, Fred Fortenberry, Weldon Petty and me.

Fun After Fifty will meet at the Senior Center on Saturday, August 2, 1986. Come down and enjoy the day with us. J.C. Woody will show us more of the Sesquicentennial Wagon Train.

Health And Fitness Are More Than Skin-Deep

The old saying, you look as good as you feel and feel as good as you look, has never been more important than for today's woman.

"Young women are vitally concerned about their health and beauty, but they don't realize that health and beauty begin with the skeleton," says Dr. Kathleen Wishner, one of the nation's few experts with doctorate degrees in both nutrition and medicine.

The female skeleton often falls victim to a debilitating bone-thinning disease called osteoporosis. The result is height loss and the curved back known as dowager's hump. For many elderly women, osteoporosis leads to severe chronic back pain, fractures, broken hips, and psychological problems.

But now there is hope. New research has revealed that osteoporosis is not an unavoidable consequence of aging. It is chiefly caused by long-term calcium deficiency. Although the disease is not curable, because it is impossible to reverse progressive bone loss after years of prolonged calcium deficiency, osteoporosis is usually preventable through calcium supplementation and other measures. "We have a tendency to think of osteoporosis as a problem of aging. What we should do is work on prevention when women are in their twenties," urges Dr. Wishner.

The skeleton is a major organ system that is constantly changing. Minerals, especially calcium, are continually removed from and added back to bones, under the controlling influence of an elaborate network of hormones.

Dr. Wishner recommends that women should make sure they get plenty of calcium while they are young. Peak bone mass is not achieved until about age 30 to 35, but many women already have low calcium reserves at the age of 25. She cites the report of a recent Consensus Development Conference sponsored by the National Institutes of Health, which states that adult women and women who are taking estrogen need 1,000 mg of calcium, while women who have passed menopause should have 1,500 mg of calcium in their daily diet.

Unfortunately, the eating habits of most women are seriously deficient in calcium. They may stop drinking milk as teenagers. Moreover, career women tend to eat on the run, and a well-balanced diet is the exception rather than the rule. Calcium-rich foods like dairy products, leafy green vegetables, salmon and raw oysters, are overlooked or ignored.

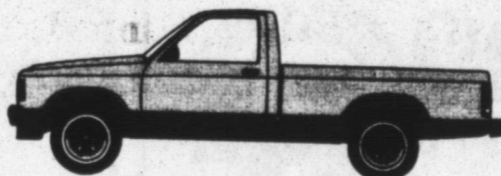

Dr. Wishner suggests that women should analyze their diets and take calcium supplements if they don't get enough of the mineral from food sources. Most doctors recommend a calcium carbonate preparation, such as Os-Cal 500. Each Os-Cal tablet, for example, contains 1,250 mg of calcium carbonate, which provides 500 mg of elemental calcium -- the kind of calcium that the body can absorb and use.

The young professional woman of today is not planning to spend her later years in a rocking chair. She expects to keep her good looks and energy. But physical deformities like broken vertebrae, stooped posture, dowager's hump and a protruding abdomen are sure to shatter that dream. All of these conditions are the visible symptoms of osteoporosis and a terrible price to pay for neglecting bone health during the younger years.

When it comes to osteoporosis, beauty is definitely more than skin-deep.

Steven Davis's Taffy

Shawna Skelton and Tess

K-9Korp Kapers

By ELIZABETH McANEAR
Steven Davis with Taffy and Shawna Skelton with Tess are our K-9 Korp Teams of the Month.

Steven Davis' dog Taffy has been a member of the K-9 Korp since 1983. She will make her final appearance at the State 4-H Dog Show in Snyder next month. Taffy's retirement from the K-9 Korp will be a loss. She has done really well in her 3 years. We will all miss her.

Shawna Skelton's dog Tess became a proud mother of 6 puppies.

When the K-9 Korp performed for the Wagon Train, Tess left her puppies to perform with everyone.

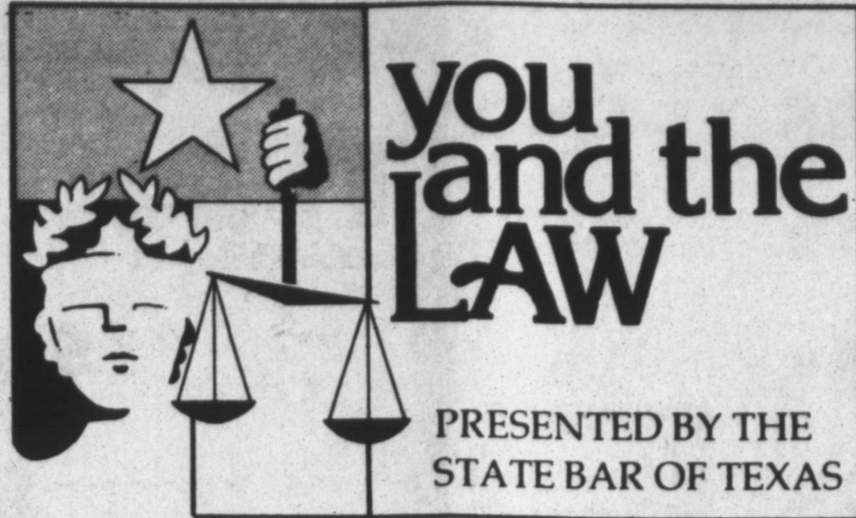

Congratulations to Steven Davis with Taffy and Shawna Skelton with Tess!

If anyone has aluminum cans they would like to donate to the K-9 Korp, please contact Judy McCully at 3419. We are still trying to make enough money to go to the State Dog Show in August.

All you K-9 Korp members, keep up the good work.

Many weeds growing in America today arrived from Europe in soil used as ballast in ships coming to the new country for cargoes. Ballast dumping has sowed weed seed from Europe all around the coasts of the U.S.

Q: My wife agreed over the telephone to subscribe to several magazines offered by a firm in Arizona, but we never received all we ordered. I have stopped paying the bill because the company has not lived up to its end of the bargain. Now I am receiving threats of lawsuits through the mail as well as over the telephone. What can I do to cancel the subscription and stop these harassing phone calls?

A: The failure of the magazine company to do everything they said they would do may constitute a breach of contract, which probably entitles you to cancel your subscription. If they were to sue you for refusing to pay their bills, you probably have a counter suit against the company. Before you enter into a lawsuit, you might be able to straighten out any mix-up by writing the magazine company to explain why you have stopped paying. They could realize their error and send you the magazines you bargained for if you agree to complete payment. If personal negotiation fails, you should contact the Consumer Protection Division of the Texas Attorney General's Office. You may also ask a lawyer to apply for an injunction to stop the harassing phone calls.

Q: In a joint custody divorce, does the non-custodial parent have any say so as to how the children are raised? Also what agency can I contact concerning questions about child custody? I can't afford an attorney.

A: If the couple agreed to be joint managing conservators, the divorce decree should spell out who has what rights over the children.

Post-divorce problems with child raising are frequent, and often the only choice is to re-open the case to modify or enforce specific rights.

Some counties have domestic relations offices through the courts to negotiate these conflicts. I also suggest that for your children's sake, you and your ex-wife discuss the problems together with a social worker or child psychologist at the Mental Health Office in your county. As both parents and children change, new approaches to raising the children must be found. A counselor can often help keep this case out of court.

Q: I'm having a minor dispute with my neighbor and I'm thinking about submitting the problem to mediation. Am I legally bound to follow the mediator's findings?

A: Mediation or arbitration as it is generally called is available under both the common law and arbitration statutes in Texas. In arbitration, the parties select a person to investigate the dispute and to render a decision.

When you agree to have a matter settled by arbitration, you are making a contract. When a contract is formally entered into, and when the contract has all the requisites of a contract, it is enforceable. Unless there are grounds for appeal, you will be bound by the judgment of the arbitration you have voluntarily selected.

Q: Is it a crime for a person to have a letterhead printed up that claims she is an M.D. or a Ph.D.?

A: It is a class A misdemeanor to use any words or terms on stationery or advertisements to indicate that you are entitled to practice medicine if you are not licensed to do so. So, using M.D. on stationery when it is untrue is a crime in Texas.

Claiming to be a Ph.D. on the other hand, probably is not a crime if you don't hold yourself out as a health practitioner. It may, however, be a deceptive trade practice to suggest that you have qualifications that you don't have to render a service, and this deceptive act may be grounds for a civil lawsuit.

Q: I recently ate some bad chortzo at a Mexican food restaurant. I got food poisoning and incurred some medical expenses. I went to the restaurant and asked them to pay my medical bills of $70 but they refused. Is there any way I can make them pay this bill?

A: It would probably cost you more than $70 to sue the restaurant to make them pay your medical bill. It might also be difficult to prove it was the chortzo, specifically, rather than something else that gave you food poisoning. Perhaps the best approach would be to contact both the state health department and the consumer protection division of the State Attorney General's Office. Each of these agencies monitors possible health violations and perhaps could close the restaurant until sanitary practices are corrected.

Q: Several years ago I sold some lots to a man who has been paying me with some bad checks. He has fallen several months behind in his payments. Do you have any advice for me?

A: You must ask your attorney to examine the documents that were signed at the sale. The attorney will read the terms of the note to see what the seller owes. The Deed of Trust given at the same time contains the penalties. If your only recourse is foreclosure, you will want a real estate attorney to take you through the steps to reclaim your land.

Q: If I drink at an office party and have a wreck on the way home that results in a DWI, is my employer in any way obligated for my actions?

A: Although it depends on the circumstances of each case, it is possible for an employer to be held liable to persons who are injured by the reckless conduct of an employee. The duty of an employer for exercising control over an intoxicated employee has been described by the Texas Supreme Court as follows: "When, because of an employee's incapacity, an employer exercises control over the employee, the employer has a duty to take such action as a reasonably prudent employer under the same or similar circumstances would take to prevent the employee from causing an unreasonable risk of harm to others." Consequently, your employer could be held liable to other persons injured in your wreck if the jury found that he failed to act as a reasonable and prudent employer to prevent you from driving yourself home.

Send your questions to "You and the Law," State Bar of Texas, P.O. Box 12487, Austin, 78718. Answers may appear in columns in hypothetical terms; personal answers not possible.

Medical Milestones

Lipoplasty — a surgical technique for fat reduction — is becoming a widely accepted way to treat stubborn pockets of fat that won't respond to diet and exercise. Last year, some 75,000 procedures were performed, up 50 percent from just a year earlier.

A recent national survey of physicians who perform these procedures found that:

- Women seek lipoplasty more often than men to increase their sexual attractiveness.
- Career advancement was named by men as a reason to improve appearance.
- Men express more concern about correcting signs of aging than women.
- The most popular procedure performed on females is the removal of their "saddlebags." For men, it's the removal of their "lovehandles."

Lipoplasty involves the injection of a saline solution in such areas as the thighs, buttocks, hips, abdomen and chin. Then, a suction device is inserted through a small incision and fat cells are vacuumed away permanently. For a free brochure on lipoplasty, send a self-addressed, stamped business-size envelope to: Lipolysis Society of North America, 9900 Genesee Ave., Suite B, La Jolla, CA 92037.

IT'S A FACT!

An international treaty regulates trade in endangered species. Also, U.S. laws govern this country's wildlife trade. Despite these controls, illegal imports of caiman crocodile skins, snake and lizard skins continue. In a typical year, 400,000 live reptiles, five million skins, and eight million manufactured reptile products are imported into the U.S. As many as one-fourth of these imports are illegal.

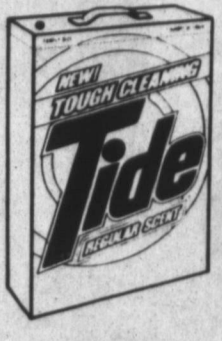

The World Wildlife Fund, in cooperation with the U.S. government, is working to improve this record. If you have questions about wildlife trade issues, you can write to WWF's trade monitoring program at TRAFFIC (U.S.A.), WWF, 1255 23rd Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20037, or call (202) 293-4800.
