Felicity Greenhouse & Nursery - a growing business

While many persons pass the cold winter weeks pouring over nursery catalogs, those in the Clarendon area can satisfy their dormant green thumbs by visiting the Felicity Greenhouse and Nursery, east of Lelia Lake, and see the nursery stock they plan to plant, come spring.

David Lowrie, is the owner of the business and although it is only about two years old he has already expanded the physical plant and this year is carrying in stock the trees and shrubs which he was ordering for his customers last year.

The time spent indoors by the enthusiastic gardener allows for planning and a visit with Lowrie will enable the buyer to see the Bing and Black Tartarian cherries with a variety of other fruit trees in a size which should start producing in 1982. Satisfaction is unlimited when you can pick fruit from your own trees to eat fresh, can or turn into jars of jelly or preserves.

With everyone sensitive to the cost of energy the double return on shade trees is a big plus. Beauty and added value to property is matched by the energy conservation to be realized by wise planning and planting of trees to retain heat in winter and keep cool air about in summer.

Such trees as the flowering crab, cottonless Cottonwoods, thornless Locust and the Sunburst varieties are rapid growing and do well in this area.

Not to be forgotten when planting a garden are everybody's favorites blackberries and grapes.

The original greenhouse building was 12 x 24 feet and an additional building of 30 x 96 feet has been added to take care of the increase in demand for plants. Currently the greenhouse operation is getting underway and will feature a variety of vegetable plants such as pepper, egg plant, tomatoes, cabbage and broccoli to name some of them. Flower plants will include coleus, geraniums, impatiens, petunias and will be ready about Easter time.

Nursery stock is guaranteed for half of the initial price if the tree or shrub does not leaf out after it is purchased and planted as directed by the buyer. Another plus for the Felicity Greenhouse & Nursery is the price of stock, which are competitive. Lowrie stated that he would send a price list to persons who asked for them by phone or letter.

David Lowrie is an instructor of biology at Clarendon College where he has been for approximately 12 years. His wife, Paula, is employed by Charles SoRelle. The couple lead busy lives. The nursery and greenhouse are open on Friday afternoons, all day Saturday and Sundays after church services.

Keenly interested in the Felicity Greenhouse and Nursery besides David and Paula are David's parents, Elmer and Pauline Lowrie, Clarendon residents. "They spend a lot of time out here," David commented, "and are a great deal of help in running the business. We could not do without them."

All persons interested in trees, shrubs and plants or who are interested in seeing the nursery and greenhouse facility are cordially invited to "drop in".

For information on directions to reach the place see the Felicity Greenhouse and Nursery ad in this issue of the Clarendon Press on page 3.

Green Thumb workers have excellent work record

Sun, wind, earth and crops—who has a better understanding of these basic elements than older rural residents? No segment of society is more capable of taking us "back to basics"—at least that's the view of one organization concerned with rural elderly.

National Green Thumb, Inc., sponsored by Farmers Union, is a federally-funded employment and placement program for low-income rural elderly, and has recently received a Dept. of Labor energy grant to assist small town and rural businesses involved in energy development.

Diane Parrish, Texas Green Thumb state director, says "the purpose of the grant is to stimulate the establishment of energy industries in rural areas by using the valuable skills of older workers."

The Energy Employment Program will reimburse employers for part of the wages and for special "off the job" training costs incurred during a designated training period. A typical contract between Green Thumb and outside classroom or workshop training in addition to on-the-job training.

Workers are selected by employers, but must be at least age 55 and must be income eligible for the program. Green Thumb handles all necessary paperwork.

Green thumb's other programs have operated in Texas for 10 years and currently employ 952 older workers in 107 counties. The workers handle a wide variety of community jobs under the sponsorship of local non-profit agencies. Many work on crews providing the labor for weatherization projects, municipal building improvements, and park maintenance.

Workers presently employed by Green Thumb are eligible for the special energy program should an employer wish to interview them. A primary goal of Green Thumb is to place as many workers as possible in regular, "unsubsidized" employment.

"We believe this energy grant will allow rural older workers to make a significant contribution to one of the most important movements of the next few decades," says Parrish. "And we believe older workers deserve the opportunity based on their own experience and on studies by the Dept. of Labor."

According to DOL, workers 45 and over quit their jobs less than half as often as do younger workers, and they are only half as likely to change jobs.

Workers hired after age 40 generally attain a higher performance rating in a shorter time than those persons hired before the age of 30. Older workers tend to have a more positive attitude toward work than do younger workers. And older workers have a better record of stability and of acceptance by employers, too.

The number of days lost per 100 workdays for all reasons goes down as age increases. Workers in every age group above 50 lose fewer scheduled workdays than those in any group below 50.

Three city offices each to expire for Howardwick and Clarendon

Positions on the Board of Aldermen and the mayors post will expire for Clarendon and Howardwick, within a few weeks.

In each instance two alderman places and the mayors seat will be decided in the April election.

The terms of James Kuhn and Shirley Clifford on the board of Aldermen and that of Leonard Selvidge, mayor will expire for the City of Clarendon.

For Howardwick Waldon Moore's term as mayor will expire and the terms of Lawrence Whitehead and Melville Mills on the Board of Aldermen expires.

SBA filing deadline near

The filing deadline for farmers and ranchers to file for physical loss disaster assistance loans as declared under SBA's declaration #1900 is February 12, 1981.

Applications must be received by the close of business or postmarked by midnight to be accepted.

Interested persons may contact the Lubbock Disaster Office of the Small Business Administration (SBA) by calling (806) 762-7481 for further information.

Persons who wish to make application for places on the ballot may go to their respective city halls and get applications for filing for office through March 4.

The time is short for persons to make application and file for these city offices and those considering a place on the ballot should be considering the step soon.

We wish to thank the parents and people of Clarendon for their support of Scouting in Clarendon.

Cookie sale for Girl Scouts

The Quivira Council cookie sale begins at 4:00 p.m. Friday, February 6th and runs through Saturday, February 28th.

The cookie sale is an important part of the Council's plan for service to the girls.

Although our Council's general operating budget is provided by United Funds, Community Campaigns and Sustaining Memberships, it is necessary to supplement cost of expanding outdoor programs through funds from the annual cookie sale.

Price of the cookies are $1.50 per box or $18.00 a case. Please help the girl scouts on their annual cookie sale as the money taken in this year will be used to build showers at camp Cibola near Clarendon.

Chamber of Commerce to honor Kenneth King

March 10, 1981 is the date set for the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce Appreciation Banquet honoring Kenneth King. King has won national and international recognition in his field of pro-football this season as a member of the Raider team.

The banquet will be held in the High School gym at 7 p.m. It will be catered by Dyers of Pampa. Tickets may be purchased at the Clarendon Press, from any member of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors, or John Sarich, and sell for $8.00 each.

All proceeds will go toward the banquet program and menu. Several other persons will also be honored at the banquet. Make your plans to be present for the outstanding presentations at this banquet.

Sheriff's report

Activity from the Sheriff's office for the past week includes: one arrest for aggravated assault, one arrested for drunkenness, one jailed for disorderly conduct and one arrested and released on bond for assault.

Theft incidents were: a battery was stolen from David Owens '69 Ford pickup parked at Taylor's 66 station.

Bob Kidd lost between $600-800 by theft from his desk at the Texaco station. Three persons who were in the station are under investigation.

John Wortham lost 12 tapes taken from his car on the Farmers State Bank parking lot. Estimated value of this property missing is $80.00.

A gooseneck trailer owned by Mr. Penny was taken between 1-26-81 and 2-1-81. Trailer is 18' in length and is painted yellow. It is valued at $3,500.

A malicious mischief incident at the home of Pat Wilson involved a beer bottle thrown at a window and the window was also shot with at least four shots from a BB gun. Expense of replacing the window is approximately $170.

NO, IT'S NOT icicles, it's the clock, still ticking, with the plastic melted by fire and heat at Betty's County Kitchen Saturday night.

Sirens summon fire department

For the past two weeks or so sirens have been used to alert members of the Clarendon Fire Department while the radio is being repaired.

The most recent fire was at Betty's Country Kitchen and occurred about 11:30 Saturday night. The interior of the business sustained heavy smoke and heat damage.

Library to have Flea Market Saturday

The flea market will open 9 a.m. this Saturday morning, in the new library building. The sale will last all day.

Several loads of sale items have already come in at this writing and we expect much more to be arriving this week. Flea Markets are always fun places for visiting and browsing, so, do come by and support this library benefit. Also, if some of you still have things to donate

New member

Another member signs up. Peanuts Drive In is now operated by Jack Daniel who is the Chamber's newest member.

Jail progress report

Work on the new jail is running ahead of schedule with the installation of water and sewer taps last week.

The underground plumbing and electrical work will have to be done before the concrete slab for the building is run.

New sewer lines and the tap from the jail site to the main city line will provide more fall than the old line and give better service.

City and county personnel worked on Thursday, January 29 and again on Friday to make the installation. The 300 block of south Jefferson was blocked off during the installation time.

According to W.R. Christal, Donley County judge, the work is well ahead of sched-

Art show and sale at Hedley

An Art Show and Sale has been planned for February 7 and 8, and will be held at the Senior Citizens Center in Hedley, from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. each day.

"Buy an oil painting for Valentine's Day" is the theme for the sale. Part of the proceeds will go to the Senior Citizens Center.

Chamberlain Center

Chamberlain Community Center will meet on Friday, February 6 at 7 p.m. with Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Noble and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Risley as hosts and hostesses.

The meeting will be a covered dish supper and everyone is invited to attend.

GTC of the Southwest ask for $44.6 million in new revenue

General Telephone Company of the Southwest Friday (Jan. 23) filed a request with the Public Utility Commission of Texas for $44.6 million in new revenues.

F.E. Hightower, Vice President-Revenue Requirements, said major factors contributing to the need for additional revenues are continued inflation, record-setting gross construction expenditures, growth and new technology.

The changes proposed to obtain the needed new revenue would affect all customers.

General Telephone is the largest independent (non-Bell) telephone company in Texas serving over 1.3 million telephones in 291 exchanges across the state.

Background Information Effective Date for Rates

The date new rates become effective is determined by the Public Utility Commission.

PUC rules state the proposed rates can become effective 35 days after the application is filed with the PUC. The PUC has the option of suspending the proposed rates not to exceed 120 days beyond the date the changes would otherwise go into effect.

If the PUC feels additional time for study is advisable, it may suspend the effective date an additional 30 days. Cost of Instrument not Included

It should be noted that the monthly rates for residential and business customers do not include the cost of an instrument. The monthly charge is only for access to the telephone network.

There are additional charges for any company-owned equipment attached to the network with the amount of the charge being determined by the type of equipment.

Rate of Return

The request for $44.6 million in increased annual revenues, based on figures for year ending September 30, 1980, would yield the company a 12.94 percent rate of return on its intrastate rate base, if the full amount is granted. The present rate of return on intrastate rate base, including pro forma adjustments, is 10.01 percent.

Long Distance Rates Not In Request

Most long distance facilities are owned and operated by AT&T and Southwestern Bell.

As a result, intrastate long distance rates are requested by Bell through the Public Utility Commission, and interstate rates are sought by AT&T with the Federal Communications Commission.

General Telephone and other Independent (non-Bell) companies concur in the Bell and AT&T tariffs for long distance and interexchange private line rates.

Local Measured Service

There are several Local Measured Service Plans (sometimes call Universal Measured Service), but basically LMS allows customers to pay a reduced monthly charge for local telephone service plus a charge for each local call.

Local Measured Service is not included in this request. Why is Increase Necessary?

R. Rex Bailey, vice president-marketing and customer service for General Telephone in San Angelo, has filed testimony with the commission stating, "We are seeking additional revenue to restore and maintain our earnings position in the face of continuing inflation and to support our current and long-range capital program and to meet our customer's service requirements."

1981 ASCS Program Changes

Compliance with the NCA, cross compliance and offsetting compliance WILL NOT be a requirement of the 1981 wheat, feed grain and cotton programs.

This means that you can exceed your NCA on one farm or all farms and still be eligible for program benefits provided you report your acreage accurately.

Low Yield for 1980

Remember, you only have 15 days from the date you complete harvest on each farm to request a low yield. Production records can be presented later.

Changes

Farm operators and land-owners are asked to inform the ASCS office when land is sold, leased, rented or when there is an address change. We need this information so that our records can be kept current and the producer will receive all information that relates to their farm.

Health hints for today

By R. L. GILKEY, M.D., A.B.F.P.

INFLUENZA is still with us. Last week it was still prevalent. This week the number of new cases is decreasing. There is no notable exception, the preschoolers are catching the flu. They are very sick for about three days and then recover. These youngsters have few complications other than an occasional ear infection.

Most adults have done very well with the exception of a few cases of pneumonia. The age group with the real problems have been our senior citizens. The primary complication has been pneumonia, with many requiring hospitalization. Ear infections and pleurisy have also occurred but have not required hospitalization. Let me review what to watch for.

Unlike a cold with the sneezing, raw throat, cough and low grade fever; influenza starts with chills and fever. The temperature is 102 or 103 and unaffected by aspirin or tylenol. A severe headache is present with generalized muscle aching, and a dry cough with persists, and persists, and persists. Treatment is simple. You need bed rest, aspirin or tylenol, cough syrup, and time. The complications in adults have been in those who try to keep going and end up with the pneumonia or pleurisy. In most adults this is easily treated, but in our senior citizens it is dangerous.

complication rate is currently about 10%, but most of you have done a good job on taking care of yourselves. We've seen few with simple colds or flu. Those that we have seen have had the complications, for which there is treatment. If you do develop one of the complications, please see your doctor. This is one illness that he can't treat over the telephone.

Last: Yes, we'll have an open house in a couple of weeks when the flu is over. Remember: GOOD HEALTH IS COMMON SENSE AND A POSITIVE ATTITUDE.

Mrs. Rosa Lee Thornberry rites held

Funeral Services for Mrs. Rosa Lee Thornberry, age 63, were held at 3:00 p.m. on Friday, January 30, 1981 in Robertson Chapel of Memories with Rev. Bill Watson, pastor of the First United Methodist Church officiating. Interment was in Citizens Cemetery with the arrangements under the direction of Robertson Funeral Directors.

Mrs. Thornberry died at 6:00 a.m. on Thursday, January 29, 1981 in St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo. She was born July 26, 1917 in Brice, Hall County, Texas. She moved to Donley County in 1926 from Hall County and was married to Martin Thornberry on April 10, 1964 at Clarendon. She had worked for Harlan's Flowers and the City Gas Company for many years before her retirement. She was a member of the First United Methodist Church in Clarendon.

Survivors include her husband, Martin Thornberry of Clarendon; her mother, Mrs. Ralph Grady Sr. of Clarendon; four sisters, Mrs. Kenneth Vaughn and Mrs. Horace McClellan both of Clarendon, Mrs. John Cardinal Lubbock, Mrs. Glenn Hoggatt of Perryton; and one brother, Ralph Grady Jr. of Brice.

Casket bearers were Lloyd Benson, Bernie Benson, Mark Allen, Jiggs Mann, Joe Robinson, and Willard Hudson.

Funeral services held for Mrs. Lucy E. Harvey

Mrs. Lucy Edith Harvey, 79, died Tuesday, January 27, in Plainview.

Services were at 2 p.m. Thursday, January 29 in First Baptist Church with the Rev. Wayman Swopes, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Petersburg Cemetery with Moore-Rose Funeral Home.

Mrs. Harvey had lived in the Petersburg area for 32 years. She was a homemaker and a member of the First Baptist Church.

She married Noel E. Harvey in 1919 in Clarendon.

Survivors include her husband; a son, Gene Harvey of Petersburg; a sister, Mrs. Cora Hall of Hollis, Okla.; 10 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Harvey will be remembered as Edith Peabody, by her friends in Clarendon. She attended Clarendon schools, and lived for 30 years in the Clarendon area after her marriage to Noel Harvey.

Lifestyle of Pool family

(Minnie Cannon's parents)

Mrs. Pool was a good mother. She stayed at home minded her own business, cooked and fed her own family and two brothers Byron (Shorty) Owens and Jim Owens.

Part of her responsibilities were the lunches she fixed each work day for her brothers and her husband. She did not have much of a variety and fixed meat, biscuits, or cornbread and baked sweet potatoes, but these foods she prepared well.

Lunches were packed in metal syrup buckets with holes punched in the lids for ventilation.

Meat used by the family was slaughtered at home and butchered with hams, bacon, and sometimes other cuts packed in a 'meat box' located on the north side of the house. The meat was packed between layers of salt. In the spring the meat was taken out and if the cure was good it was washed free of salt and hung in the meat house or wash house (this was where the wash was done) to store. This way it was readily accessible when it was needed.

Sausage was made at home too. Meat was ground through a sausage mill, a larger version of the food chopper, and seasoned with a prepared sausage mix. Here each family applied the seasoning with particular attention to the tastes of each family. The finished product was mild, hot or very hot according to the family's fancy.

Sausage was packed in fabric sacks made about the size of a persons arm or perhaps a little larger. The seasoned meat was stuffed into the sacks and then the sausage was hung in the wash house ready to use.

A good breakfast Minnie recalls was cooked sausage, biscuits and gravy with chow chow which her mother also made. "and was it good!" Mrs. Cannon recalls. The hams Mrs. Pool cooked could be smelled a mile away the mouthwatering aroma unmistakable.

Minnie's mother did the milking most of the time. The process was to strain the fresh warm milk, pour it into jars and take it to the windmill where a milk trough inside the well house held cold well water to cool the containers of milk stored there. Mrs. Pool made lots of butter from the rich milk and molded it in pretty, fancy designs she came up with.

Versatile by nature, training and necessity, Mrs. Pool sewed for all her family too. She made her own wedding dress with tucks, gathers and embroidery which was the fashion of the day. Minnie Cannon remembers the long baby dress of her own which her mother's capable fingers made with loving care. She sewed beautifully.

Another routine and hard task of the home maker of that era was the laundry. All the laundry was rubbed on a rub board to scrub it clean and boiled to loosen the dirt and make it white. The boiling was done in a large black pot out in the yard where a fire could be built underneath it to heat the water to boiling.

The Pool family lived in a house which Mr. Pool built for the family home. It was a good one, Minnie says. The plan consisted of three rooms, a front porch, a small back porch and a storage room called the pantry. It was also used for a bath room if the weather was not cold. In cold weather the kitchen was used for the bath room and family members bathed in front of the big Home cook stove. The house had weathered the years well and was still standing when the 1970 tornado hit Donley County west of Clarendon and destroyed the structure.

Another memory of her childhood is of a blizzard which had cattle drifting before the wind and snow. Drifting into a corner some of the Bugbee cattle piled up and were frozen to death. There were seven or eight head which had to stay where they were for a while until enough of the snow was gone to get them out.

Memories of Minnie's family are pleasant; her two sisters, two brothers and parents who were good Christians and raised their children to be also.

Gross sales for Donley County

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Wednesday reported that gross sales in Texas during the third quarter of 1980 passed the $65.7 billion mark.

Bullock said an analysis of gross sales for July, August and September of last year was $8.2 billion more than during the same period in 1979.

The gross sales figures were gathered from 246,262 reporting outlets.

"The Texas economy continues to grow each quarter and remains one of the brighter spots in the country's overall economic picture," Bullock said.

He pegged total gross sales for Texas for the first three periods of 1980 at $191.5 billion.

Bullock also released a computer analysis showing reported sales for each of the state's 254 counties and a sales tax analysis broken down by the state's Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas.

Third quarter gross sales in Donley County were $5,788,908.

POPULATION: Texas had an estimated 13,385,000 residents in 1979 and ranked third among the 50 states. Some 80 percent of Texans are listed as urban residents. In 1977 (the latest data available prior to the 1980 census) Texas had 15 cities with more than 100,000 population, led by Houston with 1,554,960; Dallas 844,528; San Antonio 793,374; El Paso 395,419; and Fort Worth 367,993. Others over 100,000 include Amarillo, Arlington, Austin, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Garland, Irving, Lubbock, Pasadena, and Waco. Another 16 cities exceed 50,000. Among Texas' 254 counties, 21 percent (55) have less than 5,000 residents, and five have less than 1,000.

In the Sunday Supplement of the Amarillo Globe News, I read that the banana is America's favorite fruit. I would also bet that ice cream is America's favorite desert. But, that might be my own preference.

In keeping with low-calorie food ideas, here is a banana ice cream with no sugar.

Peel and slice two bananas in quarter inch slices, spread them on a cookie sheet and place in the freezer. When frozen, put them in the blender with a cup of milk and a half teaspoon of vanilla. Blend and serve immediately. Makes two generous servings of ice cream. For a delicious milk shake, use only one banana per cup of milk.

For variety, add a few frozen strawberries, raspberries, or other fruits. Banana slices may be stored in a plastic bag in the freezer for several months.

For those of you who have children with a sweet tooth or lunch box to fill, here is a very economical idea for making your own brownie mix. It will cost about 25% less than buying a box of brownie mix.

Homemade Brownie Mix
4 C flour

8 C sugar
2 1/4 C cocoa
4 tsp baking powder
3 tsp salt
2 C vegetable shortening (not oil)

Sift together flour, sugar, cocoa, baking powder and salt into a large bowl. Use a pastry blender to cut shortening into flour mixture in a tightly covered container. Can keep in the refrigerator 2 to 3 months.

Fudgy Brownies

2 C homemade brownie mix
2 eggs, lightly beaten
1 tsp vanilla
1/2 C chopped nuts

Combine Brownie mix, eggs and vanilla in a mixing bowl; blend well with a spoon. Stir in nuts. Spread into a greased 8 inch square baking pan. Bake at 350 20-25 min. or until done. Cool in pan on rack.

A good buy is always fish. But sometimes you have to buy so much and cook so much to feed your family that you wonder about the bargain. Here is a recipe that turns a 12 oz. fish steak into a meal for three, double that if you have a larger family.

Neptune Fish Bake
1 large fish steak, 12 oz
salt
pepper
dillweed
3 cooked potatoes, medium
1 jar marinated artichoke hearts (may substitute brussels sprouts)
3 lemon wedges

Cut halibut or fish steak into half lengthwise then cut off the two tails and serve these as one portion. Sprinkle fish on both sides lightly with salt and pepper and arrange one portion in each of 3 individual shallow baking dishes. Sprinkle top lightly with dillweed. Slice potatoes and overlap a portion in each dish next to fish, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Add artichokes or brussels sprouts. Bake at 400 for 10 min. or until sprouts are tender and fish flakes.

Daze of our lives

By JEAN BURCHETT

It seems to me if a driver manages to make a left hand turn from a right hand lane on a busy thoroughfare, misses 14 cars coming from two directions, hops a median and drives so skillfully as to land upright on the street aimed for, he should receive some recognition.

But not from a cop!

When I first heard the bleep, bleep, bleep, I just thought it was my heart beating from the narrow escape. However, the red light flashing off my rearview mirror caught my attention.

"Me?" I grimaced at the mirror reflecting the stern-faced patrolman.

"You," he nodded and slung his head toward the side of the street like he'd just snared a killer.

"See your license," this 10-year-old medalion bearer twisted his face into a prune and threw his voice from the nave out.

I went through my billfold card by card, picture by picture, and finally poured the whole mess from my purse. It was right there under four combs, six old deposit slips, two books of loose green stamps and twenty-nine Kleenex.

"I knew I could find it," I said defensively, and tried to shield the picture between thumb and forefinger as I handed it to him.

"Expired," he growled, and jingled the handcuffs hanging on his belt loop.

Oh great, I had forgotten. "But I have my renewal slip somewhere," I said, and bounced over the junk in the carseat, snapped open the glove compartment and took out five tapes, a flashlight, two checkbooks, the car manual.

"I stopped you, lady, because of that turn. Why did you do that?"

"Because," I got on my knees, hung over the front seat to get to my coat and frantically paw through the pockets, "I've searched for this street half a day. When I finally found it I couldn't bear to pass it up."

The world of Italian cooking, and that of 29 other countries, is featured in a new 303-page book from Campbell Soup Company, "The International Cook." It includes 142 recipes and traces the culinary history of many nations.

Each of the classic, authentic recipes has been modernized to accommodate U.S.A. lifestyles and uses time-saving Campbell's condensed soups.

For a copy, send $4 (check or money order only) to: The International Cook, P.O. Box 9770W Clinton, Iowa 52736.

He passed a hand over his eyes, flexed his jaw from side to side and muttered something about women and priorities. "Just like my Aunt Mabel," he whispered to himself. "Keeping her license in a dresser drawer so as not to lose it and sleeping in her raincoat in case a storm comes up during the night."

"Here it is!" I cried in relief, and handed him a wad of gum with a scrap of paper hanging to it.

"That's dangerous!" he yelled through the window.

"So for heaven's sake, next time I'll put it in my billfold."

Well, there was no need for him to treat me like a child. Me, twice his age, a taxpayer and more interested in saving my life than he was.

"You little snippet!" I shouted. "Talking to me of danger and standing there in a downpour without even a cap and slicker. Getting mud all over your nice blue suit. I really should report you to your sergeant! Do you realize that you have caused me to wreck the interior of my car, rip a brand new pair of pantyhose and expose my purse litter?" (Of course, I spoke this last piece to his tail light as he was driving off. What do you take me for -- a dunce?)

And I don't think for a minute that he let me off with only a warning because I reminded him of his Aunt Mabel. I think it was because my bottom lip was trembling.

Texas Facts

RANCHING: Both in number and diversity, Texas leads the nation in livestock. During 1979 receipts from all types of Texas livestock totaled $6.1 billion. In January of 1980, livestock on Texas farms and ranches numbered 13,200,000 cattle and calves, 910,000 hogs, 2,400,000 sheep, 1,400,000 goats, 17,500,000 chickens (excluding broilers) and 533,000 turkey breeder hens. Texas Angora goats produced 9,300,000 lbs. of mohair in 1979, valued at $47.4 million. Horses are increasingly popular for recreational purposes, but a census of their numbers is not available. again

On December 20, 1980, Rosie delivered us a new bull calf. The bull was sired by a registered longhorn, 3 year old bull from the Jim Lovell Ranch. There has been some discussion about the name for Rosie's offspring and any suggestions will be considered.

The names of "Bevo" and "Francis" are currently being considered. At this time, Rosie is keeping company with another 3 year old registered longhorn bull from the Lovell Ranch at the Porter-Lowe Ranch north of the city.

Two versions

The impact statement will be prepared in two versions -- draft and final. The draft version was prepared by the Air Force in cooperation with the Department of the Interior's Bureau of Land Management. The draft will be submitted for a 90 day public comment period starting January 2, 1981. Copies will be distributed to Congress, appropriate federal, state and local agencies responsible for environmental standards, public libraries in the proposed deployment areas, and other groups and individuals involved in the review process. Copies will also be available to the general public on request. As a result of the wide distribution of the draft statement, extensive government and citizen review, including public hearings, is expected. (The calendar of public hearings will be announced separately.)

Following this review and comment period, the final Environmental Impact Statement will be prepared. It will incorporate and respond to the comments received during the draft review period. This is the version that will be submitted to the Environmental Protection Agency in 1981. Copies of the final statement will be provided to Congress, to all who have provided substantive comments to the draft, and to the general public on request.

To allow for full public comment to the final version, the Air Force will not take any irreversible actions until at least 30 days after the final statement is filed. Final decisions on the basing area is not expected until the summer of 1981.

EARLIER IMPACT STATEMENTS

Two environmental impact statements have already been completed by the Air Force in connection with M-X. The first, filed with the Environmental Protection Agency in January 1978, documented the buried trench construction and test project at Luke Air Force Base, AZ. The second filed in October 1978, documented full scale engineering development and comparative basing modes. The full scale engineering section included review of proposed missile flight testing and associated construction planned for Vandenberg Air Force Base, CA. Both impact statements went through draft and final versions, eliciting full public comment in both draft and final versions.

Later, prior to a final decision on M-X production and deployment, another Environmental Impact Statement will be prepared. This statement will contain information not presently available such as more refined details about the actual system to be deployed. This impact statement will be made available for full public comment in both draft and final versions.

As with each Environmental Impact Statement, soliciting public comment is a cornerstone in the overall environmental review process. The Air Force can thus design the M-X system to minimize adverse effects on the environment.

DIET DRUGS

Loss of weight is a frustrating and often fruitless venture for many individuals. Weight loss occurs primarily as a result of two things: (1) eating foods containing fewer calories and (2) increasing physical exercise which causes the burning of calories. In each of these, the end result is the same...fewer calories are available to be turned to fat; existing fat is burned and weight decreases.

As the "lean body" becomes more and more in vogue, drugs are often considered as an aid in shedding unwanted pounds. Most diet drugs are intended to dull the appetite so that fewer calories are consumed. They are related to amphetamine which was used first as a diet aid in 1938.

Although many consumers believe that prescription medicines are far superior to those that can be obtained without prescription, this is not always the case. Phenylpropanolamine, for example, is available without prescription, has low abuse potential, and is low in cost. Many experts believe this to be the preferred drug to be used with diet and exercise in a weight reduction program.

Applications for spring turkey hunts on four wildlife management areas are being accepted by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

A total of 154 permits will be issued after a public drawing to be held in Austin at 10 a.m. on February 26. Prospective hunters have until 5 p.m. February 23 to submit their applications.

Application forms are available by writing to TP & WD at 4200 Smith School Rd., Austin 78744 or by calling the toll-free number 1-800-252-9327.

Wildlife biologists stress that the wildlife management area hunts are not necessarily indicative of high turkey populations, but are a part of the department's continuing research management programs. The general spring turkey season, to be held in 72 counties this year, is April 18-May 3.

Areas to be hunted: Gene Howe W.M.A., located seven miles east of Canadian. Hemphill Co.; Kerr W.M., located 15 miles NW of Hunt.

Kerr County on FM 1346; Mastador W.M., located 11 miles N of Paducah, Cottle Co. on FM 3256; and Engeling W.M., located 18 miles NW of Palestine on U.S. 287.

Wildlife of DC needs your help

The wildlife of Donley County need your help. The ever increasing need for higher food and fiber production is a constant threat to our wildlife habitat.

Pictured above is what a very desirable habitat for this area's wildlife could look like. An area such as this only occupies an acre or two; perhaps an odd corner of a field or pasture. Many trees useful to wildlife are available at reasonable prices through the Donley County SWCD tree program. If you want to help preserve our wild friends, hurry, because tree sales will end soon. Call or come by the Soil Conservation Service.

Texas Turkey goes to Colorado Antelope change range

Last Tuesday evening, a truck load of Colorado antelope arrived in King County in exchange for some Texas turkey to be delivered later. As part of an exchange program with the Colorado Game and Fish Department, several of our Texas Parks and Wildlife Biologists went to Colorado last week to assist the Colorado biologists in trapping antelope to be shipped back into Texas.

One hundred antelope were trapped early Tuesday morning, each was given a shot of antibiotics and given a sedative for the long haul back down south. Because of the temperate weather conditions and the speed in which the Texas biologists were able to make the journey, none of the antelope died in transport. They are not usually inclined to make a journey in a stock trailer passively.

The antelope were delivered to the Masterson Ranch in King County and to the Black ranch in Foard County.

To complete the bargain with Colorado, our own biologists will begin to trap 50 turkeys in Wheeler County next week. The turkeys will be picked up and delivered by the Colorado biologists who will also assist Wildlife Biologists Dvorak and his crew in the trapping procedures.

To trap a wild turkey is not as simple as catching a barnyard chicken. It requires careful pre-planning and human guile to capture these native Americans. First, a regular feeding area is located and then baited. When the turkeys are used to this free dining area, a 60' x 60' net is set up. It is like a large tent with four corner poles and a center pole. The main difference is that the ropes holding the net to the poles is attached to a detanator charge.

Then, one very early morning, the wildlife biologists hide in a blind near the feeding area with the detanator. They wait patiently until there are enough birds collected under the net then plunge down on the detanator and the net collapses upon the hapless turkey.

Turkeys, being the silly creatures that they are, submit quietly under the net; eventually.

Submissive until a man picks one up, then they begin to scratch with their giant feet! The birds are stuffed into boxes for transportation. They endure their journey quite well and Colorado will receive fifty mighty fine Texan Turkeys

Deer population winding down

As predicted, Texas deer hunters experienced a below-average 1980-81 season. Reduced success resulted from several factors, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists.

Dry weather during the spring and summer of 1980 caused an overall 12.86% decrease in the statewide deep population. The greatest losses occurred in the major deer ranges—only East Texas experienced an increase in deer numbers.

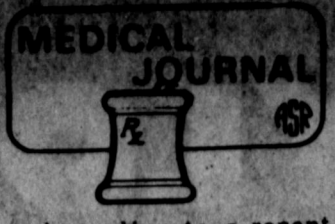

Unusually good acorn crops in most areas also contributed to poor hunter success, as deer moved less than usual and tended to ignore feeders. Poor hunting weather prevailed from opening day through Thanksgiving weekend, with rain, fog and cold temperatures.

"Traditionally about 65% of the annual deer harvest occurs in the first two weeks of the season," said Big Game Program Director Charles Winkler. "However, the weather and other factors combined to make that period a disappointing one in most parts of the state."

Winkler added that the weather continues to be a problem, as much of Texas is drier than normal. Continued dry weather through the winter and spring could cause problems for deer and other wildlife as well, he said.

Texas Facts

NATURAL GAS: Texas marketed 6.6 trillion cubic feet of natural gas in 1979, 77 percent from 35,377 gas wells, the remainder from wells also producing oil. The 1979 wellhead value was $7.9 billion. The state's deepest producer is a gas well in Wheeler County at 26,566 feet. Texas production accounted for 33.6 percent of U.S. natural gas in 1979.

Dr. Hinman stresses that the protection provided by the vaccine is relatively brief, and must be reinforced annually to keep up with the changing nature of the disease. "Not only do we change the essential content of the vaccine every year, but also the people who are vaccinated need to acquire protection against these most recent strains."

The time for immunization is as early in the cold months as possible. People 26 years of age and older require a single shot each year, while those under 26 require two doses of vaccine given a month apart.

The smallest existing carnivore is the least weasel or dwarf weasel, which is found in Siberia and weighs between 1 1/2 and 2 1/2 ounces.

Fish Tails

By KATIE DVORAK

Since this is the first article for the new fishing year, I'd like to tell you of some super big catches elsewhere in the state to whet your appetites and give you something to aim for yourselves.

The 37 year old state record for largemouth bass, broken only last year, has been shattered again in less than 12 months.

John Alexander Jr. of Richardson caught a 14-lb., 3 1/2 set by Jim Kimbell of Pittsburg at Lake Monticello last February 2.

Alexander was using a black jig with a rubber skirt and pork eel when he caught the record fish. He was using a 20-pound-test line. It was 26" long and 21 1/2" in girth.

Lake O' the Pines in Marion County in East Texas is in the heart of largemouth bass country, but big hybrid striped bass are doing well, too. Texas Parks and Wildlife Department net surveys recently yielded 23 of the hybrids, which are a cross between the striped bass and white bass (imagine what fun they would be to battle in a small lake!). The netted fish ranged in size from a pound to three pounds, 12 oz., according to biologist Alan Forshage of Tyler.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologist Alan Forshage said he believes it likely that the state record could easily fall again in the next two months. This could happen at Lakes Echo, Monticello or any of several small East Texas impoundments which have received stockings of Florida bass. Lake Calaveras near San Antonio is also in the running as it produced a 13-pounder a year ago.

If you are contemplating a fishing trip this spring, head for the Florida Bass lakes. If your fishing trips are limited, then remember that Greenbelt recently transferred its bass nursery pond fish into the lake and there should be an abundance of bass as well as cats to go after.

Bronchettes corral first half

CROWN

By BRAD THOMPSON
The Clarendon Bronchettes, with impressive wins over Shamrock and Memphis, quietly but efficiently wrapped up the first half of the District 2-AA with an unblemished 5-0 district slate.

The undisputed first half title means that the Bronchettes need only a tie in the second half of action to advance into the state playoffs.

The Bronchettes, riding the crest of a 13-game winning streak, have gone almost unnoticed around the area, in spite of the fact that their 20-3 record puts them among the elite in the state.

Against Shamrock, Clarendon stayed on its feet long enough to gain an extremely physical 45-34 victory.

When able to avoid shoe-string tackles and cross-body blocks, the Bronchettes stayed extremely poised and patient on offense to get good shots. When shots were missed, Clarendon crashed the offensive boards with great effectiveness to get second and sometimes third shots, which was the deciding factor in the game.

The Bronchettes, who have become notorious for winning with speed, quickness, and finesse, proved to both themselves and Shamrock that they could rough it up successfully when necessary.

Angelia Gardner led the bronchette attack with 15 points and nine rebounds, six offensive followed by Kelli Hardin with 10 points and five rebounds. Vanessa Calloway, Clarendon's hot shooting point guard was held to just eight points, but worked hard to pull down five boards.

The Bronchettes went to the free-throw line 25 times on the night attributing to the physical nature of the contest, but managed to convert only eleven, which kept Shamrock in the contest much of the way.

Friday night brought the Memphis Cyclonettes to town and the Bronchettes greeted them with a 25-point thrashing, 67-42.

The contest, which gave the Bronchettes the first half title, was never in doubt because Gardner, Hardin, and Calloway proved to be virtually unstoppable. The trio scorched the nets for a combined 57 points, including all 29 of Clarendon's first half points, in a fabulous shooting exhibition.

The Bronchettes showed no after-effects from the rough-and-tumble Shamrock game (for lack of a better word) as they came out smoking from the opening buzzer.

Vanessa Calloway led all scorers, scorching the nets for 22 points, followed by Kelli Hardin with 18 and Angelia Gardner adding 17 points.

The Bronchettes totally controlled the boards at both ends of the floor. Rhonda Butler, in what was probably her best game of the season, hauled down nine rebounds, as did Gardner. Hardin collected seven boards, and Calloway added five.

Coach Bob Howell, extremely impressed with his troop's effort, commented that it may have been their best overall effort of the year.

Doghouse Review

By MARK NIXON

Thursday night at 8:00 in Carter Gymnasium, home court of the Amarillo College Badgers, the rematch of the December 6 game in Bulldog Gymnasium will take place.

In that first meeting between our guys and the Badgers, you'll remember that we came away with a 74-70 win in a game marred by a bench clearing brawl. Hopefully the outcome will be the same but the brawl will not be a part of this game. Our team would certainly appreciate a good supporting crowd from Clarendon at the game. It should be a good game as both teams are fighting for their playoff lives.

Last week we played our two worst games since the Christmas break in a 64-63 overtime loss at Odessa and a 75-61 loss to the sixth ranked team in the nation, Midland College. Our shooting in both games was our downfall as we shot just 35% from the field both nights. It is hard to beat anybody with that kind of shooting.

Monday night we improved that shooting to 59% and stopped New Mexico Junior College 88-83 on our home floor. In that game five players were in double figures as Barry Kirk had 26, Jeffrey Brush 17, George Milhouse 14, Jerry Isler 13 and Michael Jones 10.

In case you are wondering why David Traylor, a 5'7 forward, was not in uniform Monday, he has been suspended from the team for the remainder of the season because of disciplinary reasons.

As the season winds down to the final games, the playoff picture for our team is not good at this point.

These three opening games on the road for the Bronchos were the toughest schedule we've had in a position where we have to win five of our last seven games. That means we will have to win two games on the road and all of our home games. It is a tough task but we are going to do everything we can to get it done.

Be in Bulldog Gymnasium next Thursday, February 12, when Western Texas College comes to town.

The Clarendon Bronco Junior Varsity neither won or lost without a fight last week, as they finished out the first half of district with a 3-2 record. Tuesday, the Broncos faced off against Shamrock here. The Broncos led the Irish throughout the first half, even after somewhat sloppy play and poor shooting (35%), 25-18. In the second half, however, the Broncos came out hot and hustling, and widened the lead to 16 points, 44-28. But then misfortune struck as, in a matter of two minutes, a 16 point lead became a 4 point lead, despite good effort by the Broncos. The Irish kept the game close until the end, as John Braxton sank a basket to put the Broncos ahead by three with seven seconds left. That is the way the game ended, the Broncos winning, 51-48. John Braxton, who is peaking as the season progresses, canned 27 points and grabbed 16 rebounds. Arlis Thomas had 10 rebounds Ray Crump added 12 points.

Three days later, Clarendon played archrival Memphis. The Cyclones came into the contest leading district with a perfect 4-0 mark. The Broncos could tie the race with a win. The Broncos came out hot, but so did Memphis. The score was tied all through the game, and in the first half, the Broncos controlled the ball and the boards. After the first half, with the game tied, 25-25, the Broncos hit a scoring quickly and the Broncos had to deal to get the ball back. But Memphis didn't miss from the charity stripe, and they got ahead by ten with the clock running down. The situation didn't change and Memphis only ran the clock-out, winning 57-48. John Braxton had his best game of the season, scoring 28 points and grabbing 22 rebounds. He overshadowed Arlis Thomas, who, statistically had his best game, scoring twelve and nabbing 14 boards.

The Broncos traveled to Canadian Tuesday, and play Wellington here Friday. They still can win district, so come watch some good ball-games.

Broncho Roundball Roundup

By RICK HAYES

Running fevers and catching chills, the Clarendon Bronchos didn't change their seasonal pattern last week, absorbing a 60-32 drumming at the hands of the Shamrock Irish, then offsetting it with a thrilling 61-60 win over the Memphis Cyclones. Both games were played at "The Corral".

The Shamrock game was the epitome of frustration for the Bronchos as they never could untrack after the Irish took a ten point lead after one quarter. Shamrock led by 11 at the half and the Bronchos never got closer than nine. Clarendon had no one in double figures, with Drew Thornberry leading all Bronco scorers with eight. Brad Thompson had his worst night shooting this season, with six points. One key element in the game had to be the Bronchos' inept free throw shooting. Clarendon hit a paltry 46% from the line, while the Irish hit 74% at the charity stripe. Jessie Salinas of Shamrock led all scorers with 20 points. Coach Ron Holmes had few good things to say about the loss. "We're going to try to refund everyone's money," he quipped. The loss put the Clarendon Bronchos in a bit of a bind. They were led by 17 at the end of the third quarter and only managed to tie the game by Clarendon let the Cyclones back in the game. Brad Thompson recovered from the Shamrock disaster in fine style, pumping in 25 points. Randy White had 13 and Alton Gaines added 10 for the Bronchos. The game almost slipped from the Bronchos' grasp on a controversial technical call on Randy White, who supposedly didn't raise his hand on a foul, and on a very doubtful basket interference call on Bryan Hill. The call was that Hill's hand was in the net while the ball was in the cylinder, which is goaltending and two points. However, Hill and assistant Coach Roy Rutledge both insisted that the offending hand belonged to Cyclone Lynn Monzingo, and that the ball was not in the cylinder. Remarkably, Holmes, "We're going to teach our kids not to sly so well. I didn't realize that Bryan Hill could jump like that (get this one, Jenny)." The confusion to follow resulted in the Cyclones tying game 58-58 with 1:18. The Bronchos ran a minute off of the clock with the delay game before Brad Thompson was fouled by Quentin Floyd with 17 seconds left. Thompson calmly meshed both ends of the one and one. The Cyclones brought the ball back and put the shot up, but Randy White rebounded cleanly and was fouled. White sunk his first free throw to make it 61-58, then missed on the second. With 5 seconds left, the Bronchos allowed Monzingo to lay it up for two points and a 61-60 Clarendon win was on the books as time expired.

The Bronchos horrid free throw shooting continued in the Memphis game, but was on at the right time at the end of the game. "After shooting 400 free throws in two days, I knew I had to hit at least one right then," White said, "or I would have been in serious trouble." With Coach Ron Holmes? "No, with ten other guys."

Texas Facts

FARMING: In 1979 an estimated 159,000 Texas farms and ranches covered about 139 million acres—some 79 percent of the state's land area. Income from all Texas crops in 1979 was $3.9 billion. Crops include cotton, grains, vegetables, pecans, peanuts, citrus and other fruits. Grain sorghum production is steadily increasing, but cotton is still the state's principal cash crop, with 5,539,000 bales marketed in 1979 for $1.48 billion, and cottonseed valued at $265 million. Texas usually ranks first nationally in cotton, grain sorghum, cabbage, spinach, watermelons and pecans.

Statement of Intent To Change Rates

General Telephone Company of the Southwest, in accordance with the Rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the Company's intent to implement a new schedule of rates in Texas effective February 27, 1981.

The proposed changes in rates will affect all customer classes and are designed to increase the Company's gross annual revenue derived from local service by 23%.

A complete set of revised rate schedules has been filed with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and is available for public inspection in each of the Company's Business Offices in the State of Texas. A summary of the Company's rate filing has also been sent to the Mayor's Office of each affected municipality.

Few groups are more concerned about saving fuel than the trucking industry.
 A nationwide voluntary fuel conservation program by the nation's truckers saved
 nearly three billion gallons between 1973 (year of the oil embargo) and a calendar 1978 by purchasing fuelsaving options. Here are some facts behind that figure:

* Variable fan drives that operate only when needed save up to six percent, depending on the truck and operating patterns.

* Aerodynamic devices, which reduce air drag, save up to six percent, depending on truck size, weight and operating speeds.

* Radial tires save four to six percent by reducing rolling resistance.

* Diesel engines replacing gasoline engines amounted to a 35% reduction in fuel consumption. The use of new fuel efficient diesel engines bring this reduction up to more than 40%.

The Motor Vehicle
 Manufacturers Assn., among others, has joined with the U.S. Dept. of Transportation in a Voluntary Program to reduce truck fuel consumption. These are just some of the ways truck manufacturers contribute to that joint effort.

Mr. Adduci is president of the Motor Vehicle
 Manufacturers Assn.

 fuge of the unimaginative."

HOW TO ENJOY "OPTIMUM HEALTH"

This medical term means the best possible health within the capacity of your particular body. At birth you may have been born with some inherited weaknesses, or later in life be affected by what Doctors call "Insults" of living. These may be caused by disease, poor nutrition, unhealthy workin-conditions or severe emotional distress.

To enjoy "OPTIMUM HEALTH," you must acquire the habits of better health. You start by consulting a physician for regular body checkups. If you have any problem he will usually soon correct it.
 Then, just follow his advice for healthier living.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Cub Scout pack 437 has banquet

Pack 437 of Clarendon Cub Scouts held its annual Blue and Gold Banquet at the First Christian Church on Monday, February 2, at 7:00 p.m. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Saxe of Clarendon and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Outlaw of Pampa.

Members of Den 3 provided the Opening Ceremony with a presentation of the letters A-M-E-R-I-C-A and a recital of what each letter stands for. They then led the audience in the Pledge of Allegiance, and Tom Harguess gave the Invocation.

After a delicious meal provided by the boy's mothers, Jerry Outlaw, who is the new District Scout Executive, gave a brief but entertaining talk to the large crowd of Cubs and their families about the three kinds of boys who can benefit by a Cub Scout Program. Using various substances dissolved in water, he demonstrated the slow absorbing type which eventually melts into the background if no one pays attention to him, the "white tornado" type who storms about getting into everything but accomplishing nothing until someone gives him leadership, and the gentle, effervescent type who is steady and remains true to a course set for him.

Leader Service Stars for One Year Service: Vida O'Neal.

Cub Service Stars for Three Years Service: Nuggett Bland, Jeffrey Henson, and Tracy Baker.

Outstanding Den Chief Award: Richard Richardson.

In a candlelight ceremony featuring the Arrow of Light, eight Den 3 Cubs who had finished the Bear Badge and who were ten years old were raised to a new Webelo Den. Den Chief Richard Richardson pinned the Webelo color badges on each boy; and then each was presented his Webelo neckerchief and Webelo book by his mother. The Cubs who are now Den 4 Webelos are: Tracy Baker, Nuggett Bland, Dale Phillips, Jason Klinnert, Jeffrey Henson, Roger Estlack, Brad Harguess, and Matthew Erdmann.

After announcing that Pack 437 had been invited to attend Scout Sunday at the Church of Christ next Sunday, February 8, Cut Master Allen Estlack called the meeting to a close.

Pack 437 Cub Scouts would like to say a special thank you to Kathy May for being general chairman for the banquet; to Helen Estlack, Becky Phillips, and Barry Phillips for doing the decorating; and to all who provided food and helped with cleaning up afterwards.

Pack 437 also wishes to express its appreciation to all leaders and families who have given time and support throughout the past year.

No Greater Love

By REV. WAYNE NAYLOR

"The prayer meeting service had barely begun when the door opened and a well-built, clean-looking, neatly dressed man entered. He sat down and joined wholeheartedly in the service. When the time for public testimony came, everyone's attention was directed to the stranger as he rose to his feet.

"I know you're wondering who I am and why I'm here. Let me tell you." Then he proceeded to tell the following story:

"My name is Dodge. I'm a traveling salesman. Some years ago I had a friend named Ralph Hinman. Ralph was a strong Christian and always talked to me about the love of Christ, frequently quoting that verse, 'Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends,' and then showed me that Christ died for His enemies, and insisted that I was still an enemy of Christ.

One day my doctor's wife phoned me about a relative's daughter who was very sick with diphtheria. The doctor had called on the patient that morning and promised to return in the evening with an antitoxin. But during the day the doctor suffered a heart attack, and would be unable to deliver the antitoxin to his patient. It was to arrive in town at 7:10 by train, be delivered to the doctor's home, and then someone else would have to pick it up and deliver it the seven miles to the dying girl. I promised that I would pick it up at the doctor's home at 7:30.

During the day a heavy blizzard had blocked the roads leading out of town and there was a question whether anyone could make the trip to the sick girl's home safely. Because of the heavy snows, travel would have to be on foot or snowshoes. The trip, itself, might claim the life of the one delivering the medicine. And of course, even if he made the trip successfully, he might catch the disease and die.

To my surprise, when I called at the doctor's home, I found that Ralph had been there ahead of me and was already on his way to deliver the medicine.

NEWS

Our library was invited, along with other libraries in the Panhandle System, to submit an application to the J. Frank Dobie Foundation for a $2,000 grant. The lucky recipient of this grant will receive the money this spring to use for book enrichment. We mailed our application last week and have our fingers crossed, hoping to be the lucky one.

A number of young people were by the library last week doing research for term papers. These people are most welcome. One of our major goals here in the library is to provide better service for the students in our community.

Leonard L. Read, Executive Director for the Foundation For Economic Education, Irvington-On-Hudson, New York 10533, compiled a small book entitled "The Free Man's Almanac". The book allotted one page to each day of the year and the one for December 19th by Wallace E. Bennett, reads as follows:

"When the American people can courageously face up to the fact that there is no such thing as something for nothing; that there is no real security without risk; that money cannot be manipulated to produce wealth; that there is no substitute for human endeavor and individual wisdom and responsibility; then, and only then, can we bring America back to economic reality, which in turn will put our feet on the path to sound growth and true prosperity." For her bouquet, the bride carried a nosegay of roses, interspersed with baby's breath and tied with satin streamers and love knots.

Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, belonging to her mother. The pearls were the 'something old' and to complete list for good luck, her wedding gown was new, she carried an Eastern Star Bible belonging to her grandmother for something borrowed; wore a blue garter and a penny in her shoe had her birth date on it.

Attending the bride was matron of honor was Mrs. George Michael Arrington, of Canadian and maid of honor was her sister, Libbi Ann Garnett, of Vernon. They wore identical street length gowns of peach colored faille with fitted bodice and tucks to the belted waistline. Capped long sleeves complemented the gown detailing. A sprig of baby's breath in the hair and a single rose atop a small bible completed the attendants attire.

Best man was Robert R. Chaison K. Jr., of Uvalde and brother-in-law of the groom. Groomsman was Doug Kidd, of Clarendon, and ushers were E.W. Burbank Jr., and Dennis Zane Garnett, both of Houston.

For her daughters wedding Mrs. Garnett selected a rose-pink chiffon styled in street length, with long sleeves, pleated bodice, belted waist and finished with a handkerchief hem.

Following the ceremony a champagne reception was catered by the Inn of the Four Seasons in the restored Diaz home on the grounds of the Four seasons. In the reception room the brides table was covered with a white cloth with complement the wedding cake decorated with fresh flowers. Mixed spring flowers and candles accented the table. Serving tables were laden with shrimp, crab, tenderloin of beef, a cheese and fruit plate and trays of champagne.

For traveling the bride chose a winter white knife

MRS. DEWEY BOB MYERS Wedding vows exchanged by Garnett-Myers

Wedding vows for Lesli Jane Garnett and Dewey Bob Myers, were solemnized Saturday, January 31, 1981, at four in the afternoon, in La Villita Church in San Antonio. Dr. Donald Garnett, of Arkadelphia, Arkansas and uncle of the bride officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Ed Garnett, of Vernon. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Myers, of San Antonio, are the parents of the groom.

Decorations for the church, one of the oldest in San Antonio, were fern, fresh spring flowers and votive candles.

Wedding music, with Mildred Martin, at the organ included THE ROSE, IN MY LIFE and Handel's Wedding March.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of ivory chantilly lace fashioned with a jewel neckline, long fitted sleeves, Rusty Bingham of Amarillo spent the weekend with his parents Huell and Alma Bingham.

Louise Garvin, Rieta and Bo of Turkey visited her Mother Mrs. Norma Corgill Sunday.

Mrs. Bea Rodgers had eye surgery at High Plains hospital Monday.

Mrs. Dick Rodgers is ill with the flu. Do hope everyone gets to feeling better soon.

It surely is nice to see all the activity going on at the land office again. Things will soon be picking up at Howardwick again. We have some beautiful homes near completion out here now.

MR. & MRS. GREGORY MARTIN GANN

Eads-Gann exchange wedding vows

Miss Andrea Dawn Eads became the bride of Mr. Gregory Martin Gann in vows solemnized Saturday, January 3, 1981, in Mexia, Texas. The ceremony was held in the home of the groom's mother. The Reverend Charles Hartsfield read the vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Eads of Clarendon and the groom is the son of Mrs. Bobbie Gann of Mexia and the late Mr. Gann.

Organ music was provided by Mrs. Patsy Coleman of Mexia.

The candles were lighted by Stephanie and Stephen Gann, niece and nephew of the groom.

Attending the couple were Miss Cathy Collins of Houston and Mr. Bruce Fain of Mexia. Miss Collins wore a floor length baby blue and navy gown fashioned after that worn by the bride. She carried a single long-stem blue silk rose.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a floor-length princess style gown designed with high Victorian neckline and cape-style bodice overlay. She wore elbow length lace mitts and a coronet of flowers in her hair. She carried out the tradition of something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue and a penny in her shoe. Her bridal bouquet was of baby blue flowers and baby's breath centered with a white orchid which was lifted and worn with her traveling attire.

A reception was held in the home immediately following the ceremony. Presiding at the table were Mrs. Sandra Eads, sister-in-law of the bride and Mrs. Janie Gann, sister-in-law of the groom.

The couple will be at home in Houston where the bride is employed by Cabot Oil and Gas Co. and the groom is employed by Seahawk Services, Inc.

MRS. KENT C. HEATH

Platte-Heath vows exchange

Mr. and Mrs. Kent C. Heath are on a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M., following their Friday evening wedding ceremony solemnized in the First Baptist Church Chapel.

Dr. Kenneth Patrick, pastor, performed the 7:30 p.m. rite before a massive arrangement of white gladiolus, carnations and roses flanked by spiral candelabras and palms.

The bride is the former Janice Platte, daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Platte, Jonesboro Rd. The groom is the son of Mrs. Pauline Heath, Clarendon.

Performing wedding selections for the ceremony were Mrs. W.W. Grimes organist; Mrs. William McKeey, pianist; and Kay Wise, vocalist.

The bride was given in marriage wearing a gown of sheer organza over taffeta. The bodice, fashioned with bishop sleeves and a sheer yoke, featured a high neckline sprinkled with pearls.

Falling gracefully from the Chantilly lace-outlined empire waist was a full skirt extending to a cathedral-length train.

A cathedral-length veil of illusion held by a bandeau of lace and seed pearls enhanced her bridal attire. She chose to carry a cascading bouquet of burgundy and white silk flowers.

Diane Strauss served the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Janice Monteleeone and Janet Simmons.

Mike Heath, brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsman included Bruce Layman, Denton; and John Floyd, Clarendon.

Guests were seated by Tim Heath, nephew of the groom, Brownwood.

The bride's niece, Wendy Sullivan, was flower girl. Bobby Gerstenberger served as ring bearer.

Following the rite, Mr. and Mrs. Heath were honored with a reception in the church parlor.

Servers included Karen Sullivan, sister of the bride; Jackie and Gail Platte, sisters-in-law of the bride; Judy Heath, sister-in-law of the groom; and Christy Heath, niece of the groom.

The bride, a graduate of Big Spring High School and Howard College, is employed at Big Spring Abstract Co.

The groom is a graduate of Clarendon High School, attended Texas Women's University, Denton, where he received a degree in nursing and North Texas State University where he did graduate work in finance and real estate brokerage. He is now a real estate salesman for Irwin Real Estate Company, Denton.

Following their wedding trip, the couple will make their home in Denton.

DAR to honor Good Citizens

Las Pampas Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will honor the Good Citizens of the senior classes of area high schools at their Colonial Tea to be held at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday February 22 at the Pampa Senior Citizens Center.

Those being honored are Lendi Livingston of Lefors, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Livingston; Terry Cole of Clarendon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cole; Jamie Glass of McLean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Glass; Pam Miller of Pampa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Miller; and Robyn L. Ford of White Deer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Ford.

The Good Citizens were selected by their classmates and sponsors to represent their respective high schools. The Good Citizens candidates answered questionnaires explaining four qualities of a D A R Good Citizen and giving instances when they had exemplified each. Then they submitted an essay entitled "Our American Heritage and My Responsibility to It". The student who is selected as Good Citizen on the state level will be presented a pin and a $100 United States bond; the national winner will receive a Revere bowl and a $1000 scholarship.

Terry Cole of Clarendon is an honor student. He has been active in F.F.A. having been F.F.A. Star Greenhand, Star Chapter Farmer, and Lone Star Farmer Degree. He has held most offices in that organization as well as class officers. He has competed in District, Regional, and State level in U.I.L. speech. In addition to these activities he is an outstanding football athlete. He plans to attend Texas Tech University and then either Texas or Baylor Law School.

Outdoor films available

If the old Chinese saying that "a picture is worth a thousand words" is true, then a motion picture—at 24 frames per second—is worth a million words, Right?

Not always, but a movie on outdoor life or a conservation problem is a good device for increasing attendance at club meetings. There are dozens of good movies and slides shows available to conservation groups for no cost except postage, according to the National Wildlife Federation.

The NWF has compiled the following list of 16mm color sound films that are available from conservation groups, government agencies and their film distributors whose addresses are given at the end of the listings. The organizations distributing the films require only that you pay return postage and that you assume responsibility for any damage to a film while it is in your custody.

Tips on ordering films
1. Make requests for films well in advance; at least 4 weeks notice is required but six weeks to three months is advisable.
2. Specify a preferred showing date; always give one or two alternate dates.
3. Plan for an alternate film.
4. Follow all instructions from the film distribution agency. Return the film in the same container and shipping case in which it arrived.
5. Do not attempt to make major film repairs. If you should damage a film, insert a note describing the damage.
6. Use good equipment and an experienced projectionists. Never run sound film on a silent projector.
7. Submit audience showing reports promptly.

4-H News

By KIM FORMWAY
The Greenbelt 4-H Club held their regular meeting Monday night, January 19, in the College cafeteria. The vice president Lynn Alderson called the meeting to order, he called on Kim Formway to lead the 4-H pledge, moto and prayer. The minutes from last meeting were then read by sec. Karen Alderson and approved as read.

Progress reports from the current projects were as follows: Beef Doug Hawkins, Horse, Lee Smith, Dog, Bret Harbert, Sheep, Leland Howell, Rifle, Stan Garland. The modeling project which is to begin in the near future was given by Heneritta Richardson. The meeting was then turned over to Shana Cole, who led the club in 3 relay games.

Mary Jo Hermesmeier and Rita Garvan, Collegic 4-H members, demonstrated home folk dance steps, which the members joined in.

Refreshments were served to approximately 60 members and leaders.

Hedley news

By WILLIE JOHNSON
Graveside services for Mrs. Ruth Lett were held at the Rowe Cemetery Thursday, January 29th at 2 p.m. Mrs. Lett lived at Berger. She was a sister of Mrs. Ray Brown. Sympathy is extended to the families from the Hedley friends.

Texas Facts

FORESTS: Included in Texas' 23.4 million acres of woodlands are 10.9 million acres of pine-hardwood forests in East Texas known as the "Piney Woods". They extend over all or parts of 43 counties and include four national forests covering 664,049 acres. Texas timber production in 1979 was 523 million cubic feet. It included 1.1 billion board feet of lumber, 1.3 billion square feet of softwood plywood, and 3.9 million cords of pulpwood, in all, some 2 percent less forest production than during the previous year. Approximately 85 percent of all trees harvested were pines.

Dear Mr. So Relle:
Thank you for your submission regarding property classification systems. I appreciate the work you have put into developing your uniform classification system as well as the time you took to explain it to me.

Your classification system appears to have two very desirable attributes: it is universal in coverage and it is flexible. It also appears to me that for comparison purposes, the building classifications can be readily converted to the classifications used in the General Appraisal Manual.

You are in a unique and fortunate position in that you are able to design a system "from scratch" which will cover all the types of property in your appraisal district and will allow for the future introduction of new property types. With your permission, I would like to be able to make copies of your system available to other appraisal districts which may call us seeking a universal classification system.

The only modification which I might suggest to other jurisdictions would be to create a subcategory within the industrial categories in order to isolate real estate owned by utilities and railroads from other types of property.

Again, thank you for providing us with a copy of this classification system.

Sincerely,
Dennis Deegear
