Havens Wins Contest

Bobbie Havens of Clarendon High School was one of six area students chosen from their high schools for exemplifying outstanding leadership, service, patriotism and dependability - the qualities of good character emphasized in the annual selection of the Daughters of the American Revolution good citizens nationwide.

These students were honored at a reception by the Las Pampas Chapter of the DAR in Pampa last week. Each student were presented a DAR Good Citizen pin designed with a ring of 13 stars representing the original 13 colonies. In the center of the pin are four books entitled "Dependability," "Leadership," "Service" and "Patriotism." A laurel wreath for honor encircles the books, and a torch for understanding is emblazoned in the background.

Each of the six DAR good citizens wrote a 500-word essay on their American heritage and their responsibility to preserve it. These are entered in competition for state and national scholarships.

Being a friend when needed and assuming the responsibilities of head cheerleader are important commitments of Bobbie Havens, a senior in Clarendon High School. She has been a student council member, officer in the National Honor Society, FFA Sweetheart, Miss FFA and Homecoming Queen.

Active in sports, Havens participated in basketball and track all four years and was basketball captain. She is also active in the Methodist church program.

Havens, helps her parents, Bob and Connie Havens, on their family farm and has been active in FFA in high school.

She has helped beautify the town area by planting flowers from the family greenhouse around the courthouse and jail.

Bobbie plans to attend college and major in business management. In her essay she stated that American's are leaders in the world, and must "water our roots" - our pride and heritage every day.

Scouting For Food

Clarendon Tiger Cubs, Cub Scouts, and Boy Scouts will conduct their Scouting For Food Community Service Project on March 9, through March 13, 1993.

On March 9, Tiger Cubs and Cub Scouts will distribute collection bags door-to-door throughout the city, providing citizens an opportunity to contribute to the local food bank. Possible donations include canned foods (tuna, stews, meats, fruits, and vegetables), and other non-perishable food such as peanut butter and baby formula. Then, on March 13, the Boy Scouts will pick up the filled bags.

All food collected stays in the community. Scouting for Food is a wonderful way to show the public one of the benefits of Scouting. It teaches young men the tradition of a Good Turn. A Good Turn is an extra act of kindness. It means looking for chances to help others throughout each day, helping quietly, without boasting. The Scouts earn the good feeling that they have voluntarily provided service to others.

To participate, place donated foods in the collection bag (or grocery bag) and place the bag outside your front door on Saturday morning, March 13 by 9 a.m.

Another Day With Smokey

It's been rather quiet this week. Not much business at the tire store and no fire calls. It's a good thing too, lightning hit the radio the other night and the dispatcher has to call all of the emergency people on the phone, poor gal. I guess she could blow the siren, but not sure you could hear it inside all the buildings in town.

Suddenly the phone rings. Mr. Jones Calls to Smokey, its for you. Dispatcher says you got a fire. Smokey takes off. At the station everything's in a turmoil. Seems the caller just said Gramers Chicken House is on fire and hung up. Finally someone remembers Mrs. Smiths kids call her Gramer.

Fire Department races off to Mrs. Smiths and sure enough the chicken house was ablaze. Smokey grabs his gear and starts fighting the fire. He didn't see a propane tank behind the coop. Suddenly the heat causes pop off valve to blow sounding like an old steam engines whistle in Smokey's back pocket. He jumped, realizing what it was and kept on fighting the fire. After they saved the ground where the chicken house had been setting the Fire Chief asked Smokey if the noise scared him. Smokey replied, "Sure did chief. That ain't sweat running down my leg."

Gramers son asked why it took so long to for the fire department to get there. If you'd been there quicker you could have saved the house. Now Smokey ain't no diplomat he is just a country boy who scratches when he itches, he spoke up. You didn't give any directions or tell us who you was when you called. When we figured out who you were, you had not notified 911 where you lived. You don't have a house number on your house or a street sign on your road, and we didn't know about that darn attack billy goat you got. Don't blame us for being slow. Look at that lazy guy in the mirror. We can't find you if we don't know who you are and you won't tell us where you live.

Smokey had to pay a fine at the next fire practice. Wasn't much but he hated to clean that dang toilet. Seems them volunteers got themselves a code of ethics and aren't supposed to get ticked off at the public.

911 card are available at City Hall. Have you filed yours? How about a street name and number? Vicious dogs and potbellied pigs etc. would be appreciated if you live in the country.

Go by the fire station when practice is on and mark your house on the map and tell us how to get there.

APPAC Isn't Learning

Several weeks ago, The Clarendon News ran a letter from Monte Hassie, Member of the State Board of Education from the Panhandle. Mr. Hassie informed area residents that APPAC (Texas Adolescent Pregnancy and Parenthood Advisory Council) was asking the Texas Legislature to force every school to teach a "sex education" program. Included in it was curriculum information for children in primary grades that any "sexual orientation" (i.e. homosexuality) is OK and acceptable. There were many other things in the proposal that the vast majority of Texans find utterly unacceptable.

Many people from Clarendon campaigned against the proposal. The state board of education voted--by a heavy majority--to recommend that the legislature reject the proposal. And area lawmakers joined other from across the state to soundly defeat the measure.

Now, this week, the newspaper has received a press release from APPAC, one that presumably went to all papers in the state. That press release claims that their program was misrepresented. But then the same release reiterates the very stands that most Texas find not only repulsive, but downright immoral. Apparently APPAC is a non-learner. They have made it clear that they intend to continue to advocate mandatory instruction of young children in values that Texas will not tolerate.

APPAC was created by Section 52.002 of the Texas Human Resources Code. The Texas Department of Human Services pays APPAC members for all expenses: transportation, meals, and lodging. In other words, APPAC is being subsidized with tax money to lobby for values that are in direct opposition to the morals of most Texans and that violate the historic teachings of the Judeo-Christian tradition. The legislature could un-create APPAC just as readily as they created it.

Not every financial institution can say that. They're the ones that you end up hearing and reading about. However, there are others, like us, who don't get noted much and that's because we're doing our job, and doing it right.

Our strength is built on sound investments, support in our community business, wise loan decisions and solid management. And a few good men. You can bank on it.

Basketball Team To Compete

The Clarendon College Women's basketball program has been invited to attend the National Small College Conference Basketball Tournament in Wilmington, Delaware. The team will compete against seven four year institutions during the tournament set for March 4, 5 & 6. Clarendon will be the only junior college represented on the field.

"The opportunity to play in the national tournament for small colleges will allow us to showcase our athletic program on a national level. It will also allow us to play teams from other areas of the country," said coach Joel Zehr.

The 1992-93 Lady Bulldog team members are: Shalmarie Stoffe, Claude, Texas; Leann Davis, Childress, Texas; Julie Blacksher, Childress, Texas; Cynthia Stephenson, Claude, Texas; Reagan Harris, Claude, Texas; Carrie Riley, Melrose, New Mexico; Shundra Duncan, Arlington, Texas; Tiffany Church, Washington, D.C.; and Marquita Williams, Lake Charles, Louisiana.

Clarendon moved from the Western Junior College Athletic Conference in the fall of 92. The move was made to allow the college to compete against schools offering the same number of athletic scholarships.

INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT

ANNOUNCEMENT OF OPENING:

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

THE COMMUNITY

Clarendon, one of the first towns founded in the Texas Panhandle, is located 60 miles southeast of Amarillo. Since 1878, Clarendon has been the center of activity for the surrounding region. It was here that vast cattle ranches were established on virgin prairies and the legendary Wild West era began.

Since its beginning, Clarendon has been more than just another cow town. Although the struggle against a sometimes harsh environment meant sacrifice, the citizens of Clarendon built an outpost of civilization that included schools, churches, a hospital, and a library. Culture and moral values were emphasized, and so, early Clarendon was sometimes called "Saints' Roost".

Today, with help from many regional artists, downtown Clarendon is fast becoming a collection of galleries, studios, and shops offering wares that range from country crafts and antiques to fine art from artists whose works hang in our nation's capital. The Saints' Roost Museum offers the story of Clarendon's settlement and growth through antique artifacts and pictorial records.

Set in a peaceful small town, Clarendon College offers higher learning through a quality two-year education program. Greenbelt Lake, one of the nicest in the Panhandle, is located three miles from town on Highway 70 North. The lake offers fishing, swimming, skiing, and many other water and outdoor activities. Clarendon also has an 18-hole golf course and country club.

Clarendon is surrounded by the awe-inspiring beauty of Palo Duro Canyon, vast rolling plains, and majestic skies. The beauty of the area, teamed with friendly people, make this a great place to live, work, and raise a family.

THE SCHOOL DISTRICT

Clarendon Independent School District (ISD) strives for the accomplishment of long-range goals through the use of strategies that improve development in student learning, curriculum, and personnel. By developing a school improvement plan, the district hopes for increased family and community involvement. A strong commitment to technology continues to be a priority within the district.

Clarendon ISD has well-kept, updated facilities. There are two facilities on a common site with grades nine through 12 housed at Clarendon High School and grades Kindergarten through eight at Clarendon Elementary and Middle School.

THE STAFF

The staff of Clarendon ISD includes the superintendent, two central office employees, two campus administrators, three secretaries, 44 teachers, four instructional aides, and 16 auxiliary staff. There are 17 teachers on career ladder level II and four on career ladder level III. With an average of 12.3 years experience, CISD teachers are dedicated and qualified. The average Clarendon ISD teacher has been with the district 7.1 years. The district has a student-teacher ratio of 12:1.

REASON FOR VACANCY

Jeff Walker has served in the district for 29 years. He has been superintendent for the past 20 years. Mr. Walker is retiring at the end of the 1992-93 school year.

You & Your Cholesterol

Are You At Double Jeopardy For A Heart Attack?

About one in nine adult Americans is at double jeopardy for heart attack, but millions may not recognize their risk.

More than 22 million Americans have both high cholesterol and high blood pressure, a double whammy that dramatically increases their risk of heart attack," according to Dr. William Castelli, director of the ongoing landmark Framingham Heart Study.

Even so, 66 percent of Americans don't know their cholesterol numbers, and 59 percent don't know their blood pressure numbers, according to a Gallup survey of 1,000 adults.

To find out — and reduce — your chances for heart attack:

1. Know your cholesterol and blood pressure numbers. "You can't confront your risk of heart attack until you know your cholesterol and blood pressure numbers," Castelli said.

2. Discuss your numbers with your doctor to size up your heart attack risk. You may be at increased risk when your blood pressure is consistently above 140/90, and your cholesterol is consistently 200 or more.

Clogging of the arteries is more severe in people with both high cholesterol and high blood pressure, increasing their risk for heart attack.

3. Set specific goals with your doctor to lower your numbers. Diet and exercise are the first steps. See your doctor regularly to measure your progress.

For more information on finding out and managing your cholesterol, you can get a free guide from Health Information Services, Merck & Co., Inc., P.O. Box 1486-C, North Wales, PA 19454-9958.

FACTS & FIGURES

Freedom of Education

A recent Gallup survey has found growing support nationwide for parental choice when it comes to children's education. The study revealed:

Many parents support freedom of choice in education.

Seventy percent of the Americans surveyed want the right to choose what school their children attend to extend to everyone, not simply those who can afford to send their children to private school.

The 70 percent who favored the idea also indicated support for a government-funded voucher system, providing a certain amount of money for each child so parents can send children to the public, private or parochial school of their choice.

Three in five adults favored using tax money for this purpose.

In the United States we have laws to protect freedom of the press and of speech. Many who think we should also have freedom of education are writing the U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510, and the House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515.

What does a full shopping bag have to do with recycling?

EVERYTHING!

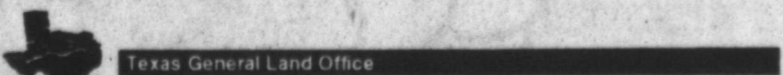

It takes three steps for recycling to work:

- collecting and sorting
- using recyclables to make new products
- buying recycled goods

Don't let a good thing go to waste. Buy Recycled

Unless you're re-using recycled materials by buying recycled products, you're not closing the recycling loop.

Beauty With Texas Style

By Sherry Cromartie, Wellington Leader

Beauty: That which is beautiful in nature; or in some natural or artificial environment...a beautiful form of art or creative design...an attractive, well-formed girl or woman...individually pleasing or beautiful quality, grace, charm.... Or, create --(ating): to cause to come into being, as something unique.... These are some of the descriptions in the Webster's dictionary that help describe the "creativity" and "designing" talents owned by several women in our area.

On the cover of December's Texas Monthly magazine Jenny Glenn of Childress emerges as that beautiful woman, with a Texas greeting, taking her hat off to reveal a specially creative hairdo --- or "hat-hair", as the photographer described it. She also introduces a novel idea for a creative hairdo.

Jenny is a typical example of the natural beauty of Texas females, is Texas raised, and a graduate of Wellington High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fulcher of Wellington, and the late Rev. Allen B. Earnest, Jr, who was a former pastor of Wellington First Baptist Church. She is the mother of a fourteen year old daughter, Kari Glenn, a student at Randall High School in Amarillo.

Jenny is as a dental hygienist for Dr. Albert Bird and Dr. Jay Parmer, who have dental clinics in Childress, Memphis and Quanah.

She tells the story of her uncle, Lewis Portwood, of LaGrange, Georgia, a few years ago, sending her a newspaper article and cutout picture of a girl in his area who had her hair designed to portray a certain style of a cowboy hat for a party. He thought it was something unique, and sent the photo to Jenny as a matter of interest because he knew that Jenny was into the western style and liked horses and the ranch scene.

One day, late in 1991, she was planning to go to a party, and like all women, worrying about the big question of what to wear and how to look. She had shared her picture story with her friend, Kay Talley. Kay decided to take on the job of creating the special hair-hat design for Jenny to wear to the Ranch Rodeo party. While at the party, one person asked if she wasn't wearing a Stetson Black-Gold, was it a "Jenny Red-Gold" hat! Jenny, with her western style hair-hat was pictured in the Amarillo Accent West magazine, in December 1991.

Freelance magazine photographer, Danny Turner, and magazine feature producer, Christina Patoski created their picture production of "Big Hair in West Texas" hair styles. Among several women in the state, Ms. Glenn was contacted and requested to have her hair styled for the special magazine article. None of the production crew involved in creating the article were told of Jenny's photograph being featured on the cover of the December 1992 issue of the magazine. It was a complete surprise to all, but a nice surprise.

Texas Monthly writer, Skip Hollandsworth, however, did not portray the women with the specialized hairstyles as a piece of beauty. He, in fact, did not recognize the hairstyles as a work of art, a creative design, or a means of beauty. He described women's hair styles as "it arrives like a blimp, floating ethereally through the door before the rest of the woman's body does;" and "I love the way West Texas women can back-comb their hair until it looks like balls of tumbleweed...." Obviously Hollandsworth is not familiar with Webster's description of beauty and creating, nor does he recognize beauty when he sees it.

Kay Talley is a mother of two young sons, a homemaker and wife to Bill Talley, an employee at Pantex. The family is busy in their hometown activities, and the parents are devoted volunteers, along with their sons, in the Hedley 4-H Club. Her hairstyle work is usually blow-drying a calf, braiding a horse-tail, or brushing one of the show animals, helping to have it ready for a stock show, when she is helping with her sons, and the club members.

Kay isn't an employed hairdresser, but she does on occasion help her friends with their hair styles for some special event. She was glad to be called to help style Jenny's cowboy hat-do for the magazine photo session. She went to Childress to meet Jenny and the production crew. Others who were present to witness an exciting day's work included Jenny's mother, her sister, Ginger White of Childress, and visitors, Alexis Gentry, photographer producer for Star Fire Studios of Memphis, and myself, Sherry Cromartie, associate editor with the Wellington Leader. (The visitors were grateful that the pros were agreeable and very courteous to let us observe.)

The hair design took about an hour and 45 minutes to be completed in its sculptured western-hat form. Almost a full can of hairspray and spritz was used, and lots, and lots of backcombing strokes. Kay used only Jenny's hair to create her sculptured style. To observe the finished look, one would declare that a form had been used to create the crown of the hair-hat, but that is not the case.

Of course a woman wouldn't wear this style for her usual daily appearance, but the creative idea was great for a party, or for a feature story.

The photo-background had to be just right for the special effects portraying Texas, in the mind of photographer, Turner. He had spent a great deal of time driving over the county to find the "right spot." Since this was the second trip he and Patoski had made to visit with

Jenny in Childress, he had spotted several different locations which they had posed, but this time, he was going to seek out an area to emphasize the importance of their photo subject. Turner's talent with his subject's appearance in his photographs is another story, in itself, of creative artwork. He was happy to allow a small-town newspaper writer/photographer look over his shoulder and take a couple of photo shots also.

Patoski brought with her the western-style shirt, jewelry to accent the costume look, and Jenny provided the rest of the attire, the good looks and the Texas size smiles. The makeup was finished entirely by Jenny, herself. Patoski, however, gave her approval of her feature model, and directed the scenes for the just-right pose. Patoski exhibited another type of art, and shared some of her creative ideas with Jenny's photographer friend, Gentry. These professional artists gave compliments to their subjects, and they were gracious people who encouraged cooperation in creating a picture story.

The shooting session lasted from 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and ended approximately at 8:30 that evening--when the cows came home! (There were cattle grazing in the fields behind the scene and gradually their curiosity brought them closer to the fence line to see what was going on.)

Until the last, Jenny was performing willingly and never lost her smile, even though she was tiring. Turner kept adjusting light screens and cameras, and Patoski often checked her makeup and costume the entire time, but the stage never changed. During all this time, the onlookers were intrigued and glad to have the opportunity for the close observation.

The countryside scenery added to the effects of the Texas beauty with the Texas Skies and a Texas sunset. The two artists, with their perfect model, used their creative and artistic talents, resulting in the production of Jenny's photo-cover portrait for Texas Monthly.

How to Replace Your Social Security Card

Quick...what's your Social Security number?

Many people know their Social Security number without having to rummage through wallets or purses to find their Social Security card. If you know your number by heart, that's good because you're often asked to provide it. But it's also bad because if you don't need to refer to your Social Security card, you may lose it and not be aware that it's missing!

Since you are likely to change jobs several times during your working life, it's smart to make sure you have your Social Security card handy because employers are required to ask for it to verify your number and to make sure that you're eligible to work.

If you discover that you've lost or misplaced your Social Security card, here's what you should do. You should visit your local Social Security office, ask for and complete and "Application for a Social Security card," also call an "SS-5," and provide at least one original document or certified copy that proves your identity, such as a driver's license. If you were born outside the United States, you must show proof of United States citizenship or lawful alien status.

In this area the nearest Social Security Office is at 3501 West 45th Street, Amarillo. The office hours are 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. We also have contact stations at the following locations: Dalhart-the second Wednesday of each month 9:45-11:15 a.m. at the Municipal Building in Dalhart; Dumas-the second and fourth Wednesday of each month 1:00-3:00 p.m. at the Lew Haile Annex in Dumas; Hereford-the second and fourth Thursdays of each month 9:15-12:00 noon at Hereford

Courthouse; Memphis-the first Monday of each month 9:45-11:15 a.m. at the Housing Authority in Memphis; Clarendon-the first Monday of each month 1:00-2:00 p.m. at the Clarendon Courthouse.

The transaction may be accomplished through the mail as well. Call Social Security's toll free number, 1-800-772-1213 business days between 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m., ask that an "Application for a Social Security Card" be mailed to you. Remember to ask for the address of the Social Security office where you should return the completed forms and the original document or certified copy that proves your identity. You should receive your replacement card about three weeks after the Social Security office receives your information.

Merchants Hold Meeting

The Clarendon Merchants Association met Monday, March 1, at JAMZ. The meeting was called to order by President Bill Stavenhagen, and the minutes of the last meeting was read by Secretary Lucy Saye. GIRL SCOUTS

WE SALUTE
THE GIRL SCOUTS OF THE U.S.A.

Celebrate Girl Scout Week

March 6 - March 13, 1993

The 7 Girl Scout troops of Clarendon will be observing Girl Scout Week March 6 through 13. Girl Scout Week is celebrated annually and commemorates the beginning of the Girl Scouting Movement in the United States. On March 12, 1912, Juliette Gordon Low met with 18 girls in Savannah, Georgia, and formed the first Girl Scout troop. The first nationwide Girl Scout Week was celebrated in 1919 in conjunction with the birthday of founder Juliette Low on October 31. In 1954, the event was officially changed to the week of March 12.

During this week, Girl Scouts participate in a variety of activities and events. Troops frequently conduct ceremonies and meetings tracing the history of Girl Scouting or demonstration what Girl Scouts are doing today. Some troops have Girl Scout birthday parties. And my conduct community service projects in honor of the birthday.

Today, there are more than three million members in the United States, making the Girl Scouting or demonstrating what Girl Scouts are doing today. Some troops have Girl Scout birthday parties. And my conduct community service projects in honor of the birthday.

Today, there are more than three million members in the United States, making the Girl Scouts the largest voluntary organization for girls in the world.

Girl Scouting continues to find new ways to help girls and young women develop a sense of values and make meaningful contributions to society. The all-girl experience of Girl Scouting presents girls with a world where they can take the leadership position. It provides an environment - maybe the only such environment a girl will encounter during her formative years - where the special needs and interests of girls come first.

Juliette Low began the organization to allow young girls to experience the challenges, the adventures, and the special educational opportunities that were not provided by other societal institutions of her day.

Historically, Girl Scouting is defined as an organization for girls. Its mission - to serve the needs and interests of girls - is stated in the Constitution itself, made explicit in the Girl Scout Congressional Charter, and serves the ideal goal for all organizational planning.

The mission is as meaningful in 1993 as it was 80 years ago.

The Lions Tale

By Gene Alderson

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular meeting at noon on Tuesday, March 2, 1993, at the Lions Hall with fourteen members, one guest and piano player, Tiny Bernabe, present. A delicious fried chicken dinner was enjoyed by all. Boss Lion Tamplen called the meeting to order and then Song Leader Bentley pulled a fast one on us. He lead us in singing the second verse of "The Star Spangled Banner".

Be honest now, how many of you knew there was a second verse? The Boss Lion led the Pledge of Allegiance and Lion Christal led the prayer. Lion Henson gave us some instructions on procedural requirements for bingo and then the meeting was adjourned.

Howardwick Lions Club

By Jaunita Meador

The Howardwick Lions Club held its regular meeting on Saturday, February 27, 1993, at 6:00 p.m. After the Pledge of Allegiance led by Lion Tuffy Reynolds and prayer by Lion Freland Davis, a delicious meal was served to fourteen members and six guests prepared by the members and guests.

Boss Lion Cherry called the meeting to order. She thanked everyone for the good food and a "special thanks" to Allie Mac Goodman for the delicious Cinnamon Rolls, we all enjoyed.

Thanks to Lion Tuffy Reynolds and Lion Lela Norton for setting up for the meeting.

Boss Lion Trudy welcomed our Sweetheart, Haley Hamilton, and guests, John Henson, Lena Mitchell, Linda Branum, La Vada Thomas, Lynn and Edie Wilson. Also, she welcomed Lion Nell Derr, glad to have her rejoin.

Lion Trudy Davis good to see you up and around.

Boss Lion Cherry will set up the meeting for March and Lions Freland and Trudy Davis will set up for April.

Boss Lion Cherry reminded everyone to attend next meeting March 13th as she is planning a zone meeting with our regular meeting. This is Region 4, Zone 1, which includes Clarendon, Hedley, Hedley Lioness and Howardwick.

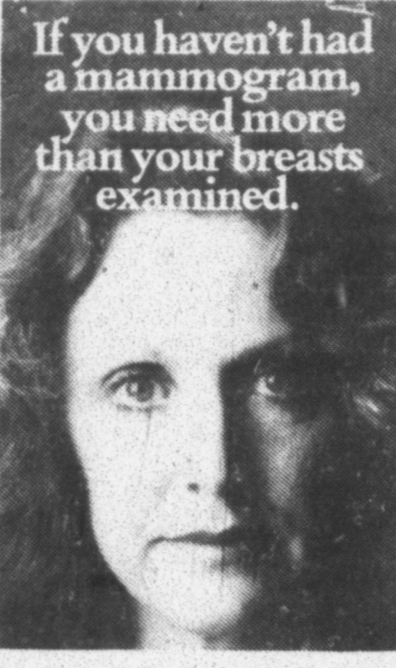

There will be no program that evening.

The program tonight was presented by React Helping Hands, LaVada Thomas, Director with Asst. Coordinator Lynn Wilson and Asst. Director Edie Wilson.

Lion D.W. Swain made a motion that we donate $50.00 to React Helping Hands, seconded by Lion Jaunita Meador. Motion carried.

Boss Lion Cherry thanked them for an interesting program and adjourned the meeting with these thoughts.

"I've learned that young people need Old people's love, respect and knowledge of life and old people need the love, respect and strength of young people."

If you haven't had a mammogram, you need more than your breasts examined.

Coffee: Why One Cup Does Not Lead To Another

What does it mean when people tell you they "can't live without chocolate" or they are "addicted to their job?" Usually, they mean that they take great pleasure from indulging in these foods or activities. In the same way, people apply this casual definition of "addiction" to their morning cup of coffee. But consumers should not let innocent references equating "addiction" with food desires confuse them about the scientific meaning of this term.

One or more caffeine-containing beverages—coffee, tea, soft drinks and chocolate products—are consumed by most Americans everyday. While caffeine is considered a mild central nervous system stimulant, enjoying a morning cup of coffee "should not be considered in the same context with drug abuse. The following facts make clear why nearly all drug dependency experts say coffee is not an "addictive" substance.

"Addiction" is an overwhelming dependence on a drug typified by three factors: severe withdrawal symptoms when the drug is stopped, tolerance to a given dose (i.e., a need for more and more of the substance) and loss of control (i.e., the need to consume the substance at all costs, even committing crimes in order to perpetuate the abuse). Common experience shows that coffee drinkers do not exhibit these types of effects. People have enjoyed caffeine-containing beverages since ancient times, and modern coffee lovers can feel confident that coffee drinking can remain an enjoyable activity.
