Farmer-Stockman Show coming to Lubbock

LUBBOCK - Farm Progress is again proud to present the Texas Farmer-Stockman Show. October 11-13 in Lubbock.

Still the largest outdoor working farm show of its kind in the southwestern United States, the Texas Farmer-Stockman Show promises to be bigger and better than ever with patrons traveling from as far as South America to attend the three-day event. The show kicks off Thursday morning, October 11, with the traditional ribbon cutting. Federal, state, and local officials will be on hand to welcome guests.

More than 200 exhibits on the 54-acre exhibit field will demonstrate the latest agricultural products, services, and technologies. This year's fare includes more animal health and handling demonstrations, expanded wildlife and conservation seminars (including presentations on rangeland grasses and playa wetland activities), antique tractors, crafts. Family Living programs, and the ever-popular Ride-n-Drive areas that consistently draw record participation. A new addition this year is Ag in the Bag, an educational fair representing High Plains agriculture.

Acres of cropland are reserved for field demonstrations each day.

The Texas Farmer-Stockman Livestock Arena features a variety of events this year, including horse training with Craig Cameron and team roping with Rickey Green. The Family Living programs schedule is again full and features something for everyone. Quilting and Navajo weaving demonstrations take place each day.

Mark your calendars. The show is located just one and one-half miles east of Loop 289 on E. 50th Street. Show hours are 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Thursday and Friday and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday. Adult admission is $5; visitors 17 and under are admitted free of charge.

The Burton Memorial Library was visited on Wednesday, September 26, by two of the state library officials. Burton Memorial Library was one of three libraries in the State of Texas to receive a book grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities. There was a large classical collection of fifty books granted to the library. A warm welcome is extended to the community to an open house to be held especially for the collection on October 13. A large booksale will also be held that day. Let's take out Bin Laden the 'Chicago way'

While America is united in the War on Terrorism (with the exception of a few old hippie rejects), it appears that some in our own government are not committed to the notion. A disturbing report on FoxNews this Monday said the US had the chance to kill one of the leaders of the Taliban but didn't take it because a lawyer didn't like the idea.

The report said "military strategists had Taliban leader Mullah Omar in their sights and could have easily killed him the first night of the air assault on Afghanistan." General Tommy R. Franks of the US Central Command told field officers not to fire because the Judge Advocate General "doesn't like this."

The New Yorker magazine says Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld was furious that Omar was allowed to get away.

Unfortunately smashing of chairs and gnashing of teeth after the fact do not fix things. We had an opportunity, and we missed it. We screwed up.

This event clearly demonstrates why the United States Congress should formally declare war on the Taliban government of Afghanistan, the Al Qaeda terrorist network of Osama Bin Laden, and other terrorist organizations who threaten the security of this nation.

Yes, we are currently bombing the dickens out of Afghanistan. But the War on Terrorism doesn't have much teeth to it if we have to ask our attorney before we bomb somebody. A declaration of war would let the world know we're serious, it would be a heads up to the terrorists, and it would remove any doubt that killing the enemy is okay.

Certainly, there will be civilian casualties. Already, our nation has unintentionally hit two Red Cross stations in Afghanistan, and on Tuesday the Taliban was complaining that American bombing had killed 300 civilians. Those mistakes fuel the fire of war protesters, but they must not deter our commitment to the objective of ending terrorism. It is hypocritical for terrorists to be shedding fake tears over the loss of 300 of their people who they themselves have kept oppressed. Keep in mind the terrorists and their friends were dancing in the streets after they killed thousands of innocent Americans.

We must also remember that this is not the old days of war where one side lines up opposite the other side and they run together amid cannon fire and the clash of swords. There is no storming of beaches (especially since Afghanistan doesn't have beaches), and I doubt we see a large invasion of any country by Allied forces. This war will be fought differently, and the usual rules of engagement simply won't work.

In the movie The Untouchables, Jimmy Malone gives some sound advice to Elliot Ness. "You wanna get Capone? Here's how you get him. He pulls a knife, you pull a gun. He sends one of yours to the hospital; you send one of his to the morgue. That's the Chicago way, and that's how you get Capone."

Some people think the United States should go after Osama Bin Laden and his pals the same way we go after a common criminal. They want America to find them, arrest them, and put them on trial in a World Court for their crimes. This method takes years to accomplish and provides no deterrent to other terrorists. The "Chicago way" would give us more immediate benefits.

A news report on Sunday said an Al Qaeda spokesman has advised Muslims in the US and Britain not to fly on planes or live in high buildings. He also threatened President George W. Bush, former president George H.W. Bush, former president Clinton, British Prime Minister Tony Blair, and Israeli Prime Minister Ariel Sharon with assassination saying they would not "escape punishment."

Treat these rats as criminals? No way. What happened in New York and Washington were not crimes. Burglary is a crime. Shoplifting is a crime. Murder is a crime. A terrorist network flying two planes into the World Trade Center and killing thousands of Americans is an act of war. Bin Laden, Omar, and their friends are not two-bit thugs who knocked over a Seven-Eleven. They are evil warmongers - enemies of freedom - who tried to knock over America. They cannot be negotiated with; they must be eradicated.

There can be no reasoning with people who would blatantly threaten to kill the leaders of the West. Our military personnel should be given standing orders that if they see Bin Laden or any of his terrorist buddies, then they should splatter the terrorists' brains on the sands.

American forces should pick off the members of Al Quada until none of them are left alive. Then we should turn our attentions to Saddam and others. Every time one rears his head to threaten America, take that head off. Let the world know that our new homeland defense policy is one of a proactive offense. That's the new "Chicago way," and that's how you stop terrorism.

Quotable

"Carelessness about our security is dangerous; carelessness about our freedom is also dangerous."

— Adlai Stevenson

Sense of security shattered; freedom intact

"These are the times that try men's souls. The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of their country; but he that stands it now, deserves the love and thanks of man and woman. Tyranny, like hell, is not easily conquered; yet we have this consolation with us, that the harder the conflict, the more glorious the triumph. What we obtain too cheap, we esteem too lightly: it is dearness only that gives every thing its value. Heaven knows how to put a proper price upon its goods; and it would be strange indeed if so celestial an article as freedom should not be highly rated."

That was written by the American revolutionary Thomas Paine in his pamphlet "The Crisis" to inspire the Continental Army as it fought for freedom and independence. It is as true today as it was 225 years ago. As we maneuver our way through this unimaginable time that tries our souls, freedom is even dearer.

Our world is a different world now. Ever since September 11th, everything has changed. Yet some things will remain the same: Americans, and our leadership, are still strong. With heavy hearts for those who lost their lives, we will go on. We will keep our nation strong, our economy strong, and our spirits strong.

We began work immediately after the horror: when the President spoke out forcefully about our will and resolve; the FBI and CIA immediately began tracking suspects; the State Department reached out to other nations to build a coalition to stop terrorism; and, here at home, the Defense Department called up reservists to help patrol our airports and our air space. In addition, the FAA banned all knives on airplanes and increased security in airports across the nation.

This issue of aviation security is of particular interest to me, and one on which I have long been working as the ranking member on the Aviation subcommittee and a former vice chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board.

One of our key priorities is to restore the public's confidence in air travel as quickly as possible. Therefore, in the days immediately following this tragedy, I introduced legislation to expand the air marshal program, wherein trained, armed security officers would be assigned to passenger flights to help ensure our safety. This program would free our pilots to concentrate solely on their job - flying. I have already seen peace officers on some flights - detailed from other law enforcement agencies - but we need to make this a permanent and organized effort.

I believe that federalizing all aviation security functions is an important step in that direction. Currently, security is the responsibility of the airlines - who have different concerns and priorities besides national security. Our transportation secu-city must be a priority, with the focus, coordination and influence that having a dedicated federal office would give.

That is why I am introducing legislation that would completely revamp aviation security, and place baggage security screeners and federal air marshals under one umbrella. We will institute a higher performance standard for our security practices and personnel, including extensive background checks, as well as more rigorous training that would result in a stronger, more consistent security system in our nation's airports.

Currently, airport security is a mish-mash of private security firms employing low-paid workers with a staggeringly high turnover rate. To attract competent, dedicated people who can ensure our safety, I firmly believe that airport security needs to be a career, not just a temporary minimum-wage job.

We will fortify the cockpit in the aircraft. We are also upgrading the equipment used to screen passengers and their luggage to the new state-of-the-art technology available.

A columnist recently wrote, "The World Trade Center isn't the place where our intelligence agencies failed. It is the place where our imaginations failed." Until September 11th, we believed nothing like this could ever happen on our lands. That sense of security has now been shattered, but our spirit has not. We will institute new security measures. We will defend our citizens - and we will defend our freedom.

America must strengthen national borders

Since the September 11 terrorist attacks there has been a lot of discussion about how we as a country could have been better prepared. Lately, there has been a new focus on homeland defense and making sure that our Nation is kept secure. President Bush made a good first step toward achieving this goal by initiating a new office of Homeland Security. The office, headed by former Pennsylvania Governor Tom Ridge, will work to better prepare our country for terrorists' threats. But the task ahead will not be an easy one.

For example, defending our Nation's borders is just one part of homeland defense that needs a lot of improvement. Each day more than $8.8 billion worth of goods, more than 1.3 million people, more than 340,000 vehicles, and more than 58,000 shipments enter our country. Yet only 1 to 2 percent of these packages and vehicles are inspected at the border. While we will never be able to inspect everything that crosses the border, it is obvious that we must do better.

Last March I introduced a bill that would establish the National Homeland Security Agency (NHSA). It would combine the efforts of several existing agencies to make their work more effective.

The bill would put border security agencies such as the Border Patrol, the Coast Guard, and the Customs Service under one umbrella organization with the Federal Emergency Management Agency and rename it the NHSA. It would be led by a cabinet-level official and be given the proper budget, authority, and accountability to get the job done.

Better organization of our government will make us better prepared for future attacks. These are challenging times that we face, but I'm confident that we have the ability to secure our country's freedom by protecting our borders and strengthening our defense at home.

County 'poops off' $30k on guano removal

There have been letters sent out asking people to give money, up to $5,000, for the restoration of the old courthouse. This was done on county stationery. So this means that some of the county officials, not all of them, were in favor of asking people to donate money. In a recent paper, the county commissioners' court was taking bids on a new maintainer. Now if we are begging for money and are broke, I think we can do without new maintainers.

According to the letter sent out on county stationery, the commissioners' court proposes to pay the following amounts:

Architectural services	$444,730
Design related expenses	$50,000
Environmental Consulting Service	$21,520
Removal of asbestos and bat guano	$30,300
Miscellaneous project expense	$680

Current construction bid and contingency is $3,243,600 and Total Project Cost is $3,790,830. Funds needed to complete the project are said in one place in the letter to be "approximately $400,000." Total cost for this building project, using the county's own figures, is $4,190,830. The state's grant was for $2,900,000. This is a lot more cost to the county than the 15 percent the county judge stated that would be the county's part of the renovation. I believe that the county judge needs to sharpen his pencil a little bit.

Now, the county paid for the removal of asbestos and bat guano $30,300. They put screens around the top of the old courthouse to keep the bats out of the third story. These screens have fallen down and are not doing a bit of good. Windows are broken out, windows are raised, and the bats are back in the courthouse. So we have pooped off $30,300. Now part of this was for the removal of asbestos. The biggest part of the asbestos had been removed from the courthouse years ago. To the best of my recollection, the only asbestos that could have been left in the courthouse for this last removal was the floor tiles and two old open-flame gas heaters.

When will the commissioners' court stop their free spending and start fulfilling their trust that the people who elected them have the right to expect? When you have a beer budget, you don't drink champagne.

JP, Sheriff say they don't support solicitation letter

A letter from the Donley County Historical Commission, dated September 18, 2001, on Donley County letterhead was mailed to certain individuals asking for a donation of at least $5,000 toward the cost of the Donley County Courthouse restoration.

The Donley County letterhead used shows all of the elected officials in Donley County, therefore giving the impression that they are in favor of such a request from certain individuals. Permission to use our names was not obtained, and we do not endorse this type of solicitation. We believe this violates the Code of Judicial Conduct (Judicial Canons).

Clarendon band heading to area marching contest

Congratulations to the Clarendon High School band for their Division I at Marching Contest in Amarillo on Saturday. They did a great job and the score was well deserved. Lots of band fans made the drive from Clarendon for the contest. I'm fairly certain Clarendon had the largest bunch of boosters, judging by my admittedly biased "applause-o-meter" (my ears). We certainly had the noisiest. Now, on to Area Competition in Odessa. Practice your Beethoven, guys. Be ready.

Saturday was also the Library Open House and Book Sale - another great success. Many patrons dropped by for punch and cookies, biscuits and coffee, and some really yummy little baby meatballs. Oscar and Lily Auker entertained visitors with poetry recitations from Robert Frost and Stephen Vincent Benet. A number books were carted off by various bookaholics, though many more were left behind.

I didn't quite manage to get through all the boxes, but I made off with a number of books I remember fondly from my teenaged years and one to use for reference if I can manage to get through all the turgid prose. It's a version of a book originally printed in 1822 (when turgidity was a thing to be proud of) and revised in 1856 (an era even more fond of turgidity - one of those is bound to be a word!) and printed who knows when. It looks rather as if it takes this author at least 80 pages to come to his first point. But I shall be brave and plow through, because who knows? Maybe I will come upon a gem of information that I can use in one of the books I write.

What else? The pancake supper took place Friday night at the school cafeteria. Apparently the cafeteria kitchen is more conducive to neatness when cooking than the Lion's Club kitchen. Maybe because it has more room. Cooks are less likely to collide with each other. Any batter going astray had room to splatter somewhere other than on the cook. At any rate, I saw far less of it on shirts and pants this year than at past dinners.

The pancakes, sausage and ham were of course delicious. Except you had to watch out for Bobbie Thornberry. She tended to be a little stingy with the syrup. Pancakes need to be downright soggy before they've been properly syruped. I had to go back for more, and I'm sure I'm not the only one.

Seems to be some event or other every weekend these days, and I suspect it will be this way right through Christmas and New Year's. Just catch your breath as best you can and keep running to keep up with it all.

Lloyd and Betty Molder

Molders to celebrate 50th anniversary

The children of Lloyd and Betty Molder invite you to attend the come and go reception celebrating their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Saturday, October 20, 2001, at the First United Methodist Church in Clarendon. The reception will be held from 2:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Lloyd and Betty were united in marriage on October 20, 1951. They have lived in Donley County for approximately 47 years. Betty and Lloyd have five daughters. They and their husbands are Geneva and Gary Mays of Clarendon; Kay and Reece McDaniels of Hugoton, KS; Julie and Slim Sides of Clarendon; Rita and Charles Mills of Electra; and Susan and Rick Woody of Gordonville.

Communities gather for annual reunion

By Jaunita Meador

Chamberlain, Hudgins, and Windy Valley communities held their reunion Sunday, October 14, 2001, at the Donley County Senior Citizens Center with 41 in attendance.

Turkey, dressing, and all the trimmings along with roast beef, brown gravy, and many delicious dishes from all those who attended were enjoyed by all.

Those registering were Lacy and Mary Lee Noble, Ara P. Garland, Lovie and Nancy Taylor, Buford and Geraldine Holland, Jewel P. Hafner, Bennie Brown, Ken Ratliff, Lacy Lee Noble, Wilma Spier, Gene Putman, Maschil and Juanita Cole, Jessie and Romaine McAllister, Olace and Madelyn Hicks, John Sneed, Wilma C. Paxton, Myrl C. Brown, Bailey Estes, Jean Baten, Roy Chauveaux, Ben and Elois Talley, H.C. and Joan Shaw, Ruth and Jimmy Hutson, LaRue Pittman, Vicki Sloan, U.G. and Eva Lee Swinney, Naomi Green, Ruby Thompson, Ruth Lindley, Alvin and Billie Hicks, and Billie's daughter Fern.

A short business meeting was held.

The Cole family won the largest family present with seven members. Wilma Cole Paxton from Phoenix, Arizona, traveled the longest distance. Teachers present were LaRue Pittman and Joan Shaw. LaRue brought a hello to all from Claudine Todd who was not able to attend this year.

The oldest lady in attendance was Myrl Cole Brown, and the oldest man was Roy Chauveaux. The youngest lady in attendance was Nancy Taylor, and the youngest man was Lacy Lee Noble.

The $10 door prize was won by Elois Talley.

Jewell Pierce Hafner, Bennie Brown, and Ken Ratliff brought their musical instruments, and they were highly entertaining with some of the group joining in making the reunion really special.

The next reunion has been scheduled for Sunday, October 13, 2002, at the Donley County Senior Citizens Center.

Martin Quilt Club meets

The Martin Quilting Club met at the home of Gay Cole recently where visiting and quilting was the order of the day.

They finished one quilt and enjoyed lunch.

Those present were Tiny Alderson, Ann Bunyan, Barbara Helms, Pauline Kooztz, Mary Lee Noble, Ruth Lindley, Ilene Davidson, Jossie Burgess, Betty Jean Williams, Frankie McAnear, Eva Lee Swinney, Rosa Lee Watson, Pam Casteel, Marilyn Gostley, and Gay Cole.

Hedley Cotton Festival attracts several visitors

Well, I made it home for the Cotton Festival. I got in to Hedley about 7 p.m. Friday, just in time to eat stew and cornbread with the Lioness Club. I really needed it too. Hospital food isn't anything to write home about, and the diets I'm on make it even worse. Once I asked for fresh vegetables, and they brought me carrot sticks, celery sticks, sliced cucumbers, and apple. It was the best meal I had in the ten days I was there.

And to make things worse, the doctors didn't do the procedure that I went for. Seems I'm allergic to Benedryl, which they gave me to sedate me for the procedure. What do you give a person that's allergic to the medicine they give you for allergies? It caused me to have a seizure.

Oh, well, maybe another time they can give me something else... like Valium.

The fiftieth Hedley Cotton Festival is history, and it was great. The parade was one of the best in years. I don't know how many former queens were here, but they were all on lovely floats, except my queen. Su-San drove the Hall County Ambulance.

The nicest young man stood by me during the parade and told me what was going on. He said his name was Kale Brandon, and he was Wilma Snelson's great grandson. Such a nice young man.

I saw Elsie Shaw and her daughters Joann Ragan and Wanda Patterson; Bill and Dorothy Martin; Mike Chesser; Caroline McPherson; and too many others to name here. I was glad to see every one of them.

Pat Tisdale was there with her parents, Edgil and Audra Tisdale, along with Pat's cousin LaWanda Kilgors. Elva Davis had all her girls there I think. I didn't see Sharon, but understand she was there.

The Hedley Homemakers are to be commended for doing such a good job with everything. Especially Rhonda Shaw, Jan Farris, and Cari Lindsey.

Mary Farris and Jon Leggett managed the Hedley School Reunion like pros. There was such a crowd at the Baptist Church!

When I came home from dinner with the Lioness Club on Friday night, I went into my kitchen and found that Lori Wallendorff had left a big bowl of stew, a huge piece of cornbread, and a beautiful bouquet of flowers. That plus the bouquet I got in the hospital from the boss and Cheryl almost made the stay worthwhile.

My children from Post came Friday and spent the night with Su-San. They enjoyed the festival and visiting with friends Saturday. They came up and went to church with me Sunday morning. Langly and Mariah brought their friend Tisha with them. I can't remember her last name.

Steve Mullins came from Nashville and brought his friend, Shelli. She said it was her first visit to Texas. When I asked her how she liked it she said, "There's a lot of land with nothing on it and not much water."

Adults use childish excuse for doing stupid things

From time to time we all do stupid things for which we have no explanation. We tend to think that children are the experts in this field - at least they have the best answer for why they did something foolish.

"Billy, why did you shave all the hair off your head? Tell mommy why you did that!"

"I don't know."

Youngsters may have the best reason for doing something off-the-wall (the "I don't know" syndrome), but as adults, we pull our fair share of dumb stunts.

Not long ago, I ran into a friend of mine and noticed something different about him immediately. He was missing an eyebrow and part of his mustache.

"Did you know your eyebrow is missing?" I asked in my usual, tactful way. "And your mustache looks funny too."

"I had a little accident," he answered. "We were going to cook hamburgers outside on the grill, so I started the fire going and went back in the house. When I came back out, it wasn't burning very good - just a few coals were glowing."

I could tell he really didn't want to finish his story, but I wasn't going to let it drop.

"Well...so then what happened?" I prompted him.

"Like I said, the fire wasn't big enough, so I decided to help it along a little," he was turning a bit red in the face as he talked. "I took the can of lighter fluid and squirted it on the coals. The next thing I knew, my mustache was smoldering and my eyebrow was done gone! I gave myself a black eye smacking out the flame!"

Of course I didn't want to humiliate him further, so I said in my sensitive, compassionate way, "What the heck is wrong with you? Are you crazy? Why would you do a stupid thing like that?"

And he - having learned a thing or two from his children - said, "I don't know!"

Now, we've all done idiotic things for which the only answer as to why we did it is "I don't know," but I read a story recently that takes the cake. This is definitely the hands-down winner of stupid stunts, and made me feel a great deal better knowing I had never done anything this moronic. The story appeared in the MIAMI HERALD, which is the major paper in Miami, Florida.

Florida had seen a rash of shark attacks here a while back, and then came the story of a 44-year-old fisherman. He had received shark bite wounds that required him to be airlifted to a hospital for treatment to his left leg and fingers of his left hand. The story continued, and I quote, "...A Miami-Dade Fire Rescue supervising dispatcher said the fisherman caught the shark off Everglades National Park and brought it onto his boat. Then he sprayed himself with insect repellent, became slippery and fell off the boat, accidentally bringing the shark back into the water with him. That's when he was bitten."

So many questions spring to mind immediately, that it's hard to know where to begin. For instance, why - if you had a live shark in the boat with you - would you then sit back and decide to spray yourself with insect repellent. And by the way, how much of the stuff would it take to make you so slippery you fell off the boat? One whole can - two cans - three? If you were so slick with insect repellent that you couldn't even stay in your boat, does that mean you had sprayed the bottoms of your shoes? And, why, if you were falling overboard, wouldn't you let go of the fishing pole?

So many questions, and I bet that gentleman had only one answer: "I don't know!"

Next time you do something that makes no sense, don't be too hard on yourself. Just remember our fisherman friend in Florida and know that somebody somewhere is doing something dumber than you. But stay away from the insect repellent!

DPS warns drivers of dangers during School Bus Safety Week

The DPS School Bus Safety Unit kicked off National School Bus Safety Week Monday, October 22, in a ceremony at the Texas State Capitol.

The annual national safety week is observed by school districts and school transportation offices across Texas. This year's theme, "Danger - Know the Zone," is designed to emphasize the areas around a bus where crashes are likely to happen.

The danger zone for school buses begins 15 feet in front of the bus' front bumper, extends 6 feet on each side and ends 150 feet from the back bumper. Programs across the state this week will focus on educating Texas school children to stay away from a moving bus and to avoid entering the danger zone unless the student is getting on or off the bus.

Although the average number of Texas students riding school buses each day rose 27 percent to 1.37 million in the 1999-2000 school year, school bus-related accidents were involved in less than one-half of one percent of all injury producing accidents in Texas in 1999.

Texas motorists are also called on to do their part to keep children safe. Texas law requires drivers to stop when a bus is displaying alternately flashing red warning lights. A first offense can carry up to a $1,000 fine.

Montgomery was the winner of a knife that was also given away during a blackout bingo game.

After the parade, an ex-students and ex-teachers reunion was held at the First Baptist Church Activity Center with 223 people registering. The Classes of '61 and '67 also held their individual class reunions at the same time. Several teachers were in attendance as well.

Saturday evening, Breanne Chase was crowned the 2001-02 Cotton Queen during the Queen's Coronation in the Hedley School Gymnasium. Sierra Wheatly was crowned the Cotton Princess. The Queen's Court included Christmas Murrell, Bobbie Morris, Jennifer Williams, Cassie Moore, and Marissa Wells. Contestants in the Princess contest included Timber Burnam, Tamra Burnam, and Harley Hanes. A presentation of 50 years of Queens was also given during the Coronation.

Mickey Seeman of New Mexico, grandmother of Queen contestant Christmas Murrell, was the winner of the bale of cotton given away at the Queen's Coronation, which was sponsored by the Hedley Homemakers Club.

Horse show winner

Joey Allen of Hedley competed at the open horse show in Amarillo last week and brought home several awards. Joey and Just Pud placed sixth in Pee Wee Halter - Gelding, and seventh in Pee Wee Showmanship at Halter. Cheyenne Noble of Lakeview and Joey teamed up for Leadline and brought home a trophy and a first place ribbon.

Local justices of the peace attend seminar

Judges Jimmy Johnson and Ann Kennedy were certified at the recent twenty-hour Justice of the Peace Seminar held October 9-12, 2001, in Lubbock.

The seminar was sponsored by the Texas Justice Court Training Center, a division of Southwest Texas State University, with offices in Austin.

The seminar is one of five held for elected Justices of the Peace so they can fulfill their Continuing Judicial Education Requirements as set forth in Article 27.005 of the Texas Government Code. The seminar addressed topics such as Judicial Ethics, Creating a Bias-Free Court, Justice Civil vs. Small Claims, Traffic Laws, Inquests, Family Violence, Magistrate Duties, Probable Cause and Search Warrants, DOT Regulations, Landlord Tenant Issues, Minor in Possession, Attorney and Pro Se Litigants, J.P. Office Procedure, and Financial Management.

Girl Scouts go horseback riding, plan future events

By Linda Rowland

Troop 396 went to the Bar H Ranch to ride horses October 9. They had a blast and loved the horses.

Their year is off to a wonderful start. They will be going to Camp Mel Davis for a night of adventure October 26 and 27. There is bound to be some ghost stories since it is so close to Halloween. Instead of a Halloween party, the girls will be coming back to join the other Girl Scout troops in a Juliette Low Birthday party on October 29.

The party is being planned by Melissa McAneer and is looking to be a lot of fun. There will be games, pizza, and the Girl Scout Mobile Shop where the girls can spend their cookie currency.

Combs urges ag producers to be vigilant

By Leon Church, County Agent

Susan Combs, Commissioner of the Texas Department of Agriculture, has asked the County Extension Agents across Texas to get a message out to all agricultural producers to be vigilant in these troubled times.

We in agriculture have always known that a safe, reliable food supply has been an important part of national defense. In light of the tragic events in New York and Washington, D.C., and with federal officials voicing concern about the potential for other domestic attacks, an assault on our food supply through either biological weapons or the introduction of a foreign animal or crop disease or pest would be a highly destructive force that could be used against agriculture and America.

While we have been vigilant in the past, now is the time for everyone in agriculture to be even more so. That's why Combs has formed a Texas Border Food Security Coalition of producer groups and associations to work with their members and to encourage farmers, ranchers, and agribusinesses to be on the lookout for any unusual activity including strangers on their farms, ranches, and agribusinesses. This is particularly true in the Texas counties along the border with Mexico.

In addition, Combs has asked members of our agricultural community to follow these added security measures. Maintain a list of all emergency contacts and numbers and post these throughout your operation; review internal security, safety procedures, and provide training to employees; report to local authorities all suspicious activities, vehicles, or persons; report to local authorities all threats on personnel and facilities; report to local authorities all thefts, inventory shortages, or missing products that could pose a public health or safety risk; report to local authorities all burglaries, sabotage to facilities or equipment, and all vandalism or activities that may pose a safety or security risk; report any missing blank documentation or identification cards such as shipping forms; and if you notice unusual occurrence of animal diseases, contact a veterinarian and the Texas Animal Health Commission at 1-800-550-8242.

These are common sense type measures, but ones we need to keep in mind.

4-H Super Saturday set for October 20

Wildcats unstoppable as they roll over Broncos, 73-8

By Sandy Anderberg

The Clarendon Broncos suffered a disappointing loss against the Canadian Wildcats Friday night at Bronco Stadium. The final score was 73-8.

The Wildcats got off to a quick start in the first quarter and never looked back racking up 641 total yards for the game compared to 194 yards for the Broncos.

According to head coach Roger Hoeltzel, the Broncos made too many mistakes.

"When you make a lot of mistakes against a team like Canadian, with their speed and size, they're going to have a big night. We didn't execute offensively early in the game to keep the ball."

Junior Cameron Word scored the only Clarendon touchdown from a 5-yard pass from quarterback Jeremy Ray. Greg Wooten converted the extra point on a pass from Ray. The score came in the second quarter for the Broncos.

"We're looking forward to getting back to practice this coming week," said Hoeltzel. "We'll continue to work on our defensive skills to continue to get better. That's all we can do right now. That's what we're going to focus on."

But don't count the Broncos out. They may not be as big or as fast as most teams in their district, but they've got a lot of heart. They'll strive to get better and they'll persevere. They'll keep going no matter what. They're Broncos through and through.

The Broncos will go up against the Lynx Friday, October 19, in Spearman. Kick off is at 7:30 p.m.

Lady Broncos medal in c-c

By Sandy Anderberg

Two Lady Broncos were medalists in the Wellington cross-country meet Saturday, October 13.

Freshman Jessica Hernandez has kept up her winning way and was only one minute and twelve seconds off the winning pace. She placed 13th with a time of 13:31. Also receiving a medal was senior April Bryley who finished 26th with a time of 14:27.

"The girls did a great job," said Coach Kathy Barton. "They ran against a 4-A school, so we're proud of their effort."

Also running for the Lady Broncos were: Lacey Eads 32nd, 14:45; Kayla Martindale 35th, 15:05; and Equilla Weatheron 39th, 15:33.

This was the Lady Broncos last regular season meet. They will be running the district meet October 22 in Canadian. The meet begins at 3:00 p.m. with the junior varsity girls. The varsity Lady Broncos run at 3:30, and the JV boys run at 4:00. The varsity boys' race begins at 4:30 followed by the junior high girls and boys at 5 and 5:30.

Good luck, Lady Broncos!

Junior high teams run in Wellington

Pioneer Park at Wellington was the setting for the October 13 cross-country meet. Clarendon was well represented in the eighty-six-runner field.

Two Lady Colts had times good enough to medal in the meet. Xenia Buckhaultz finished in 8th place with a time of 13:48. Haley Shelton was 28th and her time was 14:46.

Also running for the Lady Colts were Shelby Watson 31st, 14:48; Haley Carter 38th, 15:07; Ragan Lemley 43rd, 15:20; Lauren Floyd 46th, 15:25; Kelsea Hoeltzel 55th, 15:42; Anndria Kidd 56th, 15:47; Erica Depew 57th, 15:56; Claudia Thomas 67th, 16:52; and Chelsea Hoeltzel 77th, 18:08.

The Lady Colts will be gearing up for their district this week in practice. They will travel to Canadian October 22.

Also the Lady Colts will begin early morning basketball workouts beginning October 22. The workouts begin at 7:00 a.m. sharp.

Brad Sell was the only Colt running in the meet and he finished in 4th place with a time of 13:07. Sell's effort was good enough for a medal. He will also be participating in the district cross-country meet Monday, October 22, in Canadian.

Colts take on Canadian

The Colts went up against Canadian Thursday night at Bronco Stadium. They lost their attempt to overthrow the Wildcats, 20-8.

Early in the game, Canadian fumbled the ball, and it was recovered by Stephen Ford. The Colts tried to move it but found themselves at fourth down. A bad snap on the punt allowed the Wildcats to get the ball on the Colt 11-yard line. The very next play, the Wildcats fumbled again, and Ladez Captain recovered the ball. The Colts failed to convert Canadian's mistake, but they held the Wildcats from scoring until the first quarter was almost over.

Even though the Colts lost the game, coach Joe Gifford feels like the boys are starting to work together.

The Colts made several fourth down stands to keep the Wildcats out of the end zone. Canadian did manage another score before half time giving them the 12-point edge.

Clarendon's only score came in the 4th quarter when Will Betts scored on a 70-yard run. Will Drackley added the two-point conversion from a Chase Thornberry pass.

The Colts take to the road Thursday, October 18, when they take on the Spearman Lynx at 5:00 p.m.

Nazworth, Santos win golf championships at country club

Wanda Nazworth and Mike Santos were named Clarendon County Club Women and Men's Champion during the club golf championship tournament held Saturday, October 6, and Sunday, October 7.

Senior champions were Billie Johnson, and R.O. Johnson and Bobby Dodson tied in the men's tourney.

Maxine McLaughlin has the lowest net in the Championship Flight in the women's tournament with a score of 130. Oudia Gage had the second lowest gross with a score of 181.

Betty McCutchin was the lowest gross in the first flight, and Ruth Jackson has the lowest net. Francis Skelton has the lowest gross in the second flight, and Billie Johnson had the lowest net.

Mike Santos had the lowest gross in the Champion Flight of the men's tournament with a score of 137. Al Ramsey had the lowest net with a score of 144.

W.E. Hawkins has the lowest gross in the first flight, and Terry Esch and Darryl Perryman tied for the lowest net. Bret White had the lowest gross in the second flight, and R.O. Johnston and Bob Dodson tied for the lowest net.

CC to hold partial GED exams soon

Clarendon College will be offering a number of opportunities for GED testing during the next two months at both the Clarendon and Pampa campuses.

Tests will be partial, meaning persons will not be able to take the complete 5-part test at one time, but take individual parts to include no more than four partial tests at one setting.

Costs for the partial tests are $12 each. Payment is due at the time of testing and should be in the form of a check or money order. Persons should also bring proof of Social Security number and picture identification along with two number-two pencils.

To sign-up for the GED or receive additional information, persons can call Clarendon College at 874-3571 or the Pampa campus at 665-8801.

All tests begin sharply at 8 a.m. with check-in starting at 7:30 a.m. The following is a schedule of the testing dates and locations: Clarendon - Nov. 19, Dec. 1, Dec. 7, and Dec. 13; Pampa - Oct. 26, Nov. 3, Nov. 13, and Dec. 14.

Obituaries Matheson

Graveside services for Donald Matheson, age 87, were held at 2:00 p.m. on Friday, October 12, 2001, in Citizens Cemetery in Clarendon with Bright Newhouse, Minister of the Hedley Church of Christ, officiating. Burial was held in Citizens Cemetery under the direction of Robertson Funeral Directors, Inc., of Clarendon.

Mr. Matheson died Wednesday, October 10, 2001, in Amarillo. He was born February 13, 1914, in Paradise, Texas, and was a resident of Claude from 1974 until moving to Amarillo earlier this year. He married Jimmie Lee Cole on December 22, 1936, at Childress. He was a law enforcement officer, a cattle rancher, and heavy equipment operator much of his life before retiring in 1966. He was a charter member of the Elks Lodge in Sierra Vista, Arizona, and a member of the Cochise County Sheriff's Posse in Arizona. He was a Baptist.

Survivors include his wife, Jimmie Lee Matheson of Amarillo; a son and daughter-in-law, Donald W. and Lynn Matheson of Arlington, TX; three grandchildren, Debra Gorkowski of Tucson, AZ; Dwayne Matheson of Landry AFB, VA; and Dannie Lee Alvarez of Tracy, CA; six great grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

Matheson

Funeral services for Ruth Matheson, age 88, were held at 10:30 a.m. on Wednesday, October 17, 2001, in the First Baptist Church in Claude with Rev. Charles Davenport, of Tulia, officiating. Burial was held at Claude Cemetery under the direction of Robertson Funeral Directors, Inc., of Clarendon.

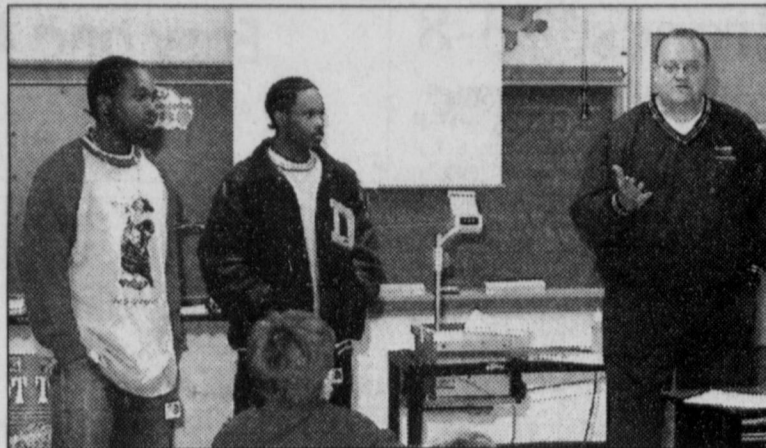

Mrs. Matheson died Monday, October 15, 2001, at Hurst, Texas. She was born July 22, 1913, in Ash-tola, Donley County, and lived in Armstrong County for more than 80 years. She married J.P. Matheson on January 29, 1937, at Goodnight. He preceded her in death in 1995. She was also preceded in death by a son, Larry Matheson, in 1993. The Matheson family ranch and farmed in the Goodnight and Claude area. She was a member of the First Baptist Church in Claude.

Survivors include a daughter, Marilyn Matheson Beverly of Fort Worth; a granddaughter, Kerri Falkenberg and husband Randy and their children, Emily and Brent of Plainview; a granddaughter, Deanna Loiselle and husband Lance and their children Lane and Logan of Ponder, Texas; three sisters, Maude Talley of Amarillo, Cressie Baily of Houston, and Verna Massie of Claude.

A special music presentation was given by Peggy Shores during the visitation and funeral.

The family requests that memorials be to Claude Emergency Medical Services or the Claude Volunteer Fire Department.

Clarendon College will offer Quick TASP

Clarendon College will be offering two Quick TASP tests this fall at both the Clarendon and Pampa campuses.

On Monday, December 3, the test will be given in Clarendon and on Tuesday, December 4, it will be administered in Pampa. Testing begins at both campuses at 8 a.m. and check-in begins at 7:30 a.m.

Total cost of the TASP test is $39 and should be made in the form of checks or money orders to NES in the amount of $29 and Clarendon College for $10. Persons should also bring picture identification and two number-two pencils to the test.

The TASP test is required for students prior to taking academic courses at any public college or university in Texas. Admission to Clarendon College is not based on a student's performance on the test, but students are required to have taken the test prior to registration.

For more information or to sign up for the Quick TASP, persons can call 806-874-3571 or 806-665-8801.

Scouts visit library, newspaper office

Webelos Den 5 visited the Burton Memorial Library and The CLARENDON ENTERPRISE recently to find out about the ways we communicate to help them complete the Communicator Activity Badge.

Sabrina Burrow of the Library showed the scouts how books are catalogued. She also showed the importance of the library to the community.

At THE CLARENDON ENTERPRISE, Editor Roger Estlack discussed how information was received, new gathered locally, and the job of a reporter. He explained that stories are based on news value and evaluated by their importance to Donley County or the need of the information.

Senior Citizens hold successful catfish fundraiser

By Vida O'Neal

The Donley County Senior Citizens had their monthly fundraiser last Thursday.

Those of you who did not attend missed a great meal. The catfish was wonderful and the homemade desserts were delicious.

We had a great attendance and appreciate the work of the volunteers and board members that helped put this all together.

Those of you how have signed up for the bus tour to Guymon, OK, we will leave the center at 6:15 a.m. I want to see everyone bright eyed and bushy tailed at the center ready to go and have a very fun experience with the Heritage Harbor Days from Foley, Alabama.

The Area Agency on Aging will hold a "Benefits Counseling and Care-giver Forum" on Monday, October 22, 2001. From 12:00 to 12:15 the topic will be information on services related to Medicare and other general assistance to seniors and information on HICAP volunteer training. From 12:15 to 12:30 the topic will provide information on the new National Family Caregiver Support Program. They also want to gain input from the agencies and citizens of the community about the needs in our area. Everyone in the community is invited to attend and benefit from this program and have a voice in the needs of our community.

Our 2002 Membership Drive to the Senior Citizens is drawing to an end. The fee for our membership remains just $1.00. If you have not paid your dues, please try to get this done. The members will be voting on a few new board members soon. In the next few weeks we will inform you of the members vacancies and those running for the places to be filled.

Our condolences to the family of Don Matheson and Priscilla Boone on the loss of her brother.

Get well wishes to Goldie Barbee, Ruth Hudson, Eureda Mays, and Ethelyn Grady.

- Reminders:
 Oct. 20: Bus Tour to Guymon, OK, leave at 6:15 a.m.

PTA collecting box tops

The Clarendon Elementary PTA is participating in the BxTops for Education Program to raise funds for the local school.

Parents and other citizens are asked to help with this project by checking boxes, bags, and other containers of food products for these logos:

Clip off the logo and send it to the school, and the school will receive 10¢ for each boxtop logo.
