Legion will honor Rowe veterans

The American Legion Post 287 will have its annual Veterans Day Service Saturday, November 9, at 10 a.m. at the American Legion Monument in the Rowe Cemetery.

American flags will be placed at all Veterans graves on Friday afternoon by the American Legion Members and will remain there until Veterans Day, November 11.

Veterans Day Services in Clarendon will be held on Monday, November 11, at 11:00 a.m. at the Veterans Memorial on the Courthouse Square.

VFW plans service for Veterans Day

The Donley County Memorial Post 7782 of the VFW will hold its annual Veterans Day Ceremony on November 11 at the Donley County War Memorial on the Courthouse Square.

The ceremony will begin at 11 a.m.

Many area civic groups will be in attendance, and a special guest has been invited to participate. Also performing at the ceremony will be the award-winning Bronco Band and the Hedley School Choir.

Judge sentences Butler to state jail

A Clarendon man was sentenced to 18 months in a state jail facility last week, according to the office of District Attorney Stuart Messer.

District Judge David McCoy pronounced the sentence upon Ebony Butler.

Butler had been placed on probation on April 9, 2001, for the State Jail Felony offense of endangering a child. The State, represented by Messer, had filed a motion to revoke the defendant's probation alleging that Butler had failed to report as directed and that he had committed a misdemeanor assault.

Butler pled guilty and received a sentence of 18 months out of a possible maximum of 24 months.

CISD hearing will cover test scores

Clarendon CISD will hold a public hearing for discussion of the school district's 2001-2002 Academic Excellence Indicator System Report on Thursday, November 14, at 7:00 p.m. in the Functional Living Center located at 4th and Patrick Streets.

This hearing will be combined with the regularly scheduled meeting of the board of trustees. All interested parties are encouraged to attend.

Inside:

- 2 Democrats disgrace themselves in New Jersey and Minnesota with shameful actions.
- 5 Clarendon College regents approve a contract to build a new residence hall.
- 7 A canned food drive gets underway this week.
- 9 And, with a win over Claude, the Broncos are daring to think about the playoffs.

All this and much more in this week's exciting edition!

Hall defeats Thompson

Citizens vote to return all incumbents to county offices

Donley County Judge Jack Hall led all local incumbents in Tuesday's General Election as he easily defeated former sheriff William J. Thompson by a margin of 2.5 to 1.

Hall won the right to a second full term, capturing more than 71 percent of the vote and beating his Republican challenger by a margin of 1,035 to 414.

"I just appreciate all the voters in Donley County," Hall said. "This is a great place to live and a great place to be associated with."

Sparks flew between the Hall and Thompson campaigns in recent weeks as the issue of county taxes became prominent. Thompson spoke out against a 27.78 percent increase in the county tax rate, which took effect this fall, and Hall stood on his record of service and as being a supporter of the courthouse restoration.

In other county races, all incumbents were re-elected in hard fought campaigns. County Treasurer Becky Jackson, a Republican, defeated Democratic challenger Vicki Sloan, 799 to 607. Democratic District and County Clerk Fay Vargas was the voters' choice over Republican Vicki Knowles, 838 to 611. And Precinct 4

Commissioner Bob Trout, a Democrat, narrowly defeated Republican Wayne Riggs, 165 to 120.

Precinct 2 Commissioner Don Hall (R), Precinct 1&2 Justice of the Peace Jimmy Johnson (R), and Precinct 3&4 Justice of the Peace Ann Kennedy (D) all ran unopposed.

Clarendon native Mac Thornberry (R) was the clear choice of local voters to continue as the representative for the 13th Congressional District over Democrat Zane Reese, 1,222 to 203. At press time, Thornberry led district wide with a 78.7 percent lead.

Local voters also preferred Gov. Rick Perry (R) over Tony Sanchez (D), 1,026 to 343; David Dewhurst (R) over John Sharp (D) for Lt. Governor, 813 to 553; Comptroller Carole Keeton Rylander (R) over Marty Atkins (D), 1,138 to 240; and John Cornyn (R) over Ron Kirk (D) for US Senator, 962 to 380. All Republicans were leading those races statewide at press time.

Also of local interest, Donley County voters were in favor of amending the Texas Constitution to allow for abolishing unnecessary constable positions by a margin of 767 to 118. The amendment was leading statewide at press time.

If approved, the new amendment would allow the Donley County Commissioners' Court to abolish the Precinct 1&2 constable office, which was the source of controversy and a lawsuit following the last General Election. The county or the voters could re-activate the position in the future if it was desired.

A total of 1,449 local voters cast ballots in this year's election—a more than 56 percent turnout. That is down from the 2000 General Election when 1,759 or 67 percent cast ballots.

Who lives in a pineapple under the sea?

Citizens deliver petition to judge

A petition to change the tax rate in Donley County was presented to the County Judge's office last Thursday afternoon but cannot be officially accepted until the next Commissioners' Court meeting.

Judge Jack Hall said that by law a rollback petition must be presented to "the governing body" of the taxing entity. Hall also said Donald Smith's name has been placed on the agenda for the November 12, 2002, court meeting along with a line item for the petition to be submitted to the court.

The petition, which reportedly bears the signatures of 614 Donley County voters, seeks to force the county to hold an election and allow citizens to vote on the 2002 tax rate. But before any election is held, the commissioners' court must first determine the validity of the petition.

"Just because he [Smith] submits the petition, doesn't mean we approve it," Hall said. "We have 20 days to determine if it is a valid petition."

The judge said commissioners would likely call a special meeting to examine the petition and adopt a resolution on its validity. If commissioners find the petition valid, the county would have 30 to 90 days from the twentieth day following its submission to hold an election.

The tax petition was circulated in response to county officials raising the property tax rate 27.78 percent from 0.372934 to 0.476547. The addition this year of a special debt component rate of 0.09745 accounts for most of the increase. Funds from the debt rate will go towards the indebtedness related to the courthouse restoration.

Petition organizers have said that a lot of residents are upset with the tax increase and that they felt they ought to have the right to vote on the issue.

Under ordinary circumstances, a rollback election would lower property taxes. But since Donley County's current tax rate is lower than the maximum rollback rate, a successful election would actually raise taxes by nearly two cents per $100 valuation. For that reason, it is likely commissioners will find the petition to be invalid.

"People in America have the basic freedom to sign a petition, and we're fortunate to have that right," Hall said. "But people need to be informed about what they are signing."

Hall said he has received phone calls from people who have had second thoughts about signing the petition.

"Some residents have called inquiring as to how they could have their name removed from the petition," Hall said.

Panhandle Transit receives federal funding for rural transportation

The Texas Department of Transportation and the Texas Transportation Commission has awarded Panhandle Transit $41,000 in federal funds.

Panhandle Transit serves an estimated 287,891 people as the area's rural transportation provider and spans 25,825 square miles. According to a TxDOT news release, Panhandle Transit provides about 150,000 one-way passenger trips each year. Texas rural transportation operators reported more than 4.4 million one-way passengers in 2000.

Robert Whorton, Transportation Director for Panhandle Transit in Amarillo, said the organization saw an increase in federal funds this year, but state funding decreased by 13 percent from 2001 to 2002. The decreased state funding may critically affect Panhandle Transit. Whorton also said reduced state funding could mean fewer jobs for transit employees and less windows of opportunity for hours of operation.

To cut costs, Panhandle Transit might begin providing transportation services only three days a week instead of five.

Whorton said the recently awarded federal funds will fund facilities management and maintenance, administrative costs, and vehicle purchases. He also said the federal money will partially offset the loss of state money.

The Clarendon Panhandle Transit offers transportation to people in Donley, Armstrong, Collingsworth, Briscoe, and Hall Counties. Out-of-town transportation averages 17.5 cents per mile. Rural Clarendon trips to town cost $5.00, and local trips in town cost $1.00 per stop. Panhandle Transit requires 24-hour notice for guaranteed rides.

The transit service operates on a demand response basis and provides transportation for the elderly, disabled, and individuals that have major medical concerns. A good number of the medical trips are covered by Medicaid. If you have Medicaid, but are unsure whether or not transportation is covered, call 1-877-633-8747 and have your Medicaid number ready.

If you would like to schedule a trip with Panhandle Transit, please call 874-2573.

Lions celebrate 80 years of service

Clarendon Lions Club celebrated its 80th anniversary last Tuesday during its annual Ladies Night Banquet.

A total of 47 Lions and guests enjoyed a delicious steak dinner prepared by Lion Alan Graham and his helpers.

Boss Lion Myles Shelton introduced special guests for the evening, including District Governor John Nash of Wellington, Vice District Governor Jack King of the Amarillo Downtown Lions Club, and Mrs. Ruby Dell Estlack.

Gov. Nash addressed the club and praised it for 80 years of service to Clarendon and the surrounding area.

The Boss Lion and Lion Secretary Monty Hysinger recognized several Lions with membership chevrons for their years of service. Those recognized were Allen Estlack, 35 years; A.R. Henson, 55 years; Bill Lowe, 55 years; Delbert Robertson, 15 years; James Shelton, 15 years; and Donald Smith, 20 years.

Other Lions who were not present but who have earned membership chevrons were Paul Bivens, 25 years; Mike Butts, 20 years; Trey Chamberlain, 25 years; W.R. Christal, 30 years; Darrell Leffew, 30 years; Mark C. White, 20 years; and Jerry Woodard, 15 years.

Lion Allen Estlack was recognized with the Lion of the Year Award, and Lion Roger Estlack received the Distinguished Service Award.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by the Clarendon College Choir under the direction of Kevin Gausephol.

The all-volunteer choir put on an excellent show and even made a dozen Lions sound good when they formed an ad hoc Lions Club All-Junk Band.

With no further business, the club adjourned, looking forward to serving Clarendon for another 80 years.

Those receiving membership chevrons for years of service at the Lions Club's 80th annual Ladies Night Banquet were Bill Lowe, Donald Smith, James Shelton, A.R. Henson, Delbert Robertson, and Allen Estlack.

Democrats still exhibit terribly poor behavior

Voting in the 2002 General Election has ended, and as I write this, results are beginning to come in. Remembering the fiasco of 2000, I am hesitant to say that anything has been settled, but certain races have been projected at this point Tuesday night.

It does appear that Gov. Jeb Bush has been easily re-elected in Florida, which should come as a great relief to the Republicans and a great disappointment to Al Gore and the Democrats. Of course, thousands of lawyers were supposed to be watching the polls there today, so don't be surprised if many lawsuits are filed in the days to come.

Meanwhile in New Jersey, news agencies are predicting Frank Lautenberg will win the US Senate seat currently held by Robert Torricelli. This is troubling. As you may recall, Democrat Torricelli was running for re-election against Republican challenger Doug Forrester. That was the case up until a few weeks ago when it became clear that Torricelli, plagued by legal troubles, could not win. He dropped out of the race well after the legal date to change a name on the ballot, and the Imperial Court of New Jersey allowed the Democrats to replace "the Torch" with the antique but popular Lautenberg.

Republicans cried foul and said the court and the Dems had ignored the law and made up a new rule after the early voting had started. As we have come to expect, the Democratic Party saw no problem with this. Time after time, the Dems expressed genuine bafflement as to why anyone could possibly be upset by their actions.

In New Jersey, Democrats argued... well, actually they didn't argue; they just flatly said that voters must have a choice in an election. This is somehow a Constitutional right in their eyes, and that gives them the right to change horses or get a new horse any time they want to.

Usually, things don't work that way. Usually, in a civilized society, we set the rules ahead of time and stick with them. Because of those rules, sometimes we don't get a choice. Sometimes there is only one candidate, and that's just the way it is. All you Donley County Precinct 1&2 voters should well remember the election of 2000. What choice did you have in the constable election? None! If Mr. Swinney just voted for himself, he would have won by one vote. It would have been nice to change the rules and give him a challenger, but, unfortunately, we had to play by the rules.

The audacity of the national Democrats does not limit itself to Florida or New Jersey. It is spreading (or has spread) across the nation and throughout the party. It seems to go beyond the customary lying and using fear to get votes. Now they have resorted to ignoring rules and using litigation to get what they want.

But it is in Minnesota this year where the Democrats have sunk to a new low and abandoned all sense of common decency.

Two weeks ago, Sen. Paul Wellstone, one of the most stridently liberal Democrats in Washington, was killed in a plane crash. Tributes abounded right after his death. Both parties praised Wellstone for his faithfulness to his principles and his service to the nation. His Republican opponent, Norm Coleman, suspended his campaign while the state mourned.

Then last week, a memorial service was held for the fallen senator. And tragically, Wellstone supporters - Democrats all - turned the memorial into a virtual political convention. They chanted, they yelled, and they even booed Senate Minority Leader Trent Lott, who had come to pay his respects.

Lott and others, including Minnesota Governor Jesse Ventura, walked out in disgust. This had no effect on the despicable rabble-rousers. They just partied on. To make matters worse, many of the television stations in that state carried the four-hour event live, thinking it was really a memorial.

Afterwards, Wellstone's campaign supervisor apologized for the event. He knew it had turned into something that would have turned the stomach of the late senator. But most folks in his party didn't see the problem. In fact, when Coleman resumed his campaign a few days later, he was slammed for politicking so soon after Wellstone's death.

Beyond exhibiting a new level of classlessness, the Democrats also took the opportunity to get in some fancy legal work. They successfully argued and got the Minnesota Imperial Court to order new absentee ballots with replacement candidate Walter Mondale's name on them to be sent out to people who have already voted. A clear end-run around existing black letter law, which specifies how these situations should be dealt with.

It is sad to see such a great party come to this point where they must use these disgusting tactics to get elected. They are disgracing themselves, and they are making our election process look like something that belongs in a Latin American banana republic. Let us hope that before 2004 arrives, the national Democratic Party can find its soul and its conscience, learn to play by the rules, and, more especially, learn some common decency.

It is probably just wishful thinking, but we can dream at least.

Scary movies provide important lessons

I suppose I am a week late on the Halloween issue, but I can't help asking: what is our fascination with scary movies? Do we really get that much joy out of scaring ourselves to death?

I have never been a fan of horror flicks. When I go to a movie, I want to be challenged intellectually. I like to cry when boy meets girl and when boy finally convinces girl to fall in love with him. I like to figure out "who done it" before the detective. I can handle suspense and blood and gore, but there is something about the supernatural that I don't like so much.

When I watch a scary movie, I scare myself with anticipation long before the movie ever gets scary. I am very nervous, my hands get all clammy, and my pulse starts getting faster. My system shuts down, and I am scared to death because my whole body is freaking out.

I watched The Changeling, arguably the most terrifying movie in the world, on Halloween night at midnight. It wasn't really that scary, but everyone around me had already seen it a dozen times, and they were making me very nervous by "preparing" me for the next big thing. They would scream because they knew something was about to happen, and their screaming would scare me more than the thing that happened.

In one of the most suspenseful parts of the movie, I was focused singularly on the movie, hoping and praying the dude wouldn't look in the bathtub. Suddenly, the guy behind me poked his finger in my ear (gave me a Wet Willy), and I came unglued. I thoroughly embarrassed myself by screaming loudly for no apparent reason to anyone else and immediately burying my head in my neighbor's jacket. I only life's Lessons

knew him casually, so it was rather awkward. I tried to relieve some tension by laughing uncontrollably for the next five minutes.

I have to say that, as an actress, that I sympathize with actors who work in horror films. It must be difficult to really be genuinely afraid of a rubber ball bouncing down the stairs that was thrown by a stagehand. On the other hand, if I were alone in a very large house and the ball I threw in the East River bounced down the stairs to meet me, it is safe to say that I would be fairly frightened.

The thing about scary movies that kills me is all the dramatic pauses. If you took out all the suspenseful inching slowly down the hall or slowly panning around an empty room waiting for something to move on its own accord, the movie would be twelve to fifteen minutes of solid running, screaming, and hard core poltergeist action.

That is how a movie should be made. That way, you can get your scream in quickly and not have to wait half an hour for her to creep through the house and open a door that you know leads directly to the room where the murder occurred and a haunted wheelchair is waiting to chase her down the stairs.

But, I feel we can learn some important life lessons from scary movies.

Number One: If the deal on the big, old, spooky looking house seems too good to be true, it probably has a history of killing its tenants or at least trying to. One should immediately ask the mysterious real estate agent if he or she truly exists, or if he or she is merely a specter. Then, look for a different house and agency.

Number Two: If a door is boarded up or a room forbidden, it is probably a good idea to stay away from it. To disturb it is kind of like throwing open Pandora's Box; you're playing with fire, buddy. A secret passageway is meant to be kept a secret, or otherwise it's just a poorly lit, out-of-the-way hallway.

Number Three: The more afraid you are something is going to happen, the more terrified you are when it actually does happen. You expect the monster to be around the corner; and when he is, you are frightened and delighted at the same time. It scared your pants off, but you called it. The same is true with life. If you expect the worst, you will never be disappointed, but you might be pleasantly surprised.

Number Four: If your new significant other seems rather mysterious toward nightfall or exhibits some strange habits that cannot be easily explained, it is probably a good idea to call it off before you end up in a situation where you are fighting for your life against the forces of evil. Love conquers all, I'm sure, except maybe when the object of your affection is from the "dark side."

I guess we like scary movies so much because they teach us important lessons about life and survival of good against evil. If you can live through one without breaking a sweat or crying or screaming or wetting your pants - you can probably handle just about anything life can throw at you.

Nation owes enormous debt to veterans

Every Veterans Day Americans publicly acknowledge the sacrifices of our veterans and thank them for preserving our nation's legacy of liberty.

The men and women who serve in our military today follow a long line of brave Americans who answered the call to defend our freedoms. Each swore an oath to live by a common code and a cherished set of values. That bond links veterans of every generation, from those who served in World War I to those who fought in Desert Storm. These veterans have inspired a new generation - many of whom have joined the fight against terrorism and are serving in Operation Enduring Freedom today.

Since November 11, 1918, when Armistice Day was set aside to honor those who fought in World War I, until 1954 when President Dwight D. Eisenhower proclaimed November 11 as Veterans Day to honor all veterans, Americans have commemorated the legacy of service of our Armed Forces.

America's commitment to the finest training, equipment, education, and quality of life for our military make the U.S. Armed Forces the envy of nations around the globe. Our soldiers, sailors, airmen and marines go to battle with the respect and capitol Comment

with Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison admiration of our country.

Ours sons and daughters stand guard so the rest of us may live freely. And that freedom comes with a price. Thousands who answered the call to duty during America's history never lived to be called veterans. But none served in vain.

The Lone Star State has a rich tradition of military leadership. Our young men and women have signed up to serve their nation and are stationed here and in all corners of the globe. More Marines join the Corps from Texas per capita than any other state. And we are home to more Army and Air Force bases than any state.

I have been privileged to visit Texas troops at many foreign posts, from Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, to Saudi Arabia to Macedonia. One of the highlights of my overseas trips was my visit to spend Easter 2000 with the members of the Texas Army National Guard's 49th Armored Division commanding the military mission in Bosnia. I observed first-hand the crucial role the Guard played in maintaining the fragile stability in Europe, the first such mission in the Guard's history. For the troopers of the Lone Star Division, it was their finest hour.

National Guardsmen and reservists have become increasingly vital to our nation's overall military might. Their expanding role in our national security efforts must not be overlooked.

It is not only overseas where our veterans answer the call to arms. On September 11, 2001, three F-16 pilots from the Texas Air National Guard were sent on a mission so secret that their commander could not brief them on the details until they were airborne. Three officers from the 147th Fighter Wing in Houston were not told who they were protecting until they were in sight of Air Force One. They guarded the President during those tumultuous hours after the terror attacks.

On this Veterans Day, we express our heartfelt gratitude to our nation's veterans for a debt we can never repay. We remember those who have gone before and honor tomorrow's veterans who serve our country today.

Reader offers congratulations on Lions' 80th anniversary

Please add my congratulations to the Clarendon Lions Club on the occasion of its 80th Birthday. The impact of this Lions Club, devoted to serving Clarendon for 80 years, must be felt by everyone in town and the surrounding area. I am also encouraged by the quality of leadership present in your club and confident that the future holds only more and more projects dedicated to serving the needs of others.

Special District 2 T-1 recognition should be given to those two Lions that have served for 55 years. Lion A.R. Henson and Lion Bill Lowe are the epitome of Lion Spirit, and through their efforts and those who received awards of 35 years and 15 years respectively this club becomes one of the obvious leaders in the 57 Clubs of the District.

I understand that your Grandfather [Homer] Estlack was a longtime member of Clarendon's Lions Club and certainly one of its earliest true leaders. To this end, don't you know how proud he is of his Son and Grandson for their special Lion awards received at the celebration! You should also know, all the rest of us feel the same way.

We salute you, Clarendon Lions Club! May you serve for at least another 80 years!!

In Lionism,
Jack King,
2 T-1 Vice District Governor

CC choir director drafts Lions into service

I got to thinking the other day - yes, I know, dangerous activity - that I must have written about the same activities at least four times by now. Homecoming and the Goodnight Chuckwagon Cook-off, and Fourth of July come 'round every year, same as they did the year before. And yet every occasion is different. It's a good thing, I guess. Otherwise y'all sure would get tired of reading about the same thing in this column every week. And we'd get tired of doing the same things over and over again. On the other hand, how can one get tired of visiting with good friends?

The Lions Club did hold their 80th Anniversary celebration last Tuesday, with a delicious Ladies' Night steak dinner catered by Alan and Holly Graham, featuring awards and entertainment. A.R. Henson and Bill Lowe both received service pins for 55 years in the Clarendon Lions Club. The Estlack family swept the awards with Allen Estlack getting Lion of the Year and Roger Estlack receiving the Distinguished Service Award. Or maybe it was the other way 'round. I can't ever keep those awards straight. Look elsewhere in the paper. Roger's sure to have written it up, prominently.

After-dinner entertainment was provided by the Clarendon College choir under the direction of the new music director Kevin Gausepohl. The performance was excellent, but the hit of the evening, hands down, was "Dem Bones," or "Ezekiel Saw The Wheel" Members of the audience were drafted to play the "bones" - various rhythm instruments - as the choir musically connected and disconnected the head bone from the neck bone and so on.

around Town
By Gail Shelton
CLARENDON • 874-9186

Cindy Shelton managed to disconnect her thigh-bone drum from its stand, but it wasn't connected very well, so it really wasn't her fault. The shin-bone player got a little excited once and jumped in ahead of the knee-bone, but for the most part, everyone behaved himself (meaning no one whacked his or her neighbor with a drumstick) and except for that excitable shin-bone player (who may have been Monty Hysinger, but I won't swear to it), they all even came in on the right bone. We have some truly accomplished citizens.

The Art Club met Friday at the Methodist Church and lunched on chicken spaghetti, a huge Sharon Knox salad, and green apple cake and pumpkin cake. Jim Douglas provided the program, showing some of his photographs he's taken of local Panhandle towns and local events, saved on CD, as well as pictures from last month's Red Hat luncheon.

A number of local ladies are working to organize a Red Hat group in Clarendon, so keep your eyes on the ENTERPRISE for an announcement.

The Book Club is reading the classic Little Women by Louisa May Alcott for the November book. The meeting will be Thursday, November 21, this month, to avoid Thanksgiving conflicts, and will be the last meeting of the year.

Hope you voted this week. Remember, if you don't vote, you can't complain. Maybe it's not an official rule, but it should be.

CC Fine Arts will perform 'Are You Sure?'

Clarendon College Theatre will present its Fall Mainstage Production, "Are You Sure?" by Sam Bobrick, on November 15, 16 and 17 at the Harned Sisters Fine Arts Center.

Opening Curtain for Friday and Saturday evening performances will be at 8:00 p.m., and the Sunday matinee curtain will rise at 2:30 p.m. Reservations are not required. Adults $5.00, Students $3.00.

"Are You Sure?" by Sam Bobrick is a play of shifting realities. How much is happening? How much isn't? Does David want to kill Caroline? Does Charley want to kill David? Does Caroline want to kill everyone? The play mixes comedy with high suspense as the audience tries to figure out what and whom to believe. One fact is certain: someone did do it.

The LA Times says: "Sam Bobrick has used his considerable experience and dexterity as a playwright to thread the lines between the indefinite categories of reality and fantasy, gamesmanship and seriousness, even between theater and fact." And LA Weekly calls the play "a clever and literate theatrical Rubic's cube. . . . Pick of the Week."

The Clarendon College Theatre cast includes Rebecca Hannon as Caroline, Trey Stevens as David, Joel Leimer as Simon, Dedra Christopher as Stephanie, Brandi Havens as Marie, and Jason Myers as Charlie.

Technical theatre staff include Cassie Hiltbrunner, Cameron Reed, Sam Gerald, and Marissa Wells.

The Playwright Sam Bobrick, has written plays performed in over 30 countries throughout the world including: "Norman," "Is That You?," "Murder At The Howard Johnson's," "Weekend Comedy," "Wally's Cafe," "No Hard Feelings," and "Are You Sure?"

His latest play in 2000, "Remember Me?" starring Tom Poston, opened to excellent reviews in at The New Theatre in Kansas City. Mr. Bobrick has co-written two new plays with Julie Stein including, Sheldon and Mrs. Levine; produced at the Penguin Repertory Company in Stony Point, New York; and Lenny's Back, showcased at the legendary Studio 54, and produced Off-Broadway in the fall of 2000.

He has also written songs recorded by Elvis Presley and Brian Ferry and has been a TV producer/writer for over 40 years.

For more information, contact Bill Huey, Director of Theatre Arts, Clarendon College 874-3571, ext. 273.

'Who's Who' lists several local teachers

AUSTIN - A select group of America's teachers are being honored by their toughest critics, their former students, in the seventh edition of Who's Who Among America's Teachers, 2002.

Teachers from Clarendon named on the list are: James Anglin, Clarendon College; Kathy Barton, Clarendon High School; Charla Crump, Clarendon College; Gene Denney, Clarendon College; Linda Roland, Hedley ISD; Linda Thompson, Clarendon College; and Larry Wiginton, Clarendon College.

All of the 114,000 teachers being honored were selected by their former students who themselves are currently listed in Who's Who Among American High School Students, or The National Dean's List, which recognize 5% of high school and college students respectively.

Basic Bible course to be offered at Library

Beginning November 7, a series of basic Bible lessons will be presented by Don Stone in the Burton Memorial Library meeting room at 10:00 a.m.

In a relaxed atmosphere, practical approaches to understanding and using the Bible will be explained. The course should run about twelve weeks. There is no charge.

Everyone is welcome to attend. Bring a Bible and join the fellowship in the Word every Thursday morning.

Family Caregiver Roundup to be held November 20

All family caregivers are invited to the second annual Family Caregiver Roundup on November 20, 2002, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Civic Center Grand Plaza in Amarillo.

The day will kick off with community service displays from agencies representing the top 26 counties of the Panhandle. Some of the various agencies represented include home health care agencies, hospice, nursing homes, durable medical equipment companies, mental health agencies, legal assistance agencies, and adult daycare services.

They will also have two speakers, Alan Stucky and Howard Grutzner, who will discuss caregiver issues.

There will also be a complimentary barbecue lunch, door prizes, and local entertainment.

Everyone is invite to attend and admission is free; however, reservations are required. If you want to participate in the complimentary lunch, please call Melissa Bjerke at 372-3381 to make your reservations.

Rainy, dreary weather keeps damper on visitations

I never thought I'd see the day I'd wish for the rain to stop but I did Sunday morning. When I started to church, the sky was gray and dreary. It looked like it would start raining any minute. Finally, about 5:00 the sun broke through the clouds, but it is still cold. Looks like winter is here to stay.

I'm glad the elections are finally over. I never heard so many negative ads. That's all you hear on the television. Every candidate is throwing mud at his opponent. I'm glad I voted early before I got confused.

Pick and LaQuitta Cox have finally got back into their house. It burned in March, and they lived in a camper trailer until the repairs were completed in October. LaQuitta said they only lacked minor things like window facings, cabinet pulls, and things like that. I know she's glad to be back in the house.

Guy told me he visited with Tommy and Annette Clendennen on his way home last week. Tommy has a baby a month older than Christian.

Marie Norton is visiting her mother, Juanita Brown, and sister Grace Burkhalter. She's been in San Antonio where her brother, John Brown, had some sort of surgery. She came to Hedley with Roy Brown, Jr.,

watt's Happening and will be here several days.

I had several little spooks and witches on Halloween. Rance came dressed as some sort of alien. Karen made his costume. She's so clever that way... imaginative.

Kathy Spier had surgery in Amarillo last week and came home Sunday. I talked with Patsy, and she said Kathy was doing well but she was so tired she didn't think she'd make it home. It's always harder on the person sitting and waiting on the patient.

Gail Hill visited with her parents, Buford and Jerry Holland, one day last week. She lives in Clarendon and works in Memphis and Jerry said they hardly ever got to visit with her.

It's been a quiet week. I've not been out much in the bad weather to see folks.

I've been thinking of plugging my Christmas lights up. I never took them down after Christmas last year, so all I have to do is plug them in.

Program will determine: 'Is it mold or just mildew?'

According to Linda Anderson at Texas A&M, the cost of most Texans homeowner's insurance went up and one reason is mold. Most have heard horror stories of how some residents have been driven from their homes by something as common and ordinary as mold. This leaves many people wondering how that can happen.

On November 18, at the Burton Memorial Library, Janie Harris, Texas Cooperative Extension housing and environment specialist, will be presenting a program entitled "Toxic Mold or Ordinary Mildew? Is It Serious?" According to Harris, not all molds are created equal. "While some molds can be a serious health threat, others - like the ones responsible for creating cheese and penicillin are beneficial."

However, something like 10 percent of the population develop severe allergies to mold, she said. These allergies produce flu-like symptoms, including breathing problems, nasal and sinus congestion, watery eyes, coughing and sore throat, and skin irritations. Some of these allergies can trigger asthma attacks, Harris went on.

"Children, the elderly, pregnant women, people with existing respiratory sensitivities, and those whose immune systems are impaired are at higher risk for adverse health effects from mold," Harris said.

And not all reactions to mold

family care Corner
By Dawn Watson
COUNTY FCS AGENT

are the same either. "Some people are affected when exposed to very little mold, while others may show no adverse health symptoms when exposed to mold. Exposure to high mold spore levels can cause development of an allergy to mold," she continued. "People can react to mold whether it is living or dead. Even when mold has dried out and has stopped growing, the toxins can still be harmful."

The most common problem-causing mold is called "black mold," Harris said, or Stachybotrys atra (S. chartarum). This black mold, which grows on wet cellulose-containing materials, "contains a toxic substance (endotoxin) that can cause serious illness and death in children, especially infants, and some adults," she said.

Because of this and other potential health problems caused by mold, "it is not safe to live in houses with high mold levels," Harris said.

Come and join us on the November 18 at 6:30 p.m., as Harris will discuss not only the types of mold but also steps for preventing and controlling mold growth. For more information call the Extension Office at 874-2141.

Clarendon First Baptist Church to hold revival November 10-13

Revival services will begin Sunday, November 10 at First Baptist Church of Clarendon, and will continue through Wednesday, November 13.

Sunday will begin with a high attendance campaign for Sunday School. Sunday worship services will be at 10:50 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. Weekday services will begin at 7:00 p.m. nightly. Beginning Monday, noon devotional services will be at 12:25 p.m. each day, following Church of Eden, Texas.

"God and Life" will be the theme for the week, which will focus on the way that God reigns in our lives and makes such an awesome difference in everything about our lives.

Special activities for the week will start with an all-church meal after the Sunday morning service. Other activities will include Youth Night on Sunday evening and will focus on "God and Life" and the impact that God can make on life-choices that everyone has to be make.

Monday evening, in keeping with the Veterans Day holiday, will feature a "God and Country" emphasis. Tuesday will be Children's Night with a "God and Me" theme. Wednesday will be Family Night under the banner of "God and Home."

Everyone is invited to attend every service. A nursery will be available for those needing it.

CC Regents award contract for new dorm

The Clarendon College Board of Regents awarded a $1.8 million contract to Reynosa Construction to build a new residence hall last Thursday.

Meeting in a special session, the regents accepted Reynosa's low bid and approved three alternate additions to the project to allow for installing cable television wiring, installing a veneer plaster system, and installing abuse-resistant ceiling tiles instead of regular commercial tiles.

The cost of the project is being financed by revenue bonds, which are paid for by student fees. No local tax dollars are being spent on the new building.

The new hall will consist of two separate wings housing 40 students each and will be built similar to Southwest Hall with the rooms opening to the outside to accommodate both male and female students. The facility will be located west of Southwest Hall along Clarendon Avenue.

Groundbreaking for the new facility will be held on November 14 at 11 a.m.

In other college business, it was reported that CC has received a $5,000 challenge grant to pay for a scoreboard to be installed at Bulldog Field. The scoreboard is expected to cost between $15,000 and $20,000.

CC President Myles Shelton gave an update on the plans for the Equine Center, the price tag of which has been reduced from $1.25 million to about $750,000. The lower price does not include much of the equipment, such as stalls and other items, needed to make the facility fully functional.

Regent Jim Blackerby voiced his concerns regarding the high cost of the project and its benefits to the college. He asked for the administration to present some numbers to demonstrate how the Equine Center will help the college and its students.

"We can do that," President Shelton said.

Lion award winners

Lions Roger and Allen Estlack were awarded the Distinguished Service Award and the Lion of the Year Award respectively last Tuesday during the club's 80th anniversary banquet.

Tickets on sale for museum Christmas party

Mark your calendars for the annual Museum Christmas Party to be held Saturday, December 7, 2002, at the Clarendon Community Center.

The Christmas Party features a delicious barbecue dinner with all the trimmings. Beer and set ups are provided, and a live band will also be available.

At midnight, somebody's ticket to the party will win them $5,000. Tickets are $50 per couple and are available in advance from any Board Member or from Henson's.

Proceeds from the Christmas Party benefit the Museum and, along with the annual Chuckwagon Cookoff, helps fund the operations of the Museum and its efforts to preserve the history of Donley County.

Senior Citizens to honor volunteers during appreciation banquet

By Vida O'Neal

The date for the Volunteer Appreciation Banquet will be on December 12. The invitations will go out the later part of November with details. This is a small event to show how much you are appreciated.

Our membership drive is continuing. The annual dues are $1.00. Let Patty or Vida or the volunteer at the front desk know when you are ready to purchase your membership. We need everyone to purchase these so you will be able to vote for Board of Directors later this month.

The winner of the Donley County afghan was Rosa Lee Watson.

We appreciate Doris Braddock for donating the afghan for our Friday Fundraiser. These fundraisers are so important to help with the expenses of our Nutrition Fund. We appreciate your participation in the fund-raisers. This week our fund-raiser is a basket of home canned goodies donated by Nell Gray. The chances will be $1.00. The drawing will be held on Friday, November 11 at noon.

We had a fun birthday/ anniversary supper last week. We had a very good meal and lots of Bingo. Denise Alcorn made and donated a cute fall pin, and Vic Jeter donated a cute witch for each table and someone at each table was the winner. The lucky winners for the night of our special witches and bingo were Pearl Hermesmeyer, Doris Braddock (3), Vada Morrison, D.W. Swain, Denise Alcorn (2), Betty Thomas, Sharon Thomas, Rava McKinney, Marie Hill, Alice Johnson, Ralph Grady, Roy Chauveaux, Dorothy Grady, Jean Baten, Verdie Tipton, Nell Gray, Ruth Mills (2), David Strawbridge, and Betty Jean Williams. If I left anyone out, please accept my apologies.

The costume winners were Rava McKinney, Denise Alcorn, and Sharon Thomas. Al Bureson led the prayer, and our birthday girls for the month of October (Rava and Pearl) led the line for our delicious food. The door prizes were won by Cennet Rhode and Betty Tolbert. I whined and got a cute witch, too! Also Doris Braddock, Betty Thomas, and Sharon Thomas donated goods to be used as bingo prizes.

Get well wishes to Helen Land and Mary Beth Nelson. Our condolences to the family of L.C. Keith.

Reminders:
Nov. 11, 18, 25: Dance Club, 7 p.m.
Nov. 12, 19: Game Night, 6 p.m.
Nov. 19: Tentative date of election for Board of Directors
Nov. 26: Birthday/Anniversary Supper, 6 p.m.

Obituaries

Salmon

Graveside services for Patrick Homer Salmon, age 86, were held at 1:30 p.m. on Tuesday, November 5, 2002, in Citizens Cemetery in Clarendon with Sherman Eastland, Chaplain at Northwest Texas Healthcare Systems in Amarillo, officiating. Arrangements were under the direction of Robertson Funeral Directors, Inc., in Clarendon.

Mr. Salmon died Friday, November 1, 2002, in Dallas. He was born in Brice, Hall County, Texas, in 1916. He married Eunice Ruth Reynolds in 1945. He served in the 74th Field Artillery Battalion in Europe during World War II. He returned to Hall County to farm until 1959 when he moved to Amarillo to pursue a career in woods craftsmanship. He built furniture and clocks while working at Maywood, Inc., for 25 years. He continued to live in Amarillo until moving to Dallas in 2000 to live in Eden Terrace Retirement Center, where he resided until his death. He was a non-denominational church member.

He was preceded in death by one son, Richard Salmon, in 1974 and his wife, Ruth Salmon, in 1997.

Survivors include two daughters, Zackie Salmon of Laramie, Wyoming, and Pati Salmon Gordon of Dallas; five grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

You are cordially invited to attend a seminar dealing with these and other important issues. The speaker is Dr. Bert Thompson, former professor, College of Veterinary Medicine, Texas A&M University.

Dr. Thompson is a native Texan. He holds the BS degree in biology from Abilene Christian University (1971), as well as the MS (1972), and Ph.D. (1975) degrees in microbiology from Texas A&M University. Dr. Thompson is a former professor in the Department of Veterinary Public Health, College of Veterinary Medicine, Texas A&M University, where he served as the Coordinator of the Cooperative Education Program in Biomedical Science. He has also served as professor of Bible and science at Southern Christian University in Montgomery, Alabama.

Dr. Thompson was selected in 1978 as an "American Man of Science," and was selected in 1979 for inclusion in American Youth in Achievement. Late in 1980, Dr. Thompson was selected to appear in the 1981 edition of the prestigious International Who's Who of Intellectuals. In addition, Dr. Thompson is a member of the American Society for Microbiology and the Institute of Food Technologists.

Dr. Thompson is one of the founders and current board members of Apologetics Press, Inc., a non-profit, tax-exempt work dedicated to the defense of historical New Testament Christianity. He is the editor of Reason & Revelation, a monthly journal dealing with Christian evidences. His scientific articles have appeared in refereed scientific journals, and his religious articles have appeared in such journals as Gospel Advocate, Firm Foundation, Words of Truth, and others.

Dr. Thompson is the author of several books, including Theistic Evolution, The History of Evolutionary Thought, The Christian and Medical Ethics, The Scientific Case for Creation, The Global Flood of Noah, and others. He is married and with his wife and two sons makes his home in Montgomery, Alabama.

The seminar begins at 7:00 p.m. on Friday, November 8, 2002, at the Clarendon Church of Christ and continues for the following two days. All sessions are free; no collections of any kind will be made. In addition, handout materials accompanying each lecture will be made available free-of-charge to those in attendance. Most sessions are followed by an open "question and answer" session.

TDA to host business workshop in Childress

AUSTIN - The Texas Department of Agriculture will help host a Small Business Finance Workshop on November 13 in Childress for those interested in learning about growing businesses and tapping development opportunities in their communities.

The event, which is also sponsored by the Childress Economic Development Corporation, will start at 10 a.m. at the Childress Fair Park Auditorium located on North Commerce Street. The event will include a luncheon at 11:45 a.m. and will conclude at 2 p.m.

The workshop will focus on the challenges and opportunities in economic development in rural Texas, and speakers will discuss how to locate resources, develop business plans, and obtain funding through programs like the Texas Capital Fund. Other discussions include the topics of diversifying agriculture, developing business incubator systems, and retaining businesses.

"This is a great time to get together and strategize about rural community development beyond the traditional means," said Agriculture Commissioner Susan Combs.

"We must all work together to grow businesses and help rural Texas prosper."

Workshop speakers include Rep. Bob Turner as well as representatives from the Texas Department of Agriculture, Midwestern State University Small Business Development Center, Panhandle Regional Planning Commission, and West Texas A&M University.

For registration information, contact the Childress Economic Development Corporation at 904-937-8629 or Sheila Martin, TDA's Rural Economic Development specialist at 358-7285. Registration deadline is November 11.

Local judges attend Amarillo seminar

Judges Jimmy B. Johnson and Ann Kennedy were certified at the recently twenty hour Justice of the Peace Seminar held October 22-25 in Amarillo.

The seminar was sponsored by the Texas Justice Court Training Center, a division of Southwest Texas State University, with offices in Austin, Texas. The seminar is one of four held for elected Justices of the Peace so they can fulfill their Continuing Judicial Education Requirements as set forth in Article 27.005 of the Texas Government Code.

The seminar addressed topics such as Judicial Ethics, Juvenile Law, Small Claims, Traffic Laws, Parks and Wildlife Laws, Legal Research, Magistrate Duties, Probable Cause and Search Warrants, Landlord Tenant Issues, Contract for Deed, J.P. Office Procedures, Miscellaneous Hearings, and Financial Management.

Head Start to begin Canned Food Drive

It is time for the seventh annual Head Start Canned Food Drive to be held November 7 through November 8.

The food collected will be given to the Panhandle Community Service Food Bank to help with Thanksgiving and Christmas food baskets for the community. The rest will be used to provide food for needy families. Canned goods, non-perishable items, sugar, flour, diapers, toiletries, paper towels, shampoos, and lotions are examples of some of the items needed.

The classroom collecting the most cans will have a Coke, popcorn, and movie party.

So You Believe In God?

Do you believe in God? Do you believe that mankind was specially created "in His image?" Do you believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God? If so, you are in good company. Many great minds down through the ages have been firm believers in God and His Son. Often we are led to believe that anyone who is "smart" has long since shed their belief in God for a more "intellectual" stance of atheism or agnosticism, with an accompanying belief that organic evolution has produced all we see around us. But it's just not true.

Many famous statesmen, scholars, scientists, artists, poets, and other such celebrities have held to a belief in an almighty God. Dr. A. Cressy Morrison, former past president of the New York Academy of Sciences, affirmed that "so many exacting conditions are necessary for life on the earth that they could not possibly exist in proper relationship by chance." Dr. Edwin Conklin, Princeton biologist stated: "The probability of life originating from accident is comparable to the probability of the unabridged dictionary resulting from an explosion in a print shop."

Dr. George Washington Carver, when asked one day what he was doing, replied, "God and I are working on the peanut." United States President Abraham Lincoln, once remarked, "I can see how it might be possible for a man to look down upon the Earth and be an atheist, but I cannot conceive how he could look up into the heavens and say there is no God." Emerson, the famous poet, wrote that "Nature is too thin a screen; the glory of the omnipresent God bursts through everywhere."

Dr. Johannes Kepler, the famous German mathematician and astronomer who formulated the three basic laws of planetary motion, described his research as "thinking God's thoughts after Him." Dr. E.A. Maness once said: "If the word 'God' were written upon every blowing leaf, embossed on every passing cloud, engraved on every granite rock, the inductive evidence of God in the world would be no stronger than it is."

The psalmist stated that "The heavens declared the glory of God, and the firmament showeth his handiwork" (Psalm 19:1). The apostle Paul wrote: "For the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and glory, so that they are without excuse," (Romans 1:20).

Not everyone believes in organic evolution. Many people through the ages have believed in God - for good reason. If you would like to examine the facts behind belief in God, then we invite you to join us in a three-day seminar dealing with God's existence, organic evolution, the Bible inspiration, and several other topics. The seminar begins at 7:00 p.m., on Friday, November 8, 2002, in the Clarendon Church of Christ and continues for the following two days. The speaker is Dr. Bert Thompson, former professor in the College of Veterinary Medicine at Texas A&M University. There will be no charge whatsoever, and no collections will be made. Everyone is invited.

Broncs run at regional c-c meet

By Sandy Anderberg
Several cross-country runners participated in the Regional CC meet in Lubbock Saturday. The Bronco team finished in 16th place out of 24 total teams.

Only the top 10 finishers qualified to move on to the state meet for the 3-mile run. Drew Sell finished 43rd out of a field of 126 runners in the Boys 1A competition. Brian McFarland finished 66th, and Stephen Ford ended up 111th. Also running were Jeremy Howard, who finished 115th, and Richard Anderson, who finished 118th. Times were not available.

It was the third trip to the Regional meet for Sell. Despite not qualifying for the state meet, coach Mike Ray was pleased with their effort.

"The boys did a great job considering four of them played football the night before and got up at 5:00 am the next morning to leave for the meet."

The Broncos are not able to put in as much time practicing as some schools are, according to Ray.

"There's just so many hours in a day, and unfortunately cross-country gets the short end of the stick."

"The weather was cold and wet," said Ray. "I respect them for being willing to go and give their best."

Colts finish season, trample Mustangs

The Colts went out with a bang Thursday night against Claude as they took home a victory in their final football game of the season.

In gaining the 42-0 victory over the Mustangs, the Colts seemed to be unstoppable. Steven Ballard got the first score of the game as he danced into the end zone from 15 yards out. Quarterback Brad Sell made good on the 2-point conversion. Kaleb Shadle then took it in from 10 yards out with Austin Howard adding the extra point.

Sell scored the last touchdown of the quarter, and Ben Smith got the extra point.

After a scoreless second quarter, the Colts added to their lead when Ballard ran it in from 40 yards out. Shadle racked up the next score, giving the Colts the 36-0 lead. Andrew Thomas intercepted a Mustang pass to stop any attempt by Claude to put points on the board. After a key block by Bradley Sanchez, Sell was able to score the final points of the game on a 60-yard run and shut the door on the Mustangs.

Overall the Colts had a great season as they went 6-3 for the season.

"The guys did a great job this year," Coach Mike Ray said. "We asked a lot of them at times with moving them around a little, and they pulled it together and did a great job. We're pleased with their effort."

Immunization Clinic set for Clarendon

Broncs hope for playoffs

By Sandy Anderberg

The night was cold and wet, but the Broncos were on fire as they sent Claude home with a miserable defeat. The Broncos walked away with the 11 point win by the final score of 24-13.

Quarterback Todd Hoeltzel got things underway for the Broncos as he ran the ball in from 18-yards out to put the Broncos up by 6 in the first period of play. The kick for the extra point failed. Dusty Martindale came right back and scored on a 3-yard run to help the Broncos to their 12-point lead going into the 2nd quarter.

Claude's Mike Irby put the Mustangs on the board as he connected with teammate Jared Heck for six points. But it was Hoeltzel again on a 14-yard run to put the Broncos back up by 11 points. The Mustangs would score one more time to attempt their comeback and shortened the Bronco lead to 5 points. But the Broncos put the brakes on against Claude and extended their lead to 11 when Martindale got the ball on the Broncos' own 38-yard line and scooted into the end zone, leaving the Claude defenders behind.

Head coach Roger Hoeltzel was extremely proud of the Bronco defense.

"The guys played great defense. We had four turnovers, and anytime you have that many turnovers and still win the game, it's a tribute to your defensive play. At times we gave Claude good field position, and our defense came through."

Offensively, the Broncos took advantage of both running backs against the Mustangs.

"Both of our running backs were available, and they each contributed to the win. With a win next week against Wheeler, we'll be in the play offs. We hold our own destiny in our hands."

Yes, the play offs are a very real possibility for the 2002 Bronco team. They've played with a lot of intensity and an enormous heart and are not willing to give up their dream of making an appearance in post-season play. They have to continue that intensity next Thursday night as they go up against the Wheeler Mustangs.

"We'll have to step up and play a higher level of football than we've played all year," Hoeltzel said.

The Broncos will travel to Wheeler Thursday, November 7, with the game beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Good luck Broncos!

Bulldogs drop season opener

By Sandy Anderberg

The CC Bulldogs got their season off to a slow start in the Western Oklahoma Classic November 1 and 2 in Altus.

They faced Connors State in the first game and lost by less than 10 points.

"We played fairly well against Connors," head coach Tony Starnes said. "We were up by 5 points at the break but just couldn't pull it off."

Saturday night the Bulldogs faced Western Oklahoma Junior College. The point difference was the same as it was against Connors.

"We gave up 25 offensive rebounds in the game, and they took advantage of them," Starnes said.

Both games were back and forth for the Bulldogs as they struggled to gain the upper hand on each team.

"We played hard, but we need to play together," Starnes said. "We need everyone hitting on all cylinders."

November 7-9, the Bulldogs will travel to Liberal, Kansas to take part in the Seward County Classic. They will play Northern Oklahoma, Seward County, and Southern Nazarene. The Bulldogs will play their first game at home on November 12 at 8:00 p.m. against Otero Junior College.

Owls suffer district loss to Patriots

The Hedley Owls suffered their second district loss on Friday night as they were defeated by the Valley Patriots 54-8.

The Patriots backfield controlled the offensive action of the game, scoring 32 points in the first quarter and 22 points in the second quarter.

The Owls' only score of the game came in the second quarter with a 33-yard run by running back Wes Shields. Kale Brandon added two points with the PAT kick. The 45-point rule came into place, and the game was called at half.

The Owls will play their last ballgame of the season Friday night when they travel to Patton Springs to take on the Rangers at 7:30 p.m.

Girl Scouts hold national convention

Ten members of the Girl Scouts Texas Plains Council went to the 49th triennial National Convention in Long Beach, California, from October 17-20, where almost 200 countries and 300 councils were represented.

Those attending included Kirsten Bertrand from Clarendon and Sherrill Lambert from Borger who served as council delegates. Council volunteers who attended included Karen David, Vicki Greer, Pam Dougherty, and Dinkie Parman. Council staff participants were Denise Bertrand, Mary Green, Natalie Stephenson, and Maria DeBrango Stickel.

The emphasis on recruitment from unconventional areas was especially evident in displays of activities for girls in detention centers and homeless shelters, girls whose mothers are in jail, and teenage mothers.

Robin Roberts, head news anchor for ABC's Good Morning America, spoke about the importance of increasing all girls' capacity to develop a stronger sense of self, a universal theme that applies to all Girl Scout endeavors.

Mrs. Ray's Kindergarten class visited the residents of the Medical Center Nursing Home last week.

THANK YOU

Words seem so inadequate to express my thanks to all my friends and loved ones for their calls, cards, visits, and prayers. My special thanks go to my postal friends, my bank friends, and to Janie. I appreciated the visit from Bro. Howard and family and Bro. Hodges. Ten long weeks away from home makes your own doorsteps look a lot sweeter. My last big thanks go to my three children.
