

Groundwater district ends 2002 seeding

Panhandle Groundwater Conservation District (PGCD) concluded the 2002 Rainfall Enhancement Program for the counties served by the District on September 30, as scheduled.

Thirty-five missions were flown during the 5-month program. Dr. Arquimedes Ruiz of Active Scientific Management and Dr. William Woodley of Woodley Weather Consultants will assess the effectiveness of the District's enhancement program. Both consultants are under independent contracts with the Texas Department of Agriculture. The assessment will include both benefits and risks of the program, and the results will be reported to the District's Board of Directors later this year.

When the assessment is completed, a series of public meetings will be held throughout the District to report the results. There will be at least one public meeting per county. The time and place for these meetings will be published in the District's newsletter, on the District website, and in each county's local newspapers. These meetings will provide citizens of the District the opportunity to give input to the Board concerning the rainfall enhancement program.

The counties in the Panhandle Groundwater Conservation District are Armstrong, Carson, Donley, Gray, Potter, Roberts, and Wheeler.

The directors and staff encourage those interested in learning more about rainfall enhancement to attend one or more of these meetings.

Producers' Checkoff stimulates demand

Beef demand is on the upswing after two decades of low demand, and beef producers themselves are a major reason why.

Beef producers fund the $1 beef checkoff program to generate activities of research, education, and promotion. The checkoff has stimulated the beef marketing channels to sell more beef and encouraged consumers to buy more beef products.

Texas producers eligible for $15,000 SARE grants

Texas farmers and ranchers may not know it, but they are eligible for grants of up to $15,000 from USDA's Sustainable Agriculture and Research Education (SARE).

"In many cases, the grants will help farmers finance what they already are doing: develop solutions to sustainable agriculture production problems," said Marty Baker, with Texas Cooperative Extension and SARE state coordinator.

Officially termed "producer grants," "on-farm research grants" and "sustainable community innovation grants," the program is one of the better ideas at promoting agricultural sustainability to come along in a long time, Baker said.

The proposal deadline for sustainable community innovation grants is Nov. 1, 2002. For the producer grants and on-farm research grants, the deadline to file proposals is Jan. 24, 2003. The grants focus on nine areas: soil health, beneficial insect habitat, alternative crops and livestock, organic agriculture, marketing, grazing systems, improving the sustainability of existing farming practices, appropriate technology, and agroforestry.

The producer grants may be for as much as $10,000 for an individual or $15,000 for a producer organization. It's possible that these proposals may qualify for grants without involvement by Extension, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, or any other educational or research organization. But in practice, involvement by a research or educational professional helps, Baker noted.

"Teaming with their local county Extension agent or an Extension specialist can give farmers a competitive edge in writing the proposal and planning the project," Baker said. "The agent or specialist can contribute considerable resources and expertise."

The sustainable community innovation grants support ways to strengthen both sustainable agriculture and community development, and improve understanding of the link between community and sustainable agriculture. Relevant links could include researchers, community organizations, environmentalists, development professionals, entrepreneurs, and public and private agencies.

The sustainable community innovation grants will be for a maximum of $10,000 and up to two years in duration.

For the on-farm research grants, researchers and farmers work as full partners in the research. But because it is a research grant and subject to review by research committees, these grants must be developed and coordinated by an Extension professional, an Experiment Station scientist, the Natural Resources Conservation Service and/or a non-government organization that works with producers. The on-farm research must involve at least three farm or ranch cooperators. The grants are for up to $15,000 to be used within two years.

The grants can be used to conduct on-farm research in any venue that meets the SARE definition of sustainable agriculture as "an integrated system of plant and animal production practices having a site-specific application that will, over the long term, enhance environmental quality, make most efficient use of on-farm or ranch resources, sustain economic viability of farm or ranch operations, and enhance the quality of life for farmers/ranchers and society as a whole."

More details and forms on the grants program can be found on-line at: <http://www.griffin.peachnet.edu/sare/> or by calling (903) 834-6191.

Looking Back

20 Years Ago

THE CLARENDON PRESS, October 7, 1982

• In a thrilling Homecoming victory, the Bronchos defeated the Childress Bobcats 7-0 last Friday night. Glenn Weatherton scored the sole touchdown of the evening in the fourth quarter with Ray Crump kicking the coverson. The Regional Finalist Clarendon Bronchos are preparing to defend the District 2-AA title that has been in their trophy case for the last two seasons and are apparently planning on keeping it this year as well.

• Kim Wilson was crowned as the 1982 Homecoming Queen during the Pep Rally Friday afternoon. Other candidates for the title were Patrice Shields and Linnie Salman.

50 Years Ago

THE DONLEY CO. LEADER, October 9, 1952.

• One hundred and twenty-seven pints of blood were given to the Red Cross Bloodmobile Unit last week by citizens of Donley County. Mrs. Charlie Seeds, chairman of the event, said the great participation was due to the splendid patriotic spirit of the donors and volunteers at the event.

editor's Commentary

WARNING: The following column is an editorial (i.e. an opinion, a point of view) and may contain ideas or positions with which some readers may freely disagree. It could be harmful to liberals, socialists, and other small mammals. Read at your own risk.

Press guards the liberties of Americans

"Freedom and fear are at war." Those were the words of President Bush last September as he addressed the nation following the deadly terrorist attacks that none of us will forget. In the year which has followed, "fear" has largely been driven into hiding as the Taliban government of Afghanistan has been shattered, and US forces are tracking down terrorists who would seek to do our nation harm. I suspect we will never know how many bad guys have been quietly silenced in the last several months. But how is "freedom" doing? Well, not too good if a new poll is to be believed. The First Amendment Center in Arlington, Virginia, conducted its annual survey recently to gauge Americans' attitudes toward the freedoms guaranteed by the first article of the Bill of Rights. For the first time in the survey's five-year history, almost half of Americans believe the First Amendment goes "too far" in the rights it guarantees. A year ago, 39 percent of Americans agreed the First Amendment goes too far. The figure is now up to 49 percent.

The First Amendment - for those of you educated in Florida or New Jersey - guarantees the freedoms of religion, speech, and press and insures our rights to peaceably assemble and to petition the government.

Most Americans don't even know what the First Amendment says, the poll found. Very few people could identify the freedoms it protects. Fifty-eight percent correctly identified "speech" as a First Amendment right. But only 18 percent picked "religion," only 14 percent recognized "press," only 10 percent selected "assemble," and a paltry two percent said "petition."

And yet, even though they don't know what it says, a majority of Americans claim they support the First Amendment. Despite that statement, 40 percent would limit the academic freedom of college professors in criticizing the military, about half said the feds should be able to monitor religious groups in the interest of national security, and more than 40 percent said the government should keep a closer eye on Muslims.

Just like in 2001, the freedom of the press is one of the least popular liberties. Forty-two percent said the press has too much freedom in America.

It saddens me that so many Americans do not know the valuable role the press plays in their lives. This was driven home last month while I was listening to a speech given by a man I greatly respect. His oration was a great tribute to freedom and to the soldiers who have died for the United States. But one comment made me a little bit angry.

"It was not the reporter who gave you freedom of the press," he said.

But wasn't it? Was Benjamin Franklin not a printer and newspaper publisher? And what of John Dickinson, the Constitutional Convention delegate from Delaware, who wrote a series of newspaper articles attacking British taxation and urged the colonists to resist the laws of a tyrant?

What of the newspaper essays written by James Madison - the Father of the Constitution, Alexander Hamilton, and John Jay? Those essays collectively became known as The Federalist Papers and exemplify the defining theories on which the United States government was created.

And who can forget the contribution made by Thomas Paine - a man who left England, became an editor in Pennsylvania, and then penned Common Sense, which spurred America on to Independence?

The speaker last month was essentially saying that we all owe our freedom to the soldier who shed blood for it and to no one else. This is not the case. As John Adams is quoted as saying, "Without the pen of Paine, the sword of Washington would have been wielded in vain."

There are many ways to defend freedom. Certainly on the battlefield is one, and no one would ever try to diminish those whose blood has been spilled. But the daily threats to freedom are usually not met in Flanders Fields or in the jungles of Vietnam or in the deserts of Iraq. They are met every day, and, sadly, they are often met on the home front.

They are met by the Christian who fights to keep God in public places; they are met by the liberal who strives for equal rights; they are met by the public defender who represents the rights of the accused and guards against overzealous prosecutors; and they are met by the reporter who covers it all and shines light when politicians would rather hide in the shadows.

The threats to freedom come not just from Nazis or Communists or Al Qaeda. They also come from government officials who abuse their power, from leftwing philosophers who try to "sanitize" the English language, and from zealots and lunatics who would try to ban such books as Harry Potter, The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream, Webster's Dictionary, and even the Holy Bible - all of which were censored in various places in Texas last year.

Freedom is at war, just as President Bush said. This is nothing new. It is always at war. But in America, you have a way to find out just how the war is going - it's called Freedom of the Press.

This week is National Newspaper Week, and you are holding a piece of your freedom in your hands right now. Cherish it.

College kids never observe normal times

I shamelessly used the cliffhanger last week to entice you to read my column this week about "Random People Filming Random Acts of Hilarity."

Did you ever notice that everything is more fun with a video camera? No one can have a camera in their face and not at least smile or make a funny face.

We set out to prove this on Sunday night at about midnight. A couple of my friends and I piled into a car with our cameras and my trusty camcorder.

My camcorder is a cute little relic-manufactured in 1992 - a memory of a bygone age before digital. It had serious issues with focusing in the dark, but we soon learned to look past it.

While I was filming, we went all over town looking for random places to pose for pictures. We climbed on every sculpture in the city limits and visited all the landmarks and exotic locations.

First we went to Abilene Christian University where we drew some odd stares dancing in the fountain while decked out in our Hardin-Simmons University gear.

One of our great adventures was the discovery of a skunk at ACU. We tried to chase it down and take a picture of it, but it was too dark and the skunk ran into the bushes. I got the hunt on tape, though.

There is a great place there at ACU called Echo Point. It is a masterpiece of architecture. When you stand at one point on this balcony of sorts, your voice echoes all around you. But it only works on one

life's Lessons

By Carrie Helms

specific point. I was amazed.

We finished off our evening with a trip to IHOP for ice cream and crepes. That made excellent filming because we were very tired and getting a little silly by then.

Mr. Knife and Mrs. Fork had a bitter argument and it ended with a flying crepe. We also showcased our animal sounds collection and every funny face in our repertoires. We tried to get the waitress to share, but it turned out she was camera shy.

What is funny about college students is that they never do anything at the normal time. We go to IHOP to eat breakfast at 1:30 in the morning, but wake up ten minutes before we have our first class.

Intramural flag football games run from 9:00 to 12:00 on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday nights. I never miss a single one if my friends are playing. Sadly enough, they are usually losing, but I have grown accustomed to cheering for the underdog.

We have committee meetings Thursday nights at midnight. Actually, I think this is a brilliant idea because there are no scheduling conflicts. You know everyone is going to be awake at midnight anyway.

If you don't have what you need to do done by midnight, you probably are not going to get it done, and you can justify taking a break for a little meeting.

Sunday school at the church I go to starts at 9:27. Not 9:26 or 9:28, mind you. Every Sunday I walk in at 9:30 and I am late. To me, 9:27 equals 9:30ish, but to them, it means 9:27.

We had a hair coloring party at 10:33 (not 10:30) last night in celebration of the end of the play. Mine came out a nice, normal, natural looking red, but my friend was not so lucky.

Hers came out kind of fire engine, cherry Kool-Aid, very accidentally red. Unfortunately, she opted for the permanent dye while I chose a semi-permanent. She acts like she likes it, but I'm not so sure. It is really red.

As for the play, well, let's say it was a learning experience. Our review in the Abilene Reporter-News called it "most unusual." He was right. The production was good, the ensemble was great, and the acting was excellent. The play itself, on the other hand, was not so great.

Everyone said they didn't like the play or they didn't understand what was going on, but we made it enjoyable. I guess we hoodwinked them into believing we knew what the play was about. In all truth, I would leave rehearsal at night thinking, "What just happened? What was that all about?"

I sometimes think you probably get the same feeling reading my column.

Political correctness is ruining everything

By Christa L. Floresca

Sometimes you just have to roll your eyes and sigh. Our culture's sharp downward turn towards political correctness has ruined everything imaginable. We have become so sensitized to being sensitive we can't even complete a sentence in less than 10 syllables. We have created new words and phrases to "more accurately" state what should be obvious. Political correctness has sent us off the deep end.

I am a woman, an educated, articulate woman. Much to the chagrin of today's "politically correct" crowd, I am not offended by gender specific words like mailman, manking, and history. I am secure enough that it is not necessary to handle me with care.

I balk at the PC extremists who feel that somehow the original and correct spellings of words are oppressive to a cause or a gender. In my opinion, you begin to lose some legitimacy when you demand things like, "woman" be changed to "womyn" to remove any reference to man. I also don't feel the need to change "man" to "person" to feel included or accepted. And, I don't buy into the theory that keeping original spellings of words or generic nomenclature somehow is oppressive to me. They are just words; they don't define me as a person.

Everything is like that these days. As a culture, we have taken sensitivity to an extreme. Once upon a time, the hope was to be able to get past our differences and accept them. As far as I am concerned, the only thing that being politically correct has accomplished is to exaggerate our differences and serve as a constant reminder of them. What's worse, we have diluted our language and the way that we express ourselves to such a ridiculous level that we are beginning to sound like Jack Handy on Prozac.

People with handicaps are differently-abled. When you are lost, you are locationally disadvantaged. If you are balding, you are in follicle regression. Drug addicts are chemically dependent. Housewives are domestic engineers. When your car breaks down, you have a mechanically impaired mode of transportation. Cheaters are academically dishonest. Dead people are metaphysically challenged. You have got to be kidding me. Face it folks, we sound ridiculous.

It doesn't stop there. Now, for $19.95, you can buy the book full of politically correct nursery rhymes where Jack and Jill, who are equal partners, fall down the hill together. We also have teachers who feel entitled to change entire curriculums and arbitrarily lower students' grades for not replacing "man" with "person". Perhaps the worse of all is the notion that historically accurate memorials must be altered to be "racially sensitive."

What has all of this politically correct jargon really gotten us? Why do we assume that we are enlightened because it takes us twice as long to say the same thing? Let's put our hypersensitivity and our urge to elongate sentences aside for a moment. Is anyone better off because we skirt around the truth, spell words differently, or tap-dance around the phraseology? Are we creating awareness or resentment for having to acknowledge every idiosyncrasy of the politically correct crowd? Is all of this really necessary?

Let me be clear. I am not advocating racism, sexism, or any other ism. But we have to draw the line somewhere. It would seem that no matter what you say, there is someone out there who will be offended. It's time we got back to the basics. If we continue to try to please everyone, we will ultimately please no one. To be honest, I am tired of constantly having to worry about the oversensitivity of today's PC society.

I am an American. I will not add a disclaimer or hyphenate it to include my ethnicity. When I get married, I will not be hyphenating my last name to create some false illusion of individuality.

If you are offended because I use the word deaf, want to keep the original spelling of woman, or because I refuse to call myself an Italian-American, so be it. I am going to continue to fight against having to use phrases that mean absolutely nothing. Perhaps I will go down in history as a vertically challenged, testosterone-deficient, Italian-American organism who has had just about enough!

Traveler receives warm reception in Clarendon

I just wanted to say thank you for the hospitality displayed by some of your residents last Wednesday, October 2. I had to land at your municipal airport to "sit out" some bad weather while flying a small aircraft from Baltimore to Los Angeles. Via my ATT cell phone in the cold pouring rain, I called the only number I could find painted on the side of the terminal building. I was connected to City Hall and the Sheriff's Office, and they offered to come out and pick me up so I could run into town to eat and wait for the weather to improve for the flight.

My friend and I were picked up by officer Randy [Bond] and went to have enchiladas (great!) at Kings Country Kafe. Randy also drove us back to the airport when the weather improved, and we departed on to LA.

I travel to all states and many countries as a pilot for a large airline, but we never receive the warmth and friendliness as we do in towns such as yours. Next time I stop will be on purpose hoping to find some good chili!

Thanks again to Randy and the staff at Kings.

CC opens impressive new nursing facility

Cooler weather has come to Donley County, along with lots of rain. Yes, I know it's been cooler than summer before this, but it's even cooler and more fall-like now. Mums are blooming in people's yards and everything.

Last Thursday, Clarendon College held an open house for the new Nursing Education facility downtown. If you didn't make it by, you missed a look at an impressive new place. When I first walked in - dragged in by Cennet Rhode a good hour before the open house was to actually begin - I noticed hospital beds lined up on the far wall in the front room without really looking at them. I had to turn and look carefully before I realized that, no, they did not have patients lying in those beds like a storefront display. They were mannequins, there for the students to practice on.

During our private tour, Cennet

and I saw all kinds of body parts, many of them very high tech. Sharon Rust, the department director, showed off the torso that will make all the lung and heart sounds possible for a human body to make so students can learn to recognize them through their stethoscopes. They have a CPR dummy with a head that pops off and on. They have a computer lab loaded with practice tests and on-line connections to the state nursing board. They have a class of eighteen students and will take on another eighteen in January. Oh, and Cennet's plaque will be moved to the downtown building as soon as possible. (Ask her what her phone number is and see what happens.)

The library board held its monthly meeting a week early last week to get ready for the Open House coming up at the end of the month and learned all sorts of good news. The new back door has been installed, so any library patrons who might want to use the new patio on a sunny day won't get locked out. The book club held its meeting out there last month - it's truly a lovely place to sit and talk or sit and read, or just sit.

Librarian Carolyn Blackerby announced that the library recently received its annual state collection development grant of about $2600 to spend on books, an increase of 21%. She explained that each time the local government support for the library increases, the state increases its support as well, and the City of Clarendon and Donley County have always been very supportive of the library.

In fact, at the last city aldermen meeting, several library patrons went to request a handrail be placed at the steps in front of the library, and the city agreed. Be watching. It should be going up soon.

The Friends of the Library also set up a memorial fund in honor of Clytis Pebble Blackerby to purchase inspirational novels on audiotape. Donations continue to be accepted, and as many books on tape will be bought as there are funds to buy them.

For those who don't know, the Pebble in Mrs. Blackerby's name came from her father. When she was born, he thought she was so pretty that "she would be the only pebble on the beach."

If you haven't ordered your "birthday" calendar from the Bronco Band, there still might be time. Call the Band Hall and get your name and birthdays on the list.

Carlene Hollar and Minde Ivey with Jaleigh Carlene Ivy.

New Arrival

Burl and Carlene Hollar are proud to announce the arrival of their granddaughter, Jaleigh Carlene Ivy. Jaleigh was born to Jon and Minde Ivy of Midland, Texas, on August 22, 2002, in Abilene, Texas. She weighed 8 lbs., 10 oz. and was 20 inches long.

Proud paternal grandparents are Danny and Valerie Ivy of Hale Center, Texas, and paternal great grandmother Lydia Ivy of Stamford, Texas.

Burton Memorial plans Open House, Book Sale

The Burton Memorial Library will host an Open House & Book Sale on October 26 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Refreshments will be served, and planned activities include a story time, poetry reading, a Guess The Pumpkin Weight Contest, and a Favorite Mask Contest.

Proceeds from the book sale will benefit the projects of the Friends of the Library.

Pathfinders Club to hear about Alibates Flint

The October Pathfinders Club's meeting will feature Ray Hamby who will speak on Alibates Flint and Its Use by Early Man (and Woman) on Friday, October 11, at 2:30 p.m. at Saye's Corner Cottage. Guests are invited.

Graham receives visitors

Jim and Rachel Graham of St. Louis, MO, spent a few days with Viola Graham recently.

Breast Cancer Screening Clinic set for Clarendon

The Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center Comprehensive Breast Center will conduct a Breast Cancer Screening Clinic in Clarendon at the Medical Center Nursing Home on Hwy. 70 North on October 21, 2002.

Breast cancer affects one in eight women. The key to winning the battle against cancer is early detection by having an annual breast exam, and mammogram and by performing a breast self-exam each month.

Participants will receive a low-cost screening mammogram. Each woman screened will receive a breast health risk appraisal and individual instruction by a registered nurse in breast self-examination.

Funding is available through the Texas Department of Health for Texas residents who qualify for assistance. All exams are done by appointment only.

Call 356-1905 for information.

Gem Theatre to present a "Salute to the 1950s"

Turkey will celebrate its homecoming on October 12, 2002 at the old Turkey High School at 9:00 a.m. with registration, visiting, renewing old acquaintances, etc.

Lunch will be served at noon and a business meeting will be held at 2:00 p.m. After that there will be some class reunions and more visiting.

To round out this special day, the Turkey Heritage Foundation will present a "Salute to the 50s" with Dustin Garrett and the Texas Cruisers from Anton featuring hits from Buddy Holly, Elvis, and many more. This event will take place at the Gem Theatre in downtown Turkey beginning at 8:00 p.m. There will be a $5 admission charge at the ticket window.

Several exes have expressed interest in seeing the newly renovated Gem Theatre, and this will give them the opportunity to see what has been done and to enjoy some very good entertainment.

Apples make great recipe for fall dishes

By Dawn Watson, County FCA Agent

With recipes for apple-containing goods abounding, how does one know which apple to use in which recipe? With more than 2,500 varieties of apples grown in this country alone, it's easy to get confused.

Nutritionally, there's no difference in which kind you choose. A medium-size apple (about 5 ounces) has 80 calories and 4 grams of fiber (16% of the Daily Value), along with a sprinkling of vitamin C. Culinarily speaking, though, some apples are better suited for different uses than others. An Idared apple, for example, holds its shape particularly well when baked, but might be too tart and tangy for some as a snack. Sweet, crunchy Red Delicious and Fuji apples, however, are best eaten fresh.

Of course, tastes and opinions vary. But here's a sampling of what uses the apple industry recommends for some of the more popular varieties: Applesauce: Gala, Idared, and McIntosh. Baking, Cooking, and Pies: Idared, Jonathan, Rome. Eating: Braeburn, Empire, Fuji, Gala, McIntosh, Red Delicious. All Uses: Camio, Cortland, Golden Delicious, Granny Smith

Make plans to attend Hedley's 51st Cotton Festival

The rain has ended for awhile, I guess; and the skies are so blue it almost hurts your eyes. The leaves are turning, and the ones in my yard are dropping off. One day we'll wake up and find the yard knee deep in fallen leaves. The rose bushes at Mother's house are still blooming. She picks fresh roses every day.

It's amazing. She grows rose bushes from roses she's planted. She takes a rose whose bloom has wilted and puts it in the ground and covers it with a Mason jar, and it takes root. I don't know how she does it. I can kill every plant I have brought in the greenhouse.

I attended the open house at school Thursday evening with Keith and Karen. We had to hurry because of the rain. I got soaked running from the street to the house. There was an office visit scheduled, and when the doctor asked how I managed to gain the extra fluid I told him I got wet and absorbed the extra fluid through my pores.

Linda called and said Leon was home from the hospital. The doctors haven't decided what kind of virus is working in his system, but he's better.

Jerry Holland said she visited with Jesse Freeman for a minute one day last week. Jesse lives in Lubbock and was there with Leon and Linda. What would we do without good friends? Speaking of friends, Jeneda Gay was here from Lefors and stopped by Mother's house Friday. We've been friends for a long time. Mother enjoyed seeing her, and I think she remembered Jeneda.

Sunday morning. He helped Jim and Bill Carson with the offering. Anita said they had a brand new grandson somewhere in New Mexico. She didn't give any important details. How remiss of her!

I was walking home one day last week and Joyce Woodard stopped and gave me a lift. I was glad to see her. It was sort of raining, and I was getting wet. Anyway, she brought me home and got whatever I was coming for; and when she started to take me back to Mother's, she stopped by her tomato patch and gave me some tomatoes. I told Mother they couldn't get any fresher, they were just off the vine.

Get ready for Cotton Festival. The Lionsess Club will start serving stew or chili with cornbread and crackers at 5 p.m. Friday. They will probably have dessert also. Come have dinner or supper if you call it that. Whatever, you'll enjoy it.

Then early Saturday morning, come to the Lions Den and have breakfast with the Baptist Youth Group. Mark and Alisha Montgomery are supposed to do the cooking.

Then on noon Saturday, the Lions Club will serve barbecue with all the trimmings. After noon, they will be serving barbecue sandwiches.

At 2:00 p.m. the parade will take place along Main Street. It will be followed by the reunion at the school. Make your plans to be there.

Happy birthday to J.T. Lamber-son and Bob Jewett.

Local senior citizens enjoy music of the Ranch Dance Fiddle Band

By Vida O'Neal

We went to Claude to the Gem Theatre Saturday. The entertainment was the Ranch Dance Fiddle Band. They were just great! If you ever have a chance to hear this young group, make plans to do so. They are excellent.

October is the start of our membership drive. The fee is still just $1.00 for a year membership to the Donley County Senior Citizens Association. We hope to have the cards in today for your memberships.

We had good attendance at the September Birthday/Anniversary Supper on Tuesday night. The Hedley Choir gave a great performance. We appreciate their entertaining us for the evening. The door prize was won by D.W. Swain.

Our exercises are still going strong on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. We also have water aerobics on Thursday evenings.

The winner of our Friday fundraiser was Wes Thomas. We appreciate Verdie Tipton for making her delicious peanut brittle for the fundraiser. If anyone has an item you would like to donate for our Friday fundraisers, please let us know.

Our October Birthday/Anniversary will be held on Tuesday, October 29. We are going to have a Halloween Party and Bingo. We will have prizes for the following costumes - most original, scariest, and funniest. Be getting your plans made and bring some spooky food. The fun begins at 6 p.m. with games, good food, and some scary fun.

Get well wishes to Gene "Putty" Putman.

Web tool helps landowners make yield decisions

Farm Service Agency (FSA) has launched the "Base and Yield Update Option Analyzer (BYA)", an interactive web-based tool for landowners and operators to use in evaluating and calculating base and yield options for direct and counter-cyclical payments.

The web-based calculator can be found at <http://www.fsa.usda.gov/pas/farmbill/tools.asp>

"The 2002 Farm Bill affords producers the opportunity to update bases and yields allowing them to take advantage of yield improvements due to improved technology resulting in government payments that are more in line with actual production," said Bruce Ferguson, County Executive Director in Donley County.

Ferguson said base and yield data now on file at USDA service centers have been frozen since 1985.

The new tool is based on software developed by Texas A&M University's Agriculture Food and Policy Center (AFPC) in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) and FSA. The analysis program helps producers evaluate the economic consequences of selecting different base and yield options on a case-by-case basis for each of their respective operations. When using the analyzer program, producers will need to provide information including planted acres, yields and types of crops grown. The software will prompt producers to enter projected crop prices and various base and yield options that will be used to estimate six years of payments for each crop.

"Making changes to base and yield data is not a pencil and paper decision. Without the web-based tool, producers would be confronted with an impossible task," said Ferguson.

FSA recognizes that there are numerous on-line base and yield calculators available to producers, but the Texas A&M model is the only program that has been certified and adopted by FSA and is therefore the only version that FSA supports with confidence.

"The agency fully supports educated consumers making informed decisions about their operations and encourages producers to use any and all calculation tools available to them, but return to the FSA version when making final decisions."

Landowners interested in receiving direct and counter-cyclical payments may begin to sign-up for the 2002 and 2003 crop years on October 1, 2002 and have until April 1, 2003 to make base and yield elections for the new farm program. If no election is made by the April 1, 2003 deadline, the farm's bases will default to the 2002 base, plus oil-seeds if applicable. This is especially important for those farms that did not participate in the 1996 farm program and whose records currently show no base acres.

"Although the decision to change existing base and yield data is ultimately that of the landowner and FSA or its employees cannot make those decisions for a producer; we will be more than willing to assist producers. We also encourage producers to work with and seek assistance from their local County Extension Agent," said Ferguson.

For more information on the base and yield calculator or related information, please contact your local FSA county office at 806-874-3561 or visit the national FSA web site at <http://www.fsa.usda.gov>.

Amarillo Fastpitch to sponsor camp

The Amarillo Fastpitch will sponsor a Fastpitch Softball Pitching Camp on Saturday, November 2, and Sunday, November 3, 2002, at the Tascosa High School Softball Field located at Pecos and Rebel Drive in Amarillo.

Dennis Moe, retired teacher and coach, will direct the camp. Before retirement in June 2001, Moe was the head softball coach at San Marcos High School. The Rattlers were district champions the two years Moe coached. Previous to that, he coached in Seguin, Sweeny, Bay City, and Panhandle. While coaching in Bay City, Moe started the softball program at Bay City High School in 1995. The Blackcats were district champions two years and district runners-up for two years.

Every year Moe coached high school softball, at least one of his pitchers was either First Team All-

District or District Most Valuable Player/Pitcher.

Moe is an ASA All-American pitcher who began pitching a softball in 1959 while in junior high school. He has pitched in numerous ASA national tournaments and ISC world tournaments in Canada and the US. In July of 2001, Moe's 50 and over fastpitch team won the National Tournament held in Prescott, Arizona. As an instructor and speaker at camps and clinics, Moe is highly qualified in coaching and teaching fastpitch softball.

The cost of the camp is $30 per girl, enrollment is limited. Girls must be 8 to 18 years of age. Pitchers must bring their own catchers. Parents may catch, and they need to bring a bucket. Limited private lessons will be available.

For more information, contact Kevin Cotter at 806-499-3746.

TSSWCB states keeping soil in place keeps water pure, clean

TEMPLE - Pure, clean water is something that many of us take for granted. One way to ensure good water quality is to keep soil from eroding into clean water bodies.

When soil erodes into bodies of water, sediment fills lakes and streams, causing many problems.

One problem caused by a buildup of sediment is flooding. When soil washes into lakes, creeks, and rivers, the water body becomes shallower. When floodwaters wash downstream, the water body is no longer capable of holding the floodwaters within its banks, causing the water to overflow. This overflow of water can be dangerous to lands, animals, and people in its path.

Another problem associated with buildup of sediment in bodies of water is the elimination of fish habitats. Fish require an adequate depth of water in which to live. When sediment fills the bottom of the water body, fish either die or are forced to move to other areas.

Pesticides and excessive nutrients that are attached to the soil particles are also a serious problem. When rains wash soil from crops, golf courses, and residential neighborhoods, fertilizers, and pesticides end up in water bodies, contaminating the water used for recreation and drinking.

To help prevent runoff of soils into water bodies, certain practices may be used. Simple practices such as planting grass and bushes in yards may help prevent runoff into storm drains in residential areas. Farmers and ranchers may use more intense practices to prevent soil erosion into lakes, ponds, rivers, and creeks.

These intensive practices used by farmers and ranchers can be costly when implemented on many acres of land. To aid in these costs, the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board (TSSWCB), along with local Soil and Water Conservation Districts (SWCD) offer cost-share assistance to farmers and ranchers, offering to pay up to 75 percent of costs associated with certain practices.

The practices for which cost-share assistance is offered include:

- Contour Buffer Strips - Strips of land near a body of water that is left with natural vegetation and is not plowed or farmed.
- Critical Area Planting - Grasses, legumes, trees, or shrubs planted to prevent erosion in small, isolated areas.

- Filter Strips - Use grass or other vegetation to filter runoff and remove sediment before it can reach water bodies.
- Grade Stabilization Structures - Concrete, metal, or rock structures that allow water to drop safely to a lower elevation.
- Terraces - Earth embankments around a hillside that stop water flow and either store it or guide it safely off a field.
- Water and Sediment Control Basins - Trap runoff water temporarily and let the sediment settle out before running into a body of water.

For more information on programs or questions concerning the above practices, please contact your local SWCD, the TSSWCB in Temple at 254-773-2250, or visit our website at www.tsswcb.state.tx.us.

Estimated $10 million available to fund Texas AmeriCorps programs

AUSTIN - The Texas Commission on Volunteerism and Community Service (TxCVCS) is currently conducting a grant competition to award an estimated $10 million to new and existing AmeriCorps programs in Texas. The opportunity for organizations in Texas to apply for these grants occurs only once every three years.

TxCVCS expects to provide enough funding to place more than 1,000 individuals in 30 AmeriCorps programs that serve Texas communities. In return, AmeriCorps members receive an education award of up to $4,725 to help pay for college or pay back student loans. To date, more than 12,700 Texas residents have qualified for education awards totaling more than $38,900,000.

AmeriCorps is a national service program that provides an education award and small living stipend to individuals who commit to a year of improving communities through service.

Any organization that wishes to apply for AmeriCorps funding, must submit a mandatory concept paper by October 23, 2002, as part of the proposal process. For a list of current AmeriCorps programs funded by TxCVCS as well as a link to download the application, visit www.txserve.org.

CC opens impressive new nursing facility

Cooler weather has come to Donley County, along with lots of rain. Yes, I know it's been cooler than summer before this, but it's even cooler and more fall-like now. Mums are blooming in people's yards and everything.

Last Thursday, Clarendon College held an open house for the new Nursing Education facility downtown. If you didn't make it by, you missed a look at an impressive new place. When I first walked in - dragged in by Cennet Rhode to actually begin - I noticed hospital beds lined up on the far wall in the front room without really looking at them. I had to turn and look carefully before I realized that, no, they did not have patients lying in those beds like a storefront display. They were mannequins, there for the students to practice on.

During our private tour, Cennet

and I saw all kinds of body parts, many of them very high tech. Sharon Rust, the department director, showed off the torso that will make all the lung and heart sounds possible for a human body to make so students can learn to recognize them through their stethoscopes. They have a CPR dummy with a head that pops off and on. They have a computer lab loaded with practice tests and on-line connections to the state nursing board. They have a class of eighteen students and will take on another eighteen in January. Oh, and Cennet's plaque will be moved to the downtown building as soon as possible. (Ask her what her phone number is and see what happens.)

The library board held its monthly meeting a week early last week to get ready for the Open House coming up at the end of the month and learned all sorts of good news. The new back door has been installed, so any library patrons who might want to use the new patio on a sunny day won't get locked out. The book club held its meeting out there last month - it's truly a lovely place to sit and talk or sit and read, or just sit.

Librarian Carolyn Blackerby announced that the library recently received its annual state collection development grant of about $2600 to spend on books, an increase of 21%. She explained that each time the local government support for the library increases, the state increases its support as well, and the City of Clarendon and Donley County have always been very supportive of the library.

In fact, at the last city aldermen meeting, several library patrons went to request a handrail be placed at the steps in front of the library, and the city agreed. Be watching. It should be going up soon.

The Friends of the Library also set up a memorial fund in honor of Clytis Pebble Blackerby to purchase inspirational novels on audiotape. Donations continue to be accepted, and as many books on tape will be bought as there are funds to buy them.

For those who don't know, the Pebble in Mrs. Blackerby's name came from her father. When she was born, he thought she was so pretty that "she would be the only pebble on the beach."

If you haven't ordered your "birthday" calendar from the Bronco Band, there still might be time. Call the Band Hall and get your name and birthdays on the list.

Carlene Hollar and Minde Ivey with Jaleigh Carlene Ivy.

New Arrival

Burl and Carlene Hollar are proud to announce the arrival of their granddaughter, Jaleigh Carlene Ivy. Jaleigh was born to Jon and Minde Ivy of Midland, Texas, on August 22, 2002, in Abilene, Texas. She weighed 8 lbs., 10 oz. and was 20 inches long.

Proud paternal grandparents are Danny and Valerie Ivy of Hale Center, Texas, and paternal great grandmother Lydia Ivy of Stamford, Texas.

Burton Memorial plans Open House, Book Sale

The Burton Memorial Library will host an Open House & Book Sale on October 26 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Refreshments will be served, and planned activities include a story time, poetry reading, a Guess The Pumpkin Weight Contest, and a Favorite Mask Contest.

Proceeds from the book sale will benefit the projects of the Friends of the Library.

Pathfinders Club to hear about Alibates Flint

The October Pathfinders Club's meeting will feature Ray Hamby who will speak on Alibates Flint and Its Use by Early Man (and Woman) on Friday, October 11, at 2:30 p.m. at Saye's Corner Cottage. Guests are invited.

Graham receives visitors

Jim and Rachel Graham of St. Louis, MO, spent a few days with Viola Graham recently.

Breast Cancer Screening Clinic set for Clarendon

The Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center Comprehensive Breast Cancer Screening Clinic in Clarendon at the Medical Center Nursing Home on Hwy. 70 North on October 21, 2002.

Breast cancer affects one in eight women. The key to winning the battle against cancer is early detection by having an annual breast exam, and mammogram and by performing a breast self-exam each month.

Participants will receive a low-cost screening mammogram. Each woman screened will receive a breast health risk appraisal and individual instruction by a registered nurse in breast self-examination.

Funding is available through the Texas Department of Health for Texas residents who qualify for assistance. All exams are done by appointment only.

Call 356-1905 for information.

Gem Theatre to present a 'Salute to the 1950s'

Turkey will celebrate its homecoming on October 12, 2002 at the old Turkey High School at 9:00 a.m. with registration, visiting, renewing old acquaintances, etc.

Lunch will be served at noon and a business meeting will be held at 2:00 p.m. After that there will be some class reunions and more visiting.

To round out this special day, the Turkey Heritage Foundation will present a "Salute to the 50s" with Dustin Garrett and the Texas Cruisers from Anton featuring hits from Buddy Holly, Elvis, and many more. This event will take place at the Gem Theatre in downtown Turkey beginning at 8:00 p.m. There will be a $5 admission charge at the ticket window.

Several exes have expressed interest in seeing the newly renovated Gem Theatre, and this will give them the opportunity to see what has been done and to enjoy some very good entertainment.

Apples make great recipe for fall dishes

By Dawn Watson, County FGA Agent

With recipes for apple-containing goods abounding, how does one know which apple to use in which recipe? With more than 2,500 varieties of apples grown in this country alone, it's easy to get confused.

Nutritionally, there's no difference in which kind you choose. A medium-size apple (about 5 ounces) has 80 calories and 4 grams of fiber (16% of the Daily Value), along with a sprinkling of vitamin C. Culinarily speaking, though, some apples are better suited for different uses than others. An Idared apple, for example, holds its shape particularly well when baked, but might be too tart and tangy for some as a snack. Sweet, crunchy Red Delicious and Fuji apples, however, are best eaten fresh.

Of course, tastes and opinions vary. But here's a sampling of what uses the apple industry recommends for some of the more popular varieties: Applesauce: Gala, Idared, and McIntosh. Baking, Cooking, and Pies: Idared, Jonathan, Rome. Eating: Braeburn, Empire, Fuji, Gala, McIntosh, Red Delicious. All Uses: Camio, Cortland, Golden Delicious, Granny Smith

Make plans to attend Hedley's 51st Cotton Festival

The rain has ended for awhile, I guess; and the skies are so blue it almost hurts your eyes. The leaves are turning, and the ones in my yard are dropping off. One day we'll wake up and find the yard knee deep in fallen leaves. The rose bushes at Mother's house are still blooming. She picks fresh roses every day.

It's amazing. She grows rose bushes from roses she's planted. She takes a rose whose bloom has wilted and puts it in the ground and covers it with a Mason jar, and it takes root. I don't know how she does it. I can kill every plant I have brought in the greenhouse.

I attended the open house at school Thursday evening with Keith and Karen. We had to hurry because of the rain. I got soaked running from the street to the house. There was an office visit scheduled, and when the doctor asked how I managed to gain the extra fluid I told him I got wet and absorbed the extra fluid through my pores.

Linda called and said Leon was home from the hospital. The doctors haven't decided what kind of virus is working in his system, but he's better.

Jerry Holland said she visited with Jesse Freeman for a minute one day last week. Jesse lives in Lubbock and was there with Leon and Linda. What would we do without good friends?

Speaking of friends, Jeneda Gay was here from Lefors and stopped by Mother's house Friday. We've been friends for a long time. Mother enjoyed seeing her, and I think she remembered Jeneda.

Jim and Anita Mitchell had their grandson, Casey McKlesky, at church

Sunday morning. He helped Jim and Bill Carson with the offering. Anita said they had a brand new grandson somewhere in New Mexico. She didn't give any important details. How remiss of her!

I was walking home one day last week and Joyce Woodard stopped and gave me a lift. I was glad to see her. It was sort of raining, and I was getting wet. Anyway, she brought me home and got whatever I was coming for; and when she started to take me back to Mother's, she stopped by her tomato patch and gave me some tomatoes. I told Mother they couldn't get any fresher, they were just off the vine.

Get ready for Cotton Festival. The Lioness Club will start serving stew or chili with cornbread and crackers at 5 p.m. Friday. They will probably have dessert also. Come have dinner or supper if you call it that. Whatever, you'll enjoy it.

Then early Saturday morning, come to the Lions Den and have breakfast with the Baptist Youth Group. Mark and Alisha Montgomery are supposed to do the cooking. Then on noon Saturday, the Lions Club will serve barbecue with all the trimmings. After noon, they will be serving barbecue sandwiches.

At 2:00 p.m. the parade will take place along Main Street. It will be followed by the reunion at the school. Make your plans to be there.

Happy birthday to J.T. Lamberston and Bob Jewett.

Local senior citizens enjoy music of the Ranch Dance Fiddle Band

By Vida O'Neal

We went to Claude to the Gem Theatre Saturday. The entertainment was the Ranch Dance Fiddle Band. They were just great! If you ever have a chance to hear this young group, make plans to do so. They are excellent.

October is the start of our membership drive. The fee is still just $1.00 for a year membership to the Donley County Senior Citizens Association.

We hope to have the cards in today for your memberships.

We had good attendance at the September Birthday/Anniversary Supper on Tuesday night. The Hedley Choir gave a great performance. We appreciate their entertaining us for the evening. The door prize was won by D.W. Swain.

Our exercises are still going strong on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. We also have water aerobics on Thursday evenings.

The winner of our Friday fundraiser was Wes Thomas. We appreciate Verdie Tipton for making her delicious peanut brittle for the fundraiser. If anyone has an item you would like to donate for our Friday fundraisers, please let us know.

Our October Birthday/Anniversary will be held on Tuesday, October 29. We are going to have a Halloween Party and Bingo. We will have prizes for the following costumes - most original, scariest, and funniest. Be getting your plans made and bring some spooky food. The fun begins at 6 p.m. with games, good food, and some scary fun.

Get well wishes to Gene "Putty" Putman.

Reminders:

Genealogical Society to hold fall seminar

The Amarillo Genealogical Society will hold their annual fall seminar October 12, 2002, at the Amarillo College West Campus Lecture Hall, 6222 W. 9th Avenue in Amarillo.

Leslie Smith Collier, a nationally known genealogical speaker from Dallas will conduct the seminar featuring topics of interest to all levels of family research from beginners to the advanced. The subjects will include Finding Female Ancestors, Using Newspapers in your Research, and Estate Sales and Probate.

The Amarillo Genealogical Society is one of the oldest genealogy groups in Texas.

Registration is $20 and begins at 9:00 a.m. For information, call the Amarillo Public Library Special Collections at 378-4211.

Troopers visit Elementary

Sergeant Richard Gribble and Trooper Tony Polito visited the Clarendon first grade classes on Wednesday, October 2. Sergeant Gribble discussed safety with the students. He warned them of many dangers they could encounter and what to do if one happens to them. Trooper Polito let the students explore his state police car. The students got to see the different lights work and hear the siren sound.

Cub Scouts to hold Rain Gutter Regatta this Saturday

Clarendon Cub Scout Pack 437 has started a brand new year and will hold their annual Rain-Gutter Regatta on Saturday, October 12 at the Clarendon Fire Station beginning at 10:00 a.m.

The Cub Scouts will race their sailboats they made from kits against each other down rain gutters filled with water. First, second, and third place medals will be awarded in each Cub's Den with a Grand Prize trophy awarded to the overall winner. Participation patches will be awarded to all racers.

Pack 437 will celebrate its 51st year in Cub Scouting this year. There are many great traditions in this Pack. The greatest tradition is to provide fun and wholesome family-oriented activities for area boys. Another tradition is that they use their own fundraising activities to fund the cost of Cub Scouting so that it is very affordable for all the boys in their community.

Clarendon Cub Scouts come from all over Donley County. They are able to enroll boys from all the local communities. Cub Scouting is for boys beginning in the first grade all the way through fifth grade. Parental involvement is important at all levels, especially with the first grade Tiger Cubs.

They are looking for a few more good Cub Scouts, and it's not too late to register. Call the Cubmaster, Tom Roach, at 874-3352.

Angus association recognizes Stotts

Richard Stotts of Clarendon owns one bull listed in the 2002 Fall Sire Evaluation Report published by the American Angus Association headquartered in St. Joseph, Missouri.

Issued in both the spring and fall, the new report features the latest performance information available on 6,362 sires. The report is accessible at www.angus.org.

"This report provides both Angus breeders and commercial cattle producers using Angus genetics with accurate, predictable selection tools for improving their herd," says Bill Bowman, American Angus Association director of performance programs. Expected Progeny Differences (EPDs) are generated from the performance database of the American Angus Association, which includes information submitted by more than 7,500 Angus breeders this past year through the Angus Herd Improvement Records (AHIR) program.

EPDs are available for 17 traits including birth weight, weaning weight, milk, yearling weight and height, mature daughter weight and height, and scrotal circumference. Carcass progeny measures generated EPDs on carcass weight, marbling, rib eye area, external fat thickness, and percent retail product. Ultrasound body composition data also generates end product predictors for rib eye area, intramuscular fat percentage, fat thickness, and percent retail product.

Commission still raising funds for courthouse

The Donley County Historical Commission has begun what it calls its final appeal to raise funds for the restoration of the 1890 Courthouse.

Individuals, families, organizations, and businesses are being offered the opportunity to have their names permanently affixed to the wall of the Courthouse lobby. For a donation of $1,000 or more, donors will receive a 3" x 5" bronze plaque with 1/4" raised letters to commemorate their family or organization.

Donors who have already contributed $1,000 or more will automatically receive the plaque. Other businesses and individuals who have made donations below $1,000 can add to their previous gift in order to reach the level to receive a plaque.

The plaques will accommodate three lines of 20 characters each and will be ready for the dedication of the courthouse later this year.

Those wishing to make a donation to the project may send their gift to Courthouse Restoration Fund, PO Box 905, Clarendon, TX 79226.

The Lion's Tale

By Allen Estlack

Clarendon Lions Club held their regular Tuesday noon meeting on October 8 with Boss Lion Myles Shelton in charge.

We had 19 members and two guests. Our guests were Pearl Hermsmeyer, guest of Lion Denise Bertrand; and Rev. Harold Elliott, guest of Lion Darrell Leffew.

Lion Elam tried to get people lined up to take care of the flags next Monday.

Lion Don Smith reported on the Pancake Supper. We served 189 people last Friday evening.

The Something More program is doing well.

Boss Lion Myles Shelton brought a program telling about the new dorms that will be built at the college.

There being no further business, we were adjourned.

ACS to hold program for cancer patients

The American Cancer Society will hold a public service program, Look Good... Feel Better, for cancer patients suffering from the effects of treatment.

The program will be held Saturday, October 12, from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. at the ACS office located at 3915 Bell Street in Amarillo.

This is a free, national public service program dedicated to teaching women cancer patients beauty techniques to help restore their appearance and self-image during cancer treatment. Through Look Good... Feel Better sessions, women learn how to cope with the appearance-related side effects of cancer treatment.

For more information about the program or to RSVP, call 806-353-4306 or 1-800-ACS-2345. You can also visit their website at www.lookgoodfeelbetter.org.

Concerned about OSTEOPOROSIS and brittle bones?

Osteoporosis is a gradual thinning and weakening of bones, which can lead to bone fractures. Over 28 million Americans, 80% of whom are women, have or are at risk of developing this condition. Since osteoporosis is often referred to as a "silent disease," many are less likely to find out they have it until they suffer a painful bone fracture.

Now there is a safe, simple, painless test that can assess your risk of developing osteoporosis.

Gray Extension office to offer foodservice course

Statistics indicate that foodborne illness continues to be a health issue in the United States. Almost 50 cents of every food dollar is spent on food prepared away from home. Therefore, careful attention to food safety is extremely important.

Food safety is a top concern of Texas. During the 2001 legislative session, rules were enacted to provide authority to require food manager certification. Recently, the Texas Department of Health approved rules requiring each foodservice establishment under Texas Department of Health jurisdiction have one certified food manager. Under these rules, new food manager certificates will be valid for five years.

Texas Cooperative Extension, Gray County, is offering a foodservice manager certification training. This two-day program will be offered for $79 on October 14-15 at the Gray County Annex. A one-day training will be offered for $65 on November 18 at the Gray County Annex for foodservice managers who have previously been certified. Cost includes training, breaks, materials, and the State food manager certification examination.

This program is designed to not only prepare foodservice managers to pass the certification examination but will also provide valuable education regarding the safe handling of food to protect consumers from getting foodborne illnesses.

By attending the course, foodservice managers will learn about identifying potentially hazardous foods and common errors in food handling, preventing contamination and cross-contamination of food, teaching and encouraging personal hygiene for employees, complying with government regulations, maintaining clean utensils and surroundings, and controlling pests.

For more information about the course, call Joan Gray at 669-8033.

Texas Cattle Feeders will celebrate 35th anniversary

Texas Cattle Feeders Association (TCFA) is returning to its roots for its 2002 Annual Convention as it heads to Amarillo, the place where the Association was formed 35 years ago.

The TCFA 35th Anniversary Convention will be Oct. 18-19 at the Amarillo Civic Center and will feature a streamlined format.

"We have a convention lineup designed to give cattle feeders maximum information quickly and efficiently," said TCFA President and CEO Richard McDonald.

"In one day, cattle feeders will hear a variety of speakers talk on a wide variety of topics designed to provide plenty of take-home knowledge. And with a reduced registration fee, it will be a meeting that cattle feeders can't afford to miss."

The convention sessions will be Saturday, October 19, beginning with a Morning General Session featuring TCFA Chairman Paul Engler, who will share his thoughts on the cattle feeding industry. Then, Dr. Garry Adams with the School of Veterinary Medicine at Texas A&M University will discuss "Meeting the Biosecurity Challenge," and Dr. Mike Galyean with Texas Tech University will offer thoughts on "Beef Production in Challenging Times."

The session will wrap up with Jim Whitt of Whitt Enterprises, who will sculpt a picture of the personal challenges facing cattle feeders in his talk, "Who's the Beef Industry?"

Lunch brings a special treat as Don Powell, former Amarillo banker and chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, offers his insights on the Washington D.C. political scene. Then, TCFA will recognize the area's mayors and other civic leaders, thanking them for the strong partnership between cattle feeders and their communities for the past 35 years.

The Afternoon General Session brings a unique event to cattle feeders—top executives from the four major packers will be in one room, on one stage, to discuss their thoughts on the issues affecting the entire beef marketing chain.

"This has been a challenging year for cattle feeders; and everyone who attends the TCFA Convention will welcome the chance for dialog with the top decision-makers at the four major packers," McDonald said. "Cattlemen can never forget that we're in the business of producing a high quality, wholesome food product for consumers. What the packers have to say will be of intense interest to everyone."

Cattle feeders will end the day with the Cattle Feeders Get-Together, featuring a live auction for TCFA's Beef-PAC and dancing to the country swing sounds of Jody Nix and The Texas Cowboys.

"We have a full and informative day planned for cattle feeders," McDonald said, "and with a reduced registration fee of only $100, attending may be the best business decision this year."

For information on the TCFA 35th Annual Convention, log on to www.tcfa.org or contact the Texas Cattle Feeders Association at info@tcfa.org or call (806) 358-3681.

Motivational speaker coming to Amarillo

Erin Gruwell, two-time California Teacher of the year, will be speaking to area educators at Amarillo College on Saturday, October 12, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Ordway Auditorium, located at 22nd and Washington Streets, on the Washington Street campus in Amarillo.

She accomplished what many thought impossible. She helped 150 of her students, many of whom were written off by the education system, use the power of education to write a book, to graduate from high school, and to attend college.

Gruwell's tenacity and dedication to her students is chronicled in the published text Freedom Writers' Diary: How a Teacher and 150 Teens Used Writing to Change Themselves and the World Around Them. Jersey Films and Universal are currently developing her inspiring story in to a major motion picture.

Her commitment to teaching tolerance and unique vision has won national media attention. She and her students have appeared on the Oprah Winfrey Show, The Rosie O'Donnell Show, ABC's Good Morning Amer- ica, Prime Time Live, The View, and CSPAN's Book TV.

The conference also includes break out sessions. Topics include motivation, drug awareness, learning styles, problem solving, critical thinking, and subject specific sessions. The funds raised will be used to purchase books for underprivileged children and for education scholarships. Teachers can earn CPE credits for attending.

Farmer-Stockman Show set in Lubbock

The tenth annual Farmer-Stockman Show is scheduled for Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, October 10-12 in Lubbock.

The largest outdoor working farm and ranch show in the southwestern United States boasts acres of show sites and crops for field demonstrations. The busy three-day schedule will include a variety of activities for the entire family. For producers, demonstrations exhibit modern machinery in harvesting, tillage, and hay handling. Livestock demonstrations include live cattle handling demonstrations, horse training sessions, cutting horse demonstrations, and current topic seminars.

The popular Family Living area has expanded programs on health, quilting, and country entertainment performances. Crafters are available for a unique shopping opportunity.

The Farmer-Stockman Show is 1.5 miles east of Loop 289 on East 50th Street (FM 835). Show hours are 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily.

For more details, call the show office at 806-747-7134.

Lone Star Legacy features moonlight bike ride

QUITAQUE - Caprock Partners Foundation and Caprock Canyons State Park & Trailway are hosting a Moonlight Bike Ride to Clarity Tunnel on Saturday, October 19.

The Moonlight Ride will be a leisurely 5-mile ride to Clarity tunnel to view the spectacular scenery along the Caprock Canyons Trailway. There will be entertainment and a fajita supper served at the tunnel around 6 p.m., after which the return trip will begin. Riders will be able to enjoy the sunset from the tunnel. The ride back will be lighted by the light of the full moon. Registration for riders is $10 each, and you must register by October 12.

If a bike ride isn't for you, jump in a van for a tour of Caprock Canyons with a tour guide at 9 a.m. or 11 a.m. The park is also featuring a new audio guide you can check out at your convenience (on tape or CD) if you would rather drive your own vehicle but still want a tour guide.

The Moonlight Bike Ride and guided tours are held in conjunction with the statewide Lone Star Legacy weekend, where all state parks are open and free to the public October 19-20. Lone Star Legacy weekend is designed to raise money for each state park's endowment fund. Once the principal in each park's endowment fund reaches $75,000, the interest generated from it can be used to help support that park.

For more information about the Caprock Partners Foundation, the park's endowment fund, or park programs and facilities, contact Caprock Canyons State Park and Trailway daily between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. at 806-455-1492.

Web tool helps landowners make yield decisions

Farm Service Agency (FSA) has launched the "Base and Yield Update Option Analyzer (BYA)", an interactive web-based tool for landowners and operators to use in evaluating and calculating base and yield options for direct and counter-cyclical payments.

The web-based calculator can be found at <http://www.fsa.usda.gov/pas/farmbill/tools.asp>

"The 2002 Farm Bill affords producers the opportunity to update bases and yields allowing them to take advantage of yield improvements due to improved technology resulting in government payments that are more in line with actual production," said Bruce Ferguson, County Executive Director in Donley County.

Ferguson said base and yield data now on file at USDA service centers have been frozen since 1985.

The new tool is based on software developed by Texas A&M University's Agriculture Food and Policy Center (AFPC) in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) and FSA. The analysis program helps producers evaluate the economic consequences of selecting different base and yield options on a case-by-case basis for each of their respective operations. When using the analyzer program, producers will need to provide information including planted acres, yields and types of crops grown. The software will prompt producers to enter projected crop prices and various base and yield options that will be used to estimate six years of payments for each crop.

"Making changes to base and yield data is not a pencil and paper decision. Without the web-based tool, producers would be confronted with an impossible task," said Ferguson.

FSA recognizes that there are numerous on-line base and yield calculators available to producers, but the Texas A&M model is the only program that has been certified and adopted by FSA and is therefore the only version that FSA supports with confidence.

"The agency fully supports educated consumers making informed decisions about their operations and encourages producers to use any and all calculation tools available to them, but return to the FSA version when making final decisions."

Landowners interested in receiving direct and counter-cyclical payments may begin to sign-up for the 2002 and 2003 crop years on October 1, 2002 and have until April 1, 2003 to make base and yield elections for the new farm program. If no election is made by the April 1, 2003 deadline, the farm's bases will default to the 2002 base, plus oil-seeds if applicable. This is especially important for those farms that did not participate in the 1996 farm program and whose records currently show no base acres.

"Although the decision to change existing base and yield data is ultimately that of the landowner and FSA or its employees cannot make those decisions for a producer; we will be more than willing to assist producers. We also encourage producers to work with and seek assistance from their local County Extension Agent," said Ferguson.

For more information on the base and yield calculator or related information, please contact your local FSA county office at 806-874-3561 or visit the national FSA web site at <http://www.fsa.usda.gov>.

Amarillo Fastpitch to sponsor camp

The Amarillo Fastpitch will sponsor a Fastpitch Softball Pitching Camp on Saturday, November 2, and Sunday, November 3, 2002, at the Tascosa High School Softball Field located at Pecos and Rebel Drive in Amarillo.

Dennis Moe, retired teacher and coach, will direct the camp. Before retirement in June 2001, Moe was the head softball coach at San Marcos High School. The Rattlers were district champions the two years Moe coached. Previous to that, he coached in Seguin, Sweeny, Bay City, and Panhandle. While coaching in Bay City, Moe started the softball program at Bay City High School in 1995. The Blackcats were district champions two years and district runners-up for two years.

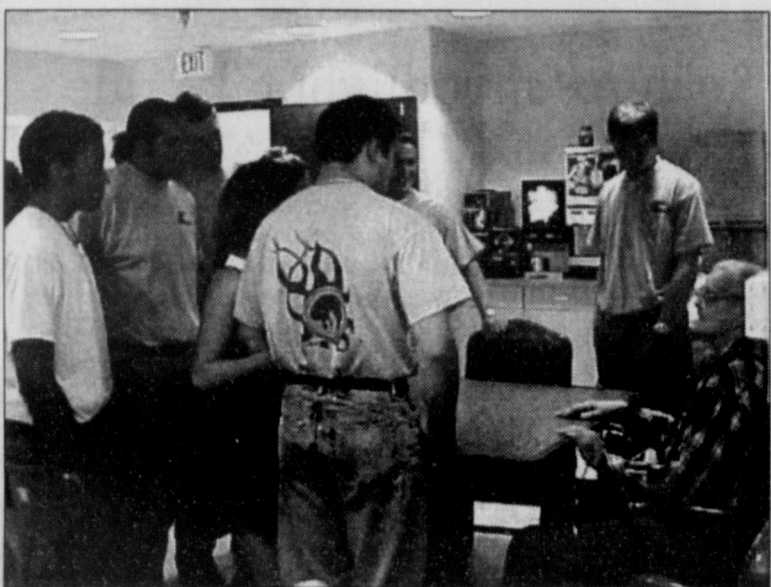

Every year Moe coached high school softball, at least one of his pitchers was either First Team All-

District or District Most Valuable Player/Pitcher.

Moe is an ASA All-American pitcher who began pitching a softball in 1959 while in junior high school. He has pitched in numerous ASA national tournaments and ISC world tournaments in Canada and the US. In July of 2001, Moe's 50 and over fastpitch team won the National Tournament held in Prescott, Arizona. As an instructor and speaker at camps and clinics, Moe is highly qualified in coaching and teaching fastpitch softball.

The cost of the camp is $30 per girl, enrollment is limited. Girls must be 8 to 18 years of age. Pitchers must bring their own catchers. Parents may catch, and they need to bring a bucket. Limited private lessons will be available.

For more information, contact Kevin Cotter at 806-499-3746.

TSSWCB states keeping soil in place keeps water pure, clean

TEMPLE - Pure, clean water is something that many of us take for granted. One way to ensure good water quality is to keep soil from eroding into clean water bodies.

When soil erodes into bodies of water, sediment fills lakes and streams, causing many problems.

One problem caused by a buildup of sediment is flooding. When soil washes into lakes, creeks, and rivers, the water body becomes shallower. When floodwaters wash downstream, the water body is no longer capable of holding the floodwaters within its banks, causing the water to overflow. This overflow of water can be dangerous to lands, animals, and people in its path.

Another problem associated with buildup of sediment in bodies of water is the elimination of fish habitats. Fish require an adequate depth of water in which to live. When sediment fills the bottom of the water body, fish either die or are forced to move to other areas.

Pesticides and excessive nutrients that are attached to the soil particles are also a serious problem. When rains wash soil from crops, golf courses, and residential neighborhoods, fertilizers, and pesticides end up in water bodies, contaminating the water used for recreation and drinking.

To help prevent runoff of soils into water bodies, certain practices may be used. Simple practices such as planting grass and bushes in yards may help prevent runoff into storm drains in residential areas. Farmers and ranchers may use more intense practices to prevent soil erosion into lakes, ponds, rivers, and creeks.

These intensive practices used by farmers and ranchers can be costly when implemented on many acres of land. To aid in these costs, the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board (TSSWCB), along with local Soil and Water Conservation Districts (SWCD) offer cost-share assistance to farmers and ranchers, offering to pay up to 75 percent of costs associated with certain practices.

The practices for which cost-share assistance is offered include:

- Contour Buffer Strips - Strips of land near a body of water that is left with natural vegetation and is not plowed or farmed.
- Critical Area Planting - Grasses, legumes, trees, or shrubs planted to prevent erosion in small, isolated areas.

• Filter Strips - Use grass or other vegetation to filter runoff and remove sediment before it can reach water bodies.

• Grade Stabilization Structures - Concrete, metal, or rock structures that allow water to drop safely to a lower elevation.

• Terraces - Earth bankments around a hillside that stop water flow and either store it or guide it safely off a field.

• Water and Sediment Control Basins - Trap runoff water temporarily and let the sediment settle out before running into a body of water.

For more information on programs or questions concerning the above practices, please contact your local SWCD, the TSSWCB in Temple at 254-773-2250, or visit our website at www.tsswcb.state.tx.us.

Estimated $10 million available to fund Texas AmeriCorps programs

AUSTIN - The Texas Commission on Volunteerism and Community Service (TxCVCS) is currently conducting a grant competition to award an estimated $10 million to new and existing AmeriCorps programs in Texas. The opportunity for organizations in Texas to apply for these grants occurs only once every three years.

TxCVCS expects to provide enough funding to place more than 1,000 individuals in 30 AmeriCorps programs that serve Texas communities. In return, AmeriCorps members receive an education award of up to $4,725 to help pay for college or pay back student loans. To date, more than 12,700 Texas residents have qualified for education awards totaling more than $38,900,000.

AmeriCorps is a national service program that provides an education award and small living stipend to individuals who commit to a year of improving communities through service.

Any organization that wishes to apply for AmeriCorps funding, must submit a mandatory concept paper by October 23, 2002, as part of the proposal process. For a list of current AmeriCorps programs funded by TxCVCS as well as a link to download the application, visit www.txserve.org.

White Deer take Broncs down, 45-15

By Sandy Anderberg

Stacking up 428 total yards and holding Clarendon to only 248, the White Deer Bucks defeated the Broncos 48-15 at Bronco Stadium.

The Broncos talked all week of stopping White Deer's running game, and Coach Roger Hoeltzel was pleased with their effort against the run. White Deer scored in the first quarter of play on a 7-yard pass. Clarendon's only score in the first quarter came from a mishandled punt that gave the Broncos a safety.

The Broncos got on the board again in the second period when senior quarterback Todd Hoeltzel took it to the end zone on a 2-yard run. His kick was good for the extra point.

Coach Hoeltzel felt they did some positive things at times against the Bucks.

"Our offense was very sporadic against White Deer, but we drove the ball down the field right before half time and put it in the end zone," Hoeltzel said. "We felt like the momentum was with us. But then we turned around and let them take it into the end zone with 30 seconds left in the first half."

White Deer took a 19-point lead into the locker room at half time.

Hoeltzel scored another touch down after the break, but the extra point was no good. It would be the last score of the game for the Broncos, and the Bucks went on to score two more times.

"We still need more consistency," Hoeltzel said. "We're killing ourselves with our mistakes. We need to get over the fact that we haven't won and take the positive things we are doing and turn things around for the start of District."

The Broncos begin their District schedule Friday night October 11 against Shamrock at home. The game will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Bronco JV moving up to varsity squad

With only 12 kids on the JV roster, the Broncos stayed tough and never gave up. They fought to the end, but White Deer defeated the Broncos Thursday night at White Deer.

According to coach Roger Hoeltzel, White Deer was a lot bigger than the Broncos, and they had the numbers to physically wear down the Broncos.

"We only had 12 kids," Hoeltzel said. "But they played their hearts out. They just wore us down the second half."

The Broncos were able to move the ball up and down the field against the Bucks, but they just couldn't put it in the end zone. According to Hoeltzel, the Broncos gave White Deer short field position at different times, and that put the Broncos behind.

"We gained a few positive things from the game," Hoeltzel said. "Not having very many kids hurt us, and they were really big kids for a junior varsity squad. There was a big difference in our defense between the first and second half because they just wore us down."

Due to the low numbers as of right now, there will be no more junior varsity games. All JV players will suit out with the varsity on Friday night.

Colts lose to Wheeler

The Colts traveled to Wheeler Thursday night October 3 and were stopped in their tracks by a bigger Mustang team.

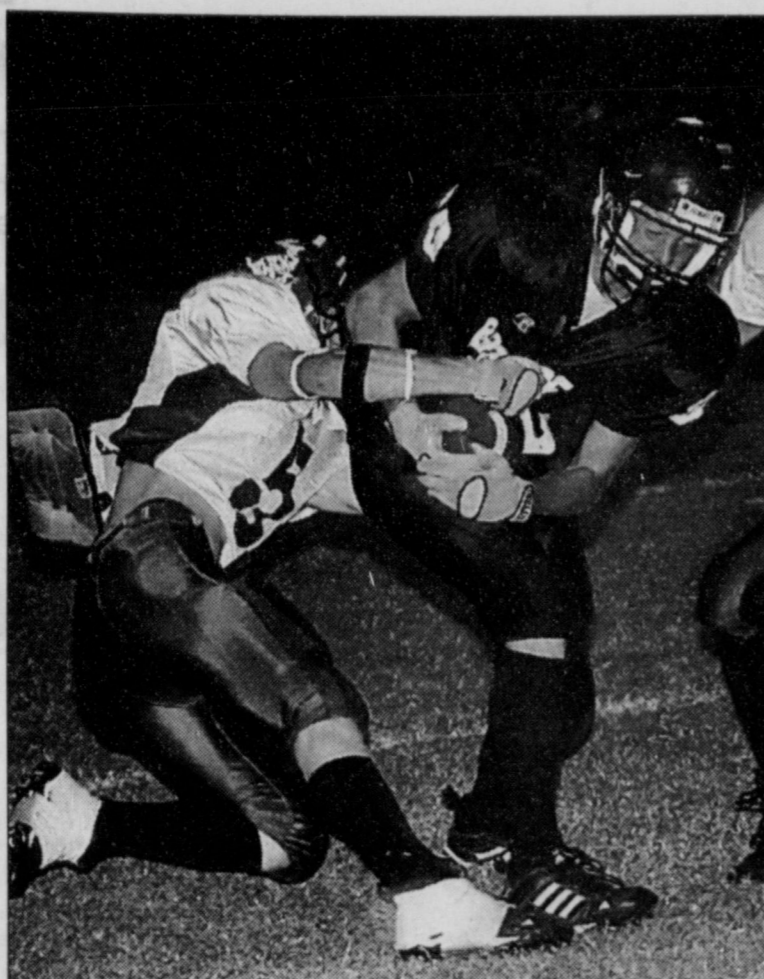

The Colts managed to get into the end zone once on a 15-yard run by Steven Ballard. The extra point failed.

It was all Wheeler for the remainder of the game as the Colts were defeated 44-6.

"We just were outsized," coach Mike Ray said. "We couldn't get anything going."

The Colts will be in action October 10 at Shamrock. The game will begin at 5:00 p.m.

Lady Bulldogs drop conference match

By Sandy Anderberg

Going up against the top teams in the conference was a tough order for the CC Lady Bulldogs. Frank Phillips from Borger is not only the toughest team in the conference, they are currently ranked 19th in the nation.

The Lady Bulldogs played Borger October 1 and lost 17-30, 5-30, and 9-30.

October 4 and 5 the Lady Bulldogs traveled back to Borger to take part in the Cable One Classic Tournament at Frank Phillips.

Friday the Lady Bulldogs faced off against Trinidad Junior College from Trinidad, Colorado. They were defeated 14-30 and 23-30. Next was Seward County Community College from Liberal, Kansas who is currently sitting in the number 8 spot in the nation.

CC was defeated 15-30 and 19-30.

The Lady Bulldogs drew up against Frank Phillips for a third time in five days and fell short once again losing 16-30 and 14-30. In the semi-final match, the Lady Bulldogs played Seward County again and were defeated 12-30 and 15-30.

According to coach Bo Pagliassotti, Windhorst, Texas native Kelcie Newton played excellent volleyball and was rewarded for her outstanding play as she was selected by the other coaches to the first team All-Tournament Team.

"We just really had outstanding play from Kelcie (Newton)," Pagliassotti said. "Only 6 players from the four teams there were elected, and Borger and Seward County are ranked 19th and 8th respectively in the top 20."

The Lady Bulldogs will travel to Plano October 11 and 12 to take part in the Collin County Classic Tournament.

Tuesday, October 15, the Lady Bulldogs will be at home against Midland College. The game will begin at 7:00 p.m.

CHS cross-country teams run at Canadian meet

By Sandy Anderberg

The Lady Broncos competed in the Canadian cross-country meet Saturday, October 5. The team has been preparing for their District Meet, which will take place October 21 on the West Texas A&M campus in Canyon.

"We're looking forward to running in Canyon next week to prepare for our District meet," coach Kathy Barton said. "We'll get a chance to run the course on Saturday to prepare for the meet the 21st."

Results for the Canadian meet is as follows: Varsity - Jessica Hernandez 15th 13:32, Haley Shelton 13:39, Shanna Shelton 15:40, Kristin White 15:41, Claudia Thomas 15:48, Jessie Anderberg 16:02. Junior Varsity - Anndria Kidd 23rd 15:39, Lacey Eads 15:43, Destiny Weatherton 15:

45, Kaitlyn Howard 16:15, Brittney Hall 16:55. Bronco - Brian McFarland 12th 19:00

The Broncos and Lady Broncos will travel to Canyon October 12.

Go Broncos!

Eads wins first place in bass club tourney

The Donley County Bass Club had a tournament this past Saturday. The bass fishing was slow in the early morning. But as it warmed up, around noon, the bass started biting. The tournament ended at 12:30, just as the bass were starting to bite. Three of us caught a bass with just minutes to go before weigh-in. Eddy Eads took First Place and also took Big Bass honors. Kelly Tunnell won Second Place, and I came in Third. The next tournament we have will definitely be in the afternoon.

During the tournament around mid-morning, I decided to try and fish in the Marina cove. What was funny is I saw a two-man bass hunter boat, and guess who was fishing at our lake. Yes, KFDA's own "Doppler" Dave Oliver. I asked him if he was catching anything. He said he had caught a couple of bass. We didn't talk very long, but I did ask him if he fished at Lake Greenbelt often. He said he comes out at least once a week during the summer. Dave also said he catches a lot of fish here. He is really a down-to-earth guy. As far as his weather forecasts, I enjoy watching him. He has a good

Life
By Gary Dziedzic

sense of humor, and he doesn't try to be too technical with his weather. I like his style.

The fishing at Lake Greenbelt has been very good the past couple of weeks. Catfish and sand bass are the best biters right now, but the crappie and walleye are starting to bite good also. Night fishing has been very good.

Fishing Tip of the Week: The sand bass have been blowing up on schools of ghost minnows here at Lake Greenbelt. They have also been hitting very good at Lake Meredith under the schools of shad.

Hunters, may you always be safe and respect the land you love. Fishermen, catch a few fish for supper and release a few fish to ensure another great fishing day. Good luck to all!

If you have any information or comments, please e-mail me at gdol@nts-online.net.

Clarendon JH runners compete in Canadian meet

The Lady Colts participated in the Canadian Cross-Country Meet on Saturday, October 5.

There were 125 runners in the field, and the Lady Colts made a good appearing.

"The girls ran hard," Coach Kathy Barton said. "Just like the varsity, we're preparing for the District meet on October 21st."

Results are as follows: Shelby Watson 14th 13:58, Xenia Buckhaultz 15th 14:02, Haley Carter 14:

46, Jill Cornell 15:28, Kelsea Hoeltzel 16:40, Jessie Perales 17:11, Erin Holland 18:06, Sarah Scrivner 18:16, Heather Broughton 19:00.

Brad Sell and Andrew Thomas finished in 2nd and 8th place respectively and received medals for their efforts. Sell's time was 12:32, and Thomas' ran a 13:40.

The Colts and Lady Colts will compete in the district cross-country meet Monday, October 21, beginning at 3:30 p.m.

THANK YOU

I wish to express my deep appreciation to the people of Hedley for all their kindness shown to me at the death of my daughter, Betty Sue Campbell. To everyone who sent a card, made a call, sent flowers, brought food, or just visited, I can only say thank you. I especially want to thank Nancy Dunn for the gentle care she gave Betty and to Joe and Lucy Poole for their concern and assistance when I needed it most. May God bless each of you.
