So far this year, sales tax collections in Texas cities were lower. Local rebates this month were mixed as Clarendon and Hedley were down, and Howardwick was up.

For the year-to-date, statewide city sales tax rebates are down 1.3 percent compared with 2001.

August sales tax rebates include local sales taxes collected in June and reported to the Comptroller in July.

Community mourns death of Dr. Gilkey

Services were held here Friday for Dr. Richard L. "Rip" Gilkey, a man who had served the people of Donley County as their family doctor for nearly 40 years.

Gilkey died in Amarillo last Wednesday, August 14, 2002, at the age of 72.

During his life, Gilkey was recognized as a public servant and as a gentle man with a healing touch. His colleague, Nurse Anita Thomas, said in a 1996 interview that it was Gilkey's extra touch and the wink of an eye that made him a favorite of the people he treated.

"He is kind and caring, and he knows everybody's family and treats the person as a family member and not just as a statistic," she said.

Gilkey himself looked upon his relationship with those he treated in terms of friendship.

"I don't have patients. I have friends," Gilkey said in a 1996 interview. "I want them to think of me as a friend."

Indeed, that was exactly how the community thought of him. His comments were echoed Friday as the Methodist Church filled with the friends Gilkey had made over the years, and Pastor James Ivey Edwards recalled how each Sunday, Gilkey had greeted him saying, "Hello, my friend."

Former local pastor Terry Tamplen also spoke of the doctor's sense of humor, his love of his family, and his love of learning.

"You can't yearn for yesterday," Gilkey told his interviewer. "You have to stay current with the times."

Gilkey, who was born in Garnett, Kansas, and raised in Topeka, retired in 1996 and reflected on his career with no regrets.

"I'm most proud of the fact that I have been able to be a family practitioner in a small town and [to] practice quality medicine and do the thing I love doing," he said. "I believe I've made a contribution to my community."

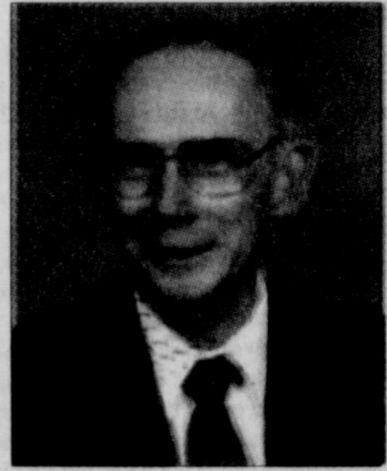

Gilkey also had a record of public service. He was on the Board of Regents of Clarendon College for 22 years and served as its chairman for four years. He served as Clarendon's mayor in the late 1960s and was very active in the First United Methodist Church of Clarendon, where he served as Chairman of the Administrative Board and in many other capacities. One of his favorites was the Kairos Prison Ministries.

In 1997, the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce named Dr. Gilkey recipient of the Saints' Roost Lifetime Achievement Award.

Beyond his devotion to his community and family, he enjoyed piloting airplanes. He served as flight surgeon in the Navy and was assigned to the Marines. He was a member of the Texas Flying Physicians Association, serving as Secretary-Treasurer.

Survivors include his wife, Jane, of 39 years; four children, Melinda McAnear and husband, Ronnie, of Clarendon; Tina Putnam and husband, David, of Austin; Jim Moore and wife, Karen, of Albuquerque, New Mexico; and John Moore and wife, Cathy, of Waxahachie, Texas; nine grandchildren; and three great grandchildren.

Sheriff seeks remedy for deputies' low pay Officers may qualify for welfare

All things being equal, Donley County deputies qualify for welfare, according to the guidelines of the Texas Department of Human Services (TDHS).

Given a hypothetical deputy with two children and a spouse, the $18,680 salary Donley County pays is not enough to keep the family from getting public assistance, said Julie Morris with the local TDHS office.

"He would definitely qualify for food stamps," Morris said, "and depending on the age of the children, they would qualify for Medicaid."

Other factors would have to be looked at to determine eligibility of actual deputies, Morris said. Those items would include if the wife worked and what other sources of income are available. It is possible that a deputy could qualify for more assistance based on individual circumstances.

Morris' comments confirm

"A pat on the back won't feed your kids."

— Sheriff Butch Blackburn

statements made in recent days that sheriff's deputies in Donley County earn "welfare wages," and Sheriff Butch Blackburn wants the problem addressed. He is asking the county to increase his budget to pay three deputies a salary of $24,000 and pay the chief deputy $25,000. He also wants his salary and that of his dispatcher/jailers to be increased.

"I think it's time Donley County gets into the 21st century and realize that law enforcement is a profession," Blackburn said.

The sheriff, who had sought higher salaries last year but was refused, recently returned from a sheriff's association meeting where the disparity with other counties stood out.

"Sheriffs were griping about only being able make $30,000 or $40,000 per year, and I was too embarrassed to tell them what I make. I just had to walk on to another conversation."

As yet, commissioners have made no commitment to raise salaries in the sheriff's department.

Donley County deputies earn approximately $8.98 per hour based on a 40-hour workweek, and dispatcher/jailers earn less than $7 per hour. Both jobs pay overtime and include health insurance, but when payroll tax and retirement deductions are made, deputies take home less than $16,000 annually.

Other jobs around the county which do not involve the risk of life pay more than what deputies receive. Groundskeepers at Clarendon College start at $19,000 to $20,000 plus benefits, and maintenance men with professional licenses earn upwards of $25,000 plus benefits at Clarendon ISD. The sanitation man who drives the trash truck for the City of Clarendon makes more than $19,000 plus benefits.

The maintenance man at the Medical Center Nursing Home earns $11.10 per hour, and Donley County Hospital District Assistant Administrator Holly Eads said the deputies' salaries are unfair.

"Those people need more money," Eads said. "They have critical jobs to perform, and I'd be happy to put in my share."

Dispatcher/jailers are also paid less than other positions which require less responsibility. A beginning janitor at CC earns $7 per hour. A janitor and a cafeteria worker at CISD earn $7 per hour after their first year. The housekeeping supervisor at MCNH earns $7.43 per hour. Most city employees start out at $7 per hour with a 50¢ increase after six months and typically get annual percentage increases.

Blackburn was not surprised by the disparities.

"I think they [the other entities] just care about their employees more, and it shows," he said.

Clarendon officials plan citywide clean up next month

The Clarendon Board of Aldermen last Tuesday moved forward with a plan for a citywide clean up to be held in September.

Dates for the clean up were set for Friday, September 13, and Saturday, September 14, in order to have the town clean for homecoming and the Chuckwagon cookoff the following week.

The aldermen are planning to allow city residents to have free dumping privileges at the recycling center during the clean up. A water bill will have to be shown to get the privilege.

The board is also considering allowing city personnel to help pick up and haul loads of trash on September 13. No action was taken, however, and this issue will be taken up again at the next regular meeting.

In other city business, Donna Hicks gave the annual report for the Local Housing Authority and asked the city to do something about the trash and debris in the 200 block of N. Jefferson Street. Eyesores at that location and on N. Sully Street make it difficult to find renters for the apartments in those neighborhoods.

The board agreed to send a letter to those residents to be followed up by a letter from the city attorney if the property is not cleaned within 10 days.

Theresa Shelton addressed the board on behalf of the Bronco Boosters and asked for permission to paint horseshoes or hoof prints on Bugbee Avenue and asked for the city to declare Fridays as Bronco Days to help promote school spirit. The board agreed to both requests.

Sheriff Butch Blackburn spoke on the city's contract with the county for police protection. Blackburn proposed increasing the contract from $100,000 to $120,000 with the same services or increasing to $140,000 with enforcement of city ordinances and all Class C or lesser misdemeanors being filed in municipal court.

Blackburn said he was trying to raise his deputies salaries and said his department has four officers with advanced certificates. He is the fourth lowest paid sheriff in the State of Texas.

The board took no action on the contract until the 2002-2003 budget could be prepared. Alderman Janice Knorpp expressed concern that the existing contract already calls for ordinance enforcement.

The board accepted a bid for a new trash truck from Amarillo Truck Center in the amount of $92,652 at 4.5 percent financing and also accepted a bid for a new backhoe from John Deere in the amount of $42,626.

Proposals for engineer services were considered for the 2003-2004 TCDP grant program, and the board voted to go with Brandt Engineering of Amarillo.

The drug and alcohol policy for city employees was discussed. Board consultant Colby Waters will check on the policies of other cities.

The 2002-2003 budget was discussed, but no action was taken. The tax rate for the coming fiscal year was also tabled.

Safety programs are reducing gun accidents

By James Dark

The recent study released by the David and Lucille Packard Foundation stating that gun safety programs have done little to reduce the toll of 20,000 children killed or injured every year in the United States is a classic case of looking only in the most superficial manner at a problem and its likely solution. However, you can bet that the authors who prepared the study would not be interested in giving an appropriate look at the facts since the resulting information would not fit their pre-determined conclusions.

The gun safety programs used in the United States, including the NRA's Eddie Eagle program, are designed to keep guns out of the hands of children. Its focus is on children of elementary school age. It is designed to teach that a gun is not a toy and for children to notify an adult if one is found. It is funded by the National Rifle Association and is widely used by law enforcement agencies across the United States.

Primarily it is designed to prevent accidental shootings by children playing with firearms.

According to the academics working for the Packards, this program is not effective. However, recent studies by the Center for Disease Control and Prevention show a dramatic decrease in non-fatal firearms related injuries for all age categories for children and adolescents, with a similar decrease in accidental firearms fatalities. These numbers have reached an all-time low in 2000. Six hundred accidental firearms deaths (of all age groups) in 2000 is a 25 percent drop since 1999, 58 percent drop since 1990, and the lowest raw number of fatalities since records began being kept in 1903.

The Packard Foundation used a variety of statistical trickery to make its case. To show the largest number of injuries possible, it used "firearms related" injuries, which includes a wide variety of injuries other than gunshot wounds. Included in this category are gunpowder burns, recoil injuries, and even getting pistol-whipped.

But most important of all, it relied on the oldest trick in the book used by those calling for safety to our "children."

It came up with an odd definition of "child." In its cry for action, the Packards cited that "Each year, more than 20,000 children and youth under age 20 are killed and injured by firearms in the United States." Children? Under 20? Am I the only one who sees something wrong with this picture?

The largest part of the problem is firearms that are used for crimes of violence by our "children." According to the Packards, those 20-year old gang-bangers, drug dealers, thieves, and murderers are our "children." I agree that they are some mother's child, but they darn sure aren't one of mine. Our laws specify an age at which a person can be tried as an adult. Too bad our statisticians aren't aware of this.

The Packards aren't the kind to complain without offering a solution. They think that programs should be offered to change the behavior of parents. On the surface, it sounds great until you read the detail about what they think will help.

They want to create "Safety Regulations" on the sale, manufacture, and design of firearms. In the detail of their proposal, you will see that the call is really for more oversight of dealers, tracking private gun sales, licensing gun owners, and conducting the registration of all firearms. It's just the same old call for gun control, bundled up in a neat little package to protect our "children."

They want to pass laws compelling parents to take responsibility to protect children from firearms. Perhaps they are unaware that Texas already has had such a law on the books for several years.

Interestingly, they call for law enforcement and community-based programs to teach our "children" that gun violence is not acceptable. This program would identify "at-risk" youths and connect them with services before they turn bad. This doesn't sound like a bad idea and should be looked into.

What is abundantly clear is that the measures being called for by the Packards to control firearms will only end up affecting law-abiding citizens, not the criminals who are the root of the problem. The "children," and other criminals, who are committing these crimes will continue to get their firearms from their traditional sources. They will steal them. New rules on dealers, private transfer, registration, or licensing will have no effect, for the simple reason that these people don't follow laws in the first place. That's why they're called "criminals."

But what is most interesting is that real, appropriately analyzed unspun statistics prove that accidental death rates by firearms have never been lower. They have dropped precipitously in the last decade. The one major change that has occurred in that decade is that the United States' gun manufacturers have poured millions of dollars into safety programs (most of them not mandated by law) to make firearms safer.

And it has worked. It is very ironic. The programs being pursued in the United States to stop accidental deaths by firearms are proving to be dramatically effective.

And that's the one thing that the Packards call "ineffective."

Backwards pill rushes arrival of new baby

Life has blessed us with another little girl. Little Elizabeth Whitten Ross made her debut June 22, and getting her here reads like a bad sitcom storyline!

Since I had numerous pre-labor symptoms, my wonderful Doc agreed to give me the magic induction pill two days before my due date. He gave me one-half of the aspirin-shaped tablet and simply instructed me to take it in the middle of the night at roughly the same time I made one of my gestational bathroom breaks. And of course, I thought, "Well how easy is this!"

The pill worked and off we went to the hospital the next morning. My contractions were good, but that was about it. The doctor advised the nurse to give me the other half of the tablet to progress the situation.

In walked the nurse to my room and instructed me to take the pill. I simply asked for a glass of water to help wash it down; and by the nurse's reaction, you would have thought I asked for a gin and tonic (which would have been much appreciated).

"Why do you need water," the nurse asked.

"Well," I said in a sarcastic tone that only a woman in pain can use, "I need something to help me wash this pill down."

I knew something was wrong. The nurse immediately summoned her fellow nurses into the room and began talking in a little huddle.

"Excuse me, do we have to have a committee meeting to decide on getting me a glass of water," I asked.

The charge nurse replied, "Honey, you on the Mark

with Christi Ross

don't need a glass of water with this pill. It goes somewhere else!"

For the record, I am officially the first known woman at that hospital to take the labor-inducing suppository orally. They were concerned and surprised that it worked.

I'm not sure what other internal organs it induced, but it did its job. And, I would rather take it my way any day!

Labor progressed quickly; and less than a couple of hours later, I told the nurses that they better call the doctor.

I think I said something dumb like, "The bun is done, so let's get her out of the oven." Phrases like that sound really cool when you are drugged up on strong painkillers. However, with any sobering-up process, you think back the following day and say to yourself, "I said what?" and "I did what?" It's almost like having a flashback to all of those nights in college!

My wonderful spouse helped me when he could. He had spent most of the day watching television, alternating between Bill Dance's TNN hunting and fishing program and golf. His viewpoint was, "Hey I got you here, and now you finish the home-stretch."

So, while I was trying to birth this baby, my husband watched Wheel of Fortune. There's nothing like someone yelling out the answer to the puzzle while I'm yelling for the nurse to get the doctor! And before Ryan could answer the final puzzle, Elizabeth graced us with her presence.

Miss Elizabeth surprised everyone by turning at the last moment and coming feet first. I've heard old wives tales about breech babies and hope they are wrong. Supposedly, a baby born this way turns into an adult who always 'jumps in feet first'. If that is the case, it makes me wonder what the saying is for our first child, who was born sunny-side up! Personally, my husband and I must have directionally-challenged children who can't see the light at the end of the tunnel.

A new baby, especially a healthy one, is a true blessing. Family and friends shared in our joy a few hours later. Elizabeth was first greeted by her big sister, Kate. Nearly four-years-old, Kate cautiously approached her new baby sister and then asked to sit in the hospital bed with me. She took turns staring at the baby and then at my remaining belly bulge. After several minutes of this, she innocently looked into my eyes and said, "We just got one baby?"

Nothing like a little kid expressing their true feelings. I explained that Mommy had some residual baby fat and that it would go away. But, that answer wasn't good enough.

"Are you sure Mommy that there isn't another baby in there? I think maybe they missed one," Kate said.

I don't think a Hollywood scriptwriter could have come up with a better sitcom ending for an exciting event such as this.

"I WAS ALL FOR PRESIDENT BUSH'S SCHOOL CHOICE PLAN UNTIL MY MOM TOLD ME THAT NOT ATTENDING WASN'T ONE OF THE CHOICES..."

Punish corporate greed to restore economic trust

In the summer of 1996, Congress passed a landmark piece of legislation that reformed the Nation's welfare laws and system. Among other things, this bill put time limits and work requirements on those Americans who collect a welfare check from the federal government. The intent was to put some accountability into the system and instill a sense of responsibility into welfare recipients' lives.

Six years later, the words accountability and responsibility are being heard again. But this time, the words are not being used to describe those who are trying to make ends meet and are looking to the federal government for help. In the summer of 2002, the words accountability and responsibility are instead being applied to those on the other end of the income spectrum - those CEOs and corporate bosses who, through accounting gimmicks and other distortions of the truth, have cheated the system and taken thousands of people for a ride.

By now, the story is all too familiar - a high-flying company that by the end of the 1990s was reporting record profits declares, seemingly out of the blue, that those profits were not a record after all and, in fact, may have been quite a bit lower than originally reported. The company CEO blames the accountants, and the accountants blame the CEO. Suddenly, a company that had once been everyone's favorite on the stock market finds itself on the verge of collapse, and the company's employees who had been planning for an early retirement now find themselves out of a job.

In response, hearings are underway in Capitol Hill looking into the collapse of Enron and WorldCom. There's talk Martha issue Update

with Rep. Mac Thornberry

Stewart may be subpoenaed as well. Congress also passed - and President Bush signed into law - a corporate accountability bill. Among other things, this new law will crack down on crooked financial reporting and increase the penalties for fraud, shredding, and lying. The President has also announced the establishment of a new Corporate Fraud Task Force to investigate and prosecute criminal activity and has called for "a new ethic of personal responsibility in the business community; an ethic that will increase investor confidence, will make employees proud of their companies, and again, regain the trust of the American people."

When you come down to it, that is what's really at stake here - trust. For the average person, who relies on the information a company provides them and has more money invested in the stock market than at any other time in our Nation's history, trust is the capital on which their investment decisions depend. It is critical that we do all we can to make sure that this trust and confidence is restored. If a corporate CEO or high-paid accountant lied to the public, they should be prosecuted and sent to jail. There can be no double standard that lets this kind of greed and these kinds of crimes go unpunished.

Accountability and responsibility matter in America and apply to all Americans. On these principles, our economy depends. Guided by these principles, our economy will continue to grow.

The county is considering enacting a special debt reduction tax which would bring in money to pay for the courthouse renovation notes and would free up money in the general fund for other priorities. But there is no indication that that extra money would be used for salary increases in the sheriff's department.

County officials say they are waiting to see if the City of Clarendon will be willing to increase the amount they pay for police protection before they consider setting the sheriff's budget. The current contract between the city and the county is $100,000. Blackburn presented two proposals to Clarendon Aldermen last week - one calling for a $20,000 increase and another with a $40,000 increase but with increased services. No indication has been given that the county would consider matching either increase.

An Amarillo Globe-News report on Tuesday said Armstrong, Carson, and Gray counties pay deputies $25,000 or more. Briscoe County pays $21,000, and Collingsworth and Wheeler counties pay about $19,000. Blackburn said $24,000 is the average for deputies in counties with populations similar to Donley.

Blackburn says he understands the position commissioners are in with the budget, but he said good intentions and warm comments are not enough to help his officers.

"That pat on your back doesn't feed your kids. 'We wish we could do something' doesn't pay your bills."

Hedley will hold chicken barbecue

The Hedley Lions Club invites everyone to their annual Community Chicken Barbecue at 7:00 p.m. at the Hedley School Park on Thursday, August 29.

Chickens can be purchased at Moffitt Hardware in Hedley or at Paymaster Gin at Lelia Lake for $1.50 each. Everyone is invited.

Girls Scouts plan social

The local Girl Scouts are inviting all girls ages 5-18 to a mother-daughter ice cream social on Sunday, August 25 from 3:30 - 4:30 p.m.

The girls will be meeting at City Park for ice cream sundaes and a good time singing songs, and they ask others to come join the fun.

West Nile Virus cases confirmed in Panhandle

The Texas Department of Health has confirmed that four horses have been diagnosed with West Nile Virus infection in four counties in the Texas Panhandle and South Plains region.

Based on information provided by the owners or veterinarians, the horses had all been in their respective locations long enough to have become infected locally.

The horses were located in the following counties: Briscoe, Floyd, Swisher, and Deaf Smith. Three of the horses appear to be recovering, while the fourth was euthanized.

Horse owners may wish to contact their veterinarians to discuss vaccination of their horses against the disease. Everyone is encouraged to eliminate mosquito breeding areas such as standing water, buckets, flower pots, or tires that may have accumulated water in them. Also, insect repellent with DEET should be utilized to reduce the risk of being bitten by a mosquito. Wearing a long-sleeved shirt and long pants is recommended, especially in the time when mosquitoes are most likely to feed, such as dawn and dusk.

Anyone finding sick or dead blue jays or crows is asked to contact their local health department or county agent regarding shipping of the birds for testing.

CC regents review drawings for new campus fitness center

The Clarendon College Board of Regents reviewed preliminary drawings for a new fitness center during their regular meeting last Thursday.

Plans call for the old vo-tech building to be renovated at a cost of $25,000 for use as a facility available to college athletes, students, faculty, and staff. CC President Myles Shelton said consideration is also being given as to how best to make the center open to the public as well.

The fitness center will include a weight room, cardio exercise room, an aerobics area, and a training room. Work on the building will be done by college maintenance personnel, and the center may be open as soon as this November, Shelton said.

In other business, the regents approved a $4.93 million budget for the CC District. The general and education budget for 2002-2003 is $3.9 million, and the auxiliary budget is $1.03 million. Local ad valorem taxes account for only $269,000 of CC's revenue.

The board approved purchasing new chairs for the Ranch Operations and Vocational Nursing programs as well as for the science labs and the teleconference room.

The board authorized the college comptroller to serve as the second investment officer for CC. The president's assistant serves as the other investment officer.

Policy and personnel manuals, student handbooks and the catalog were approved for the 2002-2003 year.

Monica Lewis was hired for the custodian/housekeeper position, and administrative reports were given by Shelton, Dean of Instruction Tex Buckhaults, Dean of Students Joel Zehr, and CC Pampa Center Dean Joe Kyle Reeve.

Clarendon turns out to support Thornberry

This past Sunday evening, local folks gathered out at the beautiful ranch home of Bill and Betty Ann Sansing north of town for a dinner honoring US Congressman Mac Thornberry. Not only did Clarendon virtually empty out for the event, but folks also came from Amarillo, Claude, Wellington and parts beyond. With several new counties added to his district, Mac (if I call his mother Tookie, I just can't bring myself to call the son Mr. Thornberry...) is busy getting acquainted with the new areas and visiting with all the home folks as well.

It was a lovely evening, a little breezy, but with that big wrap-around porch, people could find a spot with as much or as little wind as they wanted. The Sansings' dogs seemed a bit bewildered by all the company, but otherwise, a good time was had by all with a great barbecue dinner catered by Bar H. We met some nice Amarillo folks, Dr. Scott Bass and his wife Ashley, who bought some land from Don and Tookie Thornberry so they can come out and relax when the big city gets too overwhelming. That makes them at the very least honorary Clarendonians.

All the other usual suspects were there - Chuck and Frances Deyhle, Willard and Frances Skelton, Ruth and Joe Robinson, Monty and Melody Hysinger, a whole slew of Estacks, a couple of Knorpps, some Walkers and Blackerbys and Bells and bunches of Sheltons (none of us kin) and of course Thornberrys up to there. I feel as if I could almost list off the whole phone directory to Clarendon, and I might manage to name everyone I saw there. (Manns and Lowes and Trouts and Words and...) It was a great evening in a great location.

And, at last, the moment has come. School is officially underway.

around Town
By Gail Shelton
CLARENDON • 874-9186

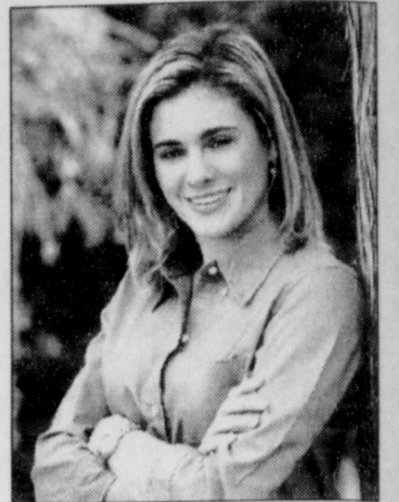

It began Tuesday morning when hundreds of children all over Clarendon and out into the county got out of bed at ridiculously early hours of the morning - at least compared to the time they got up all summer - and put on their new school clothes and trekked off the school. Mothers all across the county are sighing in relief.

Of course in the days and hours before school started, students were calling each other in a panic to see if they'd read the summer assignment books and what the books might have said. The first day or two will tell the tale.

The High School kick-off at Thunder Junction was cancelled for the second time. The first time it was too darn cold on that freakish chilly Tuesday last week - 60 degrees in August! What's that about? And the second time, the wind had risen and clouds gathered to lightning way off south of town. It would be nice to get a little rain out of all this lightning.

But the Youth Back-To-School Rally at the Downtown Ministry Center will take place on schedule, rain or shine because it's inside, this coming Friday night around seven. Then Sunday night at six is the back-to-school Teacher Appreciation Ice Cream Social at First Baptist - teachers and administrators of Clarendon ISD and Clarendon College are all invited to partake of homemade ice cream and other goodies on the front lawn. Then the next Tuesday is the Ice Cream Social at the college sponsored by all the Clarendon churches. I do love all these back-to-school events... See you there.

Brittany Pozzi

Pozzi claims high school rodeo title

Brittany Pozzi of Victoria with her horse Leroy received first place in barrel racing at the National High School Finals Rodeo recently.

Pozzi, 18, is the daughter of Randy and Denise Pozzi of Victoria and the granddaughter of Ann and John Wayne Stepp of Clarendon.

Pozzi also competes in Cowboy Professional Rodeo Association rodeos, where she currently is in fifth place in the barrel standings and is leading the rookie race. She will continue her rodeo career at Texas A&M University on their rodeo team this fall.

VFW Ladies Auxiliary holds regular meeting

The VFW Ladies Auxiliary met in July and August to discuss business.

A meeting on July 4 turned out to be a great day as the rains came, and the activity kept on happening. The rain did not keep the VFW and VFW Ladies Auxiliary from entering their float in the parade.

A motion was made and seconded to have a garage sale as a fundraiser. Watch for the date and time.

The president discussed the need for an Investigating Committee. She asked for two volunteers. Juanita Meador and Ann Bunyan volunteered to serve with one member from the VFW.

Discussion was held about the VFW Ladies Auxiliary having their meetings on the second Tuesday of each month at 3:30 p.m. and a joint meeting of the VFW and VFW Ladies Auxiliary every fourth month with a covered dish meal. After some discussion, it was tabled until next meeting.

They are delighted to report that their president, Carol Holden, of the local auxiliary is also president of the District Nine. Those attending her first meeting in Amarillo at Post 1475 were Ann Bunyan, Wanda Dromgoole, Sherry York, Jaunita Meador, Dale Powers, Bill Holden, and Jimmy Swinney. They encourage all members to attend local and district meetings and support Carol.

Plans are being made to hand out Poppies on September 11, 2003.

Their next meeting will be held September 10, 2002, at 6:00 p.m.

Quail native cited for Texas Extension career

White, a native of Quail, was cited for "a distinguished career of dedicated leadership in building county, state, and national collaborations; developing effective curricula to move families from welfare to work; and increasing family financial security among Texans."

Aside from her career with Texas Cooperative Extension, White and her husband David are co-owners of Industrial Fire World, an internationally known trade magazine for industrial firefighters.

Senior Citizens travel to musical

By Vida O'Neal

We had 31 people to go to Fritch to see "Lone Star Rising" on Friday evening. The evening was beautiful, the barbecue was good, and the show was very entertaining.

Paulette Kidd, Onita Thomas, and Danny Hill drove the group, and the First Baptist Church allowed us to use their van for transportation. I think everyone had a wonderful time.

Our birthday/anniversary supper will be held on August 27, at 6 p.m. Bring a dish and enjoy our meal and entertainment. Our entertainment will be singing by Bill and Jewel Houston. Everyone mark your calendars and come join us for a fun evening.

Just a reminder of our weekly activities: Monday - dance club; Tuesday - game night except for the last Tuesday night of each month, which is the birthday/anniversary supper; Monday, Wednesday, and Friday morning - stretching exercises, exercise daily with Marie at 11 a.m., dominoes after lunch most days; Thursday evenings - water aerobics, monthly nutrition programs, and occasional classes and programs. We invite all the community folks to come join us. You do not have to be a senior citizen to come to our meals, activities, and programs. Everyone is welcome. We serve lunch daily, Monday through Friday, from 11:30 to 12:30.

We send get-well wishes to Louise Riley, Harvey and June Price, Donnie Hall, and Gene Elmore. Our condolences to the families of R.L. Gilkey, Johnnie Strickland (Eva Lee Swinney's mother), and Buddy Malone (Judy Hodges' father).

Reminders:
Aug. 26 - Dance Club, 7 p.m.
Aug. 22, 29 - Water aerobics
Aug. 17 - Birthday/anniversary supper, 6 p.m.

Get your chickens now for Hedley Chicken BBQ

It's still hot and dry. We did have a cold front pass through last week; and it cooled things off for a day or two, but the heat has returned with force.

I water the flowers every day and sometimes twice a day. On the days I'm home, I water them in the morning as well as evening. The morning glories are flourishing, climbing up on the fence, and running across the ground if I don't train the runners to grow around the vines upwards.

There are morning glories growing on the stairs on the Methodist Church and beside the ramp. They are so pretty and smell so sweet.

I have one lonely zennia and some sort of ground cover. I don't know what it is called, but it is green, and that's what counts... that it's green.

I do have some poke salad and what Keith called Mare's Tail, but he said they grow wild in the pasture.

Dora Brown gave me a pot of rose moss, and Louise gave me a basket of fern. I don't know if they will live, or if I'll kill them.

Johnny Hill of Amarillo and Vanessa Bell of Lubbock enjoyed lunch with the Senior Citizens one day last week. I didn't recognize Johnny. I hadn't seen him in a long time, and he's gained weight. Vanessa graduated from high school with my son, Leon, but she had to tell me who she was also. She mentioned her children and said they were 24 and 22 years old. It seems as if she should be younger than that. I've said many times that children grow up too quickly.

Bill and Juanel Carson attended a performance of "Lone Star Rising" last week. Their daughter, Susan Cosby, came and went with them.

Ricky and Lori Nutt, along with their daughters Lishia and Sophie, spent the weekend with his mother, Grace Burkhalter, and grandmother, Juanita Brown. The Nutts live in Oklahoma City.

Jerry and Buford Holland enjoyed a short visit with two of their grandchildren lately. Rhett Holland

Library has one of Panhandle's best kids' collections

I continue to marvel at the quality of Burton Memorial Library's Youth Library, one of the best of its size in the Panhandle.

Teachers: I personally know how busy you've been with preparation for another challenging year with great students. I remember the uplifting experience in sharing anticipation with each individual student. What an exciting time for all! After your routine is established, Burton Memorial Library hopes you will include its assistance with classroom needs.

I'm impressed with several appealing series to spark special interest in Science and Social Study areas. That interest can be "sparked" in grade levels K-6 from the same book. That's right! Unusual, isn't it? The books, containing a wealth of information, can serve as a basis for extended research for grades 4-6. Grades 2 and 3 will enjoy reading many for themselves, but will need guidance with others. Loaded with attractive photographs, books will delight K-1 students with teacher-simplified information on their level.

Each of a 10-book Wonders of the World series includes fascinating information concerning nature's extravaganzas. Volcanoes, deserts, caves, earthquakes, and six other amazing natural elements are vividly narrated with intriguing illustrations. The books contain similar formats describing location, history, causes, types, life and habitats, comments on future possibilities, glossary, and index.

Stephen Savage presents a charming and informative series, Adaptation for Survival. Individual books are entitled Noses, Eyes, Ears, Mouths, Skin, Hands, and Feet. They emphasize the initial sense on which certain animals depend to detect danger, food, and other things which may possibly surprise readers. At each book's conclusion after the glossary, are other suggested references and "further notes" concerning the same senses in humans.

Each Science Discovery series book by Ian McKenzie tells story of important scientific advances that have changed the came from Amarillo, and Lisa Hill came from San Antonio. Mark, Stephanie, Jordy, and Taylor came from Amarillo. On Sunday, their daughter and son-in-law, Gail and Johnny Hill, came from Clarendon to have lunch with them.

The Hedley Lions Club will host the Community Chicken Barbecue on Thursday, August 29. You can buy your chickens at Moffitt Hardware or at Carson's as it is called now. I guess I and other people will always call it Hobart's. As I tell Jewel Quisenberry, "Old habits die hard."

Anyway, whatever you call it, that's where you can buy your chickens.

I have a problem. Louise Farley's car broke down one day last week, and I had to walk about a mile to call Keith for help. I had taken my phone out of my bag to charge it and forgot to put it back. I walked to Ed Monroe's fruit stand to use a phone. Fortunately, Keith was close to home and came, looked at it, and called Louise's son, Steve; and he came and took her to Memphis. Keith and Rance took me home.

I thought I'd drop before I got to the fruit stand. Nice friends have filled in to take me to my treatments. Lacy Wallendorf took me twice, and Martha Lowe took me once. Keith and Karen have taken me the rest of the times.

I go for dialysis on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. I have to be there by 8:30, and the treatment last about three hours. I'm usually finished by noon.

If anyone knows of someone who has nothing to do on those mornings, please let me know. My number is on the head of the column.

Our condolences to Lon Adams and his family on the loss of his grandfather, Aaron Carthel, of Floydada.

world in electricity, genetics, communication, optics, and more. One of these books, The History of Criminal Investigation, traces the development of modern investigating from ancient Babylon 4000 years ago to new techniques.

Through all advanced technology, I hope we still take time to instill love and respect for history of our country. What better place to start with First Americans? Author Bill Lund's Native Peoples series, predominately written on second and third grade levels, introduces students to various Indian tribes. Each includes maps, fast facts, culture and practices, a legend of each particular tribe, an Indian game, words to know, additional references, addresses, internet sites, and index. Internet sites will also benefit older age groups.

The Cowboy and the Black-Eyed Pea, cleverly written by Tony Johnston, is a western version of the well-known fairytale, The Princess and the Pea. Just as the pea identifies the true princess, the black-eyed pea reveals the true cowboy. Colorful, western language combined with Warren Ludwig's outstanding illustrations humorously depicts characters.

Disney Wonderful World of Knowledge volumes cover everything from skyscrapers to insects. And what could entice young students more than Sesame Street Treasury series featuring Jim Henson's Muppets, which offers better insight to letters and numbers?

Please remember Burton Memorial Library invites you and your students for field trips at your convenience. Carolyn and Jerri are eager to provide helpful orientation during your visit. The field trips were always a highlight for my fifth grade students, and the orientations made later research projects so much easier for them.

Clarendon Lions Club held their regular Tuesday noon meeting August 20 with Boss Lion Myles Shelton conducting the meeting.

We had twelve members and three guests. Our guests were Russell and Scarlet Estlack, guests of Lion Allen Estlack; and Peg Baker, service unit manager for the local Girl Scouts, guest of Lion Denise Bertrand.

Four hundred and ninety students were enrolled on the first day of school. There should be a few more. On Thursday, the Broncos will scrimmage Stratford at 4:00 p.m. at Dick Bivens Stadium.

College starts classes on Wednesday, August 28. They hope to start the new dorm building in October. The old vo-tech building is to be changed into a physical fitness center. The equine center hopes to be under construction in October. There are plans to build a softball field this year.

Denise Bertrand brought the program about the Girls Scouts. The first thing thought of when Girl Scouts is mentioned is cookies followed by camping. Now the Girls Scouts are being asked to provide character building. They are being asked to come into schools and present their program or get it started so the local people can run the program.

There being no further business, we were adjourned.

Banish the brown bag blues this year

The lunch-packing season is upon us. And of course it needs to be a balanced lunch that the kids will actually eat! If that sounds like a tall order, here are some great suggestions to jumpstart the lunch-packing season.

Instead of cutting up sandwiches into easy-to-pick-up shapes, try using cookie cutters in your kids' favorite shapes to make basic sandwiches seem special. And for holidays, try holiday themes for an extra festive lunch. For Thanksgiving, try a turkey; for Halloween, use a pumpkin; and so on. Dress up cheese and crackers by cutting it with a heart shaped cookie cutter. Kids love the special touch. Another lunch favorite idea is using tortillas to make sandwiches as an alternative to regular bread. I have discovered that using whole wheat tortillas adds healthy fiber to the meal.

Most kids love chips as a "side" for lunches, but I really like having a healthier alternative to regular potato chips. Vegetable chips, bagel chips, and pita chips are good alternatives, and they come in lots of great flavors.

Like me, you probably have a drawer full of condiment packets from fast food or take-out restaurants. Try tossing these in your kids' lunch bags to give a flavor kick to sandwiches.

Reduce Waste - and Lost Containers

Use margarine tubs or clean yogurt cups as disposable containers, so kids don't need to remember to bring the containers home from school. They're also perfect to keep things from getting squashed in the bottom of the bag, such as chips or cut up melon.

With the weather still so warm, here are a few ideas on keeping lunches cool. Small, lightweight (and inexpensive) insulated totes with shoulder straps are available at many grocery and discount stores; you can also purchase small gel packs to keep in the freezer and pack with lunch to keep food cold. Another option is a double baggie of ice cubes to keep foods fresh and cool. This has the advantage of being something the kids can just toss out. Make food items do double duty! A bag of frozen grapes or blueberries are a healthy addition to any lunch and can keep other foods cool. Freeze bread for sandwiches (works best with bread that's not just-baked/very fresh), spread on fixings, and bag. The sandwich will thaw by lunchtime, and the frozen bread will keep other ingredients cool. Freeze juice boxes, or freeze your own juice or yogurt in a container. You'll save money and keep lunch cool.

Happy packing for the school year!!

He was on the Board of Regents of Clarendon College for 22 years and served as president for four years. He also served as mayor for twelve years and was very active in the First United Methodist Church of Clarendon, where he served as Chairman of the Administrative Board and in many other capacities. One of his favorites was the Kairos Prison Ministries.

Beyond his devotion to his family, he enjoyed the passion of piloting airplanes. He served as a flight surgeon in the Navy and was assigned to the Marines. He also was a member of the Texas Flying Physicians Association, serving as Secretary-Treasurer.

Survivors include his wife, Jane,

Elam joins Clarendon High School coaching staff

By Sandy Anderberg

Amarillo native Brad Elam has joined the ranks of the Clarendon Bronco coaching staff.

Elam comes from a 4-year term at Hart, where he worked as an assistant to former Clarendon coach Carl Irlbeck.

A 1997 graduate from West Texas A&M, Elam worked at Hart until he came to Clarendon this year. During his time at Hart, he was in a very successful program. Hart made the play offs, winning their Bi-District game in basketball. Their track and cross-country teams were also successful by winning area and state competitions.

Coach Elam is ready to continue his winning ways at CHS. He feels the Broncos' chance of a play off appearance is very possible.

"We have a good chance to get to the playoffs," Elam said. "We have the talent, and the playing field has been leveled for us now that we're IA."

Also the head baseball coach, Elam is doing something he has wanted to do for some time.

"I've always wanted to be a head baseball coach. I want to build a program and see it through."

Elam will be coaching a team that is only in its third year at CHS. The baseball program has been successful and, according to Elam, will continue on that path.

"We love it here," Elam said. "It's refreshing to come here. It's a good change for us."

Elam's wife Adelita is the junior high computer teacher. They have two-year old twin boys, Noab and Preston.

CHS would like to welcome Brad and Adelita to our school and community.

Bell fills role of assistant coach

By Sandy Anderberg

Elementary physical education teacher Kasey Bell will have a full load this year as she has accepted the job of assistant Lady Bronco basketball coach. She will be working under head Lady Bronco coach Kathy Barton.

Basketball comes very easily to Bell as she played on the Small College National Champion Lady Bulldog team from Clarendon College in 1997. Her knowledge and skill for the game will definitely be an asset to the Lady Bronco program.

Bell was raised in Roaring Springs and graduated in 1997 from Matador High School. After receiving her Associate's Degree from Clarendon College in 1998, Bell went on to earn her Bachelor's Degree at West Texas A&M in 2001.

According to Bell, she is very excited to have the opportunity to help with the Lady Bronco program.

"I'm excited about the new position," said Bell. "It will be a busy time for me as I'll continue my job as Elementary P.E. teacher. But I'm looking forward to it."

Bell and her husband Jackie, who is finishing up an Agricultural Degree at WT, live in Clarendon.

"We enjoy living here," Bell said. "The people have been really nice and very helpful."

Bronco scrimmage

The Clarendon Broncos worked out in a three-way scrimmage with Crowell and Sunray last Saturday. The Maroon Magic will scrimmage Stratford this Thursday in Dick Bivins Stadium before beginning the regular season next week.

Schafer to compete in Legion World Series

Jeff Schafer, a senior at Hamilton High School in Hamilton, Mississippi, was a member of the team that won the Mid-South Region Baseball Championship Game held Monday in Kansas City.

His team will compete in the American Legion World Series which will begin Friday in Danville, Virginia.

Schafer is the pitcher for the team and played in five games to win the championship game. In the game against the Texas team, Schafer pitched for nine innings and threw 94 pitches during the game to win the game 5-3.

Eight teams from around the US will compete for the top title.

Schafer is the son of Jan and Berry Schafer of Hamilton, Mississippi, and the grandson of Ernest and Roxie Barbee of Clarendon.

Tickets now available for football season

Clarendon ISD has announced the selling of reserved seating for the 2002-2003 football season.

The cost of each football reserved seating is $25. This price allows admission into five regular season home games and reserves your seat in the prime location.

Tickets can only be purchased at the Clarendon CISD Administration Building located at 416 South Allen Street.

Boys Ranch plans rodeo next week

Amber Giordano, a four-year resident of Cal Farley's Boys Ranch, is looking forward to competing in the 58th annual Boys Ranch Rodeo August 31-September 1.

Giordano and many other boys and girls are practicing events from calf riding to barrel racing and bull riding in preparation for the rodeo. About one hundred kids from Cal Farley's Girlstown, USA; Cal Farley's Boys Ranch; and Cal Farley's Family Program participate in the Labor Day weekend event, which attracts thousands of visitors each year.

Giordano, 15, will compete in barrel racing and pole bending for the third year. She says participating in rodeo helps her believe in herself.

"If you're feeling down, it brings your self-esteem up," she said. "And running barrels is exciting, especially when you're doing really good. It's great to get all those compliments."

Held in conjunction with this year's rodeo is the Third Annual Old Tascosa Rendezvous August 30-September 1. Guests can experience the "rough and rugged" times of 1800s as reenactors dress in authentic period clothing to display their wares. There will be games and demonstrations such as fire making, black powder shooting, hide tanning, beading, and campfire cooking.

The Rendezvous begins Friday, August 30, at 9:00 a.m. The event is open to the public Saturday, August 31, and Sunday, September 1, before the rodeo. There will also be an open cowboy poetry session at the rodeo arena featuring Boys Ranch youth at 7 p.m. on Friday.

Admission is free for both events.

Sign up time is now for youth football program

It's time once again to sign-up for Youth Football. The program is for any child in third, fourth, fifth, or sixth grade.

One team will be made up of third and fourth graders. Another team will be made up of fifth and sixth graders. They furnish all the equipment, jerseys, and mouthpieces. The player keeps the jerseys at the end of the season.

Registration forms were passed out on the first day of school. Please bring this form and $35 to the first practice on Friday, August 23 at 5:00 p.m. at the old playground north of the bus barn.

If you have any questions, please call Mark White at 874-3181 or 874-2632.

Howardwick aldermen hold regular meeting

The Howardwick Board of Aldermen met in regular session August 13 in the Howardwick City Hall.

Curtis Campbell of the Red River Water Authority discussed the need to increase the city's water rate. The board took no action and will reconsider the matter at the next meeting.

Alderman Mike Rowland reported on trees growing near the Carroll Creek crossing and said the small trees need to be removed. The city will talk to Greenbelt Water Authority to see if they will do this.

Mayor Billy Woods reported on a tree blocking the view at the corner of Olita and Swanson streets. The property owner will be contacted about this.

A budget work session was set for 1 p.m. on August 23.

Joe Zeyen gave a report on the fire department.

2002 Property Tax Rates in DONLEY COUNTY

This notice concerns 2002 property tax rates for DONLEY COUNTY. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:	General Fund	Farm to Market/ Flood Control Fund
Last year's operating taxes	$421,672	$121,324
Last year's debt taxes	$0	$0
Last year's total taxes	$421,672	$121,324
Last year's tax base	$146,263,055	$143,346,291
Last year's total tax rate	0.288297 /$100	0.084637 /$100
This year's effective tax rate:
Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$421,517	$121,110
/ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$155,251,740	$152,313,671
= This year's effective tax rate for each fund	0.271505 /$100	0.079513 /$100
Total effective tax rate	0.351018 /$100	0.085874 /$100
x 1.03 = maximum rate unless unit publishes notices and holds hearing	0.361548 /$100
This year's rollback tax rate:
Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and adjusting for any transferred function, tax increment financing, state criminal justice mandate, and/or enhanced indigent health care expenditures)	$421,517	$121,110
/ This year's adjusted tax base	$155,251,740	$152,313,671
= This year's effective operating rate	0.271505 /$100	0.079513 /$100
x 1.08 = this year's maximum operating rate	0.293225 /$100	0.085874 /$100
+ This year's debt rate	0.115155 /$100	0.000000 /$100
= This year's rollback rate for each fund	0.408380 /$100	0.085874 /$100
This year's total rollback rate	0.494254 /$100

Statement of Increase/Decrease
 IF DONLEY COUNTY adopts a 2002 tax rate equal to the effective tax rate of $0.351018 per $100 of value, taxes would increase compared to 2001 taxes by $2,419.

Schedule A: General Fund Unencumbered Fund Balances

The following estimated balances will be left in the unit's property tax accounts at the end of the fiscal year. These balances are not encumbered by a corresponding debt obligation.

Type of Property Tax Fund	Balance
General & Road & Bridge	$527,450

Schedule B: General Fund 2002 Debt Service

The unit plans to pay the following amounts for long-term debts that are secured by property taxes. These amounts will be paid from property tax revenues (or additional sales tax revenues, if applicable).

Description of Debt	Principal or Contract Payment to be Paid from Property Taxes	Interest to be Paid from Property Taxes	Other Amounts to be Paid	Total Payment
Court House Restoration	$129,782	$43,625	$0	$173,407
Total required for 2002 debt service				$173,407
