THIS WEEK

- 2 It's time for Clarendon citizens to speak out about their streets.
- 3 Plans are made for the annual Relay for Life.
- 5 A longtime, beloved Clarendon High School teacher passes away.
- 8 And a neighborhood tiff makes the Sheriff's Report.

All this and much more as The Enterprise reports in this week's elegant edition!

Reserve booth now for annual Art in the Park

The annual Arts and Crafts Fair in Clarendon will be at the City Park located at the corner of Kearney and 6th Street on Friday, July 4.

The hours of the event will be from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Artisans have reserved booth spaces to sell bits, spurs, buckles, woodcrafts, jewelry, note cards, patriotic gifts, and much more. There will be games, baked goods, and several raffled items such as a trip to Las Vegas and a quilt.

Several Relay for Life teams will have fundraising booths. KEFH 99.3 will have a live remote broadcast throughout the day.

The Art in the Park event will be held in conjunction with many other activities taking place throughout the day.

If you would like to be a part of the action in Clarendon by exhibiting at the Art in the Park on July 4, contact the Donley County Extension Office at 874-2141 to reserve a space. You'll be glad you did!

Shrine selling chances on handmade boots

The Al Morrah Shrine Club is selling chances on a pair of James Owens handmade boots to be given away July 5.

All proceeds benefit the local Shrine Club. Tickets are $1 each or a book of 12 for $10 and can be purchased at Henson's, at the ENTERPRISE, or from any Shriner.

PCS, Food Bank helps several local families

Panhandle Community Services (PCS) and the High Plains Food Bank joined together to help families of Clarendon with fresh produce to help feed their families.

In May, PCS received 1,500 pounds of grapefruit, which served 74 families consisting of 314 members. On June 4, two thousand pounds of potatoes were received, which served 127 families consisting of 331 members.

The biggest distribution giveaway this year was on June 6 in which six thousand pounds of potatoes, two thousand pounds of oranges, 2,400 containers of frozen peaches, and 1,200 bags of salad were served to 465 families consisting of 1,089 members.

Howardwick club will meet this Friday night

The Howardwick Friendship Club will meet this Friday evening, June 20, at 6:30 p.m. for a potluck Supper at Howardwick City Hall.

Last month, Margaret Pettit and Evelyn Burleson won the door prizes. Carolyn Blackerby from Burton Memorial Library presented an interesting program.

The singing group from the First Baptist Church in Hedley will be our guests this month.

Courthouse takes centerstage

Rededication to be highlight of Saints' Roost Celebration

After more than three years of anticipation, the newly restored 1890 Donley County Courthouse will be formally rededicated during this year's annual Saints' Roost Celebration.

The ceremony scheduled for 9:30 a.m. on Friday, July 4, will be the highlight of the 125th anniversary celebration with guest speakers scheduled to include US Rep. Mac Thornberry (R-Clarendon), State Rep. Warren Chisum (R-Pampa), and Larry Oaks of the Texas Historical Commission.

An open house of the renovated courthouse will be held after the ceremony until noon.

Other festivities this year include the annual Arts and Crafts Fair from 10:00 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the City Park. If you would like to be a part of the action by exhibiting at the fair, contact the Donley County Extension Office at 874-2141 to reserve a space.

The Old Settlers Reunion starts at 10:30 a.m. at the City Park Pavilion.

The Shriners will begin serving a delicious barbecue lunch at 11:00 a.m. Tickets are $6 per plate and are available at Henson's, at the ENTERPRISE office, or from any Shriner.

The annual Lions Club Cow Patty Bingo will be held at 1:00 p.m. also in the park.

The Bicycle/Tricycle Parade will be held right before the big parade at 2:00. Kids will meet at the bridge at City Park at 1:45. Kids 12 years old and younger will ride for only one block by the park so they can enjoy the rest of the parade. Bicycle and tricycle entries will be judged for best in each age division. Motorized entries will not be judged. Prizes will be awarded for first, second, and third place in each age division. Registration forms are available in this week's CLARENDON ENTERPRISE and may be dropped off or mailed to the Chamber of Commerce office. Entries are due July 1, 2003.

The annual Fourth of July Celebration Parade will follow the bicycle parade. The line up begins at noon two blocks west of the City Park. The parade route will be from the baseball fields on Seventh Street to Kearney, then up Kearney to Third Street, west to Sully, and then back to the ball fields. Registration forms are available in this week's ENTERPRISE and may be dropped off at the Burton Memorial Library or the Chamber of Commerce office. Entries can also be mailed to the Chamber of Commerce. Entries are due June 28, 2003. For more information on the parade, call Jerri Ann Shields at 874-3685

The Clarendon Outdoor Entertainment Association will sponsor an Open Ranch Bronc Ride on Thursday, July 3, beginning at 7:30 p.m. at the Rodeo Arena. An open junior calf ride for ages 0-8 and a steer ride for ages 9-12 will be held that evening. There is a $20 entry for the contest. The evening will also include a calf scramble for kids age 0-12.

Clarendon Outdoor Entertainment Association will present the annual Ranch Rodeo beginning at 7:00 p.m. on Friday and Saturday night at the rodeo ground with 20 different teams from ranches around the area. The teams will compete in several events including Bronc Riding, Wild Cow Milking, Team Branding. See 'Celebration' on page 3.

Welcome home!

The town of Hedley welcomed home one of its own war heroes last week. Johnny Hoggatt was welcomed home with a parade and reception on Wednesday, June 11. He shipped out with his fellow Marines to Iraq before the war started. His grandmother, Betty Hoggatt, and his son, Nathan, were some of the first ones to give Johnny a hug.

Grant buys new courtyard sprinklers

The Donley County Courthouse Square will be getting a modern sprinkler system thanks to a grant from the Charles E. and Thelma A. Bairfield Foundation.

Donley County Commissioners were informed of the award during a called session Monday afternoon, and the court voted to accept a bid to install the system for $21,750 from a local contractor, Lowrie Lawn & Landscape.

"We certainly appreciate the Bairfield Foundation's concern and interest in the courthouse project," County Judge Jack Hall said. "We feel like the courtyard will greatly benefit from this. It was a nice gesture on their part."

The Bairfield Foundation was set up in 1993, and Hall said it was one of the earliest supporters of the courthouse restoration.

"They gave us $2,000 back when we did our master plan, and they were really the first ones who gave us money for this project."

Commissioners also agreed on Monday to advertise for bids for sodding the square.

Restoration work on the 1890 courthouse is expected to be mostly completed for a July 4 rededication ceremony. Some work - such as the yard work, finials on the roof, and exterior stone repairs - will be completed after the dedication.

Commissioners reviewed plans for the July 4 rededication of the courthouse and went over the program for the event.

The commissioners' court authorized Judge Hall to purchase 10 chairs from the Furniture Factory in Claude for the district courtroom to be paid through the courthouse restoration fund. The chairs are to be stained to match other furnishings in the courtroom.

Also this week, the court agreed to split the cost of maintenance performed on the radio tower with the City of Clarendon.

In other county business, the court met in regular session June 9 and approved reserve deputy bonds for Ed Bailey and Mark C. White.

Texas Association of Counties President Bill Bailey was appointed as a voting delegate to the National Association of Counties Annual Conference.

Road reports were accepted from commissioners, and the court approved Sheriff Butch Blackburn's attendance at the state sheriffs' meeting in Dallas and Treasurer Becky Jackson's attendance at a workshop in Lubbock.

Engineer Che Shadle gave a report on the bridge approaches at Troublesome and Mulberry creeks.

Paving price tag stuns aldermen

The Clarendon Board of Aldermen received a dose of "sticker shock" last week when estimates were presented for a project to pave streets in all parts of town.

The plan, which would pave and curb 95 percent of the streets in Clarendon in just 18 to 24 months, carried a total price tag of $4.9 million.

"It liked to give me a heart attack," said Mayor Tex Selvidge. "We've got to do a lot of work and take some time to figure out the best way to do it, but we can't afford the first plan."

Vince Viaille, a financial advisor from First Southwest Company in Lubbock, presented bond options to the board. With an interest rate of 4.75 percent, bond payments on $5 million in bonds would be about $400,000 annually for 20 years.

The city currently only generates about $200,000 per year in ad valorem taxes with a tax rate of $0.45555 per $100 valuation, which has remained unchanged since 1999.

The municipal tax would have to triple to generate the income necessary to pay $5 million in bonds, and the aldermen seemed united in not taking that route. They took no action on the plan and instructed engineer Che Shadle to return for the June 23 meeting with a plan in the $2 million range.

"We haven't heard a word from the citizens on this - pro or con," Selvidge said. "I don't feel like property owners should foot the whole bill. We should look at a combination of increased fees and increased taxes."

"I wish we had done this in the late 1970s and early 1980s," Selvidge said, referring to the first time he served as mayor. "It would be paid off today if we had."

The mayor expressed frustration with the current state of the streets and the need to make improvements.

"I feel like we need to do something if we're going to grow," he said. "If we want to bring people to the community, one thing they are going to look at is the streets."

In other city business, the board formally denied Gary Hunt's request for a building permit for his property at 8th and Leroy Streets after meeting in closed session with City Attorney James Shelton for nearly an hour. Aldermen Janice Knorrp and Mark White voted to deny the permit; Aldermen Tommy Hill and Michael Tibbets abstained; and Mayor Selvidge broke the tie. Alderman Bobbie Kidd was absent.

Hunt had sought to erect commercial storage buildings on his property, but the area is zoned for residential use only.

Jean Stavenhagen with the Saints' Roost Museum presented the museum board's recommendation to accept a bid from Phoenix I Restoration, Ltd., to renovate the old Ft. Worth & Denver Railroad Depot. The city is the sponsoring entity for the Texas Department of Transportation grant which will pay for the depot work. The board accepted the bid of $196,200 with the stipulation that the museum has the right to negotiate with the bidder.

The board voted to keep Colby Waters on retainer for consulting services through September 30, 2003, when the city's contract with the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission will expire.

The board also discussed purchasing the Thunder Junction theme park and voted against the idea.

"It's got a lot of possibilities, but I don't think we can afford it right now," the mayor said.

Citizens need to speak out about streets

The Clarendon Board of Aldermen is faced with some weighty decisions next week about what course our city will take regarding street improvements. The choices they make will – for better or worse – have an impact on our town far into the future, and they now need to know what citizens think.

Last Tuesday, the city received a professional engineering report on the state of our streets, which determined in part "that most of the streets in town had either major paving failure or no paving at all." The report goes on to say that Clarendon has "over 100 feet of vertical relief from the east and west edges of town to the center of town." This causes "high velocity storm runoff" which basically unravels any existing paving due to the lack of curbs and gutters to direct the water and protect the streets.

If you are fortunate enough to live on either a brick street or a state highway, then you may not fully appreciate the situation described above. In almost every area of our city, the streets are an embarrassment, they are rough to travel on, they are damaging to people's vehicles, and they are a hindrance to attracting new citizens to live here.

The master plan presented last week would reshape the base of 95 percent of our streets, apply a two-course penetration paving (commonly referred to as a seal coat), and install curbs and gutters. The price tag for the project is $4.9 million, which includes more than $400,000 for contingencies or unforeseen expenses. To pay for this from property taxes alone, the city tax rate would have to be tripled. (I'll pause while you catch your breath...)

Now, here's the deal. Clarendon has not done any serious street improvements since the late 1910s and 1920s when the brick streets were laid. There was some movement in the 1950s to do some work; but from looking around today, that didn't do much. Over the last half-century we have dabbled in some half-measures to do street work, but the aforementioned storm waters and a lack of adequate maintenance has had detrimental effects.

We should have paved and curbed our streets a long time ago. As Mayor Selvidge has pointed out, if the city had undertaken a massive paving project 20 years ago, it would have been paid for today. But we didn't, and now we are in worse shape than before.

If the city acts expeditiously, we can take advantage of interest rates which are at a historic low. The financial advisor last week quoted a rate of 4.75 percent. If we wait six months or a year or two, that rate could easily double or triple. We have a narrow window in history right now to take on a massive project that would transform Clarendon and forever enhance our quality of life. It will never cost any less.

But how do we pay for it? Ah, there's the rub. The average residential property in Clarendon is valued at $33,332; and municipal taxes on that amount are $151.84 per year. To generate enough extra revenue to pay off $5 million in bonds, taxes on the average residential property would have to increase by $303.68 per year. That amounts to an extra 83.2 cents per day for an average homeowner.

More people have properties below the average than are above the average; but clearly the more valuable your house, the greater your cost would be. In my case, the increased cost per year would be $462.84 or $1.27 per day. I'd gladly pay it in a heartbeat, but not everyone would.

What's needed is for the city to come up with creative ways to help pay for the project. Grants or state aid is commonly discussed, but grant money for paving has thus far proved elusive. Besides, when it comes right down to it, paving your city streets is a basic function of local government and is not the responsibility of the state or anyone else.

It may be possible to make alterations to the plan or to drop some streets and delete curbing recommendations in some areas. But, as the engineer pointed out last week, a curb and gutter network is important to the long-term life of a good street. Why have some city streets paved in the last five years failed while streets paved in 1968 on College Hill endured? The answer is the college streets have been maintained, and they incorporated a curb and gutter system. The storm water must be dealt with.

The construction cost on the project is estimated to be $39.45 per foot, which includes $22 per foot for the curb and gutter work. It may be that the citizens could be asked to pay for their own curb and gutter. The city would still have to pay for those who couldn't or wouldn't participate, but at least the overall tax burden would be reduced.

There are a number of options available, but ultimately our city leaders need feedback from the people they represent to help them make this decision. Are you tired of dodging potholes? Are you tired of the dirt from your street filtering through your doors and windows and coming into your house? Are you tired of the washboard-effect? Have you just simply had it up to here with our pathetic streets? If so, then speak out!

If you want something done, say so and be willing to say how much – if any – you're willing to pay for it. Send a letter to the ENTERPRISE to rally your fellow citizens. Call your city aldermen – Tommy Hill, Bobbie Kidd, Janice Knorpp, Michael Tibbets, and Mark White – and your mayor – Tex Selvidge. Tell them you want to see some real progress. Now is the time to make your voice known.

editor's commentary by roger estlack

'Reality' television beats real life itself

My mom told me this week that I am no longer allowed to write about her for any reason. I guess I will have to turn to the subject that amuses me almost as much: reality TV.

I have nothing against reality TV. I think it is hilarious. It gives me a lot of philosophical things to think about. I am forced to consider why I will never appear on one or what I would do if by some chance I ever do.

Where did we get the idea that "Survivor" was reality? I'm pretty sure that in real life you don't get to vote people off. In fact, if you try, they will just crowd in closer to annoy you. They never go away.

If I were trapped on a deserted island with five castaways, I know for sure that there would be no tribal council. It would be a totalitarian dictatorship. I would be the queen, and dissenters would be eaten, or at the very least, banished to the other side of the island.

If I were on "Survivor," I can tell you one thing for sure. I might have to eat some strange things, but nothing could tempt me to eat an animal out there.

I am already a borderline vegetarian and eating something that I saw scampering around, loving life, and being free just a moment ago would probably push me over the edge.

"Fear Factor" is by far my least favorite pseudo-reality show. They ought to call it "See Who Can Eat More Questionable Looking Animal Body Parts Without Throwing Up Their Toenails."

I think the show I am more suited for is "The Mole." It is a game of mystery and deception, of subtlety and cunning. I am the perfect criminal mastermind for the game.

They pick someone to be the Mole, and through the whole show, the Mole sabotages games so the team won't win all the money.

At the end of each episode the contestants take a quiz to see who remembers the most about stuff the Mole did. The person with the lowest score gets sent home.

If I were the mole, it would be the opposite. I would do things on purpose to make myself look suspicious enough to do my job as mole, but keep them off the scent by being the proverbial wolf in sheep's clothing.

life's lessons by carrie helms

I discovered the best strategy for winning the game if you are not the mole. Know who the mole is from the very beginning and make everyone else think that you are the mole. You need to be a sheep in wolf's clothing.

Either way, it's all about suspense and false accusations and watching celebrities get sunburned and eat gross stuff. When I am a celebrity, I am definitely reviving the show and electing myself as chief mole.

I don't know if it really counts as reality TV, but I am addicted to "The Brendan Leonard Show." It's a bunch of slacker teenage guys acting stupid and goofing off for the camera.

They seem to be just the kind of kids I'd like to hang out with for an afternoon. It would be tons of fun, I think.

At any rate, blurring the lines between reality and television is not a good idea. That's how society ends up with warped folks like me. I mean, why live life when you can watch reality TV? Real life is highly over-rated anyway.

Historical commission marks 50th year

Fifty years ago, the Texas Legislature took an important step to ensure the landmarks and artifacts that represent our state's history will be enjoyed by future generations. With the creation of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, our lawmakers handed the responsibility of identifying and preserving important historic sites to an 18-member commission. Today, a half-century later, that dedication lives on, and much of Texas' rich legacy has been safeguarded by their work.

In 1973, the Texas Legislature, of which I was a member, changed the agency's name to the Texas Historical Commission (THC). The Commission protects the state's historic resources, not just for the sake of preservation, but also for the education, enjoyment and economic benefit of all Texans. Heritage tourism is important to our state's economy, bringing people from across the country and around the world to explore our journey from a Republic to a state, Civil War history, and cowboy culture.

How does the Commission preserve our past? There is the Texas Heritage Trails Program, which helps increase economic development in an area while preserving and promoting its historic and cultural resources. The Texas Main Street Program aims to revitalize downtowns and neighborhood commercial districts throughout the state. Another, the Texas Historic Courthouse Preservation Program, provides matching grants to counties for the restoration of historic county courthouses, which are some of the most treasured sites in our state. For many counties, they serve as both a governmental and cultural seat and a focus of community life. Many courthouses provide a glimpse into history while continuing to function as part of the modern day judicial system.

Our state has one of the most robust historical marker programs in the country. Currently, 12,328 markers across the state commemorate events, institutions, sites, communities, cemeteries, and churches that hold historical significance for Texans. Markers serve to educate the public on our state's history and provide a guided retrospective into the past for residents and visitors alike. Markers designate sites ranging from the historically significant Alamo, to archeological locations like the burial place of the "Leanderthal Lady" in Williamson County.

The Durst-Taylor house in Nacogdoches is a wonderful example of a site worthy of a historical marker. The home, built in the early 1800s, was designated as a Recorded Texas Historic Landmark in 1995. Two of the owners who left their mark on Texas' history include Joseph Durst, founder of the town of Angelina, and Thomas J. Rusk, a signer of the Texas Declaration of Independence and one of Texas' first two U.S. Senators.

This spring, I toured the home, which brings to life the rich history of Texas and the brave frontier men and women who settled our state. It also reminded me of our responsibility to safeguard the symbols of our enduring pioneer spirit that are so much a part of our culture today. The Texas Historical Commission coupled with the thousands of Texans, who are dedicated to protecting our past, is the vehicle driving that preservation.

The Commission will be celebrating its 50th birthday throughout the year with a number of activities including a traveling exhibit, regional workshops, and various lectures and fundraisers around the state. For more information or details about an event near you, visit www.thc.state.tx.us and take the opportunity to get to know our state a little better. Next time you pass a historical marker or visit a revitalized courthouse or town square, remember the heritage it represents and take a moment to pay tribute to the legendary past of Texas.

Drive-In memories wanted

I am working on a project regarding the Texas Drive-In Movie Theatres. My intentions with this project are to chronicle as much history about our drive-in theatres before much is forgotten. This has been an ongoing process for the last four years. I now need help from people who remember the drive-ins from their towns.

I would appreciate any history on the local drive-in – pictures, old advertising, memories, or stories from their drive-in days as a youth or adult. Maybe you were the owner or worked at the local drive-in. Your input would be greatly appreciated. Credit for your input will be given in the book project when it is finished.

Howardwick aldermen receive administrative appointments

The Howardwick Board of Aldermen met in regular session June 10 in the Howardwick City Hall.

Sam Grider was selected as the new Mayor Pro-tem by a unanimous vote of the board.

Peggy Cockerham reported the beautification club will be putting a new barbecue grill at the park. It will be made out of concrete blocks and surrounded by sand or gravel.

Mayor Nancy Davis recommended appointing Wayne Carter and Doil Douthit to a road committee, which is to include two other people from Greenbelt Water Authority. The committee is to go to Austin to seek help with Howardwick's roads.

Joyce Combs and Peggy Cockerham were appointed to work with Alderman Grider in finding grants for the city, and H.L. Baird was named as chairman of a committee to check on property that needs to be cleaned up.

Members of the board were also given administrative positions.

Alderman Bobby Murdock will be in charge of the shop and maintenance man. Grider will be over grants and special committees. Alderman Dewey Linley will be in charge of the trash area, Alderman Donald Holladay will be over the roads, and Alderman Mike Rowland will oversee Information and possible prisoner help.

The board agreed to buy one load of cold mix to fix some holes in Howardwick roads and then talk to Greenbelt about fixing the main entrance. Mayor Davis reported she had taken State Rep. Warren Chisum on a drive over the city's roads and asked him for help from Austin.

The board voted to help purchase blacktop for the parking lot between City Hall and the First Baptist Church and to have two drains installed to keep water from running into City Hall.

A motion to close City Hall every Friday at noon was approved.

Lap of Hope begins American Cancer Society Relay For Life

In a nation where more than one million people will be diagnosed with cancer this year, Donley County is invited to celebrate life.

The American Cancer Society Relay For Life is a unique fund-raising event in which teams of participants take turns walking or running the track for 12 hours in an effort to fight cancer. Teams camp out, eat, and play games. This year's Relay For Life will take place at Clarendon College Track on August 1 - 2.

The message of the event is cancer can be conquered. This theme of hope is ignited as the ceremony begins with a cancer survivor lap. This emotional lap honors the courage of all who have defeated cancer. Each survivor is introduced, and then all will walk, run, or wheelchair the opening lap - unified in victory and in hope.

The atmosphere of Relay For Life is one of camaraderie and celebration, providing an opportunity for cancer survivors to pass the torch of hope on to those still battling cancer or those that might be touched by cancer in the future.

If you or anyone you know is a cancer survivor and would like to take part in Relay For Life, please call your American Cancer Society at 874-2141. All survivors receive a free Relay For Life T-shirt.

Summer activities taking hold around town

Summer is in full swing. Flowers are blooming. Weeds are multiplying. Children are running loose. Yep, it's summer all right.

Clarendonians enjoyed the annual Saint's Roost Museum appreciation barbecue last Friday night down at the depot. The weather was good, the crowd was friendly, and that cute young man who's from Ashtola now, the one who provided the entertainment, was taller and skinner than the year before; but he sang just as fine.

We had to travel downstate so the grandbaby could see his granddaddy for Father's Day (or the other way round) and had a fine old time over the weekend doing much of nothing. Baby Ben is almost two and willing to say his best words for company now. We weren't the only ones who missed the festivities. Ruth and Joe Robinson had a family reunion in Abilene to attend that weekend, and all reports are that they had a fine old time, too.

I'm not sure what else to tell you. Life in Clarendon has eased into its summer routine. This means that some people are slowing down and relaxing, and many, many more are speeding up to full throttle. For some of them, this is because summer is prime farming time. For others, it means the Fourth of July is coming up.

Yep, Father's Day is behind us, so the Fourth is just around the corner. Folks all over town are researching bicycle races, checking the paint stocks for touching up the turtle race octagon and lining up pans of cornbread or cakes for one meal or another. And it will only get busier as the time nears. If you haven't been signed up for something yet, better sign up quick so you'll have your choice of activities and/or times. I know there's going to be plenty for you to do. There's absolutely no excuse for the "I don't have anything to do" complaint. Not this time of year.

Library activities are going strong with summer reading for the kiddies and the Book Club for the grownups. Everyone laughed at me for sleeping through the last meeting, but I'm bound and determined to make it this month. I'm going to set an alarm.

I have this tendency to forget the time even when I am awake, especially when I'm working. I have been reading - seven books stacked up on my desk right now, and yes, I've read all of them, so there. I'll have lots to choose from to talk about at the meeting.

Oatmeal - not just for breakfast anymore

The word oatmeal conjures up a vision of a steaming bowl of breakfast porridge - it sounds wonderful on a winter morning! But oatmeal is too nutritious a food for us to ignore it the rest of the time. You can also get your oats in a slice of bread or in a soup bowl, not just a cereal bowl. Once you find out all that oats have to offer, you'll want to enjoy them as many ways as possible.

Oatmeal offers an impressive array of health benefits. A soluble fiber found in oatmeal, called beta glucan, appears to be responsible for much of what oats do for us, but oatmeal probably has other substances contributing to its effects:

- Reducing cholesterol levels. Oatmeal received the first approved health claim for food - that it could reduce the risk for heart disease. Eating 1 1/2 cups of cooked oatmeal a day provides enough beta glucan to significantly reduce cholesterol levels in the blood.
- Maintaining blood glucose levels. The soluble fiber in oatmeal slows the rate of glucose absorption into the bloodstream. This is especially important for diabetics.
- Lowering blood pressure. A recent study found that when adults whose hypertension was controlled by medication ate enough oatmeal and oat cereal every day to get 11.68

g of oat fiber (roughly 3 servings), there was a significant drop in blood pressure.

Tips for cooking with oatmeal. Try these delicious ideas to put more oats in your diet.

- Add 3/4 cup old fashion or quick oatmeal to 1 pound lean ground beef or turkey before shaping the mixture into a loaf or burgers.
- Old fashioned and quick oats are interchangeable in baking. Add them in place of 1/4 of the flour in most cookie, muffin and quick bread recipes. You can grind them in the food processor for a finer texture.

- Make a big batch of oatmeal and enjoy easy breakfast and snacks for 2-3 days without the mess of cooking often. It can be reheated with a little skim milk or enjoyed cold.
- Add rolled oats to smoothies.
- Mix rolled oats and quick oats into yogurt and add some fruit. Enjoy for breakfast, snacks and dessert.

For more information about oatmeal, contact Donley County Extension Office at 874-2141.

Hedley residents welcome Hoggatt home

About midnight Friday night I woke to the sound of rain. I got up and went out onto my patio and watched it rain for awhile, but it's no fun to watch the rain on a ten by fifteen foot square of concrete so I closed the door and went to the front porch and watched it rain there. It's not much fun watching it rain under the trees so I went back in and went back to bed and just listened to the rain on my roof.

I love the sound of rain. A few years ago there was a song that was popular about a rainy night. I don't remember who sang it, but I like it.

Marine Sargeant Johnny Hoggatt is home from the war in Iraq. He was welcomed home last week by his wife, Jana; sons, Nathan and Clay; his parents, Johnny and Kathy; grandmother, Betty Hoggatt; and in-laws, Ronnie and Janie Hill. Welcome, Johnny, our hometown hero.

Billy Ray and Christie Cates have been visiting his grandparents, Pick and LaQueta Cox. They live in Amarillo. Billy Ray used to spend some time at our house when he was a kid.

I saw Tanya Holland Burton at the doctor's office last week. She's Buford and Jerry Holland's granddaughter. I have not seen her since she graduated from high school I guess. She said she had three daughters of her own. I've said it many times that kids don't stay little long enough. M a h - deene DeBord has been in the hospital, but I understand she's home now. I hope she is feeling better.

K e i t h came and took me to his house Saturday; and I got to hold, feed, burp and rock Reese to sleep. It was the first time I got to hold him, and like any grandmother I held him and cried. He's so little and frail but he's thriving and weighs over six pounds now.

The Carson family had their annual family reunion at the Bar-H Dude Ranch last weekend. We missed Bill and Juanel at church Sunday morning.

I was sorry to learn of the death of Billy Wilson last week. He was the pastor at the Methodist Church in the late 60s and early 70s. One of his first duties after coming to Hedley was to marry Fred and me. He came back 25 years later and renewed our vows.

Billy and his wife, Dorothy, were with us through many trials and joys. I have fond memories of them.

My sympathy to Dorothy and their children, Troy, Jack, Ginger, and Angie.

Darinda Brogdon and husband Benny and children, Erin, Lance, and Brandon of Amarillo; Russ and wife Traci, Taylor and Logan of Amarillo; Duke Gafford and daughter Nikki; Willie Owens Pigg and husband Ron; Merle and Betty Owens of Harrah, OK, and children Connie and Glenn Spiller of Claude; Hannah, Cassie, Amanda, and Rachel; Cody and Cindy Owens of Claude and children Ty, Zachary, and Riley; Cheryl and Danny Hand and Shay and Amber of Oklahoma; Berle and Linda Owens of Amarillo and children Lisa McKee and husband Terry and Chelsea and Bryce; Stacy and Chris Herring and children Braxton and Grayson; Doug and Kay Owens of Abilene and children Shawn and Brady Norris of Amarillo, Tawna and Ross Hayward and children Ansley, Madeline, and Camdon of Lubbock; and Casey Owens and Nick Winkler of Lubbock.

The R.V. Owens family visited Faye Naylor for the remainder of the week. They visited the site of the old Owens home and enjoyed a tour of RO Headquarters and a picnic at Naylor Spring on Lake Creek.

VFW Post 7782 officers heading to Corpus Christi convention

By Juanita Meador
The VFW recently had a covered dish dinner. Commander Dale Powers reported on the Memorial Day activity. He was disappointed in the low attendance at the cemetery and at the courthouse sites. He apologized if they missed any graves with a flag.

Preparations are being made for the Fourth of July.

There were reports on the Post in McLean coming into our VFW and Auxiliary.

Get Well wishes go to Lloyd Mays, Sherry York, Doris Braddock, and Dusty Martindale.

There was a report on the Poppy Drive and Garage Sale.

The VFW membership is now 100 percent. They are proud of their works. The first Memorial Post 7782, Commander Charles E. (Jack) McCoy Scholarship went to Christine Holden. She will be attending Clarendon College this fall.

The Convention will be held in Corpus Christi, Texas, Wednesday, June 18 thru Sunday, June 22, 2003. Gary Branch will be installed as President.

The Ladies received a certificate of appreciation from the "up link" program. There will be no bingo on Saturday night, June 21, 2003, because the officers will be gone to convention.

Doris Braddock resigned her position as Guard, and Betty Mays resigned as Treasurer. Carla Flynt was elected as Treasurer, and Wanda Dromgoole was elected as Guard.

Our next meeting will be July 15, 2003, at 6:00 p.m.

Association awards scholarship to Havens

The Amarillo Chapter of International Association of Administrative Professionals is pleased to announce their 2003 Scholarship Winner, Brandi Havens.

Mrs. Havens has been attending Clarendon College and will be transferring to West Texas A&M University in the fall where she will be a junior General Business major. She is an employee of Clarendon College.

IAAP is the world's largest association for administrative personnel with more than 600 chapters and 40,000 members and affiliates worldwide. The association works in partnership with employers to promote professional excellence. The Amarillo Chapter meets the second Thursday of each month at Monte's.

For more information on the reception or on the chapter, contact Janet Howe CPS/CAP at (806) 468-2575 or e-mail to Janet.A.Howe@pr ecisionresources.net.

Locals' granddaughter graduates from WTAMU

Tami Logsdon, granddaughter of Nell and Gary Barnhill of Clarendon, recently graduated with a Bachelor of Science in General Studies, Summa Cum Laude, from West Texas A&M University.

Christian Men to hold breakfast this Thursday

The United Christian Men Breakfast will be held on Thursday, June 19, at 7:00 a.m. in the Fellowship Hall at the First United Methodist Church in Clarendon.

Dr. Myles Shelton will be the guest speaker.

God's Omnipotent Masterpiece

By Mary Beth Nelson
Which part of God's universe is more beautiful? Does anyone know? While walking along a beach several years ago with my granddaughters, 4-year-old Candace and Courtney, almost three, I heard their laughter blended with the slapping of whitecaps blanketing the shore's edge. With the scent of misty salt air tickling our noses, we sat down to examine the children's seashell collection. My fingers slowly rolled over a shell top's tiny ridges while its other side was smooth as glass. After investigating other ocean sculptures, we reluctantly left the beach as stars began appearing in the sky like diamonds on deep blue velvet. The moonlight frosted the ocean with shimmering, silvery icing.

The following day with the excitement of taking the older granddaughter home with me, we boarded the plane. As we soared into the air, tall buildings gradually changed into microscopic flecks. Residential streets and city expressways became intertwined into an intricate network of graphic threads. Ribbons of rivers swirled through the Creator's patchwork of green, brown, and golden fields, which disappeared through haziness until all we could see were what appeared to be billows of snowfields.

"Grandma," exclaimed Candace, "we're riding on marshmallow!" As my awareness of the vastness of the marvelous universe increased, the descent of the plane ended our delightful "marshmallow ride."

Inside the airport, Candace spotted her grandfather. The delight of their meeting became evanescent as childish giggles became muted by grandfatherly hugs. We all began to look forward to our arrival at the farm, which would be soon.

Approaching our destination, I mentally recalled nature's extravaganzas, which I had witnessed during the past twenty-four hours. One glance at the levelness of this land assured me its necessity to complete the element's magic beauty, so artistically planned by the Superior Maker.

During this twilight hour, overlooking waving wheat fields, a breathtaking sunset radiated a kaleidoscope of color. Splendid rose, golden, and lavender hues intermingled with silvery images. Silhouetted against this lavish display, animals grazed toward the watering tank. The windmill blades turned, catching nature's breath.

As I looked back over my shoulder to the east, an elegant apricot moon lifted from the horizon to take command of the evening hours. The fresh country air curled through my nostrils. The only sounds came from a pair of quail taking flight, and from the neigh of a mare as she affectionately nuzzled her newborn colt. A few minutes later, the approach of my granddaughter with her grandfather aroused a deep gratitude that they, too, were an essential part of God's omnipotent masterpiece.

Bible Thought: "The heavens are Yours, and Yours also the earth; You founded the world and all that is in it." Psalm 89:11 (NIV).

Obituaries

Todd

Claudine Todd, 92, of Clarendon died Monday, June 16, 2003.

Todd

Services will be at 2:00 p.m. on Thursday, June 19, 2003, at Robertson Chapel in Clarendon with Rev. Steve Fulton, minister of Providence Baptist Church in Henderson, officiating. Burial will be in Citizens Cemetery in Clarendon.

Mrs. Todd was born Jan. 24, 1911, in Comanche County to Mr. and Mrs. D.T. Smallwood. She moved with her family to the Brice community in 1924. She graduated from Clarendon High School and Clarendon College. She received her Bachelors and Masters degrees from West Texas State University.

She began her teaching career in Brice and taught there for four years. She married Bill Todd in 1935, and they both taught in Chamberlain for eight years. Mrs. Todd taught in Clarendon Elementary and Clarendon Junior High for eleven years. She then began teaching English at Clarendon High School. Her 41-year career left a rich heritage to the community of Clarendon. Her dedication to her profession and concern for young people touched many lives. She will be greatly missed by her former students and the entire community of Clarendon.

Mrs. Todd was a member of Providence Baptist Church in Henderson, Texas.

She was preceded in death by her husband in 1984.

Survivors include two sisters Frankie McAnear of Clarendon and Mamie Cross of Amarillo; four nephews, Ronnie McAnear and wife, Melinda, of Clarendon; Dwight McAnear and wife, Sharon, of Durango, Colorado; Freddie McAnear and wife, Marsha, of Houston; and Billy Cross and wife, Kathy, of Somerset; two nieces, Susan Robinson and husband, Jack, of Amarillo, and Jeanie Echols and husband, Robert, of Albany; twelve great nieces and nephews; and six great-great nieces and nephews.

The family will be at the Todd Home in Clarendon.

The family suggests memorials be to Citizens Cemetery, P.O. Box 669, Clarendon, TX, 79226.

Bourland

Graveside services for W. George Bourland will be held on Sunday, June 22, at 9:00 a.m. in Citizens Cemetery.

Mr. Bourland passed away on May 23, 2003, in Hemet, California, after losing a battle with cancer. He was born in Clarendon, Texas on May 24, 1915, and graduated from Clarendon High School in 1932. He graduated from the US Naval Academy in 1938 with a Bachelor of Science degree and was commissioned a Second Lieutenant. He served as a supply officer in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, during World War II and resigned from the Navy after the war with the rank of Commander.

Mr. Bourland opened a small private supply business in the states from 1946-1947. He went to Guam in 1947 and remained there until 1983 when he returned to the states. During his stay in Guam, Mr. Bourland owned and operated many diverse businesses, including food production, men's apparel, appliances, insurance and real estate. He retired from United of Omaha insurance company in 1983 after serving 24 years as their general agent for Guam and the Far East. Mr. Bourland also wrote a book about direct democracy entitled "Who Gets the Antelope Liver."

Mr. Bourland was also very much involved with community affairs in Guam. He was a member of the Guam Chamber of Commerce, the Guam Board of Education, Rotary International, the Shriner's Club, and the Masons. He was also a past president of Guam's Association of Life Underwriters, co-founder of the Arc Light Chapter of the Air Force Association, a member of the Guam Navy League, and the USO Board of Directors.

Mr. Bourland was preceded in death by his daughter, Sally Rupprecht, and his second wife, Betty Lewis Bourland.

He leaves behind his daughter, Brooke Young of Woodland, CA; his son, Joe Bourland of Temecula, CA; his stepson, Wid Slick of New Mexico; his stepdaughters, Anne Shelton of Clarendon and Susan Lecanas of Dallas; six grandchildren; and three great grandchildren.

Owens

Services for Esther Lillian Harris Owens, age 91, were held at 2:30 p.m. Thursday, June 12, 2003, in the First Baptist Church in Hedley with Rev. Bryan Knowles, Pastor of the Community Fellowship Church in Clarendon, officiating.

Mrs. Owens died Monday, June 9, 2003, in Mabank, Texas. She was born June 6, 1912, in Gainesville. She was a former resident of Hedley and Arlington and had lived in the Mabank area for approximately one year. She married Michael Harris, who preceded her in death in 1975. She then married Otis Owens who preceded her in death in 1992. She never wavered in her love for God, her family, and her friends. She had been a farmer and a homemaker and was a member of the Lamar Baptist Church in Arlington.

Mrs. Owens was preceded in death by a son, Bill Harris.

Survivors include one son, Bart Harris of Trinidad, Texas; two daughters-in-law, Charlene Harris of Trinidad, Texas, and Louise Harris of Arlington, Texas; 8 grandchildren; and 4 great grandchildren.

Hood

Services for Louise Corgill Hood, age 66, were held at 10:00 a.m. Saturday, June 14, 2003, in Roberson Chapel of Memories with Richard Paul Corgill, family member, officiating. Burial was held in Citizens Cemetery in Clarendon under the direction of Roberson Funeral Directors, Inc. of Clarendon.

Mrs. Hood died Tuesday, June 10, 2003, in Taylor, Texas. She was born April 14, 1937, in Esteline, Hall County, Texas, and was a former resident of Turkey. She lived in Grant Shoals, Texas, for 11 years before moving to Taylor 3 years ago. She married J.W. Hood on March 13, 1981 at Tucumcari, NM. He preceded her in death on June 19, 2000. She was a homemaker and a Baptist.

Survivors include one daughter, Rieta Starnes and husband Marty of Taylor; one son, Kenneth "Bo" Garvin and wife Vanessa of Forsan; one sister, Sue Strange of Claude; three brothers, Ray Corgill of Tulsa, OK, Eugene Corgill of Midland, and Jerry Corgill of Levelland; and five grandchildren, Andrew, Adam, and Jacob Barry and Joshua and Hanna Cates.

Brunson

Graveside services for Roland Howard Brunson, 67, were held at 11:00 a.m. Friday, June 13, 2003, in the Claude Cemetery with Rev. Don Travis, retired Methodist Minister, officiating. Arrangements were under the direction of Robertson Funeral Directors, Inc., of Clarendon.

Mr. Brunson died Tuesday, June 10, 2003, in Claude, Texas. He was born February 4, 1936, in Claude and had been a Claude resident all of his life. He had been a farmer and rancher most of his life. He was an MP in the US Army and was a member of the Claude VFW Post.

Survivors include one son, Leslie Brunson of Amarillo; his mother, Odessa Brunson of Claude; one sister, Marilyn Mays of Amarillo; and two nephews, Vincent Mays of Amarillo and William Mays of Fort Worth.

Clark

Services for Estal Lee Clark, age 94, were held at 10:00 a.m. Tuesday, June 17, 2003, in Roberson Chapel of Memories with Don Stone of Clarendon, officiating. Burial was held in Citizens Cemetery under the direction of Robertson Funeral Directors, Inc., of Clarendon.

Mrs. Clark was born April 6, 1909, in Farmersville to William and Ora Legge Mincey. She married Edwin Hayes Clark on June 14, 1927, at Grandfield, OK. He preceded her in death on September 30, 1970. She and her husband lived in Lesley for 14 years before moving to Clarendon in 1960. She was a homemaker and a Baptist.

Mrs. Clark was preceded in death by two sons, Willis and Robbie Clark; one daughter, Lovite Hatley; 5 brothers; and one sister.

Survivors include two daughters, Margaret Hughes of Clarendon, Minnie Clark of Amarillo; and one son, Donald Clark of Tucumcari, NM; two sisters, Margie Keeney and Robbie Everson both of Oklahoma; 17 grandchildren; 10 great grandchildren; and 4 great great grandchildren.

Casket bearers were Kirby Hatley, Erick Turner, Chris Spence, Mitchell Martin, David McAnear, and Stanley Altman.

Honorary Bearers were Tommy Hughes, Phil Clark, Walker McAnear, Wes Hatley, Jeff Hatley, and Roger Clark.

New lures hooking the market

The past few years there has been an explosion of new lures on the market. They have made a big outcome in fishing success for the weekend bass fisherman and for the tournament bass fisherman. Crankbaits have a hologram finish that makes the lure look life-like. And the eyes are also very close to the real thing.

Yo-Zuri is my new favorite minnow crankbait manufacturer. I have used Rapala minnow lures for 30 years, and I will use them for the rest of my life, but so has the rest of the world. Yo-Zuri has the change in shape and color that has helped me catch more fish. They are a little more expensive but well worth the money. Spinnerbaits have titanium wires that are nearly indestructible. The skirt colors and paint finishes are amazing. The soft plastics probably have had the greatest style change in the past couple of years.

The Kinami baits by Yamamoto Enterprises have had the biggest effect on the Pro Bass circuit in the last two years. The Senko has been the biggest worm going. Yum flavor-enhanced soft baits are a close second. There has been a breakthrough in strength, also. Strike King and Snapback Plastic Manufacturers have worms, lizards, tubes, and other styles of critters that are nearly indestructible. These plastics are thirty times the strength of ordinary soft plastic baits. You will also pay for this new technology. Some of these baits come in four packs and cost around $3.50. My favorite soft plastic manufacturer is Zoom. I can get 10 or 20 baits per package for $2.99. For now I will stick with the basic plastics because they are still catching fish for me.

There are a lot more new lures on the market that I have not mentioned that are surprisingly life-like. I guess within the next ten years there will be computer chips in these lures, and they will swim by themselves. Or maybe there will be a contraption that will automatically set the hook when the bass bites the lure. I hope not.

Have I mentioned fishing line? Gheezsh! I bet there are 75 to 100 different line types. They have a line for this and that and whatever. And the prices are unreal! One bad backlash or snag could cost you $20.00 in lost fishing line. The new technology is great, but how far are we going with it? Is there going to be a challenge when catching fish ten years from now, or is it going to be so easy to catch a fish that it is an automatic thing? Hmm...

In hunting news, it looks like we have had a good turkey hatch here in Donley County. Earlier this spring, I saw more turkeys around this county than ever before. Now I am seeing a lot of hens with large numbers of poults. I have also noticed a lot of quail. You may not see them all of the time, but you can sure hear them whistling, "bob white, bob white"! Hopefully the rains will continue and we will have a successful fall hunting season.

Fishing Tip of the Week: Try filleting bluegills and cutting them into one-inch cubes for catfish bait. Keeping fresh bait on your hook is the key. If an hour or so goes by without a bite, put on a new piece of bait, cast in a different area, and change the depth of water that you are fishing. Night fishing for cats is best.

Hunters, may you always be safe and respect the land you hunt. Fishermen, catch a few fish for supper and release a few fish to ensure another great fishing day.

If you have any information or comments, please e-mail me at gdol@nts-online.net.

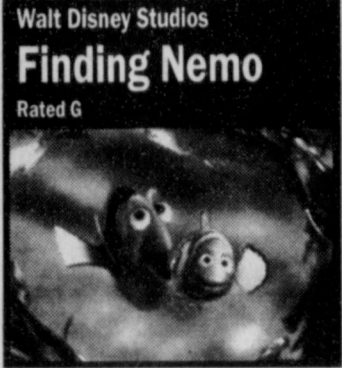

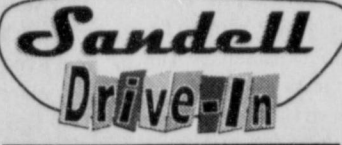

Hedley Aldermen set date for budget hearing

The Hedley Board of Aldermen met in called session June 7 at 9:05 a.m.

Jack and Jill Tournament to be held at CCC

By Sandy Anderberg

The Clarendon Country Club will host a Jack and Jill Tournament June 21-22.

One man and one woman will comprise the two-person team, which will play 36 holes of golf in the two-day tournament. The entry fee is $120.00 a-team plus the price of a cart. For more information you may call Vernon Byars at the Pro-Shop at 874-2166.

A Friday night scramble was held June 13 with four teams participating. Three teams tied with five under par and one team came in at four under sending the scramble to a carry-over for the following Friday night. The teams were made up of Bobby Dodson, Ronna Edwards, Maxine McLaughlin, Steve Nurek, Mike Morris, and Todd Stavenhagen. Keith Kidd, Bobbie Kidd, Wanda Nazworth, Theresa Shelton, and Audie Watson made up team #2. Participating on the third team was Ken Shelton, Joel Layton, Wendol Miller, Dean Nazworth, and Keenan Shields. The team that came in at four under was Doug Kidd, Sandy Anderberg, Betty McCutchen, Arlis Thomas, and Carol Duncan.

The winner of the men's game on Wednesday was R.O. Johnson 70, Jerry Gage 71, and David Green 73. The ladies continue to meet to play golf on Thursday mornings beginning at 9:00 a.m.

Pool memberships are still available for $68.63 a month. For more information you may call the CCC Pro-Shop.

Local students named on Texas Tech honor list

About 5,000 Texas Tech University students made either the President's List or the Dean's List for the Spring 2003 Semester.

To be on the President's List or the Dean's List, a student must have taken 12 hours during the semester and maintained either a 4.0 or a 3.5-3.9 grade point average, respectively.

Freshman Pre-Medicine major Claire Rodriguez, the daughter of Fidel and Estrella Rodriguez of Clarendon, was named to the President's List.

Sophomore Food and Nutrition major Jamie Sawyer, the daughter of Dan Sawyer and Sonja Sawyer both of Clarendon; senior Biology major Nathan Sears, the son of Weldon and DeeAnn Sears of Clarendon; sophomore Pre-Pharmacy major Derek Gourley, the son of Joe and Shirley Gourley of Howardwick; and senior Multidisciplinary Science major Rachel Howard, the daughter of Bruce and Gwynne Howard of Hedley were named to the Dean's List.

Local students named on honor lists at WTAMU

West Texas A&M University has named nearly 1,200 students to honor lists for the spring 2003 semester. Of that total, 300 were named to the President's List and 899 students were named to the Dean's List.

Hedley students Lora Llewellyn and James Potts were named to the President's List. Students named to the President's List must have a grade point average (GPA) of 3.85 or better on a 4.0 scale and carry a minimum class load of 12 undergraduate hours.

Clarendon residents Lindsey Shelton and Brandon Word along with Hedley resident Christie Cruse were named to the Dean's List. Those named to the Dean's List must have a GPA between 3.25 and 3.85 and carry a minimum of 12 undergraduate hours.

Clarendon Lions Club held their regular Tuesday noon meeting June 17 with Boss Lion Myles Shelton in charge.

We had 19 members and 2 guests: Russell Estlack, whom we welcomed as our newest member and Scarlet Estlack, guest of Lion Allen Estlack.

The public school is doing some remodeling on the old gym. The college has the area 1 Leadership Camp going at this time with 250 in attendance. The courthouse rededication is 9:30 a.m. at the northeast entrance with tours to follow. We will install the new officers July 1.

There being no further business we were adjourned.

Senior Citizens to hold fundraiser in City Park

By Vida O'Neal

We will have our annual bake sale on July 4, and we will have a booth at the park.

If you are able to help us by baking something or are able to work in the booth, please let us know. You can call Joyce or Vida at 874-2665. We will be selling chances on a beautiful patriotic afghan by Onita Thomas. The chances are $1.00 or 6 for $5.00.

Last Friday the winner of the clock was Hazel Guy. We didn't think she would get out the door with it; several people were trying to get it.

We are selling chances on a quilt to benefit our Relay for Life team. The quilt is made out of tee shirts from last year's event. This is a real ingenious idea from Dawn Watson's mother. She made the quilt and donated it to the team.

If you would like chances on the quilt, they are $1.00, and it will be given away in August at the relay race.

This month we will play bingo at our Birthday/Anniversary supper. We have received some items for bingo, and we appreciated them very much. We need a few more items for the prizes if you would like to donate.

It will be on June 24 at 6:00 p.m. We will have our potluck supper and several games of bingo. Everyone is welcome.

We have been notified that the food bank needs eggs crates or paper sacks. If you have some, you can bring them to the center, and we will get them to them.

Our condolences to the family of Estal Clark.

Reminders

- June 23, 30: Dance Club, 6:00 p.m.
- June 24: Birthday/Anniversary Supper and Bingo, 6:00 p.m.
- June 27: Hall Co. Blood Pressure Clinic, 11:30 a.m.

Holden wins VFW's Jack McCoy Memorial Scholarship

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 7782 and its Ladies Auxiliary of Clarendon announced recently a scholarship that is open to Clarendon High School and Hedley High School seniors.

The scholarship known as the Commander Charles E. "Jack" McCoy, War Veterans Memorial Scholarship, was introduced during the Clarendon High School graduation ceremonies. Retired Lieutenant Colonel Brenda McCoy, who was Jack McCoy's daughter, presented the scholarship.

Jack McCoy was a life member of VFW Post 7782 and was a Mustang officer in the United States Navy. Jack held numerous positions while on active duty but liked being a pilot the best. The VFW and Ladies auxiliary thought it fitting to offer a scholarship to our local students who participate in extracurricular activities and those students who participate in the Voice of Democracy and Patriots Pen Youth Essay Contest.

Students who are interested in this scholarship can pick up an application at the school offices or at the VFW itself. Students must submit the application by May 15 of each year. Those students who submit an application have to show proof: 1. They are a relative of a war veteran and 2. Must submit proof of eligibility (DD-214 or Discharge Papers) to receive the scholarship.

This year's recipient of the $500 Charles E. "Jack" McCoy Scholarship was Christine Holden, a graduating senior from Clarendon High School.

Christine will be attending Clarendon College in the fall.

CSE mobilizes for vote on permanent death tax repeal

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The U.S. House of Representatives is preparing once again to vote to permanently repeal the unfair death tax. H.R. 57, the Death Tax Permanency Act of 2003, will end the death tax once and for all. The House is likely to vote next week, and Citizens for a Sound Economy is mobilizing its members across the nation to urge Congress to permanently abolish this unfair tax.

CSE members are contacting Members of Congress via phone, email, and office visits, and will utilize the media via letters to the editor and talk radio.

CSE Co-Chairman and former House Majority Leader Dick Armey made the following statement:

"The death tax is a massive tax on business capital, which is vital to increased productivity and job creation. Money that would otherwise be used to invest in new and innovative technologies or more efficient tools and equipment is sent to the U.S. Treasury for no other reason than somebody died.

"The death tax is immoral and unfair. It hits small business and farmers the hardest. There is no justification for taxing the legacy that a parent or grandparent worked so hard to create and pass on to their children and grandchildren. The federal government should not be the most notorious grave robber in America."

"We're really close, and CSE is working for a big win in the House next week to build momentum and push this important bill over the top in the Senate. We have 280,000 CSE members who stand ready to do just that."
