Doctor Nominated For Award

Dr. Robert E. Clark, local physician, is being nominated for the Country Doctor of the year award. This is a nationwide contest presented by the Country Doctor Museum, in association with Staff Care, Inc.

The winner receives a handsome personalized bronze plaque featuring a country doctor making his rounds in a horsedrawn buggy. He will be memorialized by a plaque to be displayed at the County Doctor Museum in Bailey, North Carolina, the only museum in the nation devoted to preserving the contributions of America's rural physicians. In addition, the physician will be provided with a qualified physician to cover his practice for one week so her can enjoy a vacation.

Dr. Clark has been meeting the healthcare needs of Memphis residents and the surrounding area for 39 years. His last "real vacation" was in 1986, following by-pass surgery. he has spent many entire nights at the hospital with critically ill patients, delivering babies, or doing surgery and then gone to the office for a long day seeing patients. Many of his afternoons and weekends off have been interrupted by calls or need from patients.

In addition to his medical practice, Dr. Clark has been active in Masons and Rotary Club. He served on the Memphis school board for 15 years and was president for many years.

In an effort to help Dr. Clark receive this award, we all need to write letters telling of how deserving he is. Personal accounts of his assistance to patients and the community, such as ways he has shown his dedication, community services, quality of care, personal attributes, and any other ideas you have that will show how he epitomizes the Country Doctor need to be included in the letter. Mail or bring letters to: Anita Mitchell, R.N., Director of Nursing, 1800 N. Boykin Drive, Memphis, Texas, 79245. These letters need to be received by July 27, 1993 as the deadline is July 31, 1993. Letters may be typed or hand written.

Clarendon Schools Receive Award

Clarendon High School and Clarendon Junior High-Elementary School were each honored by the Commissioner of Education Lionel "Skip" Meno at the Texas Successful Schools Award Ceremony in Austin last Saturday, July 17, 1993.

Clarendon High School received the Performance Gain Award for academic performance over the past year. Along with the recognition and a nice certificate goes a $30,000 monetary award. Clarendon High School was represented at the awards ceremony by Jeff Walker, past superintendent, and Solomon Keyple, previous high school principal.

Clarendon Junior High-Elementary School was recognized for the second consecutive year for academic high performance. Junior High-Elementary principal, Mike Word, received the Recognition for Outstanding Performance Effort Certificate. They received the monetary award last year and have continued to achieve at a high performance level.

The Texas Successful Schools Award System (TSSAS) identified 1,289 schools out of 6,184 schools statewide for academic gain and/or high performance. Clarendon High School was one of 507 schools statewide to receive a monetary award. Clarendon Junior High-Elementary was one of 826 to receive recognition for their high performance. These awards indicate the strength of academic effort being provided by the Clarendon School System. It is certainly a point of accomplishment in which the entire community can take pride.

Six Arrested in Drug Raids

Raids by the Donley County Sheriff's Department early in the morning of Friday, July 16, resulted in six arrests and the seizure of marijuana plants and drug paraphernalia.

About 12:05 a.m., Deputy Milton McElroy, Deputy Jay Longan, Sheriff Jimmy Thompson, DA's Investigator Doug Wright, Reserve Deputy Joe Shadle, Reserve Deputy Kelly Hill and Warden Gary Hunt used a search warrant to search a house on South Sully. Inside they reportedly found drug paraphernalia. They also discovered a closet equipped with lights, ventilation fans and water to grow marijuana plants, as well as small quantities of dried plant.

County records show that Dale Adams, Nugget Bland and Kenny Tolbert were arrested at 12:05 a.m. Neil Leeper was arrested at 12:22 a.m. by Deputy Charles Blackburn. Adams, Bland and Tolbert were arrested on grounds of possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. Leeper was arrested for possession of paraphernalia. The suspects are out on bond.

After 4:00 a.m., the same officers served a search warrant on a residence in the country west of the Clarendon. They report that they found more drug paraphernalia and marijuana at the second location. Again they found an indoor lab for growing marijuana: lights, fans, automated watering equipment and thermometers. Several marijuana plants were growing under the lights.

Milton Loyd Brooks and Cari Lee Brooks were arrested for possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. They made bond the following day.

Donley County Sheriff Jimmy Thompson said that the raids were part of an ongoing effort to enforce Texas drug laws. "We expect to conduct more raids in the future and make more arrests," he said.

Anyone with information about the sale or use of illegal drugs can call the Sheriff's Office at 874-3533.

THIS MARIJUANA PLANT and the lights around it were seized in a late-night raid by the Donley County Sheriff's Department. Two raids within a few hours netted six arrests. Deputies confiscated the equipment from two indoor growing labs and the plants within.

SOS Meeting Scheduled

The SOS group is planning a meeting in September. The guest speaker will be Gordon Darrow with ACT for the Elderly. The SOS group will send a newsletter at a later date with the date and time Mr. Darrow is scheduled to speak. Everyone is invited to meet with other members of your community and to become informed about the coalition and discuss ways to provide comprehensive in-home care for the frail elderly and other impaired people in this community.

Donley County has been selected as one of the 1993 site locations for a grant from the Panhandle HomeCare Coalition in Amarillo. The local coalition will be named Donley County HomeCare Coalition on Aging and will contract with Panhandle HomeCare Coalition which is funded by the Texas Department on Aging and the Don and Sybil Harrington Foundation. Referrals will accepted for all of Donley County i.e.: Lelia Lake, Hedley, Howardwick, and Clarendon.

The Donley County HomeCare Coalition will provide "gap-filling" services for those who are "falling through the cracks". These are people not eligible to receive help from other agencies such as Medicare and Medicaid. The Coalition will provide help to impaired persons, frail elderly and other impaired people in this community to remain independently at home as long as possible and ease the burden of care on their families.

Local organizations, i.e. Senior Center, home health agencies, and community doctors have already begun demonstrating the concept in the Dumas and Hereford area.

A Society of Social Services called SOS has been formed in Clarendon with some members from Hedley. Their purpose is to form a network within the community that will help to inform the public and refer clients to established agencies such as Home Delivery Meals, and volunteer organizations in such areas as telephone reassurance, volunteer visits and labor for repairs. Home Health agencies will contract for homemaker aides and housekeeper aides. Referrals will be made through Shepherds Helping Hands at 874-3858.

Anna Beth McNabb will provide assessments and Case Management and will be assisted by Peggy Cockerham who will centralize community needs, net-working and services. Gail Pierce will take care of intake information through Shepherds Helping Hands, a non profit organization that helps with the needs of the elderly.

The other sites selected for the 1993 is Gray County, Dumas and Hereford were the 1992 site selections.

THIS BATCH PLANT is now in operation just east of Clarendon. It is producing paving materials for the renovation of the eastbound lane of Highway 287. Much of the passing lane between Clarendon and Hedley is blocked off for major repairs. Gilbert Construction is the contractor.

TRIVA DENNEY, storyteller for Tuesday Morning Story Hour at the G.B. Burton Memorial Library, together with a few of the muralists.

Reading Club Likes Dinosaurs

The one hundred children involved in the G.B. Burton Memorial Library's 1993 Summer Reading Club have been logging hundreds of hours of reading fun during June and July.

Tuesday morning Story Hour activities have featured such characters as Brer Rabbit and Tyrannosaurus Rex. Western key rings and jewelry were created at the July 6 meeting.

On July 13 those present put the finishing touches on their dinosaurs mural. Located on the north wall of Mr. Clifford Alexander's building at 215 S. Kearney, the mural features dinosaurs and imaginary prehistoric creatures. Many thanks to Don Stone for providing the paint, other supplies, and expertise for this ambitious project. A huge thank you to Mr. Alexander for permitting the use of his wall. A accolades to Robert Taylor for painting the background.

"Plans for the next two Tuesday mornings include puppets, videos, a t-shirt painting contest and a picnic" says Librarian Mary Linn Bills.

The Lions Tale

by Gene Alderson

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular meeting at noon on Tuesday, July 20, 1993 at the Lions Hall with 14 members and 3 guests present. We enjoyed a delicious fried chicken dinner and then Boss Lion Chambliss called the meeting to order. Following the regular opening ceremony the Boss Lion introduced guests including M. B. Bones, an insurance agent from Amarillo who was the guest of Lion Bently. Our program was presented by Coach Mondragon of Clarendon College. Following the program a bingo report was given by Lion Alderson and the Tailtwister, Lion Tamplen announced that he was establishing a "Grandfather Clause" for our club. Whenever one of the members becomes a new grandfather he is given the opportunity to make a contribution to the "kitty" in whatever amount he feels the new grandchild is worth. Lion Garland hedged a little on the rule today. He said that while he thought his new grandson was "priceless" $1.00 was all that he could pay. The meeting adjourned.

Check It Out

by Mary Beth Nelson

When did you last examine the "talking books" and other cassette tapes at Burton Memorial Library? You may prefer to read books rather than listen to them. Usually, I do, too. However, I discovered a tape which I highly recommend for excellent listening, one with a sensitive subject which promises to affect the emotions and attitude of listener in a positive way.

The author's name, Erma Bomeck, is almost synonymous with humor, wit, and light-hearted subjects. That's probably why many of us read articles and books written by this noted syndicated columnist, to give ourselves a lift and a smile. Through her talent, we are able to find amusement in her interpretation of many life situations.

One of Erma Bomeck's latest books, I Want To Grow Hair; I Want To Grow Up; I Want To Go To Boise, is very different from her usual writings. It concerns children surviving cancer. She admits she had misgivings about writing the book first. She wondered if it would be possible to write an optimistic book about cancer. After visiting camps for children with cancer, receiving encouragement from parents, the children, and from people even outside the United States, she felt had to try. In hearing her voice on tape, the listener can identify the Bomeck humor, at the same time, capture the warmth and compassion she has for these children.

After arriving at the first camp, she was invited to sit in on an hour session with teenagers as they shared their feelings. Instead of hearing despair, anger, and fear of future which she expected to hear, they expressed how they wish people wouldn't pity them and let them get on with their lives, and how they wanted to be treated like other kids. They let her know how important a sense of humor is to them. Their sense of humor is evident in the situations described by the author throughout the tape. They told her that her book should be funny. The author admits she was almost shocked at their optimism, but soon discovered that

ARTISTS WORK in the shadow of a prehistoric pteranodon painting dinosaurs (also themselves and each other).

"humor and optimism are the things that keep these kids in the main stream of life. Laughing and believing in themselves is, perhaps, the main part of their survival." She described them as "carriers of courage" from which she learned so much.

She tells of three year old Crystal in the hospital who told her, "These people don't know what they're doing. They take blood out of me one day, and put in more another." Another three year old who had lost her hair, but was beginning to grow back, asked her bald-headed father, "Daddy, is your hair coming or going?" The author said that "laughter seems to rise out of tragedy when it is needed most". Then she told of the "below the knee" amputee who prosthesis came off in the process of kicking a soccer ball. The child fell on the ground and rolled with laughter. These children handle hair loss in their own way. She tells of a rock group bringing a concert to West Virginia. Teenager Lynn who had experienced hair loss used magic markers to draw their logo on her head. Everyone thought it was sensational!

Erma Bomeck also relates actions and reactions of parents, and how difficult it must be not to overprotect their child with cancer. She tells of Tony falling while he and his mother were crossing the street. His mother became hysterical. "Why can't you walk?" she frantically asked. He just looked at her and said, "Mother, my shoestring just came untied."

This review has barely touched the many heartwarming things on the tape. At the end, the children's definition of "hope" is told. Then the author gives her own definition which says: Hope is small; sometimes it has two legs; sometimes not; sometimes it has hair; sometimes it's bald; it can laugh and cry in the same breath; it doesn't have to talk; it can share; its very presence has enough to change the course of your life; its name is A Child Fighting Cancer. Social Security News

by Jim Talbot
 In some cases, you can apply for food stamps at your local Social Security office. If you and the rest of your household buy and prepare your own food, and if you are applying for or receiving Supplemental Security Income (SSI), then we can take your food stamp application. All others can get food stamp applications from Social Security, but they must take the application to their local welfare office to file their benefits.
 When you apply for food stamps, you should have:
 ■ personal identification that shows your name and address;
 ■ proof of earnings and any other income such as Social Security benefits, SSI benefits, or a pension for each member of your household (Under food stamp rules, almost all types of income are counted in determining the amount of income you get. You must provide proof of the income of all family members.);
 ■ proof of your child care costs;

household that are 60 years of age or older and for those receiving Social Security or SSI benefits due to disability. For your household to be eligible for food stamps everyone in the household must have or have applied for a Social Security number and be a U.S. citizen or an alien living legally in the United States. In addition, if there are able-bodied individuals between 18 and 60 years of age in your household, they must register for work, and accept suitable employment if it is offered. Some may be required to participate in employment or employment training programs. Some college students may even be eligible.

Putman Chosen All American

Courtney Putman was named All American at the Marching Auxiliary Camp at Midwestern University in Wichita Falls on July 7. She is the feature twirler for the Crowell Wildcat Band and plays the tenor sax. As an All American Courtney was invited to perform in the half-time show at the Citrus Bowl in Orlando, Florida at Christmas time. Two others from Crowell band were named All American, Starla Bond, drum major and Catredrein Reese, captain of the color guard. These girls will have to spend the next five months raising the funds to go on this trip of a lifetime. They will be seeking business sponsorships, donations and numerous bake sales, car washes and garage sales. Courtney is the Sophomore daughter of Donnie and Darla Putman and granddaughter of Jr. and Norma Putman. She is a former Clarendon resident.

Generally your household can't have more than $2,000 in resources such as cash and bank accounts. If your household includes a person 60 years of age or older, the limit is $3,000. Your home and the lot on which it sits aren't considered resources. If your car is worth less than $4,500 it is not counted as a resource.

 When it comes to windows did you know?...
 It's easy to use the mouse to select menus and menu options in Windows, but using the keyboard is faster. Use <Alt> to activate the menu bar, press the underlined letter in the menu's name, then press the underlined letter of the option you want (ie: <Alt>FX selects File - Exit to an application).
 You can print a file from File Manager by dragging a file into Print Manager, even if Print Manager is minimized. The only catch is that the file has to have a TXT extension or another extension associated with a program on your system.
 You can move Program Manager icons from group to group by dragging and dropping them with the mouse, even if the destination group is minimized.
 You can copy Program Manager icons (instead of moving them) by holding down the <Ctrl> key while you drag and drop.
 When selecting files in File Manager, hold down the <shift> key to select a contiguous list of files or <Ctrl> click to select files that are not next to each other.

Help Your Teens Steer Clear Of Drunk Driving

FACTS FROM THE AMERICAN COLLEGE OF EMERGENCY PHYSICIANS

(NAPS)—Drunk driving is the leading cause of death of teenagers and young adults in America, claiming more lives than all other causes combined in 15 to 24 year olds. Almost every community nationwide has had one or more teenagers die the night of the prom.

"Teenagers are involved in a disproportionate number of drunk driving accidents and deaths," says Dr. Kelley Hails, an emergency specialist in Dover, New Hampshire, noting that junior and senior high school students drink 1.1 billion cases of beer every year, and 35 percent of all the wine coolers sold in the U.S.

What can be done?
Dr. Hails offers the following tips for parents:

- Identify the problem areas. Where is your teenager purchasing alcohol? Is this store checking IDs? Are your teenagers getting alcohol from their friends?
- Encourage your teenager to use designated drivers who drink NO alcohol.
- Start early and educate your teenager about the dangers of drinking and driving: one million years of potential life was lost to Americans last year due to drunken drivers alone.
- Give your teenager a ride home from a party yourself—or send a cab.

Barbara Foley, executive director and co-founder of EN C.A.R.E. (Emergency Nurses Cancel Alcohol Related Emergencies), recommends teenagers call someone they can trust for a ride home if they have been drinking. "Talk to your parents or anyone else you can trust—a cousin or aunt, that can give you a safe ride home."

How to get involved:
Consider joining one of the following groups. Most have state or local chapters you can contact for membership and public education information.

- EN C.A.R.E. (508) 753-7222.
- SADD (Students Against Drunk Driving) (508) 481-3568.
- MADD (Mothers Against Drunk Driving) 1-800-GET-MADD.

in advance of a child's departure for college, is still the best bet to affording a college education," says Thwaites, "no matter how old your children are."

"Even if you can't save the entire amount, steady investing in the right mix of funds can be a major step toward offsetting the rising costs of education. And every dollar you set aside today means less to borrow tomorrow."

To make it easier for parents to save money and invest for their children's college education, Aetna recently introduced a new mutual fund program called "CollegeYes!" You can start with as little as $50 per month, and increase your contributions as your child grows.

A unique feature of the CollegeYes! program is Aetna's Semester Annuity option. When your child reaches college age, parents can choose to convert their CollegeYes! money into an annuity with a fixed, guaranteed rate of return. A schedule of annuity payments can be set up to coincide with your child's tuition bills or other college-related expenses. (Redemptions are subject to federal and local taxes.)

For your free college planning kit and more complete information about Aetna's five no-load mutual funds, including a prospectus which outlines charges and expenses, call 1-800-AETNA-MF. Please read the prospectus carefully before you invest.

(NAPS)—Is it that Johnny can't read, or that Johnny can't afford to read?

The cost of a college education has risen 126% in the last decade—that's about twice the overall rate of inflation for the same period. And at the 7-11% per year rate that college costs are increasing now, they could double again in the next 10 years.

President Clinton has vowed to make college affordability one of his administration's major initiatives. But despite good intentions, government programs will, at best, provide only part of the solution for most families. The major responsibility for paying college costs will still be borne by the parents and students.

"Many people put off saving for college," says Christian Thwaites, vice president of Aetna Mutual Funds. "When the time comes, they think they'll be able to borrow what they need. Perhaps. But a cold, hard look at the cost of borrowing versus saving shows this to be an expensive strategy," he adds.

"If you borrow $50,000 to cover the average four-year cost of a state university and pay it off at 10% interest for ten years, you could face monthly payments of more than $660," Thwaites explains. "Compare this to the cost of a regular investment program in mutual funds started ten years before your child enters college. To accumulate the same $50,000, earning a 10% return, you need to set aside only about $285 a month. Although these figures are for illustrative purposes only and do not represent actual mutual fund performances, which may vary, nor the time value of money, the message is clear.
"Which would you rather pay?" Thwaites asks.
"That's why a plan for regular saving and investing, begun well

A big thanks to Onita Thomas for donating a large sack of apricots. They look forward to fresh apricot cobbler soon. They truly enjoy all the seasonal fruits and vegetables folks shared with them.

On Tuesday, July 13th the Nova attended the Bi-monthly meeting of the Advisory Council of the Area Agency on Aging of the Panhandle in Amarillo. One of the main items of the agenda was a report by Gordon Darrow, director for the Act for the Elderly, reporting on the progress of the Panhandle HomeCare Coalition. The coalition is funded by the Texas Department on Aging and the Don and Sybil Harrington Foundation. They are proud to announce that Donley County has been selected as one of the site locations and through a grant contract "Donley County HomeCare Coalition will provide "gag-filled" services for those who are "falling through the cracks". This is for people who are not eligible to receive help from other agencies such as Medicare and Medicaid. This coalition will provide help to impaired persons, frail elderly and other impaired people in Donley County to remain independent at home as long as possible and ease the burden of care on their family. In order to make the communities award of the available services, a group has been formed in Clarendon and some from Hedley call Society of Social Services called SOS with the purpose being to form a network within the community to inform and refer clients to the various services available for those who may qualify. Ann Beth McNabb will provide assessments and Case management. She will be assisted by Peggy Cockerham. They will centralize community needs, net working and services. The clients in take information needs will be handled will be handled through Sheperds Helping Hands, a non profit organization that helps with the needs of the elderly. Referrals will be made thru Sheperds Helping Hand at 874-3858. If you would like more information, call the referral number and they will be glad to answer questions.

The group of folks who attended the play "Texas" last Thursday evening had an exciting trip over and above the play. The Ford Van experienced a tire blow out on the way to Canyon and everyone praised the driver, Bob McCombs, for skillfully and safely handled the situation. If you would like to attend the Bluegrass Festival in Mobeetie on Saturday, July 24th, they have room on the van. Claude Thomas will be driving and plans to leave at 12 noon from the center. The tickets are $7.00 for the day. There will be food booths and arts & crafts as well. Also, bring your lawn chair. There will be constant entertainment of music, cloggers, and other performers.

Birthdays/Anniversary supper will be next Tuesday evening, July 27th at 6:00 p.m. Bring a covered dish and come on down. They will be entertained by a trio called "The Re-Runs of Yesterday" from Pampa singing gospel and some "golden oldies".

Scientists Predict Breakthroughs In Alzheimer's Research

(NAPS)—A leading Alzheimer's researcher predicts that scientific advances will lead to the first clinical trials of drugs that may stem the major killer of brain cells in Alzheimer's disease—the buildup of beta-amyloid protein—within just four to five years, perhaps sooner.

Dennis J. Selkoe, M.D., professor of neurology and neuroscience at Harvard Medical School, made his prediction during a briefing, "Closing in on Alzheimer's: A Progress Report from the Lab," organized by the Dana Alliance for Brain Initiatives.

"In July, a nationwide trial of the usefulness of beta-amyloid protein levels in spinal fluid as a diagnostic marker of Alzheimer's will begin," said Dr. Selkoe. "Further research should lead to finding the enzymes that release the beta-amyloid protein from its precursor, allowing it to form plaques in brain areas important for memory and thinking. We can then move ahead toward designing enzyme inhibitors, as well as agents that might prevent the binding of beta-amyloid to itself or to other proteins. These preventive approaches to the basic mechanism of Alzheimer's disease should emerge in place within five years."

"The advances in the field are so rapid—and so promising—that our discussion today served as both a synthesis of the latest findings and a prediction of what lies ahead for treatment and even prevention of Alzheimer's disease," said David Mahoney, chairman of the Dana Alliance and of the Charles A. Dana Foundation, which supports the Alliance.

Joining Mr. Mahoney and Dr. Selkoe in the discussion were Angie Dickinson, celebrated screen and television actress whose sister suffers from Alzheimer's disease; Claudia H. Kawas, M.D., a geriatric neurologist at Johns Hopkins University; Allen D. Roses, chief of neurology and professor of neurobiology at Duke University Medical Center; Jerome H. Stone, chairman emeritus of Stone Container Corporation and founder of the Alzheimer's Association; Kathleen A. Welsh, Ph.D., a neuropsychologist at Duke University Medical Center; and Guy M. McKhann, M.D., Johns Hopkins University, who moderated the discussion.

Dr. Roses predicted that: "By the end of the century, we will have relevant therapies and prevention for some forms of Alzheimer's." He sees genetics—rather than the study of beta-amyloid buildup—as "the relevant starting point" for diagnosing and treating Alzheimer's. "I don't view amyloid as necessary to an early initiating event," said Dr. Roses. "Instead, I think the amount of beta-amyloid protein that forms the plaques found in the brains of Alzheimer's sufferers is a function of apolipoprotein E (APOE)." He supports his view by the finding that one form of APOE, that binds strongly to beta-amyloid protein, is found significantly more commonly in late-onset Alzheimer's disease patients than in age-matched normal humans. Dr. Roses recently discovered that APOE is a risk factor for late-onset Alzheimer's.

The challenge of finding the most effective treatment for Alzheimer's is compounded by the fact that "Alzheimer's isn't just one disease—as with Parkinson's, there are several forms of Alzheimer's," said Dr. Kawas.

Testing, meanwhile, has become more precise. "By combining neuropsychological, language, and memory tests and brain imaging, we're increasing our ability to make fine distinctions," said Dr. Welsh.

While the scientists search for therapies and ultimately for preventatives, they feel there is much that can be done for Alzheimer's sufferers and their families. "We now know that tender loving care and managing the patients' day-to-day environment are critical," said Dr. Selkoe. "To make their lives a little easier, we can provide symptomatic treatment, such as curbing wandering and getting rid of hallucinations through small doses of sedatives."

"It's also crucial to get rid of misconceptions about the disease," said Ms. Dickinson. "We have to make people realize that an Alzheimer's patient lives in a total vacuum. When she doesn't eat, it's because she can't open her teeth, not because she isn't hungry. People have to be made aware that the brain controls everything."

Ms. Dickinson credited the Dana Alliance with its role in reducing misconceptions by supporting public awareness of brain research.

HOW CLOSE ARE WE TO A CURE FOR CANCER?

While advances in medical research have given thousands of Americans with cancer more hope than ever, we still haven't been able to solve the most basic problem of transportation.

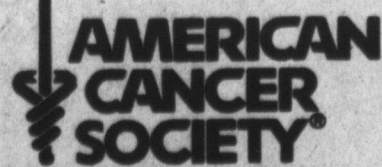

But you can help. And we hope you will.

IN HER CASE, ABOUT 35 MILES.

Recovery program, you can help by volunteering to drive a cancer patient to and from a treatment facility. If you have a car, safe driving skills, and can drive as little as one morning or afternoon a month, you can help give someone the most precious of all gifts: the chance for a fuller life.

For more information, call your American Cancer Society at 1-800-ACS-2345.

Call today. And help us drive cancer from the face of the earth.

Proper Management Of Pinkeye Saves Time And Money

(NAPS)—As the summer approaches and cattlemen's thoughts turn to getting the herd out to pasture...

ally damaging the eye. According to Dr. Korb Maxwell, a Technical Services Veterinarian from Pfizer Animal Health...

"Liquamycin LA-200" is a long-acting, broad spectrum antibiotic that provides three days of therapy with one intramuscular injection...

Several management practices can also help minimize pinkeye problems. Mowing pastures, providing shade, reducing dust and controlling fly populations should be on every cattleman's to-do list.

To further assist veterinarians and cattlemen in fighting pinkeye, Pfizer has established a Pinkeye Alert Network.

"By educating producers, they can better prepare to combat the spread of this infection," said Dr. Maxwell. "A combination of early treatment with an effective antibiotic, sound management practices and information sharing will help cattle producers and veterinarians prevent serious pinkeye problems."

Pinkeye occurs most often in the summer due to the increased presence of dust, pollens and tall grass and weeds. These irritants, along with the sun's more intense ultraviolet rays, increase an animal's susceptibility to infection.

Several treatment options are available, but most require labor-intensive, daily application. Topical applications of powders, sprays and eye patches will reduce inflammation and help heal the eye.

While injection of penicillin into the tissues surrounding the eye is practiced, it is not FDA approved. Furthermore, this therapy is typically not long-acting and runs the risk of unintentional NAPS—Experts estimate 450,000 U.S. children are in foster care. In recent years, this number has been rising rapidly.

Thirty percent of the children in foster care have been placed into care more than once.

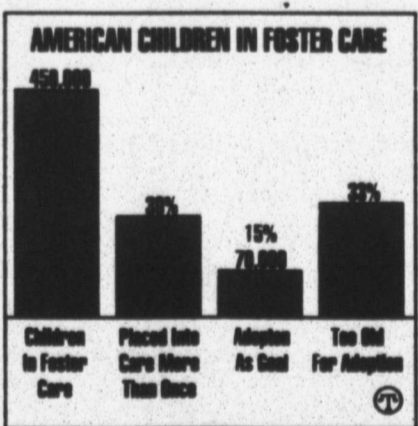

Adoption is the goal for about 70,000 or about 15% of these children. Half of these are legally free for adoptive placement.

About one out of three children in foster care are generally considered too old for adoption.

When the system discharges them at the age of 18 they are often unprepared for life on their own. A recent article in the New York Times stated: "When foster care ends, home is often the street."

To help these young people, the Orphan Foundation of America (OFA) was set up in 1981 by Father Joseph Rivers, who had been an unadopted orphan himself.

The organization offers them continuing education assistance, a resource center for life skills training, high school graduation recogni-

OFA scholarships can be used for either academic studies or vocational training. In 1993, $40,000 will be awarded to 70 youngsters throughout the United States.

The OFA offers volunteers a unique opportunity to effect positive change in the life of a child growing up in the foster care system. The majority of the youngsters it serves are 12 to 19 years old.
