School And City Elections Here Engage Attention Of Citizenship

SCHOOL ELECTION TICKET TO CARRY ONLY TWO NAMES

LITTLE INTEREST INDICATES RE-ELECTION OF TWO INCUMBENTS

No other names were filed with the secretary of the school board, Van Kennedy, for places on the ticket in the school trustee election of the Clarendon Independent School District here Saturday, April 1, except those of Odos Caraway and Ralph Andis, who have been nominated by their friends for re-election.

Unless there is an under-cover write-in movement, the re-election of those two board members seem to be certain, with only a nominal vote cast. Nothing has been heard of any such movement.

The election will be held in the City Hall with W. M. Patman as judge. The polls will open at 8 o'clock and close at 6.

WEEK-END BRINGS RAIN EARLIER THAN USUAL

PRECIPITATION OVER WEEK-END TO TUESDAY AMOUNTS TO 1.19 INCHES

The first spring moisture arrived over the week-end beginning Friday with a heavy rain and ending Tuesday with a drop in the temperature and sleet. The total amount of rainfall recorded here by Joe Goldston, official weather observer, was 1.19 inches.

The freezing weather Tuesday which sent the thermometer to 29 degrees and which never rose above 34 all day did comparatively little damage to the fruit and flowers which were in bloom as it was a wet freeze. The moisture was most welcome at this time and is a big factor in assuring a good season for crops.

The rains were general over the Panhandle and most sections of Texas over the week-end. This will make for a good planting season everywhere and relieves a drought of some length.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Ashmead of Jericho are the parents of a daughter, born Sunday. The infant weighed 10 pounds, 14 ounces.

CITY PARK PROJECT IS APPROVED BY WASHINGTON WPA

TELEGRAM TUESDAY FROM SEN. CONNALLY CONFIRMS GRANT

A telegram was received Tuesday by the City Park Board from Senator Tom Connally which relayed the news that the Works Progress Administration had approved allotment of $4,294 to improve the city park. Work on the project is eligible to begin at once. G. A. Linder, project supervisor at Amarillo, was notified Tuesday that the city and the park board are ready for the work to start.

Improvements will include constructing fences, picnic units, bridges and a small building. The park will be landscaped and other work incidental to making a first-class park out of it done. Planting of trees and shrubs will probably be the first thing done as they must be planted now in order to make a good growth this year.

The approval of this project gives great encouragement to the Park Board and others who have worked diligently and faithfully to provide a City Park for Clarendon. The Beaux Arts Club first started the project several years ago. They worked on it and made some progress but soon realized that it was too large an undertaking. They therefore enlisted the aid of all the other women's clubs and civic organizations last year. These grouped together to work on the park and with the aid of the highway department the park was landscaped and new terraces built. When it became known that a project was available, every effort was made to get one. The project was approved by the Amarillo and state WPA offices at once and the news Tuesday of the national approval brought to a climax much work.

The City Park is expected to become a recreational center in Clarendon and the planting of a variety of trees, shrubs and flowers will make a garden spot out of it to be enjoyed by everyone. Clarendon is most fortunate in securing this project and it is to be hoped that work will start at once so that the benefit of the park will be enjoyed this summer.

Dan Sauls, Jr., and wife are here this week at the bedside of his father Dan Sauls, Sr., who is critically sick. Dan is one of the town's good colored boys who has made good and both he and his wife have good jobs in Denver. Dan says there is still lots of snow in the Denver section of Colorado.

Flower Exchange of Saturday Proves Great Success

The annual plant exchange held Saturday at the Clubroom by the Beaux Arts Club was declared an outstanding success by club officials. A large number of people attended the affair and brought a nice collection of plants. Every plant was disposed of before the day was over. A greater variety of plants was brought this year than at any of the previous exchanges and these were widely distributed. It is felt that much benefit was derived from the exchange by all who took part.

The plants included several different varieties of trees. Mrs. Jones brought a group of twenty small cherry trees which made a welcome addition to the exchange. A variety of shrubs such as dogwood, lilac hedge and many kinds of flowers were among the other plants exchanged.

John Gillham was called to Hughes Springs Sunday night to the bedside of his mother, who was critically ill. He has not returned and the last report was that Mrs. Gillham was growing weaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Randall left Wednesday for Wichita Falls to be at the bedside of his brother who is seriously ill there.

LITTLE ACTION IN DISTRICT COURT THIS WEEK

TAX SUITS, DIVORCES AND SHORT CRIMINAL DOCKET BRINGS EARLY RECESS

District Court in Clarendon brought little action this week and Judge A. S. Moss was able to recess the session for the remainder of the week after Monday when several tax suits were tried, a few divorces granted and a light criminal docket was completed.

In the case of Ferman Pruitt, charged with driving while intoxicated, on a plea of guilty, he was assessed $100 fine and 50 days in jail. Ernest Bales was given sentences of five years in the penitentiary in two cases of uttering a forged instrument. Bales has like cases in two other counties.

Some divorce cases were continued, but divorce and custody of a child was granted Elsie Cooper Johnson, and Veanna J. Meaders. Donaleta Hall Whitacre was granted a divorce and had her maiden name restored.

In the damage suit of Mrs. Lucille Hill vs. the county, the case was continued until April 17.

Tax suits filed by the City of Clarendon resulted in judgment and foreclosure of tax lien for the plaintiff and for school district and state and county, as intervenors in the following cases: Homer W. Taylor, et al; Mrs. Geo. H. Martin; H. J. Derrick; Maggie C. Reed; L. A. Reavis; Homer Taylor; Mrs. H. T. McWilliams, et al (by publication). In the last case $10 attorney's fees was added to the tax judgment.

In the tax suit of the Clarendon Independent School District vs. Eugenia Pracher, plaintiff and intervenors entered a non-suit when settlement was made.

Several other tax suits were continued pending settlement. The grand jury has been called back by Judge Moss on April 5th, to bring in indictments on the burglary of the Donley County Consumers station here last week, in which arrests have been made.

Mrs. Horace Westmoreland of Columbia, Mo., arrived Tuesday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Connally and daughters, Janice and Louise.

ENJOYS CALIFORNIA TRIP AND FAIR

From stenographer to railroad president in forty years was the story-book climb completed by Edward J. Engel, newly-named head of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company.

Announcement of Mr. Engel's appointment to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Samuel T. Bledsoe, president and chairman of the executive committee of the 15,000 mile Santa Fe System since 1933, was made following Tuesday's meeting of the company's board of directors.

Burglary Suspects Picked Up Friday By Highway Patrol

Following the broadcast of the burglary of the Donley County Consumers station here Wednesday night of last week, two highway patrolmen picked up two suspects at Abernathy on Friday. The men were Bud Kyle, 29, and Lindsey Blaine, 23, both said to be from Paducah, and with petty records heretofore.

Sheriff Pierce went to Lubbock for them Saturday and they are lodged here in jail pending action of the grand jury which has been called for Thursday, April 6th. It is reported that about one-third of the merchandise taken in the burglary was found in the possession of the suspects. It is alleged that the other goods were sold to a trucker in Amarillo, who has not yet been apprehended.

Senator Connally Proposes Stricter Laws On Aliens Proposing Changes In American Form of Government

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 27.—Senator Tom Connally of Texas introduced a bill in the Senate to provide for the exclusion from immigration to this country and for the deportation of aliens already in this country who are advocating the making of changes in the American form of government. "Under existing laws, aliens residing in the United States can be deported on certain grounds," Senator Connally said, "and the effect of my bill is to add to these grounds the advocacy of such aliens of changes in the American form of government."

"Subversive and un-American influence being fomented and agitated by aliens residing in the United States are a constant threat to American institutions. These hostile and un-American activities ought to be stamped out and suppressed. This result can best be accomplished by deporting all those who take part in such un-American activities. These foreign and alien agents and incendiaries, whether advocating the establishment of Fascism or totalitarianism or other foreign "isms" in the United States, or whether advocating that the principles of Communism be substituted for our constitutional Democratic system are both dangerous to our domestic peace and to our representative form of government. Such aliens ought to be deported and returned to the country of their origin," Senator Connally declared, adding: "The Constitution of the United States protests every American citizen in the enjoyment of free speech, free press and free assembly and all of the other personal guarantees in our bill of rights. I would in no wise restrict or abridge the exercise of these rights by American citizens. Under these constitutional guarantees, any American citizen has the right to advocate any change in the form of government of the United States according to legal and constitutional methods. However, I do not believe that aliens who spend their time in agitating and preaching for the overthrow of this government of the United States and the changing of our fundamental, constitutional system should be allowed to remain in the United States and freely ply their nefarious practices, seeking to destroy the government whose protection they claim." Senator Connally concluded.

McClelland Creek Dam and Roads Are Closed

The McClelland Creek Dam and all roads leading to the dam will be closed until further notice, according to word from Earl L. Bradshaw, project manager. The closing order became effective last week.

Building of permanent roads to the dam will begin immediately, Mr. Bradshaw said and it will be necessary to close the lake to visitors.

The engineer said nearly 5,000 persons visited the site Sunday before last and considerable damage resulted. Cars were driven over newly sodded ground and persons walked over new sod, shrubs, etc. While the site is closed to visitors because of building new roads, beautification projects will be allowed to set.

In his notice of closing the site to the public, Mr. Bradshaw said: "McClelland Creek Dam will be closed to the public temporarily, or until such time as permanent roads have been completed on government property. At the present time roads are only temporary and during construction of permanent roads no one will be admitted except on government business. Traffic through this property will be stopped, effective March 22, 1938."

Utilities Slogan Is Move For Enlarged Tourist Trade

When you write em, invite 'em to visit West Texas!

That believes the West Texas Utilities Company, will lead to an enlarged tourist trade during the spring and summer months and a resultant increase in business of all kinds in Clarendon and other West Texas towns.

"Invite a friend to visit West Texas, the Land of Opportunity," the utilities company' advertising will say this spring. "Urge your friends in other states to plan vacation trips either in West Texas or through West Texas. Write and tell them about the wonderful climate, the good highways, the scenic beauty of West Texas. Hundreds of thousands of people in other states this year will be motoring to world fairs on both sides of the continent.

DONLEY MEN GO TO AUSTIN FOR HIWAY HEARING FRIDAY

LOCALS JOIN GROUP IN PRESSING FOR NORTH-SOUTH CONSTRUCTION

Representatives of the Donley County Commissioners' Court, and the highway committee of the Chamber of Commerce left for Austin to participate in a hearing Friday morning on items relating to the North-South Highway project from Perryton to Del Rio.

As planned in a preliminary meeting held here Monday, March 20th the highway commission will be asked to do unit one construction on the designated route south from Clarendon to Turkey, with the usual plea for construction of the few unpaved gaps in the whole route. There will also be special emphasis placed on the designation and survey on the now uncharted route north from Pampa to Perryton, with the hope of later construction.

The local group will arrive in Austin in time to take part in a meeting tonight at the Austin hotel where final plans will be made and speakers scheduled to make the presentation of the North-South project at the Friday morning session of the highway commission.

In attendance from Donley county are Judge R. Y. King, Commissioners G. G. Reeves and John Hermesmeier, J. T. Patman for the Chamber of Commerce, and Carl Peabody. Others from Perryton, Miami, Pampa, Turkey, Memphis, Spur, Matador, Sweetwater and points south will be present at the hearing.

LIONS CLUB GETS REPORT ON 1939 BENEFIT SHOW

FIFTY DOLLARS REALIZED AS NET PROCEEDS FROM BENEFIT SHOW

In spite of rain and sleet a fair attendance greeted President Patrick as he called the Clarendon Lions Club to order Tuesday at the regular weekly luncheon at the Clarendon Hotel.

Lion Ira Merchant made a detailed report of the financial results of the annual benefit show two weeks ago, showing that the club's crippled children fund would net approximately fifty dollars by the performance. All bills connected with the production have been paid in full, and the club owns a number of perfectly good "wigs" for the "glamorous feminine pulchritude" represented by Lions in the cast.

By rising vote the Lions ordered a letter of thanks and appreciation written to Mesdames Merchant and Knorpp who directed the play, and to all those who

CITY ELECTION TUESDAY STIRS INTEREST HERE

MAYOR'S RACE AND PROPOSED BAND TAX MAY BRING HEAVY VOTE

Interest in the city election here Tuesday promises to bring out a larger vote than usually cast since there is competition in the mayor's race and a proposal to levy a special tax for the maintenance and operation of the band.

Mayor Tom F. Connally, up for re-election, has for his opponent Bert Smith, local gin man, who has offered to take a dollar per year salary, and donate the dollar back to the city treasury. Friends of the candidates are working quietly to bring out the vote and to push the interests of their favorites.

The band tax proposal is backed largely by the Band Parents Association and the friends of the band, who presented the petition to the City Council for the election. The proposal would empower the city to levy up to 3 mills on the dollar valuation according to the Texas act covering municipal band support. Proponents of the levy, however, say that from 1 1/2 to 2 mills is all that will be needed here, since the band owns over $2,000 in instruments, uniforms and music, which would not have to be bought.

There is much opposition to the band tax, on the simple grounds of aversion to adding any tax for any purpose, so this feature of the election will likely bring out a strong vote, pro and con. A separate ticket will be used for the band levy measure, and only property tax payers may vote on the proposition.

The election will be held at the City Hall, with W. M. Patman as presiding judge.

JOHN GARNER GROWS IN NATION'S EYE

Action Monday of the Texas Legislature in giving unanimous endorsement in both houses to Vice-President John Nance Garner of Uvalde, Texas, for the Democratic nomination for the presidency in 1940, is not to be wondered at in the light of the growing demand for Garner-For-President all over the Nation.

Many citizens resent the seemingly innocent verbal racket between Elliott Roosevelt and John Boettiger, son and son-in-law of FDR, respectively, about Garner's growing strength—the praise of Son Elliott, The Roosevelt clan do nothing by accident—the praise of Son Elliott, gave In-Law John the opportunity to slur Garner and bring a doubt-smear on the Vice-President's recognized strength in the Northwest.

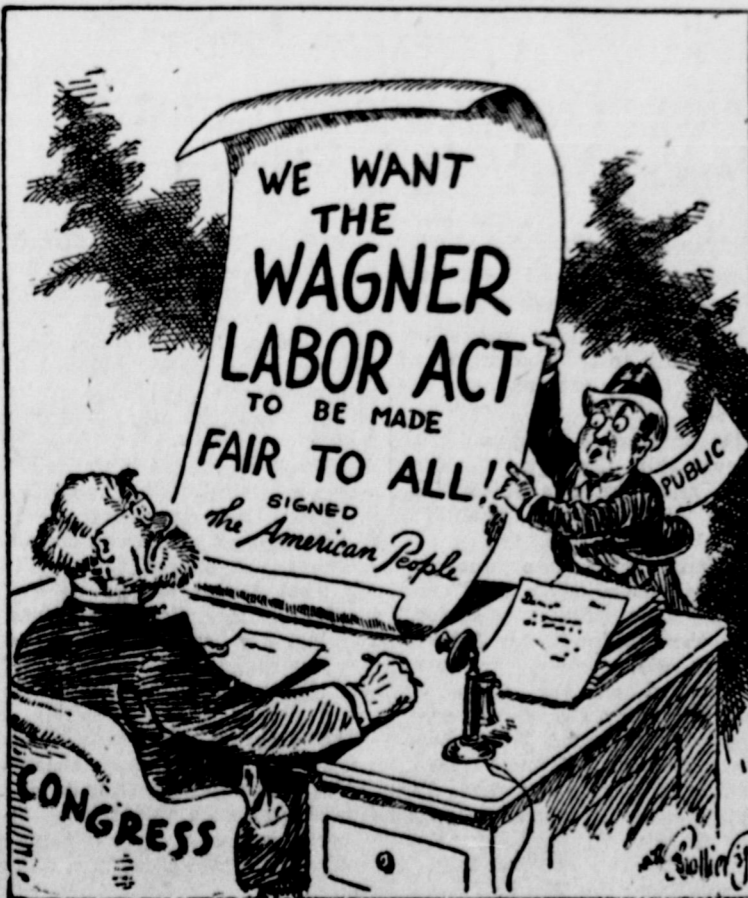

As an offset to the slighting remarks of the President's son-in-law on Garner's strength on the Pacific slope, comes this forthright statement from the Industrial News Review of Portland, Oregon, which is in line with observations of the most astute political observers of the country. In part the editorial says:

"There is an American tradition to the effect that the Vice-President of the Republic shall be a man who says little and does less—an official with an imposing title and a substantial salary, but with few responsibilities and almost no authority. Some years ago a very successful stage farce was written around the idea of a vice-president named Winterbottom who kept wandering about his party headquarters and could find no one who knew or cared who he was. And, in actual history, the vice-presidency has been used more than once to 'get rid' of some man who party leaders thought too troublesome. Roosevelt the first is a case in point—he was kicked upstairs into the vice-presidency because he had made many enemies as governor of New York, and he very likely would have been doomed to obscurity had not McKinley's assassination taken him to the White House.

"Cactus Jack" Garner seemed to be the perfect stuff of which a run-of-the-mill vice-president should be made. An able congressman, with decades of service behind him, he was known as a hard but un-spectacular worker. And when he assumed his position of vice-president, he seemed to fit well into the classic mold. A good disciplinarian and administrator, he apparently took little part in politics. He wasn't often in the headlines. But now, times have dramatically changed, and it is around the genial, plain figure of John Garner that much of today's most important political discussion is centering. He has become the great hope of the conservatives in the Democratic party—and the leader of a quiet but unrelenting "rightist rebellion" against the New Deal.

"In the view of some of the most astute political commentators, the Vice-President is well suited to this new role. In origin, training and experience he is the logical representative of those millions of people of whom little is heard but who nonetheless hold the real balance of power in America—the merchant, the farmer, the rancher, the small town banker and lawyer and doctor. In political philosophy, he might be termed a conservative liberal—he believes reform should be achieved slowly and cautiously without disheartening or discouraging business. He has certain gifts of immense political importance—a nerveless patience (it is characteristic of the man that he is called the best poker player in Washington, where famous poker players abound); a vast knowledge of the techniques of political strategy; a talent for making friends; a winning, "home-spun" personality; a knack for terse, individually phrased comments on events. The latter is illustrated by a remark he is rumored to have made to the President. "You've got to give the cattle (meaning business) a chance to put some fat on their bones."

"It is around Garner that the potent pro-economy group of Democratic senators has gathered. He is very close to Senator Harrison, who is leading the economy drive on the floor. He is strongly in favor of tax revision—though, like the cagey politician he is, he does his talking in the privacy of his office, and not in public. And it is universally reported that he was largely responsible for persuading the Senate to reduce the WPA appropriation asked by the President, to the tune of $150,000,000. As Time observes, 'Extraordinary fact about the Garner Rebellion is that its leader does not for one minute expect to win its economy objective; at least, not at this session of Congress.' He is biding his time, getting in his licks, and planning for the future.

Highly significant is the fact that Garner now leads in all the standard polls for 1940's Democratic presidential nomination. On the debit side is the fact that he is 70 now—an age that is generally regarded as being too old for the telling job of Chief Executive. But he seems to be in the pink physically as well as mentally. A powerful group is getting ready to back him for the nomination, and there's certainly at least a fair chance he'll get it. At any event, he is a force to be reckoned with."

AIN'T IT SO

There is a story going the rounds in Marysville about a farmer who bought a radio from a local dealer only on the provision that it wouldn't get political speeches. Not long afterwards a hot letter came to the dealer, complaining that all the farmer could get on it was political speeches. When the dealer investigated, he quickly found the reason. The aerial had been strung between a windmill and the bullpen.—The Marysville, Kan., Advocate-Democrat.

GETTING ALONG WITH PEOPLE

Much has been written in the last few years about how to get along with people, none of it as good as the rules that Benjamin Franklin followed in making and keeping friends.

Early in life Franklin realized that a man was only as successful as his virtues totaled up to; so he compiled a list of virtues that a man ought to have and sought to improve himself.

"I made it a rule," he wrote, "to forbear all direct contradiction to the sentiments of others, and all positive assertions of my own. When another asserted something that I thought an error, I denied myself the pleasure of showing immediately some absurdity in the proposition; and in answering I began by observing that in certain cases his opinion would be right, but in the present case there appeared to be some difference.

"I soon found the advantage of this change in my manners; the conversations I engaged in went on more pleasantly. The modest way in which I proposed my opinions procured them a readier reception and less contradiction; I had less mortification when I was found to be in the wrong, and I more easily prevailed with others to give up their mistakes and join me when I happened to be right.

"And to this habit I think it principally owing that I had early so much weight with my fellow citizens when I proposed new institutions or alterations in the old; and so much influence in public councils, when I became a member; for I was but a bad speaker, never eloquent, subject to much hesitation in my choice of words, hardly correct in language, and yet I generally carried my point."

SPENDING A THIRD OF NATIONAL INCOME

"We have at Washington today the most costly, the most wasteful, and the most bureaucratic form of government this republic has ever known. In the fiscal year of 1939 the expenditures of all governments in America will be more than $20,000,000, or almost one-third of the total gross income of the nation."—Senator Byrd.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

There is a God in science, a God in history, and a God in conscience, and these three are one.

The Rhoades Family . . . by Squier

The rainbow in the sky is a promise that there will be no more world deluges. Constitutional amendments requiring that all automotive taxes be dedicated exclusively to highway financing have been adopted by seven states. Those amendments are rainbows that definitely promise that diversion of road funds is ended. Movements for the adoption of similar constitutional amendments are under way in other states where raids are being made on the road funds.

The Low Down FROM HICKORY GROVE

Sure looks odd to see how some countries can stay out of wars, and other countries, they squeeze into every one when they can get their foot in the door.

You take Sweden, and Denmark and Norway, they were next door to the World War—and kept their nose out of it—and they were smart.

And you take it right now, they are snapping and frothing around again in Europe, 3 or 4 thousand miles from our U. S. A., but we are trying to show off—and balance a chip on our shoulder, or something.

In the Encyclopedia you will read where Bismarck went out of his way and finally stirred up a war with France, 70 years ago. The German people, they were not itching to fight. But Mr. Bismarck, he craved to be a great tom is the sad history of many with gold braid, and he craved to ride a lead horse.

But Mr. Bismarck, he did not carry a musket—when war came.

In the U. S. if we get foolish and listen to all the honkers flying around overhead—and act like a flock of geese—we will be goose-stepping next.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA.

Cut In Rates On Fire Insurance May Be Made

Fire insurance rates in Texas may soon be slashed for the second time within a year according to Marvin Hall, state fire insurance commissioner, who has announced that a public hearing would be held on April 17 to consider rates and various other matters pertaining to fire insurance.

"Although the loss of ratio, figures and experience records are as yet incomplete," Hall said "the present trend is very encouraging, and will probably mean further reduction in fire insurance rates. Our fire prevention program is showing results and bringing us nearer the goal of lower insurance costs to the citizens of Texas."

On June 15, 1938, the Board of Insurance Commissioners issued orders which effected an approximate annual saving in insurance cost of $2,500,000.

"Drastic reductions were made last June," Hall pointed out, "on those classes of property which affect the greatest number of people and provide the largest part of the premium volume of the state. After the hearing on April 17 of this year, it is hoped the figures will justify still further reductions. The figures we now have are evidence that greater savings are forthcoming."

Almost All Texas Crop Lands Can Be Used In 1939 AAA

COLLEGE STATION, March 27.—With farmers throughout the state commencing operations for the 1939 season, the Texas Agricultural Conservation Committee of the AAA this month urged landlords and tenants to seek a better understanding of one another's problems, and cited regulations of the farm program to keep renters and sharecroppers from becoming victims of managerial "squeeze plays" to deprive them of benefit payments.

"We recognize, human nature being what it is that in addition to the many, many landlords who lean over backwards to safeguard the interests of their tenants, there always is a small minority of landowners who try to hog the earnings at the expense of those who work the land," George Slaughter, committee chairman, asserted. Slaughter's Wharton county farm is operated partly by tenants.

"I want everyone to know," he added, "that the AAA frowns on such practices and will very carefully scrutinize any application for payment made by a person who appears to have changed the status of tenants or used any other scheme the effect of which was or will be to deprive anyone of all or part of a payment under the program."

Except that tractors, trucks and other mechanical devices have made inroads on men and mule power, there is room for a normal number of families on the land of Texas, Slaughter believes, despite the fact that the farm program has brought about a curtailment of cash crop acreages since 1932.

"While not so much land is in cotton and other soil-depleting crops as there used to be, practically all the cropland of Texas can be utilized under the program," he said. "More of it, however, is being devoted to soil-conserving crops and other feed and food crops for home use. We are getting away from the one-crop system that just about ruined the farmers and wore out the land of this state. Sharecroppers, tenants and landlords all stand to gain through more diversification in Texas farming operations."

Held Feb. 25, the dairy products judging contest is the second consecutive one from which Clarendon representatives have been victorious. Fifty-one teams were entered this year in the contest.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

BY JULIAN CAPERS JR.

AUSTIN.—The fate of the ambitious scheme of a group of special interest lobbyists who formulated an elaborate "program" to put a $42,000,000 burden of new taxation on the backs of the poor people of Texas and freeze it into the Constitution by means of a sales tax constitutional amendment, appeared doubtful this week-end. The House, smarting with resentment as the plan of the lobbyists unfolded, refused to pass the sales tax amendment by a vote of 79 to 65. It requires 100 votes finally to pass any constitutional change. This is not final action, and another attempt to push over the sales tax program was scheduled for this week, but best students of the situation here were gravely doubtful whether the sales tax amendment could pick up the necessary 21 additional votes in the House. The House taxation and revenue committee killed several bills offering alternate methods of financing pensions, including income tax and natural resource measures, and this effort by super-conservative committee to block consideration by the house of anything except a sales tax amendment, caused a flare of resentment which threatened to jeopardize permanently the success of the carefully planned scheme of the lobbyists, backed by Gov. O'Daniel, to put over the sales tax. The House quickly re-referred several other pending taxation bills to other committees, taking them away from taxation committee, and favorable reports placed these measures before the House, where efforts were to be made to write a new tax bill—not a constitutional amendment—around them, by amending.

SOLONS HAVE HUMAN SIDE
Illustrating the human side of the men who make the laws was a little incident in which two of the ablest legislators in the House participated. Homer Leonard, of McAllen, sponsoring the truck-load limit bill, battled throughout a morning session on the floor with a good personal friend, Ely Thornton, of Galveston, who fought the truck bills. That afternoon, after Thornton had thoroughly licked Leonard in the floor fight, Thornton rushed to an Austin hospital and gave two blood transfusions to Leonard's 7-month-old daughter, suffering from a serious throat infection. The baby recovered quickly and the two warm friends, Leonard and Thornton, resumed their bitter legislative battles on the House floor.

O'DANIEL VETOES PROBE
Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, who told the folks on several occasions that he would not attempt to interfere with the Legislature, and pledged his adherence to the Constitutional separation of the powers of the executive and legislative branches of the government in no uncertain terms, has had another change of mind. This week he vetoed a joint resolution, calling for an investigation of the Texas prison system by a joint committee of House and Senate, because the legislators didn't follow a recommendation of the governor to let six "business men," with the governor selecting two of them, conduct the probe. The investigation of state departments has traditionally been the prerogative of the legislature and the prison system apparently is badly in need of a checking up. Some solons expressed doubt of the power of the governor to veto a joint resolution and the legislature may decide to go ahead with the probe, anyway.

LOAN SHARK BILL OUT
The House committee on banking took seven bills designed to curb the "loan shark" evil in Texas, and wrote a compromise measure, which it recommended favorably and placed on the House calendar. The bill limits interest to 10 per cent, but permits small loan brokers, operating under state license, to charge investigation and collection fees on such loans, sufficient to yield a reasonable rate of return to the lenders, and thus discourage operation of sharks who charge small borrowers 300 to 400 per cent. The bill is far down on the House calendar, but authors of one of the original bills are expected to use a suspension privilege to get the bill up for passage in the near future, and send it to the Senate.

DELAY BOND MONEY GRAB BILL

Word from Washington that the United States attorney general will hand down an opinion on the proposal to saddle $190,000,000 worth of "dead horse" county lateral road bonds onto the state, by using part of the gasoline tax to pay them, has slowed up proponents of the so-called county judges bill, embodying the plan. Opposition from representatives of the 200 counties which would receive less than half the benefit also is strengthening in both House and Senate. County Judge Sam Stone of Williamson county, in a letter sent this week to every county judge and commissioner in Texas, opposes the plan with the following pertinent argument: "The 28 counties which owe 56 per cent of the $130,000,000 county lateral road debt are no doubt most interested in this bill. I cannot bring myself to believe that the bonded indebtedness of these counties should be placed upon the motorists throughout the state, rather than upon the people who assumed in the beginning, the payment of these bonds. Of these 28 counties, my county registers more automobiles than 10 of the 28 counties, has more valuation than 8 of the 28 counties; and has less debt by $1,000,000 to $11,000,000 than any of the 28 counties. There are 10 Texas counties having no lateral road bond debt, and 216 counties having less than the total of the 28 counties above referred to; still, the County Judges Association say this is a fair and just debt for every county to share in. My position is that it is an unfair and an unjust distribution of funds to the advantage of a few, and a disadvantage to many."

THEY'RE BORN MUSICIANS

Laugh of the week in Austin was at a South Texas solon, in whose district live many Mexicans. He found very little money for his district included in a rural aid bill under discussion, and when he complained, sponsors of the bill explained schools in his district were receiving a high percentage of money for vocational training.

"Don't gimme that stuff," he said. "Those Mexicans in my district don't need any vocational training. Every one of them is a natural born musician, without any training."

GUBERNATORIAL PROSPECTS

Spring always brings discussion of the "next governor's race." Early talk here indicates the observers expect a wide-open field in 1940. Gov. O'Daniel, despite his recent statement that he "doubted if he could be elected dog-catcher again," is expected to seek a second term. Rail Commissioner Ernest Thompson is a sure candidate, his friends say. Others receiving early mention as possibilities include Attorney General Gerald Mann, Rail Commissioner Jerry Sadler, Ex-Attorney General Bill McCraw, Lt. Gov. Coke Stevenson.

Pure-Bred Cows Going to World's Fair

This photograph shows the partly completed building which will house the "Dairy World of Tomorrow" at the New York World's Fair in 1939. In it the five pure-bred associations—Ayrshire, Guernsey, Holstein-Friesian, Jersey and Brown-Swiss—will each have 30 outstanding specimens of their breed on display for the entire duration of the Fair. These animals, selected throughout the United States and Canada, are chosen for outstanding merit. They will be milked three times a day on a Rotolator similar to the one developed at the Walker-Gordon Laboratories.

The exhibit will demonstrate the production and handling of milk under best sanitary conditions. The Borden Company is co-operating with the breed associations and will bear the expense of assembling, feeding and caring for the animals.

A home canning demonstration will be held April 10 and 11 at 2 p. m., at the Thompsen Hardware Company.

Every woman is invited to attend this meeting. The canning of meat, poultry and the preparation of same into delicious dishes will be the feature of the demonstration.

Meat canning has been a common practice in Texas but the serving of canned meat in the home has always been a major problem. Mrs. Ashe will actually can meat on demonstration and will then give recipes that will relieve canned meat of its monotony.

For those who do not can meat, jelly, relishes and preserves especially adapted to this time of the year will be featured.

Dairy Cattle Royalty to Grace World's Fair

This young lady and her pure-bred companion were photographed while attending ground-breaking ceremonies for the "Dairy World of Tomorrow" on the World's Fair grounds at New York.

The "Dairy World of Tomorrow" is to be one of the striking exhibits at the 1939 Fair. Here 150 dairy cows, each a queen on the basis of her type and performance, will be on exhibit. These cows will be selected by the Breed Association representing the following breeds, Jerseys, Guernseys, Holstein - Friesians, Brown - Swisses, and Ayrshires. These cows will be milked three times daily on a rotolator equipped with magnetic milkers—giving the public a chance to observe the most modern methods in handling milk. In addition to the cows mentioned, calves and a bull of each breed will be on display.

The "Dairy World of Tomorrow" is being staged by the five breed associations mentioned above in cooperation with The Borden Company for the purpose of showing the place of the pure-bred cow in the economics of dairying.

Philatelist "Nut" Has Interesting Texiana Postmark Collection

Inspired by an examination of a friend's album, we state as a theorem that collectors, as a class, are nuts.

Our friend belongs to that hard-to-pronounce class known as philatelists and as a side line he accumulates postmarks. Yes, those round blotches of ink (1) signifying where the letter is from and (2) serving to show the stamp has been used. We thought you might be interested because he confines his postmark collection to (1) Texas towns and (2) classifying them in a manner which would occur only to the weird reasoning of a collector, who also has a deep affection for the most atrocious puns.

For instance, opening this album, you find a section dedicated to the Texas crossword puzzle. Here are some samples.

First guy is Munday. Como is almost unconscious. Two places where all would like to go were Utopia and Eden; you want to go there to be Happy or to find Comfort or perhaps find Loving, but to be counted in these plans is the Cost.

Pharr is not near. Shiner is what you put a beefsteak on. Arp is harp with an English H'accent. More than free is Freer.

Then in Texas, we find by turning the page, they call a spade a Spade. What the preacher ties is Knott and he who gets tied is Groom. Pretty with a cold is Priddy; and someone to tell it to is Sweetet. Peanuts, to you, is Gober, and what you do in polite drawing rooms is Converse. The sugary saint is Valentine; what W. Lee wants for Texas is Industry. Most terrible of the numerous puns is this: Weir—all most uncanny. And if you can't figure it out, come see us.

Two things polite people never do, says our collector friend, still using the names of Texas towns for his answers are Point and Welch. Humble becomes a kind of pie, and over the phrase "that's my baby," is a postmark from Snook, Texas.

Short story about a careless motorist is made up with the names of four towns: Scurry, Allamore, Swift and Skidmore.

In Texas, our collector continues, you'll always find Welcome; maybe soon, when the sales tax is enacted, Mills will be more than the name of a town. In the legislature there are Flatheads and Roundtops, and if you tire of using the word mossback, you might try Graback. There's a Telephone, Texas and one you probably won't find in the seed catalogues is Peaster.

Our collector friend hopes that Sweet Home is never Leaky; points out that Lott had a wife who was turned to salt when she decided to Circle, Back. When day is done may be either Sunday or Sunset, and Carmine and Orange are listed among the colorful towns. Staple, (Texas) of diet in Texas is Frijole likewise Turkey and of course, Winters never come to Texas because already here. Tarzan is the treeman of course, and Blossom is what he picked in the tree.

We assure you that this goes on all night, if you're willing to listen. He's got all the St.'s listed under the Sainly Side of Texas (including Godley and Devine); all the towns named after great men are segregated (including Emhouse); he points out you can go to such far places as Klondike, Italy, Trinidad, Turkey and Athens, to name only a few, without leaving Texas; that you could name your daughter for a Texas town—such as Victoria and Maud and Josephine; or your son, such as Charlie and Fred and Clyde and Dennis.—State Observer.

Oregon will ship a colony of beavers, some elk and other animals to the California World's Fair as part of its exhibit.

Rev. and Mrs. H. C. Gordon were called to Snyder the latter part of last week, where the former officiated in a funeral Sunday of one of his former parishioners.

Fee, Fi, Fo, Fum -- FUDGE

By BETTY BARCLAY

Old-fashioned fudge parties are coming back into popularity, along with the clothing styles of grandmother's day. Cold wintry afternoons and evenings provide the right settings for candy parties in a warm and cozy kitchen. I have found a new easy way to make a variety of fudge, using the delicious chocolate, butterscotch and vanilla arrowroot puddings to be found at the grocer's. Arrowroot digests easily and makes the mixture smooth and creamy. Here are recipes for making fudge easily with the economical puddings:

- Chocolate Fudge
1 package chocolate arrowroot pudding
1 1/2 cups sugar
2/3 cup milk
1 tablespoon butter
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
Put chocolate arrowroot pudding, sugar and milk into a sauce pan; cook until mixture reaches 234° F., or forms a medium ball in cold water. Stir occasionally while cooking to prevent sticking. Remove from fire; cool until lukewarm. Add butter and vanilla. Beat until creamy and thick; pour into buttered pan; cut into squares. One-half cup chopped nuts may be added before beating. Makes 1 1/4 pounds.
- Butterscotch Fudge
1 package butterscotch arrowroot pudding
2 cups sugar
2/3 cup milk
1 tablespoon butter
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
Put butterscotch arrowroot pudding, sugar and milk into a sauce pan; cook until mixture reaches 234° F., or forms a medium ball in cold water. Stir occasionally while cooking to prevent sticking. Remove from fire; cool until lukewarm. Add butter and vanilla. Beat until creamy and thick; pour into buttered pan; cut into squares. One-half cup of chopped nuts may be added before beating. Makes 1 1/4 pounds.
- Orange Cocoanut Fudge
1 package vanilla arrowroot pudding
2 cups sugar
2/3 cup milk
1/2 cup shredded cocoanut
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
Put vanilla arrowroot pudding, sugar, milk and cocoanut into a sauce pan; cook until mixture reaches 234° F., or forms a soft ball in cold water. Stir occasionally while cooking to prevent sticking. Remove from fire; cool until lukewarm. Add butter and grated orange rind. Beat until creamy and thick; pour into buttered pan; cut into squares. Makes 1 1/4 pounds.

HELEN PORTER GIVEN SURPRISE PARTY

Helen Frances Porter was honored Tuesday night on her 13th birthday with a surprise dinner party given by her mother, Mrs. J. R. Porter. Helen was kept away from home by friends all afternoon and when she returned about 7:30 she found the group assembled. A delicious dinner was served after which games of bridge, forty-two and Chinese checkers entertained the group. The R. L. Bains Will Celebrate Golden Wedding Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Rob't. L. Bain of this city will celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary here Saturday in a quiet home way, since a number of their children and close relatives cannot be present.

On Sunday, March 31st, 1889, at Paradise, Texas, Justice-of-the-Peace Jeff Wilborn, united in marriage Robert Lee Bain and Miss Nora Ann Pool, at the home of the bride and with a few relatives and friends as witnesses of the happy event. Mr. Bain says only two or three of the young married couples of that period in the old home community have been fortunate enough to live to celebrate a golden wedding anniversary, which gives him and his wife a feeling of thankfulness for long life and fair health.

Mr. and Mrs. Bain have raised a large family and have reason to be proud of them as good citizens in a busy world, but Mr. Bain says all the credit is due Mrs. Bain, who during all the years has been a kind, efficient and loving companion and mother. They have never been separated more than a few days at a time when one or the other was away on a brief visit and together they face the sunset of an honorable life of neighborly service to the communities where they have lived, a good part of which time has been spent in Donley county and more recently in Clarendon.

Their many friends here join The News in wishing for Mr. and Mrs. Bain many more happy anniversaries.

CLARENDON FFA CHAPTER

The Clarendon F. F. A. chapter had its first meeting last Thursday, March 23, since the fat stock shows. There were 42 members present with six absent. It was voted at the meeting to have the F. F. A. father and son banquet April 27. It was also decided at the meeting to buy bats and softballs and practice at noon every day before we go to Quitaque. Mr. Braswell made a very interesting talk on "Standards of the World."

The Clarendon poultry, livestock and crop teams left Thursday, March 30, for Lubbock where they will judge Friday and Saturday. The poultry and crop teams have been working hard every day this week. Carl Morris, Horace Green, and Junior Spier make the poultry team while the crop team consists of Rex Shannon, Ray Isham and Gene Putman. This is not the same crop team that won the state contest at Fort Worth last week.

LISTENING IN ON ASSEMBLY

Assembly opened Friday the second period with "Love's Old Sweet Song," "Dixie Land," "My Old Kentucky Home," and "Old Folks at Home."

A string trio composed of Raymond Wood, Lawrence Heckman, and Kenneth Sloan played several numbers. They are really a very versatile trio as they changed instruments nearly every time they were encored.

Mr. Drennan suggested that a contest to find a name for the trio be conducted.

A number of announcements were made, the main ones concerning the college program and banquet.

Mr. Gillham told about three of the F. F. A. boys winning the state championship and getting a free trip to Kansas City.

HOME ECONOMIC NEWS

The third year class of home economics girls has been studying a unit under the title of "Family Relationship." Under this unit, one of the most important headings was different forms of entertainment. To complete the unit the third year class entertained the school faculty Thursday afternoon, March 23.

A tour through the department was made at the beginning. The dresses that all of the girls have worked so hard on were shown to the teachers. Next, they were shown the rugs the department bought for the living rooms. The new refrigerator that the Lions Club helped buy was the first thing in the kitchen to catch the visitors' eyes. The hot water heater that the school board bought and gave to the department was the last new item of interest.

In the department is a completely furnished household, consisting of a bedroom, laundry room, bathroom, living room, dining room, kitchen, and clothing laboratory. To these different rooms many conveniences and necessities have been added in the past two or three years. The items described above complete the major part of equipment but there are many minor equipments that have been purchased that are too numerous to mention.

After a short business meeting, conducted by Mr. Drennan, a delicious salad course was served to 28 faculty members.

JUNIOR HIGH NOTES

The Jr. High girls volleyball team is going to play two more games this season. They played a game last Tuesday with Groom. The other two games will be played, one with Groom and one with Memphis. The girls are very enthusiastic over their volleyball. Here is a poem by Neta Jane Cornell, one of the girls.

THE VOLLEY BALL TEAM
Playing Memphis the other night
The team put up a terrible fight.

There was Iva Ruth who played a grand game,
And Glenna Deal who did the same.

Joan always got the ball over the net,
And June always had her hands set.

There was Lois who could serve
The ball just fine,
And Myrtle Moore who used her mind.

There were times when I would have liked to hit the ball,
But you see I was on the side line during it all;

I forgot to tell you the team lost the game,
But they played grand just the same.

WE THE PEOPLE SPEAK
We, the people have been slandered by the sassy news reporters of that dinky little paper called the Broncho Range as long as we intend to. So this week we have a little column all to our selves.

James Bartlett seems to be the favorite victim of the reporters. Now dear readers he's not really so bad. He does blush a little when asked questions but don't think hard of him just for that. No one ever says anything about Earl Shannon changing his eating place. Some of you probably haven't heard about Mrs. Mo. having an extra customer since Margy changed her mind.

Jack Reeves makes plenty of gossip every week, but he is also an editor. We, the people, don't have a chance with him on the cutting line.

It's about time for typing exercises to be in again. We can tell by the way typing students are playing up to their friends who can type.

LIBRARY NOTES

(By Mrs. C. A. Burton)

Within the past two weeks the following new books have been placed on our shelves: "The Mortal Storm," Phyllis Bottome; "Alone," Richard E. Byrd; "Ten and Twenty Aprils," Hilton Ross Greer; "School Plays for All Occasions," Barnum; "Texas Writers of Today," Florence Barnes; "Women of the Bible," Buchanan; "Animal Book For Children," Burgess; "Lone Star," David Cory; "The Arts," Hendrick William Van Loon; "Raiders of Spanish Peaks," Zane Grey; "Hopalong Cassidy Takes Cards," Clarence E. Mulford; "Remember the End," Agnes Sleight Turnbull; "Bricks Without Straw," Charles G. Norris; "A Hall & Co." Joseph C. Lincoln; "She Was Carrie Eaton," Elizabeth Corbett; "That's My Story," Douglas Corrigan; "Revolt on the Border," Stanley Vestal; "Knights of the Range," Zane Grey; "My Country and My People," Lin Yutang; "The Bounty Trilog," Nordoff and Hall; "East Wind, West Wind," Pearl Buck; "The Thinking Reed," Rebecca West; "Tuesday Never Comes," Lida Larrimore; "Twenty-Four Hours a Day," Faith Baldwin; "Parade of the Empty Boats," Charles A. Seltzer; "Book of Famous Dogs," Albert Payson Terhune; "Sand Castle," Beith; "Fighting Angel," Pearl Buck; "The Rise of Roscoe Paine," Joseph L. Lincoln; "Mistress Pat," L. M. Montgomery; "Pat of Silver Bush," L. M. Montgomery; "Barefoot Abe," Sadybeth Lowitz; "I've Been to London," Temple Bailey; "Abe Lincoln, the Prairie Years," Carl Sandburg; "Quanah, the Eagle of the Comanches," Zoe A. Tighlman; "Wake and Remember," James Gray.

Besides these the Jr. Beaux Arts girls brought us three more books, one for the tiny folks, one for the boys and one a grown-up. As will be seen from the above list, an effort was made to care for the needs of every class of readers from the tiny tots to the grown-ups. Several late best sellers which our readers have been asking for are in the list. "The Mortal Storm," by Phyllis Bottome is denominated the true story of life under a dictatorship—the story of the life of a Jewish scientist and his aristocratic wife, their two sons and a daughter. Phyllis Bottome's father is an American, her mother an Englishwoman, and she has lived in Switzerland, Austria, Germany, France, Italy and America. She was living in Germany at the beginning of the Hitler regime. She has studied individual psychology under the famous Dr. Alfred Adler and writes understandingly and sympathetically.

No book on our shelves has been more appreciated than "The Rolling Years," by Agnes Sleight Turnbull, so we had no hesitancy in getting her new book, "Remember the End," a story of the Pennsylvania country where Mrs. Turnbull grew up and of which she writes so vividly. This is particularly a story of the coal industry there, and of vital human characters.

Every since getting "The Exile" than which Pearl Buck has never written anything better, we have wanted "Fighting Angel," so were glad to add it to our list at this time. "Fighting Angel" was the missionary father whose life was bound up in his work in China—a life so fully shared by The Exile mother. "East Wind, West Wind" is also another of Pearl Buck's Chinese stories.

Constantly we are feeling the need of a better knowledge of the Indian peoples, especially those nearest us. This book, "Quanah, the Eagle of the Comanches," was written by a woman who was the daughter of pioneers, the widow of a pioneer officer of the Old West and was published by the Harlow Company in Oklahoma City. Quanah Parker was perhaps the most colorful Indian character whom we know, the son of Cynthia Ann Parker and her Indian chief husband, who lived all the earlier years of his life an Indian fighting for his own and his tribe's right to live their own traditional life. Quanah led his people in their last great fight at Adobe Walls, led them in their resistance to the government, and finally led them in their capitulation. Still their leader, he became the trusted friend of two presidents, a familiar figure in Washington and the White House. Mrs. Tighlman has told the story simply and beautifully, and very interestingly.

Readers everywhere are watching the progress of plans for the filming of "Gone With the Wind." The latest is that David O. Selznick is thinking of making it a serial picture with two or even three pictures. James Hilton's "We Are Not Alone," is being filmed with Paul Muni as the doctor.

"Northwest Passage" is to be filmed in technicolor in May, and $275,000 has been paid for the screen rights to "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" by Robert E. Sherwood, the highest price ever paid.

While J. Frank Dobie is thrilling his readers with his new book, "Apache Gold and Yaqui Silver," he is "baching" in one of the CCC cabins up in the Chisos Mountains in the big Bend Park area working on his next book, "Texas Longhorns." He seems to regret that the Longhorn is becoming "too civilized." Dobie says baching is easier than it used to be, that "there's almost nothing you can't get out of a tin can." The nearest town is 84 miles away.

Mrs. Frank White, Jr., went to Hollis, Okla., Monday on business in connection with his hatchery.

The Bank Check

—is one of the most efficient of modern business devices.

Over ninety per cent of all the business of the nation is carried on by means of bank credit. It is in the form of deposits which are transferred by checks in settlement of business transactions, ranging from a few dollars to several million dollars.

For large amounts and small, for short errands within the community, and long ones to distant points, the bank check performs its work, swiftly surely, safely and economically. In addition, bank checks help in the book-keeping of those who use them and establish a legal record of payments.

These business services are available to you through a checking account at this bank.

Keep the Horse In Front
By T. C. RICHARDSON, Secretary
Texas Breeder-Feeder Association

There ought to be some sort of livestock and poultry on every farm in the Southwest. It offers means of increasing farm income, besides distributing both labor and income throughout the year. "A farm is not a farm without its barnyard noises," said some wise man. The whole theme of these articles is to encourage and in some small degree to point the way to a balanced farming system in the Southwest which will relieve the uncertainties of crop-farming. But—

And it is a great big "but"—we must be careful to not get the cart before the horse. Farm livestock and poultry are primarily a means of manufacturing raw materials—feed and pasturage—into more usable and salable forms. If the farm hasn't the feed—at least a large part of it it is not ready for livestock. We have all seen the tragedy of feed shortages, forcing the sale of animals at a sacrifice or keeping them at an excessive cost by purchasing feed.

What the farm flocks and herds live and thrive on next winter depends on the kind of feed and above all, the amount of feed to keep them growing and producing 12 months in the year. The feed must precede stocking the farm with feed-consuming fowls or animals, and now is the time to start producing the feed.

"Livestock without feed is a farm tragedy" says Sam A. McMillian, who ought to know, for he has, like many of us seen too many tragedies of "going into" the livestock business without the fortification of feed supplies to avoid having to "go out" under pressure.

We Americans are constitutionally inclined to "bores with a big auger," to think a business beneath consideration if it isn't a big business. It is mighty easy to over-estimate the carrying capacity of a pasture, to "guess" we have feed enough for twenty cows or a hundred hens and find out, too late that we have feed enough for only half as many. It is not only a matter of safety, but a matter of profits, to have more than enough rather than less.

Livestock and poultry are not like annual crops—they grow and require feed 365 days in the year. The very fact that they go on producing when crops are not growing is what makes them valuable in the farm set-up. But a few well-fed every day are better from every standpoint than many half-fed, or well-fed for a few months and half-starved the rest of the year.

There is just now a sort of "boom phychology" in certain types of livestock, especially beef cattle, sheep and hogs. The prices of these animals have held up better than most other farm and ranch products which is always a temptation to over-stocking. "In at the top and out at the bottom" is the sad history of many business enterprises, including every sort of farming enterprise. It is scarcely necessary to say that the "in-and-out" is seldom the winner in any line of business.

But Southwestern farms must have livestock and poultry, each in proportion to the size and type of farm. It is essential to the present as well as the future of farming in this favored region. All I am trying to say here is that we must "grow into" rather than "go into" that phase of sound farm management, and "growing into" it means growing the feed ahead of the consuming needs of the livestock.

As we plant feed at this season we plant the eggs for the Christmas market, the cream for every day after summer pastures fail, the fat hogs and beeves of next winter and spring, the fat turkeys for Thanksgiving. Let's not get the cart in front of the horse.

After six years of recovery, it seems pretty hard to understand unemployment figures remaining at record peaks, and relief expenditures at all-time highs.

The winner of the $50,000 first prize in a recent movie quiz contest says her first act will be to buy a new home. This may be her first act, but let's hope she doesn't spend it all, for next she will give a large share of it to the tax collector.

commercial banks, insurance companies, savings banks and other pools of capital which formerly directed their funds mainly into private investments, have put about 17 billion dollars into federal securities, compared to about $1,100,000,000 into corporate securities. Local Dairy Judging Teams To Be Entered In Plainview Show

Clarendon High School's Vocational Agriculture Department will enter dairy cattle and dairy products judging teams at the twelfth annual Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show to be held in Plainview April 18-22.

A group of local farmers will also attend the event, stated John Gillham, vocational agriculture teacher.

At the show they will find that this year as never before the entertainment features of the show will be stressed. This is especially true for the night program, each of the five nights of the show.

"As an added attraction for this year, there will be a fireworks display one night of the show; a square dance calling contest is tentatively planned for another evening, and contract has already been signed with one of the best carnivals in the show business, and a number of new features in connection with this carnival are expected to add to the entertainment of visitors, say show officials.

Educational features of the show are expected to be of unusual interest this year according to Miss Lucille Shultz, Hale county home demonstration agent, who is a member of the educational division. Exhibits educational displays, lectures, team demonstrations and judging demonstrations are all to be used to bring the work of this division before dairy show visitors.

The usual departments of the show will be maintained this year, and superintendents have been announced as follows: Production—Wayne Thoms, county agent Ochiltree county, Perryton, assisted by D. M. Carroll, Plainview, tester for the Central Plains Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

Dairy Club Show—D. R. Bredthauer, county agent, Floyd county; vocational agriculture dairy cattle judging contest—N. C. Fine, Texas Tech; vocational agriculture dairy products judging contest—M. D. Pederson, Texas Tech.

Wheat Adjustment Payments to Farmers Will Begin Shortly

COLLEGE STATION, March 28.—Merchants doing business in the wheat sections of the state are expected to start late in April to feel the stimulating effects of an estimated $3,500,000 increase in the purchasing power of approximately 50,000 Texas wheat farmers eligible to receive wheat price adjustment payments.

Instructions for making applications for the 1939 wheat "parity" payment have been sent from AAA state headquarters here to 132 counties, and it is believed that nine-tenths of this state's wheat farmers will be entitled to payment for acreage reduction this year.

Jess Watson, wheat farmer and state AAA committeeman representing the Wichita Falls area, explained that the wheat price adjustment payment of 11 cents a bushel is made on the average yield of the 1939 allotment, and that it supplements 1939 conservation checks on wheat expected to amount to more than $5,000,000 to be delivered next winter and spring.

An estimated total of $3,600,000 in 1938 conservation payments on wheat is now in the process of distribution.

While the Texas wheat acreage to be harvested this summer, largely because of the farm program, will be an estimated 390,000 acres less than last year, Watson pointed out that the reduction is more than offset by payments.

"At average prices and yields for the past ten years," he figured, "the 390,000-acre difference between 1939 and 1938 would be worth about $3,900,000. Texas farmers will get more than twice that much in 1939 conservation and price adjustment payments."

San Francisco citizens will wear gold rush period or Spanish costumes during the seven-day celebration preceding opening of the California World's Fair—or face a kangaroo court.

Milk Leads Farm Cash Income

The rising tide of farm cash from milk has added nearly $440,000,000 to the dairy farmers' income since the low of 1933. Figures on the milk cans show total farm cash income for each year in millions of dollars.

MILK led all products as the largest single source of farm cash income in 1938 with a total of $1,430,000,000. This was only 6.5 per cent less than the 1937 figure of $1,530,000,000 according to the Milk Industry Foundation and was $440,000,000 greater than the low of 1933.

"All farm cash income dropped 12.9 per cent, government reports show, from $8,208,000,000 in 1937 to $7,150,000,000 in 1938, excluding government payments," the statement said.

"These figures show the importance of milk as a mainstay of farm purchasing power. They are particularly impressive because milk production was estimated to be from 4 to 5 per cent greater during the year and sales of fluid milk

April 2-9 Spring Clean-Up and Fire Prevention Week For Texas

The week of April 2 to April 9 has been proclaimed State Clean-Up and Fire Prevention Week by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel in an official proclamation issued at Austin. State and city-wide clean-up campaigns are scheduled over the state, these campaigns to facilitate public health protection, lessen fire losses and promote public safety, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

The cities and town of Texas will conduct programs of far-reaching activities. Scheduled for inclusion is cleaning, draining, graveling of streets and alleys, cleaning city parks and play grounds, malaria control, fire prevention, garbage and trash disposal and spring house cleaning for homes and business establishments.

The observance of good sanitation principles indicates the necessity of prompt removal of all waste matter in and around homes to lessen the spread of disease, notably diseases affecting infants and children. Clean-up week is designed to focus attention upon the dirt and disease problems of the state.

Spring clean-up week provides an opportunity for the proper disposal of fire-generating accumulations. A check of homes and business establishments to unearth conditions which are favorable is important so that remedial procedures may be instituted.

Clean-up Week gives each citizen an opportunity to investigate cleanliness of services which affect health conditions in his home. As a citizen you have the right to know whether your water supply is pure, whether your milk comes from a clean dairy, whether your community makes use of proper sanitation methods, whether your home has proper sewer connections and plumbing installations. You should make it a point to better inform yourself on the sanitary measures carried out in the various divisions of your municipal government and in business.

The idea of Spring Clean-Up Week in Texas is that it be an intensive, one week period of scrubbing, raking painting, etc., and it is hoped that spring clean-up week will generate a standard of Cleanliness in each community which will be carried on for the succeeding weeks of the year.

Simpson's Mill Adds Complete Mixing Service On Feed

Donley county farmers and cattlemen have long been forced to sell their cattle at a low price to mid-west feeders who have made a big profit in 90 to 120 days feeding, because they have had the facilities for feeding a finished ration of just the proportion needed at ready command.

This difference has been wiped out now since A. W. Simpson, of the Simpson Mill has completed the installation of a complete feed grinding and mixing unit that can produce a mixed feed in any percentage and do it swiftly. This large capacity mill equipment offers a service here which will enable local farmers to bring in their feed for grinding and mixing on any basis they need—and in a very short time can drive home with the feed sacked and every sack mixed in uniform proportion.

"We invite our Donley county farmers to come by and see our new equipment in operation," said Mr. Simpson. "The economical service should add many dollars to local income in the years to come."

West Likely To Be Confirmed As Highway Head

AUSTIN, March 29.—The third appointment of Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel to the important chairmanship of the state highway commission—J. M. West, one of the Southwest's richest men—apparently headed today for quick senate confirmation.

Appointment of the capitalist, oil man, lumberman and rancher had been awaited with interest because the position is important, in that the commission spends more than $40,000,000 a year, and previous choices by the governor had failed due to opposition in the upper legislative branch.

Confirmation of Carr P. Collins of Dallas, the governor's close friend, was refused ostensibly because of Collins' residence. Another member of the commission, Harry Hines, has an office in Dallas and critics of the appointment said it would give Dallas and North Texas two of the three commission seats.

The governor's second appointment, J. C. Hunter, Abilene oil man, aroused a storm of criticism in the senate from East Texans who charged O'Daniel should have chosen an East Texan to succeed an East Texan, John Wood of Timpson, whose term was supposed to expire Feb. 15.

Favorable comment from both East and West Texas senators led capitol observers to believe confirmation would be forthcoming soon. Senator Allan Shivers of Port Arthur, chairman of the governor's nominating committee, said the group would meet shortly and predicted its approval of West.

The governor, in an interview, said he had known West for some time and that the capitalist made no application for the post.

"I went to him and was most happy to obtain his acceptance of the nomination," the governor said.

"I have been impressed with the personality of the man and the great success he has achieved in the business world. He has all the qualifications necessary for the position and the state is indeed fortunate to obtain the services of a man of his ability and experience."

Although West's name had not been mentioned in speculation, the appointment came as no great surprise.

"The appointment is mighty fine and I think there will be no difficulty over confirmation," Shivers said.

West came to Texas as a young boy was educated in schools of this state and in early manhood entered the lumber business in East Texas. He is a native of Mississippi.

He has been prominent in civic and business circles in Houston where he has resided since 1905. He recently sold some ranch and oil property for a consideration estimated at $40,000,000.

His salary for the part-time job as highway commissioner will be $4,000 a year.

Robert Lee Bobbitt of San Antonio is present chairman of the commission and will retain his membership.

CHOSEN BEST HATTED

Grover Whalen, pres., N. Y. World's Fair, 1939.

Fred Astaire, stage and screen star.

To be well-hatted on all occasions, both social and business, American haters say that a man should own twelve hats. With this in mind, they recently picked twelve men in the United States whom they consider the best hatted.

The twelve are: Marshall Field, Chicago merchant, banker and sportsman; Jack Dempsey, New York, former heavyweight champion; Herbert Bayard Swope, New York journalist and president of the New York State Racing Commission; Adolphus Busch, 3d, St. Louis, sportsman; Grover A. Whalen, president of the New York World's Fair 1939; William Gaxton, New York, musical comedy star; Tyrone Power, Hollywood, movie star;

James Melton, New York, radio and screen singer; Bing Crosby, Hollywood, radio and screen star; Fred Astaire, New York and Hollywood, stage and movie star; Robert (Bob) Cobb, owner of Hollywood's Brown Derby restaurants, and vice president of the Hollywood Baseball Club; and Frank M. Chapman, Jr., Hollywood, singer and movie star.

The twelve hats decreed by the haters for the well-groomed man's wardrobe are the high silk, the folding opera, the black or midnight blue soft hat, the derby, the homburg, the snap brim, the off-the-face, the lightweight felt, the sports hat or Tyrolean, the straw sailor, the panama, and the semi-sport straw.

New Texas Almanac Is Compendium of State Information

From "AAA" to "Zinc" the new Texas Almanac, just published by The Dallas News, covers practically every question that might be asked about the economics, politics, government or cultural progress of Texas. The new book has 512 pages, is illustrated with a number of charts and half-tone reproductions of photographs, and contains a large folded sheet showing the highways of Texas on one side and railway and county map of the state on the other side.

If you want to know the things in which Texas is first among the states, or in the names and areas of the Texas state parks, or the amount of retail business done in each county and town, or the name of the sheriff of Brown county, or the winner of the Dixie series in 1936, or the size of Buchanan Lake, or the kind of soils found in every county, turn to the Texas Almanac.

Rare varieties of the tropical orchid are found native in one or two places in Texas. More than 30,000 deer were killed in Texas legally in 1938. There is more than $3,350,000,000 (billions) of life insurance in force in Texas. Cost of Texas government increased from $33,489,724.83 to $147,747,877.57 in 1938. Texas paid last year $145,551,279 in federal taxes. A Texas man, Mr. Thomas V. Munson of Denison, originated and introduced more hybrid grape varieties than any other person or agency in the United States. More than 300 new manufacturing plants were established in Texas during 1938. The University of Texas has the largest library in the South. These and other facts may be obtained from the Texas Almanac, which very appropriately bears the subtitle, "Encyclopedia of Texas."

The new edition brings up to date all of the material carried in the Centennial Edition of 1936 and, in addition, has a number of new features. It is the best proportioned, most varied edition to date, and it is more attractively bound and printed than ever before.

In connection with the issuance of the Texas Almanac this year. The Dallas News is offering prizes in a "Know Your Texas" contest in public schools. The contest has been prepared and is being directed by Dr. Carter Alexander, library professor of teachers college, Columbia University, New York, who also offers a course each summer at the University of Texas. The contest has the approval of the State Department of Education.

The Texas Almanac sells for 50c paper bound and $1.00 a copy cloth bound on local newsstands, or may be obtained directly from The Dallas News, Dallas, Texas, by adding 15c to the price to cover postage.
