Donley Old Settlers Will Gather For Annual Picnic Tomorrow

STAMP PLAN WILL BE RESUMED IN COUNTY SOON

Donley County's Cotton Stamp program, which was temporarily stopped last week by orders from state AAA officials, will start moving in earnest before the end of August, it was forecast this week by Walter J. Flynn, Donley ACA secretary.

A number of the cotton stamps already had been distributed to farmers who reduced their cotton acreage below quota allotments before the stop order came through, but these farmers will be only a few weeks ahead of their neighbors in sharing the benefits of the program, it was said.

Officials who are to audit land measurement figures for the county are due in Clarendon about August 18 to 21, Mr. Flynn said, and the stamp program will be reopened soon after their arrival. A routine check of the measurement was found to be necessary before the plan could be continued.

As soon as the "go ahead" signal is received, farmers who are eligible to receive cotton stamps will be notified through the mail, Mr. Flynn said. They can then come in and get their stamps, which can be used for purchase of any cotton goods made entirely of cotton in the United States.

REVIVAL TO START ON AUGUST 15 AT LELIA LAKE CHURCH OF CHRIST

With evangelist M. C. Cuthbertson of Pueblo, Colorado, preaching, an extended revival meeting will begin Friday night at the Church of Christ in Lelia Lake. The revival will extend over three Sundays, it is reported. Special song services will be held at each service, with home forces doing the singing.

Clynnell Gibert is vacationing this week in Burbank, California.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO BOYS RANCH FOOD DRIVE COMING IN

With the Giles Pioneer Club heading the list of group contributors, the "Give a Can Per Person" drive for the benefit of Boys Ranch near Tascosa was gaining ground in Donley County this week, according to county agent, H. M. Breedlove.

The Giles Pioneer Club is headed by Mrs. A. E. Ranson as president with Mrs. R. O. Kelly as secretary. Other members include Mesdames E. M. Glass, E. H. Watt, F. G. Watt, J. A. Lemon, Roy Stott, A. E. Ranson, Jr., J. D. McCants, J. E. Bailey, and M. L. Sims. It has an honorary member, also, E. H. Watt, who is 81 years old. The Club was organized in 1920 by women who live near Giles, and it has not missed a regular meeting since. Club members heard of the need at Boys Ranch for home-canned eatables, and they chipped in together and raised a shipment of 27 quarts of fruits and vegetables for the underprivileged boys at the ranch. Along with the canned goods went a club-made quilt which will help keep some boy warm this winter, and the group is busy quilting another to go with the first.

Individual contributors to the canned goods drive early this week included Joe Horn, who gave six quarts of canned goods, and Hermesmeyer Bros., who gave two quarts.

Mr. Breedlove is acting as chairman of the drive in Donley County, and Doss Palmer of Clarendon has taken on the job of delivering the contributions to the ranch. All donations of canned goods will be welcomed, and a list of contributors will be published as well as broadcast over station KGNC at Amarillo, it was said. Donors can bring or send their canned goods to Mr. Breedlove or Mr. Palmer, who will forward them to the Ranch.

Park Concert By West Texas Summer School Band Is Well-Received

BAND MEMBERS ASKED TO MEET FRIDAY FOR TRIP TO OLD SETTLERS PICNIC

Members of the Clarendon Band will meet at the Junior High building Friday morning at 10 o'clock, to depart for Tate Grove near Hedley, director Ray Robbins announce. The band will play a concert immediately on arrival at the grove, to open the annual Donley Old Settlers Reunion program, and will also play another concert following a basket dinner at noon. Director Robbins urged every band member to be at the school building on time, so that the group can be at the Reunion as soon as possible after 10 a. m.

Light band music under the stars proved attractive entertainment to a moderately large crowd of Clarendon residents Monday night when a 70-piece band composed of student musicians and their instructors played a one and one-half hour concert in City Park.

Youthful and adult members of the band all are students of this week at West Texas State College's annual summer band school at Canyon, and the local concert was the first of a three-day series which the group presented in a number of Panhandle cities as a sort of field trip. The musicians in addition to Ray Robbins included seven Clarendon Robbins, local band director, who was responsible for the band concert here. Local musicians who took part in the concert included Nelda Sue Burton, Clyde Benton Douglas, Pat Grady, John King, Naomi Morris, Annie Ree Porter, and Margaret Faye Wadsworth.

H. E. Nutt, Chicago musician who heads the teaching staff at the summer band school, acted as program director and commentator during the evening. Directors of school bands in Texas, Arkansas and New Mexico were introduced, each to conduct one selection. Greeted by a spontaneous ovation, Clarendon's own Ray Robbins took the baton to direct one of the best-received numbers on the program—"Americana," a descriptive overture.

A feature of the program was the solo appearance of Mrs. Nutt, instructor in twirling and flag swinging at the school. Against a snappy march background, she demonstrated a fine technical skill in baton twirling as a solo number, and led a group of student twirlers and flag swingers in a group number.

Following the concert, the visiting musicians were treated to cold drinks and watermelon, furnished by local civic groups as a gesture of typical Clarendon hospitality.

Though the concert included only one familiar piece of music, the national anthem, Clarendon music lovers who found it an enjoyable way to pass a summer evening, wished that other and similar concerts could be looked forward to, in the summer and early fall nights to come.

OUTSTANDING JULY 4TH FLOAT WINS FIRST AT DALHART XIT PARADE

News has been received here of the winning of first prize in the XIT Parade at Dalhart of the float built here for the 4th of July Celebration, by Lee Bell, Pastime Theatre manager. Mr. Bell leased the float to J. C. Parker of the Dalhart theatres, who adapted it to the XIT theme, "manning" it with pretty rangers.

Outstanding in the parades here, the winning at Dalhart brings added laurels to Mr. Bell and his decorative ability.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Thompson, Joan, and Ernest left Tuesday morning for Colorado Springs, Denver, Estes Park, and Cheyenne, Wyoming. They will visit with their son, Neel, who is an instructor in Cheley Camp near Estes Park.

COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD MEETING ON AUGUST 20 WILL BE IMPORTANT

An important business session of the Donley County school board will be held in the county superintendent's office the afternoon of August 20, according to Miss Ruth Richerson, county superintendent.

The board will meet for the purpose of approving contracts, bus drivers, bonds, and bus route maps for the coming school year, Miss Richerson said. It is imperative that all bus drivers be on hand, with their buses, for the meeting, since State Highway patrolmen will be there at that time to check the buses for compliance with state safety laws. The meeting will start at 1:30 p. m.

HEARING ON 1942 COUNTY BUDGET SET FOR MONDAY

COUNTY TAX RATE WILL BE SET ON HEARING DAY

Donley County taxpayers will have a chance to place their approval or disapproval on plans for spending their county tax money during next week Monday, when the Commissioners' Court has scheduled an open hearing on the county budget for 1942.

The day will be important in another way to taxpayers also, since the Court will set the county ad valorem tax rate for 1942 following the hearing on the budget. The county tax rate for 1941 was 85 cents, which with a state tax of 69 cents made a joint rate of $1.54 per hundred in ad valorem taxes on county property. For next year, the state rate has been fixed at 58 cents, a cut of 11 cents from last year, and county taxpayers stand to gain a substantial tax saving if the rate is not raised.

In compliance with state law, a hearing must be called each year before the budget for the coming year, beginning January 1, is adopted. At that hearing, the budget must be read, and if so desired by taxpayers present, explained in detail. Approval of the budget as a guide for county management must be given by the taxpayers present before it can be adopted. As a rule, however, budget hearings in most counties draw slim attendance and small interest, the budget being approved and adopted without any close study of the expenditures it purposes. In line with the law, the hearing at the courthouse in Clarendon Monday will be open to the public, and the budget will not be adopted until approved. After it is adopted, the Commissioners Court will set the tax rate for the coming year.

Another local tax agency already has taken the latter step. City officials met Wed., looked over lowered valuations on city property for the coming year, and gave up hope for reducing the city tax rate. It was left at $1.10, which was the rate this year. The Clarendon Independent School District Board will meet tonight to set the tax rate. No change in the present $1.00 rate is contemplated.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Knorr returned the last of the week from Battlecreek, Michigan, and other points.

CARL MORRIS IS GIVEN AMERICAN FARMER DEGREE

Carl Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Morris, was notified today that he has been selected to receive the highest individual honor given by the national F. F. A. Council—the American Farmer degree—at the national F. F. A. Convention at Kansas City in October.

The American Farmer degree will go this year to only 24 youths in Texas, 154 in the entire nation, ample evidence of the high standards set by the award council. The degree is the goal of each of more than 200,000 F. F. A. members in the United States—a goal which few of them ever reach.

Morris was president of the Clarendon F. F. A. chapter in 1939-40, and has been a member of the Chapter's winning judging and stock-raising teams for more than two years. In his F. F. A. career, he has stacked up an imposing array of more than 300 prize ribbons, and has won over $650 in prize money on exhibits of livestock and poultry. To receive the degree, Morris will go to Kansas City in October, on an expense-paid jaunt to the national event, two others having been made as a member of the local chapter's prize-winning judging team.

PLANS DRAWN FOR NYA FIELD HOUSE PROJECT HERE

Plans drawn by Guy A. Cardlander, Amarillo architect, for the proposed NYA-built field house at Broncho Stadium were submitted to the Clarendon school board for study this week.

The plans call for the low brick building to be erected in the southwest corner of the Stadium, utilizing existing rock walls of the stadium for exterior walls on a distance of 65 feet from the wall corner. Other walls to allow for a building 19 feet in depth from front to back, would be built of used brick salvaged from the dormitory building at Clarendon College.

The structure would house two locker rooms for both local and visiting athletic teams, with completely equipped shower rooms adjoining each locker room. It would be floored with concrete, and with modern interior equipment would provide the most convenient possible arrangements for athletic participants.

The tentative proposal of district NYA headquarters to erect the structure has been favorably received by the school board, and definite action on the plan must now come from NYA. This action was expected to materialize soon, with actual construction to follow soon after.

DONLEY 4-H YOUTHS ATTENDING MEET AT LAKE McCLELLAN

With County agent H. M. Breedlove, several Donley 4-H boys are attending a district 4-H encampment at Lake McClellan this week. The encampment opened Tuesday, and will continue through Saturday, it was reported, with a big crowd of 4-H'ers from all over the Panhandle enjoying themselves with the recreation facilities available at the lake. In addition to Mr. Breedlove, the Donley contingent includes H. C. Shaw, F. G. Crawford, Jack Ballew, and Jack Lewis.

FORMER CLARENDON SCHOOL HEAD RESIGNS COLLEGE DIRECTORSHIP

J. E. Nelson, who will be remembered as a former superintendent of schools in Clarendon resigned his position as directing head of the San Antonio Junior College last week. Nelson left Clarendon to take the San Antonio position in 1926. His plans for the future were not revealed.

SCHOOL BUILDING REPAIRS MOVING ON SCHEDULE

Progress on repairs and remodeling of the Clarendon College properties was going just about on schedule this week, according to school officials, who said present prospects were that the College main building would be ready for occupancy by the time college and high school classes convened for the opening of the 1941-42 session, early in September.

Most of the heavier work of reconstruction has been completed on the main building, and a crew of painters was busy on interior work there this week. The auditorium section of the building still is unfinished, as all efforts are being turned to completing work on classrooms first, before work on the auditorium is begun. Too, this section of the project must wait until the job of tearing away one floor of the dormitory building is completed, so that materials salvaged there can be used, as far as they will go, in erecting an enlarged and modernized auditorium.

At the dormitory building much of the work connected with tearing away the top floor has been done. According to the contract schedule, only the rooms housing the home economics, vocational agriculture, and band department must be finished before school opens.

ALL-DAY PROGRAM OF ENTERTAINMENT IS PLANNED

PROMINENT SPEAKERS WILL PAY TRIBUTE TO OLD SETTLERS OF COUNTY

It will be a big day for old-time residents of Donley County Friday, when the annual Reunion and picnic of the Donley County Old Settlers Association will be held at Tate Grove near Hedley.

One of the oldest and largest associations of old settlers in the Panhandle, the Donley Old Settlers Association has only one requirement for membership—residence in Donley County for at least twenty years. The Association's picnic and reunion has been held for a good many years, and is the kind of event older folks look forward to with anticipation from year to year. Tate Grove, on Tom Tate's farm near Hedley, has been the meeting place for the reunion at various times since the Association began to hold the annual event, and last year members voted to make the Grove a permanent meeting place. Mr. Tate is the Association president this year, and Mrs. Joe Crawford is secretary-treasurer.

The program tomorrow will offer all the kinds of entertainment which have proved to be a favorite of Association members in years past—band concerts, old-time string band music, group singing, short talks by prominent old-time citizens, and a big basket dinner at midday. The proceedings will be started soon after 10 o'clock Friday morning, when the Clarendon Band arrives to render an opening concert under the baton of director Ray Robbins.

Included in the forenoon program will be the speeches by old-time speakers, musical numbers, and the annual business session of the Association. Speakers will be introduced by J. C. Estlack, and their remarks will be limited to ten minutes time. Business of the Association will include election of officers for next year.

At noon the old settlers and their families and friends will enjoy a basket dinner, spread from baskets brought in the old-time style by each family. The afternoon program will be given over entirely to music, with another band concert, string band performances, and group singing scheduled to fill the afternoon entertainingly.

The reunion and picnic is open to all residents of Donley County or elsewhere who care to attend and renew acquaintance with the friends of other days. Only requirement of the Association is that those who attend bring their own basket dinners. Plenty of coffee and iced tea will be furnished by the Association.

Mrs. Fred Wewerka and sons, Hap and Freddie, and Mildred Martin of El Reno, Oklahoma and Helen Martin of Pampa spent Tuesday here with Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Shaver and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Taylor. They stopped off enroute to their home after having vacationed the past several days in New Mexico and Colorado.

WHAT HAS A PATRIOT TO LOSE?

The News differs with Senator O'Daniel and all others who would seek to discharge our draftees at the end of their one-year's service, at a period when national peril threatens more than it has in a century.

One fact, it seems to us, has been grossly overlooked; and that is, all male citizens of military age, are always subject to military service for the duration of any emergency, whether or not there has been any previous indication that such a condition existed. In other words, our boys are subject to service without time limit, now, whether or not they have ever been in uniform, and regardless of any service they may have rendered.

What has a patriot to lose, if a present definite term of military service is extended, or declared indefinite according to the nation's extremity?

President Roosevelt and the army chiefs of the nation are right when they say we cannot afford to lose the accumulative training our selectees now have. The men should stay in service as long as the danger threatens. Our men would not wish it otherwise.

What has a patriot to lose, if his country loses through misguided sentiment?

THE PINCH COMES TO HITLER

The pinch that forecasts the beginning of the end for Hitler's cruel reign as despotic despoiler of Germany and Europe, is becoming increasingly plain.

Hitler's u-boats and sea raiders have been slowed to a standstill in the Atlantic, his Luftwaffe is divided and demoralized to the point of inefficiency on the Western front, and not doing too well against the Red air forces; his diplomacy of rebellion and intrigue in South America and other parts of the world is discovered and routed; his blitzkrieg has lost its blitz; he is being forced to fight on several fronts; German morale is questioning and showing signs of cracking; his surpluses of oils and gasoline for power attack is alarmingly diminished; and winter is coming on.

"V" for Victory is sounding ominously on all sides of Hitler strongholds. The pinch is hurting more, day by day, as American aid increases, and the initiative is passing more and more into the hands of those who will wipe Europe clean of the madman's dreams, schemes and deviltries.

FAIR CROPS, GOOD PRICES, GOOD BUSINESS

It begins to appear that the Panhandle section of Texas will score a fair crop in spite of every delay and difficulty that came along with the excessive rains of the late Spring and early summer.

It is apparent that world conditions will dictate better prices for farm products this Fall, than we have enjoyed for many years.

It is logical, then, to conclude that the Panhandle section is due for good business this Fall and Winter—something we have all been waiting for.

It is not too early to begin now to prepare our plans and perfect our organizations to take care of the best business we have known in the last decade.

Happenings That Affected the Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Tax Bills of Every Individual. National and International Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare.

In wars, as in horse races, the long shot occasionally upsets the dope and comes through for a win. Some of the experts are now cautiously hazarding the guess that this may prove true of the Russians.

When the German-Russian war began, the bulk of the military authorities reluctantly agreed that Hitler was probably right when he said that it would be over in six weeks. Those six weeks and more have now passed, and the Russians, instead of retreating in confusion, are said to be planning gigantic counter-attacks. The Germans have not taken any areas of major importance. The Red air force, which, according to German claims, was almost totally destroyed in the early days of the fighting, is still very much in evidence and is giving excellent support to the Soviet land forces. The Red mechanized equipment, which was supposed to be second-rate, has, according to some reporters who have seen it in action, actually proven equal and even superior to the German. Most important of all, the morale of the Russian people—military and civilian alike—seems to have proven far more staunch than anyone expected.

Germany has not lost the Russian war. It would not come as any great surprise if Hitler's forces yet succeeded in taking Moscow, Leningrad and other key cities. But these would be hollow victories unless, at the same time, Hitler was able to destroy Russian military power. So long as substantial Red armies remain in existence and fighting, Hitler will not be safe no matter how much Russian territory he succeeds in conquering. On top of that, Russian civilians have shown an almost suicidal fervor in destroying areas which have been evacuated, and in sniping at German troops. The Russians are fighting a total war in total fashion now, and they have demonstrated surprising courage.

Best of all, from the British-American point of view, is the apparent fact that Germany is suffering terrific losses. On August 2, the Russians claimed that 1,500,000 Reich troops had been killed, wounded or captured. That may represent a big exaggeration—neither the Russian nor the German propaganda ministries can be depended upon for the whole truth. But, if even a third or half that many German troops have been incapacitated, it is a severe reverse to Hitler. The first divisions sent into Russia were the cream of the German crop—the tough veterans of the Polish, French and Low Countries campaigns. No nation can create soldiers of that quality overnight. That may explain reports to the effect that the reserves Germany has lately sent into Russia have proven inferior in quality to the men who preceded them.

It also seems unquestioned that Germany has lost vast quantities of aircraft and mechanized equipment—and has consumed immense amounts of oil, that most precious of war materials. Russian bombers have been invading the Rumanian oil fields, and may have done considerable damage. And in the meantime, Britain has been carrying on determined, big-scale air raids against the Continent.

At the beginning, British spokesmen had little to say to Russian chances. They were frankly skeptical. Now they are saying that the Russians have actually stopped the Germans, and that there is no possibility of the campaign ending before the winter rains set in. If that is true, Germany will be in for a war of position—and that is precisely what Hitler cannot afford. In addition, Britain gets stronger as Germany gets weaker. This war isn't over yet—but not since it started has the outlook been so good for the Allies.

In time, news of the German reverses and losses is bound to seep through to the German people, no matter how much baloney Dr. Goebbels puts out through press and radio. Then, think some, German morale will start to crack. It is a fact that in the last World War, Germany went to pieces in a matter of a few months, and the main reason for that was the collapse of morale at home. Will it happen again?

Congress has again demonstrated that a considerable and influential bloc of its members are dead set against levying direct taxes against persons in the lower income brackets.

That happened when President Roosevelt requested a number of changes in the new tax bill, one of them being to lower income tax exemptions to $750 for single persons and $1,500 for married persons. The House Ways and Means Committee promptly turned this proposal down by a decisive majority. That really is something, when you remember that the President's prestige was never greater.

Practically every economist of note is in complete accord with the President's views, when it

Q. Can you settle a controversy as to whether or not there were ever any buffalo in East Texas?

A. According to notations in a dairy kept by J. M. Allen who was surveying land for Stephen F. Austin on the lower stretches of the Brazos river, Buffalo were plentiful in this East Texas area. Bascom Giles, Commissioner of the General Land Office, quotes from Allen's dairy for February 25, 1833, as follows: "Killed two buffaloes and one comes to lowering exemptions. One purpose of heavy taxation is to reduce consumer purchasing power, as a means of combating price inflation. The bulk of the increased purchasing power resulting from war spending is going into the pockets of the laboring groups. Yet it is these groups which will be most favored if our present tax policy is continued, even as the middle-income, white collar groups will take the worst financial beating.

There is going to be a big battle on this tax bill in the Senate, where the President's suggestions will probably carry more weight.

A. Mrs. R. M. Thompson, editor-publisher of the Goldthwaite Eagle, is the authority for the answer to this question: "The county of Mills was created and organized in 1837 from Brown, Comanche, Hamilton, and Lampasas counties. It was named for Judge John T. Mills, although it is generally thought to be named for Judge Roger Q. Mills. The City of Goldthwaite was named for a Mr. Goldthwaite who helped build the first railroad through the community and who resided for some time here. The high school, known as the Ella Goldthwaite High School, was named for Mr. Goldthwaite's wife.

SPECIAL EMBLEMS DESIGNED FOR PARACHUTISTS

A silver emblem depicting a winged parachute, opened for descent, which will be worn over the left breast just as Air Corps pilots wear their "Wings", has been approved by the War Department for wear by qualified members of the U. S. Parachute Troops, Sergeant Harvey M. Gist, U. S. Army Recruiting Officer at Pampa, Texas, said today.

The new emblem, designed by Captain William P. Yarborough, a well known pioneer parachutist of the 501st Parachute Battalion, is unofficially termed "The Silver Badge of Courage" by Army men because it is worn only after the parachutist has proven himself capable of undertaking the daring and adventurous duties assigned to him, Sergeant Harvey M. Gist said.

Embryo parachutists volunteer from other branches of the Army and are carefully selected for their strength and athletic prowess, their intelligence and their ability to handle different types of weapons, he explained.

Then they must undergo months of special drills designed to familiarize them further with their weapons and attend study periods in which they learn related subjects which will be important to them.

Many weeks are spent, too, in packing and re-packing their parachutes so that eventually they may trust their lives to them without hesitation. During all this time they undergo a rigorous routine of calisthenics, tumbling, boxing and competitive exercises designed to put them into top physical condition.

In order to qualify for the rating "Parachutist" and the additional pay authorized, they must finally complete six jumps from an Army transport plane, one from 1,500 feet, one from 1,000 feet, two from 750 feet and two mass jumps from 750 feet.

Only after this strenuous, but far from tedious training has been completed, and the qualification jumps accomplished, may the young parachutists wear "The Silver Badge of Courage."

APPLICATIONS FOR NEEDY BLIND AID BEING ACCEPTED

The Texas State Department of Public Welfare began taking applications this week for aid to the needy blind, as provided for in the new Social Security legislation passed this year, it has been announced.

Blind persons in Donley County who are interested in filing applications for assistance should bring or send their names and addresses to the county case worker's office at the court house in Clarendon. A representative of the State Welfare Department will then call on each person and receive his or her application. No applications will be accepted by the county case worker, who is acting only as forwarding agent to pass the names of eligible persons on to the Welfare Department, it was said.

In order to be eligible to receive Aid to the Needy Blind, an applicant:

- (1) Must be twenty-one years old or older;
 - (2) Must be blind within the definition of the Department;
 - (3) Must have resided in Texas continuously during the 12-month period immediately preceding the date of application and for four additional years out of the last nine;
 - (4) Must not be an inmate of a public institution at the time of receiving aid;
 - (5) Must not be publicly soliciting alms;

for MODERN living

In the early days, medicine show quacks sold crude oil for a dollar a bottle as a cure for all human ills.

Today hundreds of essentials for modern living are made from oil. It supplies heat for the home. It provides power for the Nation's machinery and transportation. It lubricates the gears of industry. It furnishes fuel for your car. It has shortened distances to make our Nation one big community.

America is safer today because of petroleum. The oilman's initiative and enterprise have made available to the United States the world's largest supply of petroleum.

In all this, Texas plays a leading part. Last year we supplied 36 per cent of all the Nation's oil, and now have over half of the Nation's oil reserves.

You and every American live more comfortably and safely today because of Texas petroleum.

Garden Glances

Presented weekly by the Garden Club

"America the beautiful lies in the hands of the gardeners"

The dry, hot weather is damaging the gardens to a very great extent although there are many interesting things to see in spite of the heat.

The crepe myrtle is beginning to produce a bright touch in the gardens. The orchid and watermelon pink crepe myrtle in the yard of C. C. Gilbert are very interesting and showy. This is one of the latest flowering shrubs and it is an asset to any garden.

Heavenly blue morning glories draped gracefully over the fences welcoming the early visitor to the garden are found in the yards of Nathan Cox and U. J. Boston. Scarlet O'Hara morning glories are also entwined with the blue in the Boston yard.

The phlox on the lot of Sam Dyer gives a bright picture to the garden glances. The iron settee adds a touch as gay as a stage setting.

A general renovation has been given to several lots of the town. Mrs. A. H. Baker's property has been given a great deal of care. This will present a favorable impression on the many tourists that pass through the town.

The Assembly of God Church has made a great improvement on its grounds showing quite an interest in their place of worship.

An article from "The Flower Grower" magazine gives this suggestion. Lawns clipped two or three inches high do not dry out quickly or become infested with weeds. Lowering the roller makes a mower cut high. The taller grass will protect the roots, cause the roots to develop better and go down deeper in the soil thereby producing a harder

THIS BUSINESS OF Living

BY SUSAN THAYER

... and she meant "we"

It was an old fashioned farm house kitchen with a big kerosene stove for summertime use in front of the coal range. A roller towel hung on the back of the door into the dining room and a short-handled pump perched above the running water. It brought back memories of kitchens I had known as a child so when I was invited to sit down for a glass of cold milk and some cookies, I gladly accepted.

My hostess, in a fresh house-dress and an ample kitchen apron, went back to her job of paring potatoes and dropping them into a big yellow crock which she held on her lap and I thought how far away it all was from "wars and rumors of war" and the colossal production effort in which our own country is now engaged. But as we sat there discussing the road I had stopped to ask about, the weather and cookie recipes, this world I was trying to forget suddenly broke in upon us.

"They tell me," she said, "that we built more airplanes than ever last month—over 1,400 of them, I believe."

"Yes," I said, perhaps showing my surprise, "and there will be more next month, and still more the next..."

She nodded her head. "I know. You see my son works in the big airplane factory 100 miles from here and my daughter spends part of each week keeping track of things down at the tool shop in the village. They're making something that they use on planes, too. I'm not sure just what, but they're busy as anything. It's awful, of course, to think of us having to take so much of our efforts away from the production of peace-time goods to the building of armaments. On the other hand, it's pretty wonderful to think we can turn to and do it when we have to."

She said "we" I noticed, and she meant we. For although she is a farmer's wife, living on a remote farm, she feels as if she has a vital part in the work industry is doing. Her children are actually part of it and her own sympathies and interest are with it as it turns out the equipment for defense.

We may have various ideas about what course the nation should take in the months to come and we express these ideas loudly so that we sometimes look divided. But on one thing we are certainly all agreed. That is that America must be made strong and that the plants and factories of the nation are now at work for the interest of us all.

No matter where we live or what we do, it is actually "our" effort and "our" success as the planes and tanks, the guns and ships, roll off the assembly lines of industry.

The first national forest was created in March, 1891, when President Benjamin Harrison withdrew from entry 1,250,000 acres of public lands in Wyoming. This tract now is part of the Shoshone and Teton National forests.

DISTRICT BAPTIST ENCAMPMENT SET AUGUST 18 TO 24

The sixteenth annual session of District Ten Baptist Encampment will meet the week of August 18-24, 1941, at Ceta Glen in Ceta Canyon, nine miles south of Canyon, on Highway 87 and twelve miles east on graded road. Dr. W. R. White, President, Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, will be the inspirational speaker this year. Other outstanding personalities to appear on the program includes Dr. W. W. Melton, Dallas, Executive Secretary, Baptist General Convention of Texas, who will speak twice on Tuesday, Aug. 19; G. S. Hopkins, Dallas, Training Union Department; Judge E. S. Summins, Abilene, President, Baptist Brotherhood of Texas; Mrs. J. Walton Moore, China; Rev. J. N. Hunt, Borger and Rev. J. C. McKenzie, Amarillo. Reverend Hunt will be the speaker for the daily morning Watch.

Ira M. Powell, Borger, President, Rev. W. A. Flite, Canadian, Chairman Program Committee, and James I. Payton, Canadian, Business Manager, have spared no effort or expense to provide a most excellent program, and comfortable accommodations on the grounds. The best in a musical program is offered under the direction of H. Paul Briggs, Pampa, with Mrs. Ira M. Powell, Borger, as accompanist. Dr. White will speak each morning at 11:10, and each evening at 8:00 o'clock.

A recreational program including swimming, soft ball, hiking, horse shoe pitching, darts, dollar pitching, croquet, etc., will be an added attraction for all. Rev. E. L. Bowman, Hartley, will direct the recreational program for men.

The Encampment is open for all to attend, and visitors are cordially invited to go and camp for the entire period, or attend for one day or one service. It is the desire of the Encampment administration to make Ceta Glen Baptist headquarters for the entire Panhandle area the week of August 18-24.

registrants and the old registrants in any respect whatsoever. They are treated exactly alike. The same rules of deferment apply to both. Both have the same right of appeal. The interests of both are protected by the government in the same manner. BUNK FLIER SPINS IN!

"Bunk flying," Flying Cadet slang for the constant stream of aviation chatter that goes on in the barracks, can be more hazardous than the real thing.

A student pilot at Randolph Field, Texas, is nursing a badly sprained wrist, received when he "spun in" from a chair.

He was illustrating a steep turn he had executed in his BT-9 training plane, gesticulating to add emphasis. His precarious perch on the edge of the chair was too much. Down he tumbled, his wrist giving way under the strain.

"Too steep for safety," his flying instructor remarked the next day, when other Flying Cadets informed him of the mishap.

The Low Down FROM HICKORY GROVE

If you squint over the shoulder of the person next to you on the train or wherever you are, you will see, 9 times in 10, that it is the picture page they are perusing.

Away back yonder, years ago, a chewing tobacco outfit always advertised with just pictures—no reading matter. Folks who chewed couldn't read, they said. But I don't know if it is the same now, with people who look at the funnies versus reading editorials, etc.

But anyway I just ran into a picture of a fellow, where it showed him scratching his head and looking at a calendar. He was pondering plenty. The artist had fixed up the calendar so you could see, if you work five days a week, you work all day Monday and part of Tuesday to pay taxes. You only keep the money you earn on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, and part of Tuesday.

The picture was not on the funny page, but if you missed it, you don't need to worry. The tax collector, when he rings the door bell, he will tell you all about it. He is quite a duck, that way.

TEXAS OUT-O'-DOORS

Licenses Expire August 31
Austin, Texas, August 12—Warning that all types of licenses issued by the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission expire August 31, was issued today by the executive secretary of the Commission. Licenses for the 1941-42 fiscal year are being mailed all license deputies in the state and sportsmen, commercial fishermen, fur dealers and all other persons required to purchase licenses under the law will be able to obtain them during the last week in August.

Beaver Trapping Under Way
The taking of beaver, the first of a series of trapping operations the Texas Game Department will carry out during 1941-42, is under way. The busy little dam builders are being trapped along the south fork of the Llano River and are being transported to several sections of the state.

There is a surplus of beaver, on the Llano, while several parts of Texas can support beaver, but have few, if any. A large number of the beaver will be released in East Texas.

Most landowners consider beaver beneficial. Dams built by them slow up the flow of streams and create pools which are of benefit to livestock and game birds and animals.

That beaver can construct dams of gigantic proportions where ever they are needed is attested by a report received from Mississippi recently. A dam 1,080 feet long, three times the length of a football field, was built in Kemper county. It backed up water until a lake of eighty acres was formed.

Trapping of game birds and animals is part of the restocking process used by the Texas Game Department. Six or seven crews will be placed in the field this fall and winter, the executive secretary has announced. This is double the number used during 1940-41, when the number of antelope, deer, turkey and other birds and animals taken was twice as great as in any previous year. Improved methods of trapping has made the operation more economical and effective.

Kills Black Jack Rabbit
The first black jack rabbit to be reported to the Texas Game Department was killed recently by J. G. Caudle of Willacy County. A black cottontail was found in Jack County several years ago. Black denizens of the wild are extremely rare, although a black buck deer was captured recently by a rancher in Comal County. The black jack is being mounted and will go into a collection owned by Gene Smith.

Dr. Oberholser Retires
Dr. Harry C. Oberholser, internationally known ornithologist who is well known in Texas, has retired from active service with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Dr. Oberholser, 71 years of age, was scheduled to retire last year, but President Roosevelt signed an order extending his appointment one year to give the scientist time to finish a three-volume 2,000,000 word work on the birds of Texas.

21-YEAR SELECTEES IN EQUALITY WITH OLDER DRAFTEES

Men who registered under the Selective Training and Service Act on July 1 and whose order numbers were determined in the National Lottery on July 17 are subject to the same rules of individual classifications as the youths who were enrolled previously. General J. Watt Page, State Selective Service Director, emphasized today.

Under no circumstances will the new group of potential trainees be classified and considered for possible military training on block, the General declared. Each man will have his order number by which his local board will consider his classification and no local board can classify the individual registrant until his number is reached, except in case of volunteers, he said.

The second National Lottery served as a guide for every local board to integrate its new registrants among those who registered last autumn, and that integration must be carried out so that the recent registrants will consider their classification only in a fair and equitable ratio to those men not yet inducted, General Page declared.

General Page pointed out that it was obvious that the new registrants who had received the relatively low order numbers would be classified sooner than those who had received the higher numbers.

"I'd like to stress the fact again," General Page said, "that there isn't any difference between the treatment of the new gists who is well known in Texas, has retired from active service with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Dr. Oberholser, 71 years of age, was scheduled to retire last year, but President Roosevelt signed an order extending his appointment one year to give the scientist time to finish a three-volume 2,000,000 word work on the birds of Texas.

Dr. Oberholser is the author of some 800 technical and popular publications on birds. He was the first to describe and give scientific names to more than 650 bird forms. During his years with the Federal agency Dr. Oberholser became known in legal circles for his ability to identify species of wild birds by examining their bones or feathers. He was frequently called into Federal and State courts as an expert witness in cases involving wild duck bootlegging and sellers of other migratory birds.

Mowing Machine Harmful
The mowing machine has long been recognized as one of the worst "predators" on nesting birds. The Texas Game Department along with practically all other state agencies of a similar nature, has long advocated the use of flushing bars on mowing machines. A report from Wisconsin reveals the latest figures on the terrific toll taken by mowing machines. More than 60 per cent of the nests under observation of Wisconsin biologists were destroyed by mowing machines.

Side Glances On Texas History

By CHARLES O. HUCKER
University of Texas Library

"Taking them all around they were the most peaceful community I ever lived in."

Regular readers of this column, remembering the stories recently retold here of the Council House Fight at San Antonio and the great Indian invasion of 1840, may be surprised to learn it, but the testimonial quoted above—the testimonial of a respected white man—refers to the same Comanche tribes of old Texas who played so prominent a part in those bloody events.

The witness was old Noah Smithwick, author of a book of memoirs called "The Evolution of a State" which is one of the most human and most popular in the Texas Collection of the University of Texas Library. And Smithwick ought to have known whereof he spoke, for in 1837—"putting my life into hands red with the blood of my race," as he said—he visited the Comanches of Central Texas for three months as a Texas peace commissioner.

The Other Point Of View
During his stay Smithwick naturally learned much of the ways of Comanche life, and the more he learned the nearer he came to a true understanding of the nature of the inevitable struggle between his people and the Indians. He saw clearly, that it was a struggle for subsistence by the Indians against white men whom they thought of as poachers on their inherited property and ruthless destroyers of their God-given herds. He gave that point of view perfectly in the words of an old chieftain:

"We have set up our lodges in these groves and swung our children from these boughs from time immemorial," the old chief said. "When game beats away from us we pull down our lodges and move away, leaving no trace to frighten it, and in a little while it comes back. But the white man comes and cuts down the trees, building houses and fences, and the buffaloes get frightened and leave and never come back, and the Indians are left to starve, or, if we follow the game, we trespass on the hunting ground of other tribes and war ensues."

The Comanche At Home
Against these white men, therefore, the Indian fought with every weapon and with every bit of cunning he could command so that he and his people might survive. But in his own tribe, he was as good a citizen as you could find, according to Smithwick. For the Comanches lived together at peace among themselves—lived according to a religion, a rigid set of common laws, and a tradition of communal cooperation that are seldom understood and appreciated by moderns.

Besides, Smithwick found, the terrifying Comanches had many little human habits to which his own people were—and are—devoted. For instance, he wrote, whenever neighboring tribes got together for a friendly visit a tremendous "bull session" soon developed at which all of the braves swapped lies most seriously. Quaintly enough, too, the warriors of different tribes often insisted on carrying on these sessions in the sign language, "not seeming to understand each other's language at all, though it all sounded the same to me."

"That the Comanches were brave," Smithwick summed up, "no one who had occasion to test their courage will deny. I never knew a warrior to submit to capture; they fought to the death. On two different occasions—I saw a wounded buck lie flat on his back and fight till dead. And in spite of all that has been told of their reacherous nature, I have good reason for asserting their claim to some noble traits of fidelity."

100 Years Ago In Texas
"We perceive—with the exception of the Gazette of this city—that all of Gen. Houston's newspapers have dropped Anson Jones, as a candidate for Vice President, his chance being looked upon as worse than hopeless. We further learn from letters from the lower country, that Gen. Burleson's election is considered certain, even by all parties."

"Postscript—Next week we will pay our respects to the Gazette's attack of yesterday, upon the military order authorizing the people of Victoria to defend themselves, against the kidnappers, abductors and murderers of our Western citizens. The editor of the Gazette is in good company with his Matagorda co-laborer in abusing his government for repelling such outrages—Query—Is Col. H. Millard, the letter writer of the Gazette, the same who ran for Congress in Jefferson county,

REG'LAR FELLERS

New Record "Thrills" President

President Roosevelt received 1941 Infantile Paralysis Campaign report showing net proceeds far above all former totals. The report was presented to the President at the White House by Keith Morgan, National Chairman of the Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday, and Basil O'Connor, President of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The total of $2,104,460.53 exceeded the former high record of 1940 by 49.5% or $697,214.79. The campaign closed January 30th last, President Roosevelt's 59th birthday and nearly 14,000 celebrations were held throughout the land. With the President, left to right, are: Keith Morgan, D. Walker Wear, Assistant National Chairman of the Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday; George E. Allen, Vice-President of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis; James Forrestal, Vice-President of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, and Basil O'Connor.

I was more fortunate than many boys—my father was a "drummer". That's what a traveling salesman was called in those days. And he used to take me along much of the time, when I was quite small.

There was the thrill of riding on the train (this being before the era of the "horseless carriage"), and of looking over the wonderful wares of the "news-butcher", including glass pistols and glass telephones, filled with small, round, red bits of peppermint; California oranges, California grapes and California figs—it seems that all the fruit was from California in those days—even the chewing gum was called "California juicy fruit"—and such classics of literature as "Slow Train Through Arkansasaw" and "I'm from Texas— You Can't Steer Me."

The conductor was an awesome individual in regal blue uniform with fifty, or maybe more, gold buttons; the brakeman was nearly as important as he hurried down the aisle at night with a lantern on his arm or stood in the door and called out sounds that were supposed to be the name of the town we were approaching. Even the porter, in his white coat, played an important part as he purveyed sandwiches—two thick, thirst-provoking slices of white bread with a tissue of cold boiled ham in between, and the porter again came into prominence as darkness set in, with a flame at the end of a long steel rod, he lit the lamps.

Sometimes my father would hire a horse and buggy and the livery-stable and we would visit inland towns, stopping now and then along the country lane while he tacked up a few signs, using a marvelous hammer that had a magnetic tip which would hold a tack.

But it was the travel by train and received two votes, and one of them his own? If so, he is a sagacious observer of public sentiment!"—The Texas Centinel (Austin), August 5, 1841.

DR. KILDARE FILM MOST EXCITING OF LONG SERIES

"The people vs. Dr. Kildare" provides Lew Ayres, Lionel Barrymore, Larine Day, and others with adventure and comedy as they turn medical detectives to solve the problem of a malpractice suit in what is hailed as the most dramatic adventure of the popular "Kildare" pictures.

Ayres plays defendant and principal detective. Production details include the staging of elaborate operations and the addition of new "departments" to the hospital kept intact at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for the medical-detectives series.

The highlight of the courtroom sequence is an eloquent plea by Lionel Barrymore who, in a similar address to a jury, won the Academy award for his performance in "A Free Soul."

Harold S. Bucquet, who has directed the entire Kildare series to date, again directed. Unusual camera work by Clyde De Vinna ing—but more on the subject a little later.

highlights the operation and X-ray sequences. The guest star spot in the series is filled by Bonita Granville, of "Gallant Sons," "Escape" and other pictures, who plays the glamorous ice skating star plaintiff, and Red Skelton has been added as the principal comedy picture in the picture, based on a story by Lawrence P. Bachmann and Max Brand.

Plays include Alma Kruger, Paul Stanton, Diana Lewis, Walter Kingsford, Nell Craig and Tom Conway. Thrills include the motor crash, roadside emergency operation, ambulance dash, the tense moments of the final operation, and the dramatic courtroom sequence which leads to the climax of the new picture.

"The People vs. Dr. Kildare" will be on the Pastime screen next weekend, starting Saturday midnight, and continuing through Sunday and Monday.

COUNTY GRAIN GROWERS SEEK GOVERNMENT LOAN ON GRAIN SORGHUMS

With grain growers of other Panhandle counties, Donley County grain men have asked Commodity Credit authorities in Texas for a special government loan on grain sorghums, according to Walter J. Flynt, Donley County ACA secretary. If allowed, the loan would be 56 cents per bushel. Figures supporting the county farmers' plea for the loan were requested by state CCC officials recently. Mr. Flynt, and a decision as to whether the loan will be allowed is expected soon.

Mrs. Bill Close and children are visiting here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Morrison.

COMMISSIONERS COURT AUTHORIZES DIVERSION OF LATERAL ROAD FUND

In a move of cooperation with the Texas Highway Department toward further construction on Highway 18, the Donley Commissioners Court this week authorized the State Board of County and District Road Indebtedness to transfer the county's Lateral Road Account to use instead on Highway 18.

The fund involved in the transfer holds $3460.54 to the credit of Donley County. The court's action was intended to make this sum available for use on the one main highway project, instead of on a number of lateral road jobs.

By MRS. C. A. BURTON

Three new books, each of them a best seller, heads the library's contribution to the pleasure of its readers this week. They are "The Keys of the Kingdom" by A. J. Cronin, which heads the list of best selling fiction in about 75 of the largest book stores in the United States—and of which Library Notes told you last week—and "This Above All" by Eric Knight, which comes second on the list. The third is the most talked of book dealing with world conditions just now—"Berlin Dairy", by William L. Shirer, Berlin correspondent of the Columbia Broadcasting System from 1934 to 1940. It is described as the first uncensored and intimate account of Germany in the Second World War—the private, personal, utterly revealing journal of a great foreign correspondent in which he tells the things he saw and experienced during the seven terrible years in which Hitler rose to power and conquered most of the continent.

His is the voice that millions of Americans learned to know during the first year and a half of the war, as it came to them night and morning over the airwaves from Berlin. It was said that his subtle inflections and American slang told much of the truth of conditions, even with Nazi censors standing at his elbow.

Shirer was born in Chicago in 1904, and attended Coe College at Cedar Rapids, Iowa—worked his way abroad on a cattle boat for the summer—and stayed for fifteen years. From 1925 to 1932 he was European correspondent for the Chicago Tribune, then in 1934 he became chief of the Berlin bureau of the Universal Service. He is one of the people who has the faculty of being on the spot when anything important happens. This has been especially true of these late years. He has seen the whole of this war from its inception and in "Berlin Dairy" he tells what he saw—the great events that have shaped world history for the past seven years and the small revealing incidents which show how it is with the people of Germany. He saw the hoisting of the first Swastika flag over Vienna, heard the rumbling of the Nazi tanks into Poland, the crashing of the German troops into Belgium and France, the coming of the first British prisoners to Flanders—and on and on. Already 314,300 copies of his "Berlin Dairy" have been printed—and it is counted the most authentic of all the books on Germany.

"This Above All" by Eric Knight is—in contrast with Shirer's book—fiction, but it is war fiction—the present war. It is described as "powerful, dramatic, deeply moving, its action compressed within the space of one tense and critical month in the late summer of 1940—after Dunkirk. In terms of its poignant and unforgettable love story it brings into sharp focus the panorama of a whole nation fighting not only to defend its ancient liberties, but to bring to birth the new and better England that is yet to be."

The author of "This Above All", Eric Knight is an Englishman, born in 1897. His Quaker father was killed in the Boer war. His mother went to Russia as governess in a Russian noble woman's family, leaving Eric at school in England. When he was twelve he ran away from school and began working in the mills. He served in the World War for four years, coming out unscathed but his two brothers were killed. Mr. Knight had his first novel published in 1937, followed by two others. His last story before this was the delightful dog story which our readers are enjoying, "Lassie Come Home."

A lovely little story for the wee people was given us this week by one of our constant readers, Elba Jean Ballew—and a short time ago another one of our staunch friends, Shirley Price, while here visiting her grandparents, the J. T. Patmans gave us a lovely story for girls. We often wish that our older readers would do likewise—give us the books they have read and enjoyed that others might read and enjoy them—not pack them away never to be read again perhaps.

William Allen White, author and editor of Emporia, Kansas, is interceding for Richard Krebs who is known to the world as Jan Vaitin, author of "Out of the Night"—asking that Governor Olson of California grant him a pardon in order that there may be no possibility of his being sent back to Germany. Krebs—Jan Vaitin—once served a sentence in San Quentin prison and was paroled, but no application had been made for a pardon. The California governor gave assurance that he would give the request every consideration.

William A. White said this of "Out of the Night" and its author: "He has helped more than any other man to remove the illusion from the minds of literally hundreds of thousands of Americans, to the evil of the totalitarian way of life in its communistic expression." He also made the statement that the return of Jan Vaitin to Germany would mean a certain death.

Sir Rabindranath Tagore, the noted Indian poet who died a few days ago wrote his last poem on the day he underwent the operation which resulted in his death in a Calcutta hospital. The poem was entitled "Death", statement that Walt Disney and

The daily press carried the sixteen members of his studio left this week for a two-months visit to South America to produce a series of short animated pictures incorporating literature, legend, humor, music and customs of the people who are our neighbors to the south. This acquaintance with their literature should do much toward extending the "Good Neighbor" feeling.

Booth Tarkington promises his reading public a new novel in November—to be entitled "The Fighting Littles". One can only guess as to the significance of the title.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Collinson and sons, Ralph, Jr. and Rodger of Torrington, Wyoming are visiting here this week with Mr. and Mrs. C. T. McMurtry.

Helen Louise Green of Claude spent the weekend here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Green.
