CLARENDON NYA HOME TO CLOSE DECEMBER 12

ALL NON-DEFENSE WORK CURTAILED BY BUDGET CUT

OVER 200 GIRLS HAVE RECEIVED AID THROUGH LOCAL PROJECT

The Clarendon National Youth Administration's resident center for girls will be discontinued December 12, as the Bureau of the Budget and Congress further tighten the purse strings of non-defense spending.

The announcement was made last night by Jennings T. Lewis Lubbock Area Director of the recently formed seven county-two county district, and Harold V. Hamilton, assistant Area Director.

"It is much regret that we must close the project," the two NYA officials said. "Clarendon has long been one of our most valued centers. However, with defense spending mounting daily, the Bureau of the Budget and Congress have impounded a large amount of our operating funds and girls projects have been reduced drastically throughout Texas."

Out of the seventy-two counties in the Lubbock Area, of which Clarendon is included, only one girls project in Coleman remains open. Closed in recent weeks were girls projects in Amarillo, Childress, and Memphis in the old Amarillo Area, and many others in the former Lubbock and San Angelo areas. During the three years of operation over 200 girls have received work experience in the Clarendon home, it was estimated last night by Miss Eula Joyce Burleson, supervisor.

Miss Burleson told the News that she believed salary expenditures for the three years would surpass $10,000 including girls wages, supervisory payroll and money received from the state board of Vocational Education in instructor's salary.

J. R. Gillham, chairman of the NYA advisory committee and secretary for the sponsors, declared that rent, groceries and other expenditures would total at least $9,000.

For this sum underprivileged girls of Donley and nearby counties have had an opportunity to receive work experience in all phases in homemaking, first aid work, home care of the sick, arts and crafts, home gardening, hospital training and clerical work.

Howard is a graduate of CHS, and completed his course as an "aggie" at Texas Tech last June.

Collie Huffman of Lubbock spent the Thanksgiving holidays here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Huffman.

Goldston Community Doubles Red Cross Quota As Other Cheering Reports Come In From County

MAN UNINJURED IN CAR-TRAIN CRASH AT ASHTOLA

FAILED TO SEE ENGINE CROSSING PAVEMENT VICTIM DECLARES

George R. Bloodgood, tourist, miraculously escaped injury Saturday evening at dusk when the car he was driving plowed into a Fort Worth and Denver switch engine at the JA Ranch siding in Ashtola.

Bloodgood, whose car was heavily damaged, told Sheriff Guy Wright that because of the fading light of day he failed to see the engine and cars crossing the pavement, until he was within forty yards of the crossing.

Applying the brakes and turning right, Bloodgood managed to sideswipe the engine after the car left the pavement. He was thrown into the back seat by the impact.

Railroad employees told the officers that they had a flagman at the crossing.

OUR FARMERS MUST NOT BE FORGOTTEN

In these hectic times when the nation is put to it in maintaining peaceful relations of this group of labor, and that section of workers, there has been too little honest consideration for the needs of the American farmer. It goes without saying that the groundwork of American prosperity is based on adequate prosperity for the farmer. The News believes it is high time for our government to see that farm income is anchored to the higher levels of wages in industry. Delay will be costly to the entire national well-being.

The Texas Farm Bureau, meeting this week in Fort Worth, discussed the needs of the farmer, and after deliberation wrote Secretary of Agriculture Wickard in the following forthright language:

"Without exception, the farmer's attitude is that we must defeat Hitler but at the same time he is asking why builders of warships and warplanes, makers of munitions of war and members of the labor unions should be allowed to make large profits and high wages while the farmer is asked to increase the production of food for defense with no assurance that he will receive a living wage for his work.

"Mr. Wickard, too many Texas farmers are losing confidence in our Government and its promises to protect their right to make a fair living. Our farmers are patriotic. They are not on strike. They will not strike. But they want proof that our Government will see that they get the same sort of treatment that other groups are receiving in this great struggle."

Economic Highlights

Happenings That Affected the Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Tax Bills of Every Individual National and International Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare.

The great British drive into Libya could not have come as much of a surprise to the German and Italian garrisons. It had been rumored for weeks that the campaign was brewing, and it was known that Britain had been sending tremendous quantities of supplies to Africa. However, it is a distinct possibility that the Axis powers were surprised by the number of troops involved, and by the quality and extent of their equipment. It is probable that this is the first time in the war that Empire land troops have met Axis land troops without being definitely inferior so far as mechanized equipment is concerned.

The Libyan drive is providing a good test of American war materials. The 600,000 Empire troops engaged are largely equipped with American tanks, planes and other weapons. Trustworthy reports from the front cast great credit on American design and manufacture. It is said that the American tanks are definitely superior to German and Italian tanks of comparable size. Their armor is tougher, their fire power is as good or better, and their tracks permit going in terrain and under weather conditions which stop the Axis machines. The American Army has a General on the scene in the role of military observer, and he will be able to bring home very interesting and informative news.

Britain's purpose in shooting the works in Africa is manifold. First, it is of definite aid to Russia, by placing a strain on Axis troops and resources. A new front has been opened. Germany will not be able to move troops and equipment from Africa to help on the Eastern front. Instead, she may have to divert resources of men and material from Europe to Africa.

Second, the African campaign answers the Churchill governments critics who have been demanding more action. A sweeping British victory would do a great deal for Empire morale.

Third, it helps place Britain on an offensive, instead of a defensive, war basis. In other words she apparently no longer feels that she must keep all resources as intact as possible for purposes of self-protection. She now feels that she can carry the war to the enemy on a major scale. Fourth, and most important, from a military strategists point of view, is the possible effect of the Libyan campaign on Italy. If the campaign achieves complete success it will give the British possession of invaluable Mediterranean bases. These bases can and no doubt will be used to wage naval and air war against Italy on a terrific scale. In addition, a workable naval blockade could be established to prevent Italian shipping from leaving or entering home. Some authorities are confident that these methods would in time knock Italy completely out of the war, and force her to sue for peace.

On the Russian front, it is apparent that Hitler is getting farther behind schedule all the time. In addition, he is taking tremendous losses which may prove disastrous in the long run. The Russians claim that 5,000,000 German troops have been killed, wounded or captured. That is probably a great exaggeration. But there is no question but what casualties have been far heavier than Hitler's generals, who figured on a two-month Russian war, anticipated. In addition, the Russians have taken or destroyed vast quantities of tanks, planes, field pieces, etc. The resistance of the Russians soldier and civilian alike, is writing a new and heroic chapter to the military annals of history.

The Allies have certainly not won this war. But their gains in strength since the awful disaster at Dunkirk are nothing short of miraculous. Little more than a year ago it looked as if England was beaten, and that no force capable of even slowing the Nazis, much less stopping them, remained. Time has proven otherwise. And today, Time works against Hitler at last.

Judging by the tone of the government-inspired Tokyo press, one wonders why Japan went to the expense of sending special envoy Sauro Kurusu over here. The papers say with monotonous regularity and uniformity that all hope of maintaining peace in the Pacific is gone and that war is inevitable.

How Methusalem could have lived 960-odd years without the solace of tobacco—or why he would have wanted to—is beyond me.

And how did the world get along till 1942 without sweet potatoes, 'possums, 'coons, roasting-ears, Irish potatoes turkeys or watermelons?

Payments amounting to hundreds, and even to several thousand dollars, on an original loan of a trivial amount have come to the attention of the Better Business Bureau of Dallas, declares the bureau's consumer assistance supervisor, in discussing the loan shark situation.

Here are a few typical, not extreme cases: A sporting goods company employee borrowed $40 because of illness in the family. After he had paid $238, the loan company tried to get him fired, claiming he still owed the principal.

A taxicab driver borrowed $25 country have been Hitler-like—in other words, she will accept peace if she is given everything she wants.

One school of experts thinks that Japan may be stalling for time—that she is bluffing on the one hand and talking vaguely about understandings on the other, in order to keep the United States from definite action now. Every day that passes obviously makes it a harder job to unseat her from her position of military power in Asia. However, every day that passes also makes Japan weaker economically.

This government is giving absolutely no ground to Japan. The American attitude, in effect, tells Nippon that if she insists on conquest she will have war with us.

paid $169 and the loan shark claimed the borrower owed $26.40—in other words that he still owed $1.40 more than when he started. Even worse was the experience of a postal employee who borrowed $25, paid $448.50 and yet owed $28.75, according to the loan company. An elderly garbage wagon driver had to have $20 because of family illness. He paid and paid till he had been bled for $672 and the concern claimed he still owed the original amount.

That the evil is widespread and is not confined to the so-called underprivileged groups is shown by the fact that complaints have been received from employes of almost every business and industrial firm in Dallas and, Collier continues "from many of our professional, educational, governmental (federal, state, county and city) and religious groups."

Have a smile: An excited citizen said to a candidate, "I wouldn't vote for you if you were the Angel Gabriel." The office-seeker replied, "If I were the Angel Gabriel, you wouldn't be voting in my precinct."

Similar is the story of the two farmers who fell out over a boundary matter. Brown said, "I'll sue you in county court." Smith answered, "If I lose, I'll appeal to district court."

"I'll be there."
"And if I lose there, I'll fight you in the court of appeals."
"Well, I'll be there."
"And then I'll take the case to the supreme court."
"All right I'll be there, too."
"Then I'll fight the case plumb into h..."

"My lawyer will be there."
"The nation's machinery for producing all other natural resource materials and commodities needed for defense is being overhauled and retooled for greater output while oil—the most vital war need of all—is being held down to the same sort of pinched-in flow that was resorted to nearly a decade ago to bolster crude prices through scarcity," says the Houston Post, editorially.

"Sufficient oil should be produced and ready to meet whatever call the emergency may create... Holding down production to boost prices would be as patriotic as a plow-under policy

A child's love is natural and there are never any apologies or explanations. There should be none in true love.

When love must find its way through artificial means, life loses some of its charm—sometimes all of it. But with a child, love is not artificial and life is real.

That is why a recent two-inch story of 7-year-old Dorothy Lou Gravitt tucked away as a filler under columns of "news" telling of man's cruelty is interesting and helpful.

In the midst of a world torn and bleeding for lack of love little Dorothy Lou preached a sermon by a kindly and lovely deed.

Dorothy Lou walked into a hospital and said: "I just brought flowers for a lady—just any lady." Attendants learned her mother was in a distant sanitarium. "That is too far away for me to take flowers," said Dorothy Lou, "so I brought some for a lady here."

Two weeks later the little girl returned to the hospital—this time critically ill with typhoid meningitis. A week later she died in a room which townpeople had filled with flowers.

The world will remember Dorothy Lou's sermon. It was without text, division, or "in conclusion."

Mrs. Ruth Kennedy returned Friday from several weeks visit in Oklahoma City with her daughter, Mrs. Glenn Hess.

Sheriff Guy Wright and John Thomas and Ben Bales both of Hedley left Wednesday for Snyder where they will be witnesses at a cattle theft trial.

STARS SHINE IN "HOLD BACK THE DAWN"

Three of Hollywood's brightest stars shine in "Hold Back the Dawn," Paramount's strange and exciting romance which opens on December 10 and 11 at the Pastime Theater

The trio Charles Boyer, Olivia de Havilland and Paulette Goddard are a guarantee in themselves of super-entertainment. Add Director Mitchell Leisen and Producer Arthur Hornblow, Jr., the men who gave us "I Wanted Wings," and the film becomes an odds-on favorite, sure to justify the raves of preview audiences. Lavishly filmed, the picture's tense drama is lightened by moments of hilarious comedy.

"Hold Back the Dawn" tells the story of what happens when a cynical, unscrupulous European man-of-the-world attempts to crash the U. S. immigration barriers by marrying an unsuspecting American girl. Most of the action is set in a colorful Mexican border town, where Director Leisen has painted a screen picture filled with the humor, romance and tragedy of refugees from Europe's holocaust.

The dark-eyed Boyer, of course with Olivia de Havilland as his school teacher victim. The radiant Miss Goddard, armed with exotic glamour and all the wiles of the worldly wise, is Boyer's onetime dancing partner. Her jealousy lights the powder train that touches off the picture's explosive climax.

Director Leisen has made use of a curious technique in "Hold Back the Dawn," playing himself in one scene within a scene and then flashing the picture back to Mexico from the Paramount studios where the initial action takes place. The studio shots show Leisen actually directing scenes for another of his Paramount pictures "I Wanted Wings."

In making "Hold Back the Dawn" Leisen had the good fortune to work with a cast of featured players of a calibre rarely assembled for a single picture. Walter Abel is cast as a cynical U. S. immigration inspector with a heart of gold, a sense of humor and a passion for bright neckties. Victor Franzen, famous French stage and screen star, makes his Hollywood debut as a refugee Viennese professor. Others in the film are little Billy Lee, Curt Bois, Rosemary DeCamp, Eric Feldary, Eva Puig, Micheline Cheirel, Madeleine LeBeau and Mikhail Rasumny. In the "scene within a scene" brief glimpses are given of Veronica Lake, Brian Donlevy and Richard Webb as they work before a camera under Leisen's direction.

Critics and film notables who have seen previews of "Hold Back the Dawn" pronounce it the most unusual picture of the year and say it is high powered drama in which Boyer turns in the most exciting performance of his career. Miss de Havilland's rendition of the little school teacher carries her to new acting honors and even greater praise than accorded her for her outstanding portrayal of "Melanie" in "Gone With the Wind." Miss Goddard, according to all reports, really wins her spurs as a top-flight dramatic actress and establishes herself as one of Hollywood's most versatile stars. She stepped into her "Hold Back the Dawn" role directly from a Bob Hope set where she played a hilarious comedy part in "Nothing But The Truth." She has her moments of comedy in this film but has left the real laugh-getting to others notably Abel, Rasumny and Billy Lee.

Registered Duroc-Jersey Hog Farm Grows To One Of Donley County's Foremost Businesses In 5 Years

That the Southwest is still the Opportunity Land of the Nation is proven by the development within five years of a modern hog farm into one of the "big businesses" of Donley County.

Located a mile North of Ash-tola, is the Registered Duroc-Jersey Hog Farm, being operated by Goble Barker, and rated as one of the most modern breeding farms for registered hogs in the entire Southwest. Gilts and boars of this champion strain Duroc-Jerseys have been sold into many neighboring states, while in Texas Donley's Registered Duroc-Jersey Hog Farm has become one of the large supply sources for the Texas 4-H and FFA club boys for hundreds of miles. This is a distinct feather in the cap of this Donley County enterprise, too, for the club boys are reckoned as among the most exacting and intelligent judges of good stock in the buyer's field today.

Something like five hundred and fifty registered pigs have been farrowed during the past year, all of which will be sold by the end of the buying season in the next ninety days. The top herd boar was purchased from the famous Sand Springs, (Okla.) Duroc farm, and weighs some eleven hundred pounds. With this champion boar are several young-er champions to keep the Duroc standards up to the top level known in America, and the most modern methods in care and feeding is the rule day and night in the several pens and pastures used in bringing the pigs to marketable size and uniformity. Every precaution is taken to prevent infections and disease, with the result the percentage of loss is kept below the national minimum. The finest of row crop feeds are raised on the place, ground and mixed for feeding, utilizing Donley's super feed facilities in the most effective way. Modern machinery and equipment has been provided in every department of operation, so, all in all, the Registered Duroc-Jersey Hog Farm of Ash-tola, Donley County, rates among the nation's best at the Duroc-Jersey Association headquarters at Peoria, Ill.

Visitors are always welcome at this show place North of Ash-tola and Mr. Barker mixes his enthusiasm with simple courtesy as he shows the visitor over the property and points out the champion strain barrows and gilts, along with the boars and sows that have carried off honors in every show of any consequence in the Southwest.

1941 has brought to light the infinite care and high breeding maintained on the farm, for starting with grand champion award in the barrow class in the Donley County Fall Pig Show, entries purchased from the farm won championships at the Tri-State Fair at Amarillo, and many blue ribbons at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas.

This enterprise has become among the most potential in the development of Donley County, and is focussing the eyes of top-flight hog breeders all over the nation to its high standard of breeding which turns out such uniform individuals, hefty, symmetrical, hardy Duroc-Jerseys that will improve anybody's herd anywhere.

The apt slogan of the farm is "Pigs to Pigs, but it takes a Duroc to Make a Hog." Taken all together, the Registered Duroc-Jersey Hog Farm has become a prime asset of Donley County while it has achieved success for itself. Both will develop together as the years come and go.

DONLEY WOMEN IN RED CROSS NEWS

Due to the serious illness of the mother of the chairman, Charlotte Molesworth, of the volunteer service, much of the local news will be missing this week.

The hours of the knitting classes have been changed to three to five o'clock on the afternoons of Mondays and Fridays. They are being held under the direction of Mrs. George Norwood. Mrs. Paul Slaton, Mrs. Bill Riney and Mrs. Jack Molesworth.

HOW TO KILL A BRANCH

(An editorial from American Red Cross Aides of Mount Vernon, N. Y., and reprinted in "The Volunteer" for November.)

Here are 10 ways to kill a Red Cross branch:

1. Don't attend meetings, and if you go, get there late.
2. Never accept office. It is easier to criticize others than to have them criticizing you.
3. Don't do anymore than you have to and then when someone who will work, does, talk all over town about how the branch is being run by a clique.
4. If you have an idea, don't think of telling the head of the branch, just tell all the girls at your bridge club.

5. Get mad if you are not put on a committee, or get mad if you don't get elected to the office you think you should have.

6. Don't let them learn to depend on you. Keep them guessing all the time about whether you'll do a thing and then just forget all about it.

7. Get good and mad at some members of the branch and quit having anything to do with it or them. Don't resign—that gives them too much satisfaction and then besides they could get someone else to do the job you're unwilling to do.

8. Always be pessimistic. Especially about the branch ever growing into a chapter or making the quota at roll call.

9. Watch everything the officers do and run around telling the world at large how dumb they are.

10. Encourage your friends not to volunteer to the Red Cross for service, "because they have too many people working for them already for nothing!"

(When we got this far we thought up one that we think is VERY important and we can't resist sticking it in.)
11. Don't tell the publicity department about anything you do in your division. She might put it in the paper and someone would know about it!

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has developed a hybrid popcorn which gives a bigger and better pop and is more tender.

Santa Claus Letters

SANTA ASKS HELP OF CLARENDON NEWS

The Clarendon News will again play postman for Santa Claus and Donley County kiddies are asked to mail or bring their letters to us as soon as possible.

In a letter to the News this week Santa said, "I'm so busy these days that if you will take care of my mail it will be greatly appreciated. The newspapers have been so nice to me I feel free to call upon you for this favor. You see we are running behind in production and if all the letters are printed in your paper at once, my mail clerk elf can have them in order. Otherwise there would be such a rumbled stack that some might be overlooked."

Of course the News will be of any service possible to Santa Claus and our Donley County kiddies but we do urge that you bring us your letters right away. They will be printed in the regular Christmas edition on December 18.

REPAIR OF FARM MACHINERY LISTED IMPORTANT

COLLEGE STATION—M. R. Bentley, agricultural engineer of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service, is representing Texans at a farm machinery and equipment repair conference in Chicago December 4-5.

"Prompt repair and maintenance of farm machinery and equipment has always been a good farming practice," Bentley pointed out, "but this time it looks as if farmers will have to keep their equipment in working order or do without."

Defense requirements have reduced the materials for new farm machinery to about two-thirds of that used in 1941. The shortage will extend to such farm items as bolts, nails, pipes, wire, and bar and sheet steel. Every effort will be made to keep up the supply of repair parts.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture and the state extension services have launched a farm machinery repair program to help farmers meet the double challenge of an equipment shortage on one hand and increased agricultural production under the Food for Freedom campaign on the other.

ELECTION OF AAA COMMITTEEMEN TO BE HELD DEC. 19

BALLOTING TO FOLLOW SAME PROCEDURE AS THAT OF LAST YEAR

COLLEGE STATION — The State AAA Committee has set Friday, December 19, as the date for election of community committeemen and delegates to the county convention.

The same procedure will be followed in the committee elections this year as in previous years, George Slaughter, state committee chairman, said. Farmers in each community will elect three committeemen who will serve during the coming year. At the same time, they will elect a delegate and alternate delegate to a county convention which will be held the following day. The convention will elect the county committee of three members and two alternates.

"Selection of the right men to serve as committeemen is more important this year than ever before," Slaughter, a Wharton county farmer, declared. "The Food-For-Freedom campaign has resulted in more work for committeemen, and it is expected that the follow-up on the campaign will require that committeemen spend more time working with the program than in previous years."

REFERENDUM FOR COTTON MARKET SATURDAY 13TH

COLLEGE STATION—Markets for less than one bale out of every two bales on hand.

That's the situation cotton farmers are facing as they vote in the cotton marketing quota referendum Saturday, December 13, when they go to the polls for the fifth consecutive year to decide whether they want to continue the marketing quota system.

The total supply of American cotton in the world on August 1 was about 23,800,000 bales as compared with 24,900,000 a year earlier, Bert Tankersley, state AAA committeeman and Kaufman county cotton farmer points out. Of that amount, 23,000,000 bales, including a 12,000,000-bale carry-over and on 11,000,000-bale crop were in the United States.

Export markets will take about one bale in every 23 now in the United States the farmer-committeeman said, while the domestic market will take about 10 bales in every 23. This combined export and domestic markets will use about 11,000,000 bales of the 23,000,000 bales available.

"With supply more than double demand, American cotton farmers must consider carefully the importance of their vote in the referendum," Tankersley declared. "They must take into consideration the fact such a huge supply would have upon cotton prices if the supporting loan were not available. Rejection of quotas in the referendum will mean no loan in 1942."

Last year quotas were approved by 92.3 per cent of the growers voting in the referendum.

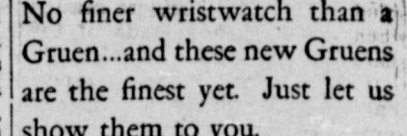

Mrs. R. M. Morris and Marshall Morris spent the weekend in Amarillo with their son and brother, A. J. Morris and Mrs. Morris.

NOTICES, ONE AND ALL

Hear ye! hear ye! fair students of Clarendon High. As Yuletide draws near, our thought begin to wander to dear old Santa Claus, and he will be very lonesome without an appealing letter from you. Sometimes, when hints seem more than a little out of place, an indirect method is very-y helpful. If no one will listen to your fervent cries, you have one upholding consolation—good old Saint Nick. Tell him you've been the best little girl and would like so much that fur coat in the downtown window (marked down to $999.99). Seriously, students, let's take part. In case you're too bashful to exhaust your own writing power concerning yourself, perhaps you have a friend (or an enemy) for whom you'll drop a note. The press-box is in the office, and it isn't there solely for decoration, either.

AN INTERESTING HOBBY

In the month of March and the year 1938, Mr. Charles Lowry started his widely known collection of stones. In his collection Mr. Lowry has thirty-seven framed pictures composed of arrow heads, spear heads, stone drills, and needles. In the first frame he made he put 125 stones. Mr. Lowry has stones from New Mexico, Canada, Alaska, Mississippi, New York, Nevada, Tennessee, Arkansas, Oklahoma, and Arizona. One of the most interesting cases has a group of small stones arrayed around a large red oblong stone. This red stone is made from the organic matter from a volcano. Another interesting case is composed of four stones shaped like animals. There is a bird, a frog, a lizard, and a turtle. Another collection is the flat fish hooks and bone needles. Mr. Lowry uses many designs to display his stones.

He has every piece of his collection numbered and kept in a book. This book tells where and how he got the stone. In all he has 2,354 pieces in his collection. If you have any thing of stone or copper that is old or belonged to the Indians take it to Mr. Lowry and let him see it. Mr. Lowry invites everyone of you to come and look at his collection in the West Texas Utilities Building if you have time.

THANKSGIVING AFFECTS

It seems as if the Thanksgiving holidays really affected the students as a whole. For instance:

Lou Alice Adams came to school with her sweater on backward.

Margaret Leathers completely collapsed Monday morning and on the freshly oiled floors, too. Roy Bulls had cut up so much that when he put on his nicely starched pants he was too weak to bend them.

Dorothy Rhodes was so rattled she had to wear her little sister's belt.

G. G. Reeves even forgot to wear his coat to school; however, he didn't think of it until it warmed up then he thought how much trouble it would be to have it.

On the other hand, some were helped by the holidays:

Frances Phelps was wide awake and her hair do was beautiful.

The excitement caused Lewis Chamberlain to put on a clean shirt, and Earnest Eudy to put on a real tie instead of a bow tie.

JUNIOR NEWS

We just received a special bulletin from the Junior class saying—"Don't forget that big dance Friday night December 5th. It is to be the largest dance of the year."

I am giving you a "guess who" this week.

She is a girl with light red hair, and blue eyes. She has really got lots of cute clothes, and is a good friend of Dorothy Ann's.

LET'S HAVE A CHRISTMAS CAROL PARTY

There are many ways of entertaining during the Christmas holidays; however, one that would raise a lot of enthusiasm among the boys and girls is a Christmas Carol party. If anyone should be interested it is easy to see that the students of C. H. S. would gladly cooperate. A few valuable hints will be of value, therefore, a few are suggested.

Let your guests arrive as they would for a party. After each guest has been cordially greeted by the hos- or hostess the caroling may begin. The party may travel from house to house. The caroling may continue as long as the party wishes. After the caroling is over the guests may return to the home of the hostess or host. Everyone is probably cold and tired from singing, consequently, they would need some thing to pep them up. Hot drinks, cookies, candy, apples, and pop corn balls make very appropriate refreshments. They are easily and attractively prepared. Any kind of entertainment may be carried on during refreshment time. After this the party may be adjourned.

This not only sounds like fun but it is. You will enjoy it and so will the shut-ins.

Someone take a hint and try this kind of a party.

GUESS WHO

Hi folks! Here's another personality of old C. H. S. I suppose you know how to figure this out by this time so here goes—

The answer to last week's "guess who" was H. A. Harrison.

—ways looking for a black Chevrolet.

—ever thinks about her former boy-friend.

—ice looking.

—ides around on Sunday afternoons.

—rques with certain people on the bus.

—nglish student under Mrs. Goodner.

—ou figure out the rest.

Mr. Harmon and his wife visited their homes in Guymon, Oklahoma, and Hereford.

Mr. Warden and wife visited in Lubbock and in his home at Ranger.

Miss Berry really covered territory. With Denton, her home, as headquarters she went everywhere around including Dallas.

WHO WENT WHERE DURING THE THANKSGIVING HOLIDAYS

Taken From The Broncho Range One Year Ago

Isn't it funny that Mary Nell and Tooter Johnson were at the same town during the holidays. Several went to Shamrock to see the football game. Among them were the football boys, Thad Lyle, and Mr. Warden. Dorothy Ann Kennedy went to Wichita Falls—what is to be the outcome?

Miss Berry — Denton! Fort Worth! Dallas! She gets around. Mrs. White—Waxahachie, not bad Mrs. White.

Mrs. Goodner's son, Paul Jones from Lubbock visited her.

Harold Donnell went back to Lubbock. We wonder why so soon?

Betty Ann Craft visited in Amarillo.

Freddy Chamberlain and June Miller being together seemed quite natural and brought back old memories as well as Betty Jo Caraway and Joe Williams, at Margaret's Thanksgiving dance.

The Cooke sisters gave a farewell dance honoring Carlton (Chick) Gordon, and Marlam Gordon.

Clarendon, Texas

December 2, 1941

Dear Suds:

This is my fifth epistle to you from me.

I hardly got to school this morning. I'm so bloated from turkey and dressing. Gee, I've even eaten so much turkey during the holidays that I got u this morning at 4:00 a. m. and started gobbling and strutting. Then I realized I only felt like a turkey and really wasn't one. Thursday we had turkey, Friday we had turkey, Saturday we had creamed turkey, and Sunday we had turkey soup.

When I was coming back to school on the train, I felt real queer I was the only white person on it. There was the cutest little chocolate drop baby in front of me. Its teeth were whiter than Bob Hope claims his to be. Finally, when I got off, someone told me that I rode on the colored coach. It wasn't colored, it was black.

I'll see you Xmas. I hope we don't have turkey. I'll give you permission to shoot all of our turkeys in our back yard.

Lots of foo, SOAP

Mr. Larimer and wife went to Denton, his old home town.

Miss Hall enjoyed her Thanksgiving in Ardmore, Oklahoma, even if she did have a little bad luck or misfortune, like a flat tire and going squirrel hunting and didn't even hit one.

Mrs. White went army on us. She visited Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio.

Exchange News

The county was occupied by troops on maneuvers. A battle problem had been in progress for nearly a week when a lady, approaching a bridge, was halted by a sentry. "Lady, you can't cross that bridge. It has been blown up."

"Blown up!" expostulated the lady. "You're crazy! That bridge is there where it has always been and I'm going to cross it!"

"No, you can't," replied the soldier. "That bridge has been blown up and I've been put here to keep people from going across it!"

Puzzled and perplexed, the traveler turned to a soldier standing nearby. "Is that man crazy or am I! He says the bridge has been blown up and I can see that it hasn't been touched."

"You can't prove anything by me," chuckled the bystanding soldier. "I've been dead for three days."

LEGION

During a thunderstorm the small boy in bed called to his mother in the next room. She said, "Don't be afraid. God will take care of you."

"Yes," he agreed and then complained, "But He's making so much noise I can't sleep."

—Country Gentleman

Navy Bill had broken with his girl friend. After ignoring several letters requesting the return of her photograph, one came threatening to complain to the captain. Deciding to squelch her for all time, he borrowed all the pictures of girls available on the ship, sending them to her in a large bundle with the following note: "Pick yours out. I've forgotten what you look like."

ASHTOLA

A Thanksgiving supper was enjoyed by the Ashtola community Thursday night. It was held at the Ashtola schoolhouse. Each family was required to bring a fully-planned meal and the food was served from long tables in the lunch room.

The menu consisted of turkey, corn, cranberries, pumpkin pie and everything the pilgrims had.

About seventy-five people were present. After the supper, everyone played games of dominoes, forty-two, and bingo.

"THE WOO WOO CLUB"

The Woo Woo Girls, a very new organization, entertained themselves and their—well a few local boys—with a dance at the home of Helen and Annie Ree Porter last Wednesday night. Members of this organization are Sue Burton, Annie Ree Porter, Margaret Wadsworth, Mary Nell Keys, and Helen Porter. Woo-Woo!

The evening began by the group attending the Thanksgiving service at the Methodist Church. Next (after following the fire truck all over town) they went to meet John King on the 8:41 train. No John—he missed the train in Dallas.

Then a race to Porter's house to eat and dance to everyone's heart content. Everyone knows or has heard about the swell refreshments that are always served at Porter's house. Sandwiches, cocoa, marshmallows, and candy; all set to the tune of some truly good music.

Around midnight the Woo-Woo Girls and their guests, "Tooter" Johnson, Jack Shelley, Harold Donnell, Bill Andis, John King, (who finally came on a bus) G. G. Reeves, Billy Lowe and Marilyn Bartlett decided they had better go home. Oh yes, the large baby doll of Annie Ree's that was the life of the party cannot be overlooked.

Miss Howren celebrated with her brother in Amarillo.

PERSONALS

Lavoise Armstrong went to Amarillo Thursday, and Hedley Sunday.

I'm afraid we could never find you in this place."

We are all glad to have Wilma Henson back at school after two weeks absent. Wilma had them leave a little piece of her tonsil as a souvenir. Wilma we still love you even if you can't open your mouth very wide.

Side Glances On Texas History

By CHARLES O. HUCKER
University of Texas Library

A considerable debt of long standing is acknowledge by Texas social historians to puckyish old Noah Smithwick, whose famous volume of memoirs, "The Evolution of a State," is perhaps the best loved of all the books that came out of his early days. Illuminated by his acute powers of observation and his great sense of humor, it is probably the best existing book on the human side of Texas history.

Smithwick came to Texas several years before the outbreak of the Revolution and stayed on long after it became one of the United States, wandering on then to California. And during his stay in the southwest he seems to have picked up and stored away in his memory most of the interesting bits of information and good stories available. Students in the University of Texas Library's unequalled Texas Collection have found few books there more delightful than his.

One of the aspects of life in old Texas which Smithwick illuminated in his memoirs is the everyday commonplace workings of civil government in the Republic. He was in a good position to observe and write of them, for at that time and at the same time he was postmaster, lieutenant-colonel of militia and justice of the peace in the little community of Webber's Prairie.

THE POSTAL PRECEDIMENT
"When the mail route up to Austin was opened," he wrote later in life, "we were allowed an office in Webber's Prairie. I was appointed postmaster, with a certain percentage of all the money I took in to pay me for the advent of postage stamps, and the charge of letters was twenty-five cents, payable at other end of the line. Letters were consequently few and far between."

A man named Peter Carr was the first mail carrier to serve under Smithwick, and it so happened that Carr was too accommodating to think of collecting those postage fees on letters he delivered. It wasn't long before Smithwick began to suspect that something was wrong with the system and not much longer before he discovered what the trouble was.

"I then straightway notified the postal department that unless they would furnish a locked pouch I would throw up my commission," he wrote. "I served a year or more, using my dwelling house for an office, and never got a cent either for my services or office rent."

His Judicial Career
During that year Smithwick got his commission in the militia. It paid nothing. At about the same time he consented to be elected justice of the peace though, as he put it in his customary ironic way "I was not selfishly inclined and had no desire to monopolize the offices" so that he might marry his friend the schoolmaster.

"On the bench" he wrote, "I was a shining success, not one of my decisions ever being expected to." That, it appears, is because he made none. The only case settled in court, apparently concerned a Lipan Indian who proved that a white settler had stolen his horse, and it was settled only when Smithwick, perplexed by a situation just the reverse or normal, asked the Indian what ought to be done. "Oh, turn him loose," the Indian replied, and he did. Otherwise, his official acts consisted of four wedding ceremonies.

"When my time expired my constituents were anxious to again invest me with the judicial erime," he wrote; but he declined the honor seeming content to retain only his commission in the militia. He had never collected a dollar as justice; so he told the people he thought the office should "go around," assuring them, however, that when it came his turn again he would bear the burden like a good citizen.

McANEAR BROS TO SELL GOODRICH TIRES, TUBES

Announcement has been made of the appointment of McAnear Bros. located at First and Carhart Streets S. S. Clarendon, Texas, as a tire dealer for The B. F. Goodrich Company, to handle the complete line of Goodrich tires and accessories in Clarendon, Texas.

"Developments in tire engineering, distribution and merchandising by the Goodrich Company in recent months prompted our decision to obtain the Goodrich franchise in this territory," Mr. James McAnear said.

"Goodrich has manufactured rubber products for 69 years and was America's first tire builder. Many of today's outstanding principles of tire construction were first developed by Goodrich."

"The company's latest contribution to greater safety for motorists is a new and revolutionary anti-skid design engineered to give unusual traction and braking effectiveness on slippery roads."

"Developed after two years of research and actual testing by Goodrich engineers after 100 designs had been rejected, the new tire is said to be capable of stopping a motor car quicker than any tire ever built."

"Goodrich research engineers also perfected the famous Life-Saver Golden Ply—said to be the most revolutionary step in the industry since the introduction of the black tread in 1915, also a Goodrich contribution."

FARM INCOME UP FOR THE MONTH OF OCTOBER

COLLEGE STATION — Cotton prices are good despite the war not because of it, according to George Slaughter, chairman of the AAA committee.

War has slashed exports drastically and little increase is in prospect because collapse is due to blockades. This fact, together with price-depressing surpluses, would ordinarily result in low prices, he said.

Cotton acreage allotments strengthened by marketing quotas which made the 14-cent pound floor available are the collective cause of present improved cotton prices, Slaughter said.

"When cotton farmers vote in a national cotton marketing quota referendum Saturday, December 13, they will be doing a thing few farmers in the world can do cast votes that will help regulate production and demand," the chairman declared.

Food-Freedom pledges are tied up directly with quotas. If cotton average is held within circle of demand, extra acres will be available for commodities needed at home and by Britain. Any increase in surplus crops and decrease in deficient defense crops will cripple the whole national farm defense program.

Marketing quota systems aim at dividing a limited market of supply equally among cotton producers.

"Quotas represent our fair share of the coming year's cotton crop. Texas can do its part for national defense by using the extra acres to produce more food for America and Britain," Slaughter said.

GAMBLING STILL FLOURISHES

Gambling houses and lotteries still flourish in the larger communities despite wholesale eliminations of the Al Capone gangster types from metropolitan areas. And the biggest victim, as always, is the common man who cannot afford it.

Leaving aside the moral aspects of the vices it is known that the gross annual gambling "take" in the Cicero and other Chicago suburban dens has been $3,875,000 and graft payments by a syndicate are in excess of $300,000. This was contributed, indirectly, not by the gambling lords but by the $40-a-week average man.

Eighty-three men and women were indicted in New York recently in a racing lottery charge involving a swindle of $1,250,000 from thousands of petty gamblers. If those thousands had invested their money in paying off old debts, or in U. S. Defense Bonds, how much better off they and U. S. defense, which badly needs the money, would be.

evening. The members of the Senate are now all in attendance." "Samuel Swarthout is in Washington City. He looks fat, well clad and saucy." — The Texian (Austin) November 25 1841.

Food Helps Lawns Live Over Winter

Lawn grasses are so hardy that no damage is done to them by low temperatures alone. But extensive winter damage may result from poor drainage, and from the heaving action of alternate freezing and thawing.

Water expands when frozen and contracts when it thaws, as is well known to most gardeners. Since soil is usually moist in the winter, expansion and shrinkage occur whenever freezing and thawing take place. Freezing lifts the soil, and thawing lets it drop, at the same time making it soft and wet. The action is most violent near the surface, since winter thawing is seldom deep, so that shallow rooted plants are often heaved entirely out of the ground by repeated thaws.

Grass which has developed a deep, sturdy root system, will resist heaving successfully. Poorly nourished grass will have shallow roots and may suffer serious injury. A relatively poor lawn may be put into condition by proper attention this fall, though it would be much better if it were cared for throughout the season, and fed to produce a heavy growth which will kill out weeds, and resist the heat of mid-summer.

The most important fact in producing a sturdy, deep rooted turf is adequate plant food. Grass makes heavy demands upon the soil and will quickly exhaust its food supply if it is not constantly renewed. An adequate feeding program calls for four pounds of a complete plant food at the rate of four pounds per 100 square feet in the early fall after the heat of summer has passed. When watering the lawn soak it thoroughly, as sprinkling encourages the development of shallow roots, which suffer from heaving. Do not cut the grass shorter than two inches or let it grow longer than three inches.

FEEDING OF SCHOOL CHILDREN BEING AMELIORATED

COLLEGE STATION—Undernourishment of Texas school children is being ameliorated by expanding the community school lunch and increasing the participation of pupils in it, according to Mildred Horton, vice-director and state home demonstration agent for the A. and M. College Extension Service chairman of the state nutrition committee.

Miss Horton quotes L. J. Cappelman of Dallas regional director of the Surplus Marketing Administration, that in September, 1940, 110,884 Texas school children were receiving school lunches. By September, 1941, the number had increased to 171,394. Effort is being made this year to reach about six million of the nine million American school children who are undernourished.

"The people of Texas, recognizing the problem of malnutrition among school children, are working closely with the government to wipe out this evil," according to Cappelman.

QUAIL RECEIPT

AUSTIN—The quail season (December 1st through January 15th) is on, and the Game Department goes once again to the assistance of the housewife. How do you cook quail?

Well broiled quail according to game officials, is one of the tastiest of dishes, and here's how you do it:

Split the birds down the back and season well in the body cavity. Dot the bottom of a hot pan with butter and place quail in breast up. Cover pan tightly. After steaming ten minutes in moderate oven, turn breast down for ten minutes. Turn the birds once more, put a teaspoon of butter on each, and then in ten minutes the birds will be brown and tender if they are young. Older quail will require more cooking. When done add one half cup of hot water to gravy and pour over the birds.

COTTON PRICES HIGH BECAUSE OF MARKETING QUOTA

INCREASE OF 14.7 PER CENT FOR FARMERS IS LISTED FOR YEAR

AUSTIN—Reporting an increase of 14.7 per cent in farm income during October, as compared with October, 1940, Dr. F. A. Buechel assistant director of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research, indicates in his current report that this is entirely due to a sharp increase in farm product prices.

"Had it not been for this sharp increase as compared with a year ago, farm cash income would now be registering a decline," Dr. Buechel said.

Cash income from agriculture exclusive of government subsidy, was $105,483,000, compared with $91,974,000 last October. This was the second poorest year to year comparison for 1941, as result of the comparatively small volume of marketings of cotton and livestock.

"Indications are," Dr. Buechel said "that the year to year margin of gain in farm cash income for the last two months of the year will widen since marketings of cotton, livestock and livestock products are expected to be relatively higher than during the past three months when seasonal factors are taken into account."

For the first ten months of 1941, farm cash income totaled $435,995,000 compared with $356,880,000 in the same period of 1940. The Bureau's reports indicate this represents a gain of 22 per cent.

Good range conditions and higher livestock prices are causing many cattlemen to withhold their animals from the market, with the result likely to be heavy marketing conditions during the last two months of the year, Dr. Buechel reported.

With importation of many drugs cut off, demand for dandelion roots by drug manufacturers in this country is growing, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

British Chairman Commends Work Clarendon Is Doing For England's Babies

Mrs. C. A. Burton, Clarendon librarian and Home Service chairman for the American Red Cross, received a letter of commendation and appreciation this week from Marchioness of Radding, of London, England, British chairman.

The letter follows in part: "I know how wonderfully you have worked to help us since the war overtook us. I doubt if your generous members realize how immense the help is that their individual contributions makes possible, nor how wonderful the knowledge is physically and mentally that help is coming so readily to us who are working incessantly to make the burden on each man, woman and child in the country as light as possible.

"One of the horrors of this war is to see how much the tiny children know. To note how they recognize the difference between a bomb which has just fallen, an incendiary bomb coming down and a time bomb going off. This is not a thing that can be taught or learned, it is a thing which experience alone engraves on one's mind, and that is why we, who operate your wonderful gifts to the children in distress, in this country, are so immensely grateful to you. Tiny children who have lived through raids, who often have been dug up from under debris in the arms of their dead, others are, through your generosity, sent to war nurseries in the country where they are able to be brought back to normality. "The clothes the children wear have been sent by you and the bus in which they travel has been made possible through American help. All this generosity and kindness is in addition to all the magnificent help by you given us in other directions. "Words seem a very poor way of framing appreciation and thanks therefore I can only say to you that we will show by actions how much we value what you have done and continue to face in the future what has been our lot in the past, realizing that you are strengthening us in every way you can."

Fate Of Government Cotton Loan Will Be Decided At Marketing Quota Voting December 13

Whether or not Donley County farmers want a Government loan on cotton in 1942 will be one of the issues settled when ballots are counted for the marketing quota election to be held Saturday, December 13.

Marketing quotas have been in effect for the past four years making it possible for farmers to secure loans each year, County Agent H. M. Breedlove, pointed out.

"The loan is one of the big things to remember at the polls," Breedlove declared. "If the vote goes against the marketing quota, there will be no loan in 1942."

Marketing quotas merely place a restriction on the acreage of cotton to be planted by producers and if planters do not go over the acreage allotted, lint can be ginned free of tax regardless of the quantity produced.

Cotton growers are advised by the department of agriculture to give this matter very careful consideration as it is vitally important that they vote.

All Donley County farmers will be mailed letters in the next few days, Breedlove said, advising them of the places in Donley County where voting boxes will be found.
