A THREE-WAY BENEFIT FOR CLARENDON

The recently authorized WPA project for a stone fence around the school athletic field here with certain other facilities, gives the community the opportunity of receiving something over thirteen thousand dollar improvement at no great local cost.

To The News it appears that this is a three-way benefit to our community which should not be overlooked, and the necessary local funds to guarantee the immediate beginning of the work should be forthcoming.

Aside from the lesser, though important, matter of having the project money spent in Clarendon, the stone fence would greatly enhance the value and beauty of the school property, adding attractiveness to that section of Clarendon. Then over sixty families would benefit from the several months' employment at a period of the year when employment is not too prevalent. Thirdly, the athletic program of the school would be definitely advanced and promoted.

A collateral benefit would be the improvement of community facilities for annual rodeo and pageant presentation—a matter of growing importance to Clarendon.

We should not delay in meeting the requirements and securing these benefits, for in all probability with the mounting cost of national defense, such projects will be scarce after January 1941.

PAGEANT TIMELY IN THEME

Timely in theme and powerful in impression was the patriotic pageant presented here Monday evening at the City Park by the MacDowell Club. Indeed, The News wishes it were possible for the entire nation to witness a reproduction of the pageant now that we face a crisis so important to America.

Visual education is a phase of dissemination of knowledge as yet barely touched, but is increasingly recognized as the new and effective method for teaching. No child able to walk could have failed to get the lesson of Democratic ideals, opportunity for service and visions of a higher patriotism, from the pageant presented here. The nature profited as well from its compelling message.

Hats off to the MacDowell Club and its membership! It has performed a notable and lasting public service through this beautiful and impressive pageantry. May it long continue to serve Clarendon and her citizenry.

A GETTER-MADDER SHOULDN'T ARGUE

Lynn Landrum in his "Thinking Out Loud" column in the Dallas News recently declared that the out-and-out New Dealer, was one who got mad quickly when anyone dared criticize the policies of the New Deal or FDR.

As we see it, nobody who gets mad quickly should ever allow himself the luxury of an argument, be it political, religious or else.

A getter-madder shouldn't argue.

Economic Highlights

Tax Bills of Every Individual, National and International Happenings That Affected the Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare.

When the draft bill — officially called the selective military service act — came before Congress, it was known that the great majority of the American people favored it. So did all the leading commentators. So did most public men, including both President Roosevelt and Contender Willkie. The country looked in wondering amazement at what the totalitarian powers were doing to once democratic Europe, and was grimly determined that every possible step should be taken to make sure that nothing of that kind would happen here at home. Under those circumstances, it would have been a reasonable forecast that the draft measure would go through in jig time.

But it didn't — Congress has seldom given more time to debating any measure. And there is a very good reason for that. Congress did not want the draft bill — the great majority of the Senators and Representatives voting for it did so with deep regrets. They supported it in brief, because they felt that dire necessity demanded it. And they knew that, once the bill became law, a great and as yet unrealized change would have come over the American scene.

This country has always been set against compulsory military service in peacetime. It has always felt that forcing men to take up arms when we were not at war was in direct violation of the democratic process and the democratic tradition. It has looked with a mixture of pity and contempt on those European nations where for centuries every able-bodied man has been required to give a year or two of his life, war or no war, to learning something about the craft of arms. And yet, despite that, once the menace of dictatorship became clear, the country reversed its previous stand and decided that the peace-time draft was the lesser of the evils.

The mechanics of the law are simple enough. Next month every man in the nation between the ages of 21 and 35, inclusive, will go to a place of registration and fill out a blank. Some 16,500,000 men will be involved, and by early next year it is estimated that 900,000 of them will be called to the colors. The men chosen will serve for a year, and will be paid $30 a month. There is nothing in the law granting deferment to men with dependents and families — deferment is specifically granted only to those who, in the opinion of the President, are filling important jobs in industries and calling which are essential to defense. It is believed certain, however, that men with dependents will not be called unless war comes.

What will be the effect of the draft on our economic order? Only time can answer that question fully, but some of the results can be easily foreseen. The bulk of healthy, single young men will be temporarily taken away from the society they are used to. They won't be marrying and building homes. They won't be earning good wages and spending them. Their places will be taken by older men, or by men whose physical status makes them unfit for military life. And when the year's training over, these young men are released, another dislocation will take place. The draft law provides that every employer who is able to, must take the conscripts back, and put them in the same jobs at the same wages.

That will mean that men taken on in the meantime to do the work must be discharged. In some cases, men who have spent a year in the army will be slow to get back again into the routine of their jobs, and that will involve loss of time and money. All in all, the draft law will unquestionably create many a problem for industry no less than the individual.

It doesn't make a pleasant picture. And certainly, a peacetime draft is, in principle, opposed to what this kind of a country and government stands for. But few oppose the action of Congress in adopting it. Ill-trained soldiers, in modern war, become easily slaughtered soldiers.

One exceedingly important change in the draft law was made by the House, after the Senate had passed its version. The change involved the industrial conscription clause. As originally stated, government could have taken over any business and no provision was made for ever returning it to private ownership. The clause was so generally worded as to make it possible to use the power to commandeer for political purposes — to punish political enemies and reward political friends.

The new clause is considered far better. Checks are provided against graft and political favoritism. A commandeered business must be returned to private ownership after five years. And no business can be seized until a number of high officials testify, with adequate proof, that no other solution is possible. Large share of the credit for this change must go to Wendell Willkie, who instantly pointed to the dangers in the first version of the industrial conscription clause. The House acted swiftly after Mr. Willkie spoke, and the Senate concurred.

RELIEF IS RUSHED TO BRITISH AIR RAID VICTIMS

Since the "all-out" aerial warfare was begun in September against Great Britain, the American Red Cross has more than doubled its efforts to get relief to the homeless and wounded victims in London and other towns and villages of England. Relief en route, since September 1 or awaiting shipment totals $2,051,614. Added to relief already furnished prior to the intensification of the warfare, aid to Great Britain alone totals $4,221,701 up to this date.

The relief being rushed since Sept. 1 includes: $952,000 worth of clothing for refugees and evacuees; $525,000 worth of medicines and hospital supplies; $180,000 for motorized canteen units; $402,000 in cash for aid to air raid sufferers in London and other areas of Great Britain. Expenditures of Red Cross funds on relief to England prior to September 1 included: Cash Assistance $216,647.00; Food $608,837.34; Clothing $448,098.65; Blankets and Bedding $455,074.34; Medical and Hospital Supplies $149,508.43; Ambulances and Other Motor Equipment $51,779.80; Other Relief $31,737.95.

Of the relief given since September 1, $973,589 was given

WORLEY GOES TO CAPITAL FOR CONFERENCE

SHAMROCK — At the suggestion of Congressman Marvin Jones, Eugene Worley of Shamrock, Democratic nominee to succeed Jones, left Monday for Washington, D. C., to familiarize himself with the duties he will take over on January 3.

In a telephone conversation, Jones advised Worley to come to the national capital before Congress adjourns to confer with members of the Texas Congressional delegation and study the current legislative program so he will be in a position to step in and continue the duties of Jones with as little inconvenience as possible to his constituents. The Congressional nominee is also anxious to confer with House Speaker Sam Rayburn looking toward committee assignments, and with members of the Department of Agriculture. Worley has been a personal friend of Speaker Rayburn and other Texas Congressmen, many of whom he previously served with in the Texas legislature at Austin.

Worley plans to remain at the capital about two weeks and on his return will resume an itinerary which will carry him into each one of the 28 counties of the 18th Congressional district. He is desirous of talking with people in all walks of life to learn their views and needs so that when he takes office he will be better able to represent their interests.

from Red Cross $20,000,000 war relief fund, and $1,078,025 worth of supplies was purchased for the Red Cross from the Congressional War Relief Appropriation. These measures met immediate needs which were cabled to Chairman Norman H. Davis by the American Red Cross Committee in London, in response to his message of sympathy and offer of aid.

WE CAN THANK OUR LUCKY STARS ...and stripes

SCHOOL BELLS are ringing for American boys and girls.

In many other lands today youngsters aren't so lucky.

Sirens are screaming in their ears, sending them scurrying into underground shelters.

We can thank our lucky stars and stripes for escape from such terrors. Our flag is a symbol of freedom in a country despised by oppressors who think Americans are far too rich.

We are rich. Gloriously rich. Not in money but in a wealth of the kind of things we can use and enjoy. For instance, with only 7% of the world's population, we have half of the world's railroads; half of the world's coffee is served on our tables; we consume two-thirds of the world's oil. We own more automobiles, radios, telephones than all the rest of the world put together. And, more important, we have the freedom to enjoy these things as we please.

Electric service is another good example. Electric service brings us light, music, refrigeration, easy washing, cool ironing, good coffee . . . for only a few cents a day.

Not only does electric service give us more of the good things of life but it brings them to us at a steadily lowered cost. Because of your increased demand for electricity, and our economical operation, electric rates during the past twelve or fifteen years have been cut about in half. And you can automatically reduce the average rate you pay still further; the more electricity you use each month, the lower your average rate will be.

The employees of your electric company are proud to be members of an industry that has always been among the leaders in giving the public more and better service for its money. And we are grateful to you for your help in making our efforts succeed.

LIBRARY NOTES

(By Mrs. C. A. Burton)

The Wilson Library Bulletin for September contained the following interesting article:

"The United States, and particularly New York, is rapidly becoming the literary capital of the world. The migration of the intellectuals from Europe to this country, as a result of the war, is bound to exert a profound effect on our culture. Probably at no time in our history, not excepting New England's golden day, has so much literary genius resided here; indeed, there have been few times in the entire history of man when a single country contained so many men of genius. Among the foreign writers, living here now are, Thomas Mann, Jules Romains, Stefan Zweig, Aldous Huxley, Perene Molnar, Oskar Moria Graf, W. W. Auden and Christopher Sherwood. The latest arrivals are Arnold Zweig, Somerset Maugham and Sigrid Undset. We are the last great refuge of the arts, and the responsibility is as overwhelming as the honor.

Unless free spirits, prizing liberty and pursuing truth and happiness, can continue to perpetuate the noble traditions of imagination and love, nothing that the future can redeem its emptiness."

Among the recent books listed are books by two of the authors listed above: "Madame Dorthea" by Sigrid Undset which is described as "The heart and spirit of the strong, independent people of Norway, revealed in a superb story of Eighteenth Century life; and "The Beloved Returns" by Thomas Mann of which Dorothy Canfield says: "Nothing could be more fascinating than this exquisitely written study of what achieving genius does to a human being."

One of our late purchases of books is "The Days Are Fled" by Percy Marks. Of the books by this author this criticism is quoted: "In all his novels Percy Marks has shown his concern with the normal, decent impulses of mankind. His characters are brother and sister to the reader—warm, near and real. It is triumphant evidence of this ability that in this story he deals with two remarkable people—a man possessed of high talent, and a boy who is an outright genius—and still makes them human and understandable."

Francis Brett Young has written extensively—quite a few of his stories are on our shelves. Chief among which is his "They Seek a Country," a story of the great African trek of 1840. He has a new story called "The Happy Highway" which is said to be very timely because of the fact that he presents the mellow charms of England's roads, inns, fields, villages and country people in such a way, that he reveals the real spirit of England—a "spirit which no invader can ever subdue."

James Norman Hall and Charles Nordhoff of "Hurricane" fame have spent some months in Boston, but have now gone back to the shore to work on their new book, "Botany Bay." It is to be a novel based on the old penal colony in Australia. Besides "The Hurricane," three other books of theirs are on our shelves.

When Thomas Wolfe died last year, it was felt that one of the most promising writers of our day had been lost to the literary world. His "Of Time and the River"—which we have—was acclaimed his best. After his death it was found that he had left two entirely completed novel manuscripts. One of them, "The Web and the Rock", was published soon after his death. The other has just been published, "You Can't Go Home Again." This comment is made on it: "It is the story of a lost modern who found himself. Fully mature, thoroughly integrated, it discloses the full stature of Wolfe as one of the most important American novelists of the 20th century."

We have had "The Country Lawyer" and "The Country Doctor" and also "Forty Years a Country Preacher." The author of the latter, the Rev. George Gilbert, is still in that position, and when a benevolent reader sent him a check for $50 he used it promptly in parish work, buying a good phonograph for social occasions among the young folks and children.

A continued best seller in non-fiction is Osa Johnson's "I Married Adventure." One of our very attractive new books for children is "Osa Johnson's Jungle Friends." The illustrations are perhaps the most attractive parts of the book. Osa's Ark was the airplane in which these famous explorers, the Martin Johnsons, flew over the African jungles. In the story she tells of Pantaloons, the day-old baby elephant that became a seasoned traveler in Osa's Ark; of the four baby cheetahs; of No Sir, the big, pink ant-eating pig; of lions, tigers, elephants and giraffes.

Osa Johnson was born in Kansas and is the widow of the late Martin Johnson, internationally-known motion picture explorer, who lost his life in an airplane accident. For over twenty five years they explore the jungles of the world, perpetuating in motion pictures the nature's animals in the jungles that are fast vanishing before civilization. They circled the globe six times spending their happiest years in Africa where they established their permanent home on the outskirts of Nairobi, British East Africa, from which they explored by plane. Martin Johnson considered his wife the best helper possible in his work, afraid of nothing. Natives in the jungles make two demands of white explorers—that they must be a good shot, and must never run away. If they meet these two requirements, they call them "White Master"—and to both Martin and Osa Johnson they gave this title.

Another of our interesting books is "Seppala, Alaskan Dog Driver" by Elizabeth M. Recker. It is the true story of a man born in Norway, spending his early life among the hardy Norsemen, then joining the Gold Rush in Alaska. Dogs fascinated him and with endless skill and patience he raised the finest string of Huskies in the North country. And then it was Seppala and his Huskies who thrilled the world by taking the serum to Nome!

Announcing the big NEW FORD 1941 FORD

In some years, some cars take a big jump ahead. The Ford does that for 1941.

It has jumped ahead in size. It's the biggest Ford we've ever built, inside and out. It's wider. It has a longer wheelbase. Its seating room is wider by as much as 7 inches. It has new wide doors and semi-concealed running boards.

You'll notice also a new beauty, achieved by a skilful blending of mass with longer flowing lines. Larger windshield and windows give better vision all around.

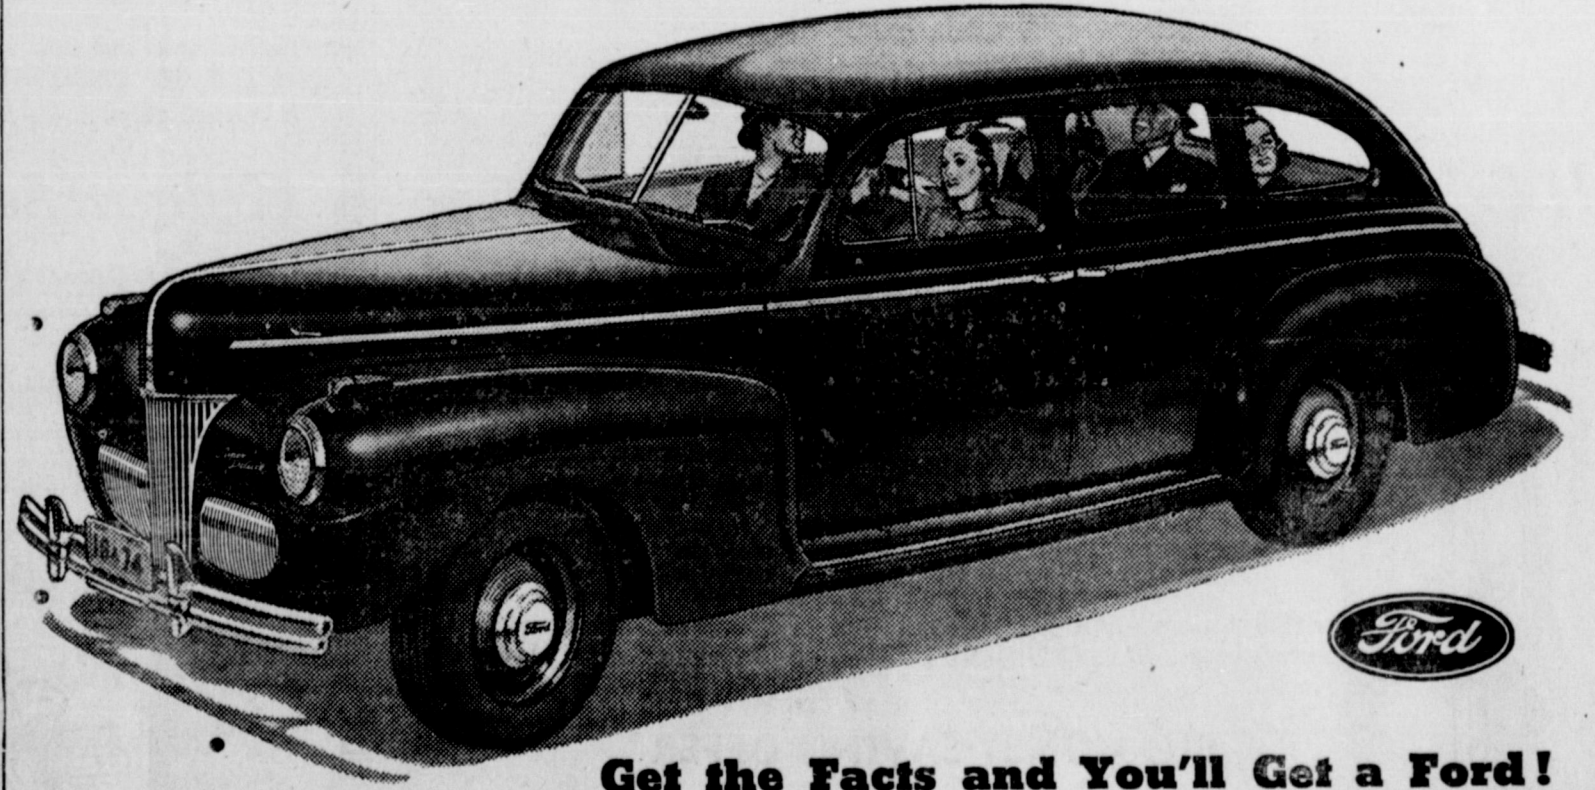

One of its biggest advantages is the new soft ride.

New, slower-action springs give a slow, gentle, gliding movement. A newly designed stabilizer helps absorb road shocks, and maintains balance on sharp curves and in cross winds.

More rapid acceleration to match its familiar speed and power makes this new Ford an even livelier car to drive.

These are only a few of this new car's outstanding features. It represents all the rich experience gained in building more than 28 million motor cars.

Any Ford dealer can give you many good reasons for making this your 1941 car.

Get the Facts and You'll Get a Ford!

BRONCHOS SHARE 3-A GRID LEAD AFTER WIN

The Clarendon Bronchos and the Wheeler Mustangs climbed up beside Memphis on the top rung of the district 3-A ladder when they turned in conference wins over Lefors and Lakeview, respectively, Friday.

Clarendon got the jump on Lefors and scored in the first quarter but had to fight furiously the rest of the game to maintain the 6-point margin of victory.

The Wheeler Mustangs, on the slow, sandy Lakeview field, rolled over three touchdowns for their season's opener triumph of 19 to 0, and promised trouble ahead for other league clubs. The Mustangs have plenty of power but were slow on handling the ball, a fault that will probably be corrected as the season advances.

District 3-A lost three and won one of the non-conference games during the week-end. The Memphis Cyclones, set for a breather with the class B Mobeetle Hornets, barely managed a 6-0 victory to uphold the slipping prestige of the loop. McLean's Tigers lost a heart breaker to Phillips, 12 to 13, Saturday night while the Panhandle Panthers ripped Wellington 33 to 0. Shamrock, defending district champion, fell before the class AA Borger Bulldogs, 37 to 6.

Wheeler journeys to Wellington for the only conference game in 3-A next week.

TENMARQ WHEAT IS TRI-STATE FAIR WINNER

AMARILLO — Through the cooperation of the Texas Wheat Improvement Association, the officials of the Tri-State Fair at Amarillo, sponsored a special wheat milling and baking contest for the first time in the history of the Fair held from Sept. 16-21.

Lending aid to the move in Texas to encourage the production of only high quality wheat varieties, the Tri-State Fair adopted the type of quality contest first used a year ago at the Oklahoma State Wheat Exposition in Enid. The contest (based upon 75 per cent of the score for milling and baking value and 25 per cent for external appearances) was so designed as to give emphasis to variety. Variety classifications used were: (1) Turkey; (2) Tenmarq; (3) Blackhull; and (4) Miscellaneous. The samples within each class were placed on external appearances by Mr. J. B. Wallace, Licensed Grain Inspector, Plainview, Texas. The two top samples on external appearances of each variety classification were then milled and baked by two

"Boom Town" To Play Here 3 Days Next Week Featuring All-Star Cast

Revealing the entire story of the thrilling drama of oil for the first time, with a story that is entirely one of action and with a star group that includes Clark Gable, Spencer Tracy, Claudette Colbert and Hedy Lamarr, "Boom Town" will open at the Pastime Theatre next Wednesday for an engagement of three days.

"Boom Town" is a cavalcade of oildom as "Test Pilot" covered the dramatic story of testing thrills in the skies. It is a dramatic story of two friends who carry on through reversals and successes even when one marries the sweetheart of the other. The friendship breaks dramatically and is renewed just as dramatically when the unmarried friend breaks up an affair between his former sweetheart's husband and an adventuress.

Through this story run scenes of roaring gushers, flaming oil fires whiffed out with TNT, blistering fist fights, a head-first dive into a street of mud to escape a rain of bullets, the hero on a bucking mule, a thrilling hold-up, a scrap between two dance hall girls and thousands of other fast-action sequences.

different Texas quality testing laboratories. All testing, judging etc., was done under the blind entry number.

Combining the external appearance score and the milling and baking score of each of the eight samples milled and baked, the judges awarded the two Tenmarq samples the first and second prizes. The two Turkey samples were awarded the third and fourth prizes, while the two Blackhull samples were awarded the fifth and sixth prizes. The two samples of the miscellaneous class, which were Chiefkan samples, were poorest in quality and received the last two places in the contest.

The two Tenmarq samples in order of placing were grown by J. D. Wilbanks of Spearman, Texas and J. R. Collard of Spearman, Texas. The next ranking Turkey samples in order of placing were grown by George Stewart of Spearman, Texas and W. T. Wombles of Stinnett, Texas.

Also held at the Tri-State Fair was the regular wheat show in which all samples of wheat were judged on external appearance. In this contest, the lowest ranking sample in the milling and baking contest was awarded first prize. These two wheat shows proved to be of a highly educational nature in that wheat producers were able to visually picture the true story of wheat quality.

Wheat producers expressed their keen interest in the new type contest and many commented "all that glitters is not gold."

Housed on special rail-cars, the big exhibition will be parked on the tracks at the F. W. & D. Depot, where it will remain open to the public from noon until 11 p. m. daily while here. A feature is a big menagerie, in a steel corral on the lot outside the train. Here will be seen many strange and unusual animals specimens, exhibited entirely free to the public.

Dry Hole or Gusher . . .

. . . He Always Profits

- In the business of drilling for Natural Gas there is a maxim which runs, "You never know what's down there until the hole is drilled." Maybe it's Gas, maybe not. In spite of this chance, thousands of dollars must be spent before drilling is ever begun.
- The exploration costs, lease rentals, and royalty payments of this Company and associated Companies over the past ten years have amounted to millions of dollars. Most of this money is paid in leases and royalties to people living in the Gulf South. Some of these people may be acquaintances of yours . . . perhaps your neighbors and friends . . . perhaps yourself.
- This money finds its way into the channels of business in this area . . . it helps people to pay taxes, buy food and clothing, and support schools and churches. It adds to the welfare and prosperity of the area in which you live.
- Dry hole or gusher . . . directly or indirectly, your town and your region are benefited.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

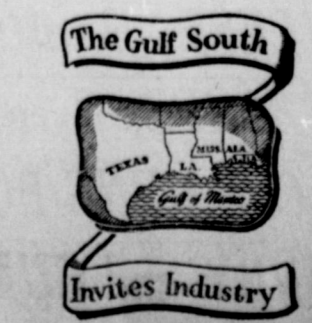

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

As soon as President Roosevelt gets his home defense units organized he might put them to work building underground air raid shelters.

Someone might even write Congressman Marvin Jones and enlighten him on this subject for we could use a good number of them in this part of the country.

Should the United States be attacked, it most likely would be from the south and us Texans would be the No. 1 targets.

Amarillo, Borger, Pampa and other nearby towns (perhaps even Clarendon) should have a number of such shelters since they have helium, aviation gasoline, and hundreds of large oil and gasoline storage tanks, all of which would bring the enemy raiders and bring them fast.

And as for the type of underground air raid shelters, we should have the latest streamlined models—perhaps designed for comfortable sleeping, various entertainment and mess quarters. If we're going to build them why not do it by stressing comfort to the nth degree.

We can't conceive of having air raid shelters where people just run when the alarm is sounded, then sit there and wait

Mammoth Circus Train Will Be Here Saturday With Huge Collection Of Strange Animals, Exotic Humans

A new modern streamlined version of the bulky, immobile circus, condensed into the confines of modern railway cars which move with express train speed over the nation, will be presented to the Clarendon show going public, for one day and night, Saturday, Sept. 28, on the railroad tracks at the depot.

Known as the Mammoth Exposition Train, the show will present many features of showmanship known hitherto only to the more cumbersome tented circuses, and will offer a large and interesting collection of strange animals and exotic humans gathered from all corners of the globe in addition to intriguing side show entertainment.

The all-clear signal. If we're going to be underground for any number of hours, let's have something down there to entertain us and help us forget what the enemy is doing above.

Humor: The English sense of humor (one of the best) as received from the tight little isle by a friend who passed it along to us is as follows.

"If Hitler was what Hitler seems When Hitler dreams his nasty dreams We'd all be sure to fear and faint If Hitler was—but Hitler ain't."

This corner was somewhat put out when we read an advertisement in the Borger paper about a Phillips theater giving away a live baby last week. We believe that if a home has to be found for a baby it should be done at the proper place and surely not in public. However, this week we read another advertisement where the same theater was giving away Bulldogs to its customers. Going to the dogs, eh?

And we thought our Rodeoing season was over until a gang of cars tooted their way through Clarendon late Wednesday afternoon advertising Silverton's big rodeo on Sept. 27 and 28.

The Silverton boys distributed a number of circulars advertising that the events close the rodeo season in the Texas Panhandle. Gosh, we hope so, and maybe now we can settle down to some good old football.
