Welfare And Job Training Reform Becomes Law

The welfare and job training reform legislation that has now been signed into law by Governor Bush will fundamentally change the way Texas handles its public assistance and work force development programs. Most of the new welfare reforms follow closely the recommendations I made in a report entitled A Partnership for Independence, which was requested by Lieutenant Governor Bob Bullock.

Perhaps the most far-reaching provision in the new law is the one which will limit the time a recipient can receive welfare benefits. The Texas time-limit proposal is one of the toughest in the nation. Many states with time-limits are piloting the concept in one or two counties, but Texas will be taking time-limits statewide.

These time limits range from one to three years. Recipients with more education and work experience fall into the shortest time-limit category, while those with the least experience fall into the longest time-limit category. Recipients will be allowed to return after five years, unlike in most states, which allow recipients to return after three years.

Also, beginning on September 1, 1995, every welfare recipient will be required to sign a Responsibility Agreement, laying out the state's expectations and reminding them that public assistance is not an unlimited entitlement.

Elsewhere in the new law is a provision that will require mothers who receive Aid to Families With Dependent Children to identify the father of their children and cooperate with child support enforcement personnel. Children will have to attend school, and those who can will be required to work. All recipients will be required to remain drug and alcohol abuse free. And failure to comply with any of the provisions of this agreement will bring penalties, sanctions, or the loss of AFDC benefits altogether.

TEXAS BILL THORPE AND CHEROKEE CHARLIE, along with Carolyn The Clown is scheduled to appear at the Saint's Roost Rodeo.

Clowns To Perform At Rodeo

Carolyn The Clown and Texas Bill are scheduled to appear at this year's Saints' Roost Rodeo. Carolyn The Clown will paint clown faces for $1 and sell keep sake pictures of Cherokee Charlie jumping through a fire ring for $1.

Texas Bill, along with Cherokee Charlie and friends will be performing at the rodeo and is a delight for children and adults of all ages. There will also be a calf scramble for the kids.

Bivens Granted Certificate

The Southwestern Pharmacy Alumni Foundation at Southwestern Oklahoma State University School of Pharmacy recently granted Elmonette Branigan Bivens of Clarendon, a Consultant Pharmacist Certificate for demonstrating a commitment to excellence as a Consultant Pharmacist by virtue of completing a postgraduate certificate program and incorporating the acquired knowledge and skills into a consistent pattern of patient care service to improve the health care of the elderly.

ELMONETTE BRANIGAN BIVENS

Southwestern instituted the Consultant Pharmacist Certificate Program in consultant and geriatric pharmacy to a limited number of pharmacists in August 1994, in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. It provided 145 hours of continuing education during a ten-month period and was comprised of ten home-study modules that featured video presentations, printed materials, and exercises covering one or two diseases per module. After a month of studying module materials, pharmacists gathered for a monthly four-hour workshop session where they were evaluated over module materials and were provided the opportunity to develop their skills by participating in problem-solving exercises.

The Consultant Pharmacist Certificate Program is a curricular-based professional education program that addresses an expressed need of consultant pharmacists for an in-depth study of pharmacotherapeutic management of diseases and drug therapy of institutionalized geriatric patients. Pharmacists were provided the opportunity to enhance their knowledge and skills in the pharmacotherapeutic management of diseases, and to apply newly acquired knowledge and skills in performing clinical drug therapy monitoring in geriatric patients.

Several benefits resulted from the Consultant Pharmacist Certificate Program. It allowed pharmacists to obtain specialized knowledge in geriatrics, pharmacotherapeutics, and the function and role of a consultant pharmacist. It also provided pharmacists with an intellectual, challenging, and practical course of study that prepared them to provide a high level of pharmaceutical care to the elderly.

The ultimate beneficiary of the program is the elderly population. By virtue of acquiring rigorous training in a specialized area of pharmacy practice and with this increased knowledge and skills level, pharmacists completing the Consultant Pharmacist Certificate Program can be more confident and assertive in working with physicians and nurses to improve the quality of life and health care for the elderly.

As a participating pharmacist in the Consultant Pharmacist Certificate Program, Elmonette Branigan Bivens has shown a commitment to the rapidly evolving profession of consultant pharmacy practice.

She is the Pharmacist Consultant at Medical Center Nursing Home in Clarendon, Hall County Hospital, Memphis, Collingsworth General Hospital, and Wellington Care Center, Wellington.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:
I recently attended the Elderhostel at Clarendon College which I enjoyed the sincere friendliness of all the people of Clarendon.

I stayed at a motel Saturday night and on Sunday morning I realized I had left my purse at the Sam Hill BBQ the night before. Andy, at the motel was able to contact Brad Beck and he met me at the BBQ and returned my purse. I am most grateful to them.

It was a great week and I left with a good impression of Clarendon.

Thanks so much for such wonderful hospitality.

Mary "Louise" Harreld

To Whom It May Concern

We lost our Mother and grandmother a year ago the 25th of June. She was 67 years old. We miss her terribly. If this letter can prevent even one family from suffering the way we have it will be worth it all.

Mother was murdered. Her killer is still out there. We all know him but we were powerless to stop him. He is someone Mom had known since she was a young girl. I'm not sure she knew he was dangerous when they met, but eventually she learned that he had killed others. Some of his victims were her friends.

Mother tried several times to end their relationship but she just couldn't put him out of her life.

It's difficult to describe the power he had over her. When we attempted to wise her up, she'd say, "I can't break it off now, things are just to hectic. I'll do it when my life gets back to normal." Before her life got back to normal he killed her!

Everyone who reads this letter knows him. He's probably killed someone they knew and loved too. "HE IS CIGARETTES."

In memory of Mary "Louise" Harreld
Ann Harper & Family

These are the words my loving Mother chose to put on her headstone: "There is a bond that makes us brothers none goes his way alone, all that we put into the lives of others, comes back into our own."

Remember the meaning of the 4th while having your fun.

MEET LENETTIE WILSON, Clarendon High School Junior, who is working with Burton Memorial Library Staff during this summer.

Check It Out

by Mary Beth Nelson

Burton Memorial Library introduces Lenettie Wilson of Clarendon who will be working with the library staff during the summer months. Lenettie will be a Junior at Clarendon High School in the fall. She plays basketball, and made the Varsity team during her sophomore year. Math is her favorite subject, and she enjoys reading. She is looking forward to her work in the library.

After visiting with Lenettie last week, I examined some of the newly arrived books which are full of special interest for those who are involved in rodeo and ranch life. Behind The Chutes: The Mystique Of The Rodeo Cowboy by Rosamond Norbury is a "photographic journey about real people making a hard living at a very difficult job." It gives a look at men demonstrating their rodeo skills; how they live; how they practice their sport; prepare for performances; and ceaseless traveling from one rodeo to another. It presents the business side of rodeo and the commitment and dedication involved in this professional sport.

Three attractive books in a Western Horseman series are Calf Roping; Legends; and Bacon And Beans.

Calf Roping is written by Roy Cooper, world champion calf roper, steer roper, and all around cowboy. Interestingly written, it includes detailed photographs of his riding, roping, flanking, and tying.

Articles, information, and photographs featuring 26 top Quarter Horses have been compiled in Legends by Dianne C. Simmons. Readers of Quarter Horse Journal magazines will recognize many of these horses from past issues.

Stella Hughes has combined wonderful ranch and country recipes with cleverly related information concerning chuck wagon cooks, range cooks, campfires, and dutch ovens. Delicious recipes for breakfast, breads, salads, beef, fish, fowl, quail, "hot stuff," vegetables, casseroles, sweets, beverages, and dips will make your mouth water. Ladies, you'll love it!

Several books have been written about Will James, cowboy artist and writer. Ride For The High Points: The Real Story Of Will James by Jim Bramlett, another cowboy author, concentrates more on Will James in his prime as he experienced every phase of cowboy life, and colorfully contributed to knowledge of the cowboy's West through his writings and art. Mr. Bramlett refers to him as a "colorful genius of the past" and "a cowboy's cowboy."

Interested in cowboying? Need a "yummy" recipe? Why not check it out?

Clarendon College Roping School Attracts 4-H Youth

Clarendon College and the Donley County 4-H Extension Service hosted its Second Annual 4-H Team Roping School June 15-16. A total of 154-H youth participated in the two-day school at the college's main campus.

Participants received one-on-one instruction from Clarendon College's Dean of Instruction Dr.

Kelvin Sharp, Rodeo P.E. and Math instructor Darryl Perryman, and Wes Sharp. The trio covered topics ranging from proper rope handling to the mental preparation necessary for a competitive run.

The students tested their skills on the final day as they competed for prizes. The novice division was won by Cence Kibler of Angel Fire, NM. Winning top honors in the intermediate division were Ty Whetten, Statford and Leland Wood, Silverton. Kyle Martin of Petersburg and Lathe May of Idalou finished a close second.

Livestock Owners Alerted To Viral Disease

Texas livestock and horse owners are being urged to be on the lookout for animals with excessive salivation, loss of appetite, blisters or lesions around their mouths, tongues, hooves, or teats, a sign that their livestock has been affected by the virus, Vesicular Stomatitis.

Vesicular Stomatitis, which is usually not fatal, has been confirmed in horses in New Mexico in three regions: in a 15 mile area around Las Cruces, and in 30 mile areas around Albuquerque and Silver City. A task force from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Veterinary Services has been dispatched to the state to assist state personnel with diagnosis and quarantining of infected animals.

In Texas, the Texas Animal Health Commission (TAHC) is urging producers to be alert to signs of the infection, so that immediate action may be taken to halt the spread of disease, which has an incubation period of two to eight days. If compatible symptoms are noticed in any animals in a herd, veterinarians or owners would call their TAHC area office, or the headquarters in Austin at (512) 719-0700, or the USDA at (512) 482-5555. An animal health inspector or veterinarian will be sent to the premise to assist in making a diagnosis. Affected and exposed animals will be quarantined for 30 days after the last lesions heal.

Vesicular Stomatitis is usually not fatal and has occurred with varying frequency in North and South America. Typically, the infection affects cattle, horses or swine, but sheep and goats, deer, bobcats, and raccoons can also become infected. Initially, an outbreak may be caused by insect vectors, but then the virus can move from animal to animal by contact with the fluid from ruptured lesions, or saliva. Persons who handle potentially infected animals should wear rubber or latex gloves, as they can contract the virus and develop symptoms including fever, muscle aches, and headache.

Infected animals develop painful blisters that swell and break, leaving raw tissue that cause them to refuse water or food. The blisters also may appear around the top of hooves, resulting in temporary lameness. Severe weight loss accompanies the infection, and in dairy cattle, a dramatic drop in milk production occurs.

"Animals with any Vesicular Stomatitis symptoms should not be moved from the premise, as this could spread disease to other farms and ranches. The owners or veterinarians should call the TAHC or USDA immediately for diagnostic assistance," said Dr. Max Coats, state epidemiologist for the TAHC. "To aid in preventing infection, flies should be controlled, and persons should remember to use rubber gloves if they handle any animals that appear to have been infected."

Art Museum Presents Artist

The Collingsworth County Museum Art Center proudly presents watercolors by Pauline Dodge Watts, a Fort Worth artist with deep ties to the Texas Panhandle. The exhibit will open on Sunday, July 2, 1995 with a reception honoring the artist and her watercolors. The reception will be held from 2:00 until 3:30 p.m. in the Art Center on the east side of the square, downtown Wellington.

Dance Camp Scheduled

West Texas A & M University Dance Department, under the direction of Neil Hess, is announcing dates for its Fifth Annual Summer Dance Camp. The camp has grown steadily for the last four years and this summer they expect another exciting and productive opportunity for dancers to gain valuable training from experienced teachers. There will be classes offered in Ballet, Pointe, Tap, Jazz, Pas De Deux, and Modern, as well as seminars dealing with issues important for today's dancer. Faculty will be comprised of experienced teachers from the Texas Musical Drama, Lone Star Ballet, and professional teachers from outside the area. The time outside of classes will be filled with activities to keep everyone busy, such as a trip to Wonderland Park in Amarillo, and an evening at the Palo Duro Canyon, complete with a Barbecue Dinner beforehand.

The first session will be held July 23-29 and the second session will be held July 30 - August 5. For more information on the camp contact Janice Nash or David Snow at (806) 656-2820 or write: WTAMU Dance Department, Attention Dance Camp, WT Box 879, Canyon, TX 79016.

ART - from p. 5

Everyone is urged to attend the reception and view this interesting collection of watercolor paintings. The collection is quite varied in subject. It contains many colorful florals which form the aesthetic core of the show.

Pauline Dodge Watts was born in Claude and attended public schools there. After graduating from Claude High School, she attended Amarillo Commercial College and the University of Colorado. While employed as a secretary for major oil companies, she continued to study art through the Washington School of Art, Chicago; Fort Worth's Museum of Science and History; and Texas Christian University. She retired from Chevron Oil in 1985 and has pursued watercolors vigorously since. She continues her studies with well known artists, Irene Davis and Darnell Jones.

Pauline Watts has exhibited her work at Trinity Art Guild in Bedford, Tx and the North Richland Hills Library. She also has shown her work at the Circle P-K Art Gallery.

Watts is a member of the Society of Watercolor Artists and the Trinity Art Guild. She resides in Fort Worth with her husband, Wayne.

The Watts Exhibit will be open to public viewing throughout the month of July. Viewing hours are from 12:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. each day including Saturday and Sunday.

Write a Letter to the Editor

The Clarendon News welcomes letters to the editor. However, there are some principles that will make such letters more effective.

First, concentrate on the issue and avoid name calling. Calling Senator So-and-so "a fat, stupid SOB" may be purgative for the writer, but it will not change anyone's mind.

Second, be factual. Do your homework. Facts are much more persuasive than opinion.

Third, sign your letter. Unsigned letters will not be published. The person who is too cowardly to sign his or her name is not worth anyone's attention.

Finally, be timely. If your letter comes in after the deadline, it will not appear until a week later--or it may be too late to be relevant.

The Clarendon News publishes most letters that come in, regardless of the writer's position. Publication does not mean that the newspaper agrees or disagrees with the writer. It does not even mean that the paper considers the issue important. Letters to the editor are a public forum.

The paper has confidence that its readers can sort through material for what is informative, what is entertaining, and what is worthless.

The First Amendment of the United States Constitution guarantees every person the right to express his opinions. Every citizen should cherish that principle, whether or not he agrees with a given letter.

To the residents of Clarendon:
The members of the Church of Christ in Clarendon want to thank the residents of Clarendon and the surrounding communities for their involvement in our recent Vacation Bible School, June 5-7. We surpassed our expectations educating 87 children the first day; 102 the second; and a high of 106 the last day. We could not have reached out to so many exceptional children without your help.

We truly believe that the message taught during Vacation Bible School - Galatians 5:22-23 "But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance; against such there is no law," will help your children in their day-to-day struggles and confrontations. They are all attributes that we as adults need to learn to live by.

We were impressed by the attentiveness and dedication of your children during the learning sessions. They were rewarded with the true "Fruit of the Spirit" gleaned from their many lessons, and many crafts from their three days in the classroom, including hand-painted and designed T-shirts.

It was our pleasure to have taught your children and hope we can have the same privilege again next year when we hold our Vacation Bible School the first week of June.

Thanks again,
Members of the Church of Christ

The Tucker Family wishes to thank the friends who were so helpful during Jim's recent surgery and hospitalization. The visits meant so much during those long days. All the cards and telephone calls were enjoyed and appreciated. We don't know for sure who mowed our big yard but it was a great relief when we were told it had been done so special thanks to that person or persons.

Most of all, thank you for your prayers for Jim. We know it makes a difference. Please continue to pray for him that he have a complete recovery.

Love and best wishes to all of you.
